

IN NOISY SESSION

Council OK's New System Of Elections

by PRESTON MAYNARD and
RALPH W. CARPENTER
Of The Editorial Staff

In a noisy meeting lasting several hours and spiced with conflicting opinions, the Student Council moved toward adoption of a new spring elections system Tuesday night.

The Council okayed after lengthy discussion proposals which included: a pre-election rally in Lubbock's Municipal Auditorium, an orientation period for candidates and elimination of all dormitory voting.

A proposal to give tests to candidates concerning the orientation sessions was sent to committee for further study.

Several Council members voiced strong opposition to portions of the recommendations.

The rally was described by Student Assn. Secretary Janis Jones, who presented proposals of the elections committee to the Council, as an attempt to provide "intelligent, coordinated campaigning."

"It should be the biggest thing this campus sees all spring," Miss Jones said. Campaigning except for posters would be limited to the rally, with the executive officer candidates making speeches and cheerleader candidates leading yells or giving skits, according to Miss Jones. Council representative candidates would be introduced and candidates would also be allowed to have booths on the parking lot, she said.

An objection was voiced to use of the Auditorium by Larry Campbell, Student Assn. business manager.

Campbell favored the Tech Union ballroom for reasons of less cost and availability to the women's dorms.

"I think we could accomplish the purpose there," Campbell said.

"This thing merits trying to do it on a big scale," Mack Robertson told the Council, "and we're never going to get it off the ground unless we try it."

The elimination of voting in the dorms was urged by Miss Jones "to insure greater efficiency and honesty in voting."

As for dishonesty in handling of ballot boxes in the dorms, she said:

"This is a fact; I know it is a fact and you know it is a fact . . . I've tracked these ballot boxes down in very many funny places."

"You say this is going to cut down on the votes . . . it may cut down on the votes counted," she told the Council. "If they want to vote, they will vote."

Approval was given for the proposed orientation sessions for candidates. Some skepticism was expressed as to whether the orientation sessions would accomplish their purpose. Miss Jones said the sessions would be to educate candidates on Council work and on election rules and reveal to them the responsibility and time involved with Council work.

While the orientation sessions were approved, an accompanying proposal for tests over the sessions was reverted to the elections committee.

Pete Baker moved that Miss Jones "go back to committee and get some concrete things these quizzes would be over."

Campbell opposed the tests, saying, concerning knowledge of the work performed by the officers and Council:

"These things you have to learn yourself . . . I don't see that this quiz over the lectures is going to do any good.

"I don't really understand the objective of your quiz," Campbell said. "The way I understand the quiz anyone could pass it."

The grades and their influence drew criticism. It was proposed that the grades be published in The Foreador after the exams.

"Here's this academic genius on campus . . . he learns it because he learns everything else," Wayne Underwood said.

"It's just hard work," Underwood said in reference to the Council's work and the effect of the orientations.

It was also commented that "a grade doesn't determine who's going to be a good Council member."

Although she thought the orientations were "very good," Joan Dorris pointed out that "maybe COUNCIL BACKS, Page 5 . . .

Campus Dons Red For 'Raider Day'

Red will be the color of the day Saturday at Texas Tech as the annual Red Raider Day is celebrated.

Students will don red throughout the day for the Tech-SMU basketball game Saturday night. "Our team has done a fine job for us and this is one way that we can show our appreciation for them," Robert Sandidge, Saddle Tramp coordinator for the day, said Wednesday.

Going into its third year, the day has previously been called "All I See Is Red Day."

Tags with the words "Beat SMU" are being passed out by Saddle Tramps to gain support of the Red Raiders Saturday.

The Foreador will be printed in red Saturday as part of the day's celebration.

BSO Goes On Retreat March 3-5

"Modern Challenge for Campus Organizations" will be the keynote speech delivered by Harry Walker, Tech economics professor, at the Board of Student Organizations retreat, March 3-5 at Cloudfcroft, N.M.

Two chartered buses will journey to Cloudfcroft Lodge where installation of officers and sledding is scheduled.

Each organization may send one delegate whose BSO dues are paid. Deadline for dues is 5 p.m. Feb. 27. Cost for each organization is approximately $27.50.

Delegates must have an overall grade point average of 1.0 as well as a 1.0 average for the previous semester. After being elected, each delegate must go to his academic dean to check his standing and have his identification card stamped as proof of eligibility. He must then fill out all forms and take them to the secretary of the Dean of Student Life, to whom he will also pay his fee.

The Tech fight song will be played from the Ad. Bldg. tower each hour during the day.

Sandidge said it was not certain that the red tissues like those used at the Homecoming game will be issued by the Red Raider Club for the Raider fans for the game.

The basketball team returned from Arkansas Wednesday afternoon in first place in the SWC. They will be risking their high ranking Saturday night against the Mustangs.

"I don't think we could have a better opportunity to have a real Red Raider Day," Sandidge said.

ARE YOU SURE IT IS SAFE TO WEAR RED?

. . . that is what Karen Anderson, a freshman Arts and Sciences major, may be thinking as she and Charlie Aycock, president of the Saddle Tramps, play "foreador." Techsans will be wearing red Saturday, on Red Raider Day.

A Chi O Picks Susan Craig For Spring Semester Prexy

New officers of Alpha Chi Omega were elected at the sorority chapter meeting Monday.

They are Susan Craig, president; Jane Sargent, first vice president; Charlotte Caskey, assistant first vice president; Barbara McMurphy, second vice president; Connie Schewe, recording secretary.

Rhea Johns, corresponding secretary; Beth O'Quinn, chaplain; Daphne Green, treasurer; Diane Davis, warden; Carlet Kight, historian; Ann Morrow, skit chairman and activities; Sandy Campbell, publicity.

Ginny Nausburn, scholarship; Glenna Adams, social chairman; Mary Lou Childress, lodge chairman; Pat Hamilton, "Lyre" editor; Shelly White, Panhellenic delegate; Mary Alice Hill, assistant delegate; Jolene Bull, AWS.

Marjan Stone, Board of Student Organizations representative; Susan Austin, song leader; Lynn Lawson, service; Judy Bealmeier, float chairman.

Sorority Offers Scholarships

Delta Delta Delta, national social sorority, has announced that it is offering two $100 scholarships to two qualifying Tech women students.

The awards will be based on scholarship, character, need and participation in campus activities. Applicants do not have to be members of social sororities.

Application blanks are available in the office of the Dean of Women. The deadline for applications is Feb. 28.

Winners will be announced at the AWS Women's Day Banquet scheduled for April 13.

Social Score

by Lynn Buckingham

The Tech social scoreboard shows a minimum of activities scheduled for Saturday night, with the evening's chief attraction being the Tech-Southern Methodist basketball game in Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum.

Only three activities are planned for Saturday — usually the week's most crowded day, society-wise.

KAPPA SIGMA will sponsor a dance at 8 p.m. at the Caprock Hotel for members, pledges and dates; Sigma Kappa has scheduled a stomp in the sorority lodge at 8 p.m.

THE SIGMA KAPPA lodge also will be the scene of the pledges' annual Levi Party set for 1 p.m. Saturday. The party is for pledges of Tech's ten other sororities.

FRIDAY'S SOCIAL CALENDAR is crowded with events, including the Gamma Phi Beta Romeo dance, set for 8 p.m. in the Rec Hall. All persons attending this open dance are asked to dress in red and white, following the Valentine theme of the dance. The Four Teens will play.

PHI MU will present its annual dinner dance at 6:30 p.m. Friday at the Holiday Inn, and Delta Tau Delta will sponsor its annual Sweetheart Dance at 8 p.m. in the ballroom of the Lubbock Hotel.

SIGMA NU will enjoy a "Night at Harold's Club" party at 7:30 p.m. Friday for members, pledges and dates. Pledges of Alpha Chi Omega will play hostess at a sock hop Friday in the A Chi O lodge for pledges, members and dates. The dance will have a Valentine theme.

THE ALPHA CHI'S will leave at noon on Saturday for Amarillo for their annual retreat. They will return late Sunday.

One other activity Friday, a dance, will be given at the Caprock Hotel by Phi Delta Theta. Featured band for the occasion will be the recording star, Ray Sharpe.

THE TECH UNION will sponsor a square dance in the Rec Hall at 7 p.m. Thursday. Caller will be Elton Terrell.

Also on Thursday will be a mixer for Delta Delta Delta and Delta Tau Delta at the Delt lodge at 6:15 p.m.

DELTA DELTA DELTA pledges will leave by car early Saturday for a pledge retreat outside of Amarillo. They will return late Sunday.

This weekend will also see the retreat of Kappa Alpha Theta members and pledges who will travel to Ruidoso, N.M. The Theta's will have a paddle party at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the sorority lodge.

Coronation Ball Tells Names Of Favorite Personalities

The annual Coronation Ball at which Mr. and Miss Texas Tech and the class favorites are presented will be held this year on March 11, it was announced today.

Class favorite elections and voting for Mr. and Miss Texas Tech will be on March 1. Winners will not be announced until the night of the Coronation Ball.

The dance, sponsored by the freshman, sophomore and junior classes, will be held at the Lubbock Fair Park Coliseum. The time has not been announced.

The Norman Petty Trio from Clovis, N.M. will be the main dance band, assisted by the Bowman Brothers and the Fireballs, rock and roll specialists.

Officials in charge of the dance have requested that other campus organizations not plan functions that will conflict with the Coronation Ball.

The dance will be semi-formal and there will be an admission charge.

Club Names Wilson Spring President

Spring officers of the American Marketing Association were elected at an association business meeting Monday night.

The new officers are Tommy Wilson, president; John O'Haugherty, vice president; Alan Turner, secretary; James Watts, treasurer; Bobby Assiter, Board of Student Organizations representative.

A field trip to Dallas and a banquet, which will climax spring activities were discussed at the meeting.

Techsans Organize New Greek Group

A new fraternity is being organized on Texas Tech campus. Since its first meeting in November its 23 members have been working to set the tradition for this group at Tech.

A new addition to Tech's frat groups was made possible by the great interest shown by the individual boys, the administration, and IFC.

TONIGHT this group will meet at 6 p.m. in the Administration Bldg. to elect its officers. The fraternity plans also to make final decisions on its program for this semester. Along with other organizational processes, this group is drafting a constitution.

According to Robert O'Neal, a member of this new fraternity, this organization offers its members a challenge.

Membership in this new fraternity will provide a chance for its members to incorporate their ideas into the objectives of their group.

TODAY THIS group is known simply as "the new fraternity." In the near future this group will become a chapter of some national social fraternity. IFC, working with the administration and the members of this new group, will make the selection of the national fraternity with which this group at Tech will be affiliated.

Their choice will be based on which fraternity will cooperate best with IFC and Texas Tech as well as strengthen the social fraternities on campus.

Wyoming; George Thacker, San Antonio; Robert Haibler, Houston; Ronald Dean Coffee, Lubbock; William B. Leverich, Fort Worth; Jeffery C. Jones, Morton; William H. Holland, Odessa; Lawrence David Lemon, Vernon; David Neal Fairrington, Wichita Falls; Jimmy D. Day, Lubbock; Don Rockwell Coffee, Lubbock; and Antonio Juan Montoto, Havana, Cuba.

Tech's new fraternity will participate in open rush after the major fraternity rushing period terminates February 18.

Trustees Plan '61 Dad's Day

Trustees and officers of the Dad's Day Association will hold their annual mid-winter meeting at 9 p.m., Feb. 18 in the student Life Conference Room to map plans for Dad's Day next fall.

A subcommittee of the Dad's Day Association will meet the preceding Friday, Feb. 17 to make plans for honoring distinguished athletes of Texas Tech. H. C. Dewitt of Dallas is president of the Hall of Honor committee.

Officers of the Dad's Day Association are: Paul F. Gustwich, president; Dr. H. F. Jackson, first vice president; V. P. Kaiser, second vice president; Alvin R. Allison, secretary; Weldon Gibbs, treasurer.

Loren Gergens briefs two of his salesmen on new telephone services for business customers.

"I DIDN'T WANT TO BE STOCKPILED"

When Loren Gergens was working for his B.S. degree in Business Administration at the University of Denver, he had definite ideas about the kind of job he wanted to land. He was determined to profit from the experience of several of his friends who had accepted promising jobs only to find themselves in "manpower pools"—waiting to be pulled into a responsible position. "I didn't want to be stockpiled," Loren says. "That's no way to start."

As a senior, Loren talked to twelve companies and joined The Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company, an associated company of the Bell Telephone System.

From his first day challenges were thrown at him—thick and fast. First, he supervised a group of service representatives who handle the communications needs of telephone customers. Then he served as manager of several telephone business offices. In these jobs Loren had to prove himself on the firing line, make right decisions and carry them through. He knew his next jump depended on only one man—Loren Gergens.

In July, 1960, he was made Sales Manager in Boulder, Colorado.

"I'm on the ground floor of a newly created telephone marketing organization. And I can tell you things are going to move fast!" Loren says. "It's rough at times, but hard work is fun when you know you're going somewhere—in a business where there's somewhere to go."

If you're interested in a job in which you can be your own prime mover—a job in which you're given a chance to show what you can do, right from the start—you'll want to visit your Placement Office for literature and additional information.

"Our number one aim is to have in all management jobs the most vital, intelligent, positive and imaginative men we can possibly find."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Ralph's Ramblings

Do you feel a little swamped this semester? Consider University of Cincinnati senior Ron Cunningham's schedule. He carries 18 hours, student teaches two mornings a week, runs a bulldozer and sometimes a backhoe four afternoons and all day Saturday, and officiates at basketball games at least one night each week.

His realistic comment to an interviewer: "Greatest difficulty is finding time to study. I realize I don't have time to do all this." Can anyone on the Tech campus top this schedule?

—RWC—

It happened at the University of Texas. Where else?

A cute little thing complete with dimples, blonde hair, and white socks came traipsing through the many seated men stationed around the gym to check course cards.

She hopped up to one, feeding him her brightest smile. He never looked up as he grabbed her course card.

"Paying your own fees?" he asked.

"No," she answered.

"Got a scholarship?"

"No."

His eyes finally came off the floor. He didn't say a word. He just stared coldly.

"My daddy's paying my fees," she said, plucking her course card from his hand as she wheeled away.

—RWC—

Sometimes I think we don't give enough credit to the custodians who keep our buildings free of debris. We have a habit of taking them for granted. Over here at the Journalism Building, we have an excellent one by the name of Mr. J. D. Wilson. He not only goes about his duties in an orderly fashion but he also finds time to be friendly with some of the journalists over here who stay in this building to all hours of the night putting out the Toreador. Hat's off to Joe Wilson.

—RWC—

Mr. Ralph Sellmeyer, newest member of the journalism staff, was discussing news in one of his lectures the other day and brought out the following information on what makes news for papers and what doesn't. I thought you might find it interesting. He called it the math of news.

one ordinary man plus one ordinary life equals 0

one ordinary man plus one extraordinary adventure equals NEWS

one ordinary husband plus one ordinary wife equals 0

one husband plus three wives equals NEWS

one bank cashier plus one wife plus seven children equals 0

one bank cashier plus $10,000 equals NEWS

one chorus girl plus one bank president plus $10,000 equals NEWS

one man plus one auto plus one gun plus one quart equals NEWS

one man plus one wife plus one fight plus one lawsuit equals NEWS

one ordinary man plus one ordinary life of 79 years equals 0

one ordinary man plus one ordinary life of 100 years equals NEWS

The following was lifted from Charlie Smith's column in the Daily Texan.

As the third day of registration wore on and closed sections became more plentiful and more painful, one harried coed rushed up to the desk as the 5 p.m. bell sounded.

"Oh, I was worried about a section in Bible," she moaned.

"Don't worry, those sections are never closed."

"They're not?" the coed breathed in relief.

"Why it would be like closing the door to Heaven," assured the teacher.

Speech Department Needs Building

Texas Tech is blessed with many things it can be proud of. High on this list comes a speech department which time after time has shown that it is composed of hardworking, dedicated people.

The recent production of "Tea and Sympathy," which won the acclaim of all those who saw it, proves what the department can do in the way of presenting outstanding entertainment to the student body and the people of Lubbock.

On Sunday afternoon debaters from the speech department will again prove the department's worth when they appear on a televised debate in Dallas.

These are just two of the areas in which the department trains people interested in speech activities. There are many more too numerous to mention.

It would be hard to communicate with our neighbors—properly—if we did not have some speech training. Yet, this seems to be an area that is neglected on some campuses. Texas Tech has the makings of one of the finest speech departments in the state. But we maintain that they do not have all of the necessary facilities to go with this excellent staff.

New buildings are being built all over the campus right now. The speech building certainly does not blend with the rest of these fine, new buildings. The Toreador believes that the speech department is important enough to merit some modern facilities of its own.

The sooner they come the sooner Texas Tech is going to realize the tremendously important job the speech department is doing for our school.

RALPH W. CARPENTER
Toreador Editor

The Toreador Mail Call . . .

Editor,

Techsans have passed through another period of frustration and strife, seemingly as inevitable as death and taxes for students—registration. Registration is considered by most students to be comparable to the weather. Even though it is unpleasant, nothing can be done to change it.

Spring registration produced these problems. Students were sometimes excluded from courses in their major field. A student may start at 4 p.m. and advance to the last line only to find he has to wait until the next day to finish registration. Seniors and sophomores may be fighting for the same class. And, of course, the lingering headache for both teachers and students are the adds and drops. These are all familiar problems and I'm sure individual Techsans can come up with their own personal gripes about registration.

Now, I didn't write this letter just to waste my time or let off steam. If there were no solution, I would be the first to remain silent and bear my burden of registration. But, I feel an investigation into other methods of registration might prove fruitful. Pre-registration is used effectively by many universities throughout the country. A study of this method of registration by a group on the Tech campus might reveal some easier way to place students in classes.

Jerry C. Green

Dear Editor,

It is sometime interesting to read the letters in "The Toreador Mail Call." Bill Sherbert's letter in Tuesday's Toreador was most interesting to me because I agree with him in as much as I too believe that Bill Dean should express the ideas of the majority, and not especially those of his own or a select "few" on campus. I feel he should relay ALL the compliments, complaints and gripes of the students. I do believe that Bill Dean is doing a pretty good job, however, and I wanted to tell him so.

The parking situation at Tech is one much like the other colleges, but there is one difference. Tech has lots of space for lots. I know that state funds cannot be used for these purposes, but I don't believe the traffic and parking system is up to par or more funds would be available. The parking situation was improved a lot by the painting of parking spaces in many of the lots, but the person who figured out the dimensions must drive a car that has "sideways" wheels. I have tried every row of parking spaces in the north dorm parking lot and it is almost 100% impossible to get a standard size late model American Ford, Chevy, Buick or Plymouth into a 90-degree parking space if both spaces on either side of the desired one contain a car without backing and turning two or three times. As many smart people as this school is supposed to have, why aren't they consulted before a stunt like the parking lot painting is pulled again? It would have only cost two spaces per row to put a slight angle in the parking spaces. I would sincerely like to see the traffic security patrol have to park in one of these spaces.

Enough complaints for now. I enjoy reading your paper and enjoy Texas Tech very much aside from a few careless mistakes which are made.

Sincerely yours,
Jimmy Reynolds

Student Council Backs Changes In Elections

"A discrimination between 98 and 99 is very little, but between 90 and 80 or 90 and 60 . . . this should be given due consideration," Pete Baker said.

Miss Jones commented that "criticism has been made repeatedly that our elections are popularity contests" but that "qualified, efficient people usually are elected."

A proposal by Campbell—"I would like to wipe out petitions"—was not acted on, after Baker pointed out that petitions were required by the Student Assn. Constitution.

Questioned why screening of candidates for cheerleaders was not provided, Miss Jones said possible discrimination by campus or Lubbock persons who did the judging were reasons and that "we do not have the money to bring in people from somewhere else to screen the cheerleaders."

JANIS JONES

She said the orientation would allow candidates to "intelligently evaluate Council functions and build a campaign 'platform' on facts and actual improvements which could be made—rather than the usual—student, love and school."

Singers Attend Dallas Meeting

Members of the Texas Tech music department will perform in Dallas Friday through Sunday for the Texas Music Education Association Convention.

The Madrigal Singers, under the direction of Mr. Gene Kenney, will sing at the vocal division luncheon Friday. The Singers have been especially invited to promote madrigal literature.

Raymond Elliot, of the music department, will participate in a college level panel, consisting of three professors of state supported institutions and three supervisors of music. The discussion will be an evaluation of the professional need and college preparation for the school music teacher. In addition, Elliot will make a statement concerning the self contained classroom on the elementary level.

The Tech string quartet, directed by Paul Ellsworth, will perform for the American String Teachers Association and Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the music department will be a choral clinician for the Junior High division.

AWS Debates Hostess Rule

A recommendation that the number of girls allowed to hostess at men's fraternity rush parties be unlimited has been presented by the executive council of The Association of Women's Students to the association's general council and Panhellenic.

The recommendation also states that girls present must be hostesses, unless part of an entertainment group and that no late permission will be granted to girls living in residence halls.

If passed by the council on Wednesday, the recommendation will become official and will be added to the AWS rules in Tech Tips. It will also be presented to the president of the Interfraternity Council.

In the past, only 11 girls have been permitted to act as hostesses. As the fraternities wanted to ask one independent in addition to the original 11, and as it was decided that there was no real reason to limit the number of girls, the recommendation was submitted.

Sales Are Rising

YANKEE SLUGGER COMES TO TOWN
Bobby Layne greets home run king at airport Wednesday

City Hosts Mantle In Brief Tour

In addition to the arrival of the Texas Tech Red Raider basketball team at Lubbock Municipal Airport, a well known professional baseball player came into Lubbock by plane Wednesday afternoon.

Mickey Mantle, star centerfielder and slugger for the perennial American League champion New York Yankees, stepped off a flight from Dallas only moments before the plane bearing the Red Raiders arrived.

Mantle, looking much like the idol of millions of American youngsters—only without his baseball cap—was met by Bobby Layne, professional football standout who makes his off-season residence in Lubbock.

Shortly after Mantle arrived, he and Layne left for Roswell, N.M., where the two have a speaking engagement.

Elated Raider Cagers Return After Victory

Coach Polk Robison and his fired band of Raiders returned from an Ozark hunting trip Wednesday afternoon. Under their belts they carried half of one season's limit of the Arkansas Razorbacks.

Many Raider fans had dim hopes of victory after the Razorback squad built up a 14-point lead with part of the second half already gone. However, the Raiders had different ideas and they began a strong comeback that netted them a 72-66 margin when the final buzzer sounded.

In regard to the 14-point deficit, Tom Patty replied, "You wonder when you are that far behind, but everybody wanted the victory very bad." Patty was held to six points in the contest, but he hauled in 12 all-important rebounds to aid the Tech effort.

"They had a big and strong ball club," reflected Harold Hudgens. "Overall they have a strong shooting squad and were stronger on the boards than any other team in the conference." Hudgens considered the zone defense employed by the Raiders in the second half to be the main factor in the come-from-behind victory.

Despite the important victory over the Razorbacks, the Red Raiders still have a rough road to the conference championship with seven games remaining. One obstacle is the SMU Mustangs who will be entertained here Saturday night. The Ponies will be seeking revenge for a loss to the Raiders earlier in conference play.

Contemplating the SMU encounter, Del Ray Mounts explained,

"It's a matter of mental condition. We will have to be ready to beat SMU. We can't afford to become satisfied because any team in the conference could beat any other."

WELCOME BACK, BOYS—Roger Hennig (L) and Bobby Gindorf are greeted by Tech assistant coach Berl Huffman Wednesday afternoon after they step from the plane that returned them from their successful basketball journey into Arkansas.

Ex-Champ Is Ready 'If Price Is Right'

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Venerable Archie Moore said Wednesday he's willing to fight Harold Johnson, the new world light heavyweight champion — for the right price.

"My price is $200,000," said Moore, "and anytime Johnson puts up the money, he's got himself a match."

Johnson stopped Jesse Bowdry of St. Louis in the ninth round at Miami Beach, Fla., Tuesday night to win the National Boxing Association crown that Archie claimed so long.

Moore knocked out Johnson in the 14th round in the Philadelphia's only other shot at the title.

Johnson admitted the crown doesn't quite fit. "I don't feel like I'm the champ yet," he said after defeating Bowdry. "When I beat the Old Man Moore I'll get that feeling."

"Johnson keeps calling me a 'fat old man,'" said Moore. "I'd like to cram those words right down his throat."

'Mural Meeting' Scheduled Today

Director of men's intramurals Edsel Buchannan has announced a special called meeting to take place today.

All scorekeepers and timekeepers for intramural league basketball contests are asked to attend the meeting, which will be held in Rm. 207 of the Men's Gym from 5 to 5:30 p.m.

Tech Coeds Form Campus Hostesses

Formation of a group of Tech coeds to serve as official hostesses for campus activities has begun under the auspices of the Assn. of Women Students.

Called the "President's Hostesses," their purpose will be to show around campus visiting dignitaries, visitors to Lubbock and prospective students.

They will act as official hostesses at functions such as the Engineering Show, Home Economics open house, conventions and speech tournaments.

Interested women students may sign up in the Dean of Women's office before noon, Feb. 18. Sophomores, juniors and seniors with a 1.0 overall grade average are eligible.

About 25 women will be chosen by the AWS executive council. Advisor to this group is Mill Carol Sittler, Drane Hall counselor. Ex officio members are R. C. Goodwin, Tech president, and M. L. Pennington, vice president and comptroller.

Ground work for this program has been laid during the fall semester by AWS members who served as hostesses for various functions including a Board of Directors luncheon and high school athlete recruitment luncheon in West Hall.

Board Meets, Will Consider Building Bids

Bids for an addition to Texas Tech's Science Building will be considered here Friday at a meeting of the Tech Board of Directors building committee.

A low bid of $411,000 for the addition was made by the Carl Maxey Co. of Lubbock. Vice president Marshall Pennington presided at the opening of 11 bids Tuesday in the Aggie Memorial Auditorium.

Bids were for the combined general, mechanical and electrical construction of a new three-story wing to be built onto the southwest side of the present building. Classrooms, laboratories and other space for the physics, geology and biology departments will be housed in the new addition.

The Board is expected to award the construction contract at a meeting Saturday.
