Annual Show Will Begin At 8:15 At Lubbock High

The limelight will again be cast on Tech's show talent at the third annual Varsity show, In A Star Spangled Manner, Wednesday and Thursday nights at 8:15 p. m. in the Lubbock High school auditorium.

The play revolves around an attempt on the part of a Nazi ring on the campus to steal the formula of a high explosive from a chemistry professor. The excitement and fun which will issue from the conflict in the capturing of this dangerous spy ring is destined to make the performance fast moving and will hold the audience in a high state of suspension from the rise of the curtain until its fall. Colorful musical numbers and beautiful girls in gala costumes lend to the atmosphere of the play a touch of Broadway.

The play is divided into two acts with Lehmer Graham and Jane Pegues taking the romantic leads.

Script for the show was written by Charles Wiley, Mert Starnes and Robert Dorough.

Hugh English, head director, has been assisted in the production by Lehmer Graham, speech director; Betty Rhea Caldwell, dance director; Pete Wiley, music director and Hugh Rowland, art director.

The speaking cast includes: Lehmer Graham, James Venable, Louis Beale, Chauncey Trout, Dick Miller, O. P. Harlan, Tommy Thomas, Mary Jo Ryan, Arnold Mathias, Leonard Jensen, Sarah Cooke, Kenneth Bishop and Victor Hooper.

Albert Spalding To Appear Here On Artist Course

Albert Spalding, world famous violinist, is to appear at the Lubbock High school auditorium Wednesday, May 5, under auspices of the Texas Tech Artist course.

Born in Chicago in 1888, Mr. Spalding started playing the violin at the age of seven. He had distinction of graduating from the Bologna Conservatory of Music at the age of 14 with the highest honors ever accorded anyone since Mozart. Later his principal teachers were Chiti, the famous Florentine master, Buitrago in New York, and Lefort in Paris. He made his professional debut in Paris, accompanied by Adelina Patti, well-known vocalist. His American debut was made at Carnegie Hall as soloist with the New York Symphony orchestra, conducted by Walter Damrosch.

A popular figure in the musical world, Mr. Spalding plays from 80 to 80 concerts in the United States every season. Besides being a violinist, he has to his credit over 100 musical compositions, and he holds an amateur tennis championship.

Wednesday night's concert will be Mr. Spalding's first appearance in Lubbock.

Sears Issues Ten Scholarships Here

Sears-Roebuck and Company foundation has authorized Texas Technological college to issue ten freshman scholarships in the sum of $100 each for the year 1943-44.

These scholarships will be administered through the head of the department of agricultural education.

As has been the case in the past, need, promise of leadership, intelligence, and definite agricultural interest will be considered in awarding the scholarships. This year the applicant's draft status and age must be clear in the application, as it is contemplated that the scholarships can be awarded to prospective freshman students who will be permitted to be in college at least one full year. Dean A. H. Leidigh, head of the division of agriculture, said.

Qualifications Given For Women To Be Recognized

Annual Service Set May 11; Rehearsal To Be Staged May 10

Approximately 150 women students have the following qualifications and will be honored at an annual Recognition service May 11, at 7:15 o'clock on the lawn south of the Administration building:

- (1) Women whose names appear on the honor roll for the fall semester as making an A or A-average.
- (2) Women members of the scholarship societies admitting women. These organizations are: Alpha Chi, Alpha Epsilon Delta, Alpha Psi Omega, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Tau Beta Sigma, Kappa Mu Epsilon, Theta Sigma Phi, English Honor society and Pi Sigma Alpha.
- (3) Those who have received prizes or honors at the commencement exercises last June or since that time if they are in college.
- (4) Student who have done creditable work in college and outstanding work in women's organizations on the campus. These women are usually selected from the following clubs: Association of Women Students, Women's Dormitory Self-Governing association, Junior council, Home Economics club, Women's Athletic association, Forum, Las Leales, Freshman Honor society and Future Teachers of America.
- (5) Women who have done outstanding work in college activities.

One student is chosen from each of the following organizations: one-act play, debate, Toreador, Student Religious council, Seven Last Words, La Ventura, winner of Theta Sigma Phi essay contest, and the winning of Forum award for highest ranking sophomore. (6) Women maintaining a 2.0 average and carrying 35 or more activity points. (7) President-elect, AWS. (8) New members of Forum. (9) Special recognition for those women who have been recognized for four or more years.

Junior Council And AWS Offices Filled Tomorrow

Officers of the Association of Women Students and Junior council for the 1943-44 school year were nominated at an annual AWS-sponsored all-girl dance Monday night in the gym.

Maxine Craddock and Ophelia May Beall were nominated for AWS president, Mary Menon Stangel and Jean McLaughlin for vice-president, Betty Rhea Caldwell and Marie Hunsucker for secretary and Evelyn Woodson and Frances Ford for treasurer. Anna, Frances Baker, Betty Floyd and Moreena Roberts are nominees for Junior council president.

All women students enrolled in Tech are eligible to vote for AWS and Junior council officers. The election is to be Thursday, and ballots will be at the polls where voting for student body officers is taking place.

Food Inspection Course Open Here Beginning May 31

The Food Distribution administration will offer a four-day short course in food inspection on the campus May 31, June 1-3. Dr. Ben M. Stuckey, assistant marketing specialist of the United States Agriculture department, will be in charge of the classes.

This course is being offered for the training of home economics graduates who are interested in entering the Food Inspection services of the Food Distribution administration. Applicants may be seniors or graduates of home economics departments in recognized colleges. Chemistry or horticulture majors are also eligible.

Applications and recommendations must be filed with Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the division of home economics on or before May 1.

William E. Griffin, jr., student of agriculture in 1942, was recently decorated for bravery and gallantry under fire on the African front. Griffin, who is with the Army Medical Corps, climbed a cliff to rescue a wounded French soldier.

Top Offices Are Unopposed As Hale Quits Race

Five Women Vie For Secretary; Two For Head Yell Leader

Students will go to the polls tomorrow, April 29, and vote for twelve candidates running for seven offices. Five of the candidates are unopposed for office with the president, vice president, business manager, student representative to the athletic council and the man head yell leader going into office with no opponents.

Jerry Beavers will be student president when school opens next fall. Beavers was to have run against Charles Senning, the other nominee, who had to withdraw from the race to enter the armed forces.

Maxine Craddock moved into the vice president's chair when Billy Hale, her opponent, withdrew from the race Tuesday morning.

Tonights The Night...

... that the third annual Varsity show will be presented to the students of Texas Tech. Never before has so much discussion, both pro and con, circulated across the campus here than has been heard during preparations for the 1943 show.

The most recent blow to the presentation plans was the case of Charles Senning. Senning was to direct the orchestra, but during the latter part of last week received his call to the armed forces.

For the first few hours Varsity show directors were stunned, but the retiring musician came forth to save his own show. In his place has been substituted an equally capable director.

With this obstacle passed, directors of the show feel they have passed their examinations and can face any trial or tribulation that may arise before tonight. The fate of the third presentation has been transferred from these directors to the remainder of the student body.

The students are wondering about the show that they will witness tonight. They look back on the first one and remember its success; then they move up to last year and there is some doubt. It seems that the presentation last spring was a success to some and a failure to the remainder. This is the point that is hurting the present show more than any opposition, the draft or shortage of any one thing. Students have acquired the habit of looking back and comparing.

This must stop. Tonight when the curtain rises on the first act of the 1943 Varsity show, players should find themselves facing a packed house, if the entire student association here will fill the auditorium at Lubbock High. The fact remains that it is our show, even if some of the leading characters of the past have departed from the campus. Such comparisons are stupid assertions.

This year's Varsity show no more hinges on the success or failure of past shows than does the manner in which the Allies won World War I determine the manner in which we are to defeat the Axis powers in the present conflict.

It is true that the talent at Tech has been cut into deeply by the present emergency. We agree with this statement to a certain extent. The talent that we knew last year has gone. That is as far as The Toreador will go toward admitting the point that this year's show is due to be a failure because of lack of talent.

Students might give a second thought to the fact that last year's talent was very good, but that there were many students who were not here at that time, or who had ample talent to be in the show, and who were passed up because there was such an abundance of talented persons that there was not room for all.

This year the directors were left a limited choice of persons eligible for the show. They had enough support as far as spiritual support will go, but they had to choose between the ones who wanted to and the ones who could. It is our opinion that they made their choices wisely and carefully. The show tonight promises to reflect that.

No student has the right to condemn the show before it is presented if there is no ground for his condemnations. It is the duty of every Texchan to support the show to his utmost ability. This is no time for disunity. That is all in the past. The advisability of such a show was decided long ago, as was the cast. We must forget all that has happened during past discussions of the staging of the 1943 show. We must all concentrate on promoting the success of the present show.

So in "a Texas Techsan manner" every student should be present tonight in the Lubbock High school auditorium at 8:15 p.m. for the presentation of the third annual Texas Tech Varsity show, "In A Star Spangled Manner."

U. S. Treasury Department

In The Editor's Mail

April 22, 1943
Lubbock, Texas

Dear Bill:

After attending convocation this morning and the senior class meeting this afternoon I have a complaint to make to you, you may print this letter in the "Toreador", but please leave out my name, for personal reasons.

After each nomination this morning as well as this afternoon a motion was made to cease nominations, and seconded, and voted upon by the students and naturally it carried, but according to "Robert's Rules Of Order" Revised by General Henry M. Robert in his revised edition writes and I quote from Article IV, Section 26. Motions relating to Nominations, 'Closing and Reopening Nominations':

"Before proceeding to an election, if nominations have been made from the floor or by a committee, the chair should inquire if there are any further nominations. If there is no response he declares the nominations closed. In very large bodies it is customary to make a motion to close nominations, but until a reasonable time has been given, this motion is not in order. It is a main motion, incidental to the nominations and elections, cannot be debated, can be amended as to time, but can have no subsidiary motion applied to it. It yields to privileged motions, and requires a two-thirds vote as it deprives members of one of their rights."

The small group of students that were out this morning would not be considered a very large body, and surely not the group of seniors that met this afternoon.

I am not griping, just to be griping, or not because I didn't nominate or get nominated who I wanted, because I didn't have anyone in mind. It is because of the principal behind it, isn't this supposed to be a democratic school, isn't that one of the reasons that we are fighting World War II, why don't we start here at home and have democracy on our own college campus.

I do not know whether P. B. Shannon and Miss Weech know their Parliamentary procedure, but I am sure they should. I know that P. B. HAS taken the course in Parliamentary Law offered by the Speech Department. If they do not know it they should learn it, and if they do know it, was it merely an oversight, that is a very bad oversight, or was it that their candidates were nominated and wanted the nominations closed.

I do not know their answers but due to all fairness I think that someone should find out and let the students know what is happening. So Bill will you try to find out and let the student body know their reasons.

Yours truly,
S.E.

(Editor's note: After discussing the matter with P. B. Shannon the editor has arrived at the conclusion that the motion made was not entirely out of order. Although at the time I felt the same way that you did, upon talking with the student president I have changed my mind. Mr. Shannon asked for further nominations and, as he explained it, there were no more. He stated that when he asked for other nominations and there were none, he at the same time entertained the motion for the ceasing of nominations.

This is the way it appeared to me after some thought. I thank you for your letter and believe that the students will thank you also for your interest shown. However, I might ask why you did not speak up at the convocation and declare the motion out of order?—Ye Ed.)

Bob Snyder Weds Margery Hills In Ceremony Here

The wedding of Margery Hills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rayford B. Hills of Lubbock, and Ensign Robert Lynn Snyder, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Snyder of Lubbock, took place Friday evening at 8 o'clock at First Methodist church. Dr. H. I. Robinson read the single ring service.

The bridal party stood before altar lighted with white candles in pedestal candelabra which illumined floor baskets of blush pink gladioli against a background of greenery. Outlining the ends of the pews were tapers tied with white satin ribbons.

Proceeding the ceremony Miss Irene Fletcher, organist, played a 30-minute prelude of the couple's favorite selections.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of blush pink marquisette and lace with a full skirt ending in a short train. Her fingertip tulle veil was attached to a heart-shaped coronet of shirred tulle. She carried an old-fashioned nosegay of sweet-peas, shading to deep pink, centered with an orchid.

Frances Snyder, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Wyatt of Denton, cousin of the bride, Jean McLaughlin, and Sara Davis. They wore mist gray marquisette frocks and carried carnations shading from blush pink to deep rose, tied with rose streamers. They wore carnations in their hair.

Richard Snyder of Greenville, N. M., served his brother as best man. Another brother, Fred, and Tom B. Simmons, Kirk Dean, and Eugene Alderson were ushers.

A reception at the Hilton hotel followed the ceremony.

The couple is at home in New York, where Ensign Snyder is stationed in the ordnance department at Ft. Schuyler.

Mrs. Snyder was graduated from Texas Tech in 1941. She was president of Sans Souci club for two years. Ensign Snyder is also a Tech graduate, and he received a master's degree from the Harvard School of Business in January.

At the latest count, 1,199 alumni of Lehigh university were in the armed forces.

The University of Wisconsin budget for the 1943-45 biennium totals $8,682,225.

Coed's Corner—

AWS, Junior Council Elections Tomorrow

—By Kara Hunsucker

WHEN coeds vote for their student officers tomorrow, at the same polls will be ballots for the Association of Women Students and Junior Council positions for next year. In urging a large feminine representation at the ballot boxes, Evelyn Cooper, AWS prexy, reminds Texas Tech girls that it's not only their duty, but their privilege to vote.

At the AWS traditional all girls' dance Monday night, the nominating committee named Maxine Craddock and Ophelia May Beall for president of the association, and Moreene Roberts and Anna Baker for head of Junior Council. As this column has a deadline of Monday afternoon, we are unable to say if there were further floor nominations.

However, in regard to the girls chosen by the committee for these two offices, we give our wholehearted approval. The AWS council has considered qualifications of outstanding coeds carefully, and it seems that their nominations are wise ones.

We shall refrain from commenting upon the capability of these four girls, as such publicity would be unfair to other nominees who might be named from the floor. In our opinion, however, it's a toss-up all around, and prospects are high for very close returns in both races.

The girls to head these two important campus organizations next year will lead Tech through another wartime period, and duties will fall even heavier than they have been on campus leaders this year. The college girls will be called on more than ever for war activities, and it will be the AWS officers who lead and direct them in meeting these calls.

Floyd-Harrison Wedding Saturday

Miss Velma Floyd, daughter of Mrs. J. T. Floyd of Brownwood, and M. B. Harrison, both of Tech faculty, were married Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in Raton, N. M., at the home of the bridegroom's brother, E. E. Harrison. The Rev. L. L. Thurston read the ceremony.

Juanita Harrison, niece of the bridegroom, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Ray Conway, preceding the service.

The bride wore an aqua light weight wool suit with sprinkle pink accessories. Her corsage was of briarcliff roses. Miss Evelyn Clewell, assistant registrar, was maid of honor. She wore a dusty rose dress with black accessories and a corsage of sweetpeas and roses.

Mr. Harrison attended his brother as best man.

An Announcement of Special Importance!

It is with deep regret that Interstate Theatres announce the cancellation of the proposed summer tour of

"COLLEGE CAPERS OF '43"

The decision to abandon the plans for the coming summer came only after great deliberation and thorough consideration of the elements involved in perfecting a show comparable in merit to the first production (COLLEGE CAPERS OF '42').

The reasons for cancelling the tour are many. Chief among them was the inability to make satisfactory arrangements to travel, house, and provide proper food for the members of the cast.

Naturally, this came about because of wartime regulations governing these items and the executives of Interstate Theatres accept these regulations as a part of the plan for victory, with full appreciation of and for the necessity of such rulings.

Too, there were other obstacles that stood in the way of completing all objectives. Since the primary consideration in all of our plans has been with the interests of the participating students foremost in our minds, it was believed advisable to cancel the show rather than to subject those participating to possible inconveniences over which we would have had no control.

This does not mean the end of the plans for continuing the idea of COLLEGE CAPERS that was so successfully begun in 1942. Rather, it renews the determination of those responsible for the idea, to work constantly towards the completion of plans that will provide for a permanent organization to further the interests of future COLLEGE CAPERS, when we have won the war and secured the peace.

Again, know that the forced cancellation of plans for the coming summer is made with deep disappointment and sincere regret.

Know, too, that we direct our thoughts to that day when we shall renew our efforts on behalf of this plan for collegiate entertainment.

In dropping from the race Hale explained his reasons are the present war and the fact that he feels his time is limited. He stated that if he is still in Tech next fall, he will have too many duties to carry out to have time to contribute the amount of work this office requires.

Elmer Hargrove, as representative to the athletic council; Everett Dale, next year's business manager; and Billy Johnson, unopposed male yell leader, all moved into their offices with no need for campaigning.

Five girls are in the race for secretary of the Student council each a representative of the social clubs. Girls seeking the office are Rowena McKinley, junior arts and sciences student from Hamilton, representing Ko Shari; Dorothy Miskimins, sophomore commerce major from Wichita Falls, from DFD club; Betty McCoy, sophomore commerce student from Lubbock, representing the Sans Souci club; and Anna Baker, sophomore home economics student from Amarillo, representative of the Las Chaparritas.

The polls will be open to students from 8 in the morning until 12 o'clock noon. There will be two ballot boxes available, one in the Engineering building and one in the Administration building. These changes were made in a revision of the student constitution that was sanctioned by the student body in a convocation last Thursday morning.

Hamilton Named To Edit Letter

T. Earle Hamilton, assistant professor of foreign languages, has been appointed to edit a news letter regarding Llano Estacado in West Texas. This is the West Texas chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish.

Because of transportation difficulties it has become impossible to hold the three annual meetings Dr. Hamilton said, and in order to maintain solidarity among the different chapters the news letter is to be edited at irregular intervals and sent to members. Spanish teachers in high schools and colleges constitute the membership of this club.

Miss Cora Russell, Amarillo high school teacher, is president of Llano Estacado and Miss Wyszeta Niss acts as secretary-treasurer. This edition of the news bulletin concerned how schools are preparing to celebrate Pan-American day.

"This April will find teachers and students of Spanish and Portuguese serving eagerly and efficiently in the prosecution of the war with their special knowledge. Special opportunities exist for aviators who speak one of these two languages, and the Census Bureau, the FBI and the Signal Corps of the U. S. Army have made heavy demands upon us," Hamilton stated in this bulletin.

The foreign language department anticipates the probable publication of one more issue of the

College Capers Cancelled Due To Emergency

Transportation And Housing Difficulty Cause Cancellation

There will be no College Capers of 1943, John Q. Adams, originator and producer of the college show, announced Monday. Plans for a production for the coming summer have been abandoned because of transportation, housing and feeding difficulties.

This show, sponsored by Interstate Theatre Executives, was produced and staged for the first time during the summer of 1942, the idea for the College Capers show was to offer a summer of practical stage experience to students in attendance at various Texas universities and colleges who might be interested in a stage, screen or radio career.

Betty Rhea Caldwell, Buddy Sprague, and Lehmer Graham were chosen following an audition to represent Texas Tech in this tour last summer in which 55 college students representing eight universities formed a stage production that toured the Interstate circuit and gained wide popularity both for the show and for the idea.

Despite evident difficulties that were present this year, Interstate executives had planned to continue the venture due to the demand created by the college students themselves. Officials of the universities had been contacted and had encouraged continuance if it could be done.

Consequently, Adams along with other executives, had been busy with details concerning another news bulletin before the close of this semester.

show and had held preliminary auditions at two universities. Cancellation, however, became necessary when it was learned that it would be impossible to secure, in advance, commitments that would make transportation and housing of the show while on tour a certainty.

"The primary consideration in all of our plans has always been the students who make up the cast of the show. Since we could not be sure in every respect that we could tour the show without running into difficulties over which we would have no control, we felt that it would be better to cancel our plans rather than take a chance of subjecting the students to severe inconveniences," Adams said.

"Cancellation of this year's production does not mean an end to the idea of the show. Rather it has been stressed that plans for
