

Republicans In New Split Over Minimum Wages

No Vote On Bill Is Anticipated Before Wednesday

WASHINGTON, August 9. (AP)—An unexpected split among Republicans over the 75-cent minimum wage added uncertainty today to the House debate on amending the wage-hour law.

Leaders on both the Democratic and Republican sides of the aisle agreed the race between a 65-cent or a 75-cent minimum is very close. "Voters probably will not get started before tomorrow."

Democrats on the House Labor Committee told reporters they believed they could hold the line on the 75-cent figure in the administration's compromise bill. They conceded, however, that they might have to drop to 65 cents in order to put the bill over.

"The House won't go lower than 65, though," said one. The Republican split, disclosed privately by a prominent GOP member of the Labor Committee, weakened support behind a substitute wage-hour bill sponsored by Rep. Lucas (D-Tex.).

The Southerners will stick together pretty well on Lucas' bill," the Republicans said, "but I am not so sure of our boys. Some on our side promised a 75-cent minimum in their campaigns last fall."

Another factor splitting the Republicans, he said, is the argument that low wages in the South are attracting some industries, particularly textile mills, from northern states.

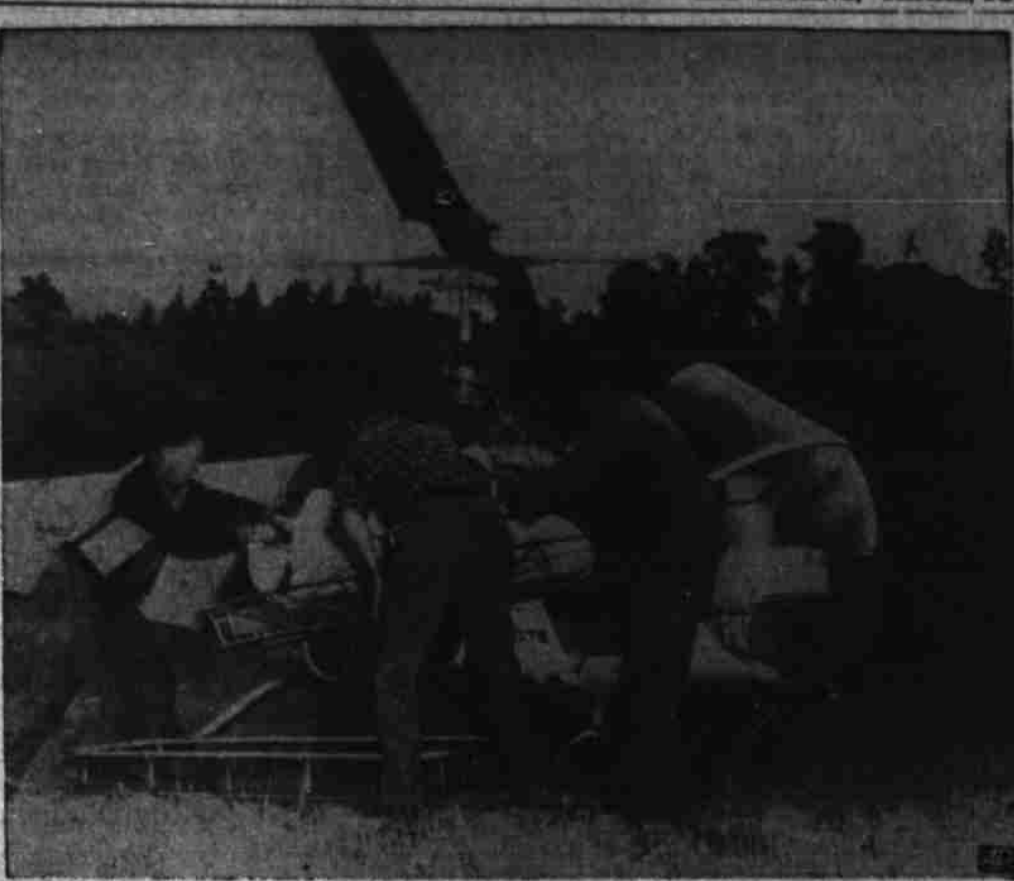

The House, as it developed yesterday in opening debate, is between these two bills: 1. The administration compromise, bearing the name of Labor Chairman Leisner (D-Mich.). It would raise the minimum from 40 cents an hour to 75, and broaden coverage of the 1938 wage-hour act slightly.

2. Lucas' bill, which would boost the minimum to 65, then hook it up with the cost of living and provide for an annual adjustment—up or down—according to living costs. This bill would exclude from the act some workers now covered by the law.

The newspaper is begging forgiveness of its readers today and says it "regrets frivolous toying with the truth."

The chief of police said he has learned that on July 29, two days before the slaying, Ochoa took out Mexican tourist passports for himself, his wife and four children.

"But when he went to Mexico on July 31, following the slaying, he failed to present the passport at the border," said Gallagher, "so

BOARD DECIDES JONES MUST DIE

AUSTIN, Aug. 9. (AP)—The State Board of Pardons and Paroles ruled today there will be no further recommendation for clemency for W. Fred Jones scheduled to die in the electric chair after midnight.

The board ruled in effect that former District Judge Kenneth Bain of Floydada had not presented any new matter in the nature of evidence in the case that might go before a jury.

Bain had told the pardon board that he came before it to urge two points: One, that the condemned man was not an outlaw and that this feature had been "overplayed" to the board; two, that while the people in Floyd County considered Jones guilty they also felt he was "crazy drunk" and that the death sentence should be reduced to life imprisonment.

A last-minute stay of execution that reached the state prison as Jones stood on the threshold of the execution chamber early Sunday had been granted by the Pardon Board and Gov. Allan Shivers.

This was granted, Board Member Walter C. Strong said, on the board's belief that some new facts had been developed that might justify further delay in carrying out the sentence.

"The decision will stand," Strong announced. "That means the man convicted of slaying H. C. Love, Jr., an employe of his grocery store, must once more take the walk from the death cell at Huntsville, to the chair."

Police Put Down Czech Uprising PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 9. (AP)—Police have put down a "revolt" in a Slovakian town where Catholics defending their priest from threatened arrest had set up their own local government.

Aroused villagers led by a band of fighting peasant women had beaten up the chairman of the Communist-controlled local executive board, Svet Prace, weekly magazine of the Czechoslovak Communist Party said.

Two persons were reported wounded and "several" arrested in the incident at Streevo, in northwestern Slovakia.

The magazine gave no precise date for the clash but said the offending village had its electric power cut off for several weeks, apparently as punishment.

Chief of Police David O. Gallagher said today he is attempting to have George Ochoa, wanted for questioning in two murders here, deported from Mexico as an undesirable.

Gallagher also said "Ochoa is attempting to take out Mexican citizenship on the basis that his mother was a Mexican citizen."

Ochoa, handsome, suave, Laredo business man, is charged with murdering Henry D. Whittenburg, local gin operator, at a downtown hotel July 31. He also is wanted for questioning in the slaying of Corp. James Lindsay, 30, who was shot to death the same day on a different floor of the hotel.

County Finances Change Little In Past Month

Howard county's financial status experienced little change during the month of July, according to the regular statement submitted to commissioners by County Auditor Chester O'Brien.

Receipts during the month amounted to $9,102.81, while expenditures totaled $24,023.92, leaving a balance of $114,225.52. Most of the decrease occurred in the road and bridge fund, which declined from $38,821.94 to $47,778.01.

Smaller decreases were noted in several other funds, a condition that is not unusual at this season of the year.

The permanent improvement fund was decreased from $7,065.43 to $3,945.11, but a transfer of $1,241.11 to the library fund was included. The library fund gained from $5,180.93 to $6,217.08.

The general fund listed a decrease from $26,909.43 to $22,844.12 and the officers salary fund from $5,584.15 to $4,214.84. Other funds remained virtually unchanged during the month.

Large Pipeline Project Dropped WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—A $119 million project for a natural gas pipeline from Texas to Illinois has been dropped from the Federal Power Commission's books.

The 1,184-mile project died yesterday. Gulfcoast Northern Gas Co., Tulsa, Okla., applied last Aug. 27 for authority to build the line.

The commission said Gulfcoast reported in May it did not intend to continue with the project as filed, but was negotiating for the sale of gas to other companies.

Local Fire Chief Gets Pat On Back Special commendation of Fire Chief H. V. Crocker has been sent the city manager by H. R. Bryerton, director of the Fireman's Training School held on the campus of A&M College recently.

H. W. Whitney received a letter from the director of the annual school yesterday lauding Chief Crocker who instructed Texas firemen attending the school.

"The success of the Texas Training School is due to the unselfish cooperation of the various cities who furnish instructors. Chief Crocker did a swell job," the letter read in part.

The Big Spring fire chief taught a course in "Hose Evolution" at the school.

Quick Accord On Recovery Bill Forecast

Conferees Meeting To Straighten Out Remaining Kinks

WASHINGTON, August 9. (AP)—The multi-billion dollar foreign recovery bill sped toward final congressional action today after a stormy passage through the Senate.

Lawmakers expected a Senate-House committee to reach quick agreement on the somewhat different versions the two branches have passed. The Senate approved its bill late yesterday by a top-heavy 63 to 7 vote.

Senators ended almost two weeks of wrangling to shake the measure free from the confusion which had blocked action on more than $20 billion in money bills in addition to other legislation marked "must" by the administration.

When the final showdown came, only six Republicans and one Democrat voted against the $5,797,724,000 measure.

The lone Democrat was Johnston of South Carolina. The Republican opponents were Capehart and Jenner of Indiana, Kern of Missouri, Nevada of North Dakota, Malone of Nevada, and Williams of Delaware.

Despite all the sound and fury of debate, the Senate bill does not differ greatly from the House-approved measure. The Senate reduced the money totals 10 per cent and added some amendments—none of which is expected to cause much trouble.

City Centennial Is Discussed By 'Mr. Paymaster'

Big Spring's Centennial celebration got a radio plug throughout West Texas today.

Discussion of the October show was a feature of the 15-minute farm and ranch program put on by "Mr. Paymaster." Mr. Paymaster is Bill Tipton, editor of the ACCO Press and a roving radio interviewer whose programs are concerned largely with agricultural and livestock news.

The Paymaster program is heard five days a week over 11 stations in a network reaching from Abilene to El Paso and from Amarillo to San Angelo and Brownwood.

For today's program, Tipton interviewed Shale Phillips, president of the Centennial association, about plans for the forthcoming festival. The program also included market and weather reports and various other farm and ranch items.

Big Cotton Crop In Texas Seen

AUSTIN, Aug. 9. (AP)—The largest Texas cotton harvest since 1927 was in prospect today.

The crop reporting board of the Bureau of Agriculture Economics estimated Texas production this year to bring 4,650,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight each, based on conditions as of Aug. 1.

Vandenberg Asks Arms Aid Slash

WASHINGTON, Aug. 8. (AP)—Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich) today proposed 50 per cent cash reduction in the first year's cost of the Western European arms program.

The Michigan senator suggested to Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson that about $500 million be furnished in cash by Congress—with the balance in contract authorizations to be met by later appropriations which would not be charged against the current budget.

Vandenberg said he believes the budget President Truman sent Congress for the 1950 fiscal year carries funds for European military aid which would cover almost all the money cost of the first year.

But Johnson, appearing before a joint meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committee, argued that the full amount—$1,450,000,000—is needed to safeguard the security of the United States.

Said Johnson: "Should Western Europe be overrun by a hostile power and should its vast industrial and manpower potentials be added to those of such an aggressor, the United States would stand isolated in a dangerously insecure period."

"United States security, therefore, demands that Europe be safeguarded."

"A military vacuum in Western Europe," Johnson said, "is a great temptation to the Soviet Union and international communism."

He told the senators that it would take months and years for this country to mobilize, equip, train and transport troops across the Atlantic.

In the meantime, he said, the forces of western Europe must be able to resist any enemy.

Johnson, in defending the $1,450,000,000 figure, said it wasn't simply a number pulled out of the air. "It is the dollar total of the cost of specific items of equipment needed for a definite number of Army, Navy and Air Force units,"

Office calls for Centennial stock certificates have boosted sales past the 4,150 mark, H. J. Morrison, executive secretary of the Centennial association, announced this morning.

No reports have been made by the 22 workers canvassing the airport sections of the city, Morrison said. Mrs. Frank Medley, chairman of the drive, is expected to make returns to the Centennial office late today or tomorrow.

"Sales to tourists in the past few days indicates that the stock certificates have considerable attraction as souvenirs," the executive secretary said. "Residents of a number of states have purchased the stock."

Jane Stripling, Betty McGinnis, Mitty McCormick, Peggy Toops, Mrs. Olive Bristol, Mrs. Curtis Driver, Mrs. Steve Barber, Mrs. Clyde Thomas, Mrs. Marie Haynes, Mrs. Omar Jones, Mrs. H. L. Williamson, Mrs. Matt Laughton, and Mrs. O. C. Lewis are among those who have helped in the hour-to-hour coverage of the city in the distribution of Centennial stock and information.

Also working in the distribution have been Mrs. Joe Pickle, Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mrs. Olive McGinnis, Mrs. E. E. Freeman, Mrs. Lucian Jones, Mrs. Bledsoe O'Brien, Mrs. A. A. Marchant, Mrs. J. D. Elliott, Mrs. B. Phillips, Mrs. Truett Thomas, Mrs. Alvin Vlasquez, Mrs. R. D. Sallee, Mrs. Earl Hill, and Mrs. Steve Corcoran.

Mrs. L. S. Bedwell, Mrs. Brown Rodgers, Mrs. Marie Harton, Mrs. J. W. Arnold, Mrs. E. E. Gregory, Mrs. O. C. Smith, and Mrs. H. H. Wright are other canvassers.

Old Age Benefits To Be Increased By 70 Per Cent

Expansion Action By Committee Is Complete Surprise

WASHINGTON, August 9. (AP)—The House Ways and Means committee agreed today to increase the social security payroll tax from $1,400,000,000 a year to $2,700,000,000 next year and to about $3,600,000,000 in 1952.

The committee also called for further increases in the taxes in 1953, 1954 and 1955, with the rate reaching 34 per cent as compared with the present one per cent against employer and employee.

The committee at the same time voted to increase by about 75 per cent the old age and survivors benefits of persons already drawing such benefits. This is calculated as a "cost of living" increase.

These moves, all subject to House and Senate approval, followed yesterday's committee approval of other sections of the social security expansion legislation that would add 11,000,000 workers to the $2,000,000 already covered by old age insurance.

The committee's action came in the face of virtual abandonment by Democratic leaders of any hope for final congressional action this year on social security expansion.

The committee, in its most important social security action in a decade, decided also to limit old age insurance benefits by 20 to 150 per cent in some categories, and to increase the payroll taxes to finance the expanded program.

Under the legislation, continuing presently scheduled increases, the payroll taxes will jump from $1,800,000,000 to about $2,700,000,000 in 1950.

But one top Democrat told reporters there is little, if any, hope that the legislation will be passed by the Senate before 1950, although a drive will be launched to pass it through the House this year.

Regardless of whether Congress acts, the tax will increase from the present one per cent to 1.4 per cent against employers' pay and employees' payrolls on Jan. 1.

The new legislation would bring in only a little over one-half of the $3 billion new workers President Truman asked Congress to insure.

Owners & Renters To Hear Dallas Man Here Tonight

Jack Pinkston, Dallas, manager director of the Texas Apartment and Property Owners Association, will speak at a meeting in the district court room of the county courthouse tonight.

The session, which is sponsored by the Owners and Renters Association of Big Spring, is set for 7:30 p.m.

T. C. Thomas, president of the local organization, said Pinkston would discuss several problems facing property owners in Texas.

PICTURE OF BIG INSECT SWAMPS PAPER'S PHONES

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 9. (AP)—A trick picture of a mammoth grasshopper which the Peoria Star printed yesterday wasn't nearly as comical as staff members thought it would be.

The newspaper is begging forgiveness of its readers today and says it "regrets frivolous toying with the truth."

The trick picture was made by Velde Johnson, Jr., an amateur photographer. It made the grasshopper appear to be as large as a haystack on which it was riding.

The humorous caption for the picture said the "hopper" later was seen heading southward "in 100 yard leaps."

Shortly after the paper appeared on the streets, the Star's telephones were swamped with calls. Peorians wanted to know more details of the giant "hopper. One reader indignantly said it should have been shot."

A mother called the picture "terrific" and told the newspaper it had shocked her children.

MEDIUMS TO JOIN MANHUNT

BALTIMORE, Aug. 9. (AP)—Some- one bailed a 66-year-old spiritualist hand and foot, then strangled her last night with an electric cord.

Her fellow mediums immediately offered their services to police. They said they would attempt to get through to the spirit world and learn from the victim, Mrs. Emma A. Kefalos, the identity of her slayer.

Spiritualist Is Strangled

Neighbors said most of those who came to her for spiritual readings drove up in large expensive cars.

As she was a friendly sort of a person, other residents of the block missed her when she did not appear most of yesterday.

Kelauer Urges Seven-Nation Federal Union

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—Sen. Kelauer (D-Texas), who wants seven Democratic nations to join in a federal union something like our own union of 48 states, said Tuesday that "Congress is far behind the people on this subject."

On behalf of a group of 50 senators, Kelauer has introduced a resolution asking the President to invite Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands, and Luxembourg to a "federal convention" to explore how far they can apply to themselves "the principles of free federal union" within the framework of the United Nations.

The sponsors see this convention as comparable to the constitutional convention held by the 13 original American states in 1787.

Kelauer, in an interview, said that during the two weeks since the resolution was introduced, "interest has been increasing tremendously all over the country."

When asked whether he thinks the seven Atlantic nations can go as far in forming a federal union as the 13 American states did, Kelauer replied:

"The route that far, to begin with, but I think they might set up a common foreign policy, common defense, common currency, postal system, and trade relations."

He said he and other senators are convinced the majority of the people are ready — if not for federal union — at least for "something else" beyond the Atlantic Pact, the Marshall Plan, and the piecemeal "pouring out of money" to European countries.

The Kelauer resolution has been introduced also in the House by Rep. Wadsworth (S-N.Y.), and others. It has outside backing from the Atlantic Union Committee, whose officers include former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts, former Secretary of War Robert F. Patterson, and former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton.

It is one of several pending resolutions designed to bring nations close together to get a firmer grip on world peace, either by strengthening the United Nations or by other methods.

One of these resolutions may be adopted by Congress next year. It may turn out to have as much influence as did the Fulbright "leasing power" resolution of 1943, the Connally resolution of 1943, and the Vandenberg resolution of 1948.

Sen. Elbert Thomas (D-Utah) has just been appointed chairman of a foreign relations subcommittee to study all the new proposals.

He told a reporter the subcommittee will spend the rest of 1948 getting ready, and will open hearings in January.

Cotton Crop Is Above Average

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9. (AP)—The Agriculture Department Tuesday forecast this year's cotton crop at 14,800,000 bales of 500 pound gross weight each as of Aug. 1.

This estimate compares with 14,600,000 bales produced last year, and with a 10-year (1938-47) average of 11,300,000 bales.

Being larger than prospective market requirements, the crop foreshadowed a return to prewar production controls for the 1950 crop. Supplementing this year's crop is a carryover surplus of about 5,600,000 bales from previous years' crops, a large part of which is held by the department under price support programs.

The yield of lint cotton per acre was indicated at 774.4 pounds, compared with 733.1 pounds last year, and 254 for the 10-year average.

The condition of the crop on Aug. 1 was reported at 80 per cent of normal compared with 85 a year ago and 75 for the 10-year average.

In an accompanying report, the Census Bureau said 297,343 running bales of this year's crop had been ginned prior to Aug. 1. This compared with 258,573 ginned to the same date last year and 189,638 year before last.

The Aug. 1 condition of the crop, the indicated yield per acre and production, respectively, by cotton-producing states included: Arkansas 81; 328 and 1,650,000; Louisiana 70; 285 and 625,000; Oklahoma 74; 376 and 410,000; Texas 99; 210 and 4,650,000.

CZECH COMMUNISTS NOW RUSHING IN WHERE ANGELS FEAR TO TREAD

PRAGUE, Aug. 9. (AP)—The Communists are trying to harness the energy which poets say makes the world go round.

If Czech girls, or vice versa, the place to do it is in the "volunteer" work brigade which hustles folk out into the harvest fields or other work projects for the "new democratic society."

That was the dictum laid down for romantic Czechoslovakian young and not so young by the Prague Communist press Monday.

The Communist Party organ, Rude Pravo, announced a ban on lonely hearts advertisements offering the hands of eligible bachelors or maidens in marriage.

Rude Pravo said the newspapers had decided not to accept that type of advertising because the Ruspicians had showed them it was an undignified practice which made marriage "a capitalistic business transaction."

Marriage bureaus also will be taxed, Rude Pravo warned.

The Communist-dominated Czechoslovak youth front said the best substitute for such capitalistic enterprises was the work brigade, where hearts could beat in true Marxist-Leninist time and the lovers could at the same time contribute to the reconstruction of the people's democratic republic.

HONESTY PAYS OFF IN TIPS

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif., Aug. 9. (AP)—Waitress Lorraine Head Tuesday was the favorite waitress of the biggest tipper in town — because she was honest.

A week ago, a male patron ordered two drinks. He gave her a five and a one-dollar bill in payment. That, she told him, was way too much money and returned the surplus.

Saturday night, he came in again, sought her table and ordered another drink. He tipped her $30.

Then he ordered another drink. Another $30 tip.

Then dinner. The tip was $100.

OPINIONS IN CHINA DIVIDED ON PROSPECT OF FURTHER U. S. AID

CANTON, China, Aug. 9. (AP)—Chinese opinion was divided Saturday night on whether there ever again would be American aid for Nationalist China.

A government spokesman said official reaction to the United States white paper on China — which was issued Friday in Washington — could not be expected for several days. Premier Yen Hsi-shan and other top Nationalists refused comment. Some others expressed opinions, but mostly on an anonymous basis.

Best opinion was that there would be no formal protest in Washington.

"The white paper means we will get no more aid," said one member of the legislative Yuan. "The effect of the front will be very bad; our officers and men will be gravely discouraged."

He added that the white paper's disclosure of acting President Li Tsung-jen's secret May 5 message to President Truman might impair unity by being construed as an attack on Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Another source took the position that the white paper was merely a "whitewash" of past American action or inaction in China and would have no particular bearing on the possibility of future aid.

(The official Communist radio said nothing of the white paper.)

Official Nationalist dispatches from Canton said more than 150,000 Red troops were massing in an unspecified area south of newly fallen Changsha. A big battle was forecast in that region soon. The Reds took Changsha Thursday night when the Nationalist commander changed sides.

18 German Children Killed In Collision

HAMBURG, Germany, Aug. 9. (AP)—Eighteen German children were killed last night when an express train struck their holiday bus, five minutes before they were due to arrive home.

Police said 14 other children were taken to the hospital, some badly hurt. The accident occurred on the level crossing at Leverkusen in the British zone.

There were 30 children in the bus and passenger trailer. They had been on a holiday trip to the Weser Mountains.

Glass Gun Shows Action In Engine

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Long, fat, blunt-nosed arrows of air are the driving power in a new kind of engine at Cornell University.

Their scientific name is shock waves. They are the same thing that knocks you down when the blast of an explosion travels down a long corridor, in which you are standing. You aren't pushed by this air wave, and may not be hurt. But you are stopped by something that hits you all over like a swinging door.

You can see this arrow of air in a hollow-gun-shaped tube, with a glass nose, used to study the shock action in Cornell's graduate school of aeronautical engineering. In charge is Associate Professor Arthur Kastrowitz, with assistance of A. Hertzberg, E. L. Resler and E. E. McDonald.

The gun is more than 10 feet long. It is used to see what happens in the real engine, which isn't much larger than a rounded overnight bag. In the big gun light is focused on the glass nose in such a way that the air becomes visible.

In loading, a sheet of cellophane is fastened midway down the barrel, dividing it into fore and aft compartments. The breech end is filled with mildly compressed air. A pin prick device sticks a tiny hole in the cellophane. Instantly the sheet bursts. The air that was behind it travels in the form of a shock wave through the forward part of the barrel. The farther the wave goes, the faster it travels.

The amazing thing about the wave is its front. That part is flat as a piece of glass. Behind it, the rest of the air follows like the shaft of an arrow.

This shaft air is boiling with power, yet it neither dents nor bellies the flat front. The shock front compresses the air in a layer incredibly thin. The thickness is 200 times less than the thickness of cellophane.

The flat front is preserved even when the air is squeezed down to a smaller front by narrowing the forward end of the gun tube. These shock waves can be made to travel at speeds of thousands of feet a second.

The present engine uses small shock waves, fired at 5,000 a second. A new engine is under design to fire 10,000 a second.

The waves are shot on the principle of a galling gun. This is a series of parallel tubes, each a little less than a foot long, set to revolve on a rotor. One tube after another, in quick succession, passes in front of a nozzle delivering a shot of compressed air. The air passes through the tube in the form of a shock wave, and then exits to hit the blades of a turbine.

The number of shock waves per second depends on the number of tubes and speed of rotation. On this principle, a powerful engine can be compact and light-weight.

The compressed air comes from a compressor in the breech of the galling gun. The hoped-for efficiency comes from the heat that is generated by the shock wave. Part of the heated air drives the turbine, with enough left over to be returned to the compressor to keep it running without adding a great deal of fresh fuel.

The Swiss Brown Boveri Company is experimenting with a similar engine called a complex.

Lone Star Steel Co. Stops Production

DALLAS, Aug. 8.—The Lone Star Steel Co. at Dainerfield banked its blast furnace yesterday and shut down production in order to save money.

A spokesman for the firm said cost studies showed that capacity production and stock piling was more economical than continuous production at a reduced rate.

E. B. Germany, president, said the furnace probably will be closed about 60 days.

THIS ADVICE BACKFIRE

DAVENTRY, Eng., Aug. 9.—Peter Conerty, 34, took the policeman's advice and flew a kite. It fell across 11,000 volt power lines and caused:

A breakdown of all BBC's overseas broadcasts from Daventry transmitter.

Blacked out all movie houses in the district.

Blocked electricity supplies to 40 villages.

Police Constables Jack Fen-ton and Norman Woods, who started the kite-flying craze to keep the kids from playing in the streets, now are compiling a list of "don'ts" for kite fliers. Main advice is don't fly them near power lines.

Dalai Lama Bans New Try To Scale Everest

LONDON, Aug. 8.—Plans for a new attempt to climb the world's highest mountain have been shelved because Tibet's Dalai Lama (aged 13) says he stars are against it.

Officials of London's Alpine Club reported today that the Dalai Lama, civil and spiritual ruler of mysterious, mountainous Tibet, has

U. S. Government Takes Some More From Tax Enemy

MYSTIC, Conn., Aug. 9.—The federal government has dipped once again into the bank account of Miss Vivian Kellems, implacable foe of the withholding provision of the income tax law.

The dip—to the tune of $6,132—was announced yesterday by Miss Kellems herself.

It was made, she said, under the direction of John Fitzpatrick, internal revenue collector for the Connecticut district, because she had not withheld the income taxes of employees of the Kellems Cable Grip Co. here.

She called the seizure a "penalty" and not a collection of unpaid taxes because, she said, "every penny in withholding taxes has been paid and the government admits it."

Her employees pay the tax themselves. She has withheld no taxes for more than a year, and says she won't unless the government pays her a salary as tax collector.

Furthermore, she said yesterday, she will institute action to recover the $6,132.

Her method of recovering some $1,600 which the government seized in the same manner over a year ago was to deduct that amount from her personal income tax return last March.

Miss Kellems, who contends the withholding tax law is unconstitutional, on several occasions has invited Treasury Secretary Snyder to indict her so the law might be tested. The invitation has not been accepted.

There's A Toll Greater Than That Taken By The Atom Bomb

In the four years since two atomic bombs killed 112,000 people in Japan, 50,000 Americans have died by accident in the United States.

W. H. Darrin, president of the National Safety Council, says that in making this comparison he is not trying to gloss over the massive possibilities of atomic warfare but the other disaster—the disaster of accidents—is not a possibility; it is a grim and bloody fact. A 2 x 2 (and) the thousands who died in accidents are no less dead because they died slowly.

Protecting the American accident record to world proportions, Darrin estimates that 8,000,000 persons have died by accident in the atomic age.

The 400,000 Americans, he said, have been killed "not by the new products of genius, but by the old stupidities. Accidents—the banal, needless, profitless, pre-war type of accident—have killed almost four times as many people in post-war America as the atom bomb killed at Hiroshima and Nagasaki."

When we speak of accidental deaths in this country we naturally think of traffic fatalities, almost all of which are spectacular, and many of which involve multiple killings. Also, we think first of traffic deaths because they constitute almost one-third of the annual total in this country.

But the "banal, needless, profitless" type of accident mentioned by the president of NSC has many forms. The home is a deadly place, not because it possesses so many accident-traps, but because people spend more time in the home than anywhere else, and are as careless in home surroundings as on the highways or in the industrial plants.

A nation that lays 100,000 human lives on the altar of accidental deaths every year needs its head examined. It is a fearful price to pay, in human resources, for carelessness, recklessness and neglect. We seem to have the ability to prevent killing diseases in many instances, but we have less skill in preventing accidents.

Problems Ahead, Not In Past, Must Be Concern For China

As expected, the State Department's White Paper on our role in China met with bitter comment in Congress, with some Democrats joining nearly all Republicans in heaping criticism upon the "mishandling" of that situation. China, cried Rep. John Davis Lodge (R-Conn.) "would probably be better off today had she been our enemy."

Also as could be expected, none of the critics has come forward with a course of action calculated to better the existing situation in the slightest degree, though every one insists something could be done. Some want more money sent to China, but just what could be done with it they can't say. Would they turn it over to Chiang Kai-shek? Would that money and the things it paid for fall eventually into the Communist hands, as did much of the more than a billion dollars turned over to the Nationalists after the end of the war? How much would go to grafters in Chiang's entourage?

One of the most frequent criticisms is that the U. S. tried to compel Chiang to include Communists in his government, without success. The fact is that Patrick Hurley, one of the most bitter critics of our course in China, went all the way to Moscow and Joe Stalin in an effort to smooth out relations between the Nationalists and the Chinese Communists. He accused career diplomats of sabotaging his efforts.

Where do we go from here? The State Department doesn't know; it merely expresses hope that the anti-Communist forces in China may eventually prevail, and offers any aid to them that opportunity affords.

The critics don't know, either; they merely demand action, without specifying what kind of action. Their "policy" is even vaguer than that of the State Department, since no two of them agree on major premises, much less details.

It's a mess, all right. The communication of all China poses a real threat to our future in Asia and the Pacific. Maybe our course has been one unending fumble. But the thing now is what to do in future, not to indulge in mutual recriminations over what was done in the past.

World Balance Of Power Upset As Red Star Rises Over China

By JAMES D. WHITE
(For DeWitt MacKenzie)

THE RISING OF THE RED STAR over China inevitably upsets the balance of power in a divided world.

The weight of 475 million people—a fifth of humanity—shifting from one side of the world-wide scheme to the other is one reason for the White Paper on China published last week by the State Department. One of the most important things the White Paper did was to admit the futility of trying further to prevent the shift with the method used in the past.

That method was to support the legal government of China, as personified by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. It didn't work.

If any new method is to work, it will have to answer many grave questions growing out of the great shift in world power that Red China means.

Chinese veto, however, might be used to give the Soviet veto a rest now and then. The danger would not come from the veto. From the standpoint of western powers it would lie in the added prestige China will give to the pro-Soviet bloc of nations, particularly in the eyes of smaller powers having a racial and colonial background akin to China's.

FROM THE STANDPOINT OF THE UNITED Nations itself, the danger lies in the possible appearance of two sets of Chinese delegates at Lake Success.

If, for instance, Red China forms a new National government and claims China's place at Lake Success, and if the old delegates from Nanking still are recognized, the ensuing quarrel could split the UN wide open.

The answer to Mr. Ferguson's second question—what about China's loss in the race among western nations—lies in the future course of power politics. The day may never come when Red China can wangle a loan from Wall Street. But it's probably already safe to say that Red success in China means more western influence lost there than China will lose in the west.

As to China's trade treaties (Mr. Ferguson's third question) all have been condemned by implication by the Chinese Reds as "imperialistic" since they are associated with the old government. Specifically, they denounce the Sino-American Trade Treaty of 1946.

America's Population Growing Steadily As Death Rate Drops

WASHINGTON, (U)—TWO YEARS AGO the Twentieth Century Fund published a 612-page book, "America's Needs and Resources," a valuable study of this country's growth.

The essential facts in that larger book now have been boiled down into 161 pages easy-to-read text and picture charts.

It goes back a hundred years to show the growth of America and projects the American picture to 1950 to indicate where we're going.

IN THEIR FOREWORD THE AUTHORS—Thomas R. Carskadon and Rudolf Modley—say:

"When we... take a long look behind, the minor ups and downs flatten out in a rising curve of economic activity, of increasing productive power, unique in the annals of this world.

"It is deeply impressive. And when we project this curve into the future, assuming that we can continue to act as we have in the past, we begin to realize America's vast economic and social potential."

The first drawings on page one begin to tell the story. In 1850 there were about 7 1/2 million workers here. Now close to 60 million.

And from 12 hours a day for 6 days a week the average work-week shrank to 43 hours in 1940, with the work-week expected to be shorter in the future.

Say the authors: "The measure of our whole past achievement, as well as our future prospects lie in one vital factor—productivity, or output per man-hour of work—an average hour's work in 1850 produced only one-fifth in goods and services of what it produces today."

Three of these questions have been raised by J. D. Ferguson, editor of the Milwaukee Journal. He asks what the impact of Red China, as shown by the White Paper, will be on:

1. China's use of the veto in the security council of the United Nations.
2. China's loss of influence among western nations.
3. China's commercial treaties with western nations.

In Red hands, the Chinese veto presumably would be used in Russia's favor, but Russia doesn't need this because her own veto is as absolute as anyone else's. The

U. S. Negro Players Expected To Give Vikings Truer Picture Of Yankee Life

WASHINGTON — A theatrical company of American Negroes will tour the Scandinavian countries next month to offset Paul Robeson's Communist-sponsored hamstering.

The Negro players will present Henrik Ibsen's "The Wild Duck" in Denmark, Sweden and Norway, and thus demonstrate that all American Negroes aren't downtrodden, but can attain the same educational and cultural heights as other Americans.

This good-will tour was arranged by the Norwegian Embassy and Howard University of Washington, D. C., without any prompting from the State Department. Twenty-one students and three instructors from Howard University's drama department will make the trip, most of the expenses being paid by Eileen Davis, American philanthropist, who also took an American group to Denmark to play "Hamlet."

The idea of sending Negro players to Scandinavia was suggested by Ivan Jacobson, staff member of the Norwegian Embassy, after he happened to see the Howard University drama department in action. He felt that Paul Robeson had not painted a true picture of the American Negro, and so on his own initiative promoted the tour as a gesture of people-to-people friendship.

Prediction: This will do almost as much good as some phases of the North Atlantic Pact.

Seen and heard in the Senate restaurant: Senator Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, newly appointed attorney general, finished lunch and called for his check. The waiter brought it. This was the first day the new District of Columbia sales tax went into effect.

"The tax should be three cents, not two," the Senator advised the waiter. "You've undercharged me."

Since Sen. McGrath wrote the sales-tax law for the District of Columbia, the waiter didn't argue. The man who, as attorney general, will be responsible for enforcing the law, handed him the extra penny.

Whispered on the Senate floor: The Senate buzzed with news of the appointment of Attorney General Clark to the Supreme Court and of Sen. McGrath to be attorney general—especially Senator James Kern of Missouri, Clark's bitter critic, and Homer Ferguson of Michigan who has been under investigation.

Leaning forward, Sen. Bob Taft whispered in Kern's ear: "We're going to make you and Homer the reception committee for the new Supreme Court justice."

AMAZING MARAGON Sam Boykin, head of the State Department's gumshoe department and cousin of Alabama's congressman "Everything's For Love" Boykin, is very secretive about it, but he is busying up another strange chapter in the strange life of John Maragon.

Though the State Department won't talk Maragon was mixed up in a deal to buy all the surplus U. S. Army vehicles in Germany—about 7,000 trucks, trailers, and jeeps. The price was $1,500,000 and the sale was consummated Jan. 31, 1945, to a Belgian scrap dealer.

Maragon was representing a Britisher, George Dawson, who has a criminal record, and for whom he had also done some work in Washington with the War Assets Administration. Maragon's close contact in War Assets has been Joe Major, a member of Truman's Battery D, and an intimate of Gen. Vaughan's. Major recently flew with the President to Little Rock for their battery's reunion. He also states that he has received about 500 phone calls from Vaughan, visits at his home about once a week, and got to know Maragon through Vaughan.

Arriving in Paris in the winter of 1943, the amazing Maragon presented letters of introduction to Gen. Clyde Hysoung, in charge of war surplus for the State Department, and then proceeded to charge the general with giving unwarranted information to Jack Van Allen, a rival of Maragon's who also represented Dawson.

In the end, the State Department had to send a special investigator across the Atlantic to straighten out the row.

In the end, also, Dawson and Maragon did not get the 7,200 surplus vehicles, though they did get about 700 Army motorcycles after a heated row over the price.

BACKSTAGE WITH GOP The backstage story of what happened inside the Republican National Committee shows how bitterly the Taft-Dewey forces are still divided.

The man chiefly responsible for Guy Gabrielson's hatbreath election as chairman was Taft's close friend, hefty Republican Clarence Brown of Ohio.

It was Brown, working closely with Sen. Hugh Butler of Nebraska, who induced Abel Shofneff of Nebraska to switch to Gabrielson, thus clinching a majority of the committee's 102 votes for the New Jerseyite.

In doing so, Brown definitely ruled himself out as a compromise candidate for the chairmanship.

At one point Taft forces were flabbergasted at a Dewey offer, made by Mason Owlett of Pennsylvania, to support Taft's close friend, Brown, provided Gabrielson agreed to step out.

It was tempting bait, but Brown didn't bite.

"I am not a candidate," he told Owlett. "I have come out for Gabe and I won't let him down."

MISSISSIPPI VETOES At one point when Indiana's Charlie Halleck was proposed as a compromise by Deweyites, Perry Howard, Negro national committee man from Mississippi, threatened to resign.

"I can't face my colored friends and tell them I have been a party to any such compromise," Howard announced at the secret session. "I am opposed to Charlie Halleck and will step out if he is chosen as our leader."

Halleck's friends scoffed at rumors he is anti-Negro and insisted that Perry Howard was playing politics for his friend, Bob Taft.

However, another committee man referred to "Drew Pearson's" report that the Indiana congressman rode around in Cadillac limousines on a congressional salary.

"If Charlie Halleck were elected he'd have five Cadillac limousines around national headquarters," commented one Taft rooter.

However, when Halleck was approached by Deweyites he flatly refused to be a candidate unless Gabrielson dropped out of the race and he was to be elected unanimously.

propaganda that a defeat for him at that juncture would mean the end of the Republican party, as now constituted.

A frank warning along these lines was given the national committee by its Ohio member, Rep. Clarence Brown, who managed the unsuccessful Taft bid for the nomination last year. Brown said the party absolutely had to have the organizing, money-raising talent that the wealthy, self-made Gabrielson could give it.

"All eyes are going to be on Ohio," said Brown, who pronounced it "Ugh!" "You know we have got old mister Republican himself running out there and we've got to have the kind of work done in the committee that will help him win that tough contest."

It was Taft's friends on the committee who stirred up the fight on former chairman Scott again and elected Gabrielson with the acquiescence of the relatively minor Stassen faction. The senator is not in fact as conservative as many of the admirers who have made chairman a man who supported him in 1944.

But basically Taft is conservative with an emotional bias toward isolation and there does not appear at this time a Republican who can challenge his commanding position. Two governors did—Messrs. Dewey and Warren—but their party shows no signs of giving them another chance. Insofar as the Stassen influence can be traced, it falls in line with Taft.

Even those Republicans who have always praised Taft's character but said he could never be elected are beginning to talk about his inevitability. Nineteen-fifty-two is shaping for him as 1944 did for Dewey—if he wins in 1950.

TIE Program In Japan Keeps U. S. Troops Well-Informed

Reports from Army authorities bring to mind some ideas that might work just as well on a civilian scale. The Army is attempting to keep the troops in Japan abreast of events in the world.

It is reported that officials are trying to provide American soldiers in Japan with informational and educational opportunities comparable with those available back home. The only catch we can see is that the opportunities seem to be available. A lot of up and coming citizens are not too familiar with what goes on in their own back yard and less familiar with world affairs.

Throughout General Douglas A. MacArthur's Far East Command, a Troop Information and Education Section is operating under Col. C. B. Wilson. Colonel Wilson's section is properly known as TIE.

Wilson says that to the young soldier, separated from school and home training at a period when proper guidance will determine his ability to cope with the problems of life and citizenship, the TIE program is of fundamental importance.

The program is also considered of unquestionable value to the army as a whole, since the soldier is his country's representative wherever he may be, and the respect in which the United States is held depends in great part upon the soldier's conduct and the standards which he maintains as an individual.

Colonel Wilson's TIE conducts four major activities.

There is weekly information hour which must be attended by both officers and enlisted personnel. At these hours, important developments in science, politics, industry, economics and other subjects, as well as national and international issues, are presented in an objective manner. Newspapers, magazines, maps and visual aids are used to make the discussions clear and vivid.

A supplementary officers' information hour, a mandatory monthly period for information and discussion, also has been established.

At these periods, officers are informed on matters of American policy and their own part in the implementation of that policy.

An important part of the program is the publishing of 115 mimeographed and printed newspapers throughout the command each day to keep the men abreast of current news events and to provide them with many other features they would ordinarily get in their home town newspapers.

Best known is the Stars and Stripes, which is published free to all personnel of the Far East Command.—MILDRED YOUNG

Conservatives Gird For Battle With New Deal Regime In '52

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—As of now a substantial prospect exists for a genuine conservative vs. new deal contest for the presidency in 1952.

Hit by his Republicans are eradicating all traces of what they call the "me too" philosophy from their party, the election of Guy Gabrielson as national chairman being the newest evidence of that trend.

Similarly, President Truman keeps his party firmly committed to the principles of the new deal. His execution is faltering and his appointments make the intellectual liberals wince but he has yet to modify the objectives stated in the Democratic platform last year.

He has, for example, recently refused pleas by two able southerners—Sen. Russell of Georgia and Rep. Brooks Hays of Arkansas—for a compromise on civil rights. He saw them separately and received them politely but it was no dice.

The fact is that, before the session ends, majority leader Lucas intends to try to get a fair employment practices bill from the education and labor committee on the calendar. This is one of the few committees heavily weighted with new dealers, so Lucas is optimistic about his chances. The south would certainly resist it, furnishing a test of the new cloture rule which a southern-Republican coalition put into effect.

There is one big "if" in the Republican picture. If Senator Taft, symbol of Republican resistance to the new deal, falls of re-election in Ohio next year, Republicans certainly would be compelled to reassess their position. Many of them believe that Taft is of such importance as propaganda that a defeat for him at that juncture would mean the end of the Republican party, as now constituted.

A frank warning along these lines was given the national committee by its Ohio member, Rep. Clarence Brown, who managed the unsuccessful Taft bid for the nomination last year. Brown said the party absolutely had to have the organizing, money-raising talent that the wealthy, self-made Gabrielson could give it.

Co-Ed Swimming Banishes All Gay Informality Of Boyhood

NEW YORK, (U)—WHEN YOU GROW from a boy into a man you are short-changed in many ways.

You trade the simple life for the complicated life. And one of the things you trade is the "ole swimming hole" for the beach. It is a poor swap. It runs the carefree barefoot boy of yore into a grunting, grumbling grownup beast of burden.

When I was a boy and summered in the country, going swimming was no problem. We just peeled off our overalls behind a bush and waded into the stream or pool, bare as a bluejay and happy as a hound dog.

WHEN THE EVENING TRAIN PASSED by on the way to Kansas City, most of the kids ducked down to their necks in the water. But there was always one who climbed up on the grass and paraded back and forth in view of the passengers.

In those faraway days such a boy wasn't called a "showoff." The Missouri phrase was: "Look at the bank strutter." And anybody, man or boy, who tried to keep in the public eye was known as "that bank strutter." It was a popular term among politicians.

Going home from the "ole swimming hole" a boy might get a thorn in his foot. But, all in all, his dunking had been as artless and easy as the first dive by Adam into the Garden of Eden's pool.

Co-educational swimming has ruined all that. After a man marries, he finds that going to the beach is a ritual and an industry. Getting properly undressed for the ocean's foamy touch takes more trouble and clothing than dressing for a fancy dress ball. It is more like going on an African safari than going for a swim.

I SPENT A WEEK END AT THE beach recently with Frances. She packed two heavy suitcases.

In the suitcases were two bathrobes, enough towels to dry a battalion of porpoises, two pairs of slippers, sunglasses, four bathing suits, socks, slacks, shirts, dresses, fountain pens, pins, combs, books, magazines, vitamin pills and an unanswered letter from a friend in Montana. There also was a battery of bottles loaded with lotions and creams sufficient to grease "Shirley Ma" France for a swim from Dover to Boston.

"I don't want you to get sunburned," explained Frances.

That afternoon as we lay on the beach Frances mused:

"Wouldn't it be nice if we had brought along the portable radio?"

HAMBURG, Germany (U)—Use of firearms by Germans except police is still banned by the military government so a Ruhr Rifle Club had a problem when the time came for their annual shooting match. The traditional bird-shaped target had been set up in a tree.

The marksmen finally knocked it down by throwing stones. "Hope military government won't think we are practicing grenade throwing and prohibit this too," commented one member.

Hopalong Is Hopping To Riches Via Television

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9. — After 30 years in Hollywood, Bill Boyd is enjoying his greatest success, thanks to Hopalong Cassidy and television.

He rose to film fame as the star of "The Volga Boatman." Hitting a slump in the 30's, he began playing a western character named Hopalong Cassidy.

The series was a success as horse operas go. But nothing compared to what happened when Cassidy hopped to television.

Boyd realized the power of the new medium when he took a recent eastern tour. He was mobbed everywhere he went.

"I've never seen anything like it," says Bill. "Television is the greatest thing that has ever happened in this country. It is bringing families back together again and it's giving people more entertainment than they've had before."

Boyd, who says he hardly ever uses his own name anymore, has been preparing for this triumph for nine years. That was when he heard that Hoppy's creator, Clarence Mulford, a canny Yankee of Eryburgh, Me., would not relinquish television rights to the character.

The actor figured there must be a reason. So for nine years he tried to wrest the film rights to Hoppy away from producer Harry Sherman. For two years he didn't work in the series.

Finally he got Sherman out of the picture and made a deal with the author to share profits. The westerns are now showing in 30 television cities. Many parents now discipline their children thusly: "If you don't eat your carrots, you can't look at Hopalong tonight."

Boyd has gotten into the merchandising field and is sponsoring everything from Hopalong cowboy outfits to comic books.

First Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service Circles held regular programs Monday.

Mary Zion Circle members met with Mrs. C. E. Talbot in her home, 409 Washington.

The meeting opened with a prayer by Mrs. C. E. Talbot. Mrs. D. C. Sadler read the devotional scripture, "Feeding of the Five Thousand," found in John 6:1-14.

Mrs. N. W. McCleskey gave the first section of chapter four, "Sustenance," taken from the study book, "Newness of Life." She discussed the theme, "Jesus—Our Spiritual Food."

Mrs. G. W. Chown presented the topic, "How Jesus Told One of His Disciples To Pray," based on a passage from Luke.

Mrs. R. L. Warren gave the second section of the chapter entitled "Prayer."

RIBBON RAMBLINGS

By Mildred Young

Among the bills and other odds and ends, we found in our morning mail a small pamphlet entitled "Alcoholism: Disease or Disgrace?" and written by a man named Elmer Ellsworth Helms.

Helms definitely doesn't care for the man who makes money from alcohol in any form. We weren't too impressed with the idea that he knows the exact approach to the question, but we found some of his comparisons of alcoholism to other diseases rather interesting.

One statement says: "If alcoholism is a disease, it stands alone and apart and different from all other diseases in its cause, actions, operation, and effects." The author observes that where other diseases seek out their victims in the dark and stealthily creep and leap upon them unaware that the alcohol disease germ has to be, and always is, self sought, self chosen, self invited, self imposed, self directed.

Another observation is that "When one is exposed to mumps, measles, chicken pox, or any one of many other diseases, it is days before the germ takes effect. Recently a man was exposed to the alcoholic germ and in less than two hours afterward he didn't know who he was, where he was, or what he was. He thought he was a polar bear and he tried to hug everything and everybody in sight—including the bartender."

Helms goes on to say that there are other diseases which, if one has them once, that is the finale. He is ever after immune. He says that once he stood beside a man in a hospital, who, in the agony of his attack, declared, "I'd give my right hand for one gulp of old bourbon."

The author continues by saying that "This is the one disease that blacks out the judgment, obliterates the memory, attacks the whole body and goes still deeper, utterly deposing the moral sense. Many diseases are modern and were not known by the ancients. But this one covers all times, all climes, and all classes. This "popular" disease, says Helms, travels by stages. "It starts at the stage, moderation, and ends at the stage, saturation."

"Alcoholism: Disease or Disgrace?" It seems to be somewhat of an American problem and something for everyone to consider.

Progressive Dinner Given Monday Honors Candidates For Sorority

In the first of a series of rush activities, candidates for membership into the Alpha Chi chapter of Sorority Sigma Alpha were honored with a progressive dinner by sorority members Monday evening.

Hostesses for the affair were Dorothy Day, 108 E. 13th; Minnie Earle Johnson, 516 Bell; Ruth Webb, 701 W. 9th; Edna Richwood and Pat Shannon, 1017 Nolan and Stella Wheat, 2011 Johnson.

The main dinner course was served at the home of Ruth Webb. Tables were covered with colorful Mexican cloths. Place mats were made of brightly colored jars filled with coral and prickly pears. Individual names were printed on the containers. Mexican music was played throughout the evening.

Sorority colors comprised the decorative theme in the home of Stella Wheat. The table was laid with an ecru lace cloth and centered with a floral arrangement of marigolds and cornflowers. Streamers of blue and gold adorned the table with the gold letters ESA were placed at one end of the table. The silver coffee service was at the other end. Lighted blue and yellow tapers illumined the refreshment table and completed the decorative theme.

Following the meeting, members of ESA convened for a called meeting in the home of Ruth Webb. Plans were made for succeeding rush activities. A model meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 11 in the Hotel Settles at 3 p.m. A banquet to be held at the El Patio Wednesday, Aug. 17 will conclude rush activities.

Rushes attending the affair were Mary Anderson, Laura Moore, Fariane, Gwen Oglesby, Virginia Crowell, Mary Anna Whitaker, Billie Smith, Myrtle Franklin.

Minnie Lowry and Jeanne Burnham. Members present were Jeanne Burnham, Minnie Earle Johnson, Dorothy Day, Edna Richwood, Patsy Shannon, Stella Wheat, Rhoda Miller, Ruth Webb, Wanda Richardson, Mary Ann Goodson and Leta Coveley.

Mrs. J. L. Haynes served as the Mission program leader at the stonary Society at the First Baptist church Monday afternoon.

"Christ, The Answer For Errors of Catholicism," was the subject topic under discussion. Mrs. Haynes introduced the lesson and told of the "Characteristics of Our Latin American Friends."

Others on the program included Mrs. W. E. Mann, who gave "Catholicism versus Protestantism" and Mrs. Willard Hendrick, who spoke on "The Experience of A Missionary." Mrs. J. A. Coffey led in prayer. Mrs. Leo Jenkins discussed, "Looking Across the Atlantic." Mrs. Beulah Bryant talked on "The Task of Protestantism"; and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien gave the part, "Do You Know What Catholicism Believe?"

Stella Turnidge of Dallas spoke briefly on her work with the Baptist Mexican Goodwill Center.

Announcement was made that Circle Day will be observed Monday August 15. Mrs. Theo Andrews offered the opening prayer and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien pronounced the benediction.

Those attending were Mrs. J. E. Hardesty, Mrs. W. E. Mann, Mrs. J. L. Haynes, Mrs. Leo Jenkins, Mrs. M. E. Harlan, Mrs. Beulah Bryant, Mrs. J. T. Culpepper, Mrs. J. A. Coffey, Mrs. Geneva Boatman, Mrs. A. L. Hobbs, Mrs. W. R. Puckett, Mrs. J. C. Smith, Mrs. Theo Andrews.

Mrs. J. L. Haynes Leads WMS Program

Mrs. C. T. McDonald, Mrs. V. W. Fuglar, Mrs. Roy Phillips, Mrs. Della E. Agnell, Mrs. A. E. Underwood, Mrs. P. D. O'Brien, Mrs. Willard Hendrick and Helen Turnidge of Dallas, a guest.

Announcement

Announcement is made that the Deacons Class of the First Baptist church will meet with Mrs. J. J. Bailey, 1181 Grammons, Friday at 2 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Graham and Patricia spent the week end in Brownwood in the homes of friends and relatives. The Gramhams are former residents of Brownwood and San Angelo. Patricia will remain in Brownwood for the week.

Jimmy Stewart Today Weds The Girl Who 'Used To Cut Out His Pictures'

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 9.—Jimmy Stewart today weds the girl who "used to cut out his pictures as a kid."

At five o'clock (PST) this afternoon, Hollywood's most famous bachelor will marry Gloria Hatrick McLean in Brentwood Presbyterian Church. The wedding will be small and—the sky actor hopes—quiet.

The pair was shipping today and winding up details for an extended honeymoon. Wedding plans were complete last week.

The single-ring wedding ceremony was rehearsed last Wednesday before Rev. Dan Osterberg of the Brentwood church, which is near Santa Monica. The only attendees are Mrs. Gregg Draddy, the bride's sister, and film talent scout Billy Grady, best man.

Grady brought Stewart to Hollywood.

Gregg Draddy, Larchmont, N. Y., manufacturer, gives the bride away in the absence of her father, Ed Hatrick. Hearst News-executive, who is sailing in Colorado Springs, Colo. Mrs. Hatrick recently had an operation in New York.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Stewart, arrived over the weekend from Indiana, Pa., where he operates a hardware store. They begged off interviews, saying "it's Jimmy's show," but they were obviously delighted about their son's wedding.

Over the weekend, Stewart said farewell to his male cronies at a stag which offered the only Hollywood touch to the nuptials. Gagssters had seven big searchlights brightening the sky above Chasen's restaurant. A large sign advertised, "Jimmy Stewart, actor. Positively last appearance."

Among those greeting the actor at the stag dinner were Spencer Tracy, Frank Morgan, Jack Benny, David Niven and Stewart's agents, who arranged the festivities.

A reception at the home of agent Jack Bolton will follow today's ceremony. The pair will leave August 12 to attend the dog derby in Akron and the Disabled American Veterans Convention in Cleveland. They plan to be in Cleveland again Sept. 3 for the finish of the Bendix race, in which Joe De Bona will fly Stewart's plane.

The couple will fly to Hawaii next month for an extended vacation.

Stewart was recently asked why he chose Mrs. McLean after 15 years of Hollywood dating. His answer: "Of all the girls I have gone with, she is the only one I felt I couldn't live without."

As for Gloria, she said she has been a Stewart fan "since I was a kid." The socialite said she "used to cut out his pictures as a kid."

Mrs. McLean said she "didn't anticipate a revolution in converting the 41-year-old bachelor to married life. I don't think it will be difficult," she said. "After all, I have to make some adjustments myself."

The 31-year-old divorcee confessed that she can't cook or sew. Informed Stewart has expressed hopes for a couple of youngsters, she replied, "I certainly hope to accommodate him."

Mrs. McLean already has two children by her first marriage. She formerly was married to Edward McLean, Jr., son of the late Evelyn Walsh McLean, owner of the Hope diamond.

Westside Baptists Have Bible Study

Members of the Women's Missionary Society of the Westside Baptist church convened for Bible study at the church Monday afternoon.

Ruby Rutledge taught the lesson from 1 Chron. 27 and 11 Chron. 28. Mrs. J. R. Phillips and Mrs. A. W. Lloyd offered the opening and benedictory prayers respectively.

Members of the congregation sang "Higher Ground."

Following the meeting, Mrs. N. M. Hipp was honored with a birthday party at the church. Gifts were presented the honoree and refreshments were served.

Those attending were Mrs. J. R. Phillips, Mrs. C. E. Andridge, Mrs. J. C. Madry, Mrs. Jake Trantham, Mrs. A. J. Lloyd, Mrs. Leroy Brooks, Mrs. G. L. Kirk, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. N. M. Hipp and guests, Mrs. Roy Hogard and Mrs. E. G. Shaffer.

Rebekah Lodge Has Session On Monday Evening

Members of the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge met for a regular session in the WOW Hall Monday evening with Lucille Brown, Noble Grand, presiding.

Jean Harris, secretary, and Hazel Lamar, team captain, were absent from the local meeting, but were in attendance at the Secretaries association of the IOOF and Rebekahs of Texas held in Abilene Sunday and Monday.

Committee members were named to prepare a float for the centennial parade. It was announced that the lodge sponsored two booths for the sale of centennial certificates last Saturday.

Team members were asked to attend next Monday night's initiation dressed formal.

Those present were: Minnie Anderson, Marjorie Horton, Velma Cain, Lucille Brown, Zula Reeves, Josie McDaniell, Ollie Anglin, Mae Darlow, Beatrice Viereggs, Grace Martin, Pearl Mann, G. H. McDaniell, Leta Metcalf, Gertrude Newton, Beatrice Mittle, Alma George, Onita Chapman and Josephine Baker.

Former Residents Wed In Oklahoma

Announcement is being made here of the July marriage of two former Big Spring residents, Mary Louise Brown of Longton, Kansas, and S. L. Harman, Jr. of Hereford.

The wedding took place at the parsonage of the First Methodist Church in Bartlesville, Oklahoma with the pastor, the Rev. Paul H. Tripp, reading the single ring ceremony.

The bride was dressed in a brown and white pin-striped Stinson suit worn with brown and white accessories. Her off-the-face hat was of lace-straw and repeated the tones of brown and white.

Mrs. Harman is the daughter of Mrs. H. M. Brown and the late Mr. Brown of Longton, Kansas. She is a graduate of Foran High School and attended Hardin-Simmons University.

The couple met in Big Spring where she was employed in the bookbinder school and he was assistant manager of the J. C. Penny Company Store. After serving three years in the Quartermaster Corps of the Army during the war, Harman returned to Hereford to become associated with his father, S. L. Harman, Sr. in the Hereford store.

After the wedding the couple left on a short wedding trip and have returned to Hereford to make their home. They will reside in a new home which is being completed at 207 "B" Street.

Will Meet

Members of the Berta Beckett Sunday school class of the First Baptist church will meet for luncheon at the church Thursday.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Sanders, 407 Nolan, are Mrs. and Mrs. Clyde Sanders of Trona, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Archie Andrews and children, Sandra and Bobby, of San Diego, Calif.; and Joe Myers of Elyria, Calif. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Andrews and family have moved to Big Spring to make their home.

Fat Is Not a Nice Word When Applied to the Body

Don't say it's your thyroid while reaching for the box of chocolates. Possibly one bulky person in 100 has some glandular disturbance and that is truly a case for a physician. Nivea takes any treatment for a gland ailment without your doctor's advice. But for the other 99 per cent who are trying to fight the "Battle of the Bulges" common sense is the watchword. It is not necessary to overeat and it is not necessary to go hungry, either. Furthermore, it just doesn't make sense to go on a strenuous diet—take off weight and then quickly put it back on again when the diet period is over. For it is obvious that one cannot continue a starvation diet over a protracted period. Within the last year or so, several diet and vitamin "plans" have appeared on the market, which means cut down on the food intake and fortify with vitamins for hunger distress. But as mentioned above, you can't keep this up very long and when you quit—back comes the fat.

An exhaustive survey recently made among Texas druggists showed one outstanding reducing aid is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It allows you to eat plenty. You eat all you want but you eat LESS. Sounds like double talk, but it isn't. It actually stops you from eating more than necessary for the energy you spend. At the same time, it dehydrates and eliminates.

Nearly one and a half million bottles of this preparation, called Barconstrate has been sold in Texas in the past four years.

You can get a four-ounce bottle of Barconstrate from any Texas druggist. Mix with 11 ounces of canned grapefruit juice and take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day.

If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to lose that ugly fat, the makers agree to refund your money.

In Summer, Firm Readies For Cold

It may be hot enough these days to fry the proverbial egg on the sidewalk. But proof that the cool months aren't too far ahead can be seen in the display windows of some of the business establishments which specialize in providing heat and heating units.

One of those is the S. M. Smith Butane company, office of which is located on the Lamesa highway on the northern outskirts of the city.

The concern is displaying such heaters as the Dearborn, Humphrey and Thompson makes along with the famous Tappan range and Mission hot water units.

S. M. Smith, owner and manager of the concern bearing his name, says now is the time to get those larger butane tanks installed for winter's supply. The tanks come in sizes from 500 to 1,000 gallons and can be placed either above or below ground.

The Tappan range, available at the Smith company, is the latest made by the Tappan people and boasts all modern improvements.

Other items handled by the Smith concern include the Zenith deep freeze unit, a make especially designed for farm use, Hamilton mixers and other household accessories.

Smith workmen boast long experience in working with both butane and propane and are prepared not only to install but repair units.

Curb Service On Shoe Repair

You don't have to dress up to take your shoes to the repair shop.

One of the many advantages of patronizing Christensen's is that you can pull off the street at 602 W. 3rd, sound your horn and one of the staff will come and get your shoes or bring those you have left for repair.

Service at Christensen's is not limited to this handy chore by any means. Years of experience in the business have enabled the staff to fill almost any sort of leather goods needed.

The shop has a wide following of years standing for quality, custom-made boots. Only the choicest of leathers are used, and each pair is made precisely to fit the foot for which it is intended.

Saddle repair is another field in which Christensen craftsmen specialize. There is hardly any job but what they can restore to its original usefulness. This expert service extends over into all sorts of strap goods.

For those in a hurry for shoe or boot repair, a special concession is made. This work will be rushed through while the customer waits if he or she wishes extra fast service. Ordinary work is completed on a one-day basis.

Not only top quality leather and other materials go into Christensen work, but the deft touch of years of experience. All five staff members are skilled craftsmen in leather work.

Ex-GI, Despite Mother's Cookery, Planning To Return To Germany

NEW HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 9. (AP) — An ex-GI, released by the Army after a slap on the wrist, was back with his folks here today but still determined to return to Germany and become a citizen there.

His mother and sister and brothers hoped Daniel McCarthy, 22, would change his mind after some home-cooked meals and a little time spent living the life of a Long Island suburbanite.

McCarthy, who was ejected from Germany for illegal entry, arrived in a transport at Staten Island yesterday and was turned loose by the Army.

He was met at Fort Hancock, N. J., by his widowed mother, Catherine, and a brother, Eugene, 24-year-old Army veteran, who drove there to meet him.

His mother, saying she was certain that things would work out all right, put an arm around the son who had wanted to renounce his American citizenship and become a German.

"Dan is going to get a good job at home," she said, "and have a lot of fun in the United States which we all know he loves."

But Dan had different ideas to discuss after he arrived home, where another brother, James 20, and his sister, Joan, 23, were waiting.

"I expect to go back to Germany as soon as I can scrape up enough money," Dan told a newspaper. "I hope it is soon."

"When I go back, I'll become a German citizen. But as long as I remain here, I'll retain my U. S. citizenship."

"I happen to like Germany and the people there."

"I haven't any idea where I'll get a job or what kind of work I'll do while I'm here."

Dr. Rutledge Starts Serving 70-Year Term

FORT MADISON, Ia., Aug. 9. (AP) — Dr. Robert C. Rutledge, Jr., was just inmate 21770 today at state penitentiary here where he has started serving a 70-year sentence for murdering a 29-year-old bachelor.

The St. Louis baby specialist arrived at the penitentiary about three hours after sentence had been pronounced in Cedar Rapids, Ia., yesterday by District Judge J. E. Heiserman.

Dr. Rutledge, 28, was convicted by a district court jury there last May of second degree murder in the stabbing of Byron C. Hattman, who the defense contended had seduced Rutledge's attractive wife, Sydney, 22.

The penalty for second degree murder is 10 years to life imprisonment but Judge Heiserman said he rejected the life sentence because of the defendant's age, education and specialized training.

Percy Lainsion, penitentiary warden, quoted Rutledge as saying the sentence "could have been tougher." The warden said with time off for good behavior, Rutledge could be released Nov. 7, 1970.

Rutledge was issued a gray, blue-striped prison uniform and placed in isolation until he has undergone routine tests and examinations.

The doctor was alone with his wife in the court anteroom for about 10 minutes after sentencing. Sydney left Cedar Rapids by automobile with her stepmother before the doctor was taken from jail to come to Fort Madison.

At Coropopolis, Pa., Mrs. John C. Hattman, mother of the slain aircraft instrument designer, said she and Mr. Hattman were satisfied with the sentence. "It is regrettable this tragic case ever happened. I'm so glad it's all over now," she said.

FOR 'PROTECTION'

Ex-Cowboy Packing Gun on World Trip

LONDON, Aug. 9. (AP) — Ex-Cowboy Sam Keener is back again for the fifty-fourth time—fully equipped down to a revolver and cartridge belt for "protection in rough country."

The 61-year-old millionaire president of the Salem (Ohio) Engineering Co. flew in last night on the first leg of a round-the-world sales trip.

White-haired Keener ("just call me Sam") stepped off his special plane with a badge under his coat

Governor Of Hawaii Expected To Seize Strike-Bound Docks Today

HONOLULU, Aug. 9. (AP) — Hawaii's governor is expected to order seizure of the territory's strike-bound docks today—101st day of the crippling tieup.

The striking CIO International Longshoremen's and warehousemen's union promised to defy government stevedoring operations and test constitutionality of the territorial legislature's new seizure law.

As Gov. Ingram M. Stainback's formal order was awaited, these other developments marked the strike begun May 1 by the ILWU for a 32 cents raise in the $1.40 hourly longshore pay.

1. A second ship of the Isthmian Lines, the Steel Maker, sailed from Honolulu with a cargo of sugar and canned pineapple. When the first Isthmian ship sailed July 30, her local agents said it marked the beginning of regular 10-day sailings between Hawaii and the Atlantic Coast.

2. The sailing of ship was hailed by a new non-union firm, Hawaiian Stevedores, Ltd., as evidence the port of Honolulu was open regardless of the ILWU strike. The company loaded the ship.

No demonstration marked the departure of the Steel Maker last night. Its 33 crewmen of the AFI Seaman's International Union went through a token ILWU picket line without incident.

Castle & Cooke, Ltd., the ship's agents, declined to disclose her destination. In its original announcement of 10-day sailings, the company said Isthmian ships would ply between here and New York, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

The Steel Maker carried 11,000 tons—the second cargo of sugar and first of canned pineapple to leave since the strike started.

Bridges said sugar shipments to the East Coast were a heavy loss operation for the sugar firms. Raw sugar must be refined on the coast and shipped by rail to the Normal West Coast marketing area, he declared.

Negro Gets Death For Raping Woman

HOPE, Ark., Aug. 9. (AP) — A 21-year-old Negro, who was not in the courtroom to hear the verdict, has been sentenced to death for raping a white expectant mother.

Herman Maxwell was removed from a heavily guarded Hempstead County circuit courtroom when the jury retired late yesterday. Judge Dexter Bush announced that to avoid "any chance of trouble," Maxwell had waived his presence.

The defendant pleaded innocent to the charge of attacking the woman in the De Ann Community July 20.

The all-white male jury deliberated 10 minutes before returning the verdict "guilty of rape." It had been instructed to give a verdict carried an automatic death penalty.

Red Revolution Being Taught In U. S., Charged

NEW YORK, Aug. 9. (AP) — The government prosecutor at the Communist conspiracy trial used documentary evidence yesterday to support his charge that secret party schools since the war have employed textbooks on violent revolution.

The defense contends such books have long been outlawed.

U. S. Atty. John F. X. McGohery read to the jury excerpts from a party publication, "Strategy and Tactics."

The book described Leninism as a system of rules for the guidance of the leaders of proletarian revolution in any country at any time when a "revolutionary situation" developed. It showed how "legal" and "illegal" means could be combined by professional revolutionaries.

The main task of Communist leaders in western Europe and America, according to the book, is to "educate" the masses so that they eventually will be ready to take part in "the last great decisive revolutionary struggle."

In a situation like that in the United States today—"when the revolutionary tide is rising"—the Communists were told in the book that they should advance "partial" slogans, legal reforms and "united front" movements.

When the "revolutionary tide rises," the book said, the party will assume leadership of the masses for "direct attack" on the government with propaganda, mass action, strikes and demonstrations. Finally, it said, there will be "the general strike conjointly with armed insurrection conducted according to the rules of war with offensive fighting operations."

Judge Harold R. Medina indicated that the trial of 11 top Communist leaders—now in its 30th week—will run at least into September. He announced there will be no court session Sept. 2, the Friday before Labor Day.

Smith To Manage Oil Well Supply Store In City

Jack Smith, formerly manager of the company's store in Denver City, has been named manager of the Big Spring unit by Oil Well Supply.

V. J. Waters, Dallas, central Midwest division manager for the U. S. Steel subsidiary, announced the appointment. Smith succeeds Wayne B. Atkins, who has managed the store here since October of 1947. He has been assigned to manage the new Oilwell store opened in Snyder.

Smith is a native of Pilot Point. He attended the Miles high school and Kilgore college. Following his discharge in 1946 from the US AAF, which he served as a pilot, he became associated with Oilwell. His appointment as manager came there in Oct. 1947.

NUDE CIRCUSES DESCRIBED

Madame Testifies As Cops Indicted

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9. (AP) — Brothel-keeper Brenda Allen's "blue room" dives, in which Boréllé babes and paying customers frolicked in masse in the nude with cops kibitzing, are now a matter of public record.

A 2141-page transcript of testimony to secret grand jury testimony—on which former Police Chief C. B. Horrall and four other police officials were indicted—was released yesterday.

The Allen woman, a hard-faced, hippy, convicted callhouse madame, described a typical "circus" at the request of one of the grand jurors.

"The lights I had very, very blue," the transcript quoted her. "They were very low blue lights. You clear out the whole living room. I mean insofar as the center of the floor. You just have the chairs and couches back against the wall and you have your sheets spread over the blankets which have been placed on top of the carpet, and the show proceeds from there."

She said there would be a group of girls and paying customers. "Three or four men from the studio, whose names I won't mention because they're all professional. All would be in the nude. Police officers, as guests of the house, would watch the show, she said, without paying. Other spectators paid."

Customers would pay from $20 to $500 for one trick, she said, adding that she split the fee with the girl.

"I considered payments to police as a necessary business expense," the Allen woman said.

Horrall and Asst. Chief Joe Reed, Personnel Capt. Cecil Widom, and Vice Squad Officers Lt. Rudy Welpot and Sgt. E. W. Jackson were charged with perjury in the indictments. Welpot and Jackson also were charged with bribery.

Brenda told the jury she paid Jackson $50 a week per girl for protection against vice squad raids. She also said she and Jackson

JUDGE RULES DOG MUST GO

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9. (AP) — A landlord has a court eviction order for Patsy, a 13-year-old dog.

Municipal Judge John J. McMahon ruled yesterday Patsy must leave her owners' apartment because her hair aggravates the asthma of the landlord's son, also 13.

Another municipal judge earlier had thrown out the eviction case brought by Landlord Lee Tarantino, holding the dog had acquired rights of occupancy through long residence.

But Judge McMahon said Patsy, part Pomeranian and part terrier, was a health menace to the child.

Mrs. Carter Downing, president of Pets Unlimited, called the judge's ruling "a blow to dogdom."

Brewer Elected Assistant Coach

Goldthwaite Mentor To Replace Bill McClure, Who Returns To Alma Mater

Bert Brewer, a native of Eden, Texas, and a former star back for the Abilene Christian College Wildcats, has been named assistant football coach at Big Spring high school. It has been announced. Brewer will report here next Monday to assume his duties. He replaces Bill McClure, another ACC graduate, who resigned recently to take a job as head coach at ACC under Tom Coleman.

All-Star Teams Plan Workouts

Youngsters from all over Texas will converge on Foran and Sterling City Wednesday to begin training for all-star six-man football and basketball games, which will feature the third annual Six-Man Football Coaches association school beginning here Wednesday evening at 8 p.m.

The football classic will take place on Foran's plucky gridiron Saturday night. The game contest will be held in the Sterling City gymnasium on Friday evening.

Bob Honeycutt, Foran, will coach the West's football team, which will do its training at Foran. T. M. Dunn, New Caney, will handle the Easterners, who will drill at Sterling.

A. C. Toter, Darronett, and Hubert Parks, Tarkington, will function as mentors of the West and East basketball squads, respectively. The Westerners will train in the Foran gymnasium while the East will drill at Sterling.

Tickets for both games are on sale here (at Dibrill's, Hester's and the chamber of commerce office), Foran, and Sterling. Don C. Burton, Morjan county high school, West Liberty, Ky., arrives in West Texas today to serve as chief instructor for the six-man school, which continues through Saturday. Most of the class room work will take place at the Settles hotel, John Prude, Fort Davis, will preside over the coaches.

Vernon Dusters Play Final Game Of Year Here Tonight

Visitors Seek Series Edge

Big Spring's chief rivals for the Longhorn league lead, the Vernon Dusters, play their last game of the regular circuit season here tonight. Starting time is 8:15 p. m.

The Dusters, who have broken even with the Steeds in 16 games to date, now trail the locals by 11 games in the standings and are afforded little chance of overtaking them. However, Manager Bob Huntley intends to see to it that no other team in the organization overtake his Dusters.

Too, a series edge over the Cactus would provide sweet cement for the North Texans. The Dusters could set up such a possibility by taking tonight's game and gaining the edge in their final meeting of the year, which takes place in Vernon Aug. 29-30-31.

Either Ernesto Mayorga (6-0) or Julio Ramos (18-3) will toe the slab for the Steeds tonight. Ramos was beaten by the Dusters, 3-3, in his last start against them and later was shelved from the mound in Odessa.

Darwin Chisno will probably twirl for the Dusters. Wednesday evening, the Odessa Oilers move here for a two-game series. They, too, will be making their final appearance of the regular campaign.

Moon, Scherling Hit Home Runs As Hosses Fall

Vernon's Dusters finished on Pacific Park's pitching at Steer park here last night, hanging the big follow around for 14 hits as they rolled to a 7-5 victory over the Big Spring Broncs.

Three safeties swung the issue, Harry Scherling's ninth inning homer with Cotton McCaskey aboard sewing up the decision after Wayne Moon has driven home five tallies with a first inning double and a seventh inning round tripper.

Big Spring played catch-up twice but couldn't match the guests' clutch hitting. Moon's first inning two base came with Bob Johnston and Cotton McCaskey on the base paths. His seventh inning four master cleared the left center field wall and found Bob Huntley and McCaskey on ahead.

Scherling picked a fat one in the ninth after two men had been retired and McCaskey had bounced a single into left field.

John Bianco Fernandez, who came on to relieve Lloyd Trip in the eighth, received credit for the win. He gave up the tying run in a tally Trip had put aboard, and then slammed shut the gates.

Big Spring counted twice in the fourth when Felix Gomez singled home Hector Bonet and Al Valdes, twice in the fifth on hits by Ray Vasquez, Bonet and Valdes and again in the eighth on a bunt by Ace Mendez and a blow by Carlos Pascual.

DIAMOND DUST - Al Richardson, a pain in the neck to Perez all evening, maneuvered to second in the first inning when Vasquez bobbled Johnston's ground ball but was out when he slid off the bag. Jorge Lopez making the putout.

Trip had to do something in his eye. Lou Ehlinger went back to the center field fence to get Pat Stacey's fly in the fifth frame. McCaskey received credit for one of his three hits when his seventh inning blow took a bad hop over Lopez's head. Pascual hurt his ankle on a slide into second in the seventh but remained in the game.

The loss was Perez's fourth of the season. He has won nine.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Vernon Hilliard, McMurry college's able athletic director who visited friends here last weekend, tells this story on Bully Gilstrap, the assistant manager at the University of Texas.

It seems Bully, some years ago, went down the way to look up Willy Zapala, a great high school footballer, whose folks lived on South Texas farm.

Coming onto the Zapala place, Gilstrap met Willie's mother and asked so in the boy's whereabouts. Mrs. Zapala told him Willie wasn't about and, after chatting with the U of T coach for a bit, apologized and said she'd have to cut short the conversation because she had to milk the cows.

Bully capitalized on the opportunity to make a point with the family by suggesting he take that chore off her hands. The offer was readily accepted.

Mrs. Zapala led Bully through the house and into the kitchen to pick up the necessary implements. There sat Lili Dimmitt, Texas A&M aide, nonchalantly churning.

(Willie later wound up in A&M and might have become one of the great Aggie backs of all time had he not been hampered by injuries.)

Waldo Young, Monahan's great little griddler who raced in the Big Spring Relays last spring, is planning to enroll at Texas Tech next month.

Bobby Martin, the Big Spring ex now playing with Greenville, has upped his Big State baseball league batting average to .350. Only two of his mates boast better marks.

Vernon's Dusters, now engaged in a fight for second place in the Longhorn league, lost Ike Souquet, possibly for the season, when the third sacker slid into second base in a game at San Angelo last Friday and broke his ankle.

Souquet made the trip here with the Dusters, Bob Huntley's crew having come here directly from the Concho City.

Jim Prince, the Lubbock first sacker who performed with Midland both in 1947 and '48, has slumped badly at the plate within the past ten days after keeping his average around the .400 mark most of the campaign. For a while, he was threatening to win the Minor league batting championship for the second time in three seasons.

It appears now that Frank Saucier of the Wichita Falls club has the best chance of any player in Texas to cop the award.

At the latest reports, Saucier was hitting in the neighborhood of .415 and giving every indication he would keep it up.

Eddie Meillo, another Midland ex, has been playing the outfield for the McAllen club in the Valley league. Ordinarily, he's a third sacker.

M. L. Wilkinson, who operates a radiator shop in Lubbock, reportedly is first in line for the purchase of the Lubbock Redders of the WT-NM league.

Odessa's chances to land the Texas High School Coaching school were hampered by the fact that the city doesn't have ample hotel facilities.

The clinic has grown so big that the housing problem for the enrollees has become a major headache.

Big Spring's new assistant gridiron mentor, Bert Brewer, and his wife, need places to live, if they're to remain here. Persons having available apartments (preferably unfurnished) can do them and the school's service by notifying Head Coach Carl Coleman, Telephone 3057-J, or Supt. W. C. Blankenship at the school tax office, 1266.

watched Fort Worth win two from Beaumont. Dick Williams' three-run homer in the fifth lead the opener. The Cats tallied three in the eleventh frame to cap the nightcap.

Eddie Knoblauch tripled in two runs and scored a third in the fifth to give Tulsa the edge over Houston.

Pete Lewis' two-run triple in the eighth gave Shreveport the victory over Dallas.

Tonight, Dallas plays at Shreveport. Fort Worth at Beaumont, Oklahoma City at San Antonio and Tulsa at Houston.

Rozek hurled his hitless game in the opener of a doubleheader. The Indians won the game 3-1. Rozek missed a perfect game on an error by Third Baseman Hanson Jackson.

The first-place Fort Worth Cats swept a doubleheader from the Beaumont Exporters, 13-2 and 7-4. The nightcap went eleven frames. Fort Worth increased its lead to three and a half games over Tulsa.

Tulsa defeated last-place Houston 4-3. And Shreveport beat Dallas 6-5 to extend to seven games the Dallas losing streak.

Shreveport moved into a tie for third and fourth place with Dallas, eleven and a half games behind Fort Worth. Oklahoma City dropped into fifth place, half a game out of the first division.

Jackson's error, depriving Rozek of a no-hit no-runner, came in the seventh. He tossed wild to second after fielding Pat Seery's bounder. Seery went to third and scored on Bob Riga's fly for the only San Antonio tally. Tommy Fine hurled five-hit ball to give San Antonio the nightcap.

Branch Rickey, boss of the Cats and the Brooklyn Dodgers,

Mangrum Leads By Four Strokes

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (AP) - Lloyd Mangrum went after the $2,335 top Tam O'Shanter All-American golf prize today with a four-stroke lead over the field.

Most of Promoter George S. May's betting money was on Mangrum in today's final round, and it looked as if he had the jackpot. Mangrum hiked through the humid 83 degree heat and some 3,000 followers for a 31-35 - 78 third round yesterday and a three-quarter mark of 204, 12 strokes under par.

Sam Sneed, the year's leading money winner with $25,500, faded in a two-over par 14 for a total 209 after being only one stroke behind Mangrum at the halfway mark.

What every party-line telephone user knows...

EVERY PERSON WITH A PARTY-LINE telephone at home knows at least three things about the service.

He knows the line must be shared fairly to be useful to everyone - just as a street is shared by those on it.

He knows he appreciates courtesy from others on the line - such as not interrupting, and recognizing his emergency needs for the line now and then.

He knows whether party-line service meets his needs. About half our customers have always preferred party-line service, even before the war, when they could have had individual lines.

Today, out of each four families with telephones, about three have party-line telephones and one of them has asked for a different type of service.

We'd like to be able to give it to them. We are working toward that, and are making some progress despite the continuing heavy demand for telephones from those still without any service.

We have on file thousands of requests for some other type of service. Whenever local conditions permit, we are meeting these requests, and are keeping a careful record of all requests, to act on at the first opportunity.

Williams Ties Bob Dillinger For Bat Lead

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 (AP) - Ted Williams of Boston has caught up with Bob Dillinger of St. Louis. They're tied for the American League batting lead at .345 each.

Williams gained four points and Dillinger fell one during the last week. Don DiMaggio, of Boston held third place with .343, a one-point gain. Last week he was second.

Following them in games through Sunday were George Kell, Detroit, .339; Dale Mitchell, Cleveland, and Roy Sievers, St. Louis, .322 each; Cass Michaels, Chicago, .312; Luke Appling, Chicago, .310; Vern Stephens, Boston, .307; and Don Kolloway, Detroit, .306.

Stephens, Red Sox shortstop, led in runs batted in with 112. He was tied with Williams in homers with 27 each.

At long last Musial is making his belated bid to retain his national League batting crown.

The slugging St. Louis Cardinal outfielder for the first time this season has made his way into the top 10 hitters. Including games of Sunday, Aug. 7, Musial owned a .313 mark. While it was good for seventh place, it still left him exactly 49 points behind Jackie Robinson's league leading .362.

Robinson, who went into his 11th consecutive week in the top spot, dropped a couple of points but still managed to maintain a 33-point edge over Enos Slaughter, another Cardinal flycatcher. Slaughter's runner-up figure was .322.

Still another Redbird, Al (Red) Schoendienst, rested in fourth place, his .321 mark only a point in back of the .322 figure posted by Willard Marshall of the New York Giants.

The Giants' Whitely Lockman and Bobby Thomson held fifth and sixth places, respectively, with marks of .317 and .316.

Gets Iowa Hogs

DES MOINES (AP) - Sixty-four head of purebred Berkshire hogs are en route to Venezuela. The purchase followed a visit to central Iowa about a month ago by Venezuelan authorities. They said at that time that they preferred the Berkshire breed because of its large percentage of lean meat as compared to lard.

Barten May Dive To 6,000-Foot Depth in Ocean

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 8 (AP) - Max's first glimpse of the 6,000 feet below the surface of the ocean - that's the hope of Marine Explorer Otto Barten.

Barten will try to take his new "benthoscope" diving bell to that depth off Santa Cruz Island, near Santa Barbara, Calif., Saturday.

The greatest depth yet reached by man is 1,026 feet. That record was set in 1901 off Bermuda by Barton and Naturalist William Beebe, in a similar diving bell known as the bathysphere.

The benthoscope, about eight feet in diameter, is a hollow steel ball with a shell one and three-quarters inches thick. It is raised and lowered by means of a steel cable. Barten will be able to observe marine life through glass windows.

Abruzzi Rye Seed Available Locally

Farmers who want to plant Abruzzi rye this fall can get their seed from local growers, supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District announced Tuesday. From a partial survey made last week, they learned more than 100,000 pounds of rye seed will be available.

Among those who have rye seed are: V. H. Wolf, Jim Hodnett, and Willis Winters, at Vincent, Tom Barber and E. T. O'Daniel, at Coahoma, Alex Walker, D. W. Christian, and Ed Martin, R-Bar.

VISITS and VISITORS

Letha Amerson has had as her guest, Jo Ann Bristol of San Angelo.

Mrs. O. W. Dabney and son, Ray Lewis, have been visiting in Seattle, Wash. for the past five weeks with Chesney Dabney. Mrs. Dabney will return home Wednesday. Ray Lewis will visit Donnie Kelley in Nemo and return later.

Mrs. A. H. Alexander and her mother, Mrs. M. H. Kelley, returned Monday from Abilene where they attended funeral services for Carl Myers.

Tommy Williams and Jackie Faye Williams have returned to Post after visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Alvis. While here, the girls accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Jack Banks and sons on a tour of Caribab Caverns, N. M. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Medford accompanied the girls to Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Amos, Billy and Paul, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Amos and children, and Jimmy Gilbert of White River, Ariz., have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Amos.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Pocus and children of Roswell, N. M., have been visiting Mrs. Fugate's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Allen.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morgan of Abilene, have returned home after visiting Mrs. Morgan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Wilkerson, and his mother, Mrs. Morgan. Mrs. Clara Frances Alfred has returned home from ten days in the Big Spring Hospital-Clinic where she underwent medical treatment. She is reported "improving."

W. D. Miller, Richard, and the Russell Brothers on the Eb Hatch farm northwest of Big Spring.

C. A. Denton, district cooperative in the Midway Soil Conservation group will plant 25 acres of Abruzzi rye in feed stubble middles this fall for cover crop on his sandy land. He will also plant about 15 acres of hairy vetch with the rye to improve the fertility of his soil.

D. W. Christian will plant 70 acres of rye for cover crop on feed land this fall on his place in the Wild Horse Ranch group. Christian has used rye for cover crop and grazing the past two years. He said the rye protected his sandy land from blowing and furnished good grazing. He noticed the rye made good growth in cold weather.

E. T. O'Daniel has plowed 105 acres of Abruzzi rye stubble with a one-way, leaving the straw on or near the surface of the soil. Stubble mulch plowing of the rye stubble gives better protection to the land from blowing and washing because it leaves the straw on top where it does the most good. Results have shown that land where residues are plowed under a loss 137 times as much soil and 8 times as much water as land where stubble mulch farming is followed. The stubble will also improve the soil by adding organic matter.

Chisel plowing helped save soil and water on the W. D. Miller farm in the Richland Soil Conservation group this spring. Miller said last week. On land that was chiseled every little while from spring rains collected in his furrows, Miller said. This type of land preparation breaks up the plow sole formed by lister plowing. It also leaves crop residues on top of the soil.

J. R. Bond, who is farming the G. W. McGregor place in the R-Bar group, applied barnyard manure to part of his field this year. Cotton on the fertilized land is high. Bond said last week. On the same rows and same soil with no fertilizer cotton is only a foot high, he added. The fertilizer helped the land by adding nitrogen and organic matter.

Blankenship Is Back From Visit With Daughter

W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of schools, has returned from Kansas City, Mo. where he went to greet a daughter, Mrs. William Boswell.

Mrs. Boswell, the former Joyce Blankenship, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blankenship, was stricken a month ago while in Naples, Italy with her husband. They rushed back to Paris where she entered the American general hospital. The Boswells had been Europe while he studied art.

At Paris Mrs. Boswell's illness was diagnosed as meningitis. For a time doctors despaired of her life. Then as she was recovering, she suffered from polio. This left her with involvement in both legs.

However, she has shown improvement. At Kansas City she was able to walk some with assistance. Blankenship was hopeful that she would be almost completely recovered within six months. Mrs. Boswell is to enter a hospital at Kansas City, noted for polio rehabilitation.

Mrs. Boswell was flown back to the states. A mix-up at LaGuardia Field resulted in the plane and crew being quarantined for an hour. Matters were thrown in a dither when two passengers were discovered to have temperature. Finally, Mrs. Boswell produced a letter to a Kansas City doctor which proved her condition was far past an infectious stage.

At Kansas City she was met by her three-year old daughter, Anita; her father; her parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. Rhodes Boswell, 1306 E. 22nd Terrace. Her husband, whom she met and married when he was a bombardier instructor here in 1941, is to accompany his niece of paintings home on a liner. A private showing is in store at Kansas City later. He holds his masters from the Kansas City Art Institute.

Three Fined $100 Each On Driving Charges Monday

Of the six persons brought before County Judge J. Ed Brown on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants here Monday afternoon, three entered pleas of guilty and each was fined $100 plus expenses.

They are Aubrey C. Messer, T. O. Nations and Billy Wayne Roberts, each of whom also lost the right to use his driver's license for the ensuing six months.

Three other men, Ennis David Brooks, Antonio Hernandez and Harvey Earl Wells, were released on bond and told to reappear for trial later this month.

Billy Joe Wilson was fined $100 and costs on a charge of carrying a pistol on his person without a permit.

Pair Fined $14 Each On Fighting Charge

Two men arrested here for fighting last weekend entered pleas of guilty in justice court Monday and each was fined $14, including costs.

They are W. N. Townsend and R. J. Townsend, both of Midland. They became involved in a scrap as they prepared to leave for home, authorities stated.

AND MORE TO COME?

Fourth Of Income Going For Taxes

WASHINGTON — This year the average American is paying out $1 in federal, state and local taxes for every $4.10 he earns.

Roughly that means that every time he earns a dollar he turns over 25 cents to a tax agent.

This estimate, by Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), is making fighting words behind the scenes in Washington.

Sixty-two senators, despairing of economy by this Congress, have proposed that federal expenses be cut 10 per cent by the President.

These senators are uncertain how the House of Representatives will react to their plan. They say the real issue is "easy money"—that is, congressmen are willing to vote money to please certain groups of citizens without any regard for the overall solvency of the national government. Needless to say, the senators who make these remarks refuse to be quoted by name.

The battle over government spending has become stiff enough that the President went on the radio to explain his last economic report. This was the first time he had done so since the economic reports started in January 1947.

TRUMAN'S ANSWER

The President said he thought the answer to Uncle Sam's fiscal worries was more spending.

He advocated more spending by private employers, who he said should "take advantage now of new business opportunities."

He said that government should aid economic expansion. He suggested several programs which would take more government spending, such as wider social security programs, more money for education, health and housing, more money for preservation of national resources.

Mr. Truman's major opponent in Congress is a member of his own party—Sen. Byrd. Byrd's small staff almost duplicated the work of the entire budget bureau in preparation for his last Senate talk on government finance.

It was Byrd's staff that figured out the average of $1 in taxes for every $4.10 earned. On this job it had the help of the Treasury, the budget bureau and the Commerce Department.

Byrd's report compared tax costs in 1941 and 1948. Here is what his staff found:

WOULD BE $43 BILLION

In 1941 the tax bill to Uncle Sam alone was $7,250,000,000. The year after the war that had jumped to $20,000,000,000. If the President's program went through, Byrd said, the bill would be $43 billion, and the average for federal, state and local taxes would be $5 1/2% approximately $9.50 earned.

Taxes to Uncle Sam—never mind taxes to state and city—have jumped more than five times since the start of the war.

Can we afford it? That depends, according to Byrd, on what we are turning out in the way of work.

Georgia Kluxers Unmasked After Shooting Affray

ATLANTA, Aug. 8 (AP)—In a round of decisive action, Grand Dragon Samuel Green yanked the masks from Georgia Ku Kluxers and named three Klan Klaverns for "the best interests of everybody concerned."

The imperial wizard's drastic edicts yesterday came in the wake of a shooting affray in South Georgia in which Klansmen were supposed by shotgun and pistol shots, and slung stones, to have broken up a night riding terror raid along the Georgia-Tennessee border.

Green, soft-spoken and mild-mannered leader of the association of Georgia Klans, last night officially named Klaverns at Chattanooga, Tenn., and at Trenton and Lafayette, Ga.

All members of the three Klaverns from Atlanta, have been ordered to turn in their Klan regalia to certain unidentified persons.

"They know who they are," the imperial wizard said cryptically.

The Klavern at Chattanooga was named, he added, because it has been named in charges of terroristic invasion of churches, lathings, and armed intimidation.

At Trenton, Green continued, Klansmen have been linked with a clique facing both state and federal charges in the flagging of seven Negroes.

The sweeping decree against the Lafayette group stemmed from a parade there the night of July 20 without authorization from local officials.

The unmasking of Georgia Kluxers was announced by Green yesterday. He said he didn't want his Klansmen to be blamed for the rowdiness of others.

Green asserted that his own Klansmen were not mixed up in the week-end shooting melee at Iron City, Ga., where a Ku Klux motorcycle was met by a burst of gunfire. The trouble there, he said, was caused by a "delinquent" group operating out of Columbus.

As an aftermath of that papery set-to, in which a night rider was slightly wounded, charges and counter charges have brought about a brilliant feud between city officials and Klansmen and has launched out to include the wives of the Iron City mayor and the local Klan circles.

The final race of the 19-night Harrington, Del. trotting season was won by a horse named Sailor Man—in a driving race.

Life's Darkest Moment

Former Apprentice Buys English Motor

LOUTH, England (AP)—"I used to think how I'd like to own it," said 64-year-old John Holmes. He has plunked down $100,000 for a 25-horsepower English Motor and part Bala (population 211).

Now a wealthy timber merchant, Holmes used to work at the mine for nothing but his keep when he was a carpenter's apprentice in his teens 30 years ago.

Furr Stores Sued For $52,000 By Local Seamstress

Mrs. Louisa Smith, employed as a seamstress here, has entered suit in 10th district court against the Furr Store Stores, Inc., for $52,000 damages.

The suit resulted from inferior Mrs. Smith said she delivered last April 20 which she felt while wearing the Furr store suit with an order. She claimed some damage in the suit—wearing the suit which she said, wearing for her appearance, having her hair and fingernails done.

A Mack Hughes has been retained as attorney for the defendant.

Desert Once Was Land Of Lakes

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP)—California's Mojave Desert is one of the driest, driest in the United States. But Dr. Robert E. Miller of the United States National Museum and Dr. Carl L. Hubbs University of California Biologist say it was once a land of lakes.

The area was well watered until after the glacial era—about 10,000 years ago, they estimate.

Hairless Calf To Possess Sweater

BAR HILLS, Mo. (AP)—Hairless Alfie is just that kind of a paragon-haired livestock wonder. When there should be white hair, Alfie's hide is pink; where there should grow, it is tan.

The calf is owned by William E. Bruce, editor of the Marine Farm Bureau News. When it was born on May 15, it was presented with a coat and blanket. A neighbor woman says she is going to knit a sweater for Alfie. A previous calf born of the same cow was normal.

Girl Saved From Railroad Death

BOWIE, Aug. 8 (AP) — An 11-year-old girl is alive today because Railroad brakeman H. C. Coffman snatched her from her bicycle as she rode into the path of a switch engine.

John Gill is deaf in one ear and failed to hear the incoming train or Coffman's shouted warnings yesterday as she started across a track near the depot here.

Coffman ran and grabbed the little girl and jumped back. Her bicycle was demolished. The driver of the locomotive hit Coffman's arms but he was not injured.

THE MARKETS

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP) — The top-of-advance of the stock market took time and today's gains were modest.

Prices moved nervously—with a few exceptions here and there—and many of the leaders remained unchanged.

The volume of trading slowed down to a wall compared with recent sessions. In particular groups of securities stood out above the rest of the market in activity.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (AP) — Wool cotton prices were 20 to 30 cents a bale lower in the previous week. Oct. 25-26, Dec. 25-26 and Feb. 25-26.

LIVESTOCK

ONLY LIVING EX-PRESIDENT.

At 75, Herbert Hoover Still Labors As A Public Servant

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

By The Associated Press
The nation's only living ex-President arrives at the three-quarter century mark Thursday, still a hard-working public official.

At the moment Herbert Hoover is enjoying a brief respite from his 18-hour-a-day job. His birthday finds Hoover in the surroundings he loves best: the campus of his alma mater, Leland Stanford University, with time for a little fishing with his children and grandchildren.

For some years he has declined personal interviews and has made public statements only concerning his major interests, notably the Republican Party and the work of the non-partisan commission on organization of the executive branch of government, of which he is chairman.

He is in excellent health, in good spirits and enjoys life. The round-faced man who persists in looking like a thoughtful cherub despite great personal dignity has come a long way in popularity since the day in 1923 he left the White House in defeat in the midst of a great depression.

After that he dropped from political sight for a couple of years. From his New York headquarters he went to work on jobs that interested him: trustee of a number of philanthropic organizations and directing work of scientific and service groups.

He fished a little and traveled a lot. Eventually he emerged from his political retirement to become a forthright and highly vocal critic of his successor's New Deal, particularly of government interference in private business.

He has been an important speaker at his party's national conventions. In Philadelphia last year, when the Republicans were certain they were about to return to power, the spontaneous demonstration for Hoover was almost as loud and prolonged as the carefully planned whoop-de-do staged for men who sought the party nomination.

His position as party elder statesman is strong. A visit with Hoover in his New York home—an apartment in the Waldorf Astoria—is prescribed conduct for party men aspiring to an important position.

Herbert Hoover, however, never has been a political prototype. The only political office he ever sought or ran for was that of President. An engineer by training, practice and aptitude, Hoover made his mark by his administrative skill. Lately he has used this as in steering the work of the Hoover Commission in studying the executive branch of government to reorganize its sprawling authority.

It is an interesting sidelight on the character of the nation's 30th President (or 31st, if you count Grover Cleveland twice) that there are few anecdotes concerning him—nothing to compare with the endless Coolidge and Roosevelt stories. The popular picture of the man of a quiet, thoughtful person, long on formality and even shy in a posed way.

His life is in the Horatio Alger pattern. An orphan at 15, he was self-supporting at 15. Using his savings, Hoover was one of the first students to matriculate at Stanford. Graduating in 1895 with a degree in mining engineering, he went to work with a pick and shovel in the mines.

Established in Australia as an engineer, he married the girl he met at Stanford, Lou Henry. They went to China, where Hoover was chief engineer for the Chinese Department of Mines

Those were exciting years, punctuated by the Boxer Rebellion. He returned to the United States to set up an international engineering practice with offices over the world. By 1914 he was a hugely successful man, directing railways mining and allied industries which employed as many as 100,000 men.

WORKED ON RELIEF
On a trip to London in 1914 he organized the repatriation of thousands of Americans, caught like himself in World War I. He headed the administration of relief for thousands of Belgians and French.

President Woodrow Wilson appointed him food administrator when the United States entered the war and the word "Hooverize" went into the American language. After the war Specialist Hoover was named to head the Allied Administration of Relief whose activities eventually brought supplies to 23 war-impooverished countries.

President Warren G. Harding appointed him Secretary of Commerce, a post he held for eight years. From there he went into the White House on a landslide of Republican votes during an unprecedented boom.

But the boom blew up. Always a hard worker, Hoover sometimes spent 20 hours a day at his desk in his efforts to halt the decline. Nevertheless, he caught the lion's share of blame.

As his popularity waned his round face became grimmer and his manner more remote. Even his closest associates found him cold.

What people fondly called the "New Hoover" began to emerge a couple of years after he left Washington. People started talking about his humor, his friendliness.
