Senators call for end to racial discrimination

BY CINDE McCARTY
Copy Editor

In their final meeting of the semester last night, Tech senators called for an end to campus discrimination, established a committee to bolster the Free Speech Area and approved the appointment of graduate senator Gary Kelley.

By passing the discrimination bill the senate asks for a passage to be added to the Code of Student Affairs stating that no student organization shall discriminate because of race, creed, or nationality. The senate's recommendations in the bill will be voted upon by students in the spring elections.

The Free Speech Committee Act approved a committee to arrange for discussions of topics of student interest to take place regularly in the Free Speech area of the Union grounds. The bill also called for a Free Speech Director to be appointed along with committee members by student association president with the advice and consent of the senate.

DUE TO a vacancy in the senate representation of the grad school, the judiciary committee conducted interviews and selected Gary Kelley as the replacement. He was approved by the Senate and was administered the oath of office by Senate president Byron Snyder.

The senate also passed legislation concerning the production of a brochure explaining senate activities and the appointment of a committee to deliver programs to groups interested in the senate.

Other action taken concerned the size of soft drinks on the central campus, flood control, the right to participate in Lubbock Vietnam Memorials, senate committee absences and congratulation to the BA Graduate Society.

CARRYING unanimously was the bill calling for king size soft drinks to be requested in academic buildings.

It was decided that the senate should produce a brochure describing the power, purpose, rules and operations of the senate. It was also decided to have available senators able to address groups discussing the senate.

Ending the debate of previous meetings concerning participation of Tech students in Vietnam Memorials, the Senate passed an act recognizing the right of Tech students to participate in any Lubbock Vietnam Memorials which are not affiliated with a national Memorials committee.

A bill was passed concerning flood control on campus, requesting Miss Gerry Kirkwood of the Campus Planning Committee to investigate the problem.

SENATORS passed a bill stating that two committee meeting absences constitute one senate meeting absence, and that the report of absences will be left to the committee chairmen.

Frank Church, Traffic and Parking Counselor, who was expected to comment upon the traffic and parking situation was unable to attend the meeting.

Lynn Hamilton, chairman of Government and Public Relations committee discussed a bill concerning the screening of cheerleader candidates. The proposed bill stated that any candidate going through the screening board need not do so again. After discussion the bill was sent back to committee.

AS THE LAST meeting of the semester it was the last meeting for some senators. Robert Junell, College of Education; Buford Terrell, Law School, and Margaret Wolfe, College of Home Economics, will graduate at semester.

The Senate also spent about 15 minutes deciding to send to committee a bill designating Nov. 24-Dec. 1 as Conservative Week in honor of Senator Jim Gilbreath.

Students rights protected

HOUSTON—A 34-page decision by Federal Judge Woodrow Seals said Houston high school principals may not make and enforce rules of student conduct that violate the rights of the students as citizens.

Seals' ruling, which was made public Monday, said rules must preserve the constitutional rights of the students and those who are accused of breaking the rules must have formal hearings before severe punishment can be imposed.

The federal judge said school officials should not impose severely disciplinary action for violations of nonexistent regulations.

"Basic notice of justice and fair play require that no person shall be made to suffer a breach, unless standards of behavior have first been set, for who is to decide what has been breached?" Seal wrote.

The federal judge made his ruling after hearing the case of two high school students who were expelled for publishing an underground newspaper when no specific rule against such conduct existed.

National Seashore financed

WASHINGTON—President Nixon agreed yesterday to seek full financing—$57.5 million—for acquisition of an authorized Point Reyes National Seashore north of San Francisco.

The announcement was made at the White House by Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., Rep. Don Claissen, R-Calif., whose district included the 53,000-acre site, and Chairman Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., of the House Interior Committee.

"This is a most important announcement for the state of California," said Murphy who said he had received petitions with nearly half a million signatures urging establishment of the park.

Joseph Kennedy dies

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy, who amassed one of America's biggest fortunes, served as ambassador to Britain and then stepped aside to let his sons take the limelight, died yesterday at 81.

Unlike four of his nine children, the elder Kennedy died quietly. He had been partly paralyzed since suffering a stroke in 1961. He had a mild heart attack on Saturday and had been reported growing progressively weaker. He had slipped into a coma.

He had been unable to eat for several days, and his long-time friend and confidant, Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, announced Sunday that the end appeared imminent.

Kennedy was pronounced dead by his personal physician, Dr. Robert D. Watt, at 11:05 a.m. EST yesterday.

Nuclear weapons opposed

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Led by Canada, the nonnuclear countries voiced opposition yesterday to U.S. - Soviet efforts to win speedy U.N. approval of a treaty aimed at keeping the seabed free of nuclear weapons.

These same nations also objected to drafts of agreements for preventing biochemical warfare.

Canadian Delegate George Ignatieff led the attack in the General Assembly's main political committee with a demand for further modification of the U.S. - Soviet draft treaty on a nuclear-free seabed.

Soldiers accused of slayings

SON MY, Vietnam — The American soldiers gave candy to the Vietnamese peasant children the first two times they passed through Do Chuc's hamlet. On the third time, he told newsmen yesterday, they rounded up the inhabitants and mowed them down with rifle and machine-gun fire.

"My family was eating breakfast when the Americans came," Chuc, a 48-year-old peasant, said through an interpreter. "They ordered us out and gathered us together in three big groups. Then they shot us."

The U.S. Army has launched an investigation into the case, 21 months after the event. It has filed charges against two soldiers. Lt. William L. Calley Jr., 26, Waynesville, N.C., faces possible court-martial on murder charges. Staff Sgt. David Mitchell, 29, St. Francisville, La., is accused of assault with intent to kill.

Col. Ton That Khien, provincial chief of Quang Ngai Province, said again Tuesday that he doubts the villagers are telling the full truth. He said perhaps 100 persons were killed by allied bombs and artillery during a running battle with the Viet Cong and that the civilian deaths were accidental.

Aggies honor leaders at annual pig roast

L. D. Anderson, C. G. Scruggs and John C. White were honored as "Outstanding Leaders in Texas Agriculture."

Awards were presented for the first time at the annual Texas Tech Aggie Pig Roast by the Student Agricultural Council and the faculty of the College of Agricultural Sciences.

Presentations were made by Dean Gerald W. Thomas of the College of Agricultural Sciences following traditional ceremonies recognizing outstanding students in the college, departmental team members and 45 scholarship winners whose awards ranged from two $75 winners to four who received four-year $700 awards.

President Michael Moeck of the Student Agricultural Council presided. Also on the program were Tech Executive Vice President Glenn Barnett who gave the welcome and Associate Dean J. Wayland Bennett of the College who presented the scholarship winners.

ANDERSON, A 1948 business administration graduate of Tech, farms approximately 1,200 irrigated acres near Crosbyton. He is immediate past president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and currently is serving as chairman of the board of that organization.

On the national level, he is chairman of the Beltwide Cotton Producers Committee, on the board of the National Cotton Council and a trustee of the Cotton Producers Institute.

SCRUGGS, VICE PRESIDENT and editor of "Progressive Farmer," holds a degree in agricultural economics from Texas A&M University. He was the first Texan to hold the office of president of the American Agricultural Editors' Association and was the founder and first president of the successful Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program.

In 1967, Scruggs was named chairman of the Joint Committee on Natural Fibers and Textile Development, appointed by the Texas Legislature.

White, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, holds a degree in animal husbandry from Tech. He was head of the School of Agriculture at Midwestern University prior to his election to state office.

Nixon's Vietnam policy supported by 'Majority'

The Silent Majority mailed a petition to President Nixon yesterday in support of Nixon's Vietnam war policy.

The Silent Majority is a group of students who support Nixon's policies and the war in Vietnam. They are not anti-Memorials or "anti" anything, according to Jim Hall, secretary and spokesman for the group.

THE MAJORITY obtained over 3300 signatures for the petition. These signatures included Lubbock's Mayor W. D. "Dub" Rogers, Wayne Finnell's, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and John A. Logan's, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The 3300 signatures also included Tech students, professors, teachers, Lubbock businessmen and other persons who were interested in the petition.

The petition says: "The Silent Majority of Texas Tech wish to be heard and hereby support your war policy. We wish to form a united movement to end the war through your policy. The undersigned sincerely support your plan. Respectfully, Jim Hall, secretary."

UD will offer skiing section

Skiing in New Mexico, Colorado and Utah will be covered tomorrow in a special section of The University Daily entitled Skiing '70's.

The section will include accommodations, travel conditions and equipment rental in the ski areas as well as ski fashions.

Much of the information is being supplied by the resorts in the three states and by local retailers.

Advertising in the section will be related to skiing. Steve Hames, director of advertising for The University Daily, said.

MEMBERS OF THE MAJORITY felt that Nixon would give them a response to their petition, according to Gary Wendt, a member of the Majority. According to Wendt, other such petitions to Nixon have received a response.

Officers of the Majority are Tim Allen, president, Richard Moore, vice-president, Jim Hall, secretary and spokesman and Tony Hubby, treasurer.

Further plans for the Majority have not been released at this time.

The citation also noted White's role in international agriculture. He has represented the U.S. government in several foreign assignments.

Dorm council seeks survey of regulations

The Men's Residence Council will seek final approval tonight for a survey to be conducted concerning dormitory regulations in a meeting with residence hall council presidents.

Doug Williams, MRC president said yesterday tentative approval for the survey had been received in the form of written permission from the men's residence halls.

George Rhoads, coordinator for men's residence halls said as far as men's dormitories were concerned, approval for a survey to be taken, had to be given by the hall councils.

"NOW THAT WE have received tentative approval we are taking a letter and a copy of the survey to the council presidents for final approval," Williams said. "We want to let them see what they are approving before the halls give us final approval to go ahead."

Williams said that when approval was final, MRC would have IBM make cards for the survey.

"There will be questions on Sunday dress rules, women visitation in men's dorms and the type of vending machines in the dorms. For example whether the residents want to have bottle, can or cup drinks," Williams said.

The survey will also include five questions on Union expansion. Results from this section will be turned over to the committee on Union Expansion for consideration.

RESULTS OF the survey concerning dorm policies will be studied by committees set up by MRC.

Changes in dress regulations may be handled by MRC without approval from administration, according to Williams.

Tech beauty entries due

Entries for Miss Mademoiselle are due today by 4:30 p.m. in room 103 of the Journalism Building.

Preliminary judging for the Miss Mademoiselle contest begins at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Ag-Engineering Auditorium.

The deadline for entering the Miss Playmate contest is 4:30 p.m. Nov. 25.

Miss Mademoiselle and Miss Playmate will be named in a pageant in the Municipal Auditorium on Dec. 5. The winners of the contests will be featured in La Ventana, Tech's yearbook.

Voter registration plan begins first phase today at Tech

By CINDY MEADOWS
Staff Writer

Activities begin today in a two-pronged plan to register Lubbock voters.

The first phase includes the voter registration booth located in the Union which will be staffed from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today by The University Ad Hoc Committee for Campus Voter Registration.

DAVID THOMAS, co-chairman of the committee, said, "Essentially what we are is a public service. We're making it easier for people to register."

The procedure includes completing an application to obtain the voter registration receipt, which is required for 1970 voting procedures.

Registrar of Voting, Russell Hardin, has deputized 10 committee members to register voters. Any qualified voter who is a Lubbock resident may register there.

APPLICATIONS AND information also will be available to explain registration for persons whose permanent residence is listed in another city.

To register in Lubbock, persons must be 21, have lived in Texas for one year and Lubbock County for six months.

Other voters must register by mailing applications to their home county Tax Assessor Collector. Parents are allowed to register out-of-town children.

Thomas said the committee has a long range goal, "Students have been almost a neglected minority. If they wish to do something about this country, they should register and vote."

HE SAID THERE are 10,974 students on campus that are over 21, and that approximately 3,000 are Lubbock residents. "There are probably enough students in the three or four precincts around Tech to have definite influence in city politics."

"Precincts are run by majority rule. We'd like to interest students in representing precincts at county and state conventions."

Thomas gave an example of what he felt students could do if they voted in block. "It might be possible to create a wet district in Lubbock. If the qualified student voters in a precinct signed a petition for a referendum and constituted a majority, Lubbock would have a wet precinct.

"WE ARE WORKING for direct student participation in city, county, and state politics. We are favoring students power."

Ronnie Clark, Lubbock senior, will be running for the city council in April, according to Thomas.

Registration of Mexican-Americans and Negroes constitute the second phase in Lubbock voter registration.

PAULINA JOCOCO, state president of Citizens for Social Justice, will organize the groups aiding Mexican-American voter registration.

Registration of Negro voters will be under the direction of Pat Howard, of Neighborhood House, a community center sponsored by the Lutheran Council for Community Action.

A meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Mae Simmons Community Center to discuss plans.

Editorial

Tech excels in sheep production

Tech students are truly a rare breed. Their biggest problem is putting too much faith in the idea of a "silent majority" (not used in reference to the pro-Nixon movement which was active last week.) Yes, there definitely is a strong silent majority, but there is nothing good about it.

It is inconceivable that anyone who really cared about issues such as Vietnam would be able to keep silent at a time when their ideas are so badly needed. The so-called silent majority is really a herd of sheep which has gotten this country into trouble time and time again by not airing its opinion until earth-shaking crises threaten to destroy the nation, or the world.

This is the real silent majority, and Tech has more than its share.

For example, not a single response was submitted in answer to the Sounding Board. The University Daily asked to be of service to students in coordinating special programs for the benefit of students.

For at least a week, we waited patiently, feeling confident that there was at least one problem on campus. However, no one even called to say they thought Sounding Board was a bad idea.

It is amazing that students could be so apathetic that they would not see the opportunity to accept a free offer from a staff which was willing to devote time to be purely of service to students. No wonder the Student Senate is so ineffective; Tech students are too lazy to offer a single word of support or disagreement about Senate activity.

We're tired of students griping to each other, then quickly forgetting a problem. But what's to be expected of a silent majority?

However, they're not really all that silent. If you listen closely, you can hear their healthy murmurs, "Baa-a-a, baa-a-a."

Ford Foundation gives university grant to study planning, budgeting

WASHINGTON, D.C. (IP) — George Washington University has received a grant from the Ford Foundation for the development and application of new techniques for planning, programming and budgeting throughout the university.

GW Budget Director William D. Johnson said the $163,000 grant will make possible programming and budgeting procedures which "should result in more effective and more efficient utilization of the University's resources."

The first step, he said, will be an in-depth analysis of the current allocation of financial resources to educational and other programs, and of the relevance of these programs to the objectives of the University.

Under the new system, department chairmen, deans, and other administrative officers will, in determining their priorities and emphases, focus attention on the relationship of their programs and objectives to those of the total university.

Techniques of "program budgeting" were originally and successfully developed and applied in the Department of Defense. The new program at George Washington will draw upon these techniques.

The University began the conversion of its present budget system to "program budgeting" two years ago with the development of a four-year budget cycle. With the Ford grant, the additional research and ground work for the new system should be completed within two years instead of four, as originally projected.

Letters To The Editor

Want schools to feed more needy children

Since our presentation of the nutritional needs of the less fortunate students attending our Lubbock elementary and secondary schools to the Board Members of the Lubbock Independent School District (L.I.S.D.) and having received excellent coverage in the Avalanche-Journal and on the news media this past week the following statements may help to clarify several matters relating to this program.

Since the L.I.S.D. takes part in the National School Lunch Program it received $364,407 in U.S.D.A. Food Commodities and Cash Reimbursements to help support the School Lunch Program.

The first requirement for participation in the National School Lunch Program to receive these federal contributions is that free or below cost meals be furnished all needy children (Federal Register, Vol. 33, No. 207 — Wednesday, October 23, 1968).

Presently the L.I.S.D. is spending $70,080 of this federal contribution to feed 1,000 of the 3,078 children whom they have found to meet the criteria for free or below cost meals; the other 2,078 children must go hungry (L.I.S.D. Memo to Principals from Linus Wright, October 1, 1969).

The remaining federal contribution $294,327 supplements $1,205,705 received in lunch payments from students in order to keep the lunch program on a self-sustaining basis. Not one cent of tax money accrues to it (L.I.S.D. — Lunchroom Operation Report, June 12, 1969).

According to the L.I.S.D.'s policy a child is eligible for free lunches if the total family income after subtracting the monthly rent or house payment is less than $20 per month per family member; is eligible for reduced price lunches if income is between $21 and $34 per month per family member.

We ask your readers to contact Members of the School Board and attend the next School Board Meeting so that all children enrolled in our schools will be properly nourished in order to attain their potential.

'Mister Roberts'

Gal, 24 guys = play

Take 24 guys, one live goat and just one pretty girl, and put them all together on a cargo ship in the South Pacific. Add a little imagination and you've got the makings for the University Theater's production of "Mister Roberts."

That "one pretty girl" is Betsey Bickley, a Pecos junior who says that she's thrilled at being the only woman in the cast. She's especially happy because at Tech, Miss Bickley has played only old women in play productions, and this role is her first glamour-girl role here.

strategically located birthmark. Miss Bickley also said she enjoyed working under Dr. Clifford Ashby, who is the director of this World War II comedy, opening Friday in the Theater for a five-performance run.

Also serving as Costume Assistant, she has been seen in many University Theater shows, most recently in last spring's "Dark of the Moon" as the Conjure Woman.

Previous appearances include the role of the widow in "Taming of the Shrew;" "Pigeons," in which she played a senile old lady; a high-strung middle-aged woman in "The Trial of Sir Thomas More;" a busy-body old maid in "Bedtime Story;" and she's currently rehearsing the part of a domineering mother in "Suddenly Last Summer."

MISS BICKLEY hopes to teach drama and English in high school after receiving her degree in Theater Arts at Tech.

Tickets for "Mister Roberts" are now on sale in the University Theater box office, which is open 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. daily. Performances are scheduled nightly at 8:15 p.m. through Monday, with a 3 p.m. matinee Sunday.

Reservations may be made by calling 742-2153, or in person at the box office, or by mail to the Theater.

Artists Course presents concert

Tech's Artists Course announces an addition to the season's list of major events - a concert by Polish pianist Witold Maluczynski (pronounced "vee-toold mal-cuh-zinsky") at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow in Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Tickets, available in the Union, will be $2.50 for the general public, $1.50 for non-Tech students and Tech-related personnel. Tickets also may be purchased at the door on performance night. Admission for Tech students is free.

Maluczynski, whose forte is Chopin, has won international acclaim for his subtle interpretation and musicianship.

The Lubbock program, devoted exclusively to the music of Chopin and Liszt, will include Chopin's "B Minor Sonata," and "E flat Polonaise" and familiar mazurkas and waltzes.

The Liszt selections will consist of four seldom heard works: variations on the theme of J.S. Bach's cantata, "Weinen, Klagen;" two Petrarch sonnets, No. 123 and No. 104; and the rarely heard "Spanish Rhapsody."

The "Rhapsody" presents such technical and interpretive difficulties that few pianists are willing to undertake its performance in public.

Sports Talk
by Steve Eames

Occasionally a sports writer can find no major local sports stories about which to write. At such times, he takes all tidbits of information he can find and squeezes them into that life saver called a column. So...

Phil Tucker, all-American gridder from Tech, said yesterday he was recruited in 1964 with a recruiting promise Tech would move into their new athletic dining hall facilities in Sept. of that year.

He added such promises can ruin the relationship between the player and the coach when they are not kept.

In 1970 prospects will be recruited for Tech with the promise Tech athletes will have their own dining facilities in Sept. 1970.

Bob Bass, new head basketball coach at Tech, apparently does not believe in starting at the bottom and working up. The Raider courtmen will scrimmage the University of New Mexico (UNM) tomorrow for their first off campus showing. UNM was picked sixth in the nation in a preseason poll of basketball squads.

The crowd at the Tech-Baylor game Saturday was the smallest, 32,000, since the Raiders played Baylor Nov. 12, 1966 and were beaten, 29-14. The Raiders had a 4-6 record that year, but bounced back the following weekend to defeat Arkansas. Tech's next game will be against Arkansas Nov. 27.

Baylor killed Tech hopes for a Cotton Bowl bid last year by defeating the Raiders and, prior to the Tech-Baylor game this year, Raider gridgers, especially the upperclassmen, were calling for revenge. They got it.

Association gives unity

Tech's Intramural program, rated as one of the nation's most active programs by IM directors, has a strong tie to national developments and progress in intramurals through membership in the National IM Association.

Edsel Buchanan, Associate Professor and Director of Intramurals, served as president of the national organization in 1960 and continues to serve actively in the organization.

The National IM Association was founded in 1950 by Dr. William Wasson, Associate Professor at Wayne State University, who holds two degrees in biology and two advanced degrees in physical education.

Wasson formulated the theory of a national IM program while studying "Intramural Programs in Negro Colleges" with the aid of a Carnegie grant. Programs from 25 colleges were studied and Wasson consulted with directors of each program discussing the possibilities of an annual meeting of directors to provide a medium for the exchange of information and ideas.

On Feb. 22-23, 1950, directors from twelve colleges met at Dillard University to organize the National Intramural Association. One of the main objectives of the founders was to make the organization interracial. Yet the realization of this dream was not made possible until the third meeting of the Association in April 4-5, 1952.

Wasson held his position as president of the association for five years, succeeded in 1955 by Dr. Ross E. Townes.

During these first six years the association was mainly composed of colleges from the Southeastern US, but the seventh year, marked the recognition of the program by colleges of the northeastern U.S. In 1958-60 the program began to receive nationwide acceptance and colleges throughout the nation began application for membership, leading to what is termed as the "golden years" of the IM program in the years 1962-69.

During these years membership more than doubled and in 1963 the Association established a research committee for the promotion of research which might prove beneficial to the program.

Objectives of the IM Association include the promotion of the growth and development of intramural-recreational programs on all educational levels, scheduling annual meetings to conduct business, exchange information and ideas, and plan ways and means of furthering its objectives and to work in close harmony with any organization that is concerned with intramurals, physical education, health, recreation and athletics.

Buchanan said the future of intramurals may include the promotion of co-ed activities, sponsorship of sports clubs, and general expansion of facilities for the students' use and betterment in the area of physical development.

Ohio State still leads poll; Texas, Arkansas challengers

(AP)—Arkansas moved up one rung to third place in the AP National College Football poll this week creating a situation that could lead to a championship game when the Razorbacks meet Texas Dec. 6.

No. 1 Ohio State goes against Michigan at Ann Arbor Saturday with a chance of becoming the sixth team in modern history to win successive national college football championships.

No team ever has won the title three times in a row but the Buckeyes, with a great junior squad headed by quarterback Red Kern, aim at continuing their dynasty at least through 1970.

An impressive triumph over Michigan would make the Buckeyes a heavy favorite in the decisive year-end poll of The Associated Press. A loss probably would knock them out of the picture and elevate either Texas or Arkansas to the No. 1 spot.

This would probably turn the Texas-Arkansas game at Fayetteville, Ark., Dec. 6 into the national championship game.

The Buckeyes continued to dominate the AP's weekly poll Tuesday with 31 of 38 first place votes from a panel of sports writers and broadcasters for a total of 736 points. Points are based on the electors' placings, with 20 for first, 18 second, 16 third, etc.

The last team to win two clear-cut national crowns in a row was Alabama, coached by Paul "Bear" Bryant, in 1964-65.

Previous teams to repeat were Minnesota 1940-41, Army 1944-45, Notre Dame 1946-47 and Oklahoma 1955-56.

The Buckeyes solidified the top spot by crushing Purdue last week 42-14 — the team that they knocked out of the No. 1 position a year ago.

Unbeaten Texas held onto the No. 2 rung with a smashing 69-7 triumph over Texas Christian and Arkansas, the Longhorns' Southwest Conference rival leaped over Tennessee's head to third place by trouncing Southern Methodist 28-15.

Tennessee, which had been eyeing a major bowl bid, fell from third to ninth after suffering a 38-0 defeat at the hands of Mississippi.

Penn State, headed for an Orange Bowl date against Missouri, took fourth place, followed in order by Southern California, No. 5; UCLA, No. 6; Missouri, No. 7; Notre Dame, No. 8; Tennessee, No. 9 and Louisiana State, No. 10.

Notre Dame, breaking a 45-year tradition, is going to the Cotton Bowl to face the Texas-Arkansas survivor. The Southern Cal-UCLA winner this week qualifies for the Rose Bowl against the undecided Big Ten representative. Mississippi, 13th in the poll, grabbed the Sugar Bowl spot against the losing side of the Texas-Arkansas debate.

Hill for title

NEW YORK (AP)—Calvin Hill, Dallas' flashy rookie from Yale, is closing in on the 1,000-yard mark but he is engaged in a tight battle with Baltimore's Tom Matte for the rushing-receiving combination title.

Hill, the National Football League's leading rusher since the second game of the season, picked up 150 yards last Sunday at Washington for a season total of 807 yards.

Cooper holds top rank in state schoolboy poll

(AP)—There were few shakeups in the Dallas Morning News schoolboy football poll Tuesday although fifth-ranked Junction did drop out of the top 10 in Class A.

MIGHTY Abilene Cooper remained atop the Class AAAA rankings with a resounding 31-11 victory over Abilene. Eighth-ranked Cleburne dropped out of the top 10 because of a 13-7 loss to Corsicana. Beaumont Hebert made its first appearance in the No. 10 slot.

In Class AAA, Houston Elmore remained ranked No. 1 while Dumas replaced 10th ranked Alvin, a 21-14 loser to Pearland.

LUFKIN Dunbar stayed No. 1 in Class AA. There were no changes made in this classification.
