Jean Jenkins Named Lubbock's 'Woman of Year'

by MYRNA MORRISON

Mrs. Jean Jenkins, Texas Tech Placement director, has been named winner of Lubbock's Woman of the Year award for 1957.

Mrs. Jenkins, who has headed the Placement Service since fall of 1947, is a vivacious, brown-eyed woman with slightly gray hair and a ready smile.

A former Tech student, Mrs. Jenkins has been a member of the college staff off-and-on since her graduation in 1935.

Her first position was secretary to the dean of women, under the late Mrs. Mary Doak.

Before leaving Tech in 1942, she served as secretary to the registrar and to the Arts and Sciences dean. She returned to Tech in 1947 to take over the position she now holds.

Mrs. Jenkins has many interests. Among these are reading and listening to music on the high-fidelity sound system which she and her husband have installed in their home.

She is active in various civic, educational and women's organizations. She is currently serving her second term as president of the Lubbock Camp Fire Girls Council; and is president of the Quarterly Club, a faculty women's organization at Tech.

She is a member of the planning cabinet of the Lubbock Community Chest and the Tech committee on Latin American teaching opportunities.

Mrs. Jenkins is former president of the Lubbock Women's Page 2, WOMAN OF YEAR . . .

Computer Seminar Concludes Today

A seminar on electronic computers and their techniques and application to education and research will be concluded at Texas Tech today.

Sessions will include demonstrations and applications of computers in science, education, plans for establishing a computer center at Tech and discussions of computer education programs in the future.

"Computers can be applied in nearly all subject matter areas of the arts, business and sciences, including such diverse subjects as linguistic studies, music composition, and reservoir engineering studies," says W. R. Pasewark, business education professor and Tech data processing committee head.

Techsans Travel To SMU-Raider Basketball Game

A trainload of Techsans plus numerous students going in cars will invade the SMU campus today for a fun-filled weekend which will include a basketball tilt Saturday night and several other scheduled activities.

The train is scheduled to arrive in Dallas at 8 a.m. with a pep rally the first thing on the agenda.

An Engineering show will be in Caruth Engineering Building and a tour of the new Univac Building is planned. There also will be an all-school dance after the game, to which Tech students are invited.

Cinerama, which has been showing in Dallas for a number of years, will be among one of the stand-out attractions of the trip.

ALTHOUGH THE trip has been approved by the school officials students will not be excused from classes. This has been left to the individual professor.

The student council said yesterday that the basketball team is glad the trip comes at this time. They believe the added support Page 3, TECHSANS . . .

DALLAS, Feb. 22—Texas Tech and SMU will celebrate Washington's birthday tonight by attempting to cut down each other's cherry tree in a "blood on the moon" Southwest Conference battle before a sell-out crowd of more than 9,000 in the SMU Coliseum.

TECH IS CURRENTLY tied for first place with Arkansas, both having 7-3 records. SMU is tied for third with Rice at 6-4, just one game back of the pace-setters.

A loss tonight for the Ponies would just about eliminate their title chances. A Raider loss would help throw the conference into another mad scramble.

OTHER ACTION tonight finds TCU at Rice, Texas at Baylor and Arkansas at Texas A&M.

In two previous meetings this year, the Raiders and Mustangs are all even. Tech won the first game in the SWC basketball tournament at Houston. The Ponies of Doc Hayes came back for a win at Lubbock last month.

SMU WILL also be trying to keep perfect their record of 44 home wins in a row tonight. This does not include their loss to Kansas in the NCAA Tournament last spring in Dallas.

Both teams will probably use the same starting line-ups tonight they used in Lubbock.

SMU will start Max Williams (5-10) and Ned Duncan (6-0) at guards; Riek Herrscher (6-3) and Bobby James (6-5) at forwards and Wilbur Marsh (6-5) at center.

FOLK ROBISON will probably use Gerald Myers (5-10) and Charley Lynch (6-2) at guards, Wade Page 4, RAIDERS . . .

Army Convicts Spy

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A military court-martial today convicted Army M. Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes of conspiring with Russians to commit espionage and betray his country.

The lanky, gaunt sergeant also was found guilty of falsifying a loyalty certificate in which he said he had never engaged in espionage, or attempted to do so.

Sentencing was postponed until the 10 Army officers who sat in judgment on the sergeant could hear defense contentions as to mitigating or extenuating circumstances.

On the conspiracy charge, the 40-year-old Rhodes could receive a maximum penalty of life imprisonment. On the lesser charge, he could go to jail for a maximum of a year. On either, he could be sentenced to dishonorable discharge and loss of pay and allowances.

The court deliberated on the fate of Rhodes for four and one-half hours.

A veteran of 15 years in uniform, he stood stiffly, unflinchingly erect before the court-martial and heard its president, Col. Milton S. Glatore, tell him it was his duty to advise him that he had been found guilty of all specifications and charges.

Of Cabbages and Kings

GLASGOW, Scotland, Feb. 21 (AP)—Jeering students pelted Dep.

Prime Minister Richard Butler with flour, soot and eggs today in a Glasgow University rite that turned into a near-riot.

Police reinforcements were rushed to St. Andrews Hall to restore order after the mild-mannered Butler, plugging away at a speech, was soaked to the skin, covered with flour and wretched with rolls of toilet tissue.

FOUR BUGLE-BLOWING students were arrested in wild scenes unprecedented even in the riotous past history of similar ceremonies installing the annual lord rector of Glasgow University.

An uninvited jazz band blared throughout Butler's speech accepting the honorary post. A photographer was knocked out by a flying cabbage. Firecrackers exploded. Rotten fruit deluged the stage.

BUTLER, a garish white figure with egg yolk and flour forming a paste on his face, just kept on talking — even when sprayed by fire extinguishers.

The ordeal experienced by the No. 2 man in Prime Minister Macmillan's government came only 24 hours after another semi-riot when an actor was installed as lord rector at Edinburgh University. One of the targets there was Prince Philip, husband of Queen Elizabeth II.

Such installation ceremonies traditionally are an excuse for a display of high spirits. But the fun got out of hand while Butler was trying to speak inside the huge Glasgow Hall.

"BY 1970," he told the shouting students, "Britain can expect to increase her wealth by no less than 41 per cent."

Two tomatoes struck him in the chest. A soot bomb burst alongside. Somebody blew a deafening blast on a trumpet.

Butler smiled a wintry smile and went on: "We stand on the threshold of an expansion of wealth unprecedented in history . . ." His words died as a bag of flour burst full in his face.

UNIVERSITY officials sitting beside Butler were pelted and drenched as well. Some walked off the stage.

Fighting broke out in one section of the hall. Balloons suddenly shot into the air all over the auditorium. The jazz band was just getting into its stride.

STUDENTS BATTLED with police outside the hall after the ceremony. One constable was hurled through the plate glass window of an automobile showroom.

The four arrested students were freed pending a court hearing on charges of disorderly behavior.

MAGISTRATES described the affair as "shocking" and "sheer hooliganism."

But not a single word of complaint came from the stoical Butler as he prepared to return to London and the comparative calm of political warfare.

KTTC Installs 'Unit For 'Spot' Reporting

Texas Tech radio station KTTC is installing a mobile unit to make possible a more complete coverage of campus news.

Don Denton, station news director said, "We have been wanting such a unit for a long time. We hope to begin broadcasting on-the-spot news by the middle of next week."

Operations will begin when installation of a base antenna adjoining the station is complete.

The mobile unit is a two-way, short-wave radio. One unit will operate at the station, the other directly from the news scene.

According to Denton, the unit will be installed in a car, but he said it could be removed and plugged into an electrical outlet for broadcast purposes. Where electricity is not available, the unit can be battery operated.

KTTC broadcasts from 2 p.m. to 1 a.m. The mobile system will be used at any time during those hours.

Plans are being completed for a new program featuring student opinion. Through the use of this mobile unit, Techsans will have an opportunity to air their views on campus problems.

Denton, who will be in charge of the unit operation, said in the future the unit may be used to cover Tech athletic events and broadcast game scores.

Tech Speech Meet Begins at 9 a.m. For Area Students

More than 200 high school students from Panhandle and West Texas areas will convene at Texas Tech today for a speech contest.

There will be no contest divisions according to school enrollment unless there are at least 6 entries within an Interscholastic League enrollment classification, according to Ronald Schulz, assistant speech professor, who is in charge of the meet.

Tech's speech department will award certificates to first and second place winners.

Contest procedures will be explained at 9 a.m. in the Aggie Memorial Auditorium. Lunch will be served at 12:15 p.m. in the Tech Union. Awards will be presented at a 5 p.m. ceremony in the Speech Auditorium.

Judges will be visiting student sponsors.

Club and the Assembly Club. In addition, she is a member of Mortar Board, the Faculty Club, the Faculty Wives' Club and is an alumnae of Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority.

She considers the work of the Placement Service as maintaining communications between employers and students; and passing information, rather than simply placing a student in a job.

Through the service, arrangements are made for business firms to send representatives to the campus for interviewing graduating seniors. Approximately 25 firms are on campus each week.

Regarding her selection for Woman of the Year, Mrs. Jenkins hopes she will be able to live up to the honor.

The award was presented by the Lubbock Altruza Club.

House Bloc Wants Benson Resignation

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21 (AP)—A bloc of House Republicans, rebuffed by Secretary of Agriculture Benson in their demands for a new farm policy, threatened today to plow him under.

"Benson should resign," Rep. Jensen (R-Iowa) declared a few minutes after Benson announced he had no intention of abandoning his program of lower price supports.

IMMEDIATE arrangements were made to go over Benson's head to President Eisenhower. The bloc contends the administration's farm policy must be changed if Republicans are to win the November elections.

Rep. Miller (R-Neb.) announced he would seek an appointment with the President as soon as possible for five or six GOP House members.

If Benson remains in office, Miller asserted, it will mean the loss of 20 to 25 Republican House seats in the Midwest. "He's the best weapon the Democrats have," Miller said.

Miller and Rep. Judd (R-Minn.) laid it on the line at a conference in Benson's office. Miller said they didn't ask for the secretary's resignation.

"We left it up to him after weighing all the pros and cons," Miller said.

Benson, who has received stonewall support from Eisenhower in his previous fights with Congress, promptly issued a statement saying he was convinced the American people want programs based on sound principles in agriculture.

"AND FOR that reason I shall continue to fight for what I feel to be right," he declared.

Rep. O'Konski (R-Wis.) told a reporter there was "no question about it," that the group would go over Benson's head to the President.

Indonesian Bombers Attack Rebel Government Bridge Blasted At Painan

PADANG, Sumatra, Feb. 21 — Indonesian warplanes to attack the first blow against rebel government in Sumatra spokesman announced.

The rebel spokesman said 25-30 bombers gunned and dropped seven bombs on a bridge at Painan, a coastal town 47 miles south of here.

HE SAID damage was slight and there were no casualties though villagers were going to a nearby mosque for prayers on Indonesia's Moslem Sunday.

The reported attack came hours after President Sukarno issued a rebel demand for resignation of the Cabinet of President Djakarta.

Both sides were predicting the struggle would be settled through political and economic warfare. Rebel leaders previously claimed that the use of force by the government would bring about a popular revolution.

IN ACCEPTING Sukarno's bid to act against the rebel Premier Djakarta said he could not guarantee there will be no use of the army, navy, or air force to carry out a block. Neither side has much military power.

Indonesia's largest warship, destroyer Gadjah Mada, put in menacing appearance a mile from Padang yesterday, bottling up at least four ships in West Sumatra's only deepwater port.

For more than a year rebel groups in Indonesia's outer islands demanding a greater share of their rich exports, have been thumbing their noses at the central government and conducting their own barter trade with Singapore.

Attention junior women: Are you interested in earning $122, with free transportation, uniforms, meals and lodgings for one month this summer?

Texas Tech junior women may join coeds from college throughout the nation in the College Junior Summer Training Program offered by the Women's Army Corps.

The college junior course will be conducted at US Women's Army Corps School at Fort McClellan, Ala., for four weeks beginning July 27, according to Col. James B. Carver, Tech professor of Military Science and Tactics.

Women participating will study leadership, radiological warfare, civil emergencies and military intelligence.

"For the coed seeking knowledge of the service," Col. Carver said, "this is an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with the Army without committing one's self."

Wolfe (6-5) and Chuck Key (6-3) at forwards and Leon "Podd" Hill (6-6) at center.

SMU is usually handicapped by a lack of height for rebounding. This will probably tempt Robinson to give 6-10 center Pat Noakes considerable action. Noakes sat out the SMU game at Lubbock with an injury.

THE MUSTANGS are averaging 66.8 points a game for the season compared to 63.5 for opponents and 67.6 in conference games as to 64 points for opponents.

In comparison, the Raiders are averaging 73.1 points a game to 65.2 points for opponents for the season and 71 points against 64.7 points for conference play.

SENIOR HERRSCHER will be the biggest problem for the Raiders. He goes into the game carrying a 17.2 point per game mark for the season and an 18.2 conference mark. Not far behind are James and Williams. The former has a 13.7 season record and 12.5 points per game for conference play; the latter, 11.3 and 15.5 respectively.

Duncan has 7.6 and 6 point averages and Marsh has 9.5 and 9.2 marks. Pony reserves that are highly counted on are guard Kim Nash (4.2 and 3.1) and forward Al Brown (2.7 and 2.8).

PODD HILL is the leading Raider scorer. He has 16.6 points per game average for the season and a 15.1 mark for the conference. This tops Myers (15.1 and 13.9) and Lynch (12.3 and 14.8).

Behind these are Wolfe (9 and 7.7), Noakes (6.2 and 8.2); Key (6.5 and 6.8) and Arrington (5.8 and 6).

Hill leads in field goals with 131 for the season and 65 in conference play. While Myers leads in free throws with 85 for the season and 38 in conference play. Hill is also the top rebounder with 161.

About 1,300 Raider fans have invaded Dallas for this game. Jimmie Wilson, Tech business manager of athletics, said Wednesday that Tech had sold out of its supply of tickets.
