Norgaard Speech To Start Today's Congress Session

By DELANE ADAMS
Toreador Staff Writer

The Southwestern Journalism congress today swings into its second round of events with a program that includes speeches, panel discussion, business meetings and a barbecue.

The program begins at 9:30 a.m. when Noland Norgaard, chief of the Associated Press bureau, Oklahoma City, will speak on "The Writer, Backbone of the Newspaper". Ward C. Mayborn, publisher of the Sherman Democrat, is second on the program with a discussion, "Working Together".

Expected to be one of the big attractions of the Congress is a panel discussion scheduled for 10:50 this morning. Keen Rafferty, head of the Division of Journalism of the University of New Mexico will act as moderator. Three editors and a publisher will serve on the panel. These include Robert W. Whippley, managing editor, Big Spring Herald; Forrest Weinhold, publisher of the Hockley County Herald; Bill Donnell, city editor of the Times, Wichita Falls; and Dwight Allison, managing editor of the San Antonio Light. These men have had many years of experience with newspapers. One is a veteran of 28 years of newspaper work, others came from newspaper families.

Lunch for the delegates will be a barbecue served in Aggie Grove in real western style by members of the Tech Chamber of Commerce and Honorary Aggie Club.

Business meetings are on the agenda for the closing evening of the convention. Students will meet in Aggie Auditorium to elect officers. Paul White, editor of Ford News of Dallas and Dwight Allison, managing editor of the San Antonio Light will speak to this group.

A faculty meeting will be held in an adjoining conference room to elect officers and select a meeting place for 1950. A round table discussion of teaching problems will be conducted by Dr. F. L. McDonald, moderator. Dr. Ralph Casey will act as co-ordinator.

About 200 visiting faculty and students representing 12 colleges and universities from Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma have been attending speeches and social events. Theta Sigma Phi opened yesterday's program with a conventionally breakfast. Guests were registered the rest of the morning.

Seven speakers were scheduled, yesterday, with subjects ranging from photography to radio. Bill Johnson, chief photographer of the Daily Oklahoman, Oklahoma City; Malvina Stephenson, radio and news correspondent from Washington D.C. and Ernest Kirschten, chief editorial writer for the Post-Dispatch, St. Louis, were speakers of the morning.

Speakers for the afternoon included Don Hinga, roving editor of the Houston Chronicle; Dr. Ralph Casey, director of the school of journalism, University of Minnesota; R. B. McAllister, manager and owner of radio station KICA Clovis, N. M., and John L. Mortimer, director of public relations for the southwest district of United States Steel Corporation.

Garland Casey, former Tech student, is in training in the Air Cadets at San Antonio. While at Tech he was a member of Soci club.

MOCK TRIAL—Frances Hartfiel, above right, defense attorney in the spring semester version of the Pre-law club mock trial Monday night, questions client Alan Strout, professor of English. Strout was acquitted by an audience jury after charges of smoking marijuana cigarettes had been filed against him.

Pre-law Jury Clears English Prof Of Marijuana Charges

By MARJEAN KITTS
Toreador Staff Writer

Dr. Alan L. Strout, professor of English, was acquitted of a charge of smoking marijuana cigarettes in a Pre-Law mock trial Monday night.

Strout was arrested at 4:30 p.m. April 22 in his office, L-111, on suspicion of smoking marijuana. Maxine McCollum was in his office at the time.

The prosecution's witness, Miss McCollum, stated that she went to see Strout about a theme that was overdue. She said that he offered her a cigarette, but that she did not think it proper to accept. "I noticed an odor that was heavy and sweet in the room," she said.

The prosecuting attorney, Stanley Dendy, presented a cigarette as evidence which was found in an ash tray in Strout's office. It had been analyzed and was found to contain marijuana.

The state plead their case on the basis that although Strout stated that he sprained his ankle while stamping out his cigarette on the floor, he did not limp; the cigarette the defense submitted was found by a policeman; a sweet odor filled the room; Strout's speech was retarded; and a patrolman swore that Strout staggered around.

The attorneys for the defense, Frances Hartfiel and her assistant, Betty Jones, argued that there was no proof that the cigarette found in the ash tray was that of Strout; that his cigarette had been the one on the floor; he was an innocent victim of circumstances; Strout staggered because of pain; Jerry Wilson heard the plot; and that Lubbock Memorial Hospital has an x-ray machine that cures sprain.

Jerry Wilson, witness for the defense, stated that he was acquainted with Miss McCollum and had overheard her one day in the hall state that she would get even with Strout for giving her an "E" if it were the last thing she ever did.

Strout was very quick in answering questions asked him while in the witness chair. He stated that red hair had always attracted him. On being questioned as to Miss McCollum's class attendance, he said, "She almost invariably came on Wednesdays."

During the questioning, Strout stated that he remembered once at a faculty party that he turned to

Recognition Service For Students To Begin At 4 P.M. In Tech Gym

By CHARLES H. SCHAFER
Toreador Copy Editor

Nearly 600 parents of Tech students are expected to be on the campus tomorrow for the third annual Parents' Day and all-college recognition day.

The program will get underway with the registration of all parents in the Recreation hall from 1-2 p.m. Members of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, Who's Who on the Campus, all class officers, all members of this and next year's Student Council, and head cheer leaders of this year and next year will be introduced in the student personality recognition program from 2-3 p.m. It will also be held in the Recreation hall. A program of student talent will be presented along with this program.

"The Three Flat Notes", a singing trio composed of Lamar Jackson, Bill Jackson and Bob Parkinson, and a song by De Lois Utterback, accompanied by the piano by Guida Miller, will make up the entertainment.

From 3:10-3:40 p.m. the ROTC will stage a parade, and at 4 p.m. the scholastic recognition service will be held in the gymnasium. It will last until 5 p.m.

The service will open with a professional, "Pomp and Circumstance" by Elgar, played by the Tech concert band under the direction of Prof. D. O. Wiley. Rev. Hubert Bratcher, pastor of St. John's Methodist church, Lubbock, will give the invocation. The band will then play "Symphony Number Four, Second Movement" by Brahms, and Dean O. V. Adams of the division of engineering will introduce the recognition service speaker, Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of the college. After the president's address, the Tech Glee club will sing "Adoramus Te Christe" by Palestrina. Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president, and Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences, will present the recognition awards to the students.

The program will close with the college hymn, "O, College Mother, Beautiful" played by the band. James G. Allen, dean of men, will be master of ceremonies.

"During the scholastic recognition, top-ranking individuals within their respective divisions will be honored. They are as follows: (When several names have been listed for a division, it signifies that each attained the same scholastic average.)

Nathan C. Shelton, agriculture division; Marvin P. Berry, Giles F. Carter, Thomas D. Douthitt, Avon Flaniken, Dorothy O. Golden, Mary C. Hampton, Billie L. Hutchings, James R. McMurry and James D. Smiley, arts and sciences division; Cecil J. Chabon and Jesse M. Miles, business administration division; Rex C. Bradford and Roy Butler, engineering division; and Velma J. Beene, home economics division.

Class Honors

Students recognized for class honors have given evidence of high scholarship by qualifying for a second time for recognition, by having ranked scholastically in the upper three per cent of their class in their respective divisions. They have maintained a grade-point average of 2.25 or better while carrying 12 or more semester hours during each of their last two semesters. They are as follows:

Tech ROTC Unit To Parade Sunday

The Texas Tech ROTC unit will participate in Parents' day activities Sunday when the entire cadet corps executes parade and drill procedures. Lt. Col. L. C. Adams, head of the military science department, has stated.

Members of the campus training unit will fall in at 2:45 p.m. east of the Engineering building in the west roadway. All men will carry arms, Colonel Adams said. At 3:10, the cadets will be reviewed by Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech. Colonel Adams and other school officials. Cadet Col. Bill Taylor will command the troops.

Following the review, presentation of individual proficiency awards will be made at a mass formation, military excellence ribbons will be awarded to Kenneth H. Cox, ROTC Band; Jack C. Alderson, Co. A; Warren N. Lacy, Co. B; Harold B. Sharp, Co. C; Jack Widener, Squadron E; E. J. O'Keefe, Squadron G; Donny R. Jackson, Squadron F and Glen T. Johnson, Squadron H. Winning cadets are selected through a process of "drilling down" and elimin-

Print Salon Winners Announced

Tommy Daniel, sophomore journalism major from Tulsa, won first place in the Wednesday night judging of the 1949 Kappa Alpha Mu print show. The prize winning entry is a still life entitled "Echo". Mrs. Jane Moore, sponsor of the fraternity, has announced.

Second place was awarded to C. E. Wendt, senior from Lubbock, for a character study called "Rickey". An industrial shot, "Refinery", by Orin Brewer, senior from Olton, won third place in the show. Prizes will be awarded at a KAM meeting Monday, stated Mrs. Moore.

One hundred forty-five prints, twice as many as were entered in the show last year, were judged for composition, technical perfection and general appeal. Charles E. Musson and Joe A. Mancipelli, local professional photographers and Robert Lockard, associate professor of architecture at Tech, were judges.

Prints from the show will be entered in a fraternity round robin print show which travels to chapters across the nation. Some of the prints are entered in the fourth national Collegiate Photography exhibition in Columbia, Missouri, May 5-8.

Approximately 30 photography students and KAM members entered prints under one or more of the 11 divisions listed as pictorial, architecture, character study, action, fashion, advertising, industrial, news, portrait, animal, still life and open class.

Winners of each division are named below.

Pictorial — first and second, Wendt; third, Brewer; honorable mention, Earl Wukasch, assistant professor of electrical engineering.

Architecture — first and third, Dick Armstrong, sophomore from Hamlin; second, Jack Burke, senior from Corsicana; honorable mention, Brewer.

Action—first and second, Bob Roper, senior from Ft. Worth; third, Wendt; honorable mention, Russell Ansley, sophomore from Odessa. Fashion — first, Jayne Thompson, senior from Vernon; second, Jean Woodrum, senior from Lubbock; third, Wendt; honorable mention, Otice Green, senior from Knox City.

Industrial — first, Brewer; second and third, Wendt; honorable mention, Roper.

Open class — first, Armstrong; second, Jane Skinner, senior from Electra; third and honorable mention, Brewer.

Portrait — first and second, Wendt; third, Brewer; honorable mention, A. J. Bishop, junior from Winters.

Animal — first, Miss Skinner, second, Roper; third, Burke; honorable mention, Bishop.

Still life — first, second and third, Daniel; honorable mention, Delane Adams, senior from Olton.

Winning prizes and all entries will be on display April 29 to May 7 in the Recreation hall.

Cafe Cleanliness Everybody's Job Says Health Man

AUSTIN, April 29. — Emphasizing the importance of proper sanitation standards in public eating establishments, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, urges the patrons of such establishments to insist upon cleanliness in the preparation and dispensing of foods.

The health authorities cannot maintain daily inspection of cafes and other food handling places. If the public is careless in accepting insanitary conditions, dozens of infectious diseases can be transmitted to the public from insanitary food and utensils, Doctor Cox believes.

"Food handlers schools are being taught constantly throughout the state," Doctor Cox said, "and every cafe owner should take advantage of these schools to see that his personnel is trained in the sanitary methods of preparing, storing and dispensing food to the public. If that is their profession, they should qualify themselves to do the work safely. This is the restaurant owners responsibility to his patrons."

The public should insist upon a cafe being free from roaches, flies, and other insects; cracked dishes should never be used; tables and linens, as well as dishes and silverware should be scrupulously clean, and milk should be served in the original container, with the cap intact.

They should note whether or not a cafe displays a placard stating that its standards of sanitation have been approved by local or state health officials.

"Obviously the best in sanitation can be had only through close cooperation between the public and health officials. As long as the public approves and accepts insanitary conditions in eating establishments, they will continue to exist," Doctor Cox warned.

WALLACE TO ATTEND MEET

Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences, is to present a paper entitled "The Openings on the White Man's Road" at the annual meeting of the Texas Archeological and Paleontological society in Alpine Monday and Tuesday.

The yearly session is being held in conjunction with the meet of Southwest division of the Association for the Advancement of Sciences.

Girls Nominate Dorm Officers

Nominations were made for fall semester house senate officers Monday night in Women's Dorm IV, Francis Thurman, secretary, said. Other nominees were: Jean Pratt, Daina McIlroy and Elyse Hopping, vice-president; Mary Jean Naugle, Janis Hamilton and Ruth Brunson, secretary; Mary Lou Williams, Betty Jones and Meredith Wood, business manager; Avis Hazletine, Dottie Stokes and Joyce Pember, AWS representatives; Elyse Harvey and Delane Adams, senior representative; Connie McMullan, Joyce Stewart and Edna Hill, junior representative; Elizabeth Schovajsa, Susan Sherry and Noyce Jennings, sophomore representative.

Kathryne Witty, Joyce Byrom and Rachel Dunaway were nominated for president in Women's Dorm III. Mrs. Edna Eikel, dorm supervisor, said. Other nominees were: Tommie Wall, Tommie Campbell and Mary Ruth Norris, vice-president; Jeannine Smith, Harriet Moltz and Pat Keefer, secretary, Alice Hix, Joan Chapman and Irma Beaver, treasurer; Maurine Denton, Sue Lawson and Jerry Freeman, AWS representative; Angela Rattan, Jane Skinner and Nancy Conder, senior representative; Jimmie Lee Cotton, Mary Stanford and Almarie Wall, junior representative; Rhetta McMaster, Tibba McMullan and Pat Johnson, sophomore representative; and Mary Byars Turner, Mary Hammack and Betty Wolcott, reporter. Elections in both dorms will be Tuesday, Miss Thurman said.

QUARTERLY CLUB

The Quarterly club, an organization for women teachers at Tech, will elect officers for next year at the last meeting of the semester at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Lubbock hotel, Mrs. Grace Wilborn, club member, said.

Mrs. Marie Harrison, program chairman, will be in charge and Mrs. Wilborn of the English department will read James Barrie's play "What Every Woman Knows". Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Ethel Jane Beittler of the applied arts department by 5 p.m. Tuesday.

TO WRITE ARTICLE

Mrs. Eunice J. Gates, foreign language professor, has been asked by a group of scholars in Spain to contribute an article to a homage volume, which will be offered to Ramon Menendez Pidal, Spain's greatest living scholar, Dr. C. B. Qualla, head of the foreign language department, announced Thursday.

The volume is being compiled to commemorate the eightieth birthday of the Spanish scholar. This "singular honor" given to Mrs. Gates "places the Spanish department of Texas Tech among the recognized centers of Spanish culture in the world, Qualla said.

AGRONOMY FIELD TRIP

Two sections of agronomy students made a field trip to the Amarillo Soil Conservation experimental station yesterday. The group of 32 students was accompanied by Judd Morrow and Earl Burnett, lecturers in agronomy.

The classes inspected soil conservation practices, range practices and varieties of wheat trials.

CHURCH PICNIC

First Baptist church young people met last night at the church before going to Mackenzie park for a picnic, Miss Ardelle Hallock, director of the Baptist Student center, said.

All students attending were dressed as "kids."

DRANE HALL DANCE

A May day theme will be used in decorations at the informal Drane hall dance from 8-11 tonight, Byrdane Roberson, junior counselor, said.

The sport dance is open to resident couples and women and their dates. Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Camp, Miss Roberson said.

CLEMENT TO RETURN

W. P. Clement, registrar, will return today from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended the annual National Association of Collegiate Registrars convention. Clement was chairman of the special projects committee of the association and is a member of the executive board, Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar, said.

his wife and asked, "Mary, want-a cigarette?" Strout mentioned the odor that filled his office the day Miss McCollum visited him, and stated that he thought of the slogan, "If you don't use our soap, use our perfume."

The jury, which was composed of the audience, was given slips of paper and asked to write "guilty" or "not guilty" and a short comment.

Joe Gipson was presiding judge over the trial. This was the first time that women attorneys had ever been used in a pre-law trial.

Abbreviated Version Of Varsity Show To Feature Nine Specialty Numbers

Nine specialty numbers from the 1949 Varsity show, "Milestones in Melody" will be presented before high school students in two neighboring cities Tuesday when members of the original Tech production go on the road in the first of a series of three day-long tours.

The collegiate show, which ran over two hours when it was staged nightly April 4-6, has been trimmed to 40 minutes' playing time and includes songs, dances and acrobatic stunts.

First performance on the road is to be at 10:30 a.m. in Seagraves. At 1 p.m. in Seminole, after lunch in the high school cafeteria, the second and last presentation of the day will be made.

The program of acts, as announced Thursday by Bill Parsley, Varsity show director, includes vocal numbers by Farrell Reeder, De Lois Utterback and the trio composed of Lamar Jackson, Bill Jackson and "Porky" Parkinson. Dances will include a rhumba tap by Maxine McCollum, ballets by Margaret Smart and Jo Simmons, and a tango by Mary Naugle and Kenneth Hobbs. The only group dance will be the Charleston, which in the original show was done by Helen Moore, Betty Willis, Janet Moore, Mary Ruth Norris, Pat Flanagan, Carol Sherrod, and Jane Armstrong.

Acrobatic stunts are to be presented by the "Blond Trio," Jimmy Carter, "Dingy" Davis, and Harriet Moltz.

Joe Meador, who portrayed Pops Greenwood in the full-length production, is to go with the students. Music for the numbers will be furnished by a rhythm section, said Parsley.

Transportation for the troupe is to be by college bus. Accompanying the group on each of its tours will be either Dr. D. D. Jackson, one of the sponsors of the show, or Frank Junell, assistant to the president.

Other road presentations of "Milestones in Melody" are scheduled for May 11 and May 17 in cities as yet undetermined.

Tickets Go On Sale For AWS Luncheon

Senior women may purchase tickets to the Association of Women Student's May Day luncheon until 12 p.m. today in the dean of women's office, said Miss June Hanson, assistant to the dean of women.

The tickets are $1.50. Those which are not sold today will be available to other women students Monday through Wednesday, she emphasized.

"We urge all graduating women who have not purchased tickets to do so today before the tickets are placed on sale to all women," Miss Hanson said.

Purpose of the luncheon is to honor graduating senior women. Final plans will be completed this afternoon following a luncheon in the home of Mrs. Margaret W. Walker, dean of women and AWS sponsor. The council's schedule for 1949-50 will also be discussed by the group. Those to attend are Levora Manning, Kathryne Witty, Doris Smalley, Lois Cone, Rosemary Stubbs, and Miss Hanson.

Interviews Will Be Given At Program

Graduating seniors are invited to attend a program on "How to Apply For a Job" sponsored by the Lubbock Personnel association, Mrs. Jean A. Jenkins, executive secretary of the placement office announced Friday.

Lubbock personnel directors will present the program at 7 p.m., Thursday, in the Engineering auditorium.

Members of the association who represent outstanding firms of Lubbock will give brief talks on the employer's viewpoint and the application for a job. After discussing and demonstrating the personal interview, students will be given an opportunity to participate in practice interviews followed by constructive criticism.

Mrs. Jenkins emphasized the importance of this program to graduating seniors, since soon they will need to know the proper procedure for meeting the employer and completing an interview. Faculty members are also invited.

MAY SUBMIT SUGGESTIONS

Students and faculty members may send in suggestions on the proposed combination student union and faculty recreational building that is being planned for Tech, Dr. H. E. Golden, associate professor of the employer's viewpoint and the administration, announced Monday.

Suggestions may be sent to Doctor Golden or to Sam Lefeste, president of American Association of University Professors.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND
Loyalty Fund booklets, which contain a report on the Loyalty Fund drive for last year, will be mailed out soon, D. M. McElroy, executive secretary to the Ex-Students association, said today.

The booklet has a list of all honor roll members of the fund, listed by classes. Included are letters to ex-students from Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president, and Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president.

Last year was the initial year for the fund, which has an aim of aiding students through scholarships, aiding the college, and supporting the Ex-Students association.

Five scholarships of $1000 will be given to one student in each division.

TECH ENGINEERS
Senior electrical engineers will make an inspection trip to TUCO generating plant of the Southwestern Public Service company.

Approximately 70 students will visit the plant either Monday or Tuesday. This is a particularly apt time since the plant is installing a new 25,000 kilowatt unit, and students will be able to see the insides of the machinery.

Jo Ann Hamilton, Carolyn Cole and Ekwena DeJelker attended the opera in Dallas last week-end.

Student Government Will Profit From TISA Activity

Tech delegates, including this year's president and the president elect of the student council, returned from a Saturday convention in Denton enthusiastic about a newly formed association of students.

Created with the idea of bringing together representatives of student government from all major colleges over the state, this association is designed to become a trading ground among institutions of higher learning, for experiences and solutions to student problems.

For a long time now, the student has been isolated, struggling with his own problems in campus organization. Unlike teachers and members of college administrations, the students have not been able to exchange ideas freely or profit by experiments outside their own institutions. The Texas Intercollegiate Students association, its constitution written and approved by delegates from 22 schools gathered in Denton last week, gives us the machinery necessary to achieve this end.

Though much of its work will be carried on by correspondence, the organization is based around a yearly convention at which officers will be elected, study groups formed and panel discussions of current student problems held. Planning for each convention will be done by an executive council, composed of officers of the body. A representative from each member college will also participate in this function. Under the constitution, which must be ratified by the schools before Jan. 1, each college is allowed one vote, regardless of size.

Last Saturday's meeting has already proved valuable to Tech delegates who attended. On the eve of inauguration of student representation on the college disciplinary committees, council officers close to this problem were able to discuss disciplinary setups at other schools with students present. One Tech organization is making plans to try an honor system borrowed from a major southwest conference school. Possibility of cooperation in bringing nationally known entertainers, bands and musical groups for extended road tours among the member colleges was also considered.

These points illustrate the broadness of scope and potentiality of this first state-wide organization of student governments. The trend of the Denton convention, which possessed a subdued and democratic tone, was toward solution of governmental questions arising on individual campuses. It is in this field the strength and chief value of such an association rests.

Operated under the forces of radicalism or under control of those who do not recognize the limitations of such a body, the TISA could conceivably harm those involved. As long as the organization continues on the high and democratic plane which this first meeting has set precedent for, it can be of great value to Tech and the other participating schools, however.

Journalism Congress Note

With the closing of the second Southwestern Journalism congress held at Texas Tech, we would like to express our appreciation to both those who have come to our campus to aid in the program and the business men in Lubbock who have helped make the event a success.

It has been an honor to Tech and the journalism department to have such an outstanding group of speakers, faculty members and students as guests during these two days. Our desire has been to make each visiting delegation feel at home and welcome in Lubbock and at Texas Tech.

It is our hope that the speakers have left many important ideas, possibly new conceptions, with those privileged to attend the congress sessions. We feel that they have given us a practical and entertaining program with information that the aspiring young journalist can carry away and put to use at a future date.

To these men who already are actively shaping public opinion and those who shall devote their futures to the same worthy task, Texas Tech extends her best regards and wishes.

Crumbs Of Wisdom

A young woman of my acquaintance once asked me where I got all my material. Quick as a flash I replied, "Out of my head." "What!" she exclaimed. "You mean you make up all that stuff?" "Why not at all!" I responded, "I meant that I read books in the john."

As I have iterated and reiterated, every young man should learn a trade. There was so much acrimony and mordant parance about my last discussion of learning a trade that I persuaded myself, against my better judgement that I must do it again sometime. I had already promised to discuss whales and I was flooded with such a nullibility of approval that I have decided to remove it, i.e. carry it out. What better way, I asked myself, receiving no reply, to satisfy all my virulent readers than by combining these two topics into a discourse on the whaling industry?

Whales are fun loving little rascals, always devoted to having a whale of a good time. I might, without excess equivocation, relate that whales also make good parents. They are fond, though strict, and there is nothing commoner on the high seas than hearing some mammal say "Junior, I'm goin' to whale the daylight out of you". Actually, this would be practically impossible. Whales have very dark natures.

A whale's nose is situated on top of his head and is called a blow-hole (hence the term "blow" when holding a handkerchief to another's snout). When the whale comes to the surface to breathe, he seems to be squirting water through the top of his head. If you should happen to be on a ship sometime, (never mind how you got there) and some precocious tot should shriek "Oh look mommy, the whales takin' a bath!", you, knowing the true nature of the occurrence, may assume a smug smile of condescending intellectual superiority and ostentatiously correct the misapprehension under which the infant labors.

There are lots of different kinds of whales. There are big whales, little whales, he whales, she whales, blue whales, black whales, white whales (Moby Dick was a white whale, but the less said about it the better) and right whales. Strangely enough, there are no wrong whales.

The tails of whales are called the flukes of whales. To those of you who weren't paying attention, this probably sounded like the Duke of Wales but he has nothing to do with the subject, and you will never get far in life if you persist in this belief. Whales are caught with a tool called a lagoon. This thing is part lamp and part harpoon. The whale comes to see what's cookin' and winds up getting stuck.

This Collegiate World

One of the classic "pep-talks" stories is told on Michigan's great football coach, "Hurry Up" Yost. Yost, as well as being a brilliant strategist was a firm believer in derasing room oratory.

During half time of one important game he pulled out all the stops in a fervent plea for victory. The players sat enthralled as Coach Yost poured it on.

"Go out that door to victory," the fiery coach screamed. So carried away was he that Yost pointed to the wrong door.

The Michigan players, fired to a fever pitch, dashed headlong into the swimming pool, and, encumbered with heavy football gear, narrowly escaped drowning. — "Niagara Index"

"Why no I didn't, not in the least." — "Hilltop", Mars Hill, N. C.

This is the story of my roommate, I shall not want another like her. She maketh me lie down at fifteen every night.

She leadeth me into error; She rastoreth not my kleenex.

She leadeth me into paths of anger,

For she talketh when I want to sleep.

Yea though I do my share of the work, I fear no cleanliness, for thou art with me.

Thy pencils and thy bobble pins, they comfort me; But thou preparast thyself a table with my cheese and crackers. Thou annoonest thy face with my oil, and my cup runneth over.

Surely if thou followest me all the days until I get my degree, I will dwell in the house of the mentally ill forever.

Ramsey Is Impressed With Spring, Engr. Show

(Editor's Note—Wayne Ramsey, Senior Pre-Med major from Abilene writes today's guest column.)

The heartiest congratulations of not only myself, but of everyone that I have talked to, for those people who are responsible for the Engineering show. I think that special recognition should be given to Chock Miller, General Manager; Andy Willingham, Publicity Manager, and to James Stewart and Dick Wolff, Assistant Manager and Assistant Publicity Manager, who will take over the leadership next year. And certainly, attention should be brought to Bill Wright, who is Lighting Manager, portrayed Tech to its best advantage at night. These men did a real job and we should let them know that we appreciate it.

Through their efforts, one of the greatest Engineering shows in Tech's history was presented to the students and people of Lubbock. Over 8,400 people went through the Engineering Building alone and many others saw the Textile and Chemical adjuncts.

As for the students who missed this, one of Tech's most interesting phenomena (look it up, that's correct usage), only my deepest sympathies and condolences can be offered. Seriously though, this was the first time that I had undertaken to see all of the Engineering Show, and believe me, every moment spent was interesting and well worthwhile. You didn't have to be a mechanical genius to appreciate the show, but it would have helped. However, there was a courteous and well informed attendant on hand to explain each different subject or exhibition shown. And the exhibitions ranged from mechanical aptitude tests to the use of radium and Geiger counters as used in the oil fields.

Again I say thanks to those unselfish students and instructors who made possible the greatest Engineering Show in Tech's history.

It would seem that summer again approaches our fair campus. I base this assumption on the facts that the trees and grass are becoming green and the occasional wistful looks between the opposite sexes. Also there is a certain feeling in the air and the ice companies are beginning to sell more crushed ice destined for Buffalo Lake or McKenzie Park. And every so often one sees a stifled yawn in the early hours of morn and a brightening of the face toward the cool of evening. Ah me, the exuberance of youth.

As one who hopes to leave (that is, graduate) in May, I feel qualified to express my thanks to Dr. D. M. Wiggins for his help and leadership in making Texas Tech a better college. Not only Dr. Wiggins, but Dr. E. N. Jones and the various new professors brought to Tech have helped raise our prestige and made us more renowned throughout the Southwest.

VA Guidance Tests Find Job Preferences, Abilities

Center Excludes Lovelorn Advice

By THOMAS D. BROWN
Toreador Staff Writer

"What is your greatest ambition in life?"

That is the question Lovic H. Liston, chief of the Veterans Administration guidance center on the campus, sometimes asks student veterans during an interview concerning guidance tests.

The question is not always an easy one to answer without giving it some thought and deliberation. "There are four important things in life," Spruce White, VA training specialist, says: 1. Being born, 2. Choosing your life's occupation, 3.

Choosing your mate and 4. Dying. "The first and the last, you have no control over," White says, "but choosing an occupation for which you are best fitted can mean much in the happiness and satisfaction you derive from life."

"Through the medium of these guidance tests, which have been scientifically designed, we at the guidance center do not tell you what your life occupation should be, but you, by answering the questions truthfully and according to the dictates of your own conscience, are able to tell yourself for what occupation you are best suited."

"And choosing your mate—well, we don't give advice to the lovelorn," White concludes.

The occupational preference tests and their results have won the acclaim of educators and psychologists, Liston states; such tests have been successful in determining preferences and abilities for thousands of students.

Personality, mechanical aptitude, mental abilities, and occupational preference are covered by this testing.

"If your personality test shows you to be recessive rather than aggressive, we certainly wouldn't advise you to sell insurance; this does not mean that you wouldn't be happy keeping books or doing some other job that does not require that you sell yourself and your product to the public," Liston says.

The tests are well-rounded and accurate, Mr. Liston believes. He reminds those being tested that the staff is impartial and impersonal.

Bored In Classes? Here's How You Can Sleep Through Them

TRENTON, N. J.—(ACP)—The "Rider News" reports a new way of learning while asleep:

A leading university recently compiled the satisfactory results of teaching complicated subjects to students while they were asleep. It sounds strange, but here's how it's done:

A speaker, attached to a record player, is slipped under the pillow of a sleeping student. A record is played through the night conveying impressions to the brain. That is the complete and simple setup.

Just think, a student can leave school at 2 p.m., go home to cut a platter on history or English literature; attend a movie or night ball game, return home, jump in bed, turn on the recorder, and contentedly visit dreamland while King Ferdinand battles Queen Elizabeth to see which country controls the oyster beds.

The only catch is, how can a student do his homework if the electricity fails? And what about the electric bill?

Independent Teams Register For May 7 Intramural Meet

Approximately 50 men are entered in the 1949 intramural track meet scheduled for May 7, George Philbrick, intramural sports director, has announced.

The majority of men entered are registered with independent teams, he said. Dodgers, Streaks, Flashers, and Jolly Gigabooks, all independents, have been registered in the athletic office.

Men who wish to enter the meet must notify George Philbrick, in the athletic office, before May 4.

There will be a meeting of all team managers at 5 p.m. on May 4 in the athletic office at which time managers must turn to complete typewritten lists of men on their teams with the events in which each man will participate. Complete information about the track meet will be given to managers at the meeting.

No one who has participated in varsity or freshman track at Tech will be eligible to enter the intramural track meet.

No preliminary events will be held to narrow down competition for the finals. Each team will be limited to three participants in each event.

Track meet is sponsored for the second consecutive year by The Toreador. First, second, and third place ribbons are to be awarded to winners.

Trout Manitains Top Golf Post After Playoffs

Johnny Trout, Jr., retained his position as number one man on Tech's golf team when the final qualifying rounds of the season were played last Monday and Tuesday.

Trout toured the 36 holes at the Lubbock Country club in 146 strokes, only four over par.

James F. Cook fired a 155 to win second berth on the team.

Waymon Ellerd, Zac Henderson, and Bud Henderson tied for third and fourth positions with scores of 161 each.

In the playoff for third and fourth positions, Zac Henderson and Bud Henderson on over Ellerd.

The team will play host to New Mexico University's golfers this week-end.

Sports Shorts

GOLDEN GLOVES

The Golden Gloves boxing bouts, that ring tourney which is the pride of many young boxing hopefuls, is not as gold as it may seem, says Sports Extra.

Journalistic competition often gives the public a misleading impression of the actual ability of quality of bouts. In other words, the papers that sponsor the tournaments don't criticize them in any way while the rival newspapers play the events down to a minimum. Too often the fighters aren't the "beginners" they're hailed to be.

Another criticism of the fights has been aired by Gene Tunney. He argues against the system of having the young contestants fight more than one bout a night. This often results in eliminating, unfairly, a first-class prospect whose first fight was too tough to allow him to make a good showing in the second bout.

Team, Individual Awards Slated

A program to be given at noon today in the gym will highlight a day of sports activity for women.

Betty Jay, reporter, said yesterday. The Nineteenth Annual Playday is sponsored by the Women's Recreation association for all women students. Each participant must play in two individual and two team sports.

Morning activities after registration and reception at 8:30-9 a.m., include: table tennis, tennis, jacks, washers, horseshoes, darts, volleyball, relays and baseball throw. Activities will be held in and around the gym.

A lunch, which is included in the 50 cent registration fee, and a program are noon activities. The program will include tumbling, tap dancing, songs, with guitar accompaniment and a short skit.

Afternoon activities include: badminton, softball a general assembly in the gym and presentation of team awards.

Women attending receive excused absences from classes. Movies will be taken of the annual event to add to WRA's collection of play day movies.

General managers of play day are: Mrs. Johnny G. Langford, head of the women's physical education department; Miss Sue Rainey, professor in the department; Mrs. Margaret Manor Richards, assistant professor; and students, Betty Jay and Nina Starkey.

Referees, judges, scorekeepers and timekeepers include: Nina Starkey, Betty Jay, Virginia Denny, Elizabeth Johnson, Rhett Masters, Lillian Franklin, Barbara Crosslin, Oleta Dowlin, Lee Doris Spector, Frances Reid, Charlyne Smith.

Eula Starkey, Mary Winn, Harriet Moltz, Jo Verden, Mary Ann Dwyer, Bobby Adams, Virginia Denny, Dotsy Phillipa, Wanda Mae Wilson, Wilda Franklin, Pat Flannigan, Mac Maggard.

Committee members are: Betty Jay, Wilda Franklin, Harriet Moltz, Charlyne Smith, program; Jo Verden, Wilda Franklin, Lillian Franklin, lunch; and Betty Jay, publicity.

Five-School Track Meet Slated Here Is Cancelled

The five-team track meet scheduled for this afternoon at Tech stadium has been cancelled, said Track Coach Maxey McKnight.

New Mexico university, Texas College of Mines, West Texas State and Hardin-Simmons had planned to send teams to enter the track and field events.

The track had to be pumped dry for the region one meet last Saturday, and rains earlier this week left standing water.

Tennis Men Ready For Meet Today With New Mexicans

The Raider tennis team, although hampered greatly by rain the past few days, were still planning to take the winning position in matches with New Mexico university yesterday afternoon and this morning.

Both Texas Mines and NMU were expected to send six-man teams to enter in the singles and doubles events against Tech, but Texas Mines Thursday called off their appearance.

Tech-NMU matches were to begin at 2 p.m. Friday and continue through this morning. NMU will be out to avenge the beating their B team suffered from Tech's B team at Albuquerque during the Easter holidays.

A. J. Broyles, Glenn Ivy, Carl Schmidt, Eddie Seuldalay, Jackie Prentiss and David Hester are entered in the singles events.

The doubles lineup for Tech against NMU were to be decided by Coaches Ivy and Broyles the day of the matches.

Scholarships And Awards

Students receiving scholarships and awards have maintained a 2.00 grade point average for all their college work. The scholarships and awards are recognized by the college.

Chester C. Jaynes will receive the Borden Company Foundation Scholarship in Agriculture. It is an award of $300 to the senior student in agriculture who has achieved the highest grade in all college work preceding the senior year.

The Borden Company Foundation Scholarship in Home Economics will be presented to Sus Lynn Guthrie. This award is made to the senior student in home economics who has achieved the highest grade in all college work preceding the senior year.

The Business and Professional Women's Club Scholarship, a sum of $50 to the outstanding junior girl majoring in business administration, will be made to Estelle Cummings.

The C. N. Hilton Scholarships, a sum of $100 to the highest ranking student of each class majoring in business administration, will be awarded to William Doyle Elliott, Kelly Lane Hagood, and Cecil Jack Gholson.

The Dunlap Stores Scholarships will be presented to Virginia Butler, Sharon Cone, Barbara Croslin, Dorothy Crosslin, Patricia Finley, Mary Catherine Hampton, Wanda Jean Hicks, Marvin Kitten, Edwin Langford, Elizabeth Schovajsa, Lindell Selby, Avanel Smith, Savannah Tunnell and Marilou Williams. These scholarships are for the one high-ranking individual in each high school regularly graduating 20 or more seniors in Lubbock, Crosby, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Hockley, Lynn and Garza counties.

Ralph Lacy will receive the Elsie M. Adams Memorial Scholarship in Textile Engineering. It is an award of $200 made to the sophomore student in textile engineering with the highest average grade in all college work in the freshman year.

Guillermo Bello and Carl E. Schmidt will be awarded the Foreign Student Scholarships. These scholarships have been made available by the Board of Directors for students who live outside the natural borders of the United States and who have demonstrated scholarship ability while enrolled at Tech. They are approximately the excess amount of tuition which foreign students pay as out-of-state students.

J. Franklin Stokes will be presented one of the Freshman Textile Engineering Scholarships. A number of these scholarships are awarded to both men and women who as freshman students major in textile engineering.

James Grisham will be presented the Global Corporation Agricultural Scholarship. It is a sum of $200 to the senior student having achieved the highest average grade in all college work, which must include eleven semester hours in agronomy completed prior to Sept. 1 of the school year in which the award is made. This award is not granted to the recipient of any other similar scholastic award.

The La Vernie Noyes Scholarships will be awarded to Janis Cressie Clark, Janet Crandall, Gilbert M. Galloway and Laura Sue Holmes. The students of Tech who are sons and daughters of veterans of World War I are eligible for scholarships, which are limited in number, are awarded on the basis of scholarship.

Laura Beth Hall Peacock is to be awarded The Lubbock Chapter of the National Secretaries' Association Scholarship. Each year a scholarship of $50 is awarded to the outstanding junior girl majoring in secretarial administration.

Velma Jean Been will be awarded the Lubbock Panhellenic Society Scholarship. It is a sum of $50 to the sophomore student in home economics making the highest grade in all work in the freshman year.

Clifford J. Arnold will be awarded the National Association of Cotton Manufacturers Annual Award. The award is an engraved medal for the highest ranking senior student in textile engineering.

Furd Halsell will be presented The Robert B. Price Dairy Production Scholarships. This is one of four scholarships of $100 each awarded annually to the highest ranking student in animal husbandry with a dairy manufactures option having the highest scholastic average in his class.

K. Carter Wheelock will be awarded the Roscoe Wilson Memorial Scholarship in Foreign Languages. It is a stipend of $30 a month to a student majoring in foreign languages.

The Sears-Roebuck Foundation Scholarships will be awarded to Freddie L. Becker, Edgar Lee Hawkins, Robert M. Kral, Dudley K. Montgomery and George R. Truitt. The scholarships are for students in the division of agriculture.

James F. Smith will be presented the Wilbur C. Hawk Memorial Scholarship. It is a sum of $50 awarded annually to the student of junior standing majoring in journalism who does the best work in reporting in the first semester.

Organizations To Be Recognized
All approved organizations on the campus in which two thirds of the members maintained a 2.00 grade-point average for their two preceding semesters will be recognized.

The organizations are: Alpha Chi, Alpha Lambda Delta, Alpha Psi Omega, Forum, Tau Beta Pi, Junior Council, and Psi Sigma Alpha.

Tech's Outstanding Girl Journalist Named At Banquet

Jayne Thompson, senior arts and sciences student from Vernon, was presented the annual Theta Sigma Phi award for being the outstanding woman senior journalism major for the 1948-49 school year at the Matrix Table banquet Thursday night at the Hilton hotel.

Aline Whitby, retiring president of the national honorary society for women journalism majors presented the award. Engraved on the award were the Greek letters Theta Sigma Phi and 1949.

Presentation of the award was made before the main address delivered by Malvina Stephenson, press and radio correspondent from Washington, who was introduced by Mrs. Tom Allen, alumnae advisor.

Jane Skinner, president, served as toastmistress and Mrs. J. G. Allen, faculty sponsor introduced the special guests.

Members and sponsors of Theta Sigma Phi from the 12 colleges attending the Southwestern Journalism Congress, local alumnae, and local women journalism majors also attended the Matrix Table banquet, which is an annual affair.

Miss Thompson was presented the award on the basis of her leadership and scholastic ability while attending Tech. Among the offices she has held are secretary, Press club; vice president and president, Women's Inter-Club Council; vice president, Las Chaparritas; vice president, Theta Sigma Phi; and Keeper of the archives, Kappa Alpha Mu. Among the campus organizations of which she is a member are Press club, Las Chaparritas, Tech Chamber of Commerce, Kappa Alpha Mu, Theta Sigma Phi, Women's Inter-Club

Council and Forum.

She was Tech Sun Princess last semester. She has also served as society editor of the Toreador, associate editor of La Ventana and was a winner of the Wilbur C. Hawke Memorial Award.

"Pressmen are the men behind the men who steer the ship of state" said Miss Stephenson, Washington correspondent, of North American Newspaper alliance, at the annual Matrix dinner.

The theme of her speech was seeing the human side of personalities in Washington. The press radio correspondent from Oklahoma said that she makes an effort to make her material more readable by presenting the people she writes about as just people. Among those she interviews regularly are President Truman and Mrs. Helm, the White House secretary.

Some of the most interesting material which she gets is obtained in the Russian embassy where she has met Molotov and Andre Vishinsky.

Miss Stephenson has also met some interesting notables in the French and British embassies, which she says are always good sources.

In coming to West Texas, she fulfilled a desire to see a part of the country she had never been to. The "trouble with Washington reporters is that they never talk to anybody else except reporters," she believes.

"This is one of the reasons" she went on to say, "that newspaper reporters were so wrong in their predictions of the presidential election." Getting around the country to see the viewpoints of the people is something that Washington correspondents need to do more often.

She mentioned a number of sources from which she gets news for her column, "Mirrors of Washington." There are of course the president's press conferences, the press section of the legislative galleries, conferences with cabinet officers, and the grapevine social outlets. Discussing the latter, she said that women often get the drop on men by this method.

Another source was taking a trip with a presidential party. She mentioned one which she had taken with a group to Canada. She managed to scoop male radio commentators by getting an entrance into a dignitary's home in order to learn about the social side of a dinner to be held there.

Log-Log's Lullaby Lulls Engineers

Lullabies and bedtime stories have long been favorites with everyone. This bedtime story should have a special appeal to engineers.

It seems in the valley of calculus, by the river Analytics, there lived a little slide rule by the name of Log-Log.

Little Log-Log, armed with his trusty double-barreled duplex, went hunting one day in search of integrals. After looking everywhere for tracks between zero and pi, he suddenly came upon a dyne bush.

The ferocious and dangerous integral, angered at the interruption by Log-Log, charged him. He growled and delivered his battle cry of "Heterodyne your signals to one frequency". Little Log-Log stood by with his trusty Duplex.

The charging integral came within ten millimeters of where Log-Log fired into the integrals third quadrant.

The gigantic masterful force of the Duplex, heavily loaded with trigonometric and logarithmic tables, spun the integral about his X-axis and sent his moment of inertia flying along a sine curve into the fourth division.

Little Log-Log put the Duplex back in brief case and oscillated along the path to home. At the cottage he found his dinner of ionized amperes soup and broiled ohms waiting for him.

Log-Log ate a hearty meal and then sat down to rest upon his radius of gyration.—SMU Campus.
