INCREASING ENROLLMENT HITS 5,500

Two Scholarships Added By Doctors

Two new scholarships for Texas Tech pre-medical students have been announced by the Lubbock-Crosby County Medical society.

Another group of scholarships sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Parks of Lubbock has been increased from $300 to $500 per year.

The pre-medical scholarships of $200 are available to one junior and one senior. The scholarships were made possible by the Alpha Epsilon Delta, pre-medical honor fraternity, and the medical group.

Dr. Joe Dennis, head of the chemistry department and advisor for the pre-medical students, will receive applications for the scholarships until Sept. 30, he has announced.

Applicants must have a 2.0 grade point average and be in need of financial assistance, showing promise of doing successful work in medicine.

The scholarship may be held for only one year.

A. E. Strelitz, assistant professor of foreign languages and member of the election committee for the Parks scholarships, announced the change in stipend.

The increase was made because of the increasing cost of living, Parks said as he revealed the increase.

The scholarship, which was established in 1945, is given to persons of Mexican descent for the purpose of encouraging more young Mexican-Americans to complete high school work and go on to college.

One person who resides in the Panhandle and South Plains area of Texas is chosen each year.

The scholarship consists of a complete four years of college. Pete Aboytos of Amarillo enters Tech this fall under the scholarship. Other holders are Marie Olivo of Amarillo and Juanita Casas of Levelland.

Parks is a theater owner in Lubbock and other Texas cities.

Navy Calls Nelson, But Which One?

If it had happened back home, a couple of Minnesota Scandinavians new to the Tech faculty this semester wouldn't have caused a snarl in administrative matters.

But in Texas where the name Nelson doesn't fill several pages of every telephone book there was plenty of confusion for a couple of days over who was going back in the Navy.

On Sept. 8, Harold Nelson, assistant professor of journalism, arrived in Lubbock after 1,200 dusty miles of driving. An acquaintance casually dropped the remark that "some sort of Navy orders" awaited him at school.

To Nelson, who says his World War two naval service didn't particularly distinguish him, and who's been strictly "inactive reserve" most of the time since the war, it was a body blow. He'd just disposed of most of his furniture, rented his Minneapolis home, packed up his wife and two children, and driven to Lubbock. It was too late in the day to get a firm check on the report.

Western union finally cleared the business up by digging out a telegram addressed to LaVerne Nelson, dormitory counselor in West hall. It informed L. Nelson that Navy orders to active duty awaited him at Duluth, Minn., Sept. 26. L. Nelson is in the process of delaying his orders. Tech is keeping a journalist teacher and possibly a counselor, too.

Letter From The President

In celebrating the opening of the Twenty-fifth anniversary year of Texas Technological college, we may recount with distinct pride the educational accomplishments of this youthful institution of higher learning. The contributions of the college through its distinguished faculty and its ever-increasing student population have influenced, in a positive manner, the development of the entire Southwest. Many of the ex-students of Texas Tech will be returning to the campus of their Alma Mater during this year. We shall all seek in every possible manner, to honor them as they return to us.

Great things lie ahead for Texas Tech. These are days in which the very best qualities of leadership are demanded. The expansion of the physical facilities of our campus, together with the strengthening of the faculty in each division of the college, will make it possible to serve the needs of the students of Texas Tech in an even greater manner. I am sure that the Silver Anniversary student body of Texas Technological college will show every evidence of willingness to accept the problems that challenge the changing world in which we must live.

My every good wish is extended to all of you. We are glad that each one of you has made Texas Technological college your choice.

Sincerely yours,
D. M. WIGGINS
President

Parking Area Regulations Announced For Campus

Parking facilities on the campus will be operated under a new traffic system as announced by Lewis N. Jones, assistant dean of student life.

Enumeration of all cars parked on the campus took place during regular registration procedures. Stickers were issued by student council members to students who have cars on the campus at any time. Horton Russell, student council president, said. Drivers license and license plate numbers were registered before stickers were issued, Russell stated.

Under the new system students living in dormitories have been given assigned parking places near their respective dormitories and will not be able to drive to campus buildings to class, Jones stated. Students living off campus, who drive cars to school have received stickers which serve as permits to the divisional parking lots. Jones emphasized that every car parked on the campus must be duly registered and bear a sticker.

City patrolmen will check cars in the campus parking areas to see that stickers are displayed, Jones said. Violators will be referred to a special student panel to be organized soon from the Student council, Russell stated. Patrolmen have issued reminders to drivers of cars parked on pavement during the week.

Twelve parking areas have been provided for students and staff members, according to a directive from Jones. Four areas, all designated as Area "A" will serve non-dormitory students in the divisions of agriculture, arts and sciences, business administration and home economics. These four "A" areas are located south of the Administration building, west of the Chemistry building and between the library and Chemistry buildings, Jones said.

Engineering students living off campus will park their cars in Area "B" located west of the Engineering building. Area "C" which includes the hard surfaced areas north of Men's dormitories 3 and 4 and the area west of Men's dormitory 4, will be used by residents of Men's dormitories 3 and 4 and by Sneed hall residents.

Area "D" is the hard surfaced lot west of West hall and will be used by West and Sneed hall residents. Area "E" will be used by residents of Doak hall. That area is located west of Doak. Another section of Area "E" is the paved area west of Dormitory Room Reservations office, also designated as Area "V" which is a temporary visitors' parking area.

Students living in Women's dormitories 2, 3 and 4 will park in Area "I" which includes the areas in front of those dormitories. Area "H" south of the Home Management house, will be used by residents of that building.

Space for a limited number of faculty and employees in the agriculture division is provided in Area "K" immediately behind the Agriculture building, Jones said. Textile engineering students will use Area "L" south of the Textile Engineering building.

Physically handicapped students who must use a car for transportation from building to building on the campus will be given a "W" sticker to entitle them to move to different parking areas. "W" stickers will also be issued to vehicles of the college that must move to various buildings providing services of the college, Jones explained.

Registration Figures May Challenge 1949 Fall Total Of 5,844 Students

Dorms Have Same Fare, Few Rooms, New Menu Plan

All campus dormitories are under a new unified-menu program with a near capacity residence.

Only the girls dormitories are not filled to capacity. The men's dorms have been filled since July 13 and still carry a waiting list of about 100 students, H. L. Burgess, head of the dorm reservation office, says.

Room reservation requests gained momentum following the outbreak of the Korean war, Burgess reports. After a waiting list of 250 men was compiled requests were not accepted. By early this week the waiting list had been pared to 105.

"Every hall will have exactly the same menu as the other halls," Miss Zoe Harris, director of food service, says, emphasizing that less wasted food means better food.

The only variation in menus will be the result of use of foods that have not been used at previous meals because of the absence of large numbers of students, Miss Harris states.

Meanwhile Marshall Pennington, comptroller, says rumors to the effect that room and board will be advanced are not factual. "We have no intention of raising prices unless the economic situation makes it absolutely essential," he says.

Sixty-seven New Members Added To Faculty, Staff

Sixty-seven faculty and staff members today are among the newcomers at Tech as the 1950 fall semester opens.

Included in the group are three new deans and five new department heads. Arts and sciences division, with 29 additions, leads all other divisions. The business administration division is second with 10. Other additions include seven in the agriculture division, five in engineering, two in home economics, the three new members to the administration, four other Enrollment figures will perhaps surpass the 1949 fall term total of 5,844 when registration is completed, Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar, indicated Friday morning.

Approximately 5,500 students had already received permits to register by the time registration closed Thursday afternoon. The number included adults taking Saturday and night courses under an extensive new program.

Approximately 1,031 freshmen took part in orientation activities, Dr. Ernest Wallace, assistant dean of arts and sciences, announced. The largest number was in the arts and sciences division, with about 335. Agriculture and business administration divisions were next with some 205 each. Engineering had about 200 and home economics had about 85 taking part in orientation activities.

This is the first year that freshmen have been registered in business administration. Previously the students have registered for their first year in the arts and sciences division.

Regular registration closed Friday afternoon, but late registration will continue through next Thursday. A fee for late registration will be charged beginning Tuesday.

Persons enrolling in Saturday and evening classes will complete registration at the first meeting of the class, Miss Clewell said.

Registration went off somewhat smoother than in the past, Miss Clewell stated.

The new night and Saturday courses offered will be mostly for teachers and businessmen.

non-teaching staff members and seven new dormitory supervisors.

Dr. Lyuart E. Holcomb, dean of engineering, returns to Tech as the first graduate to occupy the post of dean. He has been employed as a project technologist for the Sinclair Refining company, Harvey, Ill.

N. C. Fine, new assistant dean of agriculture, has completed work except for a thesis toward a doctor's degree at the University of Minnesota. Mrs. Margaret Twyman, new dean of women, joins the Tech administration from the position of assistant dean of women at Ohio university.

New department heads are Dr. Ramon W. Kirellis, physical education; Dr. P. Merville Larson, speech department, formerly a teacher at the University of Denver; Clifford B. Shipley, business and secretarial administration, from Bowling Green (Ohio) State university; Dr. John Carroll, education, former county superintendent of schools, San Diego, Calif.; and J. Russell Heitman, journalism, former secretary-treasurer of the Alabama Press association and director of the University of Alabama News Bureau.

The list of new faculty and staff members as announced by Ed Smith, assistant to the president, is as follows:

Welcome To Tech

To all new students, and especially the new freshmen, the staff of The Toreador bids a hearty welcome, but with it we offer some advice (all upperclassmen can dish out advice that they may never have practiced).

To all of you, we say that you will find things different at Tech from where you have been. To the freshmen the difference will be the greatest. Transfers from junior colleges or other universities may find just as noticeable changes in their new college environment.

You will find Texas Tech strictly West Texan. While any Texan is proud of his state as a whole, we must realize in a domain so large there are differences between the various regions. This fact will be particularly noted next February, March and April as the Tech farms west of the campus begin their move toward College avenue.

We believe you will find the students, as well as faculty members quite friendly.

Mama will not be around to high pressure you into making good grades, but remember they never hurt anyone. However, as a college student you should realize that the grade you make from the course is not half so important as what you actually learn while studying a subject. You can make a "C" under some instructors that will be worth more than an "A" under others.

There is nothing like a good start in college, and we could add that there is absolutely nothing like a poor start.

Toreador Aims to Serve

The Toreador today starts its twenty-fifth year of publication. In line with the expansion program mentioned in President Wiggins' message on the front page, The Toreador is hoping to be hit with a serve attack of growing pains so that it can afford more complete and prompter coverage of campus events.

Wednesday's edition will be prepared by a full staff of writers who will aim for a clean, correct and informative Silver Anniversary Toreador. These papers, it is hoped, will reach every student as quickly as possible through a new system of distribution which will place The Toreador in dormitories as well as in main campus buildings.

A policy leaning toward conservativeness will be assumed concerning campus issues until investigation has shown the advisability of pro or con campaigns concerning such issues. The Toreador will endeavor to print both sides of major questions fairly and accurately. This is not to say that we intend to avoid controversial subjects.

Letters To The Editor

We hasten to explain that letters from readers, not letters from the editor, will be published in this space. This issue of The Toreador is a premature one. Since it was not scheduled until Wednesday, reporters were not available to help round up news. By next week we hope to have a fully-manned staff. As you can tell, the business manager was the busiest staff member this week.

Comment from readers is a democratic privilege which we hope will be utilized by any student or administrative officer who feels the need for expression.

We ask that letters be signed by the writer. All mail should be addressed to The Editor, Toreador office, Campus. If you should care to come over personally with your comment, The Toreador has its headquarters in J105.

"Do you believe in the precept - 'Love Thy Neighbor'?" the judge asked the defendant charged with alienating the affections of his friend's wife. "I certainly do," he replied. "But it sure got me into a lot of trouble."

Until the time comes when a man can get alimony by crossing his legs and showing his garters to the jury, equal rights are only a snare and a delusion.

Some Monday mornings we feel like a million dollars—with the federal, state, county, city, and hidden taxes already deducted.

Library Changes Revealed In Book

Several major changes in the library have been announced with the publication of "Tech"niques, library guide book.

Changes were made while the library was closed between semesters. The changes are shown in the publication which will be issued Monday. The booklet also contains helps for freshmen's use of the library.

The most important of the changes is the moving of the reserve and reference reading rooms. The reserve collection has been moved from second floor to the first floor. The reference reading room will be located on second floor.

In making the move R. C. Janeway, librarian, said that the reserve collection should be placed nearest the main traffic of the library since it is the most used part of the library.

The new location will place the reserve books in the most accessible room in the library.

Transfer of the reference books to the second floor location seemed necessary, for reference books should be as near the card catalogue files as possible, Janeway explained.

Periodicals will be placed in the space formerly occupied by the reference books on first floor.

With the changes Janeway announced the opening of an entirely new function of the library, a browsing room to be placed in the room at the north of first floor, formerly occupied by the Southwest collection.

In the browsing room will be the recreational books, the Lucile Gill Memorial collection and the current popular magazines.

The Southwest collection will now be available through the circulation desk.

Non-students may purchase season tickets to the Rec hall programs or buy individual tickets for each function at the door.

Seven New Supervisors Manage Tech Dormitories

Seven new dormitory supervisors and senior counselors, all holders of master's degrees, have been brought to Tech this fall, as announced from the Office of the President. Bill Yardley, senior supervisor and Sneed hall supervisor is the only returning counselor.

Doak hall supervisor is Henry C. Wechsler from Ohio, who received his degree from Ohio State. LaVerne W. Nelson is the new West hall supervisor, coming from Minnesota. He received his degree from the University of Colorado. Men's dormitory 3 is supervised by Guy James Sheahan, jr., who comes here from Louisiana. He also received his degree from Ohio State. Robert Charles Ashby, supervisor of Men's dormitory 4, is from Illinois and holds a degree from Southern Illinois university. Women's dormitory counselors include Miss Mary T. O'Connor in Drane hall. Miss O'Connor is from Connecticut and holds her degree from Indiana university. New counselor in Women's dormitory 3 is Miss Mary Lou Cox who received her degree from Duquesne university at Pittsburgh. She is from Ohio. Miss Patricia Martin from Oklahoma is counselor in Women's dormitory 4. She was graduated from the University of Oklahoma.

Tech Staff Members Called to Active Military Service

Two Tech staff members have been called into active military service, announces the Office of the President.

Haskell Taylor, professor of accounting and finance, and a first lieutenant in the organized Army reserve, received orders to report to Fort Meade, Md., Sept. 11. Taylor has been in command of the headquarters of the 317th Military Intelligence platoon.

Miss Marie Davis, registered nurse who has been employed in the Tech infirmary, was called into active service in the Navy Nurses' corps. Miss Davis will report to San Diego. She has been at Tech two years.

Council To Make Election Plans At Monday Meeting

Texas Tech Student council will hold its first regular meeting at 7:15 p.m., Monday in Room 208, Administration building.

The council is to make plans at Monday's meeting for a special election at which a student body secretary and head girl cheer leader will be named.

Management Group To Hold Initial Fall Meet Monday

Tech Management association will meet at 7:30 p.m., Monday, in Room 220, Administration building. Le Roi Ogden, president announces.

Management House Girls Need Infant

The Home Management house is in need of an infant to be kept by the girls living there, Miss Lola Marie Drew, associate professor of home management, has announced.

The girls need to keep a child to round out their program of home management, Miss Drew said. The child, either a boy or a girl, will be well kept with all expenses paid by the house, including medical care under Dr. M. C. Overton.

"We would like a child of under two months if possible. It would be a good opportunity for any student who is going to school on limited funds," stated Miss Drew.

Miss Drew prefers the child of a Tech student, either where one or both parents are in school. She encourages constant contact between the parent and child.

The parents would take the child from Saturday noon until Monday morning and on all legal school holidays, and be asked to visit the child daily.

Anyone wishing to place a child in the house should contact Miss Drew as soon as possible at 8341 or 28194.

Four members of the original home economics faculty are members of the present staff.

First Fall Twilight Hour Features Methodist Choir

Twilight Music hour programs for the fall series will start at 4 p.m., Sunday, when the choir of the First Methodist church of Lubbock presents an oratorio, "Mary Magdalen," in the museum auditorium. Announcement was made by the Museum association, sponsor of the program.

Solo selections of the oratorio will be rendered by Mrs. Grace Godwin, soprano; Mrs. Jack Boren, mezzo-soprano; Ira Schantz, tenor; and Rex Webster, bass. The group will be under the direction of Mrs. R. O. Short. Organist will be James F. Nettis and pianist will be Mrs. Carl H. Casey.

Red Raider Lineup Unsettled; Cavazos, Pirtle Look Certain For Defense Spots

Conditions around Jones stadium are unsettled as yet and head football coach Dell Morgan is unable to make a statement as to what players will be seen in the Red Raider starting lineup this year. Only two positions seem secure. Dick Cavazos and Dick Pirtle have about nailed down the two defensive end positions. Both players saw extensive action last year and are expected to repeat their performances this season. Fifty-three men are at present listed on the roster which will be trimmed to 48 as the season gets under way. The two platoon system will be used again this year and two teams each for offensive and defensive work will be maintained. A few players will undoubtedly be used on both offense and defense. Tackle Jerrell Price may see action in both phases of the game unless sophomore Hollice Davis makes the grade offensively. Quarterback Junior Arterburn may also be used as safety man, a position which he has played regularly in practices. A majority of the team will consist of sophomores, about 29 of the players being second year men. Only 10 seniors and 16 juniors will be on hand. However, hustle has been a feature of most practices, and it is hoped that the youngsters can make up in hard work what they lack in game experience. More passing will be evident this year than last. Quarterbacks Arterburn, Don Seale, Pete Edwards and John Moughan have shown ability with aerials and have been hitting targets with regularity in practice sessions. Of the receivers, Dick Jackson and Elbert Johnson have shown to advantage. The backfield is a more secure part of the team. Here Tim Hatch and Ike Stuver return at right and left halfbacks respectively while fullback duties will be in the hands of Earl Jackson and J. W. Thompson. Each of these men will play his last season of football for Tech this year. In the line tackles Jerrell Price of Brownfield and Bobby Broyles of San Angelo have been steady defensive performers. A four way fight is in progress for the center position as Jimmie Williams of Phillips, Aubrey Phillips of Fort Worth, Bobby Hix of Sherman and Sam Jones of Temple struggle for control of the pivot position. Bobby Garner of Denison and Vernon Barron of Temple appear to have an edge over competition for two of the guard positions although 200-plus-pound Bill Gildewell has been making his presence felt on defense. Before the season begins, Jimmie Williams has been selected by experts as Tech's outstanding sophomore player, but Alton Linne of Monahane, an end, and Hollice Davis may push him for the title. Players on the Tech roster include: Ends — James Clarke, Elbert Johnson, Dick Jackson, Gerald Thompson, Dick Pirtle, Lewis Croseley, Bill Sharpley, Alton Linne and Dick Cavazos.

Need Five Bucks? Try Alschuler's New Loan Board

Alschuler's Campus toggery will continue a loan policy formulated last year, whereby students can borrow money easily.

Under the plan students may borrow money at any time by taking a $5 bill from a display board in the store and signing his name and address. He is expected to return the money within a week. No interest is charged and no questions are asked.

"There is no way to force a student to return the money," said Al Alschuler. The plan helps the students financially and also develops their senses of responsibility, he added.

Last year 429 $5 bills were taken out, or $2,145. Only $35 was lost in the plan.

The display board will be increased from 15 bill to 24 bill capacity this year.

Holleman Hollers . . .

Coach cussing season is with us again. Each September as students trudge back to classrooms and football teams go about happily gathering bruises, a certain other segment of the population prepares itself for the cooler months ahead.

Never a season passes and hardly a week goes by when these creatures are not to be seen snapping at the heels and hamstringings of some hapless gridiron pedagogue. Let the victim be caught unawares with a team of crass sophomores and untalented upper classmen and there is no hope for him. The football sun will set on a scene of his yellowing bones aging in the winter air.

This season for the Red Raiders might be one to cause some sleepless nights to the Tech coaching staff and furnish much howling material for those wolves. Not so much because of the inability of the players as of the brutality of the schedule. Hell-roaring heavyweights of Texas university will oppose the Raiders in the only home game the Techs play against Southwest conference competition. A.M. Rice, Baylor and T.C.U. all welcome Tech to their home fields in early season games.

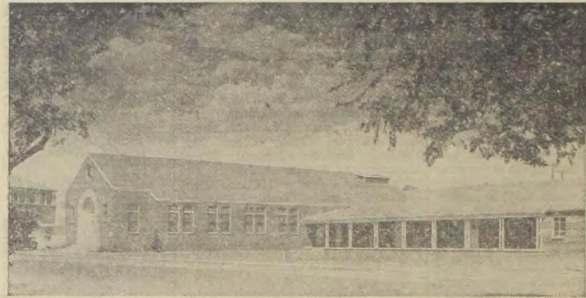

And to and behold our own Border conference has turned against us. Drum beaters at Abilene have been singing loud praises of their Hardin-Simmons team all summer and West Texas State has reportedly come up loaded for bear, Cowboys and Raiders this year.

So greatly has competition improved that Tech has been picked by the athletic brains of the country to finish as low as fifth in the conference. It is difficult for a crass student to dispute the word of the integrity laden gentlemen who are our national football experts. But, after much soul searching and examination of the facts we are inclined to invite them to go soak their heads anyway.

Tech won't finish fifth in this or any other year. According to Coach Dell Morgan the over-all strength of the team is no worse than it was last year when the Raiders won their third straight conference championship. Observation of the youngsters shows that while many of them lack experience, they go about their work with relish and a majority are willing to work to improve. In short the team attitude is in good shape.

Big Names, Local Entertainers Are Featured In Year's Activities

By MARY HALL
Toreador Feature Editor

Dances, movies, big name entertainments are only part of the musesments offered Tech students this year.

The Artists course, annual series of professional entertainers, offers an outstanding group during 1950 and 1951.

Rise Stevens, mezzo-soprano with the Metropolitan Opera company in New York, opens the season with a concert October 16.

Renowned violinist Yehudi Menuhin is to give a program November 30. January 11 will mark the concert of John Sebastian, of New York. Sebastian plays the harmonica.

The Robert Shaw chorale, with 40 voices, will give a program February 9. Philharmonic piano quartet, which appears regularly on NBC, will present a concert February 20.

February 28 will mark the appearance of the San Antonio symphony. To complete the season Louis Roney, tenor, and Carolyn Long, soprano, will present the final program on April 11.

Recreation hall programs, directed by James G. Allen, dean of student life, open tonight with a dance from 8:30-11:30. Ted Crager's orchestra will play.

Square dances are given each week with Jimmie Baker's orchestra playing. Burl Hubbard's and Ten Grager's orchestras are to alternate during the year in playing for the dances. This is the first year two orchestras have been featured.

Dr. Polgar, lecturer and mental wizard is to be the honored guest November 7. Louis Untermeyer, literature critic, will lecture November 17.

December 12 will offer the ballad singer Nemone Balfour. Charles Laughton, movie actor and lecturer will present a program on December 13.

Movies are offered the students as a special feature of the program. These will be held in the Aggie auditorium.

Departmental clubs, Lubbock churches and dormitories hold functions each semester open to the student body.

All school dances, programs, and special features add to the list of entertainment available to all students. Rodeo week, Engineers show, Home Economics open house, Senior carnival and Freshman day add to the schedule of special features.

Welcome Students!

The BOOKSTORE has out the welcome mat for all returning students and for the many new students who are entering Texas Tech for the first time.

In the BOOKSTORE you will be greeted by a friendly, courteous and efficient sales force, made up largely of students and student wives. They are especially trained to serve you, and will be glad to assist you in selecting your books and supplies. In addition to offering and selling articles of merchandise the BOOKSTORE renders various services to the student body—such as—

CHECK CASHING

Personal checks will be cashed in reasonable amounts. Proper identification such as Auditor's receipt must be presented and all checks will be accepted at the Office during regular business hours.

WRAPPING FOR MAILING

The Bookstore realizes that many students have no method of wrapping and mailing packages and we will furnish paper, cartons, twine, labels, etc., absolutely free.

GIFT WRAPPING

Merchandise purchased from us will be gift wrapped at no charge and this service maintained the year round.

REPAIR SERVICE

If you have an old leaky pen, defective part to a set of instruments or a slide rule, we can return to the factory for replacement or repair. The only charge is that made by the manufacturer.

SPECIAL ORDER SERVICE

We maintain a special catalog service for any kind of a book and various articles of merchandise not ordinarily stocked and can order such items as desired.

WHERE THE PROFITS GO

In the past year the Board of Directors of Texas Technological College took the sum of $150,000.00 from the Reserve funds of the Bookstore to start the Student Union Building. Since that time the College has sold bonds to finance the erection of the Student Union and pledged Bookstore profits for the next ten years to pay off the Bonds. So remember, when you buy your books and supplies from the Bookstore, you are providing recreation for yourself and 6500 other Techsans.

Makes no difference whether or not you have in mind making a purchase.
To those of you who had already gone home before our Grand Opening early this summer, and especially to the new Freshmen about the campus, we invite you to a special tour of "inspection" . . .
we only hope you will be proud of your new Campus departments which you will not are much . . .
more complete than ever before.
We call your attention to our Tea Room and Fountain on the mezzanine which we think you'll enjoy and which could very well be that
