Spring Enrollment Is Nearing 5,100

Gettys Is New Student President

Sterling Leaves After Fall Term

Marshall Gettys former vice president of the Student Council, has assumed duties as the new student body president. Curtis Sterling, former president, resigned between semesters to become advertising manager of The Brownfield News.

Gettys announced Thursday that he plans no drastic changes in the Student Council program. He has worked with Sterling and is familiar with the Student Council needs and projects.

Is Raider Letterman

Sterling resigned at the close of the first semester, Gettys said. The new president pointed out that Sterling lacked only six hours to graduate and will finish his work by correspondence.

The new president is a Red Raider letterman and was awarded a tackle position on the mythical All-Border conference football team for the second consecutive year at the close of the past year. He is an engineering major and was selected to Who's Who in American colleges and Universities in 1948 and 1949.

Election Will Be Held

He has also been president and secretary of the Double T association and has served as engineering representative to the student council. His home is in Amarillo.

The constitution of the Student Council states that the former vice president will become president in the event of a resignation and that a vice president will be elected from the council. An election to determine the new vice president will be held at a Student Council meeting Feb. 13, Gettys explained.

The council also will make plans for a general election to replace Gale Rogers and Robert Lee Crasiz, January graduates, Gettys said.

Lectures, Dances Highlight Rec Hall Series For Spring

Recreation hall program for the spring semester will open Saturday night with a dance featuring Burl Hubbard's orchestra, announced James G. Allen, dean of men. The coming recreation series includes six nationally known lecturers besides dances, movies, and square dances.

Speakers on the program for the coming semester are: Dr. Gerald Wendt, editorial director of Science magazine; Ellis M. Zacharias, retired U.S. Navy Intelligence officer and author; Dr. Franz Polgar, mental wizard who lectured at Tech last year; Louis Untermeyer, critic of literature; James Michener, Pulitzer prize-winning author; and Ogden Nash, writer of light verse and contributor to the New Yorker and Saturday Evening Post. Dr. Wendt will be the first speaker, on Feb. 21.

Negotiations are under way, according to Dean Allen, to bring a name band to the campus during the semester for a program similar to that presented by Skitch Henderson last semester.

The program also features dances with Burl Hubbard's orchestra and square dances with Jake Miller's orchestra.

Texas Tech Judging Teams Compete In Annual Fort Worth Fat Stock Show

Three Tech judging teams competed in the inter-collegiate contest at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth Saturday, Monday and Tuesday. Ray C. Mowery, professor of animal husbandry, said yesterday.

In the livestock judging contest, which was held Saturday, the Tech team placed sixth among a field of 15 teams. Glenn Johnson of the Tech team placed fifth in cattle judging. George Barron was second high in the judging of hogs and placed ninth in cattle.

Members Named

Members of the Tech team were Cecil Mardis, Maurice Kingsbery, Charles Bready, Billy Bob McMullan, Barron and Johnson. The team was coached by Stanley E. Anderson, instructor in animal husbandry.

Other teams placing in the contest are University of Missouri, first; Oklahoma A&M, second; Kansas State, third; Texas A&M, fourth; and Michigan State, fifth. The Tech dairy cattle team placed third in the dairy cattle judging contest which was held Monday. Vestal Shipman and Tommy Hewlett placed second and third, respectively, in the contest for individual honors. The team, coached by Koy Neeley, associate professor of animal husbandry, tied for high judging of Jerseys.

SENIOR CARNIVAL MEETING

Representatives from each of the clubs which will sponsor a booth in the Senior carnival will meet at 5 p.m. Wednesday in Ad-220, Harold Luke, president of the Senior class, has announced.

"It is imperative that each representative know at that time what his club's booth will be and who will be in charge," Luke said. The purpose of the annual Senior carnival, to be held at 7 p.m. Saturday, March 4, in the Administration building, is to raise money for the Senior class gift, Luke explained.

Final Registration Totals Incomplete; Number Of Vet Students Decreasing

By CHARLOTTE BLACKBURN
Toreador Staff Writer

An unofficial count late Thursday revealed that 5,150 permits to register for the spring semester had been issued to students wishing to sign up for classes.

Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant to the registrar, said this figure was not certain due to the fact that many students did not return and some did not complete registration. Yesterday was the last day to register for spring classes without a late fee charge. The deadline to sign up for classes is Tuesday.

The above figure represents a drop of around 700 students from the enrollment figure of the fall semester just passed. Enrollment in the spring term is always lower, however, and a drop in the enrollment of veterans was in part due to the overall decline in enrollment.

Letting Contracts For New Buildings Delayed By Board

Letting of contracts for several new major buildings on the Tech campus was postponed from Feb. 28 to March 18 by the Tech Board of Directors in its meeting last Saturday in San Angelo.

Commissioning of the architectural firms of Atchison and Atkinson of Lubbock and Davis and Foster of El Paso to draw plans for a student union building highlighted the discussion Saturday morning. These firms were instructed to employ one of two specified nationally known architects to act as consultant.

Buildings on which construction bids will be let on March 18 include a new Home Economics building, Engineering building and Music hall. The buildings are additional units of a $4 million building program which will get underway during the coming year.

In approving architects for the Student Union building, the board also authorized preparations for the issuance of bonds against the project and the transfer of $150,000 from the bookstore profits account and $100,000 from the infirmary account to pay for an estimated 50 per cent of the cost of the project.

The meeting was concluded with the approval of minor staff changes and leaves of absence. The board accepted, with "regret and appreciation for the fine and efficient services to Tech and the board," the resignation of Frank Junell, assistant to President Wiggins. Junell recently resigned to join the staff of radio station KCBT in Lubbock.

Veterans Sign Up

Veterans administrator H. A. Anderson said Thursday that close to 1,500 veterans had taken out permits to register under the G.I. Bill of Rights. There were nearly 2,000 ex-service men and women in school last fall.

Anderson also noted that "several dozen" veterans enrolled under the Hazelwood act. The Hazelwood Act is a state law which provides for the tuition in state schools of citizens of this state who served in either world war.

Expect 5,600

Registrar W. P. Clement says part of the drop in the enrollment figure is due to the small size of high school graduating classes in the state last year and this year.

First Issue Of New Alumni Magazine Goes Into Mail

The February issue of The Texas Techian, a magazine published by the ex-students' association, has been printed and is being distributed to exes.

This first issue of the magazine is a 20-page publication printed on slick paper. It will supplement the Ex-Student News which also is distributed to Tech exes. D. M. McElroy, secretary to the Ex-Student Association, has announced that The News will not be published monthly as it has been in the past but rather about two issues a semester will be mailed out.

The Texas Techian for February is filled with articles about all phases of the college's activities. The "lead" article is a discussion by Gene Gregston, assistant sports editor of The Fort Worth Star Telegram, of "Why Texas Tech Isn't In the Southwest Conference." Gregston brings to light several facts and describes in detail what Tech's chances are for admittance in that loop.

Also featured in the first issue are articles by Bob Rutland, Tech's assistant publicity director, and H. A. Tuck and Delane Adams, both Tech students. Rutland tells of the new $4,000,000 expansion program which is underway here now.

Tuck has a resume of the sporting scene on the campus while Miss Adams tells of faculty changes and additions in recent years. Also included in the February issue is a short biography of Stanley Anderson, instructor in animal husbandry at Tech.

The Texas Techian will be published eight times yearly by the Ex-Student Association. Rutland served as managing editor for the first edition. An editor will be named in the near future.

Lubbock Churches Hold Open House For New Tech Students Last Night

Member churches of the Student Religious council held open houses last night for new students and former members.

The First Baptist group was entertained with a western theme, including a ranch style supper. Special features of the program were the Kiwanis "Hot Shots"; a novelty number, "Mule Train"; and a movie, "Chimp the Cowboy." George Morris, song leader, directed the group in several western songs. The program was concluded with a technical movie, "The Frontier Parson," and a solo, "Rounded Up in Glory," by Mrs. Rex Webster. College Avenue Baptist church entertained with a playlet as the feature. George Worrell was in charge of the program.

St. John's Methodist group also had an open house. Reeves Moren served as program chairman. Nancy Crosby was director for the Asbury Methodist party, which featured the theme of "February," a take-off on February. The program also included a skit on a Valentine theme. John Norcross acted as assistant chairman and was in charge of games. Approximately 40 students attended.

Since February is known as the birthday month, the First Methodist church entertained with a birthday party. The party also celebrated the Wesley Student association's twenty-fifth birthday. To carry out the theme, the women's society served cake. Marion Baumgardner was in charge of arrangements.

The motto of "Hearts Galore, Fun in Store," set the theme for the First Presbyterian entertainment. Approximately 100 students attended the Valentine party. Bob Schmidt, general chairman, was assisted by Emmett Adair, in charge of decorations and games, and Myrle McDonald, refreshments chairman.

First Christian, Church of Christ and St. Paul's Episcopal churches also held open houses.

Texas Tech Students Enjoy Many Unheard Of Rights

Recent "investigation" of a vital campus organization, the Women's Disciplinary committee, should make every man and woman on the campus stop and say a silent prayer for the almost unheard of rights which we students enjoy at Texas Tech.

We recently overheard a conversation concerning student rights at another Texas college, a member of the Southwest conference. It was flatly stated that if the student body at that school tried to take a hand in running the college as it does here the students not only would be reprimanded but more drastic action would be taken.

At Texas Tech we are allowed by an administration which is almost beyond reproach not only to have a say in what is going on, but our ideas and opinions are listened to and considered. We ask you, could you want anything more?

Tech is not a place where the student comes first—after the administration's friends and political associates. It is a living example of how true democracy works. The student comes first, period.

Our administration realizes that its duty is to train boys and girls to become men and women and that with improper individuals in responsible positions the job cannot be done properly.

We, for one, have faith in our president and his policies. We know that his every action is for the benefit of Texas Tech as a whole—and not personal favor which might gain recognition for himself.

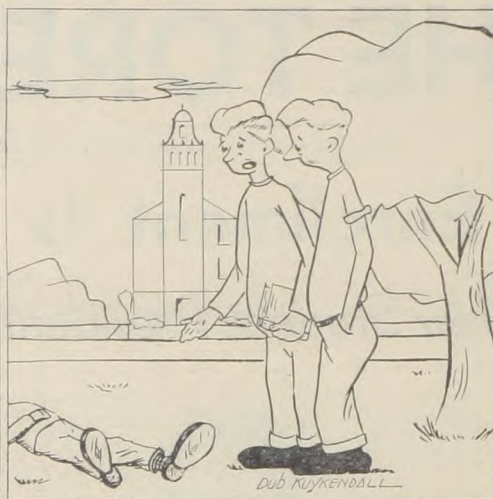

Traffic Lights Do Not Solve All Pedestrian Perplexities

Last year some traffic lights were installed on this campus which were supposed to have helped the traffic problem. It has come to our attention, however, that these lights are not nearly as effective as they should be. Cars will stop for a red light most of the time and the walking public will usually wait for the light to change to red before starting across the street, but in some places a pedestrian doesn't really know when he is supposed to walk and when he is supposed to stay on the curb.

One such place is directly northwest of the Administration building. The person on foot cannot see the light signal and therefore doesn't know when he is supposed to start across the street. When the light does change for the walker and the cars do stop, the light to the north suddenly changes to green and a great rush of cars bears down on the people afoot.

Another place is in front of the brand new Museum. The person going east across the so-called "engineering drive" might just as well not know there is a light there, since the cars turn right on the red light just as they do on the green. It is all quite confusing to the pedestrian; besides that, he can't see the light.

Wouldn't it be a good idea, while the college is so engrossed with campus improvements, for these lights to be changed in some manner to enable the shoe-beater to have the same break as the automobile? Also, shouldn't there be a penalty for cars running red lights on this campus, just as there is in the city? And how about the pedestrian lanes being painted over, so students and faculty members who walk would know just exactly where they are supposed to walk?

THINKING ALLOWED

By Jerry Hall

The new semester has opened and with it comes this first issue of The Toreador. We hardly know where to start. So many things have happened in the short two weeks which were taken up by exams and dead week that it is hard to think which is the most important. Naturally the thing which is of primary interest to us is the change of student body presidents.

We, like everyone else, were surprised to hear of Curtis Sterling's announcement that he would not return to school. Curtis was well liked and his efficiency in office was proved in the short four months during which he served the student body so well. But on the other hand it never entered our minds to become long faced and moan the loss of a good student body president, because we wished Curtis Sterling and his family all the luck in the world and also because we knew that while we were losing one president we were also gaining one of the best campus leaders ever to enroll in Texas Tech.

The new president of the student body needs no introduction at all. He is known and liked by all Techsians. Marshall Gettys, in his four (or is it more Marshall?) years in this institution, has constantly been a leader in all campus activities. He is known, not only for his football ability, but for his brilliant scholastic and social ability as well. No great changes are foreseen in the "new regime" and we for one feel confident the good work already started will be carried on by our new president. Good Luck Mr. President! (Whew, with such an ovation how can he miss!)

As long as those who have gone on before us (graduated, that is) are being mentioned a word about a loss to The Toreador should also be mentioned. We mean Keith Anderson that intrepid and fearless sports editor who for two years now has served this old paper faithfully in that capacity. Keith signed his final "30" on the sports page of this paper at the end of the last semester. At present he, along with several others, is hunting employment in the cold cruel world. Good luck to you also Mr. Anderson.

Something on the serious side came up during the short recess we enjoyed from deadlines and headlines. A story in the local newspaper recently stated that the college just couldn't seem to keep tarps on the Will Rogers statue out by the circle. Now, that may seem to be a bit funny at first but just stop and think. Is it fun to deliberately swipe such a thing. We grant you, it's not the value of the tarps which create a problem but it is the principal of the thing. The college is trying to keep that statue in good shape for the formal unveiling in a few weeks. While we are not even sure students had anything to do with the missing tarps it still seems awful close to home. We hope we are wrong and the tarps were stolen by someone other than college people however.

New Supervisors Named For Dorms

Two new dormitory supervisors will assume duties at Tech with the beginning of the spring semester. James C. Allen, dean of men announces, William Yardley from Columbus, Ohio, is new supervisor of Drane hall, recently converted dormitory for men and married students. Wendell H. Peary of Chicago, Ill., will be supervisor of Sneed hall during the coming semester.

Yardley served as assistant dean of Men at Ohio State university in 1947. He is a graduate of Ohio State and received his masters degree from there in guidance and education. He served two and one-half years in the Air Force, where he was a B-17 pilot. His wife is a former physical education instructor at Ohio State. They have a three-months old baby.

Peary is a graduate of the University of Chicago. His major was psychology and he did special work in counseling and guidance. He was in the service for three years and stationed at a special training center in Puerto Rico most of that time.

Vets Must Report Spring Schedules

Veterans going to Tech under Part VII of Public Law 16 must report their schedules for the spring semester before subsistence can be authorized. L. Carroll Smyers, training officer of the Veterans Guidance center, announced today. There are 130 disabled veterans under this law who have not reported and Smyers requests that each student report to the training officer at the Guidance center as soon as possible.

Exes Organize In All Parts Of The United States

Three new chapters were added to the Ex-Students association recently in Washington, D.C., Roswell, N.M., and Hereford, Tex. These new organizations bring the association's total number of chapters up to seventy.

Sixty-five exes met in the Washington Room of the Washington Hotel in the nation's capital the first of last month for a reception, buffet supper and business meeting. John R. Cummings was elected to head the new group. Other officers include Major Maurice Goodpasture, first vice-president; Bernice Walker, second vice-president; Fred Griffin, treasurer and Dorothy Rylander, secretary.

The first chapter was organized in New Mexico when the Roswell exes met to elect Elmo Hensley their president. Hugh Rowland was selected as vice-president and Mrs. Syble Brown as reporter.

Mrs. Homer Brumley became the first woman to be elected president of an ex-students chapter when she was elected to head the Hereford group. J. A. McWhorter, vice-president; Mrs. Faust Collier, secretary and Phyllis Redovick, reporter, were other officers elected. In the recently-organized Oklahoma City chapter, officers were elected with Ralph Glover taking over as president. Homer S. Newman, vice-president and reporter and Mrs. Mary Wells Blount as secretary were also elected.

Of the new presidents, Cummings, class of '41 with a BA, in English and an MA in history, is an executive in public relations of the Community Chest Federation; Hensley, class of '48, is vice-president of the Pecos Construction company in Roswell; and Mrs. Brumley, class of '35, is the former Elizabeth Montfort, one of the few women to receive a degree in horticulture. Her husband, Homer Brumley, who holds a degree in animal husbandry, class of '35, is the owner of the Dear Smith County Meat company.

Of the Washington officers, Goodpasture, '41 in government is in the US Marine corps and is married to ex-Techian Daphene Hutchings; Griffin took a degree in journalism in '37, and Rylander, '31, MA in history, is secretary to Congressman George Mahon of Texas.

Aggies Give First Results Of Tests

Sixty yearling grade Herefords currently being used in a feeding experiment at Tech were recently weighed at the end of the first of several feeding periods. The steers, first put on feed Nov. 22, are divided into six lots of 10 steers each. The experiment, the purpose of which is to determine the comparative feeding values of roughages, will be concluded at the end of approximately 140 days.

Steers in lot one, being fed on sweet sorghum silage, gained 3.09 pounds per head per day. Lot two steers feeding on cottonseed hulls gained 1.94 pounds per day. The steers in lot three, receiving 75 per cent sweet sorghum silage and 25 per cent cottonseed hulls, gained 3.00 pounds per head per day. Lot four steers, receiving 75 per cent cottonseed hulls and 25 per cent sweet sorghum silage, gained 2.24 pounds.

Green Room Coke Party Honors Freshman and Transfer Women Association of Women Students and Junior council, honorary service organization for junior women, sponsored a coke party for freshman and transfer women at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Green room of the Recreation hall.

Levora Manning, AWS president, explained the purpose of AWS and introduced representatives from other organizations for women, each of whom spoke on the purpose of her club.

Special guests were Mrs. Margaret W. Walker, dean of women, and Misses Virginia Keehan and Dorothy Willett.

The Cosmopolitan club will hold a meeting at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Ad-214, announced Willie Perea, reporter. Elections of officers for the spring semester will be held, he said.

Techsans Fight Way To Golden Gloves Finals With Wins In The Preliminaries

By JOHN LEE
Toreador Sports Writer

Three Texas Tech boys punched their ways through the Golden Gloves preliminaries held Tuesday and Wednesday night in the Tech gym and right into the finals last night.

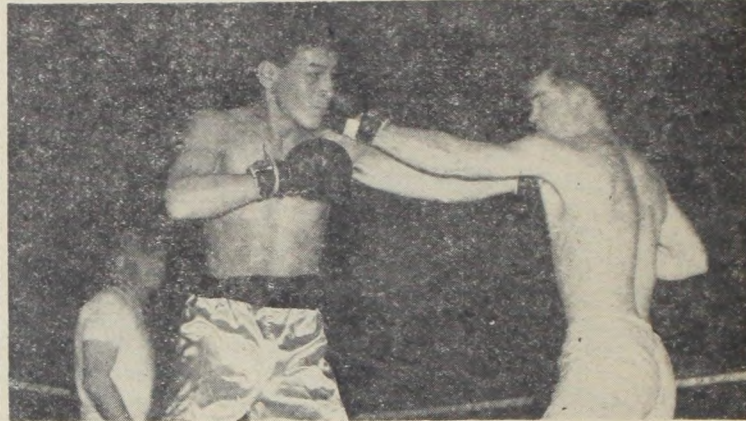

Eural Ramsey, Mickey Flood and Jimmie Williams looked impressive in the opening nights of the annual Golden Gloves matches. Ramsey, a 175 pound halfback on the Red Raider football team scored a TKO over Bill Wilbanks of Lubbock in one minute and 56 seconds of the second round in what proved to be one of the most interesting Tuesday evening bouts.

Scores Knockout

Ramsey, who hails from Shamrock, took it easy in the first round shooting accurate left jabs and powerful rights behind an adequate defense. At the end of the round Wilbanks' face was almost completely covered with blood. However it was not until nearly two minutes of the second stanza had elapsed that Referee Bo Sexton decided Wilbanks had enough for the night.

Mickey Flood, 160 pounder from El Paso, fought Tuesday and Wednesday night to gain a chance for the championship. In the first of the two bouts, the El Pasoan gained enough for the night.

Robisonmen Continuing Work In Field House; Meet Flagstaff Tuesday

By BILLY YOES
Toreador Sports Writer

Because of the conflict with the Golden Gloves tournament, the basketball game originally scheduled tonight between Tech's Red Raiders and Hardin Simmons' Cowboys has been postponed until March 2. However, the Raiders, under Coach Polk Robison, are continuing their workouts in Chapman Fieldhouse, in preparation for their Tuesday night game which will send them against Arizona State (Flagstaff).

The Flagstaff team is currently entrenched in seventh place in the conference. Their last and only victory in the conference scramble is a victory over the highly touted West Texas Buffs. This is a good indication that the Tuesday night's game will be a make or break proposition as far as the Raiders go. Although the Arizona State team has dropped three contests, they will bring an aggregation to Lubbock which could give the Raiders a mighty hot contest.

At present, Tech is tied with West Texas for the fourth position in the conference. It is not expected that Tech will challenge Arizona U. for the title. As a matter of fact, it will be a feather in the hat of Coach and school alike if Tech finishes with a better than 500 percentage. The squad, at the beginning of the season, was composed of inexperienced men, but has been improving with leaps and bounds.

Arizona, with a record of 5 wins and no defeats, is expected to go the distance at the top of the conference. Although second place Arizona State (Tempe) has suffered only one loss, that was a 20 point defeat administered by Arizona. In third position with 4 wins and 2 defeats is Hardin-Simmons. After Tech and West Texas come Texas Western, New Mexico A&M, Flagstaff, and New Mexico.

High scorer of the conference is Wade Oliver of Tempe, who has averaged 18.7 points per game. Tech's leading scorer is Jack Alderson, who has hit the bucket for 139 points in 16 games for an average of 11.8 points. Center Gene Gibson trails closely with a 11.1 average.

Raiders Gain Four Football Prospects

Four junior college transfers have been added to the Texas Tech football roster this semester.

Coach Dell Morgan, faced with finding replacements for 19 lettermen who completed eligibility, has received reinforcements in Alton Anthony and Pat Patterson of Hillsboro Junior college, Halfback Frank Graves of North Texas Agricultural college and Joe Neel of Ranger Junior college. In addition, Frank Farrar, an end, has returned to school and will be eligible next fall.

Anthony is a tall and weighty lineman who played tackle for Lamesa high school and was an end at Hillsboro last fall. Patterson, also of Lamesa, is a shifty lineman who will work at guard for Tech. Graves, star of McKinney high school in 1948, was a regular at NTAC last fall and is expected to bolster the Tech backfield. He has

Tech's Freshman Basketball Squad Boasts Record Of 6 Wins, 2 Defeats

By SAN ANDERSON
Toreador Sports Editor

The Tech Freshman basketball squad, though little publicized, is well on its way to a very successful season. They boast a 6-2 won lost record thus far in college play, and several players show promise for future Red Raider Quints.

The little Red Raider five has won 6 and lost one in the Lubbock city league in which they are competitors. Thomas Tinker, perennially a good Lubbock independent basketball team, handed the Picadors their lone defeat in league play.

The freshman cagers have a 600 per cent average against outside competition by virtue of a win over the Plainview Wayland College B team and a loss to the Hardin-Simmons University freshman.

Boast Tall Players

Virgil Johnson, Lubbock high school player of 1948, is the top point maker for the Picadors at present. He is aptly aided in the offensive department by Paul Nolen a six foot nine inch lad from Alvarado. Nolen has just recently acquired a scoring punch and Coach Polk Robison of the varsity has said that much can be expected from the Alvarado lad.

Lewis Martin, a product of Dimmitt, is another of the little Red Raiders. Martin was sought by many Southwest teams and he has proved his worth since coming to Tech. Another good looking prospect is Don Seale of Idalou who starred as a quarterback for the frosh football team during the past grid season.

Cole Named Coach

Sandy Welton, a West Virginia all stater, Dale Knight of Stratford and "Little" Jack Little of Amarillo are also to be counted on when the chips are down. Helping round out this very strong freshman five are John (Duich) Luenburger of Lamesa, Blair Hankins of Lubbock and Marlin Ribble, a Fort Worth boy who played tackle on the past season's Picador eleven.

James Cole, who has been out for varsity basketball, is temporarily at the helm of the Picadors. Cole's appointment as manager of the freshman team came after Coach Allie White resigned to take a grid post at TCU. Announcement of a regular freshman coach is expected soon.

WIGGINS TOURING COUNTRY

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, is on a recruiting trip for appointments to the Tech faculty. Dr. Wiggins left Lubbock Jan. 30 and is expected to return Feb. 10.

Appointments which are filled will become effective for the summer or fall semesters, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president, said. Applicants will be interviewed in Kansas City, Des Moines, Chicago, New York city and New Haven, Conn.

T. L. Leach, professor of agriculture education, is in Fort Worth attending the Fat Stock Show and Exposition. Leach is superintendent of the Aberdeen Angus division of the show.

Intramural Basketball To Resume Monday Night; Games Scheduled

Intramural basketball, having been halted momentarily by the short vacation between semesters, will again claim the spotlight Monday night when two games will be played between teams from Dorm league I.

Scheduled to play Monday night are Drane hall vs. Poslokes at 8:15 p.m. and Cuspadors vs. Doak hall Red Devils at 9:15 p.m. The following night at 9:15 the Drane hall team will meet the team from the Athletic dorm.

Several games have been played since the last issue of The Toreador was published. Probably the outstanding games played during this time were between teams from Independent League I. The Cavaliers made an impressive showing in defeating the G.D.I.'s 45-14. Hardy Willis and Herbert Cadenhead teamed up to give the Cavaliers a double scoring punch of 18 and 12 points respectively. Lindy Lawler scored 5 points for the losers.

Anonymous Beats Alley Cats

Anonymous Quintet scored a victory over the Alleycats to the tune of 25-18. San Anderson dunked in 13 points for the winners while Vernon Harrison scored 5 points for the losers.

The Dusters slipped by the Wesley Wildcats with a 27-22 score. High point men were Don Bradley of the Wildcats with a 13 and Reeves Moran of the Dusters with 16.

Cavaliers proved itself to be one of the better teams in the league when they scored a 57-37 victory over the Jolly Jigaboos. Billy Ralston, who scored 21 points for the winners, had able assistance from teammates Cadenhead and Willis who scored 13. Bob Steeley paced the Jigaboos with 11 points.

In the battle of the quintets, the Anonymous group came out second best as the Quintessence party romped over them to the tune of 53-15. Chief troublemaker for the Quintessence Quintet was Leroy Morrison with 13 points. Close behind him was teammate John Murphy with 11 points. San Anderson of the Anonymous Quintet scored 6 points to lead his team.

Doak Downs Dorm IV

Dorm league II race tightened up as the Doak Green Hornets whipped the Dorm IV Rebels 18-15 in a tight, defensive battle. Gary Willingham paced the winning team with 10 points while Jack Littlefield of the Rebels scored 8 points to lead his team.

With Bert Stamford and Ben Street leading the way, the West hall Eagles scored a 36-21 victory over the Third West hall. Stamford scored 11 points, while Street followed closely with 9. High-point man for the losers was Jim Connie with 6.

Filthy Five won out over the Hotrods with Joe Norris high-point man with 16 points. Bob Cline scored 12 to pace the Hotrods.

Close, Jackson Lead Athletics

In another close game the West hall Eagles beat the Doak hall Green Hornets with a score of 38-34. West's high-point man was Hugh Ingram with 9 while Dick Sharp scored 14 for the Doak hall team.

In the lone game played in Dorm league I, the Athletics with 9 and 5 points, Joel Wilson poured 5 field goals and a free throw through the hoop to lead his team.

In Independent league II, the Cross-Lee team won an easy 41-23 victory over the Dairy club with Al Shepherd scoring 11 points. Royce Jackson and Clarence Darter tied for high-point honors for the losers with 9 points each. In the same league, Tech Rodeo barely edged by the AIME team with a 35-34 score. Charley Campbell hit the mark with 29 counters for the winners.

Liederkrantz, German club, will hold its first meeting of the semester at 7:15 p.m. Tuesday, Ad-202, announced Theodore Alexander, sponsor. Activities for the spring semester will be discussed and an election of officers will be held, said Alexander.

Aggie, Athletic, Band And Homecoming Trophys Displayed In Ad Building Case

The trophy case which was completed and placed in the rotunda of the administration building on the campus only this year is already filled to capacity with trophies won by various departments through the years. And according to reports, this group does not represent all the trophies of the college.

Purchased by funds made on the Homecoming dance of 1948, the case is built of wood and glass, has a three-tiered stand within covered with leatherette. The first trophy to be displayed in the case was the new Thomas Trophy awarded to the outstanding float of the Homecoming parade this year. College club won the coveted award which was given to the college by Lucien Thomas, Lubbock businessman and ex of '40.

On the top tier of the case may be found the flags of the United Nations, which were a gift of the Cosmopolitan club of the campus. This organization which is composed of all the foreign students enrolled in Tech, gave the flags as a token of the goodwill they found on Tech campus.

The quarter-horse trophy was won by Texas Tech judging team in 1949. Given by the Oklahoma Quarter Horse Exhibition Association, the American Quarter Horse Association, and Farm Lending Agencies of Oklahoma the trophy was won in '47 by Oklahoma A&M. Other Aggie trophies displayed in the case include the Challenge trophy, the HSU Intercollegiate rodeo, and two KLZ Farm Reporter trophies. The Challenge trophy, was won by Texas Tech in both '47 and '49 for first place in sheep judging in the American Royal Judging contest at Kansas City. The University of Nebraska took the award in '48. The rodeo award went to a Tech rodeo team last spring for first place in the annual intercollegiate rodeo sponsored by Hardin-Simmons university. Members of the winning team included Ead Hughs, H. G. Bedford, Guy T. Cowden, Tom Kingsberry, E. B. Magee and Glenn Parrott. The two KLZ trophies were given to Tech in the National Western Stock Show of 1948 for the high teams in judging carload hogs and the high team in judging carload lots.

Sports trophies include the Border Conference trophy for tennis, runner-up in Border Conference for track and field, intramural football trophy, and a second place in All-College basketball meet in Oklahoma City. The first place in tennis was won in Class A Doubles by Glenn Ivy and Jake Broyles last spring. The runner-up in track was awarded in 1947, and the second place in the Oklahoma City tournament taken by the Tech quintet of 1939. Another trophy was awarded for basketball, coaching school in 1947, compliments of Fred Netz. Tech took 51 points, Hardin-Simmons 35.

The Matador band has two trophys displayed in the case, the Balfour trophy and the Achievement Participation trophy. The Balfour trophy was won by Tech chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi in '48 and the Achievement Award previously held by the University of Colorado East, was won by Tech in 1948. Another trophy displayed in the case is that presented by the Tenth Air Force to Wayne A. Bowles who won the award for the college when he distinguished himself as the honor cadet at the Air ROTC camp in 1948.

ed a decision over Virgil Kelly of Abernathy. Flood had rough going in the first round against Kelly, taking an eight count before coming back strong in the second round to drive Kelly repeatedly to the canvas. The last round of that fight saw both boys tiring rapidly with Flood getting the nod in what proved to be a crowd pleaser deluxe.

Makes Comeback

Maurice Green of Roswell, N. M., was Flood's opponent for the Wednesday clash. Green and Flood put on what was possibly the best fight of the evening. Green had the fracas pretty much his own way in the first round. He consistently pounded the Techsan until it appeared as though Flood would never last. But he did. And how! Midway in the second round Flood found the range and connected with a powerful right to Green's chin that dropped the New Mexico lad in his tracks. As Green sat dazedly in a half-crouched position Sexton tolled off the fateful count at one minute and 45 seconds of the second round.

The third Tech student to gain the finals last night was Jimmie Williams of Phillips. Williams who is an erstwhile star contender for the Tech freshman eleven last season took an easy decision from Bob Quisenberry of Lockney in the last fight Wednesday night. The bout, a heavyweight affair, was rather slow in getting underway but Williams threw plenty of leather in the last rounds and walked away with the decision. Williams is the brother of another Tech footballer, Don Williams, who fought in the Golden Gloves last year but was unable to enter this season due to an injury received during the past football season.

Dead Week's End Sees Coeds Kissin' Whiskered Chins

By SUE HOLMES
Toreador Staff Writer

Bluebeard himself would have caused little comment at Tech during Dead week and Exam week. Male students on the campus were requested by the Saddle Tramps to enter a beard-growing contest which was divided into six categories: blackest, reddest, most artistic, thickest, ugliest and slickest beard.

Five aggies and one engineer received kisses from eleven beauties as awards for their outstanding whiskers. Gerald Buchanan, sophomore from Luther, won first place in the "blackest beard" classification. James H. "Red" Heath, senior from Tokio, grew a carrot-colored beard to match his hair and easily won the "reddest beard" classification.

Double T Wins
First-place winner in the "most artistic" category was Tommie "Ding Dong" Bell, senior from Valentine. He sported a Double-T of whiskers on each cheek. Jack Buchanan, senior from Big Spring, grew the thickest foliage.

Ernest Sears, Brownfield senior, presented the ugliest beard. Sears is president of Saddle Tramps.

Francis McNealey, junior from Sherman, was the only non-aggie who won kisses. McNealey is an engineer and won because of his "slick" beard.

Judging took place in the Rec hall. Beauties who were present to serve in the double capacity of judges and awards were: Phyllis Leach, Jeannine Ballew, Pat Todd, Dotsie Stephenson, Connie Hopping, Helen Ohlenbusch, Jo Simmons, Pat Bennett, Jane Wier, DeLois Utterback and Mary Anne Kelley.
