Between Tech, Army

Contract possibly violated

By WORTH CHRISTIAN
UD Staff

Tech appears to be in violation of a contractual agreement with the U.S. Army and has been for six years, The University Daily has learned.

The contract, signed in February, 1965, guarantees that Tech will provide ROTC with classrooms, an outdoor drill area and an indoor target range facility on campus.

There has not been a range on campus for the use of ROTC or the ROTC-sponsored Double T Rifle Team since the fall of 1969, according to George Dillman, ex-president of the Double T Rifle Club.

BEFORE 1969, the on-campus range was located in the basement of X-31, a temporary building behind what is now the Computer Center, according to Lt. Col. George T. Kimbro, professor of military science at Tech and sponsor of the Double T Rifle Club and Team.

Dillman said the facility was condemned by university officials as having an unsafe backstop, lack of proper ventilation and as a fire hazard.

"I inspected it myself," Dr. Lawrence L. Graves, dean of Arts and Sciences said. "Anyone in it, if it caught fire, would have been incinerated."

Attempts to get funds from the university to repair the condemned range were made by ROTC and the rifle team, Dillman said, with the team and ROTC offering to supply labor.

THE FIRST request was made in April, 1970, Dillman said, asking for $2,500 for materials. The request was denied.

"It was a matter of priorities and the rifle range didn't fit in," Kimbro said.

A second request for range repair funds was made in March, 1975, through Graves.

"I have conferred with my vice presidents for academic affairs and we haven't found any money," Graves said.

THE RIFLE team remains without a range where they can practice at all times during the week for varsity shooting competition.

"If the team were able to practice every day we could have All-American shooters," Kimbro said. All-American shooters are in the same league in shooting as All-American football players are in football, he said.

"The team is only allowed to shoot at the Marine range on 4th Street on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 1-4 p.m.," according to Rick Thompson, president of the Double T Rifle Club and captain of the rifle team.

"We can't participate (in shooting practice) in evening hours when a student has more free time," according to team coach Master Sergeant Robert Ruiz, Operations Non-Commissioned Officer (NCO) of military science.

"MY TOP shooter is shooting a score of 554 out of 600 points and would be capable of shooting 580 points if the facilities were better," Ruiz said.

"The team is good and could be better. In one match we came out number three and were only four points off the number one team's score," Kimbro said.

Dillman said Tech is one of the few colleges or universities in the state that doesn't have a rifle range. According to Charles Noble III, member of Tech's rifle team, Tech, SMU and Baylor are the only Southwest Conference schools in the state not having ranges.

OTHER beneficial aspects of an on-campus rifle range facility do exist. Joe MacLean, director of recreational sports at Tech, said "recreational use should be a possibility."

This would mean a range might be open to all Tech students, but he added, "We just haven't got the funds available." Student safety would be another factor involved if a range were open to all students, he said.

If an on-campus range were available, Army ROTC could set up a shooting program with the athletic department, with ROTC supplying equipment and instructors for the courses, Kimbro said.

Tentative plans include a rifle range in the proposed $67 million Student Recreational Building, MacLean said, but that facility is not scheduled for completion for another three to three and one-half years.

B. G. DANIELS, chief of the University Police, said the campus police would like to have a range so they would not have to borrow one. The campus police like to have officers practice at least once a month, he said, but this is sometimes impossible because of lack of range facilities.

They have been using the Lubbock City Police range and the National Guard Army range, but these are not always available, he said.

"The rifle team is good publicity for Tech, and has been a recognized student organization for seven years," Dillman said.

"The program draws good students, and that's what the university wants," Kimbro said.

Fifth invoked by Patty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Patricia Hearst invoked her 5th Amendment privilege against self-incrimination five times Thursday during a heated legal argument over whether jurors should hear about a mysterious year in her underground travels.

With the jury out of the room, Miss Hearst's attorney, F. Lee Bailey, accused the prosecutor of trying to obtain information from his young client for use against her "in another criminal proceeding" in the Sacramento area.

"I refuse to answer on the grounds that I may incriminate myself," Miss Hearst said in response to the questions by U.S. Atty. James L. Browning.

THEN THE JUDGE, saying he was mindful of rumors that Miss Hearst might be indicted for a second bank robbery, refused to force her to speak of her whereabouts after September 1974.

Her account of her travels given in direct testimony ended then.

Browning has sought to introduce evidence that would possibly tie Miss Hearst to plans for other bank robberies after she returned to the West Coast one year before her capture last fall.

Bailey, who told reporters outside of court he no longer considered his client a victim of brainwashing, has maintained that evidence is irrelevant to the April 15, 1974, bank holdup for which she is on trial.

IN HER first full day under cross examination, the defendant also said that looking back, she feels that perhaps she should have risked her life and attempted to leave the Symbionese Liberation Army when given a choice about two weeks after the bank robbery.

Browning has asked Miss Hearst whether SLA chieftain Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze had in reality given her the choice of freedom or remaining behind to fight, as she indicated in a taped "communique" from the underground.

"That was what he told me, but that wasn't a choice," she said, repeating again her contention that she would have been killed if she had tried to walk away.

WHEN BROWNING insisted that perhaps the choice was authentic, Miss Hearst's voice broke and tears welled in her eyes as she said, "Well, maybe I should have taken a chance."

Miss Hearst wept again a few minutes later when Browning asked her why she had made no attempt to contact her parents.

Jury hears defendant testify in rape trial

BY BETSY HUMPHREY
UD Reporter

A five-woman, seven-man jury heard Jimmy L. Brown's testimony Thursday that he was on the Tech campus at the time of the aggravated rape of a 23-year-old Lubbock woman Dec. 11, 1974.

Brown, 35, is on trial in Judge Robert C. Wright's 137th District Court for the second time. A trial in January was declared a mistrial when the jury became deadlocked.

Opening the defense's testimony, Brown, a former graduate student in sociology, testified that on the day of the rape he called the Veterans' Administration office at Tech to check on a late check and also called Mr. Dudley Akins, financial aids director.

BROWN SAID he then went to campus about 8:45 a.m. and upon arriving, he had a conversation with a fellow graduate student in West Hall. Minutes after he went into the office of Dudley Akins, about 9:30 a.m., the defendant said.

Brown said Akins gave him two forms to fill out in order to make a loan application and their conversation ended in about 15 or 20 minutes.

Brown said he then went upstairs to the Veterans Administration office to check on a late check and departed the campus about 10 a.m.

The woman had testified Wednesday that the rapist entered her home about 9:30 a.m. She said she was dressing for work when she heard the front doorbell ring. However, when she answered the door, no one was there and she could not relock the door.

THE MAN entered her home in a few minutes, she said. "I just started screaming and I slammed the door (to the dressing area), but he forced it open," she said.

The man started beating her in the face and he forced her to the floor even though she fought back, according to the woman.

Minutes after the rapist left, the woman called her husband and was taken to Highland Hospital. After observation, it was determined that the woman had suffered a broken nose.

THE WOMAN told Criminal Dist. Atty. Alton Griffin that she picked Brown's photograph out two days after the rape, and in a lineup of five men at the Lubbock Police Department.

She said she also gave a police description of her attacker from which an officer made a drawing.

University budget review underway

Tech is currently undergoing its yearly university budget review. Officials hope to complete the process in time to submit it to the Board of Regents at the April 2 meeting.

According to Dr. Robert Ewalt, vice president of student affairs, the various departments on campus are scheduled to turn in their budget requests to the various vice presidents today.

The budget will be turned over to the president's office sometime next week, with the vice presidents' recommendations, Ewalt said.

Ewalt said he is unable to tell whether or not students are in for any increase in fees until the review process is completed.

Filing deadline today for SA offices, Senate

Students who wish to campaign for a Student Association (SA) executive or senate position must sign up by 3 p.m. today in the SA office in the University Center.

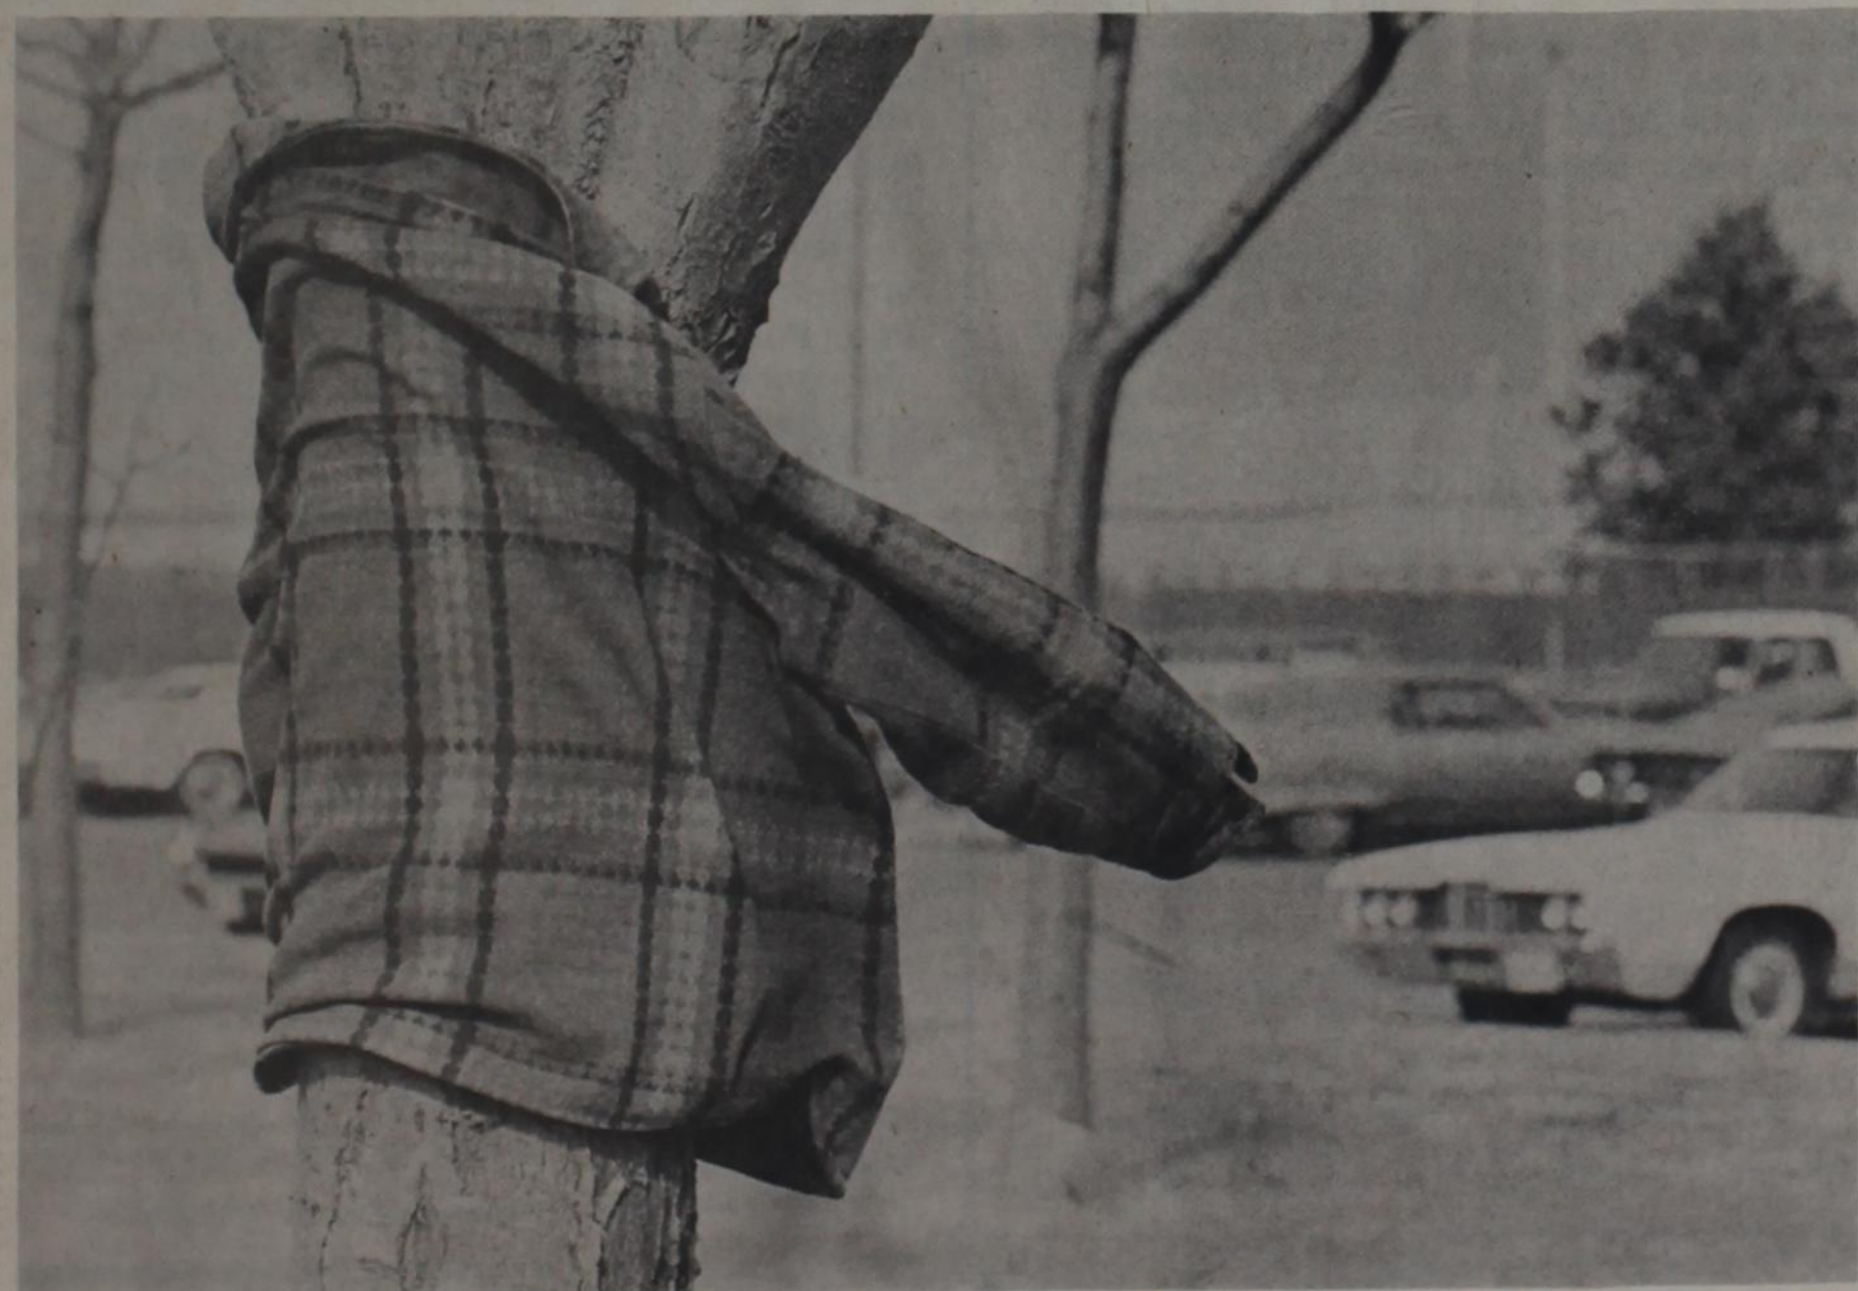

As of 5 p.m. Thursday, three students had applied for the office of president, two for internal vice president and one for external vice president.

The following is a breakdown by colleges of the senate positions open and the number of students who have applied for them as of 5 p.m. Thursday: Agriculture — three positions, one applicant; Arts and Sciences — 14 positions, 11 applicants; Business Administration — eight positions, seven applicants; Education — four positions, five applicants; Engineering — five positions, four applicants; Home economics — three positions, one applicant; Graduate School — six positions, two applicants; Law School — one position, no applicants.

SA executive officers will be elected March 10. Senators will be elected March 17. If necessary, the runoff election for executive officers will also be held March 17.

Pioneer Natural Gas given exemption

BY BETSY HUMPHREY
UD Reporter

Pioneer Natural Gas Company was granted an exemption Thursday by the Railroad Commission from a commission order requiring the company to cut back on the use of natural gas as boiler fuel.

The company can now serve a proposed new 44,000-kilowatt generating plant to be built by Lubbock Power and Light.

Earlier last month the Lubbock City Council approved an amended contract to increase the price of natural gas, raise the gas supply from 30 million to 36 million cubic feet per day and extend the term of the contract from 1979 to 1981.

Henry Walden, vice president of Pioneer Corporation of Amarillo, said the contract for existing gas was already in negotiation when the commission order took place.

FRED SENTER, Lubbock City Atty., said, "The Railroad Commission has been very cooperative with the City of Lubbock because this is the very first exemption that has been requested in Texas."

The exemption will not have any affect on the taxpayer, according to Senter.

The City of Lubbock must sell $4.4 million in bonds by late May so contracts for the new plant can be let. City officials are going to New York next month to take a bond prospectus, Senter said.

Bill Wood, directing-manager of electric utilities for Lubbock said the exemption might set a precedent for other cities in Texas.

Job interview schedules posted for March 1-5

GOD'S FIVE MINUTES

Attend the Church of Your Choice this Sunday . . .

GREAT AFFIRMATIONS OF FAITH

A young minister was unexpectedly asked to teach a Sunday School class of youngsters. "What shall we talk about?" he brightly asked the class. After a slight pause, one student asked, "What do you know?" How very apropos. "What do you know?"

An old Christian told a modernist pastor, "All your 'think so's' don't add up to equal just one of my 'know so's'."

Views, instead of the Good News, is like feeding chickens sawdust. The flock will eat it but they will die.

The Bible is composed of great affirmations.

- * I am thy God.
- * Before Abraham was, I am.
- * Thou art a great God and greater than all other Gods.
- * Though he slay me, yet will I trust him.
- * I know that my Redeemer liveth.

Why then, does not the pulpit ring out certain sounds, not uncertain waverings?

NEWS BRIEFS

Senate fails to override veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's veto of a $6.1 billion public works jobs bill was upheld Thursday when the Senate failed to muster the two-thirds margin needed to override.

The vote in the Senate was 63 to 35 to override, three short of the necessary margin.

The Senate voted less than three hours after the House supported overriding the veto by a 319 to 98 margin, 41 votes more than the necessary two-thirds.

The failure of the Senate to override was a victory for the President, whose lobbyists had been pessimistic about chances of sustaining a veto.

Ford picked up nine Republican votes while losing two Democrats, compared to the vote when the bill originally passed the Senate last July 29.

House orders Schorr investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted Thursday to order its Ethics Committee to investigate the leak of its secret Intelligence Committee report and to determine whether to take action against CBS Correspondent Daniel Schorr for his role in its publication.

The chamber approved 269 to 115 a resolution ordering the probe and saying it appears the "alleged actions of the said Daniel Schorr may be in contempt of or a breach of the privileges of this house." The resolution suggests no specific action against the correspondent.

But Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., who introduced the resolution, suggested Schorr's press card could be voided or that he could be cited for contempt of Congress. The resolution leaves any recommendation up to members of the Ethics Committee.

RHA raises alcohol issue

By DEBBI WHITNEY
UD Reporter

Tech's Residence Halls Association (RHA) passed three resolutions Wednesday night concerning alcohol in the dorms, sophomores living off-campus and dorm visitation.

The first resolution, presented by the RHA Student Life Committee, proposes that students having at least 32 semester hours or being at least 21 years of age or married should be allowed to live off-campus. The resolution also provides that the Student Life Committee will research the matter and report its findings to RHA.

According to a report by the Student Life Committee, the resolution does not give final RHA approval for sophomores to live off-campus, but merely sanctions the basic philosophy of the proposal and instructs the Student Life Committee to continue its investigation into the matter.

THE SECOND resolution favors each dorm being able to decide its own visitation hours and policies with no limitations. This resolution will also be researched by the Student Life Committee.

"The concern in the past, whenever any resolution concerning visitation has been brought up, has been security in the girls' dorms," said Debbie Bosworth, RHA secretary. "The resolution will change nothing of the security that now exists."

"The individual residence hall councils could put restrictions not only on the visitation hours, but on the security provisions for the visitation," she added.

The Student Life Committee is also going to research the third resolution concerning alcohol in the dorms.

SEVERAL RHA members expressed feelings that dorm students want alcohol in the dorms and should be allowed to make that decision.

"The fact that attempts to get alcohol in the dorms have failed in the past should not be a stumbling block," said Bosworth, who presented the resolution, "If we don't keep trying, we are accepting defeat."

Concerning passage of the three resolutions, Anne Marie Wald, vice president of women said, "I can't believe it — this is the first time I can remember that the council hasn't tabled a resolution."

IN OTHER actions, Jimmy Bubliss, a Student Association (SA) member, asked RHA to give support to the SA in putting polls in the dorms for SA elections. RHA voted to support the polls.

RHA is also planning an RHA Play Weekend Feb. 27-29.

The weekend will begin with an all-campus mixer in the Wiggins Complex from 8-12:30 p.m., Feb. 27.

A FRISBEE golf game will take place at 10 a.m. Feb. 28 on campus.

A jam session is planned for Feb. 28 at 1:30 p.m. in the outside area between Murdough and Stangel Halls.

"Anything Goes" is scheduled at 1:30 p.m. Feb. 29 in the band practice field.

Working within BA system key to council's success

BY PAT GRAVES
UD Reporter

Tech's student-led Business Administration Council (BAC) is effective because it operates within the system of the College of Business Administration, in the opinion of two BAC officers.

Paula Crosnoe, chairperson of the BAC speaker series committee, said the control fosters better relationships between the council and BA administrators and faculty. She added that working within the BA system helps students prepare for jobs in the business world, which are also in "the system."

"We have a big advantage working within the (BA) system," said BAC President Rick Liberty. "Diplomacy is the key. Pushing people up against the wall doesn't work. We must be diplomatic and when we are, things get done."

The BAC must comply with BA administration policy and the BAC constitution, like any other registered campus organization, but Liberty said the situation causes no problems.

"WORKING THROUGH the BA administrators doesn't limit our effectiveness," Crosnoe said. "The dean works so closely with us there's no need for us to step out of bounds. We're not afraid to try new things but we are realistic about new ideas."

The BAC and the BA College administration have a mutual existence, Crosnoe said, in that the BAC respects the faculty and the administrators extend courtesies to the BAC. Liberty said the BA administration has given the BAC many privileges which, hypothetically, could be revoked if the BA dean decided to use his extensive power to do so.

"The administration acts as a buffer for the BA faculty," Liberty said. "We go to the administration, not the faculty. The faculty has little control over the council."

TWO FACULTY advisers do provide input to the council, however. Liberty said the 38-member council selects a new faculty adviser each semester from a list of nominees. The advisers serve for two consecutive semesters and their terms are staggered so a new adviser is chosen every semester. Liberty said the advisers are especially helpful in contributing the faculty point of view related to council activities and in warning the BAC when it might be overstepping its limits.

The BAC faculty evaluation program is an example of the good relationship which exists between the council and BA faculty, Liberty said. When faculty complained the evaluations were being administered at disruptive times, such as testing periods, Liberty said the program was altered to allow faculty to choose which class period they would be evaluated during the week of evaluations.

"We're also working to improve the evaluation form and the policy concerning who sees it and when," he said. "The professors are on our side and they recognize the evaluations as being something positive."

THE PURPOSE of the BAC is to serve as an intermediary communication channel between BA students and faculty, Liberty said. As a result, one of the major functions of the council is the processing of student complaints against the faculty through the Action Year Committee. Liberty said the complaints must be handled diplomatically and objectively.

"A complaint against a professor is a very touchy subject," he said. "A professor can be ruined by unfounded rumors, especially those circulated by poor students. We can't threaten professors but we can go to the dean and make him aware of the problem because he supports us and works closely with us."

Each semester the BAC emphasizes its ability to handle student complaints through Action Week, which will actually cover only two days this semester, Feb. 23-24.

A portable suggestion box soon will be placed at various locations in the BA Building, Liberty said, to begin Action Year. This program will encourage students to submit suggestions as well as complaints all the time, he said. Students who include their names and phone numbers will receive direct reports on what action is taken on their input.

LIBERTY SAID the BAC, which has its own office in the classroom area of the BA Building, has also made pencil sharpeners available to BA students, maintains a mimeograph machine which BA students and faculty can freely use, operates a lost and found which cooperates with the Alpha Phi Omega lost and found in the University Center and provides a means for student input on faculty hiring.

"I don't blame students for being apathetic about participating in faculty interviews," Liberty said, "because it's difficult to inform students about the interview schedules, locations and the type of questions to ask. Some students wonder if it is appropriate for them to be present. The BA professional societies and the BAC members are helpful in faculty recruiting but we encourage all BA students to see us and learn how they can help."

The BAC also conducts public relations activities to improve the educational climate and stimulate as well as publicize the BA College. The council's major promotional project this semester will culminate March 16 when news commentator Paul Harvey will visit Lubbock and Tech, sponsored by the BAC.

"We not only want the public to enjoy hearing him," Liberty said, "but we also want to inform and impress him so he can use his influence to help put Tech and the BA College on the map. Admission will be charged to his speech so that we can break even."

Tech tries SMU for second spot

BY KIRK DOOLEY
UD Sports Writer

The SMU Mustangs play host to the Tech roundballers Saturday night in Dallas in a game which should determine the conference runner-up. A crowd of 9,500-plus is expected for the 7:30 contest.

"We will have to play a better game there than we did up here," said Tech coach Gerald Myers. The Mustangs haven't lost a conference game at their home court this season.

In the two teams' last meeting, Tech won 72-69 in Lubbock. Rudy Liggins, Grady Newton and Rick Bullock combined for 46 points. Guard Steve Dunn pressured Pony fast break artist Mike Jaccar into numerous turnovers and without Jaccar, the Mustangs' fast break fell apart.

As in other battles between Bullock and Ira Terrell, the two premier post men in the conference, the one who scored the most points came out on the losing end of the scoreboard. Bullock had fewer points than Terrell, but had a season-high 18 rebounds. "They really don't have anything to prove," said Myers, referring to the Bullock-Terrell matchup. "They are two of the greatest players to ever play in the conference, so individually, there's nothing to prove to anyone."

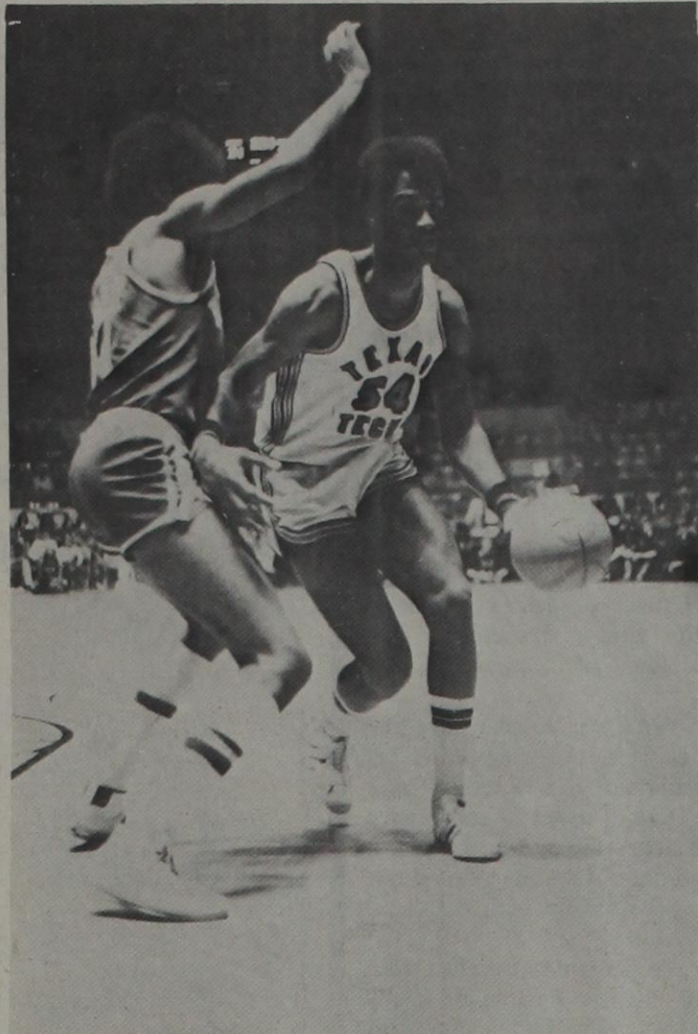

Since taking over a starting role five games ago, Tech's Mike Russell has been averaging 15.4 points and 11 rebounds per game. "Mike's playing real good right now," said Myers. "He's our most consistent rebounder and he's got his confidence up in scoring." Grady Newton, who injured his ankle while getting over the flu two weeks ago, is still doubtful. He may play in the SMU game but just how much is undecided.

Bullock is 24 points shy of passing SMU's Gene Phillips' record for the most points in a career, and needs 52 rebounds to become the second player in SWC history to reach 1,000 rebounds.

"I feel that the second half of the Baylor game was the best rebounding we've had all year," said Myers. "Our scoring is becoming more balanced and that pleases me too. In this game we have pretty well directed our thinking towards the conference tournament, since A&M pretty well has the conference race wrapped up."

Besides Bullock, the Tech starters are undecided. Russell, Liggins, Grant Dukes and Newton will all play some at the forwards and Keith Kitchens, Dunn and Geoff Huston will all see plenty of action at the guards.

Floor general

Although Rick Bullock (54) is known more for his play underneath the basket he can also handle the ball well for a big man. Here he is driving against Baylor's Tony Rufus in Tech's 87-67 win over the Bears. Bullock scored 21 points and pulled down 15 rebounds. (Photo by Ed Purvis)

Sky hook

National champs

Last week the Tech two-mile relay team won the national championship at the United States Track and Field Federation Meet in Oklahoma City. The team consists of (left to right) Mark Freeman, Terrell Pendleton, Luther Mays and Ricky McCormick. The relay team, along with the rest of the Tech track team, will be in action in the Third Annual SWC Indoor Track Meet in Fort Worth.

Tech's track team gets its first taste of Southwest Conference competition Friday, competing in the third annual SWC Indoor Track and Field Meet in Fort Worth.

Tech ranks as one of the teams to beat in the meet which involves the nine conference schools. The Raiders are coming off a super performance in the United States Track and Field Federation Meet in Oklahoma City last weekend where they won the national championship in the two-mile relay. Tech also did well in the distance medley and mile relay, finishing fifth in both events.

Prelims in the SWC meet begin at 2 p.m. at the Tarrant County Convention Center with finals in 15 of the 16 events beginning at 6:30 p.m. The distance medley finals are slated for 3:20 p.m.

Tech coach Corky Oglesby said Baylor and Texas should battle for the team title with the Bears having a slight nod because of superior relay team strength. Texas will do well in the field events with some fine individual performers in the high jump and pole vault.

Oglesby said he will concentrate on taking points in the relays instead of individual performances.

"We're going hard for the relays at the expense of the individuals," Oglesby said. "It's a decision the conference coaches have to make. It's a gamble. If we blow the relays, we'll wind up with nothing."

Tech's two-mile relay team of Terrell Pendleton, Ricky McCormick, Luther Mays and Mark Freeman earned All-America status with their win. The Raiders were the only team to place in every relay in the USTIFF meet.

A genuine battle is shaping

Tech netters in tourney

Texas Tech netters will battle the flu and a slate of top teams this weekend at the West Texas Tournament in Canyon.

The Raiders were forced to cancel a match with Hardin-Simmons earlier this week because of the flu and will get no consolation from a trio of top-flight teams Friday and Saturday.

Tech will open play Friday at 1 p.m. against New Mexico, the tournament's defending champion. West Texas will battle Kansas at 6:30 p.m. in the other match.

The winners will meet at 8:30 a.m. Saturday for the championship, with the losers playing at 1 p.m. for third place. All matches will be played at the Activities Center on the WTSU campus.

Following the tournament, the Raiders will return home to meet Central Texas Monday at the Tech courts at 2 p.m.

Freshman Harris Bowes is expected to play No. 1, with David Crissey, another freshman No. 2. Chuck Bond will probably play No. 3, Paul Lee Lum No. 4, John Clements No. 5 and Don Adams No. 6.

The doubles pairings will probably be Bowes-Adams, Bond-Clements and Crissey-Lee Lum.

Red Raiders face Hardin-Simmons in twin bill today

BY FRED HERBST
US Sports Writer

Returning with the nucleus of a team that hit .282 overall last year, head coach Kal Segrist leads his troops this afternoon into a season opening battle against Hardin-Simmons. The four-game series will be held in Abilene. The doubleheader today will start at 2 p.m., with Saturday's twin bill scheduled for 1 p.m.

"We're a veteran team and should be better defensively than we were last year," Segrist said. "We still expect to make some mistakes early in the season, but I think overall we will be solid in the field. Our hitting has been good and we're hoping our pitching will come around."

Senior right-hander Val Morin (5-2 last year) will start the first game Friday, with southpaw Mike Williams slated to go in the second game. Junior college transfer Doug House, another lefty, will start the first game Saturday with Kim Hunter scheduled to go in the second game. Tom Black (short relief) and Lloyd Cummings (long relief) will be available if needed. Either Brad Westbrook or Randy Little will fill out the bullpen on the traveling squad.

"Hardin-Simmons is a competitive team," Segrist said. "They have two or three good pitchers, and if you don't play well, they will beat you." However Segrist added that if the Raiders play up to their potential, they should defeat them.

Hitting will obviously be the Raiders strength against Hardin-Simmons, as the Red Raiders have six regulars who hit .300 or better last year. Leading that group is senior All-Southwest Conference shortstop Ron Mattson (.331) who missed winning the conference batting title by one hit.

Also returning is junior outfielder Paul Johnston who missed the first half of last season with a hand injury, but Bryan Cowen and Mike came on to hit .359 in the season with Johnston who second half. Johnston will start in centerfield, with Cowen in left field, but was moved to first base late in the season because of a leg injury to Gary Ashby. The .340 hitter will be back in leftfield against Hardin-Simmons today.

Bewley got off to a slow start last spring, but came on strong to finish with a .310 average and seven home runs, the best on the team. According to Segrist, Bewley has "been hitting the ball very well" and has potential of becoming a great power hitter on a power starved club.

"Right now, we're not a real powerhouse team (home run threat)," Segrist said. Freshman outfielder John Keller, who has caught the eye of the coaches during practices, will be the top reserve at all three outfield positions. Keller has sparked both offensively and defensively during several scrimmages.

The Tech infield is anchored by veterans, with junior Ashby (.302) returning at first and Mattson at shortstop. Third base has been claimed by junior transfer Ernie Helwig who, according to Segrist, "has been hitting the ball very well this last week." Second base, however, is still somewhat of a question mark in the infield. Freshmen Johnny Vestal (right-handed hitter) and Bubba Nix (left-handed hitter) are both scheduled to see plenty of action. "We will probably platoon them," Segrist said.

After a four-player battle for the starting catching position, senior Pat Loter (.216) seems to have the edge and will get the starting nod.

Junior college transfer Robert Harris will also see action at catcher probably the second game of the double-headers). Gary Long, .216, Gary Sims, .254, or Scott Lermgruber will be the designated hitters.

"We have as good a shot at the conference title as anybody," Segrist said. "Our season will depend a great deal upon the efficiency of our pitching staff."

First base veteran

Tech first baseman Gary Ashby takes a throw for a put out against TCU last year. The Raiders begin their season this afternoon in Abilene against Hardin-Simmons. Ashby is one of six regulars returning who hit .300 or better last year.

Tankers in dual meet

Texas Tech swimmers will get a double dose of Southwest Conference competition this weekend when they travel to Houston to close out the regular season with a pair of dual meets.

The Raiders will meet Houston Friday at 7 p.m. and then take on Rice at 2 p.m. Saturday. The dual meets will be the final tune-up for Tech swimmers before the SWC meet March 4-6 in Dallas.

Houston finished third at the SWC Invitational in December, placing in the top three in 11 of 15 swimming events at the meet. The Cougars currently rank in the top five in the SWC in 15 of 17 events, including Jim Bradford's league-leading 2:10.74 in the 200-yard breaststroke.

Last week the Raiders raised their dual meet record to 4-3 for the season by downing Oklahoma, 59-54, at the Tech pool.

Movie wrap-up

Familiar faces return to town plus Academy Award hold-overs

BY JOHNNY HOLMES
Fine Arts Staff

A few familiar faces return to the Hub this weekend and several others are held over for one final fling as Academy Award nominations are in the air.

THE BEST — Backstage: "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes' Smarter Brother," starring Gene Wilder, Madeline Kahn and Marty Feldman, is a raucous comedy in the Mel Brooks mold. Little redeeming social value is contained herein, but it's great if you just want to laugh.

Fox: "Barry Lyndon," starring Ryan O'Neal and Marisa Berenson, is an epic biography of a 19th century Irish rogue who rises to fortune and suffers through the trials of aristocracy. Excellent.

Fox: "The Man Who Would Be King," starring Sean Connery and Michael Caine, is an adventure filled with action and suspense. Possibly the most popular movie in town, and should be a monster before it leaves.

Showplace: "Lucky Lady," starring Liza Minnelli, Gene Hackman and Burt Reynolds, is a sassy, brassy, fun movie that tells of an independent rumrunning crew in the 30's. Liza Minnelli is up for best actress from this.

Winchester: "MacKintosh and T.J.," starring Roy Rogers and Clay O'Brien, is the tale of a has-been cowboy and a homeless kid who try to make it in big time ranching.

THE REST: Cinema West: "Chino," starring the husband-wife team of Charles Bronson and Jill Ireland, is about the trials and tribulations of a lone gun-fighter. A typical Bronson movie.

Fox: "Tommy" starring Roger Daltrey and Ann Margret, is the tale of a blind, deaf and dumb boy who becomes pinball champion of the world. Ann Margret is up for best actress for her role as Tommy's mother.

Lindley: "Superdude," starring William Elliot and Marky Bey, is a black gangster flick with very little potential.

Showplace: "Beyond the Grave," starring veteran horror star Peter Cushing, is billed as a horror classic which is both humorous and scary.

Showplace: "Jaws," starring Richard Dreyfuss and Robert Shaw, is being held still another week because it has been nominated for all sorts of awards.

Showplace: "The Hindenburg," starring George C. Scott and Anne Bancroft, is somewhat of a documentary on the disastrous demise of the fabled airship. The last fifteen minutes are something else.

South Plains: "Sasquatch" is a movie dealing with the legend of Bigfoot.

South Plains: "Blazing Saddles," starring Mel Brooks, Harvey Korman and Cleavon Little, is without a doubt the funniest movie I've ever seen. "The Sunshine Boys" replaces it in a week, so you better see it now if you ever want to.

Upcoming concerts of interest include:
Deep Purple and Nazareth: Fort Worth Saturday and Houston Sunday.
Olivia Newton-John: Nacogdoches Feb. 26, Dallas (Moody) Feb. 27, and Houston (Astrodome) Feb. 28 and 29.

March brings winds and several topnotch performers to Lubbock. Black Oak Arkansas, Wishbone Ash, and Ruby Starr & Grey Ghost will be in the Coliseum on March 4, followed on March 13 by Bad Company and Ted Nugent.

UD Reporter

"Medicine Today at Tech," a television program about medicine, the Tech School of Medicine (TTUSM) and the Lubbock community, will be broadcast Saturday at 4 p.m. on KTXT-TV Channel 5.

The program will consist of interviews with various community physicians, TTUSM faculty members and medical leaders from the community, according to Bob Rees, coordinator of television and cinematography for the Medical School.

"We call the program an illustrated interview program," Rees said. "The speakers will use graphic presentations, illustrations, films of laboratory experiments and any other visual aids which might be helpful in their presentations."

The medical programs will be shown twice a month and will be hosted by Rebecca Galvan, medical writer for the TTUSM Health Communications Lab.

Future broadcasts will include a discussion of the TTUSM Teaching Clinic at Thompson Hall and interviews with Richard Lockwood, M.D., vice president for the Health Sciences Center at Tech and George Tyner, M.D., TTUSM dean, about medical school development.

Rees said the program is a rare opportunity for Tech's Medical School to work with a Public Broadcasting affiliate (PBS).

Bateman accepts new position in Illinois

Bateman will begin working as executive director of computing activities at Southern Illinois at the end of Tech's regular academic year. By ANN NARRO
UD Staff
L.U. Kaiser became the fifth member of the Mass Communications Hall of Fame Thursday as a part of Mass Communications Week. He was inducted at the Advertising Seminar luncheon by Dr. Billy I. Ross, chairman, department of mass communications.

service in the entire South. Kaiser's four affiliated companies account for sales well over $4 million and occupy 76,000 square feet of floor space and have a working force of 115 to 145. Kaiser, whose two daughters graduated from Tech, is a lifetime member of the Tech Dads Association, and he served as director four years and vice president one year. Kaiser has been a member of the Mass Communications Advisory Committee since 1970. He received the Plaque of Appreciation in 1974. Kaiser has collected outstanding national advertising pieces and campaigns and has forwarded three or four shipments to Tech's advertising classes each year for six or seven years. Kaiser also has sponsored the Mass Communications Teacher Incentive Awards for the past five years. The Mass Communications Hall of Fame was organized three years ago to recognize persons who have distinguished themselves in Mass Communications and have specifically aided the educational programs in Mass Communications at Tech, Ross said.

A framed picture of Kaiser will hang in the hall of fame in the new Mass Communications building. Other members of the hall of fame include Don Belding, Joe Bryant, Wallace Garets and C.W. Ratliff.

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The last of the 12 mid-season replacement series is premiering Saturday on ABC. It's called "Bert D'Angelo Superstar" and will be the 22nd cop or private series facing us at night now. Paul Sorvino, a fine actor, is trapped in the title role of this caper about a New York cop who goes West, joins the San Francisco police force for unexplained reasons and commences fighting crime. ABC describes the show as "a fast moving series about a tough San Francisco police detective who may bend and twist the rules on occasion to make an arrest."

He should have bent and twisted the author of Saturday's opener, a wandering yarn about a fellow cop from New York who, in the course of visiting the City by the Bay, bumps off a damsel who seems to be his wife. The cop, played by George Dzundza, first calls Sorvino from the hotel, the cop's wife says hello in the phone, and all hands agree to meet for breakfast the next morning. "Hey, take care of your person," Sorvino says before hanging up. The foul deed is observed by a drug dealer lurking nearby. He later tracks down the officer and puts the bite on him for $15,000. Prior to that, the cop has told Sorvino his wife is AWOL and seeks help finding her. No sweat, Sorvino says: "I'll have this out on the street and I'll have her back to you in no time at all."

There's going to be some fiddlin' around out at the Cotton Club this Friday night as "Fiddlin' Frenchie Burke" appears in Lubbock for one night only, tonight.

Frenchie Logan his infatuation with the fiddle as a child and, as he reached maturity, his prowess on the fiddle became truly impressive. Frenchie joined the Air Force, where he became somewhat infamous for spending all his spare time entertaining the troops with his ragin' Cajun style of music.

He entered the Air Force World - Wide Competitive Talent Show and became the first double trophy winner in the history of the show. After his stint in the service, Burke toured with such country names as Ray Price and Johnny Bush before beginning his own career as a headliner.

In November, 1974, Frenchie recorded a lively version of "Big Mamou," the classic Cajun waltz, which hit the charts with such impact that it quickly became the No. 1 song at such stations as KIKK and KKYX, and number 38 on the national charts.

About a year ago, Frenchie and the Outlaws recorded "Colinda," which settled at number 30 on Billboard Magazine's National Country Chart, and paved the way for another hit single, entitled

"The Fiddlin' of Jacques Pierre Bordeaux." The song was indeed a hit, and, amazingly enough, the flip side, "Frenchie's Cotton-Eyed Joe," got a Gavin pick, and the record was played back-to-back on radio stations throughout the country.

Frenchie's album, "Fiddlin' Frenchie Burke," got the nod as the number four album of the year by prestigious Cash-box Magazine.

Bentsen releases precinct delegates

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, who withdrew from the race for the Democratic presidential nomination following a poor showing in Oklahoma's precinct caucuses, has released all the Oklahoma precinct delegates committed to his candidacy.

Obera Bergdell of Enid and Bill Reynolds of Oklahoma City, co-coordinators of Bentsen's Oklahoma campaign, issued a statement from Bentsen today releasing his supporters and thanking them for supporting him.

"It is with a deep feeling of gratitude and humility that I release those delegates elected to support my bid for the Democratic nomination for president," Bentsen said. "I shall always remember my Oklahoma friends."

Bentsen had 10.4 per cent of the delegates elected in unofficial tabulations by the state Democratic headquarters. He trailed former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris in the race for precinct delegates.

Students to visit Russia via Texas cities

By ROBERT JONES
UD Staff

Twenty-five Tech art and architecture students will visit Russia via a tour of art museums in two Texas cities.

The art department is sponsoring the tour of Fort Worth and Houston museums, Friday and Saturday, according to Edna Glenn, sponsor.

The highlight of the trip will be a stop at the Houston Museum of Fine Arts, which is featuring a collection of 50 paintings on loan from the Hermitage Museum in Leningrad, Russia. The Russian exhibit includes paintings ranging from the 17th century to Picasso, and coming from major European countries, such as Holland and England.

The students will gain insights into the masterpieces from Russia and they will get a chance to see original art works they are studying, Glenn said.

The students will also get an idea of the cultural exchange between countries, Glenn said. They will look at the museums also in terms of the architecture of the buildings, Glenn said.

THE GROUP WILL also tour the Mark Rothko Chapel and the Contemporary Art Museum while in Houston.

Other areas of the tour include a tour of the Fort Worth Art Center, the Amon Carter Museum, the Kimbell Art Museum and the Philip Johnson Water Gardens in Fort Worth.

The Fort Worth Art Center will feature contemporary art and the Amon Carter Museum will feature historical American arts which coincide with the American Bicentennial, Glenn said. The Kimbell Art Museum contains 18th century paintings of Gainsborough and Reynolds, ancient arts of India and China and 20th century arts inclusive of Picasso, Glenn said.

"THE STUDENTS will be gaining knowledge about structures in the environment and art in Texas," Glenn said. The trip will give a good background to the students in the further study of art history, Glenn said.

The group has had three meetings to plan the trip, Glenn said. Students have looked at slides of the museums and structures they will visit and have studied the catalog of the Russian works on display in Houston, Glenn said.

Horn library receives name of supporter

The new study library in Horn Hall at Tech will be named for Dorothy Taft Garner at the recommendation of professional staff members of the residence halls on campus.

The library will contain both reference and recreational material. Although primarily intended for Horn-Knapp residents, it may be used by any student.

Garner was instrumental in the development of Dad's Day and the Carol of Lights events at Tech. After 18 years of service, primarily as coordinator of Women's Residence Hall Supervision, Garner retired in 1974.

Stangel Hall honored her in 1969 by creating the Dorothy T. Garner Scholarship, awarded to two Stangel dwellers each year.

Garner received her Bachelor of Arts degree in 1928, Master of Arts in 1933, and Master of Education in 1956, all from the University of Oklahoma.
