Traffic Violators Must Face Court Of Tech Students

Four Techsians have been appointed to a traffic court which will set up a means of enforcing traffic laws on Tech's campus, according to Bob Schmidt, president of the Student council.

Webster Is Judge

Acting as judge for the court will be Brian Webster, senior engineering major from Lubbock. Other members on the board will include Jim McGraw, junior arts and sciences major from Midland; Marvel Gibner, home economics junior from Spearman, and Red Phillips, senior arts and sciences student from Fort Worth.

In addition to paying the city fine, a student who violates any traffic law on the campus must appear before the court. For the first offense the student will be counseled by the group.

Warning To Be Given

If the student commits a second offense, he will be told the penalties which would accompany a third offense. When the student is brought before the court for the third time, he is reported to the disciplinary committee which has the power to take the student's car away from him if it is deemed necessary.

Further plans will be made by the court when it meets tomorrow night.

Senior Invitations Will Be Selected

Commencement invitations will be selected at a called meeting of the senior class at 5 p.m. tomorrow in Ad260, George Morris, president, said.

Prospective graduates will decide whether or not to include a class role with the invitations. A committee, which was appointed to investigate comparative costs and values of the two types of announcements, will report findings at the meetings, Morris added.

The special committee is composed of Mary Ann Kelly, Roy Grimes, Grace Garrison and Marvin Kitten.

'Full Barrels' Are Sought For Needy Local Families

Barrels for Tech's annual Christmas program will be placed on the Circle tomorrow to receive gifts for needy families, Pat Johnson, publicity director for the program, said.

The program, which will be held at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 19 on the Circle, will be highlighted by the presentation of the barrels to a representative of Lubbock's Salvation Army. A student group from the music department also will present Yuletide carols and lead a campus sing-song.

"We are asking for gifts of candy, food and/or toys which will be given to needy families on Christmas day," Miss Johnson added. The barrels will remain on the Circle until they are given to the Salvation Army Dec. 19.

The annual campus project is sponsored jointly by the Men's and Women's Inter-Club councils.

Student Council Sets November 1 Date For '52 Tech Homecoming Celebration

November 1 was selected as the date for the 1952 Homecoming in a regular meeting of the Student council at 7:15 p.m. yesterday in Ad171.

Tech will play the University of Houston on that day.

Carols Planned

Pending approval from the Dean of Student Life about the hours carols will be played, the council granted permission to Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary band fraternity, to play Christmas songs over the chime system in the Administration building.

Rhea Myers, Dallas senior, was named chairman of a committee to decide on possible awards for dormitory decorations this year. Other members of the committee are Nancy Davis, arts and sciences representative, and Rodney Balke, engineering representative. The committee will decide whether awards will be given this year; and, if so, just what they will be.

Sound Truck To Be Used

Use of the sound truck was given to Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism organization for

Spanish Club To Give Party

Capa y Espada, Tech Spanish club, will be host at a Christmas party tonight for the first grade pupils at Guadalupe school, Lubbock, according to Dr. C. B. Quaila, head of the foreign language department.

Betty Quinlan, 1951 Tech foreign language graduate, is first grade teacher at the Mexican primary school.

Joe Allen Ballard, history graduate of the class of '30, is coordinator of veterans education at Estelline.

women, to advertise Club Scarlet, and to Women's Inter-Club council and Men's Inter-Club council to publicize the annual Christmas program.

Permission was granted to Phi Upsilon Omicron, honorary home economics club, to sell sandwiches and potato salad in dormitories Sunday night, pending approval of the Women's Inter-Dormitory council.

Joplin Heads Group

Charles Joplin, business administration representative, was named chairman of a committee to check on causes for slow clearance through the purchasing office for campus organizations. Others on the committee are Dick Robinson, engineering representative, and Elizabeth Schovajsa, council secretary.

Council members voted to buy a bookshelf for the Student council office for keeping old issues of La Ventana. The yearbook staff gave the books to the council recently.

Date To Be Set

Committee members to arrange a tentative Texas Intercollegiate Student association executive officers meeting are Harold Brannan, chairman; Miss Myers and Brian Boyett, agriculture representative.

The meeting is tentatively scheduled to be held at Tech soon after the Christmas holidays.

Profit Reported

About $165.16 was made from the World Student Service fund talent show, which was held in the Recreation hall last Wednesday night.

Members absent were Hardy Clemons, Jim McGraw, Aubrey "Red" Phillips, Harold Brockett and Jane Foster.

Tech Officials Get No Word From Southern Association

President D. M. Wiggins said yesterday he had received no communication whatsoever from the Southern Association of Colleges in regard to a report issued Thursday by the Associated Press that Tech was not meeting 'one or more standards' of the association.

Colorado Governor Is Slated To Speak For Commencement

Colorado's Governor Dan Thornton, an ex-Tech student, has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address here May 26, it was announced yesterday by President D. M. Wiggins.

Thornton, who was elected governor of Colorado last November on the Republican ticket, attended both Lubbock High school and Tech.

Enters Tech

He entered the college in the late 1920's and later transferred to the University of California in Los Angeles.

Thornton's parents reside in Slaton. The family has lived in this area for over 25 years. During his high school and college days, the 39-year-old ex-Techman was active in FFA and 4-H club work.

Becomes Rancher

He began ranching at Springerville, Ariz., about 16 years ago and at the time of his election last year was widely known as a rancher and cattelman.

Speaker for last spring's commencement exercises was James P. Hart, chancellor of the University of Texas. Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of SMU, delivered the baccalaureate sermon.

Juniors To Plan Mistletoe Picnic

Plans for a Sunday outing to the vicinity of Seymour to obtain mistletoe for sale will be discussed at a junior class meeting to be held 7 p.m. Thursday in the Aggie auditorium.

Dick Witte, class president, said all who want to go will leave about 7:30 a.m. Sunday in trucks borrowed from Elm Implement co. and Furr Food, inc. The money obtained from the mistletoe sales will go toward getting a name band for the junior-senior prom.

Girls can get out of the dormitory to go on the trip, Witte said. There will also be a picnic during the trip for which fifty cents will be charged.

Booths for the sale of the mistletoe will be set up in the Furr Food stores, Batye Drug store and the Ad building.

When asked if he thought the mistletoe would sell Witte replied that one class in Berger made fifty dollars in one afternoon selling on only one corner. Hal Clark, Fort Worth junior, and Witte will go sometime this week to locate the best mistletoe.

FRESHMAN CLASS TO MEET

A meeting of the freshman class has been called for 7 p.m. tomorrow in the Recreation hall, according to Elmer Wilson, president. A talent program has been planned he said.

PLACEMENT DEADLINE SET

Dec. 15 has been set as the deadline for filing of personnel information forms by all January candidates for degrees, according to Mrs. Jean Jenkins, director of the Placement service.

Dr. Wiggins said he understood that "it has been the policy of the commission of higher education of the Southern Association of Colleges to advise with the president of an institution of higher learning in regard to maintenance of standards set by the association."

Report Issued

The report issued by the AP last week did not state what requirements were in question. According to the release, a special committee was appointed by the commission on higher learning to "visit three schools."

The other senior college mentioned was the University of Houston, which the association voted to study to see whether it meets accreditation standards.

ACC Is Admitted

Ablene Christian college was among schools admitted to the association.

Both Dr. Wiggins and Vice-President E. N. Jones expressed the belief that the report probably was in reference to graduate rather than under-graduate work. However, no definite statement can be made until the college has received word from the association.

Six Names Added To 'Handsome' List

Six more men have been entered in "Tech's Most Handsome Man" contest to be held at 8:30-11:30 Friday in the Green room as the evening highlight of Club Scarlet, a mock night club.

New nominees in the contest, an annual event sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism club for women, are Max Roberts, College Club fraternity; Fred McMurray, Socii; Bob Poteet, Centaur; Joe Stoltz, Kemas; Monte Wallace, Adelphi; and Paul Griffith, Saddle Tramps. Previous entries were Jim Choate, Tech Military association, and John Moughon, Double-T association.

Winner To Be Named

Winner of the contest will be named at the close of the program, which will be presented by campus social clubs, according to Mary Anne Kelley, program chairman.

Porkey Parkinson, Pampa senior, will serve as master of ceremonies.

Tickets will be available in the Administration building tomorrow through 12 noon Friday for $1.50 (date) and $1 (stag).

Students attending Club Scarlet will select the "Most Handsome" by voting on the back of their tickets. A date ticket entitles the holder to two votes, while stag tickets are good for only one vote.

Duff Last Winner

Last year's winner was Bob Duff, sponsored by Wranglers.

Students will be able to purchase gum, candy, cokes, cigarettes, fritos, potato chips from Theta Sig club members.

Major Pennel Announces Visit Of ROTC Engineer

Lt. Col. A. M. Jacoby of the chief of engineers, ROTC section, is tentatively scheduled to visit the Tech campus Dec. 18, according to Maj. Victor B. Pennel, associate professor of military science and tactics. Col. Jacoby will observe training and discuss ROTC problems.

Activities Planned By Church Centers

Christmas spirit is invading the campus, and the various church student centers are leading the way with parties and entertainments.

A "Fix-it" party will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Presbyterian student center, 2414 13th street. Broken toys will be repaired and painted to be given to the Salvation Army for distribution and to Milam's orphanage, according to Bill Rogan, director of the center.

Two Christmas plays will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Methodist student center, 2420 15th street, according to Cecil Matthews, director.

The Wesley Players will present the plays. Jim McGraw will direct "Just What They Wanted" and Herbert Brannan will direct "A Sign Unto You."

The Church of Christ Bible chair, 2412 Main St., will have its annual Christmas party at 7:30 Friday night, according to Carl Spain, Bible chair instructor.

Dairy Plant Tour Highlights Regular Delta Sig Meeting

Members and pledges of Delta Sigma Pi, professional business administration fraternity, toured the Bell Ice Cream and Milk company last Tuesday.

The group was shown and told the process through which dairy products pass from the time they are received at the plant until they are delivered to the consumer.

A regular weekly business meeting followed the tour.

Texas U Prof Here Friday To Discuss Sociology Field

Charles L. Laughton, professor of sociology in the graduate school of sociology at Texas university, will speak at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Museum auditorium, according to Miss Mabel Smith, sociology instructor.

Laughton will discuss opportunities in the field of social work and courses offered to graduates in sociology.

Personal conferences by appointment will be held by Laughton all day Friday in L17.

Gillis Teaches, Writes On Southwest Lore

Time was when a person thought nothing of ripping off a ballad with 20 or 30 stanzas. But of course, that was when girls were ALL fair maidens and men clanked around in heavy suits, of armor, that is, Sir Walter Scott himself might find it difficult to sing the praises of a tool pusher from Snyder or some comparable modern figure.

Recently when the Poetry Society of Texas offered a prize for the best ballad with a Texas theme, Dr. Everett A. Gillis, associate professor of English, won it with the "Ballad of Captain Bill McDonald." The colorful Texas Rangers provided a background of adventure for this fearless hero. As the ballad itself so aptly puts it:

"Bill's tale is told in the history books
When they reckon up the dangers —

But his name's like the sound of a bugle call
In the ranks of the Texas Rangers."

Dr. Gillis' interest in both poetry and the folklore of the Southwest began long before this contest. In 1949 he wrote a brochure of poetry called "Sunrise in Texas." Other books of poetry which he has written are "Hello the House" and "Who Can Retreat," both of which came out in 1944. "Sunrise in Texas" and "Hello the House" can be found in the Tech library.

Dr. Gillis' writing experience has qualified him to teach a new course at Tech, creative and professional writing, which is being offered for the first time this year. The class is a select group of students who have either made a B average in English during their freshman and sophomore years or have obtained special permission to take the course.

Class members write different forms of poetry, prose, and drama, learning to slant materials for different markets. Recently written short stories are going to be submitted to magazines. Dr. Gillis said, to acquaint the students with professional markets.

Writing and teaching do not take all of Dr. Gillis' time, however. He is sponsor of Sigma Tau Delta, honorary English fraternity; moderator of the Sachems, faculty forum club that meets at the Hilton hotel, and a member of the Publications committee of the college. He also finds time to sing in the choir of the First Baptist church.

Cotton Committee Suggests Lubbock As Convention Site

Dr. L. E. Hessler, head of cotton research, was in Dallas last weekend where he met with the State-Wide Cotton committee.

This committee worked on the selection of a city and a program for the next annual state convention which will probably be held in July.

Lubbock, Houston, Austin and Dalas have been suggested as possible sites. Final decision will be made in a February meeting of the committee.

Dolls In Museum Exhibit Represent Various Lands, Costumes, Climates

By NANCY BROWDER
Toreador Staff Writer

Highest on the Christmas list for most little girls throughout the land will be a doll. This isn't a new development, for dolls are perhaps the oldest toys known to man, or, pardon, little girls.

From the super-elaborate creations of minute detail, even to finger nails and human hair, that come from Japan and France to the shapeless, cloth-covered cobs revered by little mammas of some American Indian tribes, dolls are, and always have been, tops with the feminine sex and a surprising number of men.

Heaven for any little, or big, girl and many boys would be found in the 75 "Dolls of the World" on display in the Museum historical gallery. The dolls come from more than 40 countries and will remain on display through January.

A Geisha girl, with her intricate hair style and elaborate red printed silk kimono, is most delicately executed, true to Japanese style.

Many of the wardrobes include natural resources for which the country is well known, such as baskets of fruit made from felt carried by two Chilean fruit vendors. The woman, dressed in a full skirted gold and brown striped dress with a matching felt hat, holds a large basket of bananas, while the man, wearing a white shirt and trousers with a black vest and hat, carries a basket of oranges.

The world's craftsmen have used everything from rags to china in fashioning the dolls. Clothing varies from fur parkas to grass skirts and the size of dolls follows this pattern also. Some of the dolls are scarcely an inch high while others tower 18 inches.

Another part of the exhibit is colored plates showing the natives of each of the countries in their natural habitat. This collection represents many individual groups owned by Lubbock people. Those contributing to the display are: Mrs. Alan L. Carter, Miss Mabel Erwin, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Harding, Miss Jane Holden, Miss Margaret Ann Garlin, Mrs. J. N. Michie, Miss Mary Louise Brewer, Mrs. Frank Chappell, Miss Jane Livermore and Mrs. Ivy Savage.

Joyce Celle Dobkins, economics graduate of the class of '34, is co-owner of the Mayatex Fabrics company in Guatemala, Central America.

This Christmas, thousands of us will send thousands of others Christmas gifts. We will send wallets (how many can a man carry) and cigarettes (how many men and women smoke them—and what brand?) We will send these gifts out of a spirit of Christmas giving, out of a desire and hope to leave a lasting and favorable impression.

Why don't we send books?

A gift of books can be as small as a single volume or as large as a shelf; as personal as a book of sonnets, as sedate as a scholarly tome.

A gift of books, like the Christmas Star itself, radiates in all directions: it shines upon the receiver, implying the compliment that he likes to read; it shines upon the giver, warmly reflecting his good judgment and taste.

There is no such thing as receiving too many books: the more one has the more he wants, and, should he get one he already owns, it is the easiest of all gifts to exchange.

With a gift of books you send laughter and learning, adventure and romance, a world of fact and a universe of imagination.

Prof Finds Promise In Prairie, Stays To Help Develop Tech

By MAURINE DENTON
Toreador Staff Writer

The broad West Texas prairie looked pretty bleak to a young man from Indiana 26 years ago when a few buildings cut the endless horizon.

But Dr. Carl Henninger, associate professor of German, must have seen some promise in the unsettled country and in the new college which the Texas legislature said was to provide technological training for the people of West Texas, for he remained here to help build Texas Tech.

Dr. Henninger made a semi-circular route from Indiana to Texas, stopping off at University of Washington, University of North Dakota, Oregon State, and Stanford university to teach.

German is his special field although he has taught both Spanish and French. "I started at Tech as a Spanish teacher," he said, "but when the German professor left before the end of the first year, I took over and I've been teaching German ever since." He has taught German exclusively the last few years.

Dr. Henninger was recently honored by Phi Delta Kappa, national educational honorary fraternity to which Tech has recently petitioned for membership. He is a charter member of that organization.

In 1906, while he was attending Indiana university, he joined with seven other students to form a new educational fraternity which they named Pi Kappa Mu. Henninger was elected charter secretary.

Although there was some objection to the Greek letters name, it was adopted. Indiana's chapter was named Bergstrom after a professor in the education department who had long wanted such an organization and was, Henninger feels, the real founder of it.

The idea caught fire on other campuses — Stanford, Columbia, Iowa State — all soon had chapters. In 1910, all the fraternities adopted the name Phi Delta Kappa. However, Indiana's chapter was recognized as the original one and named Alpha chapter.

One rule of Phi Delta Kappa is that men only are eligible for membership. This caused quite a commotion when Illinois university's petition for membership was rejected because women were on the list, Henninger recalled. Later, an all-male petition from Illinois was accepted, he added.

LEE PUBLISHES BOOK

John Lee, Tech senior journalism student and co-sports editor of The Toreador, has published a new booklet of sports cartoons.

Called the "Western Round-up," members of the Lubbock high school team are characterized in cartoons, and information about the team is printed in the book.

Lee, who published "Red Raider's Rogue's Gallery" in September, placed the new book on sale at the semi-final game between Lubbock and Arlington Heights of Fort Worth in Jones Stadium Saturday.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

No. 30...THE SQUIRREL

This nimble-minded nutcracker almost tumbled for those tricky cigarette mildness tests. But he worked himself out of a tight spot when he suddenly realized that cigarette mildness just can't be judged by a mere puff or one single sniff. Smokers everywhere have reached this conclusion—there's just one real way to prove the flavor and mildness of a cigarette.

It's the sensible test... the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as your steady smoke—on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments. Once you've enjoyed Camels for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), you'll see why...

Five Games On Road Schedule As Tech Tests Squad's Strength

Tech's Red Raiders leave today on their first basketball tour of the year, and their second annual tour of the East.

They open the tour in Raleigh, N.C., Thursday night against North Carolina State college, ranked seventh in the nation by Look magazine. They continue Saturday night against St. Joseph's in Philadelphia, and Monday night against Vanderbilt in Nashville, Tenn., before returning to Texas.

Next Wednesday the Raiders stop in Dallas to meet Texas Christian university, top ranked cage squad in the southwest. They conclude the five game tour Dec. 20 against Southern Methodist. That game is also in Dallas.

Tech launches into the trip with a perfect record, having won a pair of games in the Tulla tournament from Texas Wesleyan college and Hardin-Simmons university, and their only home game of the year against McMurry college of Abilene.

The Raiders played an exhibition intra-squad game in Levelland last night at the Levelland coaching clinic. The Raiders had played a similar intra-squad game for the dedication of the Sudan gymnasium recently.

Tech's eastern tour will be the first real test of the strength of the Raiders who wound up in a second place tie with New Mexico A&M in the Border conference last year.

The Signal Caller

By JOHN LEE

Honors heaped upon honors!

Such is the lot of the surprising 1951 edition of Red Raiders.

A team laden with freshmen, they have proved themselves by winning the Border conference title, getting and accepting the Sun Bowl bid and thrashing soundly the team that won the Southwest conference title.

And they topped off the season by garnering individual honors almost too numerous to mention.

Six Techmen made the Associated Press' Border conference team with Jerrell Price and Red Phillips leading the way by being picked as double duty men. Junior Arterburn, Ray Howard, Bobby Cavazos and Jim Turner also picked up first string selections.

The coaches all-star Border selections placed Price, Phillips, Howard and Cavazos on the first eleven with Arterburn and Turner making the second team. Price was named team captain.

Price and Phillips gained honorable mention on Collier's all-regional Southwest team.

Price picked up a berth on the West team for the East-West Shrine game and Red was invited to join the Grey squad for the Blue-Grey tussle.

Jerrell was also named to the Fort Worth Star-Telegram all-Southwest team (he was the only non-Southwest conference member to get notice).

Sody added to his laurels by being named to the AP second team all-American defensive eleven. At the same time, Phillips, Howard (only a freshman), Cavazos and Arterburn received honorable mentions on the top mythical eleven.

Coach DeWitt Weaver was named Border conference "Coach of the Year" and was included in the balloting for United Press' national "Coach of the Year" which was won, incidentally, by Chuck Taylor, Stanford's "boy wonder."

Cherry Pluckers Take Early Favorite Role In Independent League Basketball

Cherry Pluckers in Independent League II took the favorite role in intramural basketball Friday night as they chalked up the highest score of the season thus far.

They downed the Roughnecks 44 to 28 as Kenneth Pemberton scored 14 points followed by Dudley Stanley and Buddy Brock, each with 10. Ray Lunn led the Roughnecks with 12 points.

In League I Friday night ASCE fell to the Wesley Wildcats 25 to 23. Dale House led the Wildcat scoring with nine points.

In games Thursday the Hardwood Five downed Dairy Manufacturing club 21 to 14 while the Ramblers of League II were falling to the Bulldogs 28 to 24. David Bonner led the attack for the Hardwood Five, scoring 10 points. Jim Rankin scored 12 points for the Bulldogs.

Tonight three Dorm league games will be played. West hall plays Sneed Roughnecks, Sneed Demon Dozen plays the Sneed Gypmills and Dorm III plays Doak Trotters.

Tomorrow night two Independent League I games are slated. BSU Bums play the ASCE and Dairy Manufacturing club meets DSF. Thursday night the Hardwood Five and Wesley Wildcats of League I meet.

Other Thursday games are between the Ramblers and the BSU Quintessence Quintet and the Luby's Chowboys and the AIME.

Keys Retain MICC Lead

Silver Keys continued the favorite to take the MICC league championship Sunday as they downed Kemas 24 to 9 to remain undefeated. Only one set of games remains in the Men's Inter-Club Council loop schedule.

Next Sunday the season will come to a close, with the Keys playing Soci in the feature game. Soci has lost only one game, to College Club. Sunday afternoon they downed Adelphi 7 to 0 as Sammy Hale passed to Don Pope then ran across the extra point.

Jim Farrell, Ross Brown and Richard Clarke did the scoring for the Keys Sunday. Clark scored twice on passes from Jack Alderson, who will not be with the Keys in their final league game.

Eight senior gridsters were among Raiders returning to workouts yesterday after a week's rest. They will see their last college football action when Tech meets College of the Pacific in the Sun Bowl game Jan. 1.

Jerrell Price, 60-minute tackle, will end a brilliant football season in the New Year's day event. Price was named to the AP All-American second team, received honorable mention on several other All-American teams and was the only non-Southwest conference player to gain a berth on the All-Southwest team. He has been selected for every Border conference team, both offensive and defensive, and was named most valuable player in the conference.

Red Phillips, another 60-minute lineman, has also had his share of the football honors. "Big Red," a center, was given honorable mention on the AP and the Colliers All-American teams, and has been selected to every All-Border conference team.

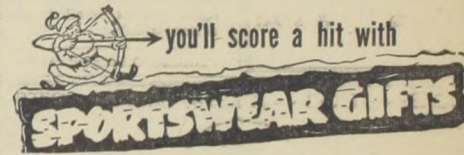

The third senior Tech All-American is quick-thinking Junior Arterburn, who has brilliantly quarterbacked the Raiders all season. Junior was named to the honorable mention bracket of the AP All-American team and was chosen for several All-Border conference teams.

Sturdy Jackie Cockburn, the "brains" on the Raider team, has maintained a 2.4 grade average while playing outstanding defensive football.

Bill O'Grady, Tech's reliable defensive right halfback, has made consistently good tackles in the secondary, while offensive left half Bobby Close has established himself in the punting realm.

Another offensive left halfback, Frank Graves, has made many spectacular runs for the Raiders. Probably Graves missed All-American honors only because he was injured a great deal of the season.

Concluding the list of Raider seniors is Lubbock's John Paul Jones, a center, who has been outstanding as a linebacker. He has stopped many enemy drives with intercepted passes.

Tech Museum Offers Spare Time Education

By DOROTHY THOMPSON
Toreador Staff Writer

You may have seen Clark Gable in "Across the Wide Missouri," but ten to one you didn't compare him with his twin brother, the Neanderthal man of 100,000 years ago.

Perhaps you thrilled to the daring action of Gary Cooper in "You're In The Navy Now" never dreaming that thousands more just like him walked this green earth in 40,000 B.C.

Sound fantastic? It's possible and probable, according to Dr. W. C. Holden, director of Tech's Museum.

Interesting Exhibits

Holden and his protegee, the Museum, are teaming with such interesting facts. On display in the museum now are exhibits dealing with everything from a shrunken head, compliments of a tribe of South American headhunters, to a replica of a dugout used by the first pioneers of West Texas.

Art exhibits, changed each month, may be seen in the gallery of the Museum rotunda. The work on display now is a collection of oils and water colors entitled "Navajoland" by Curtis Delano.

Gains National Fame

Tech's museum is a creation of Holden's, who came to the campus in 1929 with three history degrees from the University of Texas. By that time he had already gained national fame with his excavations along the Canadian river near Perryton.

The findings of these excavations were placed in the attic of the chemistry building and Tech's museum began to breathe.

Struggling for a building was an up-hill fight all of the way. It was only when an irate committee representing all West Texas counties went to Austin for a second time in 1936 to demand funds that enough money was secured to build the basement which was to house the museum for 12 years.

Money Is Raised

In 1948, through donations and local campaigns, enough money was raised to build the new museum.

Exhibits are constantly being added to the present displays. Holden, together with a party of teachers and students, alternate summers in old and New Mexico studying and excavating.

A majority of the Indian relics in the museum are from the Yaqui settlements in Sonora, New Mexico, and the Arrowhead ruins near Santa Fe.

Four Books Written

Holden has written four books concerning the South Plains and the Yaqui Indians. They include "Rollie Burns," a story of the ranching industry, "The Spur Ranch," which describes the cattle industry of the South Plains, "Studies of the Yaqui Indians," and "Alkali Trails."

Holden and his staff are constantly working to make the Museum a place where the student can spend a few minutes of spare time and be fascinated by what he finds there.

If you have not browsed through in quite some time, go over and you will be proud of one of Tech's newest claims to fame.

Owner of radio station KPAN in Hereford is Marshall Clinton Formby jr., government graduate of the class of '32. He is a former Texas senator and Dickens county judge.

Sigma Iota Epsilon Holds Fall Initiation

Sigma Iota Epsilon, honorary and professional management fraternity, held its annual fall initiation Dec. 3 in the Navajo room of the Hilton hotel.

Six new members who were initiated were Jimmie LaMunyon, Bobby Miller, Steve Mize, Garland Burgess, Lt. Vernon Bradley and Douglas Moore. Moore was initiated as a faculty member of the fraternity.

Sigma Iota Epsilon has as its purpose the promotion and the encouragement of the study of management and cultivation of a professional spirit among students.

Qualifications for membership are a 2.0 grade average, high character, and an interest in the field of management in business.

The initiation was attended by the chapter's undergraduate members, Dr. F. L. Mize, faculty member and sponsor, and Immediate Past-president and Mrs. H. B. McCord of Tahoka.

Guest speaker for the evening was the Honorable Waggoner Carr who reminded his listeners of the privilege that is theirs in enjoying the heritage of America and its democratic foundations.

Freshman Design Students To Decorate Park Terrace

Freshman designers of the applied arts department have undertaken the Christmas decoration of Mackenzie Terrace as part of their work in design, according to Martye Poindexter, head of applied arts.

Girl students worked individually to design original ornaments and then, as a group, they chose the most practical and successful of the many ideas to be worked out on a large scale.

They were invited by the city recreation department to decorate the terrace.

Six sections are participating in home, office and school decoration problems.

They expect to put the finishing touches on the project next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

TEACHERS HEAR HEMMLE

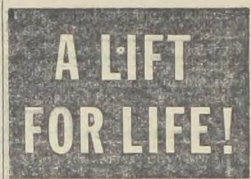

Dr. Gene L. Hemmle, head of the music department, spoke to primary teachers of the Lubbock public schools Tuesday at Lubbock high school. He discussed the opportunities offered by the Tech music department for study in the field of music education.

College Club Honors Fall Pledges At Big, Little Brother Breakfast

The College club honored its fall pledges at a big brother-little brother breakfast Sunday morning at the Hilton hotel. After the breakfast, the group attended services at the First Methodist church.

W. E. Whittington, assistant professor of accounting and finance, and sponsor of the club said there were about 40 present.

First Program Of Christmas Festival Is Presented By Music Department

The first program of the Tech music department's Christmas festival was given at 8:15 p.m. yesterday in the Lubbock High school auditorium by the Men's Glee club, the Tech concert band and the Tech choir.

Included on the program of the two-day festival is Christmas classical, religious and other special music. The festival will end today with a concert by the Tech Festival chorus.

Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the music department, is chairman of the festival and directed the choir in last night's performance. Prof. D. O. Wiley and Joe Haddon directed the Tech band. Leading the Men's Glee club was Dr. Raymond Elliott.

Others associated with the production were Joyce Carthel, accompanist for the glee club, and Herbert Colvin, associate conductor of the choir.

Directors For Music Show Selected By Liederkranz

Directors and a script committee were selected this week for the annual German musical show presented by Der Liederkranz, German club, according to Theodor W. Alexander, club sponsor.

Donald Smiley and Jack Burgess, senior pre-med students, are directors of the show.

On the script committee are Louise Carter, foreign language graduate student; Frankie Boyd and Rebecca Ann Bentley, both sophomore foreign language students.

BOOK REVIEW PLANNED

Mrs. Grace Wellborne, English instructor, will review "Mama's Bank Account" at a meeting of the Book Reviewers club in HE105 at 5 p.m. Thursday.

Faculty To Plan Evaluation Study

Plans for a self-evaluation study will be introduced in a faculty meeting at 4 p.m. in the Aggie auditorium, according to Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech vice-president.

All phases of subjects offered at Tech will be included in the study. The program follows recommendations made by the conference of Deans of Southern Graduate schools.

Dr. J. William Davis, government professor, is chairman of the steering committee. Committee members and preliminary plans will be decided during the meeting.

Work on the evaluation study has been going on since the first of the semester.

Movies Of Flash Card Stunts Done At H-SU Game Shown Tomorrow

Movies of the flash card stunts which were performed during half-time activities at the Hardin-Simmons game will be shown continually from 1 to 3 p.m. Wednesday in the Aggie auditorium, according to Charles Joplin, president of Saddle Tramps.

Joplin said the flash cards cost about $150. Saddle Tramps will pay $50 of the amount and AWS has offered to pay $50. Showing of the movies will help raise the remaining amount.

Madrigal Singers, Brass Choir... To Furnish Music For Allegro Club

Music for the Christmas program of the Allegro Music club of Lubbock will be furnished by the Tech Madrigal singers, led by Ira Schantz, music instructor, and the Tech brass choir, led by Joe Haddon, band instructor.

The program will be presented at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian church.

Backtalk —

We appreciate your continued interest in Tech. However, the conclusions you have drawn are incorrect due to lack of information. In the column "Pat's Patter" in the last issue of The Toreador, it was explained that it was the Hardin-Simmons band, not the card stunt section, which missed its cue. The last stunt, "Howdy, H-SU," was to have introduced the band. It was necessary for the "man at the mike" to give repeated instructions during the second quarter, since this was the first time card stunts had been tried and many of the students and persons sitting in section O were not familiar with the procedure for using the cards.—The Editor

Rec Hall Mimeograph Available To All Students

Dan Pursel, Recreation hall director, announced that Don Furgerson will operate the mimeograph machine recently purchased by Tech.

The machine will be operated on a "first come, first served" basis with availability to all Tech students and student organizations.

Pursel said that persons wishing to have work done must bring their own stencils to the Rec hall office. Prices for the work are $3.00 for 100 sheets, $6.65 for 75 sheets and $5.00 for 50 sheets with sheets as the minimum order.

Burroughs Representative To Interview BA Seniors

January graduates in business administration will be interviewed Thursday by R. J. Weisinger, representative of the Burroughs Adding Machine Co., according to Mrs. Jean Jenkins, director of placement service.

Position open is that of sales representative in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma or other United States branches.

Students interested may apply at the placement office.
