La Ventana's 1952 'Whistle Baiters' As 16 Are Selected Campus Beauties

Sixteen Tech women have been named campus beauties instead of 12 as previously planned, according to Dick Brooks, La Ventana editor. The contest was held Sunday in the Aggie auditorium.

From these 16 coeds, six will be chosen by some outstanding judge as top beauties.

Finalists Listed

One hundred and ten Techsans entered the preliminary contest.

Conover To Be Judge

"We are trying to contact Harry Conover, head of the Conover modeling agency, to select the top six beauties," Brooks said.

Photographs will be made of all 16; the winning six will be unknown until the yearbook comes out next spring.

Preliminary judges were Floyd Koen and Joe Manicappelli, commercial photographers, and Culver Hill, local businessman.

Danforth Fund To Award Fellowships

Dr. A. W. Young, liaison officer of the Danforth Foundation at Texas Tech, has announced the inauguration of a series of graduate fellowships for college seniors and first-year graduates preparing for teaching careers.

Dr. Young said the fellowships will be granted on the basis of need with amounts varying from $500 to $2,400. The Danforth Foundation has sponsored a freshman scholarship at Tech for five years, and the fellowship is a new undertaking by the foundation.

The foundation, with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., said the fellowships were open to graduate students who planned to enter graduate school for their first year of study in September, 1952.

Any student wishing application forms or further information may get in touch with Dr. Young.

Flag Ceremonies Gain Military Air

Addition of a public address system in the military science department now lends a more military air to the flag lowering ceremonies, according to Maj. V. B. Penuel, assistant professor of military science and tactics.

"Courtesy to the flag is not only a military responsibility but equally a civilian one," he said. Many students are guilty of driving or walking heedlessly by during flag ceremonies, he continued.

"The correct procedure when the flag is raised or lowered is to stop and face the flag. Men should take off their hats and hold them over their hearts. Women should hold their right hands over their hearts," Penuel pointed out.

The first bugle call played over the public address system will be "Retreat," he said. The flag will be lowered when the second call, "To the Colors," is played. "The Star Spangled Banner" or "To the Colors" is correct for flag ceremonies," he said.

Techsans Work In Recreation Center For Migratory Laborers

Several Tech students have been working in the recreation center for migratory laborers sponsored by the National Council of Churches of Christ, according to Wayne Selsor, director of student work at First Christian church.

The center is located at 1513 Ave. H and is open to all migratory workers on Saturday from 10:30-7:30 p.m. and Sunday from 2-5 p.m. throughout November.

Games, movies and records are offered and church services are held on Sunday.

10 More Mailing Days 'Till Xmas

Nov. 15 is the deadline for mailing Christmas packages to members of the armed forces and American civilian employees of the armed forces who are overseas.

The army, air force and navy postal services instruct people to pack gifts securely, address them correctly and send no perishables.

Gives Hint

C. H. Peak, Tech postmaster, gives some hints about preparing a package for mailing. Use a substantial cardboard or lightweight wooden box; if the material can be crushed or broken, pack plenty of paper around it to prevent moving in the box. Use heavy, durable paper for wrapping, and securely tie the package with strong cord.

Peak said "perishable articles will spoil faster when they are packed tightly."

Packages Rewrapped

He remarked that the New York postoffice keeps a force of workers who retie, rewrap and repack packages for overseas shipment. It is important that the gift be properly wrapped before it is mailed.

Christmas cards may be sent by airmail until Dec. 1.

AM PROFS ATTEND MEETING

R. C. Mowery and N. J. Allen of the animal husbandry department are attending a meeting of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers association this week in El Paso.

Wassenich Is Speaker At Monday Meeting

Rev. Paul Wassenich set the pattern for the 1951 Tech Religious Emphasis week at convocation Monday morning when he told a packed Gymnasium that the need today is for "people with convictions."

His topic, "Theos or Chaos" carried out the theme for the week, "God's Certainties in an Uncertain Age." He said that the only answer for the chaotic conditions of today is Theos or God.

In another meeting Monday plans were made for the seminars, which are to be conducted this afternoon and tomorrow.

Three Subjects Listed

Three general subjects will be discussed in the seminars, with two members of the Religious Emphasis week team leading each group in the discussion.

Subjects for the seminars are "Love, Courtship, Marriage and the Christian Home," C101; "Student in a World of Uncertainties—Peace, War, My Vocation," Ad219; "Student's Faith, Concept of God and Religious Experience," Ad260.

Discussion Planned

Today Dr. W. F. Howard and Dr. Harry M. Moffett will lead the discussion in C101; Rev. Doyle Ragle and Rev. Paul Wassenich will lead the discussion in Ad219; Dr. James D. Bales and Charles S. Carter will conduct the session in Ad260. Discussion leaders tomorrow will be Ragle and Bales, C101; Carter and Howard, Ad219; Moffett and Wassenich, Ad260.

In the initial lecture Rev. Wassenich said that the present college generation is a "silent generation." He used an illustration of the reluctance of students to enter into classroom discussions.

No Time For Silence

This is "no time to be silent" but for people with convictions to express them, he said.

The generation was born in a

Penuel Announces Military Lecture

"Activities of the Corps of Engineers" will be the subject of a talk by Col. H. R. Hallock, executive of the Fort Worth district of engineers, Nov. 15 at a meeting of the Society of American Military Engineers, announced Major V. A. Penuel, assistant professor of military science and tactics.

All engineering students and graduate engineers interested in commissions in the army engineers or in civil service as an employee of the army engineers are invited to attend the lecture, which will be given at the Engineering auditorium at 7:30 p.m., Col. Penuel said.

Hallock will also visit various phases of the army ROTC during his visit on the campus.

Students Urged To Try For Parts In Next Production, 'Stage Door'

"Stage Door," a collaboration of Edna Forber and George Coffman will be the next play presented by the speech department, according to Miss Cecilia Thompson, director.

Anyone interested in the theatre is urged to try for a part since there are 30 roles to be filled. A definite date for readings will be announced later, said Miss Thompson.

"Stage Door" has played on Broadway and was released as a film 10 or 15 years ago.

Billie Louise Hutchings, speech graduate, is teaching speech and dramatics in Pampa Public schools this year. Billie is a 1950 graduate.

depression, grew up during a war and educated facing another war, he pointed out. The reason for the present chaotic conditions is that "man is not in harmony with God," he said.

Rev. Wassenich said this is a time in which students need to turn to God in prayer. He said that there is evidence of the springing up of prayer groups on college campuses today.

Dr. Ragle will be the convocation speaker tomorrow and Dr. Moffett will conclude the week's program at the Thursday morning convocation.

Hilton Scholarships Available To BA's

Applications for the C. N. Hilton scholarships in business administration are closing Monday, Nov. 12, according to John Harding, assistant professor of management.

Four $100 scholarships, provided by the president of the Hilton hotels, are available to high-ranking business students in each class.

These scholarships which are awarded on application only, should be applied for in the office of the dean of business administration.

McElroy Thanks Students For Homecoming Activities

"In behalf of all ex-students of Tech I wish to express appreciation to the many students who participated in Homecoming activities," said D. M. McElroy of the Ex-students association, Thursday.

"I believe this year's celebration was the best in Tech's history," he said.

Local Advertising Director Speaks To Marketing Club

Floyd Buzan, director of advertising and display for S&Q clothing, spoke to the Tech Marketing society at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Ad201. His subject was "What Motivates People to Buy."

Recently elected officers of the club are Coffee Conner, president; Raymond Stoneham, vice-president and Barbara Martin, secretary.

J. E. Dykes, marketing instructor, and George G. Heather, dean of business administration, are club sponsors.

Wiggins To Speak In Dallas On Americanism In Schools

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Tech, will leave Thursday night for Dallas where he will speak to the Central Dads club at their meeting Friday at 8 p.m. in the Baker hotel.

Dr. Wiggins will discuss the importance of the Dads club Americanism program during what is expected to be the largest meeting in the history of the club.

The organization is composed of some 800 members from 57 Dallas Dads clubs. The first uniform Americanism teaching program to be adopted by any major school system was recently drawn up by this group.

Will Rogers Birthday Memorial Sunday Features Parade, Ballad Singer, Movie

"David Harum," movie starring the late Will Rogers, was a featured part of the program held Sunday in commemoration of Rogers' birthday.

Members of the Tech Rodeo association and Lubbock Sheriff's Posse paraded down Broadway, ending up at the statue of Rogers on Tech campus.

Wreath Presented

V. T. Brady, president of the Posse, gave a commemoration address before placing a wreath at the foot of the statue.

A brief biography of Rogers was presented by Kenneth Owen, Tech student from Lubbock. Following the biographical sketch, Brownie McNeil, noted ballad collector, presented a program of southwestern songs.

Sister-in-Law Attends

Rogers' sister-in-law, Mrs. W. L. Marshall of Lubbock, presented a banjo that once belonged to the humorist to the museum. The instrument, along with two books about Rogers' life, is on exhibit. Also on display is a bronze bust of the star, recently presented to the school by Amon G. Carter.

The books are "The Autobiography of Will Rogers," edited by Donald Day, and "Will Rogers, His Wife's Story," by Betty Rogers.

Speechsters Will Leave Friday For Dramatic Interpretation Meet

Jo Simmons, Mrs. Halcyon Hildreth, Harriet Henderson and Gerald Wayne Tippitt will leave Friday for the Dramatic Interpretation festival at Baylor university, Waco.

The students will be accompanied by Cecilia Thompson, assistant speech professor and Wallace Jackson, speech instructor. Miss Thompson, a guest reader at the annual meeting, and Jackson will serve as interpretation critics.

Orchids And Onions!

No Punches Pulled When Techsans Get Chance To Beef, Brag About Teachers

By THELMADEANE HUTCHINS and DOLORES KETCHERSID

Toreador Staff Writers

The average Tech student considers himself something of an expert on teachers. And after all, why shouldn't he be? He has associated rather closely with the critters for a matter of some 13 to 16 or more years.

That the above situation is disconcertingly true we found out when we began an assigned poll designed to "find out what Tech students think of their teachers?"

Gleanings Recorded

Herewith are recorded the grades and pedagogical ire fall gleanings of our professional curiosity on the subject, the chips, the where they may. For reasons held by students questioned, whether obvious or not, the reasons—that is, names have been withheld.

All statements are bonafide, even though some of them obviously were made with tongue in cheek (which impairs talking with a reporter no end, we assure you).

Statements Listed

"They are excellent in giving instructions and making material clear, but teaching methods vary too much."

"A teacher needs understanding (of students), and should be willing to admit making mistakes."

"Teachers should make their lectures vivid and alive. Some of them put me to sleep."

"They should just be willing to realize that even a person who acts like a know-it-all needs understanding and help."

"Well, some of them could be a little better. If they would just catch up with the times, it would help."

"A teacher shouldn't just sit up and talk about nothing. If they're going to lecture for an hour they should have something to say."

"I like for a teacher to lecture in class on what he plans to give on tests. I don't mind his not going into detail but I do want the subject mentioned."

"No pop tests."

"A teacher should be interested in his subject, and to be so interested that he will, well, inspire his students. I like for him to know every little thing about his subject, too."

"As a whole the Tech faculty is a swell bunch, but some of them are stinkers."

"My favorite teacher does absolutely everything to get a student to learn. Gives extra instruction, holds labs at night, loans books and visits students."

And no doubt if education could be infused into some of the Techsters we know, like a blood transfusion, these poor teachers would be toted to the hospital regularly.

Anyway, Techsters, or some of them, have had their say, and now in order to retain the reputation of being "fa'r and sqar," The Toreador will no doubt poll the instructors on their opinions of the students hereabouts. Sort of a mutual exchange of bouquets.

Results Announced For Draft Tests

Sixty-three per cent of the 339,000 students who took the Selective Service College Qualification Tests last Spring and Summer made a score of 70 or better, Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service, reported recently. He said a further breakdown of the results of the former tests would be available within a short time.

The new series of tests will be given Thursday, December 13, 1951, and Thursday, April 24, 1952, by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, New Jersey, at more than 1,000 different centers throughout the United States and its territories. The blanks may be obtained by the registrant at any local board office.

General Hershey stressed the importance of all eligible students taking the test, an indication that those who do not have test score results in their cover sheets may have a "very difficult time indeed" in convincing their local boards that they should be deferred as students.

The reason some fat men are good natured is because they can neither fight nor run.

Speech Production Closes After One Week Run Here

"My Heart's In The Highlands," first speech department play of the semester, closed Saturday after a successful week's run.

Director of the play was Cecilia Thompson, speech instructor.

Someone suggested to Congress that the Rocky Mountains be leveled off, but the administration did not feel that it was costly enough to be practical.

Taking the lead roles were Gerald Wayne Tippitt as Mr. McGregor and Jo Simmons as Johnny.

The final selection will be announced at halftime during the Dec. 1 game with Hardin-Simmons university.

Ailing Diva Cancels Scheduled Concert

Helen Traubel, dramatic soprano who was to appear on the Artists course program Monday night, cancelled her concert because of illness, announced R. A. Mills, advisor to the Artists course committee.

Kurt Weinhold, vice president of Columbia Artists Management, Inc., notified Mills Friday that Miss Traubel had a serious virus infection and would be unable to fulfill her contract.

Attempts to book the Wagnerian soprano at a date sometime in the spring are being made, said Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the music department.

If Miss Traubel is not available, another artist of equal fame or a major symphony orchestra or ballet company will replace her, according to Dr. Hemmle.

Over 200 Invited To Aggie Pig Roast

Over 200 persons have been invited to attend the annual fall pig roast to be held by the Agriculture club in the Aggie Judging pavilion at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday, according to John Smith, organization president.

The purpose of the roast is to announce the 1951-52 judging teams. The agriculture division has teams for animal husbandry, dairy manufacturing and crop judging.

This roast is the main social affair of the fall semester for this group, Smith said.

Popular Spot . . .

One of the most popular buildings on the Tech campus was designed for your comfort and convenience.

The Recreation hall is open day and night, with its divans, colorful curtains, tables, and throw rugs placed there for your enjoyment. The building, which is divided into two sections, serves a multiple purpose.

You can get a cup of coffee, sandwich, candy bar, or eoke in the Green room between classes. And at night it is usually the scene of some social function. School organizations have found it to be an ideal place for holding dances and coffees.

The Recreation room is equipped with ping pong tables, magazine racks, divans, chairs, and tables. Students pay a small deposit to use some of the articles, but whatever money is taken in by the Rec hall goes back into the school fund.

But the long, sage green building, a refugee from an army camp, probably will be returned to Reese Air Force base sometime within the next year. The first unit of a new $1,500,000 Student Union is being constructed in its place and may be completed by summer.

We'll all hate to see the old Rec hall go, but the new Union building will be much bigger and better, and will be large enough to handle the overflow crowds which have been jamming the Rec hall for the past few years.

However, since it is indefinite as to when the other two sections of the Union building will be constructed, wouldn't it be a good idea for a few years at least, to keep the Rec hall? The first section of the Union building will not be as large as the Rec hall, but the two combined will be adequate until the second and third units of the Union building are completed.—Don Swanson.

Shakespeare Once Said . . .

Mid-semester reports will be out soon, and with them will come the usual exclamations of "Gosh, I wish I'd taken time to study for that last quiz," or "How could I possibly have so many cuts in that class?"

However, if you find a grade or two on your report that you're not proud of, you still have time to bring them up to par. A little midnight oil burning right now may save you heartaches later.

Of course, we're not all geniuses, but with a little effort, any Tech student can make that all-important 1-point grade average which makes him eligible for extra-curricular activities.

By extra-curricular activities we mean such things as holding student offices, participating in intercollegiate activities and representing the college at conferences. Like any normal college student, you probably are taking part in a number of these activities. In fairness to yourself, then, you must strive to maintain the required grade average.

Shakespeare once said something which ran, "This above all, to thine own self be true." He probably wasn't thinking of college students at the time, but the idea is applicable to any Tech student's situation. Your first responsibility in college is to yourself.

Under The Breezeway

By SHIRLEY JOHNSON
Toreador Associate Editor

We had a wonderful evening at the speech department's play "My Hearts in the Highlands," thoroughly enjoying every moment of it. We came away from the auditorium feeling that we had been royally entertained.

However, after listening to some qualified (they told us they were qualified) observers, we have learned that we were not supposed to have enjoyed the play and that we should have come away from the scene of the drama with a feeling of dissatisfaction. From reading a critic's review in a professional newspaper and from listening to several coffee-cup commentators we found out that the plot was pointless and the cast barely managed to make a creditable showing.

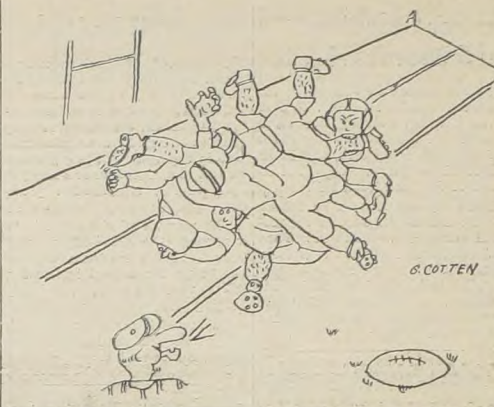

All this leaves us very discouraged with our knowledge of theater. To those astute persons who set our thinking on the right track we apologize for enjoying every minute of "My Heart's in the Highlands," and for leaving the auditorium with a feeling that we had been royally entertained. We'll try not to let it happen again sirs; and we, too, will be in a nasty mood before going to another of those excellent plays.

We quote Tulsa university's newspaper from a feature story on their Student Union building: "The barber shop, downstairs, has served many late shavers in the past year. For those who didn't know, the shop is open to both boys and girls."

We've always wondered if bearded ladies really exist.

From Baylor university comes the story of a little boy who went to church all by himself. When his mother asked him

About The Campuses

The Student court at Trinity university plans strictly to enforce the Senate by-law which forbids the wearing of athletic letters on the campus other than those letters won at Trinity.

Nominees are being chosen at TSCW for Aggie sweetheart. A delegation of Aggies will make the final selection.

One fraternity on the Tulsa university campus came up with a new approach to an old problem—"get acquainted" parties. They decorated the interior of their house with caricatures of each member and pledge, with his name, major and hometown underneath the sketch. The mixer was titled "Pikes Peek Party."

Freshmen on the New Mexico Western college campus are required to wear dunce caps, levis on wrong side out, blouses on backwards and no socks during "Frosh Week." Upperclassmen bid for the "slaves" services, which included anything from washing cars to ironing clothes.

that many of the girls smiled beautifully at the back wall of the stage when turning around, and then grimaced in terror when facing forward toward the judges.

Some of the entrants who were stricken with stage fright before being judged, seemed to recover admirably when they realized that they, dressed and groomed to their best, were being observed by a number of fascinated male spectators. That always adds to a girl's poise and self-confidence.

The signals and gestures made by girls in the audience to their friends and club sisters on stage were almost as entertaining as the expressions of delight and perplexity on the judges' faces.

what the sermon was about, he said, "It was 'Don't worry, you'll get your quilt!'" The worried mother called the minister to see if her little boy had really been to church. The answer was yes, and the sermon text—"Fear not, Thou Comforter Cometh."

House-mothers everywhere have their troubles. At a dormitory meeting at Baylor university an irate supervisor faced a group of bobby pins and cold creamed faces to deplore, "I guess you girls know that the elevator went out last night! One fish meekly wondered, "Where did it go?"

One of the most unusual organizations on the campus is the Cosmopolitan club, organized several years ago by foreign students at Tech. The club offers students from other nations an opportunity to share their common interests and discuss their ideas and problems together.

Many American students on the campus also meet with the group and have been made honorary members. The club meets on the first and third Tuesdays of the month in Ad219.

This year's Religious Emphasis week speakers are top men in the student religious field. Tech students this week should attend as many of the convocations and seminars as possible, since spiritual guidance is a necessary part of one's education.

The RE week program is the result of several months' work on the part of the Student Religious council, whose president is Dean Christian. The group has brought the best speakers and lecturers available to the campus and deserves a "thank you" from the entire student body for their efforts.

Texas A&M came up with some interesting problems. Seems they have enough spaces but students will not observe regulations and park in the designated areas. A poll reveals that there is one car for every three Aggies.

An announcement in "The Chase," Eastern New Mexico university's school paper, ran as follows: Three bucks will buy you eight months of Life in the bookstore; A bargain for any dead student.

Someone down at the University of Texas, tired of observing national weeks such as United Nations week, National Pharmacy week, National Cat Week, etc., has suggested that there be proclaimed an International Week to End All Weeks Week, and then start measuring time by the month.

He was called to active duty Nov. 1, 1950, and attended movie projectionist school in San Diego, Calif., before being assigned to the naval ammunition depot in Keyport, Wash. Prior to his call to duty, Jenkins attended Arlington State Junior college. He is planning to continue his education at Texas Tech or Texas A&M.

Former Tech students Ralph Sharp and Jack Shelby are taking cadet training at Columbus Air Force base, Columbus, Miss. They will be assigned to advanced flying in January. Sharp has the rating of cadet sergeant and Shelby is a cadet captain.

Pfc. Paul B. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Green of Knox City, has been assigned to Camp Pendleton, Oceanside, Calif. He has been visiting his parents in Knox City and a brother, Otis Green, of 1701 Ave. L in Lubbock after completing boot camp training at San Diego, Calif. Green is a 1950 music graduate of Tech. He has been assigned to work in Intelligence.

Cpl. and Mrs. George Carpenter are living in Hopkinsville, Ky., where he is stationed with the 11th Airborne division of the armed forces. Mrs. Carpenter is the former Bettye Armstrong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Armstrong of Lubbock. Cpl. and Mrs. Carpenter attended Tech for two years prior to his enlistment last January.

Lt. and Mrs. G. D. Vogel are spending five days at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Ponce of 2517 21st street. Upon his return to Camp Kilmer, New Brunswick, N.J., Vogel will be sent to Germany. Lt. Vogel, a 1951 graduate of Tech, and Mrs. Vogel, who graduated in 1950, have been living at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

Leads A Dog's Life

'Babe' Is Taken From The Streets; Has Sparkling Personality, Brown Eyes

By JOHN LEE
Toreador Staff Writer

"I've led a dog's life."

And so goes the story of Babe, pretty-eyed band mascot. Babe, with sparkling brown eyes and an overpowering personality, is a white terrier with black spots.

She has recently become a mother. She was blessed this summer with the arrival of a boy puppy and a girl puppy.

The boy, which answers to the name of Pepper, was given to Joe Haddon, the assistant band director and the girl, whose name is Dammit, was put in the care of Chuck Wilson, a trombonist with the Tech band.

Babe's life as a Texas Techian began on a rainy day last spring when she was picked by members of Kappa Kappa Psi who took pity on her. She was filthy, covered with grease and mud.

The members took her to the band house and set the pledges to work cleaning her up. It was quite an undertaking that first time but the results were amazing. Underneath that grimy exterior lay a refined young lady.

Members of the band immediately fell in love with her and Babe's future was decided.

The first move was to pledge Babe as a Kappa Kappa Psi member. Babe wore a pledge pin for the required length of time on her collar. At the end of that time, she received her pen and became the only female member of KKP at Tech and possibly the only one in the nation, Kappa Kappa Psi being a national organization for men. She attends all meetings of the group.

Near 10,000 Attend Methodist Rally In Jones Stadium Sunday Afternoon

Approximately 10,000 persons including college and high school students attended a Methodist mass meeting Sunday afternoon in Jones stadium.

A parade of three blocks beginning at Ave. Q and proceeding west on Broadway to College Ave. and then to the stadium was staged prior to the gigantic rally.

Plainview, Levelland and Lubbock high schools marched in the parade. The mass meeting of Methodists from 77 churches throughout this area began at 3 p.m.

Bishop Charles C. Selecman of Dallas delivered a sermon entitled "Our Nation's Need of a Spiritual Awakening." Selecman is widely known throughout the United States and spoke in England this summer.

A mass choir of over 1,000 voices was seated in the form of a cross in white robes in the stadium.

Director of the choir was Mrs. R. O. Short of the First Methodist church who is also a part time voice instructor at Tech. Organist was Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, also of First Methodist church.

Sitting in front of the choir were the three bands and in front of the bands, approximately 40 Christian and American flag bearers. Congregational singing was led by Charles Dean of Plainview.

Raiders Held To 27 Points By Battling TWC Miners

The Red Raiders kept their conference record clean Saturday as they downed a surprisingly strong Texas Western team 27 to 7.

The Raiders were expected to swamp the Miners but strong Homecoming spirit on the part of the El Paso crew did everything but bottle up the West Plains team.

The Techsans scored first on an 80-yard sustained drive when Jim

Socii, Keys Lead MICC Football

Silver Key and Socii assumed the leadership of the Men's Inter-Collegiate Council intramural football league after weeked victories.

Silver Keys downed Los Camaradas 7 to 6 Saturday, then romped over the Centaurs 8 to 0 Sunday afternoon. After defeating Kemas 13 to 0 Saturday, Socii ripped through Los Cams 7 to 0 Sunday.

Jack Alderson sparked the Key lineup, passing for two touchdowns and contributing to the scoring of the safety against the Centaurs. Saturday he passed to Bill Black for the t.d. then ran over the extra point. Sunday, after passing 50 yards to Richard Clarke on the second play for a counter, he sparked a penetration that later was turned into a safety by Fred Whittenburg.

Ray Marsh passed to Darryl Flemming for the Cam counter Saturday.

Sammy Hale led Socii to victory, scoring a touchdown Saturday, passing to Dan Ritter for the only

Turner plunged over from less than a yard out. The drive featured Bobby Cavazos' run of 22 yards, gains of 11 yards by Turner and 14 yards by Arterburn and a 24-yard pass play from Arterburn to Turner.

Turner tallied the second counter on a twisting 45-yard jaunt.

The second half got off to a bang-up start as Noel McCormick of Texas Western returned the opening kickoff 89 yards for the first Western points. This brought the score to 14 to 7 with only 15 seconds gone.

O'Grady recovered a wild lateral from Miner Billy Bob Plumby on the Tech 44 and Cavazos climaxed the push with a t.d. after Elmer Wilson has picked up two first downs and Turner and Arterburn made long runs.

Red Phillips set up the final Raider tally when he intercepted a Miner pass on the midfield stripe and carried it all the way to the Western nine. From there, Arterburn, on fourth down plunged over from the four. Punk Whitaker missed the only one of four attempts for extra point, making the score 27 to 7.

Phillips, Ray Howard, Whitaker and Billy Wright were standouts in the line.

Socii counter Sunday and intercepting a Los Cam pass on the Socii 10-yard line to stop a Cam drive Sunday. Don Pope scored the second Socii t.d. Saturday. Ken Daniels accounted for one point in each contest, on a run against the Kemas and taking Hale's pass against the Cams.

WEATHER HALTS GAMES

Cold weather Monday afternoon brought the postponement of the Independent league games between Tech band and Dairy Manufacturing club and the Wesley Wildcats and Baptist Student Union Buns.

The games will be played Wednesday. Today Sneed East takes on Men's Dorm IV and West hall tackles Sneed West. Friday the BSU meets the Unknowns and the Methodists face Westminister Student Fellowship.

Philbrick Warns Of Nearing Basketball Entry Deadline

Deadline for intramural basketball entries will be on Nov. 15, according to George Philbrick, director of Intramural sports.

The teams will be divided into three brackets: dorm, independent and social club. These may be broken down into sub-divisions if sufficient teams enter.

Last year the Kemas, social club champions, downed the Cherry Pluckers in the All-college playoffs, 34 to 33 in an overtime period.

Two of the most evenly matched teams in female football history will battle for the annual Wash Bowl championship Friday afternoon in Jones stadium.

The defending champion Sophisticated Stoppers of Girls Dorm III will carry a slight weight advantage, but will meet a letterman-laden team from Dorm IV. Dorm IV's Pink Plungers boast seven lettermen, while the Stoppers must depend on lettermen Harriet Moltz, Marvel Gibner and Rhett McMaster for their experience.

Captained by experienced Dodie Stokes and Corrinne Bowlin, the Plungers will attempt to oust the Stoppers from the Wash Bowl throne which they captured by a score of 20 to 7 in the first annual Wash Bowl tilt last year. The Stoppers will be captained by quarterback Jan Doggett.

The Plungers are coached by former Tech gridsters Don Seale and Denton Lambert, while the Stoppers are being drilled by George Ferrell and another former ball player, Don Anthony.

Half-time activities will include... See PLUNGERS BOAST, P. 8

The Signal Caller

By JOHN LEE

"Dutch" Meyer's Horned Frogs have done more to build Tech's prestige in the last three weeks than any other team Tech has faced in 10 seasons.

The humiliating way in which Tech beat TCU has spurred them on to greater achievements.

The week after Tech leveled the Frogs 33 to 19 TCU made a courageous comeback to down one of the best teams in the Southwest. The mighty Cadets of A&M hadn't lost a game until TCU came from behind to nip them 20 to 14. That morale-shattering loss has so unnerved the Aggies that they have been unable to win since then.

The next week, the Horned Frogs journeyed to the coast and battled the Trojans of Southern California down to the wire before losing out 26 to 28.

Back to Texas came the giant killers of TCU to face the only unbeaten team left in the Southwest conference. The mighty Baylor Bears, rated tops in Texas.

Apparently, the Horned Frogs hadn't read Baylorite Larry Isbell's press clippings. TCU's sophomore flash, Ray McKown, passed and ran the Fort Worth school to a 20 to 7 win, again coming from behind to cop the favored role to wind up in the Cotton bowl.

Has anyone seen Gib Jackson's glasses?

Jackson, you may remember, was the bespectacled man in official's garb who assessed Tech 143 yards in penalties in the Homecoming game against Arizona (for whom his son plays).

Memphis, Here I Come

Eight Tech Women Announce For Maid Of Cotton Contest

By LUCILLE SEYBOLD
Toreador Staff Writer
"Memphis, here I come!"—that is the hope of each of the eight Tech entries in the South Plains Maid of Cotton contest, sponsored this year by Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Winner of the South Plains contest will earn the chance to enter the national finals Jan. 2 and 3 at Memphis, Tenn. There she will vie with 19 other representatives of cotton growing areas for the title of 1952 Maid of Cotton.

The Maid of Cotton will receive special training in modeling from Candy Jones, famous cover girl and wife of Harry Conover, much publicized modeling authority. She will then make a 65,000 mile all-expense paid six-months international tour as fashion envoy of the U. S. cotton industry, modeling a $5,000 all-cotton wardrobe and she will receive a 1952 Ford convertible automobile.

Prospective candidates for title of South Plains Maid of Cotton are:

MARY LOU PATTON, sophomore advertising student from Colorado City, is being sponsored by DFD social club.

Mary Lou's favorite pastimes are swimming and dancing.

Cotton is farmed in the Colorado City area and also in California where she was born and lived until she moved to Texas in 1946.

SHIRLEY SPEARS, 20-year-old freshman from Carlsbad, N.M., is being sponsored by Las Chaparritas social club.

Modeling will be nothing new to Shirley, who modeled Adrian Original dresses in Tulsa, Okla., in 1947 and served as a photographer's model in Kansas City, Mo., the next year.

She was a member of National Thespian society.

JEAN WALTON, junior child development major, is being sponsored by the Rotary club in her hometown, Rochester.

Riding and tennis are her favorite hobbies. She belongs to the Home Economics club and is pledging DFD social club.

MARIAN HOLTON, sophomore business major from Lamesa, is being sponsored by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce.

A Tech beauty last year, Marian has brown hair and eyes and a creamy olive complexion.

She is a member of Women's Dorm III legislature and of DFD social club. Her only hobby is her avid interest in music.

ROSEMARY BLOODWORTH, junior applied arts major from Matador, is an independent entry.

Since her father is a cotton farmer and ginmer, Rosemary has been associated with cotton all of her 19 years. She was even born in Whiteflat next door to the cotton gin house.

In addition to playing the piano, Rosemary loves to draw, ride horseback and dance.

MARVEL GIBNER, junior home economics education major from Spearman, is also being sponsored by DFD club.

She is a member of Home Economics club; Future Teachers of America; Junior council, honorary service society.

MARY RUTH SIMS, also an independent entry, is a junior clothing and textiles student from Lubbock.

Mary Ruth is a member of the Home Economics club; Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics society; Junior council. Her favorite hobbies include writing poetry and prose, acting, designing clothes and participating in sports.

JAN DORN, sponsored by DFD social club, is an auburn-haired

Tech's All-American candidate, Jerrell Price (one of the best sports on the Raider team) went in to defend against Billy Bob Plumbley, the Miner passer.

"Sody Pop" went into the air to try to deflect a toss and when he landed, Plumbley happened to be the cushion.

Sody apologized and helped Plumbley up but lo, from the side charged Jackson, pointing his hot, little hands toward the shower room.

Later on Sody apologized further to Plumbley, who told Jerrell that he knew the incident had been unintentional.

She receives her meals as a result of band member contributions.

Babe has slept in both the men's dorms and the women's dorms. She has slept in the boiler room and in the band room and in short usually spends the night wherever she happens to be when the door is locked.

Babe listens in on all of the band practices and is allowed to room at will through the hall except at times when a recording is made. She is left outside as a precaution against howls or barks which might tend to spoil an otherwise good recording.

Babe accompanies the band to the stadium for all football games and has even made one out-of-town trip with the organization.

Thus it was with the stage set for Babe's greatest performance and under the excellent supervision of Hadden (who took care of Babe during the summer months),

Student Fellowship Group Leaves For Lake Brownwood Retreat

Reverend Paul Wassenich, who will speak during Religious Emphasis week here, was leader of the retreat.

Students who attended are Kenneth Holt, Ed Osterloh, Elene Portwood, Bob Larrabee, Fred McKelvy, Nancy McKisack, Robert Burton, O. L. Dear-dorf, Brock Fifer, Aletha McCasland and Sarah Hitt.
