Convocation Chorus . . .

Beauties . . . Time Is Running Out!

Deadline for La Ventana beauty applicants is 5 p.m. Friday, according to Bert Goodyear, year-book editor. Any student or group of students may enter candidates. There have been no applicants to date.

Requirements are a letter of application with the Tech address and written consent of the girl. She should have a 1.00 grade average.

DON'T FORGET YOUR PERSONNEL SHEETS

Seniors are reminded of the Wednesday deadline to return their personnel data sheets to the Placement office. Mrs. Jean Jenkins, Placement service director, says that photos can be turned in later if necessary.

Filing of these data sheets is a prerequisite to graduation.

Deadline for Float Entries Extended, Says Brian Boyett

Fifteen campus organizations have entered floats in the Homecoming parade, Brian Boyett, Homecoming chairman, announced Thursday. This is only half the number entered in last year's parade.

Deadline for entries, originally set for Friday has been extended to Monday.

"I'm sure many clubs must have overlooked the deadline," Boyett said. Although the Student council office is not open on Saturdays or during the mornings, Boyett asks that a card containing the club's name and a representative whom the council may contact, be slipped under the door of the student council office by Monday morning.

Letters Sent

Letters are being sent to clubs entering floats in the parade informing them of a meeting Thursday to discuss general plans. Clubs already entered include Wranglers, Ko Shari, Los Camaradas, Dairy Manufacturers, Le Cercle Francais, Kemas, College Club, Las Chaparritas and Las Vivarachas.

Boyett also announces that the parade will take the same route as in past years, beginning at Main and Avenue Q, down to Texas, south to Broadway and west to the circle. The parade will begin at 10:30 a.m., Nov. 1.

Charles Joplin, Littlefield senior, and Jimmy Nickell, Claude junior, have been named parade marshalls. The Saddle Tramps have volunteered to direct traffic during the parade. ROTC units and Tech band will also participate in the parade, Boyett says.

Groundwork Laid

In addition to parade plans, groundwork for other Homecoming activities is being laid. Juanita Davis, Phillips senior will head registration. Booths for registration of ex-students will be downtown in the Lubbock, Caprock and Plainsman hotels and on campus in the Administration, Agriculture and Home Economics buildings. These booths will be open from 4 to 6 p.m. Oct. 31 and from 8 to 10 a.m. Nov. 1.

Campus lighting will be handled by AICE, under the direction of Bill Burton, Ft. Worth junior. A Homecoming dance is being planned for Saturday night from 9 to 12. Alpha Phi Omega, service organization, will be in charge of decorations and concessions.

Dr. Jones Calls For Higher Goals

"We must go higher," concluded Dr. E. N. Jones, sixth president of Tech, in his first speech before an all-college assembly Wednesday. Addressing the annual convocation in the Gymnasium, Dr. Jones told an almost-capacity audience that the climb upward in life must not end when early heights have been reached.

The convocation program began with a selection by the Tech band, under the direction of Joe Haddon. Invocation was read by Dr. A. W. Young, sponsor of the Student Religious council. He was introduced by James G. Allen, dean of student life, who acted as master of ceremonies.

The Tech chorus, directed by Dr. Gene Hemmle, head of the Music department, sang Tschajkowsky's "How Blessed Are They."

Harold Brannan, Student association president, introduced members of the Student council and explained procedure for the election of class officers, which followed the convocation.

Six More Needed For Charter Bus

A total of 14 students have made reservations to ride the chartered bus to Tech's official out-of-town game Nov. 8 in Denton, says Harold Brannan, Student association president. "This is six short of the necessary 20 which is needed to charter the bus," the president added.

The Student council will complete arrangements for chartering the bus when six more students make application for the trip.

Everyone interested in going to Denton in the bus is urged to fill out the coupon on page— and give it to the Student council in Ad161.

Second Vote to Match Bales, Hancock; Chambers Elected Junior Class Head

Campus-wide elections Wednesday filled seven out of 20 class offices, leaving 13 places to be settled in run-off balloting and later class meetings.

Run-offs are scheduled for 5 p.m. next Wednesday, says Harold Brannan, Student association president. Seniors will vote in Ad219 junior in Ad272, sophomores in Ad 217 and freshmen in Ad260.

Senior class run-offs will match Bill Bales and Don Hancock for president, Choice Shofner and Ben Wilson for vice-president, Patti Pipkin and Marvel Gibner for secretary-treasurer, Joan MacCauley and Clydene Whitaker for Association of Women Students representative, and Dr. R. W. Strandmann and Jack O. Ashworth for faculty sponsor. Dr. Horace Hartsell received the greatest number of votes, but had already been chosen by the Junior class.

The Seniors met in the Engineering auditorium under the direction of Jim McGraw.

Juniors

No run-offs will be necessary in the junior class.

J. C. Chambers was named to the presidency by acclamation. Bill Philpott defeated Bob Anthony and Moody Alexander for the vice-presidency, and Nina Spearman was elected secretary-treasurer over Lena Schmidt. No AWS representative was named.

Class sponsor will be Dr. Hartsell, who was chosen over Dr. Strandmann for the position. The class met in C101 under the direction of James Dent.

Sophomores

Sophomores, meeting in Aggie Auditorium and directed by Benny Bruckner, elected Jay Fish to their presidency over Charles Piper and Carl Kennedy. Terry Young was named vice-president over Phyllis Martin; Bobbie Wilson defeated Joan Hampton for the office of secretary-treasurer.

Ruth Smalley and Carolyn Calloway will meet in a run-off for AWS representative. Jo Benesch also nominated.

Class sponsor will be elected at a later meeting.

Freshmen

Bob Beckwith and Hartsell Haws will meet in a run-off for freshman class presidency; Jack Kirkpatrick and Don Price for vice-presidency. Sue Hefley and Joan Wheatley will be matched for the office of secretary-treasurer.

AWS representative and class sponsor will be named later. The class met in the Gym, under the direction of Brannan.

Remember

Saturday will be the last day for Technicians who missed or postponed examinations during the spring semester 1952 to file requests for make-ups with their respective academic deans. Petitions to remove conditions resulting in a grade of "incomplete" have the same deadline.

Henderson Latest For Sun Princess

Harriet Henderson is the latest applicant for Tech's Sun princess, says Wanda Ramsey, Student association secretary. Jenni Scott is the only other applicant.

Candidates must get petitions from the Student council office, Ad161, and turn it in by 5 p.m. Oct. 15. Aspirants must be at least 17 before Jan. 1 and not older than 21.

The princess's El Paso expenses will be paid by the Sun carnival association.

Tech Traffic Court Meets Thursday; 24 Students Summoned Are Absent

Only 24 of the 51 students summoned to the first meeting of the Traffic court Thursday night appeared, according to Roy Grimes, chief justice.

Of the 24 appearing, 18 were first offenders, five were second and one was a third offender.

Notices will be sent again to those absent, Grimes said. Of the 27 absent, three had called the justices saying they were unable to attend. Therefore, only 24 were actually counted absent.

Each summons was sent on the basis of a violation last spring. No cases have come up yet involving offenders of this fall. Two traffic tickets received on campus form one offense; a court summons is sent out for each offense.

First offenders receive a warning of their responsibility and the campus parking problem. Second-timers receive a sterner warning, with the added threat that a third offense can mean appearance before the Disciplinary committee. Third offenders will receive a regular summons before the court; disregard of this will mean automatic reference to the disciplinary body.

Parking fines have gone up from

Mens' Rush Week To Begin Monday

Tech's eight fraternities will begin rush week Monday, as scheduled by the Men's Inter-Club council.

Days have been set aside for the individual clubs. A pledging convocation will be held from 4:45 to 6:15 p.m. Friday, Oct. 24, in the Aggie auditorium.

Individual club days are: Monday, Oct. 13, Kemas; Tuesday, Wranglers; Wednesday, Adelphi; Thursday, Centaur; Monday, Oct. 20, Socii; Tuesday, Los Camaradas; Wednesday, Silver Key; and Thursday, College Club.

The plan of previous semesters is to be followed during rush week.

Preference Cards Now on File; All Campus Clubs May Use Them

All clubs on the campus are invited to use the club preference cards now on file in the Dean of Student Life conference room. These cards were filled out by all students during registration, and include the preference for social, departmental, honorary or service clubs.

Museum Society Will Have Dinner

The West Texas Museum association's annual dinner meeting will be held at 7:00 p.m. Thursday, in the Matador room of the Caprock hotel, according to Dr. W. C. Holden, museum director.

Opening the meeting this year will be an address by Roy Furr, president of the association. A steak dinner will be served the guests. A vocal selection by Mrs. Bryan Burton, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Law, will follow.

A pair of distinguished speakers will deliver after-dinner speeches. Peter Hurd, here to begin work on the Museum mural, will speak on "The Pioneer Fresco." The Most Rev. Lawrence J. Fitz-Simon, bishop of Amarillo, is scheduled to speak on "Spanish Influence in West Texas."

Tech students wishing to attend this meeting or any other membership meetings the museum may hold, can become members of the museum with all its privileges for $2.50 annually. Interested persons should see Dr. Holden in the Museum office.

Tech Geology Club Selects Officers

Paul Bailey, Abilene geology major, was named president of the Tech Geology club in a recent election.

Other officers are: Troy Powell, vice-president; Bill Bales, treasurer; Diane Wimberly, secretary; Dick Holt, reporter. Sponsors are Asst. Prof. G. F. Warn and Assoc. Prof. John P. Brand.

A change in the club's constitution permits students other than geology majors and minors and petroleum engineers to join the club.

MR. and MRS. W. L. WILLINGHAM, Jr., are parents of a daughter born July 22. Mrs. Willingham is the former ROENA DEITKER, '49. The baby's name is Sara Ruth.

Quarterly Club Hears Dr. Dabney

Dr. Mary B. Dabney, associate head of women's physical education, told members of the Quarterly club Wednesday night that "the trend of modern physical education is to teach skills in individual and dual sports to carry over to leisure."

The Quarterly club, faculty women's professional organization, met at the home of Misses Margaret Weeks and Mabel Erwin. Mrs. E. N. Jones was a special guest.

"Schools are trying to introduce students to community recreational organizations while they are still in school, so that they can put to use skills when they are out of school," Dr. Dabney said. "Physical education is an integral part of education. It works for the same ends as other areas of education."

Dr. Dabney received her doctorate from Columbia university in June, 1951, and joined the Tech faculty in the summer of 1952. Her home is Lynchburg, Virginia.

Speakers for the other three Quarterly club meetings this year will be Miss Marie Miles, English instructor; Dr. Eunice Gates, foreign language professor; and Miss Jean Ewing, assistant dean of women. Each one will speak on a research problem.

Officers of the club are Miss Sue Rainey, chairman; Mrs. James G. Allen, vice-chairman; Miss Ellen Wright, secretary-treasurer;

Musicians To Meet Tuesday To Discuss 'Going National'

The library of the Music building will be the scene Tuesday night of "big doings" for all men interested in music. The time for discussing financial arrangements of affiliation with the national music fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha, will be 7 o'clock.

Paul Laverty, president, Tim Magnus, vice president, and Ned Hardin, secretary, were elected early last year as leaders of a group hopeful of going national with the fraternity.

Dr. Gene Hemmle, department head, is sponsor of the group.

Home Ec Club Members Will Be Initiated Tuesday

Initiation services will be held Tuesday for all new members of the Home Economics club in the Home Ec building.

Preceding the initiation, a report on the Atlantic City convention of the American Home Economics association will be given by Nancy Crosby and Carol Jean Sandlin, delegates to the convention held this summer.

Vote of Confidence . . .

Compliments are due the student body and the administration of Tech. They made a fine showing at Wednesday's convocation.

The increased student attendance at this year's meeting may be considered a vote of confidence for the "freshman" president, Dr. Jones. In the past, the prospect of a speech from the college's chief was enough to keep many students away from the Gymnasium. Dr. Jones' address was light enough to hold his audience—and heavy enough to make it worth their attention.

Those Techsians who chose coffee over convocation missed seeing a Tech rarity: an audience containing no visible sleepers and many honestly interested faces.

Quick Quiz . . .

"What right have other students to sit in judgment on me? And just how do they think they can make me appear before them—send out bloodhounds?"

Those questions were overheard during the coffee hour in the Rec hall by one of the justices of Tech's Traffic court. Here is the way he answers that student:

First, since the Traffic court is entirely a student affair, the only rights or powers it has are those given it by the students themselves through their elected representatives—the Student council. The court was created because of the extreme number of traffic and parking violations occurring on the campus. If the student government had not been willing to handle the problem, the task would have been the administration's. Giving all credit to our administrators, students better understand the problems of other students. Would you rather plead your case before someone from your own dormitory or before Dr. Jones?

Second, bloodhounds will be used only in the event of extreme emergency. Otherwise, it is hoped that Techsians will realize what can happen if they choose to ignore the court—they may be referred to the Disciplinary committee, whose powers are quite adequate.

Any more questions?

Seen Through The Sand

BY ANN BRYAN

Toreador Associate Editor

When taking the first faltering steps on the wicked, temptation-strewn path of college, freshmen are often told to look to the upperclassmen and follow their example for being good campus citizens.

Perhaps this procedure should be reversed. After one, two, three or four years of treading the treacherous path, upperclassmen seem too busy nursing their wounds to be bothered with leading the way for their juniors. We suggest that these hardened veterans of the road forget their scars for a while and try following instead of leading.

The class meetings Wednesday were attended by 895 students, nearly half of which were freshmen. The seniors, with an attendance record of 159, ran a close race for low mark with the juniors, who turned out 141 strong to elect their class officers.

One hundred and ninety six sophomores showed up, while 399 fish were present for their first class meeting at Tech. These figures add up to 895 students attending the meetings out of 5,104 enrolled in school.

Statistics are boring, says Dr. Jones, and we agree with him, but these broken a trend which is very interesting. A look at them indicates that the clock of progress toward better citizenship and more active participation in student affairs is running backward. Perhaps it's just that the call of caffeine, mentioned in Tuesday's editorial, grows stronger as the years pile up.

Those 141 juniors who were there when the voting took place at least knew what they wanted. That is the only class which will not have a run-off. Freshmen, sophomores and seniors will have a chance to clear and better their record by voting in the second election.

Keeping in mind the present emphasis placed on sports, we cite with a sense of loss a course no longer offered by Tech's physical education department. Athletically inclined Techsians could, at one time, take a course in chess for p.e. credit.

To keep this from becoming a "What's Wrong with Tech" column we want to do a little back-slapping and congratulating. The objects of this praise are the Saddle Tramps who are expecting immediate delivery of four new colors to be used in coming card stunts at football games.

The new colors will be used at the Baylor game Oct. 18 for the first time. Viewed from this angle, our progress clock seems to be running right again.

School authorities in Alabama closed down a college fraternity when they learned that the house mother was 19 years old.

Mrs. Bea Davis Will Leave

Mrs. Bea Davis, secretary to Dean Margaret Weeks of the Home Economics division, leaves at the end of this week to join her husband in Columbia, Mo., where he is employed by Montgomery Ward and Co.

Mrs. Davis has been secretary to Dean Weeks since July, 1952.

Note of Explanation:

MURDER? If so, the only name you can give to it was infanticide, that is, the willful killing of a child by a parent. The advertiser decided to kill Potpourri, which was his baby.

No pressure was brought upon him, either directly or indirectly, to discontinue the ad.

Before school started, in an editorial staff meeting, the decision was made to clean the column up a little. Several times in the past few years, the jokes had gone beyond the limits of prudence; we could no longer afford asbestos for printing.

Besides the desire to save on costs, another reason was that a joke column was more reminiscent of a high school paper than a college publication; by this time students should be sophisticated enough to tell jokes, instead of reading them in a paper. Too, they were usually old and not worth repeating.

SC/Comments

Editor's Note: This column is printed by THE TOREADOR as a service to the Student Council, wherein it may state its views to the reader unedited with regard to content. The opinions stated in this column are not necessarily those of THE TOREADOR or of any of its staff members.

The Editor

After reading the recent reaction of the editors of the TOREADOR to the Student Council's method of selection of the 1952-53 Sun Princess, the executive officers of the Student Council decided to submit to the student body their policy on student governing powers. This column is not specifically directed toward the immediate issue concerning the Sun Princess. If the TOREADOR does its job effectively, it will be examining many such issues throughout the year. It is, rather, our purpose to explain the attitude from which this action was taken; and subsequently, from which future action will also stem.

If the council is to serve as a function of any importance, it must necessarily assume, and execute powers of its own. The very

Therefore, the jokes were cleaned up. The advertiser, perhaps deciding his column was dying of pernicious anemia, voluntarily discontinued the column.

He took the dramatic way out. R.I.P.

Untutored as we are in the field of choral singing (our knowledge being limited strictly to radio and recordings), we nevertheless were greatly impressed with the Tech Chorus at convocation Wednesday.

The Chorus sounded very good. So good, in fact, we wondered if they had been practicing together all summer. Since that is obviously impossible, however, we gave up on that idea. Then the idea came that it was a class, composed of nothing but music majors.

By doing a slight bit of research however, we found that the Tech Chorus is entirely extra-curricular. No class credits are given for singing with that group. Also, anyone who has a singing voice can become a member of the Chorus; it is not limited just to music majors and minors. It is open to both men and women.

Our congratulations to Dr. Gene Hemmele for such a splendid group. It is indeed a credit to Tech.

idea of representation arose from growth in population and specialization, until the original organization could no longer function as a unit toward all problems which confronted it. The council, elected from every division on the campus, will function as the voice of these representatives, and certainly not as that of outside pressures.

If you, as a student, wish to bring pressure or knowledge to bear on certain issues, then do so through your representatives. If you have a program or attitude which you feel needs explaining to the entire council, our meetings are always open to your presentations.

The Student Council felt that the selection of the Sun Princess was not important enough to submit to the entire student body. The invitation from the Sun carnival for our college to send a princess is the same type invitation which we receive from organizations, festivals, and carnivals all over the country. The only reason that the El Paso Sun carnival was selected, is because of our connection.

BACKTALK

Dear Editor,

We noticed in the last issue of The Toreador that a dear friend, Potpourri, had passed away. And we strongly suspicion that there has been foul play somewhere along the line.

Oh, it's easily understood why our friend was MURDERED. It seems there are people of college age whose minds are easily corrupted by such "trash."

Luckily for us there are people on the campus who find the time to expose this same "trash", thus saving the rest of us from having our morals corrupted.

We would suggest to these people that they expose next the works of Shakespeare and the Decameron, these are called Classics, but these narrow-minded people will no doubt find them to be exceedingly smutty and therefore unfit for the rest of us.

We wish to see either the resurrection of our friend or to hear the culprit's explanation of this dastardly MURDER.

Yours for the resurrection,
Clyde C. Walter

Dear Editor,

The following was written by Charles Roden as his feeling toward the advertisement run by Alschuler's in Tuesday's paper. Though Charles was reluctant to send you his "Fable," he said he wouldn't mind if I were to send it under his name.

So here it is.

Yours truly,
Durward Whitsitt

FABLE

By 'eli ben had
Once, many years ago, there lived among the Flatlanders a certain wiseman, a merchant by trade, who thought he would brighten the dull existence of the less fortunate ones who were subjected to the medieval laws and customs of the Flatlanders.

This he did, by skillfully weaving among the display of his wares clever sayings and humorous readings which he placed before the public for all to see. Lo, and behold, the blind eyes of the Flatlanders fell upon this bit of merriment.

"What sort of man is this that dares to bring laughter to the slaves of Flatlandism!" said the See BACKTALK, P. 5

Dear Editor,
It seems you have letters, as possibly the explained, "File 13", "File 13", the next issue. Recently you included statements from a folder deposited in the the Corrus, The state concerning, the dietitian staff.
It seemed to imply that a thankful man has a thankful. It just don't occur to that their health is so for the dietitian. For pros to a lot of trouble all the vitamins are the beans are under the way. Mother is no create. She cooks all away. Also, the dietitian that we get, via a lot of all kinds.
So please do not poor dorm residents worried about their they do not realize health is being so w.

BACKTALK—

MOST PERFECT FLATLANDER.

"What sort of man is this that dares bring laughter to the slaves of Flatlandism!" echoed the brass-headed parrots.

"A merchant, Most Honorable One," said the teacher of Flatlandism, "A mere dealer in garments."

"Be done with this merchant of new ideas," spoke the MOST PERFECT FLATLANDER, "There shall be no laughter in Flatland."

And unto this day, my dear children, there is no laughter, no smiling faces, and, alas, no happiness in Flatland.

The MOST PERFECT FLATLANDER has spoken.

Editor's Note: For our verdict on the death of Potpourri, see the "Under the Breezeway" column in this issue.

Dear Editor, It seems you have a lack of letters, as possibly the reason you explained "File 13". Well, here's hoping you do not have to use "File 13" the next issue.

Recently you included a few statements from a propaganda folder deposited in the rooms of the dorms. The statements were concerning the dietitian and her staff.

It seemed to imply that the dietitian has a thankless job. Well, it just don't occur to the residents that their health is so well guarded by the dietitian. For example, she goes to a lot of trouble to be sure all the vitamins are left in beans. The beans are under-cooked so that the vitamins will not be cooked away. Mother is not so considerate. She cooks all the vitamins away. Also, the dietitian sees to it that we get a lot of carbon per week in our diet, via burned foods of all kinds.

So please do not run down the poor dorm residents. They are so worried about their lessons that they do not realize that their health is being so well guarded.

Hancock Named PL-IRC President

Don Hancock, Lubbock senior, was elected president of Pre-Law-International Relations club Tuesday night, says Dr. J. William Davis, sponsor.

Other officers elected were Max Preston, vice-president; Martha Lou Hubbard, secretary-treasurer.

PL-IRC plans to bring an outstanding speaker to the campus each Tuesday night. The meeting will be open to the entire campus. Posters, KTTTC announcements and Toreador notices will inform students of time and meeting place for these talks.

The club also made plans to enter a float in the Homecoming parade.

So thanks to the dietitians for the thoughtfulness they show.

tion with the Border conference. The Sun Princess, in our estimation, is not a representative, delegated with certain powers from the student body; rather, she is our ambassador of good will and charm to the El Paso Sun bowl, and the other schools attending the carnival. We feel that the designation of such an ambassador is the responsibility of the council.

We understand that the Toreador editors take their stand on the grounds that the La Ventana presentation of the Princess warrants entire student support. It may be of interest to the editors to note that the La Ventana staff has no such policy, and that the 1952-53 Princess may not be included in the annual. It might also be interesting to know that, as of now, the council has had not one protest as to this selection from any member of the student association outside of the Toreador staff.

".. INHALE THIS, GARGLE THIS, THIS AFTER EACH MEAL, THESE EVERY 4 HOURS & AT BEDTIME (SNIFF), THESE...."

Hereafter, the Student council will not answer criticism in this column; but will, at anytime, be very willing to make a statement to either the Toreador, or to any student regarding our policy toward campus questions.

It is our desire that the student body will take the Toreador editor at her word: when she said during freshman orientation, that the paper was potentially the loudest voice of the student body. If the student body will take the opportunities offered by the Toreador, then it may become such a device, instead of simply being the voice of the editors. We would like to take the opportunity to

SC Business Manager Sets Gauge for Measuring Spirit

"Every year someone comes up with the same old gauge of measuring school spirit—the amount of enthusiasm at pep rallies and football games. I think that this kind of spirit is important but a more important index of school spirit is the student's participation in student government," says Benny Bruckner, Student association business manager.

"The art of self government may be best expressed while the student is in college, where he receives his basic groundwork."

He Means It

Benny, senior management major from Amarillo, gives his listeners the feeling that he means every word he says. His every activity is coordinated with the idea that a thing worth doing is worth doing right.

The business manager, though kept busy handling his wing in Gordon hall, always keeps Student council activities foremost. "The books are always open for anyone to check if they desire to," Benny says.

His Duties

Duties of business manager are centered around the job as chairman of the finance committee. The committee originates the budget for student allocations. After the budget is made it must be approved by the council. This is only the beginning of Benny's job. After the council's approval, he sees that allocations reach the organizations.

Following graduation next May, Benny hopes to enter business with his father in Amarillo. His father owns a truck agency. "If I enter the business, I'll probably be some sort of glorified office boy," he says optimistically. "Of course I have to take into consideration that I have a date with my Uncle Sam some of these days." Benny received a second lieutenant's commission in the army ROTC signal corps last May.

Other Activities

To go along with his work in the dorm and Student council, Benny is also active in Saddle tramps, Wesley foundation and Wesley players.

ny is also active in Saddle tramps, Wesley foundation and Wesley players.

Last year, as business manager of La Ventana, he was in charge of $25,000 in student funds. Previous to that he served as assistant business manager of The Toreador.

Tankmen To Meet Monday Afternoon

All Techsians interested in trying out for the swimming team are urged to attend a meeting at 3 p.m. Monday afternoon, according to Dr. Ramon Kireilis, swimming coach.

The meeting will be held in Dr. Kireilis' office in the Gym, and all Tech students are eligible to try out for the team.

Party for Tech Choir Members To Be At Home of Marjorie Scales

Members of the Tech choir are having a party tonight at 8:15 at the home of Marjorie Scales, 3710 twenty-first street, to get better acquainted.

Dr. Gene Hemmle, music department head, directs the 60-voice choir aided by Raymond Elliott, assistant professor.

Rauenhorst, '49 ME Grad, Victim of Nephritis in Idaho

Lloyd D. (Hank) Rauenhorst, Tech graduate, died Monday in a Kellogg, Idaho, hospital, a victim of nephritis—an almost incurable kidney disease.

Rauenhorst graduated from Tech in 1949 with honors in mechanical engineering, completing the course in three years because of his illness.

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS A. RUNCHEY are at home in Lubbock following their marriage in June in Petersburg. The bridegroom, who attended Tech, is stationed at Reese Air Force Base. The bride is a senior at Tech, where she is a member of Phi Gamma Nu.

Consul Speaks Of GB As Ally

J. Thyne Henderson, British council-general from Houston spoke to eight history and government classes Wednesday. His subject was "The value of Britain as an ally."

Mr. Henderson, expressing a hint of humor, said that many people think that Britain is no good as an ally because of taxes and old age. "Britain, according to many, has been going to the dogs since 1066 and hasn't quite made it yet."

Russia is trying to drive a propaganda wedge between Britain and the U.S. by saying that socialism and capitalism cannot get along together," Henderson said. "They have not and will not succeed. Hitler tried the same thing in the last war without success."

The consul-general explained that Britain has three to four million trained men ready to enter any all-out war. By 1955 there will be an estimated six million eligible for combat.

The meeting was concluded with a question and answer session.

APO Announces 35 New Pledges

Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, held pledge services for 35 pledges Thursday night in a formal candlelight ceremony, says Don Harris, historian-reporter.

James Prichard, Lonnie Elkins, Glenn Markham, Alan Conley and Royal Hagerty.

Tech Faculty Member Gets Post

James B. Whitehead of Texas Tech has been appointed assistant dean of men at the University of Cincinnati, according to a recent announcement made by Dr. Robert W. Bishop, dean of men at Cincinnati.

Whitehead assured his duties late in August.

During 1951-52 Whitehead was assistant to the dean of student life at Tech, supervisor of men's residence halls and assistant in the college testing program. He is a World War II veteran with overseas service and a graduate of the University of Indiana.

Tech Religious Program Progresses From Ad Building to Student Centers

Tech is not a church school, according to the legislative records of the origin of the college, but through the years students have been conscious of the need for religious as well as technical knowledge.

Student religious organizations include the Baptist Student union, largest of such groups; the Wesley foundation for Methodist students; the Westminster fellowship for Presbyterian students; the Church of Christ Bible Chair; the Newman club for Catholic students; the Canterbury club for Episcopalians.

Progress

The campus religious movement has progressed beyond original hopes. At first, the groups had to meet in Administration building classrooms. Today the churches have student centers and special college departments and workers.

A comprehensive program has replaced the unorganized efforts of the early groups. Under the guidance of the Student Religious council, Religious Emphasis week, Palm Sunday sunrise service, an all-college vesper and a church year guide have been inaugurated at Tech. Bible courses from four denominations are available for class-room credit.

The Willsons

In 1945, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Willson of Floydada set up an endowment fund to obtain for the college lecturers renowned in the fields of science and religion. The Willson lectures are the result. (Along with Religious Emphases week and the all-church night, it highlights the religious activities of the school year.)

Pre-registration information cards list denominational preferences of students and are turned over to the religious groups who notify students of the churches and their activities. No Tech student leaves school without having been contacted and asked to attend a Lubbock church of his choice.

Church Activities

In addition to providing wholesale and inexpensive recreation, the church groups also have discussion periods, planning sessions and worship programs. Each morning except Sunday students gather in the different student centers and churches for Morning Watch, a fifteen-to-twenty minute devotional, presented by fellow students.

Wesley Players, a religious dramatic organization sponsored by the Methodist church, has its largest chapter in the nation at Tech. It seeks to study the relationship between the religion of Christ, the conflicts in the soul of man and the expression of them in dramatic productions.

Tech's Policy

The Tech administration has made a policy of working closely with the student religious organizations. After requests for a campus chapel, Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president from 1938-1944, set up a chapel committee to submit plans. The committee was composed of a faculty member from each department, a Student association representative and an ex-student. Three sets of plans were drawn up for a memorial chapel in honor of Tech's first president, Dr. Paul Whitfield Horn, and about $300 was raised. The war stopped any building plans and nothing else has been done with the project.

Deadline Set For Deferment Exams

Applications for the Dec. 4, 1952, and Apr. 23, 1953, College qualification tests are available at Selective Service boards, announces Selective Service examiners.

Students intending to take either test should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service board for an application and bulletin of information. The application must be filled out and mailed immediately. Applications for the Dec. 4 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, Nov. 1.

It will be an advantage to the student if he files the application at once, regardless of the testing date he selects, the Educational Testing service states.

Raiders Shoot For Second Win Against TW Miners Tomorrow

Tech's Red Raiders will be gunning for their second win of the season as they face the Texas Western Miners at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Jones Stadium.

In Texas Western, the Raiders face the nation's second ranking team in forward passing and sixth ranking in total offense.

Dick Shinaut, Miner quarterback being groomed for all-conference quarterback, is one player that will bear plenty of watching because he ranks second in the nation to Ray McKown in total offense. Fifth nationally in passing, Shinaut through the air has accounted for 612 of his 650 yards. He has completed 33 of 62 passes for 53.2 per cent completions.

Another Miner that will bear watching is end Gene Odell, junior from Ysleta. Odell has been Shinaut's favorite target, having caught 15 passes for 275 yards. That puts him third in the nation.

The Miners operate from the split-T the same as the Raiders, and Mike Brumbelow is head coach.

Tech's rivalry with Texas Western goes way back to 1930. The Miners took that first game, 31 to 0 and also the next one in 1931, 14 to 12. But the Miners have won only one other game in the series, that being in 1939, by the score of 7 to 2.

The Raiders have won seven times beginning with a 12 to 0 victory in 1933. The series was discontinued after 1939, and was not started again until 1948. The Techsans took a hard-earned 27 to 7 victory in El Paso last year. The Miners gave the Raiders a real scare in pulling to within a touchdown of tying it up on the second half kickoff.

For the Raiders freshman Jack Kirkpatrick of Post will get his chance to quarterback against the Miners. He was shifted from left half when Jerry Johnson turned up with a bad shoulder following the College of Pacific loss. James Odom of Alvarado will probably get the starting assignment at the quarterback slot, however. Odom looked good in Tech's opener against West Texas.

The game Saturday night will be the first conference game for the Miners and the second for Tech. Tech downed West Texas in their league opener, 48 to 7.

Leagues Ready In Intramural Action

Twenty-three teams are ready to go in the first round of the intramural sports program.

The MICC league, which includes Adelphi, Centaur, College club, Kemas, Los Cams, Silver Keys, Socii and Wranglers, will begin play Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. behind the gym. Sunday's schedule includes: Adelphi vs. Keys, Centaurs vs. College club, Kemas vs. Socii and Cams vs. Wranglers.

Play will start Monday afternoon at 5 for the dorm and independent leagues.

Teams entered in the dorm league are: Doak greenhorns, Gordon hall, Drane bluedevils, Sneed east, Sneed west, Bledsoe 1st north Bledsoe 1st south and Bledsoe 3rd north.

Those entered in the independent loop are: WSF, Wesley Wildcats, Church of Christ steers, Rodes, BSU, Dairy barn herders and BSU bums. Schedules for all games in all leagues have been posted in the gym.

Raider Linebacker Bubba Martin

SPORTALK

By Bob Lovelace

Tech's game with Texas Western tomorrow night at Jones stadium will open a three game home stand for the Red Raiders.

It might be that the Techsans will find victory easier to grasp on the home field. However, they will be facing at least two foes that will be just as tough as Rice and College of Pacific. Baylor follows Texas Western next week and Houston invades Lubbock for Homecoming.

The Raiders will have another passing attack to put up with tomorrow. Dick Shinaut seems to be quite a passer, as he ranks second in the nation, only seven yards behind Ray McKown of TCU.

It is easy to assume that Texas Western will be pointing toward Tech as all Border conference teams do. The Miners want to win for several reasons. A victory would enable them to start the conference race off with a clean slate, and they haven't beat the Raiders since 1939.

The Miners are equally anxious to better their 1951 record of 3 won and 7 lost. They have won two and lost one so far this season.

In the season opener, North Texas downed the Miners, 27 to 14. Then they took wins over Sul Ross, 42 to 0, and Hawaii, 42 to 26.

They are out to more than scare some of their highly rated opponents. Eighteen lettermen are helping to give them their strongest all-around offensive team in several years.

It is interesting to note that Texas Western's line coach, Roland (Tuffy) Nabors, was all-Border conference center for Tech in 1947.

Thirteen stations of the Red Raider network will carry the game tomorrow night. Three other split-T teams will face the Raiders in Lubbock: Houston, Tulsa and North Carolina state.

Although we missed on our prediction of last week's game, we'll try to do better this time. We expect the Miners to really be keyed up for this one, but we'll take Tech by 3 touchdowns.

'Busy Little Office' Helps Student and Employers Get Together in Filling Jobs

"The Placement office? Well, it's that office right off the rotunda on the west side of the Ad building. Oh, I guess they place people or something—I don't know," says the average Techian.

In reality the Placement office is a busy room filled with busy people acting as go-betweens for busy employers and busy students. Every year local merchants apply to the Placement office for students to work in their stores and in their offices. Similarly, every year students wishing to make a little extra money visit the Placement office to find prospective jobs.

Students who have applied to the Placement office for employment this year total 289: 228 men and 61 women. The 51 employers on the active list offered Tech students 178 jobs.

And what do most students list as their preference for a job? Men prefer drafting jobs; or for second choice, jobs that entail driving, such as delivery routes, etc. Women usually prefer campus jobs that include office work of some kind.

Most of the jobs offered are in the selling line—everything from women's shoes to water heaters.

Naval Gunsmiths To Interview

Representatives from the U. S. Naval Gun factory will be on the campus Thursday to interview January and May electrical and mechanical engineering graduates.

The factory is located at Washington, D. C., on the Anacostia river.

New employees will be given training courses, including indoctrination in various divisions, lectures, and on-the-job training.

Men who are interested should schedule appointments at the Placement office, where additional information concerning the factory is available.

During registration, 900 students reported that they are working. Wages for these jobs average between 75 cents and $1 per hour. The highest wage is $1.25 and the lowest 55 cents.

The working students arranged by divisions are: Agriculture, 170; Arts and Sciences, 110; Business Administration, 307; Engineering, 267; Home Economics, 38; and Graduate Studies, 8.

The Placement office isn't limited to part-time work, but is also responsible for locating many jobs for graduates. Requests for graduates, according to fields, are: Business administration, 259 companies; 491 openings; engineering, 272 companies; 1,000 openings; chemistry and math, 178 openings.

Kaywoodie Opens Sculpture Contest

Competition begins Wednesday for the $2,500 Kaywoodie Pipe National Sculpture contest for American and Canadian amateur and professional sculptors.

Sponsored by the Kaywoodie company, makers of pipes, the contest is designed to encourage new and artistic designs for tobacco pipes. Cash prizes totaling $2,500 are offered to winning sculptors, with the first, second and third prizes amounting to $1,000, $500 and $250, respectively. Five honorable mentions of $100 each will be awarded.

Requirements for the competition are as follows: Competition lasts until Jan. 31, 1953; entries must be received at the Kaywoodie company, 6400 Broadway, West New York, N. J.; entry blanks and tags are obtained by writing to the Sculpture Competition Director, at that address; any medium may be used; minimum and maximum length of entries are three and 18 inches; entries will be judged for artistic excellence rather than commercial design.

Aggie Judges To Go To Kansas City

Three Aggie judging teams will leave Wednesday to represent Tech in contests to be held Oct. 18-21 at the American Royal Livestock show at Kansas City, Mo.

A livestock judging team will enter the Intercollegiate Livestock Judging contest Oct. 18. This will consist of judging beef cattle, sheep, quarter horses and hogs. Team members are Kenneth Acker, John Anderson, Thomas Bowers, Ross Brown, Richard Johnson, Orris Reynolds and Larry Tackitt. Team coach is Stanley E. Anderson, assistant professor of animal husbandry.

En route, the team will go through Dallas for practice judging at the State Fair. Twenty-four judging teams from the United States and Canada will compete in the Kansas City contest.

Texas Tech's meat judging team will compete in the Meats Judging contest Oct. 21. This group consists of David Baumgardner, Cody Barnett, Dwayne Harral and Don Olsen. Fred W. Boren, assistant professor of animal husbandry, is team coach. It will stop in Oklahoma City for two days to practice judging meats at Wilson Packing company. Products to be judged are wholesale cuts, ribs of beef, hams, and bellies of pork.

A wool judging team will also represent Tech in intercollegiate competition in wool judging Oct. 19. Members of this team have not been selected but will be chosen from the livestock judging team. Nathan J. Allen Jr., instructor in animal husbandry, will be coach.

Faculty Night Will Be Held By Geology Club Members

Geology club members will meet faculty members and their wives at a "get acquainted" night at 7:30 p.m. Monday in The Museum. The club is also laying plans for a conducted field trip to be held Oct. 26.

Scholarships Given To Honor Students

Dunlap scholarships have been awarded to three girls since the beginning of this semester. Winners are Mary E. Biediger, Marfa; Patricia M. Pinson, Forney; and Marilyn Stonecipher, Houston.

These scholarships are for $150, and are offered by the local Dunlap stores to high school honor students.

Two other new study grants are for the M. L. Shepard Memorial scholarship. The students receiving them are Garth Daniel Scott of Noblesville, Ind., and William Robert Wyly of Graham.

These scholarships are available to entering freshmen, and are awarded on the basis of scholastic record, character, and leadership. They are for $200.

BAND WILL VISIT

A reception for the Texas Western band will be held in the band hall of the Music building immediately after the game Saturday. Refreshments will be served by Kappa Kappa Psi, men's honorary band fraternity, and Tau Beta Sigma, women's honorary sorority.

Officials To Discuss PanTech Farms

President E. N. Jones and Marshall L. Pennington, vice-president and comptroller, left for Amarillo yesterday to confer with Chas. E. Weymouth concerning the operation of the PanTech farms Amarillo. Mr. Weymouth is Texas Tech board member in charge of PanTech operations.

PanTech, located near Amarillo, is the center of numerous experiments and research programs in the field of agriculture. It is under the direction of Tech's Division of Agriculture in cooperation with Texas A&M college.

Present experimentation programs are principally concerned with livestock feeding and with eradication or control measures of the greenbug, a destructive wheat pest. The greenbug research program is financed by wheatgrower, railroad men, and elevator operators.

During World War II, PanTech was a government ordnance plant known as Pantex. After the war the government disposed of it property and sold the land to Tech.
