Another Step Forward

Another step toward the goal of complete intramural sports is being taken today with the first annual track meet in the Tech oval. Sponsored by The Toreador, with the invaluable assistance of George Philbrick and others in the Athletic department, the meet aims simply to provide another facility for organized student athletics.

In future years, The Toreador plans to sponsor golf and tennis tournaments; but today, the intramural track meet at 2 p. m. is the event worth seeing. Associate Editor Jerry Stoltz, who conceived the idea, has outlined the meet to move continuously and smoothly. Events will follow one another with swift regularity; the weatherman predicted (as The Toreador went to press) that an excellent day is on tap; cold drinks will be available; and dead week is still 132 hours away.

It's a great day for the race.

Cataloging The Campuses

By JERRY STOLTZ

A chemistry professor was approached by his grader. "Sir," he said, "I think Jones is copying Smith's paper. The papers are just alike."

"What makes you think Jones is copying from Smith rather than Smith from Jones?" asked the surprised professor.

"Well, the papers were just alike until the last question. There Smith had written 'I don't know' but Jones had written 'I don't know, either.'"

Professor A. Reid Winsey of DePaul university classified students as follows: "After 15 years of lecturing in a typical small liberal arts college, one collects an astonishing array of interesting types. Several weeks ago, after a delightful dinner of crabmeat and pickles, they all returned to haunt me:

"1. The athletic type—The academic processes hold no terrors for the hero of the gridiron. His fraternity brothers have a complete file of his lecture notes and examinations. It's a rare treat to find him in class. So nice of him to come.

"2. The playboy type—The morning after finds him in class in his roommate's shoes on the wrong feet. He drops his pipe but never quite recovers it. I hand it to him after class.

"3. The academic type—Probably the most objectional of all. The head is attached to the spine on a hinge and nods back and forth during the entire lecture and the mouth and eyes utter continually, 'Yes, professor, Yes, professor.'

"4. The negative type—All right brother, you put me in this class; now just try to teach me something. You would put me in the front row. I can hear him muttering under his breath, 'For gosh sakes let's get this over!'

"5. The lovely dove type—Must be taken together for they are inseparable as Siamese twins. Hearts and music, violets and poetry, these two love birds are majoring in Marriage and the Family.

"6. Camouflage—He always brings an arm load of books to class to impress me, I guess. The boys are on to him, however, and someone is always picking on him. At the moments he's sitting on a tack and trying to get someone's feet off his back.

"7. The popular type—She had four fraternity pins this semester, three last, and spends her class hour twisting the ends of her beautiful hair. This little stunt is sure to drive any instructor crazy.

"8. The wholesome type—Wears what every college girl should wear, acts like every college girl should act, and talks like every college girl should talk—constantly. She's at it now.

"9. The clock watcher—I suppose she has wound her watch three times already. She always starts shuffling her feet and putting on her coat about 15 minutes before the end of the class.

"10. The sexy type—This would-be campus queen just loves the boys, all the boys, all the time. She doesn't care what the other girls think of her clothes, they're just jealous.

"11. The tardy type—always bursts into the room in the middle of your most important statement. Of course, her seat is taken and the battle begins in earnest."

Professor: "You'll have to excuse the wording of some of these questions. I made them out at 3 o'clock this morning!"

Student: "That's okay, but you'll have to excuse the wording of the answers, because that's when we studied for them."

Collins Crowned Ping Pong Champ

Wallace Collins, sophomore electrical engineering major from Wichita Falls, continues to reign as Tech's ping pong champion. Collins defeated Morris Matson, senior arts and sciences student from Midland, in the finals last Saturday. In the women's division Fanchette Stewart, junior French major from Lubbock, won over Elizabeth Craig, sophomore home economics major from Lubbock, said Francis Bearden, Rec hall director.

Bearden added that this match night indicate foreign superiority in ping pong playing over the United States since Mrs. Stewart came to the U.S. from Belgium in 1946 to marry Allen Stewart, Tech student.

Collins teamed with Andrew Hill, senior engineer from Kirkland, to defeat Harold Shaw, sophomore engineering student from Wink, and Leon Wilson, freshman arts and sciences student from San Saba.

There were nine other male teams entered and 24 men played in the single games. Four women played in the tournament.

The Circle wishes to remind those persons who want to contribute to the "Lucile Gill Memorial Fund", and have not yet done so, that contributions are still being accepted. Funds received will be used to purchase books for the Tech library and a special book plate is being designed to designate these books. Miss Gill's family has given a large part of her personal library to the college also.

It is believed that there could be no more fitting memorial for the educator than that books bought with donations made in her memory and her own volumes should be used by the college students in which she was so vitally interested.

ANNUAL SITUATION
Every year there appears a collection of people on this campus who think they could put out a better annual than is forthcoming. This year as always, those said complainers have waited too late to start making their derogatory remarks to allow very much to be done to comply with the well-thought-out corrections. The Circle is not denying that there are some errors in the 1948 La Ventana which could and should have been prevented, but that is true of even professional publications.

However, the thing which so outrages the writer of this column is that the student body elected the current editor and business manager and now they are not supporting their choices. Before any student voted for the heads of Tech's collegiate publications he should have investigated their liabilities, capabilities and abilities. Those voters who did not make it a point to "know" their candidates, certainly now have no room for complaint, and those persons who didn't even go so far as to vote, have less reason to condemn.

Individuals and organizations have only themselves to blame for the abundance of errors in regard to names. If the wrong name appears in the wrong section or under the wrong picture, then a majority of the time the cause for it can be traced to one of five things:

1. Similarity of names.
2. Use by the student of initials one time and his given name the next.
3. Illegibility of names.
4. Inaccuracy of club lists.
5. Use of nicknames by students.

A few staff members cannot be expected to know the correct name of every person on the campus, and if they did enough research in college files and the like to check every name or looked up every person individually, Tech would be lucky if it had an annual every two or three years.

The Circle is of the opinion that the student body did NOT make an error in choosing any of its publication heads for 1947-48, and when the annuals are distributed, it is a safe prediction that there will be very few individuals who would trade the record of their college year for even more than their invested $5.00. And to those persons who feel they have received unjust treatment at the hands of the La Ventana staff, (in some cases they may be right, of course)

"TILL THEM IT'S A SORORITY HOUSE, THEY'LL MAKE BETTER TIME."

The Circle challenges them to put in an appearance at the La Ventana office at the beginning of next year, and instead of doing so much talking, to do a little working. In all probability they will find that errors can be made even by them, and besides that, any student who volunteers for work on Tech's yearbook and who puts in any time at all in trying to be of service, will find himself having an undeniably pleasant time associating with some perfectly fine people.

"To all members of next year's student association, this is a personal invitation to take an active part in the preparation of the 1949 La Ventana," says Bob Williams, editor elect of the 1949 yearbook. Few humans are ever willing to criticize their own work too harshly.

As to the matter of payment for work rendered, extra help on the annual staff, that is, those persons not elected or appointed as associates, receive 50 cents an hour for doing such things as drawing layouts and mounting pictures. And think how much fun it is to see all of the pictures early!

APPLICABLE
"Happy the man who is born excellent in the pursuit in vogue, and whose genius seems adapted to the times he lives in. How many do we see, who might have excelled in arts and sciences, and who seem furnished with talents equal to the greatest discoveries, had the road not been already beaten by their predecessors, and nothing left for them, except trifles to discover, while others of very moderate abilities become famous, because they happen to be first in the reigning pursuit."

ALL FINISHED
The deadline for nominating the instructor of the year of "The Students' Choice" has passed. The Circle will conduct the interview with the top four (instead of the expected three) candidates and the results will be announced next Wednesday.

It is time we look beyond our noses to see what is going on around us; especially, we should examine the government circle.

But what I want to know is: where is the Wallace for President club? I am a Wallace man and I know many more who are too, but I can't seem to find either a Wallace movement or anyone who knows of one.

What's the matter, Wallacites? Are you afraid to stand up to be counted? Are you afraid someone will call you a Booger Red? I have been called a son-of-a-gun for disagreeing in previous controversies, but it, also, is without foundation. Come on, Progressives, let me know where you are hiding.

Farewell Banquet For Seniors Held By College Club

Graduating seniors of College Club were honored at a farewell banquet Tuesday night, in the Cactus Inn, according to Ray Butler, president. Twelve men will leave the club before September, he said.

Elmer Hargrove, in his farewell address to members at the annual affair, referred to a recent speech of Jack Holland, assistant dean of men at the University of Texas, to MCCC members in which he said, "Tech will continue to function even if there are no social clubs on the campus but the clubs cannot survive a day without Tech." Hargrove urged that the club continue to work for the best interests of the college.

Officers for the fall semester were elected at a regular meeting Wednesday night in the aggie building with John Gillespie taking over the duties of senior councilor and Dean Allam to serve as junior councilor. Other officers (left) were: Gene Bates, secretary; Winston Roberts, treasurer; Bob Williams, reporter; Vernon Evans, chaplain; Jimmy Jarrett, sentinel; and Bill Bates, corresponding secretary.

More than meets the eye...

One look and you'd say that a great deal of work lies ahead before this new telephone central office is completed. That's true. But already, much of the job is done!

For months telephone men have been hard at work—in offices and in the field. One group has carefully studied business and population trends and has forecast the telephone needs of the community for years to come. Another has determined the amount and types of equipment that will best meet these needs. Still others have found ways to make this new equipment a part of our world-wide communications network.

At our Western Electric plants the telephone equipment—the switchboards, frames and switch mechanisms, the cable, wire and relays—has been scheduled and is already being manufactured.

All this and more before the ground was broken!

The telephone business is a constantly expanding business in which thousands of college men are finding interesting and rewarding careers. There's a future in telephony.

a Whale of a Job ... we need help

It's a vital job, too. As the largest independent supplier of equipment for the petroleum industry, we constantly are in need of young men who will apply themselves wholeheartedly for success in a field that offers almost unlimited opportunities.

There is no single pattern for the type men we need, because of the variety of services we perform in supplying the Petroleum Industry in its exploration, drilling, production, transportation, refining and marketing phases.

SENIORS: INVESTIGATE OPENINGS NOW! We have prepared a booklet explaining the supply industry and how you will be able to use your college training to the best advantage with Mid-Continent. Mail the coupon now.

The Petroleum Industry, which we serve, consists of more than 34,000 oil companies. It is a basic industry, broad of scope and constantly expanding. This expansion means that Mid-Continent must find able young men to make possible its own expansion.
