Parking Problem Solution Is Asked

An appeal for a solution of the current parking problem was made by Dean of Men Lewis Jones at a Student Council meeting Monday night.

Dean Jones told members of the council that approximately 1680 paved parking places were provided for on the campus and from 2700 to 3000 drivers have asked for spaces for their cars.

Dean Jones felt that as it is a student problem, students could perhaps offer a workable solution. J. C. Chambers, president of the Student Council, suggested a panel or committee made up of students for the purpose of discussing the problem and possibly coming up with a way to solve it.

Sing To Be May 11

Other business at the Monday night meeting included a discussion by Tim Magness, Friona senior, of the interfraternity sing sponsored by the Interfraternity Council. The student council approved the sing which will be held May 11.

Members of the council also granted permission for the Home Economics Club to sponsor a movie at the State Theatre March 18-23. The show will be "Money From Home" with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. Tickets will be distributed by Home Economics students and the money will be used to send a delegate to an American Home Economics Association convention.

Engineers To Vote

The council heard a report from Nina Spearman, chairman of the elections committee. Miss Spearman announced that the special engineers election will be held March 10. Two candidates had turned in petitions Monday.

Ending the meeting, Max Preston, business manager, gave a financial report. He announced that 1859 activity fees had been paid, giving the council $464.65.

Senior Carnival Set for March 6

Plans have been made to hold Tech's annual Senior Carnival Saturday, March 6, according to Odie Echols, senior class president.

Clubs wishing to enter a booth in the carnival should send a representative to the Student Council office, Ad161, at 5 p.m. Wednesday, March 3, Echols said. The meeting will outline the rules governing use of carnival booths and rooms. Room assignments will be made at this time.

The senior class will again sponsor the sale of raffle tickets and awarding of prizes during the carnival.

All money derived from this traditional campus event will be used by the senior class to buy an appropriate gift for the college, Echols said.

Committee chairman for the event include: B. J. Fraley, general; Jerry Russell, arrangements; Jimmy Nickell, raffle; Moody Alexander, publicity; and Echols, senior show.

Gregory Peck stars in "Twelve O'Clock High," a motion picture to be shown Monday evening at the Student Union Building. Students and faculty may attend at no cost.

Selection of the cast for "Pardon, Mr. Shakespeare" has been "completely completed."

These are the words of "Harry" (Gayle Ericson), the frustrated director of the varsity show within the Varsity Show which will be presented March 22, 23 and 24 in the Lubbock High School Auditorium.

Other cast members of the show, which typifies college life during such an event, spiced with music, comedy, drama and personal problems of collegiates, are: Gayle Ewing as Connie Lansing, the actress who "drips drama"; Averill Brinkman as Adelaid Crawford, Connie's rival with a not-too-natural Southern accent; and Lavoy Berry as Ruth Henderson, Connie's book-worm roommate who sheds her subdued personality to apply the "chorus-girl" approach.

Cass A. Nova in Cast

Fritz Stanley acts as Gordon Underwood, Connie's steady and subject of Adelaid's fondest attention. Leonard Gaston plays the somewhat dumb lighting director, Al Stanwitz; Ken Kummer, as Bill Nelson, tries to keep a bet made with Gordon by trying to date Ruth; Dale Travis acts the part of Cass A. Nova, who, true to tradition, breaks many a girl's heart. Lela, the dance instructor, is played by Zoe Merriman. Dean White acts the role of a stage hand.

Rehearsals of the show written by Roy Smith of Odessa started Monday night with Jack McCabe as director, Carl Jack Pruitt as assistant director, and Dean White as stage manager. Brad Wilde and Eldon Smith will be in charge of set production and design, and Mary Elizabeth Johnson will be assisted by Mollie Jordan in the production and design of costumes.

Hon To Furnish Music

Jack Hon will furnish music and Glenn Rainer's committee will handle publicity. The ticket and production committees are headed by Cathy Beaird and Danny Owen.

Virginia Carr is in charge of the talent numbers. Those selected by her for the various routines include Marguerite Paschall, Mary Jane Miller, Beverly Wood, Cathy Gouss, Eileen Vaughn, Sue Ledbetter, Joyce Davidson, Elaine Russey, Ann Witty, Shirley Harrison, Donna Stammer, Pat Fralin, Mary E. Johnson and Joanne Holmes.

Spanish Dance Included

In a Spanish dance presented as a specialty tryout number appear approximately 860.

Techsians Will Be Angels For the Faculty Tomorrow

Techsians will pull their halos on over their horns, prop their pitchforks against the wall, and observe Angel Day tomorrow.

The new addition to Be Kind to Faculty Week requires that aspiring angels get to class on time, have their assignments, and do everything possible to make Tech classrooms a little more heavenly for the faculty.

Angel Day will be the final activity in BK to FW following the apple-polishing session on Tuesday afternoon and the Faculty Talent Show last night.

"The old apple" was polished both literally and figuratively at the Apple Polishing session Tuesday afternoon, as a feature of Be Kind to Faculty Week. Faculty members were given an apple apiece, and students meeting and talking to them polished while they visited.

Teachers were treated to apples and coffee, causing such suggestions as that Be Kind to Faculty Week be changed to Be Kind to Faculty Year. Considering the high price of coffee, Forum members politely declined.

The Campus Club Room, formerly the Green Room of the old Rec Hall, opened last week as a faculty social center. President of the club is Haskell Taylor, professor of accounting and finance.

SING PLANS APPROVED

Date and rules for the first annual Fraternity-Sorority Sing at Tech have been approved by Student Council and Men's Interfraternity Council.

Place for the Sing has not been selected yet, but it will be held 7:30 p.m. May 11. Letters will be sent to the fraternities and sororities concerning registration for the Sing, announces Dick McCollum, chairman of the Department of Music Student Executive Council.

March 4, an orientation meeting for club representatives will clarify the rules and the method of judging the Sing.

Enrollment Totals 5,029; Spring Registration Closes

Enrollment for the spring semester has reached the 5,029 mark at Tech.

The Division of Arts and Sciences has the largest number enrolled with 1,452, Engineering 1,122, Business Administration 1,016, Agriculture 644 and Home Economics 244. The Graduate School has 551 enrollments.

The veteran enrollment shows an increase over last semester with approximately 860.

Fall Semester Honor Roll Released; 'Straight A' Averages Scored by 28

During the fall semester, 28 students topped the Tech honor roll with a 3.00 average.

Students having an average of from 2.94 to 2.47 numbered 242. Divisions having students with a 3.00 average were Arts and Sciences with 12, Business Administration 5, Agriculture 5, Engineering 3, and Graduate Studies 3.

By classification there were nine seniors, seven juniors, four sophomores, five freshmen, and three graduate students holding the 3.00 averages.

Highest Averages

Students making a 3.00 average were George T. Baker, Bonham; Dale E. Basye, Lubbock; Kay F. Collins, Lamesa; H. Lou Conner, Lubbock; Charles V. Cunningham, Garden City; Jeraldine Denton, Childress; Billy J. Fraley, Abilene; N. Travis Francis, Post; Donald H. Fortenberry, Adrian; Margaret Ann Garlin, Lubbock; Millie J. Professors Produce Bulletins
Three Texas Tech agriculture professors have coordinated work to produce two new agriculture bulletins which have recently been released.

The bulletin, "Johnson Grass Evadication on the South Plains of Texas," is the combined research of Dr. A. W. Young, head of agronomy; Cecil Ayers, professor of agronomy; and Dr. A. H. Leidigh, dean emeritus of agriculture. The other bulletin, "Suggestions for Training Vocational Agriculture Crops Judging Teams," was produced by Prof. Ayers.

The bulletins are free to the public.

State 4-H Meeting in Lubbock
A meeting of the State 4-H Executive Council will be held in Lubbock March 26 to 28, according to Troy McNeil, Floydada freshman, co-chairman of the meeting.

The meeting, which will be held in co-operation with the Texas Tech Collegiate 4-H Club, will take place at the Lubbock Hotel.

Prof. Hargrave Judges Hogs
L. M. Hargrave, professor of agricultural education, judged hogs at the Swisher County Livestock Show in Tulsa last week.

200 Attend Rural Conference
Approximately 200 persons attended a rural development conference held on campus last week. Dean W. L. Stangel, head of agriculture, made the opening address.

Band Sorority Has Tea
Tau Beta Sigma, national honorary band sorority, held a spring tea in honor of the band girls and members last Thursday evening in the Library.

Two Speak to Engineers
Two speakers, a structural engineer and a soil conservationist, spoke at a meeting of the Texas Tech chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers Thursday night. About 40 persons attended.

Dean Freese To Speak
Assistant Dean of Women Frances Freese will speak at a regular meeting of the Quarterly Club, an organization of women faculty members, March 2.

Dean Freese will use material from research on the dissertation for her Ph.D. in educational psychology. She is making an extensive study of ideals and self-opinions of freshman girls with regard to their college adjustment.

Dr. Kirellis Appointed
Appointment of Dr. R. W. Kirellis to the film projects and television committee of the College Physical Education Association was recently announced. Dr. Kirellis is head of the health, physical education and recreation department at Texas Tech.

Teague Is Commissioned
Charles E. Teague, 1953 Texas Tech agriculture graduate, has been commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Marine Corps. He has been assigned to duty at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Two Go To Meeting
Dr. Willa Vaughn Tinsley, dean of the Home Economics Division, and Mrs. Vivian Adams, head of the department of home economics education, left Saturday by plane to attend the Southern Regional Meeting of Teacher Trainers in Edge Park, Miss.

The meeting, called by the U. S. Office of Education, is for the purpose of studying ways of improving teaching education programs and home economics curriculum.

Dean Tinsley and Mrs. Adams are expected to arrive back in Lubbock Friday night.

Dean Tinsley will attend the meeting of the State Board of Nurse Examiners in Austin, March 2-4.

Speaks To AAUP
Dr. G. E. Giesecke, academic vice president, spoke Wednesday to the American Association of University Professors, Texas Tech chapter, on "Looking Ahead." The meeting was held at 12 noon in the Green Room of the Student Union Building.

Get Your Partner; Block and Bridle To Hold Initiation For New Pledges

The pioneer spirit is on our campus this semester as the Union combines efforts with the physical education department to sponsor square dancing every Thursday night for everyone on the campus. Guest callers do the calling for these informal gatherings, which are under the direction of Miss Dorothy Hoyle of the physical education department and Amil D. Anderson of the Union.

Square dance enthusiasts should mark tonight on their calendars as a very special date. At that time Jimmy Baker's Texas Sons will provide the music for a big Western dance with plenty of square dancing for everyone. Jimmy is an electrician on the campus and, incidentally, he recently had a song published which was presented over the air on Don McNeil's Breakfast Club program.

These square dances are to continue as long as the students and faculty show an interest in them, so wear what you want and bring whom you like, but make your plans to attend the square dances every Thursday night.

Block and Bridle, organization for animal husbandry majors, will pledge approximately 35 candidates this week, according to Dale Hoover, president.

Formal initiation for these pledges will be at 7 p.m. Monday, March 1, in the Aggie Memorial Auditorium.

A special committee will select the "best pledge" who will be announced at the Block and Bridle steak try in April. The committee will also select the best pledge emblem, a large block letter "B" with a butcher's block and a bride within it. The winning emblem will compete with the winner of the fall "best emblem." The outstanding emblem of the year will be announced at the annual club banquet to be held in May.

Faculty Advisory Committee Presents Annual Report of Projects Completed

Three projects recommended in 1952 by the Faculty Advisory Committee have been completed and 10 others started, according to the committee's recently issued 1953 report.

The most important project completed was action toward solving the problems of automobile traffic and parking. The other two completed were a college telephone directory containing an alphabetical listing of personnel, divisions and departments; and the service departments; and the storage and spreading of fertilizer during seasons when windows are closed and its use will not tend to increase the fly population.

Recommendations Given
Other recommendations of the committee on which action has been started, but have not been completed, are:

A means of informing the faculty of the facilities available from each service department of the college.

Sanitary drinking water for each building.

Correction of faulty classroom acoustics.

Scheduling of moving, building repair and soft drink servicing at times which will not disturb nearby classes.

A tightening of traffic regulations and other disciplinary matters.

Allotment of suitable space for a faculty club.

Fewer convocations during class hours.

Improved lighting of routes between library and dormitories.

Issuance of a faculty handbook.

Watering at Night
Recommendations on which the report declared no action had been taken were: organization of the mimeograph service so production can be accelerated in rush periods; watering of lawns at night; more sidewalks to various entrances, and between buildings as needed; steps to preserve the college's social and cultural traditions; clear definition of faculty committee duties to prevent overlapping; and appointment of distinguished professors from the ranks of the faculty.

The present members of the faculty advisory committee are Cecil Ayers, F. G. Harbaugh, E. R. Heineman, S. M. Kennedy, W. M. Pearce, F. W. Sparks, R. W. Strandtmann, Miss Margaret Stuart, H. A. Anderson, V. T. Clover, C. E. Houston, George Whetstone, Mrs. Vivian Adams, and Miss Geraldine Clewell.

THETA SIG CONTEST

The second annual newspaper writers contest is being sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism society for women.

About 50 weekly and daily papers have been invited to enter in the four fields: news story, feature, editorial, and column. Deadline is March 1.

Dodd Vernon, Aubrey Shouse, and a member of the Avalanche-Journal staff will serve as judges. Winners will be announced and presented certificates at the Matrix Table dinner April 8.

Saturday will be the last day to file applications to make up examinations missed during the fall semester, according to the official college calendar. Requests should be made to deans of divisions.

Rush Week Schedule Announced for Eight Men's National Fraternities

Schedule for Rush Week for Tech's eight men's social fraternities was announced Sunday afternoon at a meeting of all members and pledges by Jerry House, Interfraternity Council president.

Rush Week is set for March 1-11. During that time, each fraternity will have one official function, which will be held in Hotel Lubbock. No other functions will be permitted during that period or during the "no-rush" period which began Monday and will last until March 1. IFC defines a function as "more than three rushes in the company of members, pledges or alumni of a fraternity."

★ ★ ★ Kemas

The Kemas fraternity will have its dinner dance Saturday night at the Caprock Hotel. John Curry will play.

Members and dates attending will be: Bob Allison, Virginia Mitchell, P. L. Miss Marie Miles, instructor in English, recently was promoted to Major in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Silence, during which no oral or written communication may be made to rushes, will last from 9 p.m. March 11 to 6:15 p.m. March 12. The pledging convocation will be held on March 12 from 4:45 p.m. to 6:15 p.m. All rushes must attend the convocation to sign preferential bids. A student who will be unable to attend may contact the office of the dean of student life before the convocation to make specific arrangements. Hold-over pledges are not required to attend the convocation.

To be eligible to pledge, a student must be carrying nine semester hours, must have attended Tech for at least one semester, and not be on disciplinary or scholastic probation. A student who has failed to qualify for the preceding two semesters is not eligible to pledge now. A rusher who fails to keep a party date with a fraternity will be barred from pledging this semester.

Officers recently elected for the spring semester by IFC are H. Ouse, president, representing Sigma Alpha Epsilon; and Bennett Corley, secretary-treasurer, representing Pi Kappa Alpha.

ZETAS HAVE PARTY

Kay Jones entered Zeta Tau Alpha members and pledges at a coe party Saturday afternoon in her home, 3416 29th St.

Although there are fewer students on campus this semester, according to Tech's Traffic Committee, there are actually more automobiles. The following regulations, taking effect on March 1, should be noted carefully by campus drivers:

1. Upon receipt of one ticket, issued either by Tech or the City of Lubbock for either a traffic or parking violation on campus, the student will receive a warning.
2. Upon receipt of two tickets, the student will receive a final warning.
3. If a student receives a ticket after his final warning, he will lose the privilege of driving his automobile on the campus for at least the remainder of the semester and possibly longer.
4. The owner of the automobile will be held responsible for the safe operation and proper parking of his automobile regardless of who may be the driver.

The Traffic Committee concludes its announcement by appealing "to the student body for cooperation in this program, the only purpose of which is to safeguard lives and property and to promote the general welfare of the institution."

Deadline Data—

Some recent misunderstandings about Toreador deadlines make it necessary to restate the paper's deadlines for the benefit of campus news sources.

Official deadline for all stories is 5 p.m. Tuesday. Only by special arrangement with the editor may information for stories be received as late as Wednesday afternoon. Dance lists will be used in the issue preceding the event; they will be used in the following issue only if space remains after all other copy is used—which is unlikely.

A final word to news sources: no Toreador reporter can promise how long a story will be, what sort of headline it will carry, or on what page it will appear. If you feel that your offering rates special treatment, please contact the editor.

Personnel Forms Due by March 1

The Placement Service requests that all candidates for degrees complete their personnel information blanks and turn them in before March 1. The form should be accompanied by two glossy print photographs, 2 1/2 by 3 inches in size.

Filing of the forms and the photographs is a requirement for both May and August graduates.

All students who wish printed copies of their personnel data for prospective employers may order 100 printed data sheets by filling their requests and paying the fee of $6.50 by March 1.

SWIMMING MEET IN ODESSA

Dr. Kirell's swimmers will be trying to jump back into the win column this week-end when they take on Odessa High School Saturday in Odessa. Tech was swept under last Saturday by a strong University of Texas swim team in Austin following a whipping handed them by the University of Oklahoma the previous week.

Texas swimmers so dominated the dual meet that the Techs weren't able to swim away with a single first place honor.

Bob Shackelford led the Raider's vain attempt with two second places; 220 breast-stroke and 150-yard individual medley. Ed Butterfield placed third in both the 50 and 100-yard free styles.

RALPH SHELTON

Toreador Editor

Yesterday's visit from Dudley, the mailman, brought the usual assortment of publicity releases and treatises from temperance leagues. But in the midst of our storing of these fascinating documents in the round, open-topped filing cabinet which stands on the floor near our desk—and which is emptied periodically by the Journalism Building's custodian—we came upon a letter to the Editor. Overjoyed, since it has been weeks since we've been able to layout a "Backtalk" column on our editorial page, we tore open the letter only to find disappointment: a letter unsigned and anonymous. (The Toreador maintains a policy of using only letters which are signed. The writer's name, however, may be withheld by request.)

The letter asked a question to this effect: Why doesn't The Toreador print a comic strip like Pogo? The author of the letter pointed out the fact, well-known to us, that such collegiate newspapers as The Daily Texan of the University of Texas run strips of the fabulous little possum created by cartoonist Walt Kelly.

The writer may not realize it, but editors of such papers as Tech's have dreams filled with disasters to make big front-page headlines, bowl victories to splash across a sports page, and Pogo on the editorial page. In short, we'd be more than happy to publish Pogo, but here are the problems involved:

Point One—because of financial limitations, The Toreador is published only once weekly. The continuous plot of a strip such as Pogo demands daily publication.

Point Two—a comic strip of the magnitude of Pogo brings high prices. Our business manager pales at the thought of passing out extra pencils and paper; the suggestion that we attempt to buy a high-priced comic strip might be fatal to him.

(Both Points One and Two could lead to a dreary discussion of budgets, activity fees, and the number of Techsans paying such fees. Let's avoid that for now.)

For the benefit of the writer of that unsigned letter and other Pogo-philes on the campus, we'll pass on a bit of news reported recently in The Campus, student newspaper of Southern Methodist University.

Mr. Kelly, the aforementioned creator of Pogo, was lately a guest on their campus, where he spoke to an audience composed of journalism students and other fanciers of Kelly's swamp demenz. In his talk Kelly, whose strip now appears in more than 400 collegiate and professional newspapers, said that his work differs from other comics in that he tries to reflect, as much as possible, the trials and tribulations of everyday life. "Recent surveys," he stated, "have shown that the public trend has been for more interest in seriousness in the newspapers. Since the general level of education is 13 years, this has lowered the reading standard, and the public has realized it and as a result is becoming interested in more serious reading." He stressed that in his strip he has attempted to expose humorously some of that seriousness.

"The hardest thing I've had to do," he claimed, "is to take people as they are and create animals out of them." He stated that he likes to use animals in his comic strips because they remind him so much of people. The animals possess so many human characteristics that he sometimes gets attached to them. He concluded: "Our national level of humor has changed; people are beginning to identify themselves with what they read and see."

Mr. Kelly's statement concerning the age level of the average American reader gives us an excuse to recall the English instructor who once called on us to defend the journalistic insistence on short, simple words, sentences, paragraphs and such. (We had little capability or inclination to put up a defense.) We tried to explain that our average reader could more easily picture a "spade" than an "Implement Devised for Excavating," words which some of their instructors would likely prefer to use. (It has been pointed out to us that the department contains some exponents of realism who would prefer "shovel" above either of the two examples above.)

The discussion on journalistic-versus-literary styles lasted all period and resulted in nothing but the postponement of a fifteen-minute quiz.

We started this column with Pogo, the intellectual possum, and ended up with an English instructor. The question is: Have we rambled on in a long, straight line or have we traveled a full circle?

Texas Tech's animal husbandry department sold seven head of Rambouillet sheep to an Abilene rancher last week.

The department also sold three hogs to B. C. Cairns of Clairemont.

UT Will Perform Techsan's Music

The University of Texas at Austin, will perform a concert for piano and orchestra by Mary Jeanne van Appledorn, Tech music instructor, April 7, on the University's third annual Southwestern Symposium of Contemporary American Music.

Miss van Appledorn received notification of the performance from Clifford Williams of the University's music department.

Miss van Appledorn will appear as piano soloist in the three-movement work which comprises an Allegro Energico, Air and Presto. The work, in contemporary style, was completed Dec. 9. The concerto was written for Tech's third annual Symposium of Contemporary music to be held April 21-25, upon the Tech campus.

For the Austin performance, Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, New York, will be guest conductor.

"Burlesca," another of Miss van Appledorn's works, won first place in the 1953 Mu Phi Epsilon national composition contest. It will be performed this summer at the National Convention in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Born in Holland, Mich., Miss van Appledorn attended high school in Topeka, Kan. She received a bachelor of music degree from Eastman School of Music in 1948, and master of music there in 1950. For the last four years she has taught theory, form and composition and class piano at Tech.

Miss van Appledorn has given performances in New York, Ga., Rochester, N. Y., Macon, Ga., and Austin.

BILLIARDS COMPETITION

Tech's representatives in the National Intercollegiate Billiards Tournament finished final play Tuesday night with a team score of 126.

Tech players and their final night scores are: Billy McGlaun, 47; C. R. Martin, 24; Bill Elrod, 35.

Results of the meet, a mail-type tournament, will not be known until Tuesday, according to Amil Anderson, assistant director of the Student Union.

Referees for Tuesday's competition were Lou Stamatakos, Sneed Hall supervisor and Jack Collins, supervisor of Doak Hall. Bill Geisert, assistant dean of men was official scorer.

FROM REVEILLE TO LIGHTS-OUT

Life of Air Force Cadets Observed By Tech and New Mexico Students

Four college students, two from Tech and two from the University of New Mexico, returned Sunday after a four-day tour of Reese Air Force Base where they got a taste of the life of an Air Force cadet.

The visitors lived the life of an aviation cadet during their stay, doing everything except "bone over" the day's assignments. They observed how an Air Force base is run.

The college AFROTC guests arrived at Reese AFB shortly before noon Thursday and were assigned escorts for their stay. Before getting down to work they were assigned quarters, ate at the cadet open mess, and were greeted by Maj. Tobias Schindler, commander of the 3500 Student Squadron.

They then visited the academic section, looked over facilities, and got a briefing on objectives. At the physiological training altitude chamber there was another briefing, followed by a tour of the base exchange, hobby shops, library and gymnasium. The quartet checked out flying equipment and witnessed the retreat in which all cadets participated. Then came dinner in the cadet mess, an evening in the base gymnasium and bowling alley watching cadet teams in action.

Friday, after spending the night in the cadet barracks, they answered reveille at 6:15 a.m. Following a breakfast in the cadet mess, they were required to prepare their barracks areas for inspection. At 7:30 a.m., they attended a class in physiological training in the chamber which simulates high altitude flight; at 8:30 a.m., flight operations; and at 9:30 a.m., a class in electronics and radar. Then came lunch and an afternoon of flying.

Dressed in flying suits, Rhode and Kennedy attended a briefing on flying the B-25 aircraft and were then taken on a two-hour training flight in the multi-engine planes. West and Del Llano were briefed on the single-engine T-28 aircraft, and had a two-hour flight along with regular Reese cadets.

After the flights came a period in the synthetic trainer to take

Speakers for April Regional Science Meeting Announced

Dr. Roger Williams, head of the University of Texas Biochemical Institute, and Dr. Henry Eyring, dean of the Graduate School at the University of Utah, will be two of the speakers at the southwestern division meeting of the Association for the Advancement of Science to be held on the Tech campus April 25-29.

Between 350 and 500 participants from fields of social, natural, and laboratory sciences are expected to attend, according to Aubrey Shouse, member of the publicity committee.

This will be the third time the annual meeting has been held on Tech campus. The first was in 1934 and the second in 1941.

simulated flights, followed by a tour of base operations, flight line, and a session of de-briefing. Supper in the cadet mess was followed by recreation and lights-out.

Saturday's schedule called for another 6:15 a.m. reveille, and a day spent in the field meet between cadet squadrons. The visitors attended a Saturday night dance in the Officer's Club. A Sunday morning breakfast in the Officer's Club ended the tour.

The four were selected for the visit and training at Reese in order that they might pass along information to other AFROTC men at their colleges. Capt. John H. Baumgardner of the Texas Tech Air Force ROTC staff served as liaison officer with West and Kennedy.

Ann Perkins Reigns As Queen At Military Ball Saturday Night

Ann Perkins, Pampa sophomore, was presented as queen of the Military Ball Saturday night at the Student Union Building.

She received the honor as sponsor of Company C of the Army ROTC, which sold the largest percentage of tickets to the ball.

Miss Perkins knighted 18 pledges of Scabbard and Blade in intermission ceremonies. The rites were performed by the queen tapping each pledge on the shoulder with a saber.

Official of Livestock Show

T. L. Leach, agricultural education instructor, was an official of the Wichita Falls 4-H and FFA Livestock Show last week.

Requirements Met For Commissions

Six Texas Tech senior Army ROTC students have received notice that they have met requirements for commissions in the regular army, according to Col. Hampton Green, Tech professor of military science and tactics.

Included in the group are Everette Abernathie, Vineyard agriculture student; Jay Eudy Turkey agriculture student; Foster Cook, Spur chemistry student; Ted Harrison, Roswell, N. M., psychology student; John Nolan, Lubbock engineering student; and Herbert Seigler, Matador agriculture student.

All except Abernathie and Harrison have said that they will accept the commissions. These two say that they will "think it over."

Col. Green said that the group will signify acceptance or rejection at a later date. If they accept the regular commissions, they will be subject to call to active duty within six months after their acceptance, depending upon their date of graduation.

Cook and Seigler are in signal ROTC; Abernathie, Eudy and Harrison are in the infantry, and Nolan is in the engineers.

GET A DOLLAR?

The Junior Class needs a dollar.

Plans were made to collect class dues at a meeting Wednesday, Feb. 17. Dues of $1 are needed from every class member to pay for the Junior-Senior Prom. Only about 300 juniors paid their dues at registration. Committees are being set up in each dorm and in town to collect the money.

Other plans for the prom will be made at a later meeting.

Six companies have announced job interviews for this week and another for March 2 and 3, according to Mrs. Jean Jenkins, director of the Placement service.

German Group Tours Campus

Eight civic-minded Germans toured the Tech campus yesterday as one phase of a two-weeks study they are making of Lubbock. The visitors are from Kaiserslautern, Germany, a city comparable in size to Lubbock.

The group included an architect, a mayor, an editor, a judge, a priest, a labor leader, and a chamber of commerce specialist. Their ability to speak English ranged from poor to good. Theodor Alexander, Tech German instructor, and his students conducted the campus tour.

The visitors were taken to science laboratories and the Library before having lunch in the dormitories. At 1 o'clock they observed a scientific German class, followed by visits to Engineering, the Home Economics, Music and Speech buildings. At 4 p.m. the tourists went to the Student Union Building for rest and conversation with students. Last night they were invited to dinner in the homes of various Tech professors.

Places in which the foreign travelers had expressed interest were included in the tour, arranged by the department of foreign languages. Also they will visit the Tech Museum and the Division of Agriculture at a later date, and on Thursday they will be guests of President and Mrs. E. N. Jones.

Today, the Atlantic Refining Co. interviewers will talk to chemical and petroleum engineers for crude production research or laboratory engineering in Dallas, and electrical and mechanical engineers for engineering or construction departments. They will also talk to juniors majoring in mechanical, petroleum and chemical engineering about summer jobs.

Aircraft Interviews Set Also today, the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corp. will consult with majors in civil, electrical and mechanical engineering and holders of advanced degrees in physics and mathematics.

Mrs. Aubrey Russell, from the State of Texas Extension Service, will talk today with home economics majors about positions as home demonstration agents and agents in training in various parts of Texas.

Today and Friday, the Columbia-Southern Chemical Corp. will discuss job openings as analytical and inorganic physical chemists, physicists, and chemical engineers.

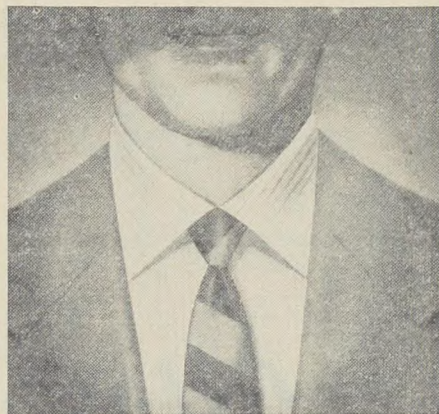

Tomorrow, the National Supply Co. will interview accounting, economics, finance, management, marketing and industrial and mechanical engineering majors.

Also tomorrow, the Hughes Research and Development Laboratories will interview electrical and mechanical engineering and physics majors.

On March 2 and 3, Chance Vought Aircraft is reopening training programs for women who are interested in jobs as engineering aids, concerning work with research, design and development on fighter aircraft and guided missiles.

Red Raiders Cinch Tie for Crown By Clouting Arizona Cagers 97-68

Texas Tech's Red Raiders cinched at least a tie for the Border Conference championship Monday night, when they breezed by the unhappy University of Arizona cagers 97-68 on the home court.

Tuesday night, the point-happy Raiders will play host to West Texas State, the only team remaining with a chance to tie for the title.

It was a Raider victory Monday from the word go. Durward Bolding set the Lubbockites out in front with only 45 seconds showing on the clock. Arizona came back in a hurry with John Bruner pitching in a couple of free throws to tie it up, but Jim Reed, sophomore forward, let go with a one hand set-shot that gave the Techs the lead again, and after that, it was never close. Making five of their first seven field goal attempts, the Lubbock cagers sprang to an early 12-4 lead, and never slowed down, pouring 29 points through the goal in the first quarter to take a comfortable 29-13 lead.

The Wildcats came back strong in the second stanza and outscored the Raiders 24-23, but the torrid Tech lads held strong to a 52-37 lead.

Defensively, the Raiders were doing an outstanding job of cutting off the Arizona attempts to work the ball in, forcing them to settle for outside shots. Meanwhile, the Tech five was piercing the Arizona defense with every shot.

WRA PLANS CONTESTS

A volleyball tournament sponsored by Women's Recreation Association is scheduled for Saturday and Sunday. All women's organizations on the campus are invited to participate. A trophy will be presented to the winner.

A tennis tournament Friday and Saturday, March 12-13, will be sponsored by the organization. Singles are set for Friday and doubles for Saturday. Any girl may enter and medals will be presented to the winner in both divisions.

ACPR MEETS HERE

Stewart Harrall, director of public relations studies at the University of Oklahoma and nationally known author and humorist, gave the keynote address at the District 10 convention of the American College Public Relations Association held on the Tech campus last week-end.

About 28 persons attended from Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma, according to Aubrey Shouse, Tech director of public information.

In the third quarter, Tech doubled the Arizona cagers' 11 points to increase their lead to 74-48. The Raiders poured in the reserves the last of the fourth quarter, and it looked for awhile like Polk Robinson's cagers might please the fans by hitting the century mark, but they could not stage off the clock.

Durward Bolding spearheaded the Tech attack with 23 points, followed closely by Carl Ince's 22. Eli Lazovich, led the losers with 14, while Bill Smithoran had 13, and George Houttree netted 10.

A Raider victory Tuesday night or a West Texas loss to Hardin-Simmons Saturday night would give Tech a feat unequalled in the Border Conference since the 1934-35 school year: winning an undisputed championship in both football and basketball in the same year. In both 1933-34 and 1934-35, Tech grid and cage teams captured the conference title. Since then the nearest thing to a double winner came in 1938-39, when New Mexico A&M shared the football championship with New Mexico and won the basketball title.

New YMCA Open to Tech Students

Tech has been included in the activity schedule of the Lubbock YMCA to be located at 14th Street and Avenue X.

Remodeling of the chapel of St. John's Methodist Church, purchased by the "Y" board, will get under way soon. The new YMCA will be open early in the spring. It will include a gymnasium, locker room, showers, health club, recreation rooms, club rooms, handicraft shop, offices, snack counter, and patio.

All precept activities will be continued in the new and larger "Y" with gym classes, organized volleyball, basketball, and badminton leagues to be added.

Youth memberships, for which Tech students are eligible, will remain at $2.

Vocational Emphasis Week is being observed this week by Tech's Baptist students. Morning Watch programs have been planned along this line with extra features added during the week.

Speakers for the week are Dr. M. M. Ewing, Buck McNeil, Coleman Ward, Mrs. Cecil Ray and the Rev. Abe Hester, Jr.

A song leader clinic will be conducted at the Student Center at 4:30 Saturday followed by a buffet supper at 5:45. A panel discussion will be presented at 7:15 by the Revs. I. D. Walker, Mrs. Bill Mead and Tom Moorehead.

Fencers Prepare For Competition

Tech's fencing teams will hit the road Saturday when both groups will be guests of Texas State College for Women in Denton.

The Tech women's team faces the TSCW lasses in both team and individual competition, while the men's team challenges only individual competitors from Fort Worth, Dallas, and John Tarleton State College. Both teams are coached by Jack Carnell.

The women's team consists of Iva Crowley, Zoe Merriman, Virginia Still and Jo Nell West.

Cecil Bradshaw, Ed Sims, Wayne Latimer, Alton Slagle, Benny Daugherty, and Ken Owen make up the men's team.

The outstanding event of the year will be the NCAA tournament in Chicago, March 27. The tournament is for men only. One man per school is allowed in the foil, sabre, and epee, with each man competing against all competitors.

The date for the Border Conference tournament has not been set, but will take place sometime in April. Tech has taken two of three Border Conference Championships, and finished second in the third.

NEWMAN CLUB TO CONVENE

Fifteen members of the Tech Newman Club will attend the South Central Province Convention of Newman Clubs in Denton Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Attending will be Mary Alice Reidy, Dan Ratliff, Josephine Garcia, Dorothy Foltyn, Carol Glahn, Frances Edwards, Ralph Ledwig, Tom Williams, Don Stewart, Don Dalbasco, Vic Mihuta, Donnie Owen, Ronnie Owen, Bob Busbee, and Sybil Emmett.

Feathers Named Baseball Coach

Beattie Feathers, newly elected backfield coach for the Red Raiders, has also been assigned coaching duties for the Texas Tech baseball team.

Feathers, who has several years of professional baseball to his credit, worked with the Cincinnati Reds in the spring of 1934, and played outfield for Knoxville, Tenn., Jackson, Miss., Statesville, N. C., and was player-manager of the Kingsport, Tenn., team.

After dropping from the professional ranks, Feathers coached baseball at Appalachian State and North Carolina State, where he was also head football coach.

Plans are being made to get the Raider baseball team underway in the near future. Approximately 100 enthusiastic boys are out for the team.

COACHES' CLINIC

Tech will repeat this year as host for the high school coaches' football clinic held each year in this area. The clinic will be held March 12-13. Visiting lecturers will be L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, Texas Christian University athletic director, and Cooper Robins, Odessa High School coach. Approximately 100 coaches are expected to be on hand for the two-day talks.

ART BALL PLANNED

Plans for the annual Beaux Art Ball were discussed at the February meeting of the Gargoyles Society last week. Jack Blackstock, president, appointed Clarence Johnson chairman of the initiation committee.

Gargoyles members held a dance Friday night in X-2. Lemonade and popcorn were served to guests and their dates.

Freshman Cagers Whip Reese Five

Texas Tech's freshman cage team stymied the Reese Air Force Base Rattlers in a preliminary game Friday night, 84-72. The Pleadors weren't pressed until the close of the fourth quarter, when the Rattlers rallied but couldn't beat the clock.

Harry Sealing paced the Tech five with 32 points, while Bill Buchanan pitched in 23. St. Mairs and Tisler paced the losers with 17 each.

Coach Miller's Pleadors will meet the West Texas State freshmen in another preliminary game starting at 6:30 Tuesday night on the Tech court. Miller's cagers have a 2-3 record during the current season.

Price of admission will be $1. for those not having an activity ticket.

TECH POLICY SET

A future for Tech midway between the liberal arts of a university and the techniques of a land-grant college was set by Dr. E. N. Jones, president of Tech at a general faculty meeting of the college staff last Thursday.

"The divine right and responsibility of a college," said Dr. Jones, "does not include the relatively easy practice of swelling the ranks of the half-educated."

Dr. Jones pointed out that by the present lack of enlightenment in the field of human relations that historians may record our modern times as a "new Dark Age."

The meeting was held in the Union-Building following a social hour in the Green Room.

Two former Tech students, James Freeman and Ernest Sneed, were scheduled for induction into the armed forces today.

BSO's Leadership School to Begin March 26

Final Plans Made for Ruidoso Training Session at BSO Committee Meet Friday

Tentative plans for the Ruidoso leadership training session were laid out in a meeting of the Board of Student Organization's executive committee Friday afternoon.

Glenn Rainer, chairman of the executive committee, explained that the purpose of the training session would be to discuss the responsibilities and qualities of leadership. Also such problems as how to get more participation in campus elections and what the sponsor's functions should be, will be discussed. The session will be held March 26, 27, and 28 at the Navajo Lodge in Ruidoso.

Dick McCollum, in charge of the arrangements committee, announced that organizations had until March 10 to let the committee know if they plan to send a delegate. Each organization will also be allowed to choose an alternate. The executive committee decided that alternates may attend if enough interest is shown to fill another bus. Original plans are for approximately 75 to 80 persons.

Max Preston, chairman of the program committee, gave a report on the items for the three-day program.

Preston announced that the group would arrive in Ruidoso late Friday afternoon, March 26. After registering, the group will have a chuck wagon supper Friday night. Early Saturday morning a short orientation will be held to give the members of the training course the items on the agenda for the day, and a general breakdown on the purposes of the discussions. Afterward, the group will break up into workshops where the discussions will be held.

A banquet will be held Saturday night, March 27. President E.N. Jones will be the principal

Prize-Winning Pictures Now Being Displayed in the Union

Subjects ranging from babies to barns adorn the walls in the Anniversary Room of Tech's Student Union Building.

The traveling salon of Photography magazine is displaying 36 original prize-winning prints which will be changed each week for a month. The exhibit is free to the public. Both professional and amateur work from all over the world is represented in color and black and white.

Each picture is a prize winner from the magazine's annual contest. Some ribbon-winning prints are on exhibit. Technical information is available for the visitor. Settings and types of equipment used are described.

First prize in color was won by Sgt. Frank D. Prayton, Birmingham, Ala., for his "Casualty in Korea." Leon Livinstein, New York, N. Y., won first place in black and white for "Boys."

speaker as he sums up the day's work.

Before returning Sunday, the group will participate in a sunrise service on a mountainside overlooking Ruidoso.

The cost per person will be $19.-50. The money will go for bus fare, lodging, and payment for specialists in different fields from the Hogg Foundation in Houston.

TISA Leadership Meet Scheduled For March 20

A Texas Intercollegiate Student Association leadership training conference will be held by TISA's District 1 at McMurry College in Abilene March 20. Its theme will be leadership aims, qualities, and responsibilities.

There will be three panel discussions on each of these topics. After the discussions, Dr. D.M. Wiggins, former Tech president, will be the main speaker at the banquet.

J.C. Chambers, president of the Student Council, announced that anyone interested in making the trip should contact the Student Council office.

Schools composing District 1 are: Tech, McMurry College, Abilene Christian College, Hardin-Simmons University, and Wayland College.

Brazilian Schools More Advanced Prof. Bourns Tells Spanish Clubs

"Brazilian high schools are much more advanced than those in our country," Charles T. Bourns said Monday night. The agricultural engineering professor spoke to members of Capa y Espada and Sigma Delta Pi at a joint meeting in the Student Union Building.

Prof. Bourns gave an illustrated talk on aspects of life, economy, and geography of some of the South American countries. His experience in South America includes a number of years residence in Brazil, first as a naval officer and later as agricultural engineer and director of rural development. He also served as a consulting engineer in Venezuela.

Public Schools Established
The speaker told the group that many coffee plantations have been closed down because of soil erosion. The rural development program has established county agents, home demonstration agents and public schools in the interior of Brazil.

The climate of Brazil is similar to West Texas and New Mexico, so irrigation projects have been encouraged by the rural program.

Country of Contrast
South America is a country of contrasts. Modern architecture is prevalent along the coastal cities, but the lower class live in mud huts in mountainous areas.

Prof. Bourns illustrated his talk with photographic slides taken during his stay in South America.

Polly Johnson, president, conducted a short business meeting.

The Texas Tech Choir will appear Sunday with the Dallas Symphony Orchestra in Dallas. Walter Hendl, director of the orchestra, attended a recent choir rehearsal to complete arrangements for the Dallas appearance.

Band Fraternity Sponsoring Tour

Kappa Kappa Psi, national men's honorary band fraternity, is sponsoring the Tech Band concert tour March 15-17 and helping with the band's spring concerts.

The fraternity and the band have been sharing the responsibility of playing at Tech home basketball games. The men's group is a co-sponsor with three other campus organizations of the first annual Fraternity-Sorority Sing to be held May 11. The other sponsors are Phi Mu Alpha, men's music fraternity; Mu Phi Epsilon, women's music sorority, and Tau Beta Sigma, national women's honorary band sorority.

Another event for Kappa Kappa Psi this semester will be a spring dance on April 29, according to Buzz Burkhalter, pledge captain.

The band fraternity has pledged the following freshmen this semester: Don Oatman, Ed Golden, Glen Smith, Wendell Spence, and Larry Hardin, all of Lubbock; Jim Walker, Brownfield; Reynolds Melton, Fort Worth; H. A. Sessions, Sundown; Harrell Green, Dumas; Ronald Ruoho, Phillips; Bob Robinson, Crane; and O. R. Wright, Amarillo.

Delegates from Southwestern Colleges To Attend Air Society Conclave Here

Delegates from 10 Southwestern colleges and universities will attend the third annual area conclave of the Arnold Air Society here Friday and Saturday, March 5 and 6.

The Lewis C. Ellis Squadron of Tech will be the hosts, according to Albert Purcell, arts and sciences junior from Shamrock and area commander. Purcell will be in charge of the conclave.

The meeting will begin Friday night with a reception at the Cadet Club, Reese Air Force Base, given by the host chapter.

Business session is scheduled for 9 a.m. Saturday in the ballroom of the Student Union Building. Col. Ollen Turner, professor of air science and tactics, will introduce President E. N. Jones, who will give the welcoming address. Dr. G. E. Giesecke, academic vice-president at Tech, will speak at the luncheon. Delegates and squadron members will attend a dance Saturday night at the Cadet Club at the base.

Territory from which attendance is expected is Area H, with headquarters at Tech. Delegates will come from the University of Texas, the University of Oklahoma, Baylor, Southern Methodist, Texas Christian universities, the University of Tulsa, and East Texas State, North Texas State, Southwest Texas State, and Oklahoma A & M colleges.

Capt. John H. Baumgardner is squadron sponsor.

E. W. SMITH SPEAKS

Edward W. Smith, director of development of the Tech Foundation, spoke to the men of the First Presbyterian Church Wednesday at 7 p.m. Mr. Smith's topic was "Historical Background of the Church."
