Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 28...

THE OVENBIRD

Past Grand Master of the Royal Order of Gourmets and Raconteurs—our outspoken friend knows how to find the proof of the pudding. Especially such a thing as cigarette mildness! A "quick puff" and a "single sniff" left him hungry for facts. Smokers everywhere have tried the same tests and discovered the one true test of cigarette mildness!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke, on a day-after-day, pack-after-pack basis. No snap judgments. Once you've tried Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why . . .

THE MEETING'S UPSTAIRS

What happens to a high-flying enemy bomber when it meets the newest anti-aircraft guided missile shouldn't happen to a low-flying duck. Radar "eyes" and electronic "brains" make sure the meeting takes place. They guide the pilotless missile to within lethal range of the plane, then explode it.

This teaming of intricate tracking and computing devices was made possible by teaming of another sort. The electronic control system was developed for Army Ordnance by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and the Western Electric Company, close-working research and manufacturing units of the Bell System.

It's just one of the many important military projects being entrusted to the Bell System.

Once And For All . . .

In the general election to be staged Monday and Tuesday students will decide, once and for all, what Tech's official school song will be.

Listed on the ballot will be three possible choices. They are:

1. To retain the present school song, "O College Mother, Beautiful," or
2. Change the official school song to the "Matador Song,"
 - a. Using the present lyrics,
 - b. Writing new verses, or
3. Have an entirely new song written.

If Techsians wish to change their school song, now is the time to do it, since the college is still comparatively young.

The main objections to the present song, "O College Mother, Beautiful," are that it is not widely enough known among the student body and that it is sung to the tune of the oft-used hymn, "America, the Beautiful."

While some students feel that an entirely new song should be written, such an undertaking would take several months at best, and the new song would have to be approved in another general election.

On the other hand, the "Matador Song" is known and loved by practically every student as well as thousands of exes. Though the present words are particularly applicable to the football team, they might be rephrased to mean all students. Every Techsian is, in a broader sense, a "Matador" or a "Red Raider."

By designating "O College Mother, Beautiful" as the college hymn, both could still be kept as traditional school songs.

Pat's Patter

Article Creates Local Comment; Profs Disagree On 'Youngsters'

We read a comprehensive article on "The Younger Generation" in last week's issue of Time magazine.

An interesting portion of the selection dwelt upon college students. A poll taken of the nation's educators left the impression students no longer had any fighting beliefs. Class room note-takers had no convictions and would not speak out for anything, perhaps for the fear of being tagged "subversive."

We asked five faculty members what they thought of this part of the excerpt. The persons, who taught subjects in which there normally would be discussion, were of varied opinions. Three interviewees didn't agree with the paragraphs, or at least didn't believe they were entirely right; two thought the article was a true picture of the collegians, and only wished it weren't so.

Opinion expressed by those not in agreement indicated students were smarter and more mature than they used to be. Professors can't get rises out of classes by sensationalist methods because students are too smart; they can see through sham.

Also undergraduates are convinced of the futility of argument, which is perhaps the fault of instructors.

Plungers Get Trophy In Washbowl Scramble

By JOHN NORCROSS
Toreador Editor

Probably we'll never see the day of women's pro football, but the gals have made their mark in the collegiate football world—at least at Tech.

Proud possessors of the Washbowl trophy are the Pink Plungers of Women's Dorm IV. The prize was awarded the football champs, who won the bowl tussle in the four extra downs of play, by Al Alschuler, Lubbock merchant.

Coached by members of the Tech football squad, the all-girl team, Sophisticated Stoppers of Enlarging upon this statement, one professor said perhaps the docile attitude arose because the quality of college teaching wasn't as good; professors are too unfair or believed in the curve system of grading.

One prof thought students didn't speak up about anything.

Women's Dorm III and Pink Plungers of Women's Dorm IV, fought an exciting, scoreless battle in the second annual Washbowl game last Friday.

Both teams were tired, but still fighting as the Plunger supporters roared "fd for the double-P!" in the closing minutes of the game.

Honored as queen of the affair at halftime with the pomp and dignity befitting the occasion was Dr. E. N. Jones, vice-president of the college.

Last year's queen was James G. Allen, dean of student life.

Wednesday will be an important day for Techsians. Students will have an opportunity to contribute blood to be sent directly to Korea, for use on the terrible battlefield where many former Techsians are now fighting.

Sponsored by the Red Cross in cooperation with the defense department, bloodmobiles will be stationed at the naval reserve building on the campus. This is the first time residents of this

BACKTALK

Dear Editor:

After searching "both" pages of Tuesday's Toreador (including multitudinous advertisements), we have found no indication of the outcome of the annual Washbowl game played last Friday.

Since both of the Girls' Dorms are striving to establish this as an annual event, we feel that it should receive as complete coverage as other campus sports. Although we appreciate John Lee's recognition in "Highlights of the Game," it is not an adequate representation. Couldn't you have published statistics of the game, a resume of the half-time activities, outstanding plays and players of both teams?

Incidentally, if you haven't heard, the coveted Washbowl trophy of 1951 is on display in the lounge of Women's Dorm IV.

Yours for better coverage

The Toreador blushes at its inadequate coverage of the Washbowl game. Though it was not the intention of the sports staff or the editor to slight the women's sport activity, you are right in asking for better coverage. For further information on the game, see today's sports column.—The Editor area have had a chance to contribute blood for the Korean wounded.

The Red Cross reports that approximately two out of every hundred servicemen who have lost their lives in the war since July, could have been saved had there been a sufficient supply of blood plasma on hand.

Americans have shamefully fallen down on the job, apparently through apathy. Goal for the Lubbock area has been set at 300. Why not make it 3,000? If enough interest is shown, we are confident that Techsians will be given another opportunity to contribute blood, should facilities not be adequate to take care of all donations in the drive.

Sign up for a donation today by calling the Red Cross office, 853. Every pint of blood contribute may mean a life saved on the battlefield!

Raiders To Face Hurricane

Sneed Meets BSU Tuesday

Sneed Hall Gyp Millers face the Bums of the Baptist Student Union in the first game of intramural touch football playoffs at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Both teams enter the game with perfect records. The Sneed team from the west wing of that dorm passed their way through for five victories behind Bob Lewallen. Sammy Fitzhugh has been a standout for the Sneed nine in the pass receiving department.

Lewallen and Fitzhugh have been fronted by one of the toughest lines in intramural football this year.

No two players stand out so much for the BSU which has a well-rounded and accomplished backfield. However, George Worrell and Tom Brown, veterans from the team which won the all-college playoff last year, have led the Bum offense most of the season.

In recent games a first year man, Bob Webster, has been the spark of the BSU scoring. His superb passing ability accounted for the largest intramural score Monday when the BSU downed Tech Band 54 to 0. Fine work by Powell Hinson, Ray Vanderpool and Earl Hutcherson has aided the Bums greatly.

The Bums boast sufficient line strength to use a two-platoon system in most games.

Texas Tech's Red Raiders battle with the mother of their split-T formation tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Skelly stadium in Tulsa.

It is the battle of the year for the Raiders who began use of the split-T only this year when Coach WeWitt Weaver came to Tech from an associate position on the Tulsa Golden Hurricane coaching staff.

The Raiders will be battling to stop the Hurricane that has not been quelled in six of seven starts this year. Tulsa's only loss was a 47 to 35 trimming by Cincinnati university.

Tulsa has taken over the national lead as offense leader with an average of 485.9 yards per game. While doing so they have scored less than 30 points in only one game. That was the 27 to 21 victory over Marquette.

The Hurricane has won 11 straight games at home, but the Raiders will be trying to cut off that string there, seeking revenge for the 39 to 7 loss on Tech Homecoming last year. Some 15,000 are expected to see the two teams clash in "old home week" at Skelly stadium.

The Raiders go into the game after a week rest. They leave Lubbock at noon today flying to the Oklahoma oil city. They will return Saturday night after the game.

Stopping of fullback Howard Waugh and halfback Jack Crocker on the ground and Ronnie Morris' passes will be a chief objective of the Raiders. Waugh has carried 100 times for 759 yards and five touchdowns. Crocker has carried 596 yards in 78 times, scoring seven times. Morris has completed 41 of 79 passes for 585 yards in Lettermen are David Bullen, Bob Kain, Bob Pyle, Ben Street, Milton Tucker, and Fred Willis. Other members are Van Baucum, Wesley Farmer, Jamie Gage, Robert Geeling, Carl Hart, Wally Larkin, Wauldron Leach, Charles Lovering, Jess Melvain, Dean Taylor and Joel Werther.

Socci, College Club; Wranglers, Keys Meet Sunday; Two Leagues Close Play

Socci meets College Club in Jones stadium and Silver Keys meet Wranglers behind the Gym in feature MICC league games Sunday afternoon.

Other games match Kemas and Adelphi in the old stadium and Centaurs and Los Camaradas behind the Gym.

In winding up the Independent league play Wednesday afternoon the Unknowns defeated the Westminster Student fellowship 7 to 0 on passes of 50 and two yards from Steve Eckstein to Bill Wright, and an extra point pass to C. B. Fisher.

Oris Reynolds passed Billy Calvin, later to Tommy Powell, ran an extra point and passed another to Donnie Elliff as Men's Dorm III stopped Dorm IV 14 to 0. In the other final game in the Dorm league Tuesday Doak downed Sneed East 12 to 7. Sonny Stanford and Forrest Williams scored the t.d.s for the winners. John Weaver scored for Sneed on a pass.

Foot
BALL-pointed penning . . .
By Jimmie Henley

Tech will play one of its most important games of the year tomorrow when the Raiders face the Tulsa Golden Hurricane. The Tulzans are definitely rated as winners, but Tech will be fighting every inch.

Enthusiasm is very high for the game. The Raiders want revenge for the 39 to 6 drubbing they took from the 1950 Hurricane. Coach DeWitt Weaver and one assistant, Jack Mitchell will be trying to out-manuever their boss of last year, who is a former Raider.

Definitely to the Raiders' advantage is that Weaver and Mitchell know the Tulsa team. It will take great defensive play for the Raiders to stay in the game tomorrow for the Hurricane is the national leader in offense with an average of 485 yards per game (four more than the unofficial figure published by The Toreador Tuesday).

Still trying for a successful prediction, we'll take Tulsa by 13 points.

We congratulate Women's Dorm IV on winning the Wash Bowl trophy this year, but we still can't understand how a negative yardage (or inches maybe) could win against a decided forward yardage.

Not to take the risk of picking a winner, we will simply forecast the best game in 1951 intramural football when the Sneed Hall Gyp Millers play the Baptist Student Union Bums Tuesday.

After Thanksgiving, varsity and intramural basketball gets started . . . the Red Raiders' first home games is Dec. 3 . . . in intramurals, leagues and schedules are now being set up. With a large number of teams entered, we hope for more leagues, perhaps two dorm leagues, a league of departmental clubs, a league of religious groups and the MICC loop.

because they didn't care about anything—the teachers were the ones afraid of being called subversive.

On the other side of the discussion, one faculty person spoke strongly in favor of the poll results. He said students had no militant beliefs—they were more interested in defending institutions rather than examining them, especially at Tech.

"Both teacher and pupil accept whatever exists largely because they think it is impossible to change things. The only persons who have strong beliefs are the ultra-conservatives," he added.

When approached about the piece, one professor commented the present attitude is a reaction after the era of veterans. These persons were the most alert students most educators have ever taught; therefore the younger group seems docile. Also, he said, young people may be afraid to question things because of character assassination which would result from a difference of set opinion.

All in all, we enjoyed the discussions which arose from the well-written paragraphs of the article. And we only hope some of our readers will have further comments they would like to make.
