Rodeo Slated To End Tonight

Marcia Rogers Revealed Queen

By MARY VESTAL
Toreador Staff Writer

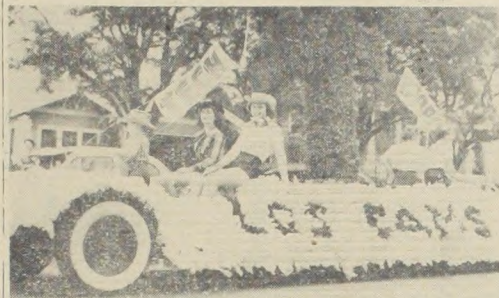

Weather permitting, the final performances of Tech's first annual National Intercollegiate Rodeo will be given at 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. today in Jones stadium.

Two performances were scheduled for yesterday at the same hours. The rodeo was to have begun officially with a Thursday night show, but a howling "black duster" which struck Lubbock about 7:45 p. m. forced postponement until yesterday.

Last year's rodeo suffered from weather trouble also—but it was rain which caused that delay. The final performance of the 1949 rodeo was on a Sunday, one day later than originally planned.

Although the Thursday night show was postponed, part of the All-Western Days celebration did

Annuals To Arrive For Distribution To Grads May 18

Roy Grimes, editor of La Ventana, has announced that the bulk of the annual will arrive May 18. Due to delay in printing of this year's annual, the entire order will not be filled at this date, Grimes added. Graduating seniors will receive their copies of the yearbook first, and those left over will be handed out on a first-come first-served basis.

This announcement was made at Publications committee meeting Monday.

The committee awarded contracts for the 1950-'51 annual at this time also. Southwestern Engraving company of Dallas submitted a basic bid for $2,600 which was accepted, and the Economy Advertising company of Iowa City, Ia., was awarded the printing binding contract bid, which was for approximately $14,000.

These two companies are the same two which have fulfilled these contracts for the past several years.

At the next meeting of the committee, on Monday, the summer editor and business manager for The Toreador will be selected.

Complete Musical Program Planned For President's Concert Sunday

The President's concert, to be presented tomorrow in the High School auditorium at 4:30 p. m., will be the first to be presented by the complete music department, announced Gene L. Hemmle, head of the music department.

The concert will be presented through the combined efforts of the Concert band, Men's Glee club and Mixed chorus. All of these organizations have been making public appearances throughout this part of the state to help publicize Tech. The concert band has made approximately 85 official appearances, said D. O. Wiley, director. The glee club, under the direction of Richard Richards, has given 6 concerts this year representing the school. The Mixed chorus, Tech's newest musical organization has made approximately the same number of concerts in the name of the school, said Hemmle.

The outstanding example of how often the band is used in Tech's activities was shown in the last two weeks.

The program for the concert tomorrow will include many numbers by all organizations which have not been given in public before, stated Hemmle. Some of the new numbers being presented will be: "Gloria Patri," "Let Thy Hold Presence," "Beautiful Savior," "The Lord, O My Soul," "Steal Away," "Morning Hymn" and "De Animals A Comin'" by the Men's Glee club; and "Marche Slave, Op. 31," "King Orny Overture," "Suite: Dance, Choral, March," and "The Syncopated Clock" by the Concert band.

Admission will not be charged on this concert that is being given in honor of President and Mrs. D. M. Wiggins and Vice President and Mrs. E. N. Jones, said Hemmle.

Senior Personnel Forms Required For Graduation

Seniors are reminded by Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president, that completed personnel forms with photograph attached, must be turned in to the Placement bureau as part of graduation requirements. The forms, which will be kept on file for future employment reference, are considered as being necessary prerequisites for graduation, Jones said.

ROTC Review And President's Concert Will Highlight Day's Activities

By PAULA FIX
Toreador Staff Writer

Activities for Parents' day will start tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. with registration in the Rec hall. Other activities for the day include leadership and scholarship recognition, ROTC review, and the president's concert at Lubbock Senior high school auditorium.

During registration, which will continue until 1 p. m., parents will be asked to fill out cards at desks set up for the various divisions, stated Gale Rogers, student chairman. Students and faculty members will be on hand to greet parents. Each visiting mother will be given a rose.

English Fraternity Will Hold Banquet

Sigma Tau Delta national honorary English fraternity, will hold a spring banquet at 6:45 p. m. Monday in the Navajo room at the Hilton hotel.

Dr. J. T. McCullen, jr., assistant professor of English, is to be the principal speaker. M. D. Padfield, president of the fraternity, will be master of ceremonies.

New members, initiated Mar 27, are Lee Crouch, Aileen Morgan and Nancy Stuart. Virginia Adams is a transferred new member.

Special guests include Doctor and Mrs. McCullen, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Gates, Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Gillis. Dr. Gillis is sponsor of the organization.

The leadership service from 1:30-2:30 p. m. in the Rec hall will recognize 102 students. They are: Bill Adair, Jack Alderson, Dean Allam, John Andrews, Jane Austin, Sam Bates, Marion Baumgardner, Charles Beedy, Andy Behrends, A. J. Job Situation...

This year more than ever, jobs are few and far between. Many of our illustrious seniors which graduate this June have not yet contracted a job, and it is doubtful whether they all will. The reason for this situation is common to all of us; there is an overflow of college graduates this year. It is also doubtful whether this situation will readily change in the immediate future.

Yet surprisingly enough, there are quite a few available jobs, and some men are being employed. Why then, are some men accepted while others are rejected? Everyone that graduates has the same degree, each one says the same thing, each and every man has completed all the courses that are required for the degree. Evidently going to school for four years is not quite enough.

There are three sure ways to get a job; know some influential person or persons in the firm, marry the boss's daughter, or prove to the company that you are better than John Doe sitting next to you. If you've got a contract, you're reasonably safe. If the boss's daughter says, "Yes," you're all right too. But if you've got to impress the firm that you're better than the next man, and the majority of us will, then prepare yourself for some stiff competition.

When hiring a man, a company carefully considers his achievements at school. It's only natural that a man with an impressive record will receive preference. There are many who don't take this fact into account, and concentrate their entire attention on completing the required schooling for their degree. The precious bit of parchment, for which you've struggled through at least sixteen years of school, has less significance than you realize.

Here at school we are offered every opportunity to better ourselves. Many of us regret the hap-hazard way we went through high school, yet continue to stumble through college. It may be possible to complete college in that same hap-hazard way, but you are sabotaging your own chances for a successful life. If you expect to get ahead in this world, now is the time to begin preparations.

Most students strive for scholastic recognition, but many fail to take an active interest in extra curricular activities. There are more than sixty organizations in the school, and over half these organizations are open to every man on the campus. Any student could join at least thirty organizations. How many do you belong to? There are many men who do not belong to any. Take a look at the membership of these organizations and you will find the same names are repeated over and over again. The average student pays better than $3000 plus tuition to complete four years of school here. What a waste of money if he learns to do nothing else except manipulate a slide rule.

A common excuse for not joining any organizations is that time-worn excuse of not having enough time. What an absurdity! There is not one man who does not have enough time. If he lacks anything it's ambition. Many graduating seniors think back and wish they "could do it over again" after it's too late. Some of them learn their lesson, the rest never will learn.

If you want a good job, or nowadays even a job, you're going to have to be a hustler. Nothing in life is given away, and those men that are on top, are there because they have sense enough to realize this fact.

No one can force you to participate in extra-curricular activities, and quite right, no one should need to force you. Your judgment alone is the deciding factor in whatever you do here at school. Whatever you accomplish here at school will be the basis on which you will be hired. Ask yourself seriously, whether you too are wasting your time.—The Missouri Miner.

From the Balcony

by Gene Alford

A few western-day yelps have bounced out of our balcony today and we're buzzin' with excitement up here. Well, we're still kicking this Shakespeare guy around the ring and it looks like there is still a lot of fight left in the lad. He was a bit foggy at the bell, but he'll probably be in shape for the next round.

While seconds are in the ring, here is a brush-up on the "Romeo and Juliet" production. Monday night will be the "It" for the Tech dramatic-minded and our man Shakespeare will be put to a test. It's your chance to see for yourself, so leave one night open next week for some live Shakespeare over at the speech building auditorium.

Letters To The Editor

Texas Tech Men's Glee Club
Lubbock, Texas
May 2, 1950

Dear Editor:

The Texas Tech Men's Glee Club was organized in 1947 as a "Rec Hall" Glee Club, and was soon taken over by Richard G. Richards, our present director. During the three years of its organization, the Glee Club has developed into a group which we hope brings credit to our college. Due largely to the efforts of Mr. Richards, many men have come to love the music we sing, and a greater interest in music has been generated on the campus. Again, it has been due almost solely to our director that the Glee Club has been invited to represent the Lions Club and the college in Chicago this summer before approximately twenty thousand people from all over the world.

Now we understand that next year the Glee Club will be under new direction, because the college, in seeking to solidify the music department, will not allow a part-time instructor to have charge of the Glee Club. We understand that Mr. Richards has been offered an instructor's position at the college, which he has not been able to accept because the pay is so far under what he makes in private business.

We, of the Glee Club, do not want to lose our director. We feel that the continuance of the present situation is the only possible solution. Not only do we respect and admire "Dick" as a man, but we think that as a director he has the greatest possibilities of making the Glee Club what it can be.

We would like to ask the college, that if any arrangements can be made, Mr. Richards can continue to direct us under the present situation.

Yours for better music at Texas Tech,

THINKING ALLOWED

By Jerry Hall

Headlines last week screamed that Sen. Claude Pepper of Florida, an ardent New-Dealer and long-time Democratic congressman was beaten in the primary elections of that state. The same day headlines also proclaimed that state's right demos in Alabama gained power in the first of many elections which will be held in the United States this year. Here at home ex-Governor W. Lee O'Daniel still hasn't made his plans regarding this year's governor's race public. Harold Stassen, whom several Techs will remember, has vehemently branded Harry Truman as the worse president in our history.

college later this month. It will be approximately 87 pages long and will celebrate the 50th anniversary of that school. Plans for the silver anniversary issue of The Toreador next fall are not complete nor will we try to predict what Editor Holmes has in store for her readers but we will bet that it will be something to look forward to. Incidentally the last issue for this semester of The Texas Techman, exes magazine, has gone to press and once again Editor Robert Rutland has come up with a good magazine. It looks like the Techsian is here to stay and we for one are glad.

On every front page and from every radio comes more and more indication that this is a political year in this country. Mr. Average Voter doesn't really have a chance today it seems, because with advice from all sides generally his mind is practically made up for him. All too often we vote for someone just because we like his looks or maybe because someone we know said he would be good for the job. Voting is a pretty hard to come by privilege in this world now. Before casting your ballot in the elections to come this year, stop and examine the individual merits of the candidates and vote accordingly.

President Gonzalez Videla of the Republic of Chile has come and gone. His visit to the campus was certainly a memorable one, but aside from the splendor of such a high official being around we were impressed by the abundance of members of the press who were on hand. In case some of you might have wondered, the newsteel man was from National Broadcasting company's television branch. Press correspondents from all of the major wire services were on hand as well as a member of the state department press and a number of writers from leading papers of the country.

After talking with La Ventana chief Roy Grimes since his return from Iowa and the printers we are anxiously looking forward to seeing this issue of the yearbook. Roy says he had a little trouble with a couple of missing pictures but they were readily located and things are going smoothly. With added interest as to who Mr. and Miss Texas Tech and the top beauties are going to be, Grimes has given us all something to make us eager to see his annual. It should be here soon.

Incidentally, some of the president's party are included in the group of diplomats of this hemisphere who were very instrumental in the formation of a United Nations. It was a feather in Tech's cap to have been honored by President Gonzalez Videla and his party while in this country. The president had an opportunity to study first hand the oil and agricultural situations here on the South Plains and also to see how we make education work. And who could have better acted the government representative to welcome the presidential party than Rep. George Mahon. It is always refreshing to hear any comments he may make on the political scene.

The University of Texas has announced that it plans to print the largest paper ever put out by a

Parents' Day...

Tomorrow hundreds of parents and friends of the students enrolled in Texas Tech will be on the campus to pay their respects to those to be recognized by the college.

It will be a pleasure to welcome visitors to the campus and we sincerely hope their short stay is a very enjoyable one. The day has been named Parents' day rightly because it actually is their day.

Students who are to be recognized will indeed have something of which they can be justly proud. A college like Tech or for that matter any college is just as good as the students enrolled and when an administration can put as much trust and responsibility in the student government as is done here then it is bound to be a good school.

Congratulations to those students to be honored in the recognition service and once again let's do all we can to make the day an enjoyable one for all of the visitors.

Spring Cage Drills End Monday; Game Will Be Played

Spring basketball practice will be climaxed at 8 p.m. Monday in Tech gym when a regulation basketball game is to be played between teams chosen from members of the Raider squad. Polk Roblison, coach of the Raiders announced.

The squad will be divided as evenly as possible. Roblison added, "Jiggs" Jackson, second team all-Border conference guard who is graduating this spring will coach one of the teams, while Gene Gibson, graduating all-conference player, is to coach the other squad.

As part of the regular spring training, the regulars recently played an exhibition with the Tech Exes and won 47-46. Center Paul Nolen dropped in the winning basket in the final 10 seconds of play, Jackson had put the Exes in the lead a short while before with a free throw, but with several players hanging on, Nolen hooked a shot from the free-throw line to give the Regulars their game-winning margin. Gibson was high point man for the Exes as he hit 12 points.

Supper Club Hall of Fame

If a man be known by the company he keeps, I'm doing very well. But I have a suspicion the charming personalities who drop in at the Chesterfield Supper Club all the time have something more on their minds than just seeing me.

Anyhow, it's wonderful having them around. Not only do they add glamour to our show, but they keep us regular Supper Clubbers on our toes.

When Raymond Massey comes over, I have to shake my Pennsylvania drawl, and when Danny Kaye stops by, I have to study my Russian or pig Latin, or whatever it is that Danny's using at the moment.

I have a special weakness for pianists and a great admiration for them. We've had quite a few visit us, from the breath-taking Jesus Maria Sanromá to the sardonic Oscar Levant and the hilarious Victor Borze. Borze gave me lessons on how to play duets with one finger. Sanromá held us all spellbound with his keyboard wizardry and Levant broke up a rehearsal by saying, in the middle of a hushed number, "This reminds me of Hildegarde." Let me not forget Hoagy Carmichael, who plays the piano even better than he does golf. Last time Hoagy was over, he arrived for rehearsal promptly at 10 A.M. one full day early! Our long friendship and the Carmichael easy-going, good nature saved the day, but I doubt if Hoagy will ever forgive us for getting him up so early two days in a row!

I seem to have talked about nothing but male guests so far, but the ladies—bless 'em!—have been responsible for some of our gayest moments. We've had glamour and charm from Claudette Colbert, Lucille Ball, Janet Blair, Ava Gardner and Jane Wyman.

And, of course, Mae West! We were happy to have Mae West! Her return to the airways after 12 years via the Supper Club. She was such a hit, we had her back again recently. Our studio at NBC has a very wide stage with a tricky step, and we were worried about Mae making her way across with that famous sprained ankle. So, we posted Martin Block at the step and held our breath. She made it all right, for one of our (and her) most effective entrances.

Raider Trackmen Invade Arizona Friday For Annual Border Conference Meet

By BILLY YOE
Toreador Sports Writer

If comparative times and distances are any evidence, it isn't likely that the Texas Tech Red Raider track squad will shatter any records in the Border conference meet at Arizona State in Tempe Friday and Saturday.

In their numerous outings this season, the Raiders have yet to approach the records of the conference. However, record times and distances may not be needed for the Techsians to bring the title to Raiderland. If—by some strange title, it will be the first cinder title won by Techsians.

A comparison of the dash times reveals that Roland "Moon" Mullins, Tech's outstanding sprinter has been clocked at 10 seconds flat in competition this year, which is two-tenths of a second slower than the conference standard of 9.8 seconds set in 1937 by Robert Lister of New Mexico. Mullins topped the field of conference sprinters last season as he ripped off a 10 flat century to win the event.

Mullins has at his best timing in the 220-yard dash event, a 2:21 seconds time, too slow to match the time of Milo Mileusnich of Arizona with 21.3 seconds set in 1939. Tech's Joe Wilson has a long way to go if he is to come close to the loop record in the 440-yard dash event, which is 49.3 seconds set last year by R. McCall of Arizona. Wilson's best time this season is 51.2.

Joe Wilson's best clocking in the 880-yard run, 2:03.1, does not compare to the record of 1:56.4 held by Clyde Jarrett of Arizona. The time was set in 1936. The mile standard is held by Bill Watson of Arizona State at Tempe with the excellent time of 4:28.4. Watson set the mark in 1948. Lamarr Hamblin of Tempe set the two mile record of 9:50.0 in 1942.

Tempe's Joe Batiste holds both hurdles records with a time of 14.6 in the 120-yard high hurdles and 23.4 in the low timbers. Although Tech's prolific trackman, "Chugger" Charlie Pinnell, has matched Batiste in having the lowest time in the hurdles, his times are not quite up to Batiste's standards. Pinnell has topped the highs in 14.9 and the lows in 23.4. Pinnell also holds the Raider's best marks in the high jump, broad jump and pole vault. The 6 feet, 5 1/2 height attained by Kenneth Heywood of Tempe in 1936 tops Pinnell's best height by 5 1/2 inches. In the broad jump, Pinnell's best distance is 22 feet, 4 inches while the conference mark is 24 feet, 1-7/8 inches set by Charles Diggs of Tempe in last year's meet. Pinnell's top mark in the pole vault is 11 feet which is 2 feet, 4 inches short of Arizona's Robert Henderson's record set in 1940.

Tech's fieldmen have failed to live up to expectations this season, but may place in the conference events. Ted Peabody, leading field man on the team, has tossed the quirk of fate, this year's edition of tracksters should win the loop to help the Fontane Sisters, company Mitchell Ayres and myself, including Patti Page, Jeri Sullivan and Dorothy Shay. Burl Ives brought his imitable talents to our mike, and so did Eddy Arnold. I've been watching Eddy's career with amusement and pleasure ever since I met him a couple of years ago. Here's a guy who made a tremendous reputation with a handful of impressive recordings. Eddy always brings along his guitarist, another Tennessean with a style as individual as Eddy's own.

Johnny Mercer and Bob Crosby have brought their own special blends of comedy and music to our show, and the King Cole Trio and the Mills Brothers have added the best there is in harmony. And, when Borrah Minevich's Harmonica Rascal join us, I get a chance to chat with their star Johnny Puleo. Johnny and I worked together for Ted Weems in the old days, and the old days get wilder every time we talk them over.

When we have a comedian, the rehearsal usually takes a little longer. Good comics add bits of business and new gags as they rehearse. Once Danny Kaye dropped in to play Casar, I was Mark Antony. I thought the rehearsal would never end, but I didn't care. Kaye kept us rolling with his ad libs, and most of them were so good we had to rewrite the script again and again. We spend lots of time and effort with guests like Bob Hope, Eddie Cantor, Morey Amsterdam, the Great Gildersleeve, George Jessel and Milton Berle. But, it's worth it.

Maybe it's because I've never won an Oscar, but the great dramatic actors really fascinate me. They always seem to fall in so nicely with whatever foolishness we've cooked up for them. Charles Boyer struggled manfully in a Southern sketch which called on him to mention a "little old love seat." Those L's just don't come through a French accent very easily. After everything else was letter-perfect, Charles went off by himself muttering, "li-tel old luff" over and over again.

Henry Fonda, another wonderful guy, gave us a great show, as did Tony Pastor, Ole' Red Godfrey, Sid Stone, Sister Rosetta Tharpe, Fibber McGee and Molly, Ella Logan, Robert Q. Lewis and Minerva Pious. They just stop in and take pot luck at the Supper Club.

Needless to say, whether it's radio on Thursday night or television on Sunday night, we're very proud of our guest roster at the Chesterfield Supper Club, and of the wonderful new and old names that are added each week.

Broyles Paces Netmen To Victory; Will Compete In Border Meet Friday

The Texas Tech tennis team will make its bid for a Border conference championship at the conference meet Friday and Saturday at Arizona State in Tempe.

After trimming West Texas State in a dual match last week by a 6-1 count, the Red Raider team is accorded a good chance of bringing the tennis crown to the Tech campus.

A. J. "Jake" Broyles, graduating letterman who played his last match on the home courts against West Texas, will lead the Techsians against their conference foes. Broyles, outstanding Raider netter, continued his winning ways by dumping West Texas' Paul Thompson, 6-0, 6-1, in singles; and then teamed with Charles Orren, Tech's number three netter, to trounce Thompson and Joe Davis, 6-0, 6-3, in the top doubles match.

Broyles has one of the finest home records in collegiate competition in America. The Lamesa ace has an unbeaten record through four years of collegiate play of 20 singles matches and 20 doubles wins. Although he has never won the loop championship, Broyles may come through this year.

In other matches against the Buffs, Joe Wheatley, number two man on the Tech squad, washed out Davis by a tally of 6-0, 6-3, while Teammate Emil Beck worked to take a 6-3, 4-6, 6-4, win from the Buff's E. W. Clement in the number three singles event.

Dean Strack scored West Texas' lone tally of the day by winning over Orren, 6-3, 4-6, 6-4. Wheatley and Beck teamed to triumph over Clement and Strack, 6-3, 6-1 in the number two doubles match. Chris Daugherty, Tech's number five netter, won from Bill Boston, 6-4, 6-8, 6-3.

SPORTS PANORAMA

The year, for the first time, fencing will be included in the events scheduled for the annual Border conference meet. Tech will have an entry in this event which is to be held May 13 at El Paso. Travis Smith, student fencing instructor, has stated that Tech should field a strong squad.

Smith has served this year's fencing team in at least three capacities. Besides being a coach, the junior student from Kermit has also served as the squad's ace sabre and epee man, as well as its promoting genius.

It is in the latter field, that Smith deserves the most recognition—even if his methods of garnering publicity do fall short of the ones used by Dick Burnett, owner of the Dallas Eagles, or Bill Veech, baseball's greatest showman. The Kermit fencer, realizing that his sport was not yet popular on the campus, has supplied the Toreador with information concerning the team without reporter solicitation all year. His duties as student instructor did not call for the extra effort involved in the publicity angle, but Smith was so interested in fencing that he wanted to introduce others to the sport.

The Techsan's publicity campaign did not lessen the fencer's proficiency with the sabre and epee, however, for in divisional finals of Texas he took first place in both of these events in the junior category with teammates Bill Spinks and Dean Leggett placing second and third respectively. The Tech team won first place in the finals, held in the ballroom of the Blackstone hotel in Fort Worth, for the first time in three years.

Spinks, during the Fort Worth contests, proved to a former tutor just how apt a pupil he is. J. W. Beakley, a graduate and former fencing coach here, taught Spinks the finer points of the "touche" sport three years ago, and the Techsan reciprocated by giving his former instructor a practical demonstration of his knowledge. He soundly trounced Beakley in a contest held on the smooth surface of the Blackstone dance floor.

Smith, Leggett and Spinks were completely exhausted after their divisional finals win, for the contest lasted two days. The triumph should serve notice to Border conference opponents that the team will be hard to best. Texas Western and Arizona university will be the only other schools represented at the league meet.

Three other fencers will join the Tech squad in the all-important contest to be run off at El Paso. They are Jerry Powell, Durwood Whitsett and James Belsler.

The fencing squad will be forced to bypass the Texas sectional finals, Smith has announced, because it will be held in Galveston on the same day as the conference engagement.

hero today is Bill Sullivan, Tech student from Holyoke, Mass. With due respect to the immediate group of artists at hand, Bill says . . . "Shakespeare is a storm cellar, into which have ducked poor actors—and worse directors, each one seeking protection under the almighty name." . . . Sullivan lands a few solid punches by adding that Shakespeare's man was ear-mind-ed, for lack of reading ability. Modern man, on the other hand, has been trained to be eye-wise and eye-minded. By eye-minded, Sullivan means that we can now appreciate Shakespeare by reading and not seeing! (As was a defending comment in the last issue.) Our Massachusetts guest maintains that people no longer want the plotless appeal to the emotions that is offered with Shakespeare.

Sullivan, who incidentally plans to see "Romeo and Juliet," ends his round by saying that "Shakespeare in his day served as a communication medium for news, local issues, politics, and spiced it with entertainment. This medium is not necessary today and we are forced to dissolve these other elements purely for the sake of the entertainment."

The balcony thanks Mr. Sullivan for his opinion, but he can stand ready to defend himself against five feet and two inches of D'Ruth Hopping, who is doing graduate work and who portrays Juliet in next week's production.

Our contemporary Juliet says: "I'm scared to death because the role is so big and demanding. It keeps a girl on her toes carrying a lead part like Juliet, especially with the dynamic and emotional love story behind it." D'Ruth believes that there is still the element in "Romeo and Juliet" which

Wallace Attends Annual Historical Association Meet

Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences, returned this week from the annual meeting of Texas State Historical Association at Austin.

Wallace attend the dedication of a building for the Ebenezer C. Barker Texas History collection, which has been erected in honor of the Texas university history professor.

Auction of Texas books, which annually is a part of the program included two publications by Tech professors. A book by Dr. S. S. McKay and one by Wallace were sold. "Comanche Warfare," a research project, was presented at the meeting last year by Wallace. The last issue of the historical association magazine contained an article by V. C. Stanford, graduate student and part-time instructor in the history department, Wallace reported.

College Will Send Bulletin To Schools

The June bulletin of "Student Life at Texas Tech" has recently been printed and is now being sent to senior high school students who are graduating this spring. W. E. Clement, registrar, has announced. This publication is issued six times a year, and acts as a familiarizing agent for Texas Tech.

The eight-page booklet consists of pictures of campus life including sports, parades, dormitories and courses offered at Tech. Various subjects covered within the publication consists of "The Tech Spirit," "It Happens Every Fall," "The Academic Side," "Tech Exes Are Leaders" and "What's Ahead."

Anyone desiring a copy of the book may acquire one in the registrar's office in the Administration building.

makes love Romeo's religion and Juliet's life. She ignores Sullivan's comments until he punches "plotless emotion."

"Shakespeare is master of the plot," swings Juliet! "No contemporary play has the intricate and delicate building that is found in Shakespeare. Some have several plots beautifully woven with a touch of genius." . . . It is the opinion of our ingenuite that we'll have Shakespearean plays as long as there are actors to interpret and directors to direct.

This observer is ready to call this round a draw—from the balcony. We'll be up here waiting for the final blows to fall in our issue next week. At that time we will give you some ring-side comments on performances on the play from those who are qualified to answer—members of the audience. From the balcony we invite you to join us in seeing William Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet."

Intramural Softball League Continues Play; P.I., Squirrel Shooters Win

Plant Industry and the Squirrel Shooters scored wins to advance in the intramural softball playoffs. P.I. won over the powerful Doak Green Hornets and the Shooters shut out the Baptist Student union for the second time.

Plant Industry amazed the followers of intramural softball when it downed the powerful Green Hornets from Doak hall 14-7. The dorm champ had made a reputation for itself in the Dorm league by winning all of its games by lopsided scores only to fall victim to the Aggie champs in the playoff game.

The Squirrel Shooters won their contest with the BSU team by a 2-0 score. They had previously won from the Baptists by a four run shut-out game.

In MICC ball, several close contests and one lopsided were run off. College Club won two, Los Cams took one. Socii won a couple, and the Wranglers romped to the only runaway of the week.

Freddie Schultz of the Wranglers socked a homer with none on to aid his team's cause and then held Kemas to five runs to win for his team 16-5. Tommy Hewlett tossed for Kemas.

College Club squeezed by Silver Key behind the effective pitching of Royce Smith. C. B. Wright's pitching and Jack Taylor's homer for Silver Key failed to stop College Club from going on to win 7-6.

Socii downed Kemas 9-6, Monday, as Jack Mills of Kemas homered with none on.

Socii edged Centaur 8-7 as Dan Ritter homered for the winning team. Albin Rippstein pitched the winning ball.

College Club downed Kemas 9-9 and Los Cams edged Centaur 4-3 in other games of the week.

Tech Senior Wins Engineering Award

Gordon Landwermyer, senior civil engineering student from Terrell, won a $25 first prize on his paper "Air Entrained Concrete," at the state American Society of Civil Engineers convention held this week in Dallas.

Landwermyer's paper was top among the five other engineering schools in Texas.

Paul Ramer, senior from New Mexico, was elected vice president of the state student ASCE chapter at the meeting held Tuesday and Wednesday.

Chick McEllya, civil engineering graduate of '34 entertained the 35 Tech students who attended the convention with a picnic Tuesday evening.

Lockley To Accept Commission In Air Force This Month

James L. Lockley will accept a regular Air force commission from the ROTC upon graduation this year, Lt. James Clem, adjutant of the military science department, announced.

Lockley will be the only Air ROTC cadet to be awarded a regular commission this year. Basis for the award are his outstanding work done both on the drill field and in the class room, Clem stated. He is the commanding officer of Squadron H, the only group on the drill field to receive the honor of being the best in the parade two weeks straight.

He holds the rank of cadet captain. Lockley is the only cadet to take both courses offered in the air science department. He is taking both supply and administration, and armament. Last fall he

CONDUCT REVIVALS

Ten Tech Baptist students will take part this weekend in youth revivals being carried on in the Lubbock area under the sponsorship of the Baptist Student union.

Revival teams as announced by George Morris for this weekend include: Kenneth Shipp, Gene Verner, Bill Sylvester, Essie Lee Denney and Nelda Jobe, who will participate in a revival which began last night in New Deal Baptist church; and Chester Maloch, Bob Weathers, Morris, Jan Berry and Joyce Worrell, who will be engaged in a revival at the First Baptist church in Slaton beginning tonight.

Also on program for the recognition service is an address by Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech vice president. A unit of the Tech concert band will play a processional, and a brass ensemble will play "Suite: Dance, Chorale, March" by Charles A. Wylie, conducted by Joe Hadden. Dr. R. C. Goodwin, dean of arts and sciences, will introduce Doctor Jones. Rev. William Rogan, of the Westminster Student center in Lubbock, will give the invocation. The Tech Mixed chorus, directed by Dr. Gene L. Hemmle, will sing "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee" by Bach. The recognition proper will be directed by Deans George G. Heather, O. A. St. Clair, W. L. Stangel, and Dr. Ernest Wallace. The program will be concluded with the college hymn, "O, College Mother, Beautiful."

The president's concert will be held from 8:30-9:30 at the high school auditorium and will conduct the activities for the day.

A parade Thursday afternoon opened the three-day jamboree, but it was marred by sandy gusts of wind which were heralding the later arrival of the full-grown dust storm.

Marcia Rogers, freshman arts and sciences student from Lubbock, was revealed as Rodeo Queen in the parade. First announcement of the identity of the queen was her appearance at the head of the parade.

Miss Rogers' sponsor, Las Vi-varachas social club, is to be awarded a trophy.

The colorful procession wound down Main street and up Broadway to the campus, following the route of Homecoming parades. Floats were entered by several campus organizations, dorms and downtown merchants.

Calves being branded and aggies getting bucked off an oil can bronc were some of the interesting floats. Astride a pony was a lone Indian, braids flopping and head sagging in fictionalized style of the defeated redman.

Some mystery is involved in the conception of the idea of the buggy which carried a young man and woman and an irate father with a shotgun.

Sheriffs' poses from Post and Lubbock made a colorful addition to the parade. J. B. Mahler and Glen Quattlebaum, Tech sheriffs for All-Western Days, together with their 20 deputies, superintended the string of floats.

Awards to be presented at the rodeo include a saddle to best all-around cowboy and a pair of boots to the all-around cowgirl. Six trophy belt buckles are to be awarded to first-place winners in the men's contests, with spurs going to second-place winners and handmade shirts to third-placers.

First-place winners in the women's contests are to be given

From Genes To Greek Typifies Hobbies, Career Of Dr. Cross

By HILERY MATHER, '50

Doctor J. C. Cross, head of the department of biology at Tech is a combination biologist, zoologist, educator, and linguist. So far he has managed to gather an amazing collection of rare old books, earn three college degrees, do extensive work with chromosomes and tuberculosis, and still found time to write a text on biology.

The doctor's collection of books is among the rarest in this part of the country. It includes a Greek dictionary printed in 1614, when printing was quite a tedious process. The book took ten years to print and is worth its weight in $100 bills. He has another dictionary, an Aramaic one, printed in 1639. Other books in the collection include a textbook (with illustrations) on plastic surgery printed in 1846, and a yellowed map of Texas printed in 1857.

This rare book collection is outstanding but it cannot overshadow another of Dr. Cross' hobbies, the study of ancient languages. Dr. Cross speaks Greek, Aramaic, Latin, German, and Spanish. He has an excellent background for these studies. He took his A.B. in Greek at Southwestern in Georgetown. While at Southwestern, Dr. Cross was enrolled in one of Dr. W. B. Gates' English classes. Dr. Gates is now professor of English at Tech.

"That was 25 years ago and I remember distinctly that Dr. Cross was an excellent student," his former mentor declares.

Fresh out of Southwestern, he felt that his thirst for knowledge had yet to be quenched. So he started all over again at Texas University, emerging four years later with an M.A. in education and psychology. Still not satisfied, he went back and spent three years getting a Ph.D. in zoology.

Prior to his appointment at Tech, Dr. Cross did a one-year teaching stretch at North Texas State Teachers College in Denton, spent four more years at Southwest State Teachers College at San Marcos, then took a job as head of the biology department at Texas A&I in Kingsville. In 1948 he came to Tech.

As a biologist, Dr. Cross is trying to determine the chromosome relationship between reptiles, birds, and mammals. This is a life-time job, he says, but he hopes mankind will eventually benefit from his work. His studies include work with rodents, lizards, and birds of all kinds.

Dr. Cross is also interested in studying tuberculosis. This work is going slow now because he lacks proper laboratory facilities, but when the new Science building is completed, he hopes to speed up the process.

In 1941, Dr. Cross finished his first textbook on biology. "Most biology textbooks are printed in the north and deal with northern plant life," he explains. "My book was intended to meet the needs of the south."

Dr. Cross was born in Sallisaw, Oklahoma, just before the Indian Territory was admitted to the union. His father was a farmer who moved to East Texas when Dr. Cross was five years old. After seven years of grade school, he left school and went to work on a newspaper as a printer. Later, he did his high school work in his spare time. It took him just 14 months to finish high school. Then he decided to become a biologist because he wanted to "make work and play the same thing."

In addition to Dr. Cross' two hobbies already mentioned, there are two more—his two children. Lovell, 11, is a sixth grader at Dupree school in Lubbock, and Evelyn, 8, a third grader in the same school.

Mrs. Cross, a graduate of Columbia with an M.A. in fine arts, keeps up with her versatile husband by owning an interesting collection of ceramics and paints. The ceramics and several of the paintings are her own creations.

In his two years at Tech Dr. Cross has won a host of student admirers and perhaps the highest compliment that can be paid to a prof. For (and we can get affidavits to prove this) the undergraduates vow he makes science "so interesting!"

Dr. J. C. Cross is equally intrigued by a three-legged albino frog or a 1653 edition of the Bible . . . and his students say he has never delivered a "dry" lecture.

Besides the books and his departmental work, Dr. Cross also has done some thinking and talking about the effects of the atomic bomb on our civilization. He recently sent members of the Tech Science club away from their meeting with grave misgivings about the title "civilized man." At that meeting, Dr. Cross told how the radiation caused by the a-bomb blasts in Hiroshima and Nagasaki would not be completely dissipated for another 1700 years.

SADDLE TRAMP PLEDGES

Students who desire to pledge the Saddle Tramps next fall may submit letters of application to Wilmer J. "Bill" Luke, president, or Bill Strode, secretary. The letter must be received before May 19, the end of "dead week."

Delta Sigs Return From Dallas Meet

Members of Delta Sigma Pi, honorary business fraternity, have returned from the regional convention which closed Sunday at Southern Methodist University in Dallas.

Louis Kiker, official delegate from Tech's Beta Upsilon chapter, spoke on scholarship. Among faculty and administrative speakers were Walter C. Selim, grand president of Delta Sigma Pi, and Trent C. Root, assistant to the president of SMU. Root was one-time assistant to Tech's former president Dr. W. M. Whyburn.

Plans for the grand chapter congress, to be held in Dallas in 1951, were discussed. Activities at the convention included a stag party, a luncheon, a banquet and a tour of the SMU campus.

Attending from Tech were Kiker, Wayne Lee, LeEol Ogden, Binky Crutcher, Kenneth Hobbs, Stanley Burnham, Roland Van Hornan and James Montgomery.

Reno, Hall Chosen Officers

Gene Reno was elected president for the 1950-51 school year at a recent meeting of the Tech Accounting society.

Other officers elected were: Jimmy Hall, vice president; Shirley Thibbs, secretary; Bill Evans, treasurer; De Aeon Ward, reporter.

Survey Shows Upperclassmen Top Sophs, Fresh In Handling Absences

By SUE HOLMES
Toreador Staff Writer

Definite proof that absences cause lowered grades is shown by a survey compiled by campus International Business machines and released by Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president. One phase of the survey gives positive evidence that junior and senior students are better able to handle greater number of absences, Jones pointed out.

"The better the attendance, the better the grade" is the summary of the detailed report involving averages of all absences incurred by students and resultant grades, Jones said. Statistics point to the fact that the quality of work as revealed by grades is in direct correlation to attendance, the vice president, who analyzed the reports, stated.

Fewer Absences, Better Grades

For all the A's made during the fall semester, there was an average of 1.06 absences. Grades of "E" made by all students in all divisions, regardless of classification, were accompanied by 1.78 absences. A decided jump is shown by the grades of "C." The absences increase to 2.33, while "D" grades were accompanied by an average of 2.8 absences.

Grades of "E" showed an average of 5.26 absences. "WF" (withdrawn failing) was the grade which showed most the result of excessive absences. In this case absences totaled 6.67 for an average.

Another study compiled by the mechanical thinkers is that of the increase in number of absences resulting in a decrease in the number of hours passed. Jones pointed out the fatal accompaniment of excessive absences with more failing grades.

Absence Survey Given

The study, which included withdrawals, as well as registered students, for the sake of completeness, showed that 91 per cent of all hours carried in which the student was absent only once, resulted in passing grades. Five absences caused 84 per cent of hours to be passed. The drop continues with 10 absences causing 68 per cent passing grades, and 15 absences, only 42 per cent of all hours registered for were passed.

Grade point average for the campus last fall was 1.36, the vice president said. Another average, involving all classes and divisions, showed that one absence resulted in a grade point average of 1.43. When the total absences were increased, the grade point averages went down sharply as follows: five absences, 1.12 average; 10 abences, .84 average and 15 absences, .44 average.

Sophomore class level is average for the college concerning percentage of hours passed when one absence was incurred, Jones stated. Ninety-one per cent of passing grades resulted from one absence. Freshmen with one absence passed an average of 86 per cent of their hours. Juniors and seniors showed themselves more able to stand absences. Juniors with one absence passed an average of 82 per cent of their work and seniors passed 96 per cent under the same conditions.

Classification Results Shown

Further proof that upperclassmen can handle the absences better was given in a table of statistics. Freshmen with 15 absences passed 14 per cent of their work, and under the same conditions the classifications varied as follows: sophomores, 27 per cent; juniors, 64 per cent and seniors, 62 per cent.

"Indications are at every turn that juniors and seniors are better able to take care of themselves than underclassmen," Jones reiterated. Last fall marked the first time upperclassmen have been given the opportunity to control absences themselves.

"My general reaction to the personal management plan of absences for juniors and seniors is that it has proved mediumly satisfactory," Jones said. "Considering that this is the first year of operation, I feel that the plan has been good and will be more satisfactory each year," the vice president stated.

Unreasonable sums of cuts will be disciplined by negative hours being assessed, Jones said. But by practicing the everyday necessity, of self-discipline, students are getting a good educational background, including self-management, he added.
