

Enrollment Figure Reaches 4,267

Enrollment reached a total of 4,267 students Monday afternoon, with the arts and sciences division leading by 256, according to W. P. Clement, registrar.

Arts and sciences students totaled 1,220, followed by the engineering division with 964. Business administration was third with 835, agriculture was fourth with 685, home economics placed fifth with 315 and the graduates numbered 248.

Veterans' enrollment dropped over half from last year's total. The figures for this fall are 572, as compared with 1,070 last fall.

The total is an increase of 12 students over the 1951 spring semester total of 4,255. Enrollment dropped from a year ago, though, by 1,205 students. The total then was 5,472.

Freshmen registered a day early this fall, completing their matriculation last Wednesday. This was done to help reduce the confusion during the regular registration hours.

Tech Yell Leaders To Invade Dallas

Tech's new yell-leading staff will be making their fourth appearance Saturday when they lead the downtown parade through the streets of Dallas preceding the scheduled clash between the Red Raiders and Texas A&M college.

Head boy cheerleader Phil Thompson of Plainview will lead the quintet. Phil was voted to the station in last year's elections, and succeeds Coffee Conner to the post.

Head girl cheerleader Rheta McMaster of Abernathy is the only repeater of last year's chatter corps. Other members of the Raiders' high spirited brigade are Don Hancock of Lubbock; Bob Anthony, formerly of Amarillo but late of Lubbock; and Wanda Ramsey, Plainview. Wanda is the sister of Eural Ramsey, versatile Raider back of past fame.

The cheering squad has made two other appearances and will make a third prior to the Dallas parade. They attended the pep rally previous to the Tech-West Texas tussle and also took the reins at the game. Their next appearance will be the pep rally, prior to the Dallas trip on Friday night.

Art, Textiles Are Museum Displays

Exhibits containing art work done by Harold D. Bugbee and a group of Salamandre textiles have been placed on display in the Museum according to Miss Ina Bacon, secretary to the director of the Museum. They are to remain until mid-October.

The art display consists of five groups, three of which are illustrations for books. The books in which the illustrations appeared are Heraldy of the Range, Southwestern Trails, and Jeff Milton.

The two other groups consist of pen and ink drawings for Christmas cards and pictures done in the mediums of watercolor, crayon, oil paints, and pen and ink.

The textile exhibit, entitled "A Panoramic View of Textiles," is sponsored by the Art Institute. It contains fabrics of modern and contemporary designs and weaves.

The Art Institute display is on loan from the Shamrock Oil and Gas corporation of Amarillo and Mr. and Mrs. J. Evetts Haley of Canyon.

"Rogue Gallery" Published By Tech Journalism Major

John Lee, senior journalism major from Brownsville, has published the first edition of "Red Raiders Rogues' Gallery," a collection of 45 of his original cartoons depicting Tech football players and the coaching staff.

The books will be sold before each home football game.

Student Council Committees Appointed At First Meeting

Announcement of committees for the coming year, election of a representative to the athletic council, an outline of the proposed Student Union building system, election of a sponsor and announcement of plans for the student convocation and class elections for Oct. 3, highlighted a called meeting of the Student council last night.

"I think we have the potentialities of having one of the biggest years at Texas Tech this year," said Bob Schmidt, student council president, as he opened the session at 7:15 p.m.

Committees and members as announced by Schmidt are as follows:

Publications Committee To Name Editor Today

A called meeting for the publications committee is set for 5 p.m. today in J204, according to A. B. Strehli, chairman.

Selection of an editor for the 1952 La Ventana will be made at the session. Deadline for turning in applications was noon today.

Fledgling Poets May Submit Manuscripts For Anthology

College students interested in writing poetry may submit manuscripts to the National Poetry association to be considered for the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

There are no fees or charges for inclusion of verse in the anthology. Manuscripts should be sent to the association, 3210 Selby Avenue, Los Angeles 34, Calif.

All verses entered must be on a separate sheet and bear the name of the author, home address and name of college.

Deadline for entering a manuscript is Nov. 5.

Publications committee, Jack Alderson, chairman, Jane Foster, Rodney Blake, Charles Joplin, Brian Boyett; homecoming, Harold Brannan, chairman, Miss Foster, Boyett, Melvin Brock, Blake, Nancy Davis; Varsity show, Joplin, chairman, Brannan, Brockett, Rhea Myers, Clemons.

Budget, Brannan, chairman, Miss Foster, Bobby Close, Brock, Kenneth Burgess, Aubrey Phillips; election, Elizabeth Schovajsa, chairman, Miss Davis, Bob Northington, Joplin, Dick Robinson, Nancy Crosby; WSSF Talent show, Clemons, chairman, Miss Myers, Boyett; artist course, Miss Davis, chairman, Miss Myers, Brockett.

Faculty committees include campus, Brock, Close, Clemons; traffic, McGraw, Phillips, Bryan Webster; student welfare, Miss Crosby, Northington; disciplinary, Robinson, Mary B. Turner; Student council convention, Alderson, chairman, Brockett, Miss Turner, Northington.

Bobby Close, Shamrock, representative from business administration, was elected representative to the athletic council.

A proposed plan for a Student Union building system was outlined by Jack Alderson, vice-president. The system will be two-fold, according to Alderson, consisting of a central governing board and a group of committees.

The board will include the executive officers of the Student Council, the Foreador editor, the dean of women, the dean of student life, the recreation hall director and an ex-students association representative. The group of committees will be hospitality, dances, square dances, movies, games, socials, house and lectures. Alderson said that the Student Union building should be completed sometime next year.

W. H. Tinney, dairy manufacturing department, was re-elected. See COUNCIL, Page 12

Trip, Game Tickets On Sale; Buses Will Leave Saturday

Bus tickets for the out-of-town trip to the Tech-Texas A&M game in Dallas will be available through 5 p.m. tomorrow in the Student Council office, Bob Schmidt, Student association president announced.

College Names Student Holiday

Saturday morning classes will be dismissed for the official out-of-town game trip to Dallas, Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president, announced this morning.

Jones indicated that all department heads had agreed to the holiday in order that students going to Dallas would have ample time to make the trip safely. The action will eliminate the need of securing passes from department heads.

Regular evening program classes for teachers, which have been scheduled for Saturday morning, will meet as usual, Jones said.

Auto Registration Begins Tomorrow

Students planning to drive cars on Tech campus must come by the east rotunda of the Administration building for registration beginning at 8 a.m. tomorrow, according to Lewis Jones, assistant dean of men.

The license number of the car and the driver's license number of the student will be necessary to obtain a parking sticker. The sticker this year differ from those last year in that no letter designation is made.

As long as the car is registered with the office, it may be parked on any designated parking area on the campus. Thus, an arts and sciences major could park his car behind the Engineering building if he so desired.

Jones requested that students do not park on the grass or in the drive of the new Student Union building. The latter causes blocking of construction crews.

William Verner, patrolman, will again be on duty on Tech campus.

BAND ELECTS OFFICERS

New officers elected by the Tech band for the fall semester are Billy Cy Cook, Odessa, president; Jack Hon, Amarillo, vice president; Ileta Wilson, Jal, New Mexico, secretary.

Year's Rec Hall Entertainment To Be Chosen By Student Body

Tech students are to choose the type of Recreation hall entertainment they want this year if a new student participation system goes into effect, according to Dan Pursel, new Recreation hall director.

Architect Sets Completion Dates For Present Campus Construction

Tentative dates for the completion of the buildings now under construction at Texas Tech were released this week by the office of the campus architect.

Final completion of the Administration, Home Economics and Petroleum Engineering buildings is set for Oct. 15. Opening of the Engineering building is Nov. 15; Agriculture Engineering, during November; Music, Dec. 1; and Science, Jan. 1.

The tickets, including transportation to and from the game, are priced at $8.10.

Advance hotel reservations should be made by all students and Cecil Ayers, trip sponsor, must be notified of the intended housing plans of those who expect to travel on the chartered bus.

Game tickets should be purchased through the athletic office. Student tickets cost $1.20 and an activity book must be shown with the ticket at the Cotton Bowl entrances.

Buses will leave promptly at 7:30 a.m. Saturday from the front of Women's Dorm IV. A short lunch stop will be provided along the way and bus will arrive in Dallas about 4 p.m. Saturday.

At 4 p.m., Raider boosters will begin the pre-game downtown parade which will start at the Jefferson hotel and end in front of the Adolphus hotel.

A pep rally will be staged at the conclusion of the parade and followed by an alumni reception at the Baker hotel. The reception will be given by the Dallas Alumni club.

Approximately 110 Tech band members will play for the parade and pep rally and participate in half-time activities at the game that night.

Tech band's half-time program will consist of a salute to the Texas Aggies by spelling out TEXAS, AMC as the Aggie school song, "Aggies Are We," is played.

The instrument men will immediately go into the Double-T formation and play "The Matador Song," Tech school song. Leading the band in its march will be Hardy Clemons, sophomore pre-law student from Lubbock, who is new drum major.

Students making the trip by chartered bus will be given the option of choosing their departure time Sunday in returning to Lubbock.

Women students planning to make the trip must get a letter of special permission from their parents, as general permission cards covering such events will not be on file in time. The statement must indicate parents will assume full responsibility for the daughter's housing while in Dallas. Letters must be in the office of the dean of women by Friday morning.

Women must also sign a list in the office of the dean of women before Friday, if they intend to go to Dallas.

The plan would enable students to enjoy their choices in the Rec hall programs, thereby widening the appeal.

A Governing Board, eight committees and their chairman are included in the plan, although the committees are not yet formed. Under the tentative system students will make their wishes known to Pursel in the Rec hall office and to the committee chairman, who will be appointed by the Governing board.

The Student Council will meet with the Governing board, composed of representatives from the Deans' offices, ex-students, students, and Pursel, Wednesday at 5:00 p.m. for final approval of the Rec hall plan.

Pursel, in order to obtain student opinion, will be eating in the different dorms for the next few weeks.

Artist Course Seat Shuffle Is Made; Techsans Will Get Better Locations

Tech students will be given more choice seats in the Lubbock High school auditorium for the 1951-1952 Artist Course series, Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the Artist Course committee, said.

Students will be seated in all but 260 seats in the front center section of the first floor of the auditorium. Previously, aisle seats of the first floor side front sections were sold to non-students.

Allocation of more seats to Techsans was made at the request of student members of the committee who complained of poor locations for collegians.

The series is brought to Lubbock by Tech through an allotment of the student health and activity fee, supplemented by reserve ticket sales.

Reserve tickets for former holders went on sale yesterday at Adair's Music store and will continue through Oct. 1. Beginning Oct. 2, any of the 260 seats not sold will be available to other persons.

Under the new system, seats are sold on a "first come, first served" basis at the store with no mail or telephone orders accepted, Hemmle stated. Persons who, in the past, have reserved seats from season to season will no longer have this opportunity.

As in the past, students will be admitted to programs upon the presentation of their activity books with no further charge.

Also, general ticket sales will be made the night of the concert if all seats are not filled, but artists appearing this year are expected to draw large student crowds and cut down sales at the auditorium boxoffice, Hemmle indicated.

Artists for the '51-'52 series are as follows:

Oct. 26, Jennie Tourel, Metropolitan Opera company mezzo-soprano.

Nov. 5, Helen Traubel, Metropolitan Opera company dramatic soprano.

Jan. 8, Rudolph Kirsunsky, concert pianist.

March 17, Jascha Heifetz, concert violinist.

April 1, Claudio Arrau, concert pianist.

April 30, Giuseppe de Stefano, Metropolitan opera company tenor.

Season tickets for the six concerts are $7.50. When possible, door sales will be $1.80 for adults and $1.50 non-activity card students.

"Student opinion of the Artist Course program is always welcome," Hemmle concluded.

Members of the current Artists Course committee are Hemmle,

Black Hills Passion Play Given In LHS Auditorium

The original Black Hills Passion play, a dramatization of the last week of Christ's life, will be presented at 8:15 p.m. each night this week in the Lubbock high school auditorium, under sponsorship of the Lubbock Lion's club.

Tickets at $1.80 may be obtained in the Hilton hotel for the drama starring Josef Meier, world famous Christus portrayal.

Harold N. White, professor of English; Annah J. Pendleton, professor of speech; R. A. Mills, professor emeritus and former head of the committee, ex-officio member.

Student members are Nancy Davis, junior from Lubbock; Rhea Myers, senior from Dallas; Harold Brockett, senior from Borger.

Tech Board Meet Set For Saturday

Texas Tech's board of directors will meet at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Baker hotel in Dallas. Last regular meeting of the board was in August.

The board is scheduled to take up matters left over from the August session, according to Pres. D. M. Wiggins.

Members of the group are Charles C. Thompson, Colorado City; George E. Benson, Lubbock; C. T. McLaughlin, Snyder; Thomas F. Abbot, jr., Fort Worth; Robert B. Price, El Paso; Chanslor E. Weymouth, Amarillo; Charles W. Woodriddle, Dallas; Raymond Pfluger, Eden; and Leon Ince, Houston.

Thompson is chairman of the board, with Weymouth as vice chairman and W. T. Gaston as secretary.

Standing committees are: building, Weymouth, Ince and Price; executive, Benson, Abbot, Pfluger and Woodriddle; finance, Price, Benson and McLaughlin; legislative, McLaughlin, Abbot, Benson and Ince; and local affairs, Ince, Abbot and Benson.

Special committees are: agriculture, Pfluger, Price and Weymouth; textiles, Woodriddle, Benson, Ince and Pfluger; and minerals, Weymouth, Abbot and McLaughlin.

Anderson Named Vet Coordinator

H. A. Anderson, coordinator of veterans affairs at Tech since 1948, has assumed a full time job of teaching in the economics department.

The job of veterans coordinator goes to Warren G. Harding, assistant registrar, who will serve in both capacities. Anderson has worked with the veterans office during the first part of the semester to get Harding acquainted with the job.

Mrs. F. C. Stanley is secretary to the coordinator.

H. A. Spuhler, assistant professor of electrical engineering at Tech, will be guest speaker for a meeting of the Lubbock-Amarillo sub-section of the Institute of Radio Engineers at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the Engineering auditorium. "Instrumentation in Engineering" will be Spuhler's topic. A Tech graduate, he received a master's degree from MIT, where he was later employed as a research engineer for the guided missile program.

Saddle Tramps Will Meet For Session Thursday

Saddle Tramps will meet at 5 p.m. Thursday in C101, according to president Charles Joplin.

Final plans will be made at the session for the out-of-town game trip to Dallas, he said. Saddle Tramps will sit in a special section of the stadium to witness the Tech-A&M game, it was announced.

Ex-Students Association To Meet, Elect Officers

Texas Tech Ex-Student association will hold its next meeting October 26, according to Miss O'Wannah Shelton, editor of the Texas Techian and new officers will be elected.

The major functions of the Ex-Student Association are Homecoming and the loyalty fund, set up "for the maintenance of the Association and for the benefit of the College."

Miss Shelton replaces Mrs. Rose Piper as editor of the ex-student publication which comes out monthly eight months of the year.

ATTENTION BOYS! — Been wondering who some of those good lookin' frosh gals are? Well, then . . . Pat Lewis and Harlene Glenn are two "cuties" from Brownfield whom you may have noticed around the campus with their green slime caps atop their blond (that's Harlene) and brunette (that's Pat) heads.

They're roommates in Women's Dorm IV, room 125 . . . Another Dorm IV doll is Jo Benesh from Amarillo . . . In Dorm III there's Ann Lee Turner from Palestine and Mary Hix from Abemathy. . . Lubbock has contributed its share of Tech freshmen this year. For instance, there's June Franklin, Mary Catherine Cole, Laura Lou Bailey and Marcia Shaffer.

CANDLELIGHT AND ORANGE BLOSSOMS—Quite a few Techs completed wedding plans and said their final "I do's" this summer. Latest of these newlyweds are Mary Ruth Byrd of Weatherford and Dirk West of Lubbock, who eloped Sept. 15. M. R. and Dirk will continue their studies at Tech. . . Lubbockites Jane Austin and Dorrance Guy, who "middle-aided" it Aug. 31st, are resuming their studies also. Dorrance works part-time at his father's newspaper, the Avalanche-Journal.

When Bettie Brown marched down the aisle to become Mrs. Norman Janes at her last-of-August wedding, Mary Alkin served as one of her bridesmaids. A few weeks later, on Sept. 14, Bettie returned the favor of serving as matron of honor when Mary and Jerry Worsham were married. . . Wedding bells rang and rice was thrown for four additional couples during the summer—Anne Sheffy and Brien Webster; Charlotte Powell and Gene Garner; LaVerne Estes and Jimmy Olsen; Fran Cox and Dave White.

FAMILIAR FACES — Bobby "Goober" Jenkins and Jack Turner are returning to Tech this fall, but not alone. This year each is bringing his "little woman." Jack and his wife, the former Lee Sears, have been married for quite awhile, but Lee is new to Lubbock since Jack did not attend Tech last year. "Goober" and his wife, Lucy, were married only recently.

HERE AN' THERE—Martha Lee Adams and Maxine Boyd, both Lubbockites, are living in Dorm III this fall. . . Suzette Ball from Dallas and Sandra Sadler from Merkel will be roommates in Dorm III. . . Marion Nevitt and Pat Abernethy are two of the Tech students working at Varsity bookstore every afternoon. Pat was "Rec halling" with one of Tech's new cheerleaders, Bob Anthony, recently. . . Romonda McMillan, who has been out of school working, is resuming her studies this fall. . . Sue Mayfield, Las Chap, is now wearing Jack Hinchey's Silver Key fraternity pin.

Mowery To Judge In Texas Contests

Ray C. Mowery, head of the animal husbandry department at Tech, will judge at two fairs this week and next month. Mowery will judge at the Roosevelt Country fair tomorrow and Thursday in Portales, N.M. In connection with State Fair of Texas, he will sift lambs at the Junior Sheep show Oct. 15-16 in Dallas.

German Seminar, Stage Art Group To Be Organized By Liederkranz

Organization of a German seminar and a dramatic art group were planned for the coming year by the officers of Liederkranz German club, at the first executive meeting last night.

"Die Fledermaus" The Bat, German movie, will be brought to the Midway theatre later in the year, Jack Burgess, reporter said.

The German seminar will be organized for students who have had German and are interested in scientific use of the language. The dramatic art group will draw up plans for the club's annual variety show.

Officers of the club, elected last spring, are Donald Smiley, president; Rebecca Ann Bentley, vice president; Frankie Boyd, secretary-treasurer; Burgess, reporter.

THE AARDVARK

After all the tests...

This classy campus caper-cutter got his snootful of cute cigarette tests. It didn't take him long to dig out the fact that cigarette mildness can't be determined by a mere single puff or quick-sniff experiment! Millions of smokers, on and off the campus, have discovered there's only one true test of cigarette mildness.

IT'S THE SENSIBLE TEST . . . the 30-day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke — on a day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

There's A Club For You . . .

Every entering student at Tech this fall, whether freshman or upper classman, will be given an opportunity to take part in one of the most important phases of college life—club activities.

There are more than 100 organizations on the campus, enough to provide at least two or three of interest to every Techsan. In fact, most students will find there are four or five clubs that will suit him to a double-T.

Say you are a new comer and want to start a few extra-curricular activities to fill up those odd hours. The question is, just how much should you try to do and how many organizations should you join?

That's a tough question, pardner—the answer is it all depends on you. If you're a natural handshaking, enthusiastic extrovert, your possibilities are unlimited. However, most students find that three or four clubs will keep them amply busy.

There's more to club work than just being a joiner. Some people have the unhappy habit of getting their names on a club roll and dropping it there. Belonging to any organization at Tech carries with it an obligation to serve and support the club.

Another thing, you've got to be making a C average before you will be allowed to pledge most organizations. If you begin right now with a little old fashioned hard work in every class, you'll find it's no problem at all to maintain a good average. So don't worry about that angle.

You're real pay-off for club activities will be meeting new friends and getting the feeling that you have a working part in your school—and that's the best feeling on earth.

Dallas Here We Come . . .

All aboard for Dallas!

Following Saturday's triumph against West Texas State college, Techsans should be packing banners and cowbells for the official out-of-town game against Texas A&M Saturday.

Yet, some students are turning an indifferent cheek to the subject of the forthcoming tussle. "Why go? A&M is slated to take the Southwest conference crown. Tech can't possibly win."

Why not go? The underdog spirit has won many a victory; therefore the underdog rating should encourage the student body to attend en masse to support the Raiders as they try to pull off an upset win.

Each person present adds just a little more pep and enthusiasm. The more pep and enthusiasm, the better the Raiders can play.

All in all, school spirit and fun will not be lacking and expenses will be light.

So, now's the time to get ready, set and GO to Dallas.

Under The Breezeway

By SHIRLEY JOHNSON
Toreador Associate Editor

Every column must have a beginning, but it's a hard thing to figure one out. You just sit at your typewriter, staring at a blank sheet of paper, and hoping that some inspiration will strike with a good idea.

And, while you are patiently trying to think calmly, you wonder just how other people write a column every day without lessening of quality. Here you are with one column a week, without much meat to it.

Well, that's one way to begin. Now that we are into this, let's see what else can be done.

Most of you freshmen have heard people saying "Welcome" to you until you're probably tired of it. So, just to be different, "Welcome to all you students who have been here before, and we hope you enjoy this year." You slimes and transfers are welcome, too, though.

In case you are wondering where the name of this column came from, here is the explanation. When the Science building is completed, it will be connected with the Library and Chemistry buildings by a breezeway.

Since our purpose is to report the little things on campus, where would be a better place to find them than under the breezeway where people congregate?

Any of you readers (if you've made it this far) that think you would like to help on the Toreador, please come over to the Journalism building. It's just beyond the Library.

Enter the main door, continue straight down the hall, and turn into the last door on the left. Help will be appreciated, no matter what your talents are.

Drawing? Cartoons are always needed. Writing? Pull up a chair and start in on a story. Loafing? Why do you think we need more help?

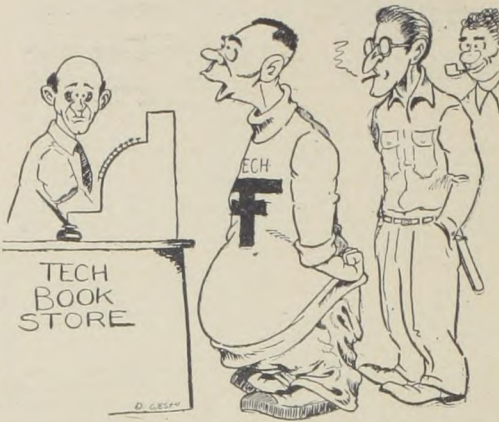

This is another call for help. If you will just write down all those funny little incidents that happen in class that make everyone laugh, and turn the information in, it would be appreciated very much.

Others might enjoy reading about it, and in this uncertain world of doubt and fear, a little humor brightens things up. It doesn't have to be very long. It might be a clever remark someone made, or a misspelled word that was funny when considered in the context, or something else on that order.

You never can tell just what you are going to get from the coke machine over in the Rec hall. One girl the other day put in a nickel—nothing happened. Undaunted, she put in another and got two cokes. One was a perfectly normal coke, but the other came down the chute without a cap on, spilling half of the liquid inside.

Another girl got nothing but a nice, empty bottle for her money. At least it can help break the monotony of the daily routine. It leaves you in suspense to know just what is going to happen next.

Some interesting theories have arisen in regard to the vanishing of the coke itself and the caps off the bottles. One group believes that the machine has an automatic bottle opener inside. Another thinks that the mice on the campus are having wild parties with

Texas Tech Talk

By John Norcross, Toreador Editor

Congratulations to the freshmen class! Honestly, we can't remember when Tech has had such a spirited group of slimes. Just keep up the good work this weekend in Dallas. Personally, we're looking for an upset Saturday—but it's going to take four long quarters of yells loud and long. The boys will be giving everything they've got, so back them up.

There are plenty of upper classmen, too, who should be planning on that trip to Dallas. The out-of-town trip is a high point in every football season. You'll be missing a wonderful time if you fail to go—just ask anyone who made the trip last year.

Here's an idea for men with 30 hours or more and a C average. If you want to give the Raiders some honest-to-gosh support and have a good time doing it, start pledging SADDLE TRAMPS this semester.

Saddle Tramps are the traditional school spirit builders on the campus. Decked out in bright red shirts, they can always be seen (and heard) at every Tech game. The group sits in a special section and has the job of keeping the slimes lively.

Men who become associate members now will be fully recognized members around Homecoming time. When all the exes start pouring in, new members will meet a host of successful men in every field who were once Saddle Tramps—and you can bet they're proud of it today.

The club also sponsors pep rallies and one Howdy dance each year. If you're looking for an organization that will give you an opportunity to meet students from every division on the campus and also a chance to help Tech, you ought to get in that application for pledging Saddle Tramps today.

Charles Joplin and Benny Bruckner in West Hall and Doak Hall, respectively, are the men to see.

Because so many students have asked that the words to Tech's songs and yells be made available to them, the Toreador staff is printing them in this issue. Okay, you have the words—now, learn them and be prepared to work with the cheerleaders throughout the season.

Our position is somewhere between the two.

In a psychology 230 class the other day, the instructor, in making the assignment, said "For next time we'll take 'Man as the Psychologist Sees Him.' Or we could reverse that—'The Psychologist as Man Sees Him.'"

When the government teacher asked for volunteers to help with the Fashion play at Lubbock High school, only one student raised his hand.

"We need more than just one to help with the crowd scene," he urged.

"Hancock makes a crowd by himself," some student muttered not so low.

The other day during registration, one student approached another who seemed to know his way around. "Can you tell me where 311 is?" he asked. The other grinned, and told him where it was.

The first thanked the other and said, "Are you a senior?"

Student No. 2 laughed and said, "No, I'm a freshman. They told us where the rooms were."

Student No. 1 (a junior) blushed and muttered something about the renumbering of the Ad building rooms.

Good things must come to an end, and bad ones always do, so we'll close for now. The sincere desire of this writer is to have a column that you will enjoy reading, and maybe that can be accomplished.

'Til next Wednesday, then.

ing in, new members will meet a host of successful men in every field who were once Saddle Tramps—and you can bet they're proud of it today.

The club also sponsors pep rallies and one Howdy dance each year. If you're looking for an organization that will give you an opportunity to meet students from every division on the campus and also a chance to help Tech, you ought to get in that application for pledging Saddle Tramps today.

Charles Joplin and Benny Bruckner in West Hall and Doak Hall, respectively, are the men to see.

Because so many students have asked that the words to Tech's songs and yells be made available to them, the Toreador staff is printing them in this issue. Okay, you have the words—now, learn them and be prepared to work with the cheerleaders throughout the season.

With The Colors

Cpl. Robert J. Collier of Lubbock has been assigned to duty with the 328th bomber squadron as a gunner.

Collier, who attended Tech before his enlistment in January, will report for duty Oct. 4 at Castle Air Force base, Calif.

H. A. Tuck, jr., 1951 graduate in journalism, is a second lieutenant stationed at Camp Polk in DeRidder, La.

While in Tech, the native of Dumas was a member of Los Camarades social club and summer editor of the Toreador in 1950.

Before entering the service, Tuck was on the staff of the Times, daily newspaper in Amarillo.

Undergoing Marine boot camp in San Diego is Brodie Adair, Tech sophomore and business administration major last year. Adair will complete boot camp in October.

Tech graduates Bill Sylvester and Tommie Jamison are on active duty with the Air Force at Roswell, N. M.

Both men were graduated from Tech in '51. Sylvester with a degree in government and Jamison, in business. They received the rating of second lieutenants through Tech's ROTC program.

About The Campuses

ROTC was offered for the first time this fall at exas A&I, Kingsville. Head of the department will be Lt. Col. Leonard F. Walker.

Waco firemen were called to the Baylor campus last week, after "smoke" was seen pouring out of the 150-foot tower of Pet Neff hall. Firemen discovered that the "smoke" was actually swarms of tiny insects. The building seemed to have bugs, not bats in the bell-fry.

At a recent freshmen orientation dance at Texas university, the theme was "Heaven on Earth." A poster at the dance read:

I dreamed that I died and heaven did go
I rang the bell gently and bowed very low
I said, "I'm from TEXAS," and how they did stare
Come in! said Peter, you're the first one from there!

Two roommates were getting acquainted at San Angelo college last week. Said one, "We're going to get along fine—you know who's boss."

"You're darn right I do," the other snapped.

The Rambler, Texas Wesleyan school paper, says songs about birds usually make the hit parade list, giving for evidence "Mockingbird Hill," "Sparrow in the Treetop" and "Lonely Little Robin."

A freshman camp was sponsored this year by the YMCA at Georgia Tech. The three-day outing is an annual event, during which freshmen are introduced to college life.

One student's answer to the parking problem, rapidly becoming acute, at Emory university, in Georgia, "If we did away with the police force, we would have one more parking place. That would be a little help."

The Texas College of Arts and Industries was virtually stranded last week, when flood waters reached Kingsville. Registration was slowed, and the first day of classes had to be postponed until the next morning so students could register.

2nd Lt. Donal P. Jackson of Lometa has been assigned to Craig Air Force base, Ala. as the assistant special service officer.

Jackson, who is a reserve re-caller, was graduated from Tech in '51 with a degree in physical education.

He had previously studied at Daniel Baker college in Brownwood.

Fellowships Given; Spanish Required

Tech Styles Have Changed Since 1925

So What--So Have Texas Tech Co-eds

Nineteen fellowships are now available for students having a good knowledge of Spanish and desiring to study in Mexico.

The awards, available for undergraduates and graduates, are offered by the Mexican government through a joint Mexican-United States commission. Awards are for the academic year beginning in February, 1952.

Requirements other than a knowledge of Spanish are good health, good academic record, U.S. citizenship, and knowledge of U. S. culture.

Information on the grants, which cover tuition and a monthly living allowance, may be secured from the Institute of International Education, 2 West forty fifth street, New York. Applications, on forms from the institute, must be filed not later than October 15, 1951.

Ralph Lacy Holds Position With Burlington Mills Corp.

Ralph Lacy, 1951 textile engineering graduate and vice president of the Student association last year is now employed by Burlington Mills, Charlotte, N. C.

Lacy held membership in Alpha Chi, honorary scholarship fraternity; Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honor society; Tau Beta Phi, engineering honor society; Phi Psi, textile engineering honor fraternity; and Silver Key social club, of which he was president last year.

He was chosen last spring for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Grad Works As Salesman

Bill Adair, 1950 graduate in electrical engineering, is power salesman working in the vice president's office of Southwestern Public Service company.

While in Tech Adair was president of Alpha Chi, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Phi Eta Sigma and a member of Tau Beta Phi and Tech's Supreme court.

Aggie Teaches In Lamesa

Billy Anderson, 1950 Tech graduate in agricultural education, has joined the faculty of Lamesa High school as an agriculture instructor.

David Copperfield, novel by Charles Dickens, was first published in 20 monthly parts as a serial.

When Tech opened in 1925, the well-dressed coed wore a black satin dress, as short as modesty would permit, hose rolled to just below the knee, a black satin Princess Eugenia hat, dangling ear screws and flapper bob, completed with spit curl. The 1925 coed is quite a contrast to today's coed who wears a sweater and skirt with anklets and oxfords.

In the era of "flaming youth" the skirts were straight sheaths, with side drapes or pleats. The waist lines was located about the hips. The shoulders were natural in contrast with today's shoulder pads. Some transition is being made today however, toward natural shoulders by the use of draped collars. Many dresses featured the boat-shaped neckline which is very popular today.

For sport's wear, the Tech flappers wore knickers and middle blouses. Shorts had not been invented and slacks were considered very vulgar.

The cloche hat was all the rage in the 20s. The hat, shaped like a bell, completely covered the hair and part of the face. The cloche has come back into style recently in a modified form.

Flapper curls were the vogue and no coed felt well-dressed without spit curls about the face. The permanent wave had just been discovered.

The debutante slouch with the concave chest and drooping of the spinal column was very popular. Today's Tech coeds pride themselves in their natural, erect posture.

The average coed of 1925 had not received much instruction in what the fashionable girl should wear to class. There were no fashion magazines for young women. Many of today's fashion magazines cater to college girls and other magazines publish special coed editions in the late summer.

For dances the Tech coed wore a short evening dress with rows of ruffles of net, tulle or chiffon. Tech men went to formal affairs in their classroom trousers and with their shirt sleeves rolled up and collars unbuttoned. It took the combined efforts of the faculty and coeds five years to persuade male Techs to wear ties and coats to formal functions.

For class the sheiks dressed much as they do now. Trousers legs were wider and most boys wore field boots, rather than today's popular cowboy boots.

Frederick Jeffries Is New 8-Pound Son Of Rick Jays

Rick Jay, former public relations director for Tech, is the father of an 8-pound, 8-ounce boy named Frederick Jeffries Jay III born Sept. 10 in Norman, Okla.

Jay, who was director in 1950-'51, resigned to do graduate work at the University of Oklahoma. His wife, Mrs. June Jay, was alumni advisor for the college chapter of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for women in the field of journalism.

Museum Features Exhibit Of Textiles

Textiles are in the limelight at the Museum this week.

One of the two new exhibits now open at the Museum is a "Panoramic Review of Textiles," which has been assembled for the purpose of showing a cross section of designs in textiles.

Fabrics are shown from the Italian Renaissance period, 17th and 18th century Bourbon age, the Golden age and contemporary American periods.

The display, which will continue until October, is arranged in the Art gallery.

Museum Staff Needs Raise? No, Old Clothes For Exhibit

Dig into your old trunks, and see if you can find some old clothes for the Museum.

No, not clothes from last year, but clothes dating back to the late 1800s and early 1900s.

The Museum staff plans to make scenes portraying life in that period, and needs some clothes to dress the mannikins in the scenes.

Other new officers named at the last FTA meeting of the '50-'51 school term were Pat Findley, first vice president; Mary Jo Craig, second vice president; Marjorie Stockton, secretary; Virginia Butler, treasurer; Miss Green, reporter; Marvin Kitten and Ellen Massengale, librarians.

Meetings of the society are held the second and fourth Thursday of the month and are sponsored by Dr. Lewis B. Cooper, associate professor of education, and Ted Edwards, instructor in education.

Annual events of the FTA are an alum breakfast, spring picnic and meeting of Texas FTA chapters at Sul Ross college in Alpine.

Family Doctors Becoming Rare, "Just Put My Name Over There"

After writing for two or three hours, a person can become completely mechanical, not really noticing what he is doing.

For example, take one of the students who was helping with the chest x-rays last week. He asked the routine questions, such as name, address, age, etc. When he came to the question "Family doctor?", the prospective x-rayee said, "Just put my name there."

The student looked at the top of the card, grinned sheepishly and noted, "Dr. Fred P. Kallina, Infirmary."

Dr. Kallina was one of two Tech doctors whose names were placed on cards when students had no family doctor.

Techsans Attend Six-Week Outing

Twelve Texas Tech students were among the 750 collegians who attended a Marine corps training program this summer for future Marine officers.

Those attending were Vernon O. Barron, James E. Finley, Travis F. Fry, Sam M. Gipson, John P. Jones, Denton L. Lambert, Rubert R. Marsh, John L. Moughon, Robert L. Rummel, Allan M. Smith, Charles E. Tague and Donald J. Whitaker.

The course lasted six weeks, during the months of July and August. The men who completed the junior Platoon Leaders class are to be recommended for further training next summer. This added training in turn leads to a commission in the Marine Corps reserve or the regular Marine corps.

Tech Prexy Will Preside At Second Annual Meeting

President D. M. Wiggins will preside at the second official session of the annual meeting of the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities and Allied Institutions to be held at Texas A&M Oct. 9-13.

Speaker at the luncheon meeting will be Sarah Van Hoosen Jones, member of the State Board of Agriculture, Michigan State college. She will give a report on the National Conference of Women in the Defense Decade.

Mrs. Richards Assumes Duties As Women's PE Department Chairman

Physical education students will find a sympathetic counselor in dark and petite Mrs. Richard Richards, Tech's new chairman of the women's department of physical education.

Although new as chairman of the department, Mrs. Richards is no newcomer to Tech. She first came to Tech as an instructor in the fall of 1948 and moved up to chairman from the position of assistant professor of physical education.

Mrs. Richards received her B.S. in physical education from Texas

State College for Women, Denton, and holds an M.A. degree from Columbia university in New York. Before coming to Tech, Mrs. Richards taught for two years at Northeastern Louisiana institute in Natchitoches, Louisiana Tech in Ruston, and Oklahoma A&M in Stillwater.

Busy is the word for Mrs. Richards, for in addition to carrying on the duties of chairman of the department, she will teach eight classes and sponsor two clubs, Women's Inter-Club council and Women's Recreational association.

Mrs. Richards pointed out that her husband and children, Bob, six, and Susan, four, still hold first place in her life. Mr. Richards was director of the Tech Glee club from 1947 until 1950 and now directs the Lubbock high school choir as a hobby.

Disc-Jockey Shows Aired By KTTC

KTTC, radio station of the Tech dormitory system, began preview broadcasting last night from its offices in Sneed Hall. The station is located at 750 on the radio dial.

Recorded music and announcements will be broadcast from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. each night this week, with other types of programs offered after a staff of writers and announcers is organized.

Evelyn Brandt is program director of the station. Assistant program director is Cody Barnett and chief engineer is Sterling Rodgers.

Students interested in working for KTTC as writers, announcers and disc jockeys are advised to contact Miss Brandt in Women's Dorm IV.

The station, which was organized in the fall of 1950, is student-operated and serves only the dormitories on the campus.

A board of directors, composed of two representatives from each of the eight dormitories, meets bi-monthly.

Tech Stomps West Texas State 46-7, Gains Revenge From Canyon School

Texas Tech gained revenge from the West Texas State Buffaloes Saturday by trouncing them 46-7. The Buffs never knew what hit them as the hard hitting Raiders blocked and rushed their way to victory before a near capacity crowd of 16,000 in Jones stadium.

When Tech was well in the lead the Raider head mentor substituted freely. The lone Buff score came in the closing minutes of the game when Tech's first two teams were well on their way to being showered and dressed.

Jim Turner and Frank Graves, both halfbacks, led Tech scorers with two touchdowns apiece. Single Tech markers came when fullback Pete Rinaldi, quarterback Junior Arterburn and halfback Elmer Wilson crossed the goal line.

Elmer Wilson's 80-yard return of a Buff punt was the longest run of the game. The 5-foot, 4-inch freshman from Pampa followed a devastating blocking attack that cleared a path all the way to paydirt.

Paul Erwin and Dean White turned in very fine games at ends. Two Tech scorers were set up by the hard rushing of these two boys that led to blocked Buffalo punts deep in the West Texas end of the field.

The opening game and misques usually go hand in hand. Saturday's game was far from being an exception. Each team fumbled five times. The Raiders managed to recover three of their dropped pigskins, while West Texas lost possession of the ball four times due to fumbles. Tech was penalized 20 times for a total of 185 yards. The Buffs lost 100 yards on penalties. They were put back via the penalty route 10 times.

Red Raiders Begin Drills; Pass Defense Stressed

Monday Tech Red Raiders were being pushed through drills to eliminate errors made in the West Texas State game in preparation for the rough game Saturday night with Texas A&M in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas.

Today Coach DeWitt Weaver was scheduled to begin working on pass defense against the potent passing attack the Aggies revealed in beating the UCLA Bruins, 21-14 Friday night.

Although the running attack of A&M's All-American prospect Bob Smith has been largely responsible for the past two defeats of the Raiders at the hands of the Aggies, more than Smith's running is worrying the Tech coaching staff.

An unheralded but potent passing attack displayed by the Aggies last week is responsible for the Raiders emphasizing aerial defense.

Dick Gardemal and Roy Graves carried the brunt of the Aggie offense, passing to victory. Bob Smith, who caused the Raiders so much trouble in the past saw little action in Los Angeles.

Before the Red Raiders leave by plane for Dallas on Friday, Weaver hopes to eliminate many of the errors of timing that cost the Raiders yardage in the Saturday victory over West Texas.

That lopsided victory did not mean that Tech's grid "comeback" was an accomplished fact, Weaver warned.

"Remember, we had three weeks to prepare for the Buffaloes, and we had several men that wanted revenge for last year's loss. Also, this wasn't the same West Texas team that beat Tech last season," he explained. "When the Buffaloes hit their stride, they'll be hard to beat, but it's too early in the season to expect replacements for the key men Kimbrough lost to be at their best."

There will also be many of the Raiders hoping to revenge the 34-

13 loss to the Aggies last year and the 26-7 loss in 1949 when the two teams have their first meeting in the Cotton Bowl Saturday night. Previous matches have been played in Alamo Stadium in San Antonio.

Coach Ray George, unleashed a new but powerful Aggie attack against the Bruins in the A&M opener Friday. In the past several years Texas A&M has specialized in ground play, but Friday they proved their potency in the air.

The aerial attack, coupled with the proved power on land, should give the Raiders a chance to prove the ability shown in the defeat of the Buffs Saturday.

Saturday's game will be the first of three non-conference meetings with top national teams. A&M has been picked in the top 20 teams in many polls and was selected sixth in one. Other top teams on the Raider schedule are Baylor, Tulsa and Houston.

Air Society Holds First Meeting; Explorer Scout Program Reviewed

The Arnold Air society held its first meeting of the year Monday night and discussed plans for the coming year, selected an initiation committee and reviewed the Air Explorer Scout program which they sponsor, according to Max Garrett, squadron commander.

The next meeting of the society will be held Oct. 8.

Square Dancing At Rec Hall Friday; All Students Invited

Square dancing will take place from 8-11 p.m. Friday in the Recreation hall, according to the office of the Dean of Student Life.

Bill Brewer will call the dances. Jimmy Baker and his orchestra will provide the music.

All students are invited to attend the dance, which is the first student activity on the Recreation hall program for this year.

Intramural Play Will Begin Oct. 8

Entries for intramural touch football will be accepted beginning Thursday, George Philbrick, intramural director has announced.

Actual play is scheduled to begin Oct. 8. Entries may be made until Oct. 4.

The Baptist Student Union Bums, who won in a last minute touchdown in the playoff with Los Camaradas last year, promise to have a potent team in the Independent league again this year.

At least one reserve member of last year's Red Raiders, a non-lettermen, may join the Bums. Denton Lambert, halfback for the Raiders is expected to play for the BSU team this year.

PE Department Extends Program

Tech is carrying on extensive educational physical education classes for the first time. Dr. Ramon Kirellis, department head, has announced.

In past years the department has offered only one co-ed class, folk dancing. Even that has not been emphasized, Kirellis pointed out.

Courses now offered on a co-ed basis are golf, tennis and bowling. Ten women are registered for the golf course taught by Morley Jennings. Five are being instructed along with 20 men in the co-ed tennis course.

Congratulations are in order to the entire Tech football squad and their coaching staff for the sound trouncing they gave the West Texas State Buffaloes of Canyon last Saturday night. The Raiders were rated a slight favorite over the Buffs but no one thought the margin of victory would be anything like the 46-7 triumph registered by Tech.

Coach DeWitt Weaver threw everything at the Buffs in an effort to keep the score down. When the final gun went off the water boy was quarterbacking the bench on plays that completely baffled the West Texas defense.

However, the brilliant victory scored by Tech was marred by 30 penalties and 10 fumbles. Tech was penalized 20 times for a total of 185 yards. The Buffs were set back by penalties 10 times for a total of 100 yards. Each team fumbled the pigskin five times. Tech recovered four of the five dropped by Canyon while the Buffs managed to pounce on two of the Tech fumbles.

It is interesting to note that the smallest man on the team made the longest run of the game. Little Elmer Wilson, freshman from Pampa, returned a Buffalo punt 80 yards for a touchdown. The Pampa peanut measures only 5 feet 4 inches and tips the scales at 135.

Coach Weaver will be drilling the Tech gridders hard this week in an effort to overcome the numerous errors which were made in the game Saturday. It will take a sharp, hard fighting team to beat the Texas Aggies next week in Dallas. An upset victory could be scored by the Raiders in their contest with one of the highest rated teams in the Southwest Conference.

Larson Announces Speech Awards

Six speech scholarships were awarded this summer to 1951 high school graduates with superior academic standings and outstanding records of speech activities. Dr. P. Merville Larson, head of the speech department, has announced.

Recipients of this year's scholarships are E. J. Tarbox, jr., from Lipscomb, a graduate of Darrouzet high school, and a state winner in debate in 1951; R o b e r t Dickenson, Stamford high school graduate, who attended Tech last summer and played one of the leads in "Pot Luck," a one-act play presented the first six weeks; Mary Newman, a graduate of Shallowater high school who won regional in extemporaneous speech in 1951.

Melba Hennigh, Darrouzet high school graduate and winner of first place in declamation at the Goodwell, Oklahoma meet; Harriet Henderson, a graduate of Lubbock high school who attended Tech last summer and played one of the leads in the one-act summer production, "Two Crooks and a Lady"; Joanne Glifford, a graduate of Lubbock high school and second place winner in girl's debate at state meet.

All of the above students are enrolled in Tech as speech majors except Dickenson, who is enrolled as a speech minor.

The scholarships of $100 each are paid from a fund started by Lubbock civic leader George S. Benson "to encourage young men and women going into business and public life in the South Plains to become more articulate and effective citizens."

Since the origin of the fund other persons have added to it, not only to further the original purpose but to encourage students interested in radio and theatre as well. Plans are under way to extend the scholarships to upper class speech students with high academic and speech activity attainments while in college.

Titles Strike Imagination

Reporter's Survey Of Books Reveals Interesting Titles

Have you ever heard of Confessions of Another Young Man by E. Imbs? Neither had I, until the Toreador editor commanded "The library has some new books—count them!"

Yes, Confessions of Another Young Man is a book, one of 972 which have been added to the library's collection. After staring nearly a thousand books in the face for hours as I tried to get an accurate count, I began to wonder what mauiats had created these little gems.

For instance, when I saw the book entitled The World As I See It by Albert Einstein, I could see a world of dodos saying "Fourth dimension theory, what's that?" I wondered if George Cable who wrote The Silent South had ever encountered Senator Bilbo and some of our other Southern orators. Richard DeBury's The Philobiblon created a picture in my mind of a purple dragon with a chartreuse tail.

If Betty MacDonald, who wrote Anybody Can Do Anything, had heard of West Texas' attempt to beat the Red Raiders, she might have re-entitled her book. I was firmly convinced that Mary Austin spent the spring and summer in Lubbock doing research for her book, The Land of Little Rain. George D. Shafer probably had some of our politicians in mind when he wrote The Ways of a Mud Dauber.

I shook my head and cleared my mind of book titles, trying valiantly to get an accurate count of new books. I finally settled on 972. If anyone has the patience to count them, and discovers that there are 973 instead of 972, then I will gladly print a retraction.

By the way, if any of you are on your way to the library to check out Confessions of Another Young Man, you'll have to wait two weeks. I've already checked it out.

Grad Registration Estimated At 350

Although registration for graduate courses will continue throughout this week, an estimate of 350 graduates is expected by Dr. W. B. Gates, dean of the division of graduate studies.

At the end of formal registration last Friday 228 graduate students had been enrolled. Approximately 125 graduates are expected to register this week in the evening program.

Of the students registered by last Friday, 169 were enrolled in the departments of the arts and sciences division, 30 are in departments of the Agriculture division and 20 have registered in departments of the Business Administration division.

The divisions of Home Economics and Engineering have the fewest graduates enrolled with the Engineering division claiming 8 students and the Home Economics division having only one.

Slimes Slam Dances, Food; Laud Campus, Coeds, Clubs

Random freshmen on the campus were confronted Monday with the question: "What have you learned to like or dislike especially about Tech?"

Many of the slimes were willing only to say that they like the school in an all-over, general way. Whether a genuine state of bliss exists among the class of '55 or whether many of the freshmen are merely lazy conversationalists is a subject for debate.

A few of those interviewed, however, had definite opinions to offer. Ann Hints of Lubbock, business administration major, finds the dances too crowded.

Lehman Pace, a coed from Littlefield who is still without a major, was so impressed by the Tech campus that she changed plans to attend the University of Texas.

Pat Lesperance gave the perennial gripe about dorm food a new slant. The business administration major from Clovis, N.M., believes that the "chow" needs only a little more seasoning.

The long lines during registration came under fire from Jack McCann-Lies, pre-optometry major from Littlefield.

A Business Administration major from Muleshoe, Gay Sanders, is bothered by the long walk to classes. Oleta Sowder, elementary education major from Idalou, has the same complaint.

Another BA major, Bobbie Wilson of Dallas, favors the Tech social clubs over the national sorority system.

The noise of construction still going on in the Administration building is the basis of a gripe by James Ails of Lubbock. His companion, Johnny Turpens, also of Lubbock, is impressed most by the girls of the Freshman class.

Craig Morris, Lubbock pre-dental student, has no complaints, but "may develop some later."

Five New Members Added To Library Staff For 1951 Fall Semester At Tech

Five new members have been added to the library staff stated R. C. Janwey, head librarian.

They are J. Norman Heard, order librarian; Miss Lillian Norwood, head cataloguer; Mrs. Charlotte Brand, assistant cataloguer; Frank Temple, assistant circulation librarian;

Miss Dorothy Walters, reserve librarian.

Heard formerly held the position of assistant order librarian at the University of Texas. Miss Norwood was librarian at Texas Wesleyan college. Mrs. Brand was a student at the University of Texas library school, and engineering library clerk at Tech in 1949-50. Temple is a graduate of the North Texas State Teachers college library school. Miss Walters is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma library school.

sponsor of the council for the coming year.

Schmidt announced that the annual student convocation and class elections would be held from 10 to 12 a.m. October 3. The convocation will be held in the gym, at which time places for class meetings will be announced. Executive officers of the council will assist with elections.

Other business discussed included the Tech-Texas A&M football trip, the foreign student program and selection of an editor of La Ventana and a sponsor of the Toreador.
