Pre-Registration To Begin Monday

Pre-registration dates for summer school will begin Monday and continue through Saturday, according to Warren G. Harding, assistant registrar.

Registration for the first six-week term will be June 5 with classes beginning June 6 and continuing through July 16.

The second term registration will be July 17 and classes will be held July 18 through Aug. 27.

Additional catalogs for the summer sessions will be available the last week in May for students who plan to attend.

Grades for the current spring semester will be out approximately June 9, added Harding.

Registration for the 1952 fall semester will be Sept. 18 and 19.

Tech Board of Directors To Adopt Budget May 26

Texas Tech's board of directors will meet May 26 at 9:30 a.m., says J. Roy Wells, assistant secretary of the board.

At that time Tech's operating budget for the fiscal year of 1952-53 will be submitted to the board and other routine items will be discussed.

Committee OK's LV Price Boost

A raise in the price of La Ventana from $5 to $6 was approved in a regular meeting of the publications committee Wednesday, said A. B. Streihl, faculty chairman.

Increase in the price of printing and engraving was cited as the reason for the requested price boost.

The committee also awarded the contract for the 1953 La Ventana class portraits to Koen's studio, of Lubbock.

Financial reports for both The Toreador and La Ventana were given.

Discussion of a letter from the Student Religious council, protesting "obscenity . . . in certain ads" in The Toreador, was postponed until the first committee meeting next fall.

Next meeting of the committee will be 5 p.m. Wednesday in J201.

Seniors Most Attend Classed Through Friday

All seniors and graduate students who are approved for graduation, must attend classes THROUGH next Friday, announces the office of Vice-President E. N. Jones.

Senior Caps, Gowns Here Wednesday

Caps and gowns for graduating seniors will be available about Wednesday, according to W. C. Cole, Bookstore manager.

A $5 deposit and a $2 rental fee must be paid when seniors obtain the scholastic togs. The $5 deposit will be refunded when caps and gowns are returned to the Bookstore, which will be open immediately following graduation,

May 26. Deadline for return of the graduation-day dress is 5 p.m. May 27.

Seniors can buy invitations now at the Bookstore. Invitations not claimed before Monday by the seniors ordering them will be placed on general order after that date. Seniors wanting additional invitations should call at the Bookstore after Monday, says Mr. Cole.

Proud Staff Announces Arrival of 1952 La Ventana

La Ventana 1952 has been guided through printing and shipping, and is now ready for the last step . . . distribution.

Techsans who bought an annual should come by X-3B between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Friday or Saturday, according to Benny Bruckner, business manager.

Identification Required

"Identification will be required," Bruckner added.

Students who desire a yearbook and have not reserved one are to come to the La Ventana office, J205, between 2 and 5 p.m. Monday. "They are not to go to the X-building," Bruckner said. Price is $6.50 if the yearbook is purchased now.

Theme of the artwork was friendliness.

Dr. Wiggins Attends Joint Board Meeting at Austin

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, attended a joint meeting of boards of three state colleges Thursday in Austin, according to J. Roy Wells, assistant to the president.

Members of the boards from the University of Texas, Texas A&M and Texas Tech met to discuss their overall cooperative program for the next two years.

Following the meeting Dr. Wiggins went to Dallas to serve as a judge for the Hobitzelle Awards committee. This group will choose an outstanding state agriculture student.

Students Looking for Jobs Should Check Tech Office

A student who plans to attend summer classes and who will be available for employment should notify the placement office as soon as possible, according to Mrs. Jean Jenkins, director.

As there will be no Toreador, Mrs. Jenkins asks all interested students to check their departmental bulletin boards. She says the placement office will welcome all inquiries.

Tech Festival Chorus to Give 'Elijah' Monday in Recital Hall of Music Building

The Tech Festival chorus, under the direction of Ira Schantz, will present the famous oratorio, "Elijah" by Felix Mendelssohn, at 8 p.m. Monday in the recital hall of the new music building. Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president, will give the benediction and the Rev. W. F. Rogan, director of the Presbyterian Student center, will give the invocation.

This oratorio, composed in 1846, is one of the two most famous ever written, says Schantz. The other is Handel's "Messiah."

This is the first time a Tech chorus has presented "Elijah." The chorus gave Haydn's "Creation" last year.

The program will be open to the public. Students are especially invited, since this is a college presentation, Schantz commented.

The Festival chorus is composed of 78 students from all divisions.

Cecil Green, baritone, will sing the title role of "Elijah." Monday night. Other soloists will be Nancy Davis, Dorothy Gunn, Marjorie Hendrick and Shirley Sears, sopranos; Rosemary Sprague and Marjorie Scales, contraltos; Bill Northington, Bill Rogan and Claude Heispath, tenors and Bob Northington, bass. Miss Mary Jeanne van Appleboro, instructor, will be the pianist. Herbert Colvin, instructor, will play the organ.

Prof. Pearce Gets Ph.D. in History

William M. Pearce, assistant professor of history at Texas Tech, has received his Ph.D. degree from Texas University, according to an announcement from the university. The degree will be officially awarded at commencement exercises in Austin on May 31.

Pearce's dissertation, entitled "The Matador Land and Cattle Company, Ltd.," is a story of the last great foreign-owned cattle syndicate to operate in the United States. His material was secured from a study and examination of the records and documents forming a part of the Texas Tech Southwestern collection.

Prof. Pearce is a graduate of Amarillo high school. He attended Kemper Military school in Booneville, Mo., where he lettered in football, basketball and tennis. He received his BA at Southern Methodist university and his MA at Tech. He joined the Tech staff in 1938.

'The Trojan Women' To Be Given as Speech Project

"The Trojan Women" will be presented in the studio theatre Sunday night as a graduate project of the Speech department.

Jo Simmons will direct the play for an audience of invited spectators. Persons interested in seeing the production may call Miss Cecilia Thompson in the Speech building.

Yell-Leaders Plan New Ideas, Stunts

Tumbling and acrobatic stunts will be an added attraction next fall when Don Andress heads the cheering for Tech. He will be assisted by Dick Shockley and Don McNicol.

Card stunts will be used again next year by the Saddle Tramps in connection with the cheering sections. The Saddle Tramps are planning a system to help get entering freshman men to participate at the games.

New uniforms for the group will be ordered this week with a color combination similar to that of last year.

Cotton Classing Instruction To Be Offered in Summer

A two-week cotton classing course sponsored by the department of textile engineering, will be offered this summer, according to Prof. L. E. Parsons.

This year's course, lasting from June 16 through June 27, will be held principally for ginners, but anyone interested in cotton may enroll. The course is offered on both beginning and advanced levels.

Fee for the course will be $12.50, and all inquiries should be addressed to Prof. Parsons in the Textile Engineering department.

HE Department Will Offer Special Workshops, Courses During Summer

Several workshops and short courses will be offered by the Home Economics division this summer in addition to the regular courses of advanced, undergraduate work.

A family life conference to be conducted by Dr. Earl L. Koos of the University of Rochester will be held June 26 to July 16. Dr. Bernice Moore, consultant, Home-making Education Service, Texas Education agency and the Hogg foundation, will be special consultant for one week. The course will be listed as Family Relations 5336.

The Tech Nursery school will be used as a laboratory for the short course in child development and a nursery school education short course. It will be offered June 5 to June 25 for persons who are responsible for group care of pre-school-age children, such as directors of nursery schools, play schools, and private schools. This course is especially for Homemaking teachers and can be taken under the title of Child Development 432.

The second term will offer Mrs. Edna Bryte Bishop, who originated a method of clothing construction and will give a week of concentrated lectures. Demonstrations will be given from 9 to 12 a.m., July 28 to August 2.

Laboratories will be open 1 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m., so that students may experiment with techniques demonstrated. Further information about this course may be obtained by writing Miss Mabel D. Erwin, head of the department of clothing and textiles.

A school lunch workshop will be offered by Dr. Mina Lamb, associate professor of foods and nutrition, with a visiting staff from the Texas Education agency and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A course designed to give special training in effective methods of teaching home care of the sick will be held August 4 to 9.

In a cigarette, taste makes the difference - and Luckies taste better!

The difference between "just smoking" and really enjoying your smoke is the taste of a cigarette. You can taste the difference in the smoother, mellower, more enjoyable taste of a Lucky... for two important reasons. First, L.S./M.F.T. - Lucky Strike means fine tobacco... fine, mild tobacco that tastes better. Second, Luckies are made to taste better... proved best-made of all five principal brands. Money, Money . . .

With the approval of each year's Student council budget, come the inevitable complaints from students. There are always those who feel that one faction or another has been slighted in the budget; but the most heard "gripe" is this: Why must each student contribute to activities sponsored by other divisions than his own, from which he receives little or no benefit?

Included in the SC budget (See figures at right) are allocations both to general student enterprises (The Toreador) and divisional activities (Engineering and HE organizations, Aggie judging teams).

At Monday night's budget meeting a Student council member made a suggestion which we believe is worthy of consideration. The idea presented was to set aside the larger part of the Student council allotment for general activities such as the band, KTTC. Then, on the basis of enrollment in each division, give a part of the council funds for use of divisional activities.

Under this system, each student would contribute to campus-wide activities and activities within his own division. Allocation to The Toreador could come either from the Council's general activity allotment or from funds outside SC appropriations on an equal basis with the Artists Course.

Each division should supplement its own activities, if council allocations were not sufficient.

BACKTALK

Dear Editor:

Well, I have noticed, as usual, that we got excellent results from the SWC meeting.

From the way they treated us on the last meeting, I thought there might be a chance; but they didn't "let ole' mother nature have her way," and we, again, are considered inferior. As far as location, I believe Tech would expand the territory of the SWC (BUT . . . maybe they don't). Just what MUST Tech possess? Atomic Power. Or . . . don't they have the qualities as they stand.

Personally, I think that being a member of the Border Conference is detrimental to Tech, since a Border Conference championship for Tech shows no outstanding accomplishment to the SWC. Whereas, a failure to win this conference, makes Tech appear (to the SWC) as a second rate team. Wouldn't the results appear better if Tech became an independent team.

Then, it would be possible to arrange games with strong, well-known teams such as: Georgia Tech, Okla. A&M, Kentucky U., etc. This would build up Tech's prestige (or make it show better) and, hence, indicate to the SWC that we DO have a team, and would represent West Texas more fully.

Sincerely,
Bob G. Crocker

Two political parties which would insure two capable candidates for each top office and give Techians some concrete issues to think about before voting.

Through reading of exchange papers, we have found that schools which have political parties have an election turnout climbing into the region of 80 or 90 percent of the student body.

An attempt was made early this spring to organize such a party. The attempt fell flat on its face because some persons feared the "controversy" and "friction" such a group would arouse.

As a result, an Election Booster's club grew out of the try. The club had hardly gasped its first breath when it died from a well-known disease—apathy!

We think that thoughtful differences of opinion, labeled "controversy" and "friction," have never proved detrimental. How else could the idea of democracy have been born if someone hadn't had a "difference of opinion" from monarchists and totalitarian beliefs.

Therefore, in closing the year, we would like to suggest a keynote for '52-53—an awakening shout of interest developed by campus political organizations!

At Arizona State, Tempe, the student council has asked for a change in management at the "Den," a campus eating establishment. Several charges have been made about the serving of spoiled meat, pickles "a-la-bugs," the high price of food, and irregular closing times.

La Ventanas Arrive In Time for Seniors

By JOHN NORCROSS
Toreador Editor

La Ventanas for 1952 arrived Thursday, in time for distribution to students before graduation. This year's staff, headed by Dick Brooks, may justly take a bow in presenting the books to the campus.

In the words of A. B. Strehli, faculty chairman of the Publications committee, there is nothing about the annual which any staff member "need be ashamed of." Quality of the 1952 Ventura is unusually high, considering the many obstacles encountered in its production.

During the "dark" days of January and February, the staff often found itself leaving the office just before sun-up. The hundreds of hours, some ungodly, spent in preparation of the yearbook, have paid off with a record of the year's events which every Techian will cherish.

Dedication for the book is (You'll never guess it) to the West Texas sand: Texas dust, the editor reasons, plays a part in every student's life, whether he likes it or not. Perhaps, he says, the reader may get a chuckle from the unusual dedication in glancing over the annual years from now.

We especially compliment Joan Bollinger for the excellent job she has done in making the artwork in La Ventana outstanding.

Seniors are by now in a frantic whirl, with graduation just around the corner. Eager for a taste of post-graduate life, students have had no time for reminiscing. For most seniors, their four college years have been short ones—filled to the brim with endless activity. Yet, ten years hence, the class of '52 will look back upon college days as the happiest ever experienced. Oddly enough, only pleasant memories will remain. We'll remember the presentation dances and homecoming festivities, forgetting the hours we spent cramming furiously for a tough final.

And then someday we'll discover that the truest education we received was in learning to deal with our fellows; the grades we received will have been forgotten in the shuffle, while the friends we made will grow dearer through the years.

All year we have planned on saying something profound in our last column; but now, facing our typewriter, we can't find the right words. To the staff and sponsors of The Toreador, we express our gratitude. Without your aid and cooperation, the newspaper could not have been. And, finally, we thank you, the student body, for patience and interest in The Toreador. Our aim has been to make this a STUDENT publication. If we have succeeded in any measure, it has been through your support.

'Met' or 'Grand Ole?' . . .

A Very Open Letter to Those Persons Who Guide Tech's Artists Course Programs:

The selections sung by Giuseppe di Stefano Monday night were unfamiliar to most of his audience. This concert was not an isolated example—such has been the case with far too many of the AC's programs.

Every Techian contributes financially to the concerts; but the size of the audiences should indicate to you that the appeal of the performances is low.

No one asks that "Grand Ole Opry" replace "Metropolitan." We do ask, though, that the comparatively callow taste of Tech audiences be considered when programs are planned.

Anticipating one of your arguments, we suppose that you desire to broaden the musical appreciation of Techians, and we commend your aims. Educating hinterland listeners is noble; but any such process of learning profits from a "break" of vacation.

Local concert-goers are not so uncultured as many of our snobs of the Beethoven-to-Bartok set would like to believe. Scores of operatic and symphonic pieces are well-known and beloved by those who seldom have a chance to hear "live" music.

Tin Pan Alley has transposed many melodies from Carnegie Hall to the Co-op; and Mario Lanza, no matter how he ranks as an artist, put "La Donna E Mobile" on juke-boxes—a feat no other singer ever accomplished.

Consider, then; it is not only fair, but mandatory, that AC programs be slanted more toward an intelligent, general audience and less toward the orderly echelons of musicians and their disciples.

—Ralph Shelton

Snore Sounds 51-52 Keynote

Pat's Patter

By PAT JOHNSON
Toreador Associate Editor

Keystone of the '51-52 school year—

A soft snore as the student body turns over for another 40 winks while ignoring the campus in general and student functions in particular.

To cite a few cases of student disinterest:

Nine hundred persons of a fall enrollment of 4,865 voted for class favorites, Mr. and Miss Texas Tech and changing of the official school song.

An average of 300 Techians attended each Artists Course program, which, this year, brought six outstanding persons of national reputation to the campus.

A deficit of $64 incurred by the sophomore class because students did not care enough to attend the annual Hodge-Podge.

General elections drawing 49 percent of the student body to vote on council officers, representatives and cheerleaders for next year.

Is there an answer to wholesale campus apathy?

We think so. We think more interest could be generated in elections by more controversial issues brought before the student body and at least two candidates for top offices conducting spirited campaigns.

Enthusiasm created through fiery elections would carry over to more general activities as club organizations, college convocations and the like. We feel that once the student becomes interested in campus happenings through elections, he will remain active in college affairs.

We believe Tech needs two groups to rouse the campus from its election sleeping sickness—

Tech Students To Visit Old Mexico To Study Spanish And Sight-See

Nine Tech students, with the guidance of the foreign languages department, will visit Mexico City and other parts of the country south of the border this summer.

The trip, besides affording pleasure and a change of scenery, will gain six hours credit for each student, according to T. E. Hamilton, associate professor of Spanish, who will accompany the group.

En route to Mexico City the group will spend the first night of the trip in San Antonio, the second night in Monterrey, Mexico, the third in a small town along the way, and the fourth night in the capital.

From Mexico City they will visit Puebla, Cuernavaca, Taxco, Alcolman, the floating gardens at Xochomilco and the pyramids. They will attend the theatre, concerts, opera and a bullfight in Mexico City.

In their spare time and while it is raining, the students will be expected to study notes they have taken during the day. One rain is expected each day, which will be a great change from Tech weather.

Those making the trip are: Evelyn Burks, junior, Jim Baker, graduate student, Jean Mobley, senior, Kara Sam Dunn, junior, Jean Smith, sophomore, all of Lubbock; and Juanita Casas, senior, Gordon Hensley, senior, both of Levelland; Dick Mitchell, sophomore from Fort Worth, and Burdette Prothro, senior from Blairview.

Men appointed to the rank of cadet captain are Robert Gammill, Prescott, Ark.; Roy Grimes, Lubbock; Harold McCallum, Houston; David Massengale, Lamesa, and Ted Harrison, Roswell, N. M.

New cadet first lieutenants are Charles Burford, Fort Worth; Zane Simms, Odessa; Marvin Jones, Amarillo, and Jack McGann, Turkey.

Cadets promoted to the rank of sergeant are John Nolan, Lubbock; Robert Leach, Arlington, and Jay Eudy, Turkey.

Grads To—degree; 4, Master of Business Administration; 25, Master of Education, and 6, Master of Science.

Rehearsal Set Rehearsal for seniors and marshals will be held at 8:30 a.m. May 25. Persons participating in the services will meet east of the East stand of Jones stadium.

Graduating seniors and their parents will be entertained at the annual president's reception Sunday afternoon, May 25, in Drane hall.

Tech's combined choral organizations under the direction of Ira Shantz will sing at Baccalaureate and Commencement services. The Tech concert band, under the direction of D. O. Wiley, will play professional and recreational music both nights.

15 ROTC Cadets Get Recognition

Maj. Victor Penuel, acting head of military science and tactics, announced Thursday that 15 army ROTC cadets have received appointments and promotions.

Charles Powell, Fort Worth, has been named cadet colonel of the army ROTC for next year.

The new cadet lieutenant colonel is John Brophy, Lubbock.

Joel Wilson, Claude, has been appointed cadet major.

Men appointed to the rank of cadet captain are Robert Gammill, Prescott, Ark.; Roy Grimes, Lubbock; Harold McCallum, Houston; David Massengale, Lamesa, and Ted Harrison, Roswell, N. M.

New cadet first lieutenants are Charles Burford, Fort Worth; Zane Simms, Odessa; Marvin Jones, Amarillo, and Jack McGann, Turkey.

Cadets promoted to the rank of sergeant are John Nolan, Lubbock; Robert Leach, Arlington, and Jay Eudy, Turkey.

11 Court Judges To Be Appointed

Supreme court judges and traffic court judges for next year will be appointed before the end of the semester, Hardy Clemons, arts and sciences representative on the Student council, announced.

The supreme court judges will be appointed by the incoming president of the Student council, Harold Brannan; the retiring president, Bob Schmidt, and Dr. J. W. Davis, head of the government department.

The chief justice must be a senior pre-law student. Two associate judges are selected from junior pre-law students. One associate judge is appointed from the home economics, business administration, engineering and agriculture divisions.

The traffic court judge and three associate judges will be appointed by the president of the student body. These judges may be from any division.

Plans are being made to select all committee chairmen of the Student council. Chairman will be appointed by Brannan.

The Board of Student Organizations favorably evaluated work done during the past year, at its last meeting Tuesday, said Clemons.

Exam Schedule

Final exams will begin May 24 and last through May 30.

Those who are enrolled for the evening program will take exams at the regular class meeting time, with the exception of Saturday one-day classes, which will take finals from 11 to 2 p.m. on May 24.

Classes that meet more than one hour will take the first hour on the exam schedule. For example, a class meeting from 2 to 3:30 p.m. will take the exam at the hour for classes meeting from 2 to 3 p.m.

Students wishing to change their schedule must have the change considered by the dean of his division.

Who Is 'Smart'? La Juana Smart!

Have you ever thought that a name could tell the wisdom of a person? Such is the case of La Juana Smart, senior business education major from Canadian.

Miss Smart has received high honors all through her college career. She began by acquiring the Forum award for freshman women with the highest grade point average. Since that time she has received Hilton scholarships of $100 each and the Lubbock Business and Professional Women's club award of $50.

She has been recognized all her four years in Tech at the All-College Recognition service. This year, the 21-year-old woman received her college honors key, which is traditionally presented to those who have maintained a 2 point average or better throughout their college work.

Her over-all average up to the spring semester of '52 is 2.91.

She also received an award for holding the highest grade point average among senior women. She will graduate with honors.

Tech's Summer Music School Opened To Senior, Junior High School Students

Tech will open its first summer music school for junior and senior high school students and undergraduate and graduate college students this year.

The program is an enlargement of the summer band school which has been held for the past 19 years.

Instruction in band, chorus and orchestra will be included during the summer.

Program for the summer is as follows: Band—June 5 through July 2

Choir—June 9 through June 21 Orchestra—June 5 through June 18 Junior choir—June 19 through July 2.

Band school for undergraduate and graduate college students—June 5 through July 16.

Persons may enroll for one section of the school or stay the entire term if they wish. Private lessons also will be given in piano, voice and wind instruments.

College and high school-age persons will be housed in the new men's and women's dormitories on the campus. Junior high school-age students must be residents of Lubbock within commuting distance of the campus. Housing facilities at the college will not be offered this age group.

Jokers Fix Things Right—Get Horse Before Cart Techsians who struggled out of bed early Thursday morning were rewarded with a sight few mortals could hope to behold. Soapbuds, the bronze cowpony bearing Will Rogers, had sunk to the low of pulling a milk wagon. Some Tech joker had carefully pulled the wagon from in front of the Administration building, and as carefully hitched it to Soapbuds. The wagon is being used to advertise the Junior-Senior Prom. (Tickets $1.25).

Texas Writers Champion Texas Tech Cause

By JOHN LEE and ADRIAN COMBS
Toreador Sports Editors

"Tech Confident Of Joining SWC Within Hours"

"Raider Coach Optimistic; Houston's Chances Slim"

These are the bold headlines that heralded the approaching Southwest conference vote last week for Dallas News readers.

Tension was high. The majority of Texas fans were on the borderline with guesses either pro or con. Several were for Tech. More were against. Most sports writers cared little one way or the other.

However, following the final report from SWC officials, sports writers and sports readers alike switched over to the losing side, Tech became a martyr.

West Texans rose in protest to the "insult" to their section and newspapers throughout the state began to champion Tech's cause.

Here are some excerpts from interested newspapers.

From the Fort Worth Star-Telegram comes this tidbit: "The same old dodge—the secret ballot—and the double talk must have left furiously sickened the Texas Tech officials and their supporters who had become convinced that at long last the smug circuit was to recognize their growth, future, logical qualifications and take them in.

What's Left for Tech?

Should this sound as death-knell for its hopes for football commensurate to the size of the school and the large, rich territory it represents?

"Should it attempt to achieve big-time status the hard-way—by working through independent channels to become the Notre Dame of the Southwest?"

"Or should it go along passively, being careful never to step on SWC toes, never fielding a team too strong and living in the faint hope of someday being invited?"

"There are obvious objections to all channels. First, no school of Tech's robust nature is apt to choose the policy of a quitter. Second, any fast-rising independent is viewed with such scorn by old established powers that the notoriety is of doubtful value.

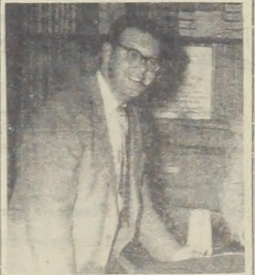

"Third, Tech probably has grown extremely tired of currying

SWC favor. It doubtless is in much more of a mood to kick over the traces.

"Tech could band together with other institutions of similar ambitions and in comparable states of health — Tulsa, Houston, Oklahoma A&M, North Texas State and Hardin - Simmons — to form a league stronger and with more drawing power than any to which they now belong."—Lorin McCullen.

Dr. Vernon Schubardt then proceeded to blast the lid of secrecy off the SWC closed meeting with a release through the Lubbock paper. He told of making a motion for the admittance of Tech which died for lack of second. He disclosed the treatment handed Tech by schools whom Tech officials had thought to be backing them.

Schubardt disclosed in a later story, "If Tech doesn't jump over the traces; if she keeps her nose clean and controls her friends, I believe there is a very good chance of her being invited in within a relatively short time. Texas will continue to be her supporter and I will stand ready any time, even next December, to put her up for membership."

Carter Backs Raiders

Then Anon Carter, long time friend to Tech, came out with an editorial in which he expressed disappointment in TCU backers for their failure to second the UT motion in the meeting.

He further called on Tech supporters not to lose heart nor give up the fight. He stated his belief that Tech would eventually be accepted and he said that by keeping our shoulders to the wheel we will prove the sincerity of our expressed desire for membership. He went on to say that in the event that anyone other than Tech was ever admitted, Texans would know the truth about SWC insincerity.

An Oklahoma City sports writer said in the Daily Oklahoman, "The Southwest conference negative vote cast Saturday when Texas Tech's latest petition for admission was broached is tiring speculation once again as to the entrance chances of Oklahoma University . . .

"The Southwest not only gave Tech's bid the cold shoulder, but the league also told the Red Raiders — and others — not to come back, that any future addition would be made by invitation only . . .

"The action serves as a revival of hopes among a steadily increasing member of Sooner enthusiasts who would like nothing better to see the Big Red pull out of the Big Seven and accept an overture from the Southwest . . .

West Texas to Secede?

About the same time the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal came out with a bulletin headed "SECESSION NOW SUGGESTED!" which went on to say, "Secede from Texas and form our own state!

"That's the admittedly tongue-in-cheek solution reached by a group of Tech boosters talking over the SWC's action here Saturday night.

"Two of the group, G. W. Cochran, Lubbock cotton man, and Homer Maxey, owner of the Plainsman Hotel, agreed to put up $1,000 each to start the secession's ball rolling. Tom Duggan Jr. was named attorney for the group.

"Texas Tech would become the 'state university' of the 'new state' but Lubbock will not be the capital. Abilene will get that "honor" — just to "keep the politicians out of Lubbock," Bill Morrison of Midland, spokesman for the group, said. The state line would end 'just one-half mile this side of Fort Worth,' Morrison said."

And then later this week another story in the Avalanche told of further protests by West Texans. "A new type of scrap drive has been started in West Texas as a result of the Southwest conference's action against Texas Tech's application for membership in the conference.

"Charge plates, the little metal gadgets whereby charge accounts are recorded at Dallas and Fort Worth stores, are object of the drive.

"It was learned Wednesday that holders of the plates were mailing them back to the stores.

"The move was reported to be gaining momentum, not only in Lubbock but at Midland and other West Texas cities whose residents have been steady customers of the metropolitan retail and specialty stores.

The story also reported that "a number of regular contributors to church schools' foundations and funds were reported to have written emphatic letters to the schools' administrative officials."

'Mural Tracksters To Try For Team Trophy Saturday

Intramural tracksters will vie tomorrow as the Toreador-sponsored track meet gets underway at 1 p.m.

The event, which has been postponed for a week because of a storm, will be run off on the track at the old stadium.

Toreador awards are ready for the winners and will be handed out as the events are run off.

Kemas will be out to defend the championship they won last year and keep the big trophy. Others who will field teams are Cherry Pluckers, Doak Hall, Gypmills, Los Cams, BSU Bums, Whirlwinds, Silver Keys, College Club, Wranglers and Alpha Zeta.

Officials will include Duane Durham, Bert Goodyear, Paul Nolan, Robert Larrabee, Jess Porter, Hudson Routh, Lewis Woodward, Elbert Johnson, J. H. Bentley, Buddy Brock, C. Dean, M. D. Stevens, Clayton Stallings, Edwin Shipman and David Burchard.

SWC Closed To Outsiders; But, Are Members Shut In?

By JIMMIE HENLEY
Guest Writer

Part of The Toreador sports staff was poised, just waiting for the word—planning to be among the first to sound the victory bells Saturday, then . . .

But, all that has been said since (in the form of regrets and still hopeful thinking for the future) has not changed the athletic picture at Tech one iota. Only slight changes would have been made if the decision had been different.

Tech students need not worry about Tech's athletic fortunes—they're going up. Already Tech has reached about the same level as SWC schools in football, and Coach Weaver has started the ball rolling in other sports.

The most regrettable thing about the action of the SWC Saturday was not so much that Tech did not get in the conference as that a double-faced character of certain people and institutions was shown.

Coaches, athletic directors and representatives to the conference from many of the schools had inspired confidence in Coach Weaver and Dr. J. William Davis that Tech was going into the conference.

They had not counted on support from all schools, but when only one man—one school—stood up for Tech there was evidence that someone was not quite as good as their word.

Just how will the decision affect Tech?

Here are a few of the probable results:

1. Tech can continue its growing nation-wide scheduling of football and basketball games. In SWC more and more games would have to be played in the Southwest, thus de-emphasizing sports to a sectional basis.

2. The Border conference has made no move toward de-emphasis, so Tech may be expected to continue the adding of emphasis up to the point of having one of the nation's best athletic set-ups.

3. Financially the Raiders will have a harder time thru the season, but in post season games they will be better situated. And, you may well expect Tech to be playing in the Sugar or Orange bowl in place of the SWC runner-up in the years to come. The Raiders will be about three times better off for profiting from post season games.

Cotton bowl invitations are not inconceivable, except when Tech has already defeated the SWC champion. The Raiders would come out of such a meeting with about three times the money of the host team, after other SWC members are paid by the host.

What about a change of conference? Last year we suggested that the Raiders would do well to go to the Missouri Valley conference; last week we hinted that Tech was too good for the Border conference.

Actually, however the Missouri Valley conference is constructed so much like the Border loop that a shift would not be profitable. Both are loosely knit and inspire little real rivalry such as the dream conferences of sports writers might offer. Lorin McMullen of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram suggested a tie up with Oklahoma A&M, Tulsa, Houston, North Texas, and Hardin-Simmons.

Such a conference would give the Raiders more competition within their home conference, but would not allow the big scale non-conference schedule now enjoyed. Next season Tech plays only four conference games while she plays seven non-conference tilts. They play all but one of the teams in the suggested conference, but in future years they may wish to

Five Teams to Play In Feminine Meet

A basketball tournament sponsored by Women's Recreation association will be held Saturday in the Tech Gym, according to Jimmie Ann Ward and Francis Edwards, co-chairmen for the event.

Games will begin each hour, on the hour, from 1 to 6 p.m. Trophies will be awarded when the elimination is completed.

Teams entered in the tournament are Baptist Student union, Methodist Student union, Horne hall, Las Chaparritas and Ko Shari.

Baptist Student union has won the tournament for two straight years. If they should win this year, they will receive the big trophy which is presented permanently only to the team winning the event three times consecutively.

Officials will be students from the men's physical education department.

Davis New Head Of Double-T Club

Hollis Davis was elected president of the Double-T association for the coming year at their regular meeting last Tuesday night.

Other officers elected were Lewis Crossley, vice-president; David Brown, secretary; Sandy Welton, treasurer and John Moughon, sheriff. Lew Jones is sponsor for the group.

Davis is a senior letterman from Ft. Worth and plays offensive tackle on the Raider squad. Crossley is a senior letterman from Eastland and is offensive end. Welton is fullback for the Raiders and hails from Fairmont, West Virginia. Brown is a junior tackle from Weatherford and Moughon is halfback from Weatherford.

have more than four non-conference games, in order to play some of the nation's best teams, plus some of the SWC teams.

So far as we can see, the Border conference offers Tech more (while offering little competition) than such a conference. But, as we implied last week, Tech is outgrowing the Border circuit and should have something better.

With the doors of SWC closed, seemingly forever to Tech, the Raiders might begin to consider inviting at least one SWC member out.

The University of Texas has long outranked all other members of SWC in enrollment, and is financially capable of going much farther than any other member of the conference.

It won't be sudden, but eventually Tech may be able to capitalize on the facts: (1) that the University of Texas was its sole supporter in the conference and that UT's representative, Dr. Vernon Schuhardt, has spoken out to give the truth about the meeting; and (2) that the University of Oklahoma is not completely happy in the Big Seven conference.

(Sports Editor's note: We are not entirely in harmony with this writer's views and opinions on the possibility of Tech combining with SWC members who might jump the conference. We feel certain that all SWC teams who apply for membership in the Border conference will be voted down by Tech.)

Ag Economics Club Holds Picnic at Mackenzie Park

The Aggie Economics club had a steak fry last Thursday night, with about 25 guests and members attending, according to Jack Ashworth, member of aggie economics staff.

The steak fry was held in the Mackenzie party house.

Wranglers, Block & Bridle To Battle for Championship

Wranglers and Block and Bridle fought their way into the finals of the all-college softball tournament with victories over BSU and Sneed hall.

Block and Bridle made their way into the finals with a convincing 6 to 2 victory over Sneed hall.

Wranglers earned a berth in the all-college finals by defeating BSU 8 to 7 in a thriller. The steady pitching of Blair Hankins was the deciding factor in the victory. Hankins was pitching for the third consecutive day and he came through when the pressure was on.
