Tech Football Fans Travel To TCU Tilt

More than 3,100 Tech football fans — including 1,802 students — are making the trek to Fort Worth for the Tech-TCU game at 7:30 p.m. today in Amon Carter Stadium.

This is the official school trip. The Tech Student Council will set up headquarters at the Across Country Inn. If any Tech student finds himself in financial or disciplinary trouble, he can call GL1-4116 and ask for either Jess Parrish or the Student Council room.

Cheerleaders Cril Payne, Betty Newby, Mike Bohn, Camella Moore, Ronnie Siler and Kathy Ostoff will kick off activities with a pep rally at 6:15 p.m. today on the TCU band practice field, west of women's dorms on the University campus.

Band Attends

Tech's 240-member band will make the trip. Band buses will leave Lubbock at 9 a.m. today. Following the game TCU's band will host a party for the Tech band group.

Also on hand to cheer the Raiders will be more than 40 members of Saddle Tramps and the Tech Raider riding Charcoal Cody.

At the game Techsians will occupy the north end of the west stands. A dance is scheduled after the game in the TCU Union. All Tech students will be welcome.

Exes Host

Wayne James, executive director of Texas Tech Ex-Students Assn., said the Fort Worth chapter of Tech exes will host a party and dance following the game. The dance is for exes and their friends and will be at Ridglea Country Club in Fort Worth. A cover charge of $1.25 per person will be charged. Karl Keller's orchestra will play at the dance.

Besides the Tech-TCU bout, two other football games will be played this weekend in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

Frosh Vote For Heads Once More

Freshmen will go to the polls Monday in a runoff election to decide who they want for class officers.

Johnny Walker and Mike Malcik are the contenders for the presidency. Eldon Shirey will go against Joe Ince in the race for the vice presidency. Janie Kinney and Exa Richardson are facing each other for the secretarial position.

Freshman women will decide between Suzy Crain and Judy Hawthorn for Assn. of Women Students representative.

Students in the School of Business Administration face a four-man runoff for Student Council representative. The candidates are Don Foster, Bill Bueck, Walter "Sonny" Henderson and Tommy Craddick.

Polling places will be open between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. in the Ad Bldg., the C&O Bldg., the East Engineering Bldg., and the Tech Union.

15th straight victory in this afternoon's game against Oklahoma University. If the Longhorns win, it will be their seventh straight victory over the Sooners in Dallas' Cotton Bowl.

Sunday afternoon the Dallas

Cowboys will see action against the New York Giants in the Cotton Bowl.

While there, Techsians may take time out to visit the State Fair, which is now in progress in Dallas.

Peace Corps Drive Terminates Monday

Ending a week-long recruiting program, representatives of the Peace Corps have scheduled the last Placement Test for early next week in the Tech Library.

During the drive more than 120 students completed a questionnaire, which is the first step in the screening process for volunteers. Of this number, 30 have already taken the two-hour aptitude and placement test.

Interest Higher

"Interest in the Peace Corps demonstrated by Tech students is twice what it was last year," commented Dr. Bascom Story, Corps training director.

Norman Brierley, recruiter from the Dominican Republic, termed the drive at Tech "very successful." "I and the other seven representatives from the Peace Corps very much enjoyed our stay at Tech," he added. "We have received the fullest co-operation from the students and university."

Placement tests will be given today at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. and Monday at 12:30, 4 and 7 p.m. Students unable to take the test at one of the scheduled times can do so later at a local post office. Another recruiting group will probably visit the campus anywhere from six to twelve months from now.

Majority of Seniors

The majority of students who took the test were seniors. Many of them will be notified whether they have been accepted or rejected before graduation next June.

Of those who apply approximately 20 per cent are invited to participate in a two-to-four-month training program, and from this 20 per cent, approximately 80 per cent are sent overseas.

Specific Request

Applicants' qualifications must fit a specific request before the invitation is extended. Not until the training is successfully completed will they be considered a volunteer and given an overseas assignment of from 20 to 24 months. One hundred training programs are scheduled each year on college campuses from Hawaii to Puerto Rico.

Other Peace Corps representatives who have participated in this week's drive are Mr. and Mrs. Bob McAndrews, West African volunteers; Miss Cappie Crystal, worker from Central America and Mexico; Miss Claudette Sarsfield; and Mr. Jim Gibson of the Washington D.C. office.

Rumors Grow As Days Pass

Rumors of a campaign visit to Lubbock by President Lyndon B. Johnson are getting warmer as the days pass.

Earlier this week the Avalanche-Journal reported an unconfirmed story saying the President would visit Lubbock Oct. 20.

The Amarillo Globe-Times told its readers Thursday it had learned "unofficially" that Secret Service agents were in the city making preparations for a visit by President Johnson.

Local Democratic party officials said Friday they have received no details on the possible visit. Johnson will be in Texas the week of Oct. 18. Stops at Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio are scheduled.

TACT Members Listen To Speech By Preston Smith

"Education and training are going to be the keys to the future of both the individual citizen and the entire state," Texas Lt. Gov. Preston Smith told an audience at Texas Tech here Friday.

Lt. Gov. Smith, speaking to members of the Tech faculty and the Tech chapter of the Texas Assn. of College Teachers, told the group, "Not nearly enough of our young people are getting college education, and in our present economy lack of education may doom them to menial, unsatisfying jobs, or perhaps even to unemployment."

In his talk on "Prospects for Higher Education in Texas," Lt. Gov. Smith outlined the recommendations of Gov. Connally's 25-member committee on education beyond the high school, which began working in 1963, and reported back to the Governor Aug. 31.

"The board recommendations can be boiled down to two basic ideas," Lt. Gov. Smith said. "First, more state money for higher education, and second, more coordinated control over all state-supported colleges, including junior colleges."

"You as faculty members are the key to the excellence in higher education for which we are striving."

Lt. Gov. Smith added, "We are all challenged by some aspect of this blueprint for higher education in our state. The 59th Legislature will have a number of other challenges, too."

Concurs With Officials

The lieutenant governor, who himself was graduated from Tech in 1934, reported that he concurs with a good number of other officials and leaders in Texas who feel that "the whole future of our state hinges on what we do in the field of higher education in the next few years."

Lt. Gov. Smith cited figures on growth, enrollment and current funds designated for institutions of higher education in Texas, adding, "We have not neglected higher education . . . and we are resolved that we will not."

The commission is recommending a total of $420-million for the two years beginning Sept. 1, 1965, with more than $100-million of this amount earmarked for improved faculty salaries, better libraries, new doctoral programs and research.

The committee's suggestions for possible financing included an unspecified tax, with the revenues restricted to use for higher education; doubled tuition rates for public senior colleges and universities and some increase in tuition rates at junior colleges, but including adequate loan and scholarship funds for students who need them; or postponing most major building programs for several years.

Lt. Gov. Smith described the committee's proposal for an 18-member coordinating board which would represent the highest authority in the state in matters of education beyond the high school. Existing boards of trustees and regents would continue to have operating control over their respective institutions, Lt. Gov. Smith added.

"The report of the Governor's committee recognizes in a formal way what we have known all along, even though we have not always acted accordingly—that brains are more important than bricks; that good, well-qualified faculty people are indispensable to higher education, while beautiful buildings and some of the other frills are not," he said.

Promising, Exciting Future

"I hope that all of us in state government will have your encouragement and support as we work to improve and upgrade our higher education system," Lt. Gov. Smith concluded. "We need the help and understanding of all our citizens if we are to do an adequate job of preparing young Texans for the promising and exciting future which awaits our state."

In addition to Tech faculty members and administrators, area legislators attending the TAC meeting included State Sen. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard, state representatives Reed Quilliam and Bill Parsley, and representative-elect Delwin Jones, all of Lubbock.

6 Cadets Awarded 'Distinguished' Title

Six seniors have been named "distinguished military students" for 1964-65 by the U.S. Army ROTC Instruction Unit at Tech.

They include:

Cadet 1st Lt. Joe Earl Clark of Big Spring, a business major; Cadet Maj. Terry William Denzer of Alamo, a business major;

Cadet Maj. David Lee Kinderfather of Coffeyville, Kan., an engineering major;

Cadet Col. John Charles Newsome of Lubbock, a Brigade Commander and government major;

Cadet Maj. Kenneth Bowman Snider, Jr., of Seminole, a business major.

And Cadet Maj. Randy Buford Simmons of Oil Center, N.M., an engineering major.

These men earned this distinction by being in the upper 10 per cent of their military science class and maintaining a 2.00 overall grade point average.

Placement Interviews . . .

Representatives of 16 companies have scheduled placement interviews through Tech's Placement Service for 1965 graduates during the week of Oct. 19-23.

Following is a list of the companies and the interview dates for each.

Monday, Oct. 19

Texas Instruments Inc., will be interviewing for positions in their science services division, apparatus division and components division.

The Halliburton Co., an oil industry service company, will be looking for sales and service representatives.

Pan American Petroleum Corp. wants to fill accounting positions.

U.S. Air Force Auditor General will be looking for someone to fill accounting positions.

Tuesday, Oct. 20

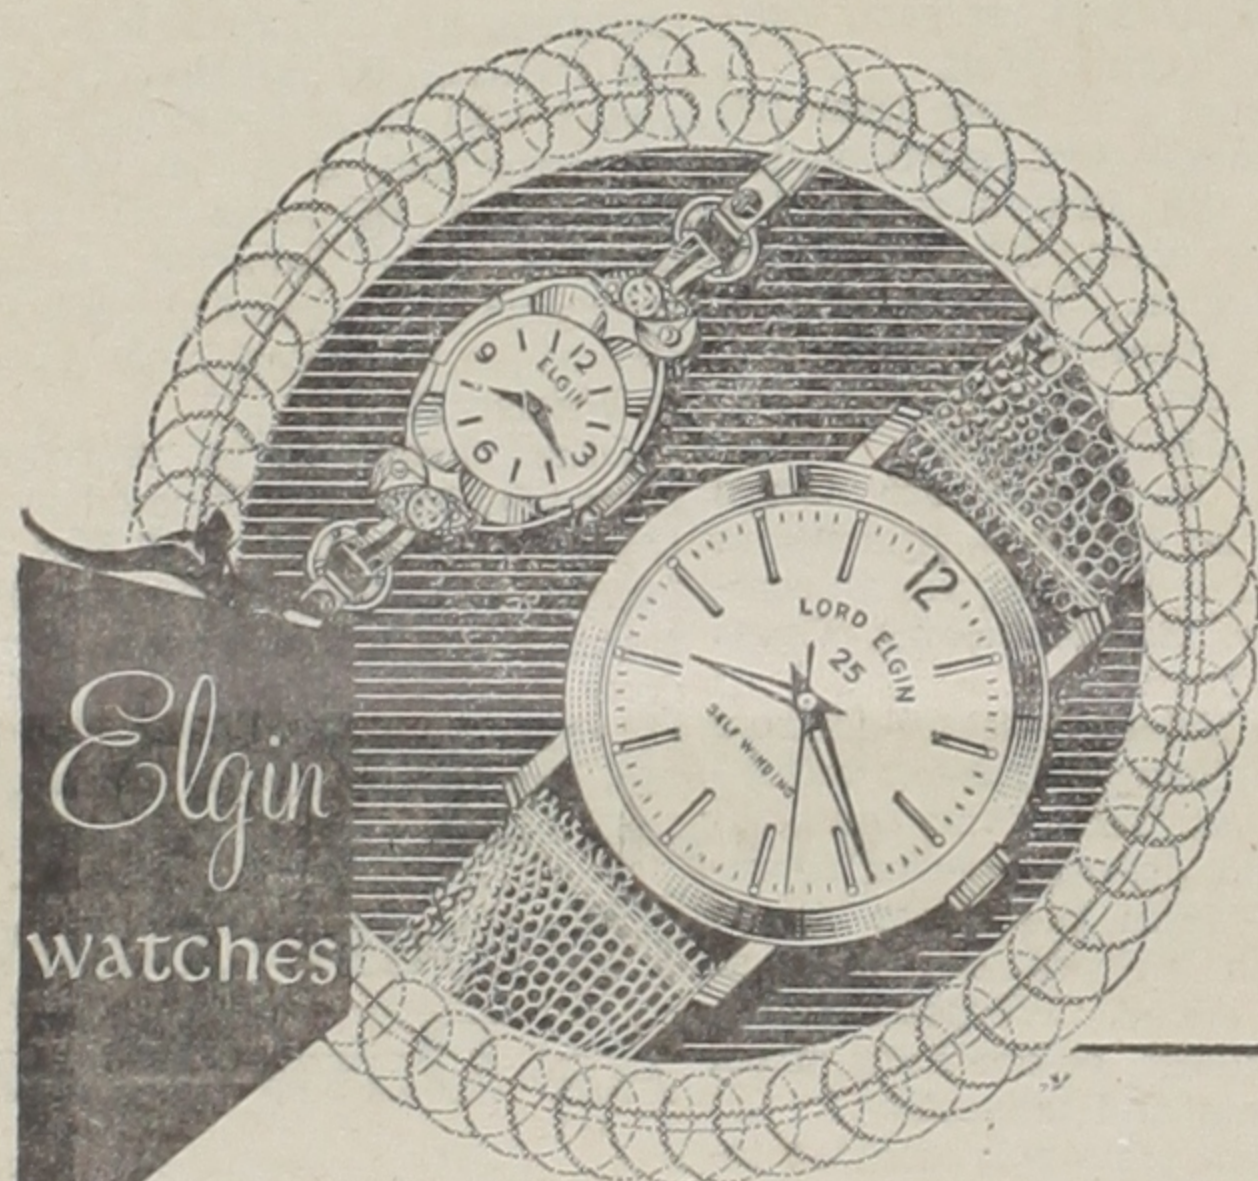

Dowell, Division of Dow Chemical Co., will be looking for persons to fill positions in all phases of its oil training and research programs.

Sun Pipe Line Co. is looking for a junior civil engineer.

For Graduate Study

Coed At A & M Accidentally

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Judith Davis of Scotch Plains, N.J., became the first woman to enroll for graduate study in wildlife management this fall at Texas A&M University quite by accident.

A spring graduate of Cornell, Miss Davis decided she would like to see some more of the country while working toward a master's degree. She chose A&M after delving through a book listing universities offering graduate programs in wildlife management.

Lone Girl Graduate

She didn't realize at the time that A&M was basically for men. Even when she discovered the situation, she was not disturbed. After all, she had been the lone girl to graduate from Cornell in her field.

A longtime love of the out-of-doors prompted the native of Cleveland, Ohio, to choose wildlife management as a career.

"I have always liked animals and the out-of-doors," she said. "When I graduate, I'd like to do field work for museums or some kind of state conservation work."

She has a dog, a hamster and several fish at home in New Jersey.

Earned BS In Zoology

The 22-year-old brunette earned her bachelor of science degree in vertebrate zoology. She was a pre-veterinary student until she changed her major as a sophomore.

"I'm enjoying A&M so far. In a way I was surprised with my reception here because I expected a little opposition," Miss Davis commented, "People have been pretty tolerant, really."

A football and basketball fan, Miss Davis said, "I'm impressed with the school spirit here, especially after coming from an Ivy League school."

Worked On Farm

As part of her undergraduate program, Miss Davis worked on a farm one summer near Binghamton, N.Y. She operated a tractor, milked cows and drove a truck for a haying crew.

"It was an experience," she said with a grin.

She also worked as a nature counselor in a summer camp in Pennsylvania.

Holder of a graduate fellowship, Miss Davis works about 10 hours each week cataloging wildlife specimens for the graduate department.

Carrying 16 Hours

Carrying 16 hours of courses, Miss Davis expects to do a good deal of studying. "It's not going to be a snap," she pointed out.

She is not hurrying to obtain another degree.

"I'm planning on taking a lot of courses and may not graduate until the end of 1966," she added.

Photography is her hobby. And Miss Davis is trying to build up a collection of wildlife photos.

"Men? — They are kind of nice to have around," she confided.

BSU Slates Daily Talks On Politics

As presidential candidates continue intensive campaigning, Tech students will have an opportunity to view the platforms of both candidates.

The Baptist Student Union will present "A View of the 1964 Elections" Monday through Thursday.

Speakers will be Lubbock county representatives for both parties, a government instructor, and members from Tech's Young Democrats and Young Republicans.

Monday — Terry Condry and Mrs. Robert Moxley, representatives of the Lubbock County Republican Party.

Tuesday — Ralph Brock, head of the Lubbock County Democratic Party.

Wednesday — Wesley Butler, Tech government instructor.

Thursday — Two representatives each from the Young Democrats and Young Republicans.

The programs are open to the public and will begin at 6:30 p.m. at the Baptist Student Center.

State Trooper Nabs 'Hunters'

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Two Negro men picked an unfortunate time to buy a hunting rifle and wound up in jail for several hours Friday. They were questioned by security-conscious officers charged with guarding President Johnson.

The two, identified as Arthur K. Brown and Grover Burt, both 39 and Nashville residents, were picked up by a state trooper on a downtown street corner five minutes before the President's motorcade passed that way.

One of them had a .22-caliber rifle wrapped in brown paper.

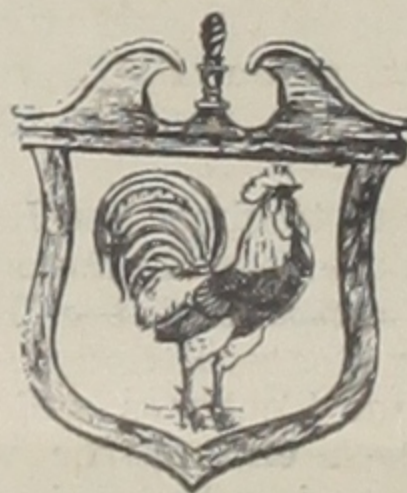

Officers let them go after the men explained that they wanted to buy a shotgun, but it cost too much at $30 and settled for a $6.50 rifle — to be used for hunting. The weapon was not loaded.

Football Fans Now Come In Different Varieties

Help Promote Interest

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN is picking up steam now and may become "very" interesting as the countdown to election day begins.

This week the Daily Toreador took a random poll of Techsians to determine the degree of interest students have in the campaign.

The results of the poll show that many and perhaps — if a random poll is valid — a majority of Techsians at this time are neither very interested or disinterested. Rather they are "just" interested.

This lukewarm view of the campaign may be due to several possible factors — lack of clear cut issues, failure of the candidates to arouse the voters or lack of campus political activity.

We would like to discuss the latter possible factor.

Both the Young Republicans and the Young Democrats have had to spend a little time getting organized and making plans, so they have been unable to get a campaign going.

We know that in the coming days and weeks both parties hope to help promote interest in the campaign by sponsoring many political activities.

The Daily Toreador would like to encourage them to go full steam ahead. Anything that the student political groups can do to bring out the issues and promote great interest in them among Techsians is certainly needed.

In the presidential election of 1960, one method of promoting interest in the campaign was a mock election on campus.

We would like to see an independent organization sponsor a mock election this year.

The Daily Toreador would cooperate and help by giving publicity to any plans for a mock election.

Too, in order for Techsians to have a better opportunity to know more about the issues and the candidates, the Toreador plans gradually to devote more attention in the coming weeks to them in the paper's news and editorial page columns.

Soon we hope to begin publishing a political column from the Young Republicans and the Young Democrats concerning the issues.

Also another way of promoting interest on campus is having a series of debates, speakers and rallies.

This year the stakes are too high for us as students to go fishing during the campaign.

Since most opportunities for our success and happiness lie in the future, we before all others should take a very active part in the campaign.

Today's football, a sport devoted to the eternal triumph of the good guy (if he's big enough), has become a game of increasing complexity—fans now come in five varieties.

The devoted fan, the guy who insisted on twin beds in his home so that he might sleep with the helmet he wore in high school without injuring his wife, has remained basically unchanged throughout football's history.

Rob Johnston

He's Early

He still comes early, goes quickly and quietly to the 50-yard line and watches, no, studies the entire game without so much as a gesture or sideward glance.

Upon the games completion he retires to his home, and, depending upon the game's outcome, either dutifully beats his wife whom he feels in some way contributed to his misery a second time, (the first being married), or dons that old helmet and charges around the house in ecstasy.

Larry's Lovable

And then there's Lovable Larry, whose date fell through at the last minute and since he already had a tie on he decided to go up in the stands and really give 'em hell.

Conservatively dressed, Larry doesn't know who's playing. He merely saunters dreamily through the crowd; he examines and inspects until he finds that one lass, that very fortunate lass, who will be honored with Larry's presence.

He Frets Not

Larry patiently waits until the home team gets on the two-yard line with the score tied and the clock showing five seconds of playing time left and then proceeds toward his target, careful to pause in front of each spectator for an instant.

Although he seldom succeeds, Larry frets not, it's the hunt that fills his Saturday night with the fluid of satisfaction.

There To Help

Another who comes without escort is that fan, usually male, who though versed in every aspect of the game never quite made the coaching staff at Oklahoma University.

But he recognizes, as no other, his team's erroneous behavior, and is quick to scream his findings to any and all.

For Team's Good

Perhaps he may annoy those around him, but when confronted by him, football's littlest big man, one should always remember that it's for the good of the team this guy rages and when you criticize him you are in effect, lowering your team's chances for victory.

This character also serves to keep coaches "on their toes." They know, after seeing the application of his superior intellect, that they are dispensable.

If you still fail to recall him maybe this will help: He's the one who somehow is always sitting right beside you.

Though an infrequent visitor, there are those women, usually young and quite often Beatle fans, who admire the muscularity of the players.

Bodies Are Beautiful

The score is unimportant win, lose, or draw, those beautiful bodies will continue to draw her vigil.

She knows, as no other grandstand type does, that under that hard exterior of pad and helmet lies 200 pounds of something equally as masculine—and she kinda likes it.

Those 11 young men who are sitting together with rather glum expressions on their faces typify the fifth grandstand variety.

Always together; always without dates; always with anticipation stenciled neatly across their faces, these men would much rather be attending that social function that is preoccupying their thoughts, and they would be, too, if it were not for one unsurmountable problem—the party just hasn't started yet.

New Group Rumored

They will continue to sit quietly until the game's termination, at which time they will quickly leave the stadium and get to that victory party (someone always wins).

In passing it might be wise to note that following that rain-plagued Saturday, Sept. 26, on which the T.U. boys came over to play with the T.T. boys a new group has been rumored—those who attend on umbrella bets.

Letters To The Editor

Cunningham Cites 'Best Analysis'

Editor:

Your editorial comments on the display of emotion shown at the Goldwater Rally yesterday represents the best analysis of news displayed by the Daily Toreador this year.

It is indeed a sad day when the political party that seeks a return to "the basic freedoms that made this country great," resorts to such violent tactics to almost literally stamp out the opposition.

However, this action was representative of another factor — the Texas Tech faculty; because the man whom the Toreador stated as using "goon squad tactics" was Dr. _____.

This information is passed on to the editor so that additional comment on yesterday's rally may be made with a knowledge of the persons involved.

D. A. CUNNINGHAM

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Cunningham, we have exercised our prerogative and deleted the name of the person referred to in your second paragraph. We believe you will agree that the issue is more important than the individual involved.)

Miller Points Out Discourteousness

Dear Editor:

(In reference to a letter in Friday, Oct. 8 Daily Toreador.)

Being such a wise judge and profound interpreter of Constitutional Rights will you please answer the following:

- 1) Would you sit in a church

with a sign that said "There is no God?"

2) Would you go to a Negro group meeting with a sign that read "Nigger go back to Africa?"

3) Or would you go to a Johnson rally with a sign saying "In your wallet he has his hand?"

With your tremendously preceptive mind, I'm sure that with sound logic and a rational mind you have dismissed the preceding, and if this is the case, will you please justify the following:

1) Why were these students of supposedly good character sitting in an area that had been roped off for security reasons? (It seems that this would be a violation of an order of our law).

2) Why were these people present? It seems that a fundamental precept would be courtesy.

If you are so moral and right in all your opinions and judgments, and know your rights, why don't you run for an office?

Speech Department Slates Production With 'Tempest'

The Tech Speech Dept. will present William Shakespeare's "The Tempest" as its first production of the year. Performances have been scheduled to coincide with the Tech Fine Arts Festival and Shakespeare's Quadricentennial. The play has its setting on a Mediterranean island and carries a theme of sin, self-knowledge and repentance.

Stage Director

The cast, under the stage direction of Ronald Schulz, will perform the tragedy in a modernized setting with stylized costuming. A theme depicting man's destined triumph over nature will be emphasizing throughout.

Technical director, Dr. Clifford

Ashby, will present a simple platform set with emphasis on natural motivations.

Mrs. Suzanne Aker, Tech dance instructor, is in charge of choreography for the production.

Performances are set for 8 p.m. Nov. 12, 13, 14 and 16 at the New University Theatre. There will be a Sunday matinee performance at 3 p.m. Nov. 15.

Cast members, in order of their appearance, are David Taylor as the Boatswain; James Bearden, Stephen Foster, Glenn Polk and James Ward as the Mariners; Mike Niemczyk as Alonso; Fred McFarland as Gonzalo; Jan Grice as Sebastian; and Charles Van Deventer as Ferdinand.

Other Players

Also Michael Connel as Adrian; Glenn Polk as Francisco; Jeannie Rook as Miranda; G. W. Bailey as Prospero; Perry Langenstein as Ariel; David Keys as Caliban; Roland Myers as Trinculo; and Charles Benton as Stephano.

Dancers Lucy Black, Kay Brown, Charlotte Compton, Kathleen Graw, Darline Hunter, Linda Ken-University Theatre. There will be Taylor will play the Spirits.

The Speech Department plans three additional productions for the year. "The Contrast" by Royall Tyler will be presented Jan. 29-31. An American comedy will be the second additional production and "The Three-Penny Opera" will be performed as a joint work by the Speech and Music Departments March 18-21.

Tickets for productions are $1.50, and there is a 50-cent discount for Tech students presenting ID cards at the box office.

— Sunday Concert Reading — 'Don Juan In Hell' Offers Philosophy On Life, Death

"Don Juan in Hell" will bring a concert-reading of playwright Bernard Shaw's philosophies to the University Theater.

"Don Juan" deals with the legendary lover, conceived by Shaw as a philosophical man, who tries to seduce a young girl and later meets her in Limbo. The setting is used as a spring board for debates about life and death.

Cast members are Mike Niemczyk, English instructor, as Don Juan; Dr. Hugh Pendexter III, associate professor of English, as the statue; Bill Bingham as the devil; and Dorris Maxey, speech instructor, as Dona Ana.

Ballet Artists To Honor JFK In Dallas Nov. 25

Leading ballet dancers of the Western world will take part in the "Tribute in Dance" memorial to the late President John F. Kennedy in Dallas Nov. 25.

The historic ballet event, produced by Dallas Civic Opera, will feature solo and duo highlights from famous classical and contemporary ballet works.

Famous Dancers Appearing

Among those appearing in the tribute will be Yvette Chauvire, prima ballerina of the Paris Opera; Jacques d'Amboise, principal dancer of the New York City Ballet; Carmen de Lavallade, foremost American modern dancer and star of the de Lavallade-Ailey American Dance Company; and Royes Fernandez, principal dancer of the American Ballet Theater.

Others are Carla Fracci, prima ballerina of the Teatro all Scala, Milan; John Gilpin, principal dancer of the Royal Festival Ballet, London; Melissa Hayden, prima ballerina of the New York City Ballet; Allegra Kent, leading soloist with the New York City Ballet; and Kovach and Rabovsky, stars of the Hungarian Ballets Bihari.

Other Dancers

Other performers will be Nala Najan, Hindu temple dancer; Nadia Nerina, prima ballerina of the Royal Ballet, London; Andre Prokovsky, soloist with the New York City Ballet; Marina Svetlova, ballet director and prima ballerina of the Dallas Civic Opera; Maria Tallchief, prima ballerina of the New York City Ballet; and Jorge Tyller, principal dancer of the Ballet Folklorico de Mexico.

Ballet works in the "Tribute to Dance" will be "Don Quichotte" pas de deux; "Flower Festival at Genzano" pas de deux; "Daphnis et Chloe" pas de deux; and "The Dying Swan" pas de deux.

Modern Jazz Selection

The memorial also will present Najan in the Hindu Mask Dance of Seraikella, Tyller de Cerf des Yaqui and Miss de Lavallade in a modern jazz selection.

Tickets for the memorial performance are $1 to $10 and may be ordered through the Dallas Civic Opera Guild, 818 Reliance Life Bldg., Dallas. The performance is set for 8 p.m. Nov. 25 in Dallas' State Fair Music Hall.

Series Scene Shifts To Yankee Stadium

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Editor

Curt Simmons, a 35-year-old refugee from the 1950 Phillie Whiz Kids, will face young, hard-throwing Jim Bouton Saturday when the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees, all even after two games, resume the World Series at Yankee Stadium.

With the scene shifting to their cavernous home park in the Bronx for the next three games, the Yankees have become 2-1 favorites in the best-of-seven series and 8-5 to win the third game behind the right-handed Bouton, 18-13. Simmons, a left-hander, won 18 and lost nine for the Cards.

Fair, cool weather with temperatures in the middle 50s was predicted with a northwest wind of 15 miles per hour. The usual big throng of some 69,000 is expected to turn out for the game, scheduled for noon (EST).

Simmons and his Cardinal mates examined the shadows and tricky wind currents of the stadium Friday in an off-day workout. Most of the Cards were seeing the ball park for the first time.

"The size of the ball park should help us," said Manager Johnny Keane of the Cards.

"We're not a home run hitting club. We've got three fine outfielders who can go get the ball. They can all roam and throw. We don't think we have any defensive problems in the park at all."

Lou Brock, who appeared to have a few problems in his own park at St. Louis, tried out the left field territory by having coach Red Schoendienst hit him some fly balls.

Keane said Julian Javier, his regular second baseman, was a "very doubtful starter" because of the bruised left hip that kept him out of the starting line-up in the first two games.

"Javier is taking heat treatment," said Keane. "Our trainer, Doc Bauman, says he has a chance to play. We won't make a final decision until after we get out here Saturday. I could use him defensively under handicap. He can run all right. But he can't hit because he can't swing."

Keane hedged on Sunday's starting pitcher in the fourth game but said it probably would be Ray Sadecki, the young left-hander who was credited with the opening game victory with relief help from Barney Schultz.

"It looks like we'll go in the same rotation," said Keane. "That would bring Sadecki up next and Bob Gibson after him."

"I think the off-day should help. It gives the boys a little time to relax."

Berra's Yankees worked out before the Cardinals, with Roger Maris getting special batting hints from Wally Moses, the Yanks' traveling batting coach. Maris hit several batting practice pitches into the right field seats.

Joe Pepitone, central figure in a controversial hit-batsman incident Thursday in St. Louis, was the center of attention. He still insisted Gibson's pitch hit him on the left thigh.

The Yanks won that one 8-3 after losing the opener 9-5.

Pepitone went over near the screen when the Cards stood in a runway watching the Yankees hit before their own workout.

"I read what you said about me in the papers," he joked.

"Let's see you roll over," said Dick Groat, the shortstop of the Cards who insisted the pitch had hit the bat before it hit Pepitone—if it hit him at all.

When Keane came out with his club, Pepitone was walking by the dugout in his street clothes. As soon as he spotted Keane, he pretended to be limping. Keane went along with the gag.

Earlier Bouton had been posing for photographers with a felt hat on his head, doing his impersonation of Crazy Guggenheim, the Frank Fontaine character.

"What is this, baseball or Crazy Guggenheim," said Maris.

"Just play deep tomorrow, that's all," said Bouton in his best Guggenheim voice.

Raiders Take On Froggies

Anderson Paces Raiders In 5 Statistical Categories

By DON ENGER
Sports Staff

The Texas Tech Red Raiders are "whooping it up" with a 2-1 record, and with good reason. They have beaten a nationally-ranked team; they have lost only to the number one team in the nation and they have whipped an annual conference rival, Texas A&M.

Tonight, the Raiders meet a tough Texas Christian team. The usually huge Froggies don't have as much beef this year, weighing in one pound shy of the Raiders, but more than make up for it in desire.

TCU Has 'Fumbleitis'

Frog Coach Abe Martin says this is the first time he has had captains who call meetings to discuss how they can improve their team. But the Froggies are having their share of "fumbleitis" thus far, and are without a victory in their first three outings against Kansas, Florida State and Arkansas.

The Raiders are expected to continue using the three-platoon system while Martin says he hates this system, and "will go as far as I can without it." He thinks his two-way men can play as much as 35 or 40 minutes of the 60, and that he will then have to rest them, either offensively or defensively, by using spot substitution.

Texas-Christian will also use two quarterbacks, in the persons of 184-pound Kent Nix and 179-pound Randy Howard. Nix is used mostly for passing, while senior Howard usually controls the running game. Nix will start for the Frogs tonight.

Tech 'Slight Favorites'

Though Tech Coach J T King was disappointed with the Raider workouts during the first part of the week, things looked much brighter after the last hard workout Wednesday and the Raiders are expected to be at their best tonight and are picked as slight favorites.

Tech's Donny Anderson continued to add his name to the top of team statistical columns this week—and now there are five columns headed by the flashy halfback.

With a career best of 129 yards rushing against Texas A&M last week the Stinnett junior took over that category's leadership, and his touchdown tied him with fullback Jim Zanios of Albuquerque, N.M., in scoring. Anderson has now accumulated 215 yards on 53 carries and has tallied 12 points.

Also, Anderson leads in pass receiving, with 9 catches for 121 yards; in punting, with a 37-yard average; and in kickoff returns, 5 for 80 and a 16.0 average.

Quarterback Tommy Wilson of Corsicana continues to pace the Raiders in passing, completing 17 of 34 for 199 yards and a 50 percent accuracy mark. Safety Teddy Roberts of Gulfport, Miss., is the top punt returner, 7 for 67 yards, and the best pass interceptor, 2 for 18 yards of runback.

Trailing Anderson in rushing are Zanios, with 134 yards on 42 tries, and halfback Johnny Agan of Albany, with 119 on 32 runs. Agan, is next in receiving, with 4 catches for 32 yards.

Texas Tech, now 2-1 for the season, tackles Texas Christian University at Fort Worth.

Texas Gambles Rating In Meet With Sooners

(AP) — Texas puts a 14-game winning streak and the nation's No. 1 ranking on the line Saturday in the big game of Southwest Conference football.

The mighty Longhorns, looking fully as good as the 1963 team that went on from here to the national championship, battle old enemy Oklahoma at Dallas in one of the ancient football series.

Two other Southwest Conference members — Rice and Texas A&M — journey to California for inter-sectional games Saturday. The Rice Owls will be in Palo Alto, Calif., in an effort to repeat their last season conquest of Stanford. The Aggies will get their first test against UCLA at Los Angeles.

Two important conference games feature Arkansas against Baylor at Little Rock and Texas Tech versus Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, rated No. 9 in the nation, have a perfect season record and conquered Texas Christian in their only loop game. It will be the first conference game for Baylor, defeated by Washington and Oregon State in inter-sectional tilts.

The Southern Methodist Mustangs are idle this week.

"Beyond Religion" will be the subject of a seminar Sunday and Monday at the Tech Wesley Foundation, 2420 15th St.

Dr. J. B. Holt of the Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University, will be in charge of the program. His speaking schedule for Sunday begins at 4 p.m. with the topics "Religious Christianity," "Holy Worldliness," and "The Protestant Principle."

Fireside Discussion

Holt will speak on "Retooling for Today's Task" in St. John's Methodist Church at 7 p.m. The day's activities will end at 8 p.m. with a fireside discussion in the Wesley Foundation.

Activities will begin noon Monday with the topic "Science and Technology as Secularized Christian Eschatology" and will conclude at 7 p.m. with a speech on "Between Secularism and Clericalism."

Attends Perkins

Dr. Holt, Associate Professor of Missions, received his bachelor of divinity from Perkins School of Theology and his doctors of divinity from McMurry College in 1954.

His publications include "Christian Education Around the World," "The Church School," and various published writings in both the Philippines and United States.

He served six years with the Board of Education of the Central Texas Conference, three years as Executive Secretary.

UN VOTE DENIED?

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States gave notice Thursday it will demand that voting rights be taken away from the Soviet Union the day the U.N. General Assembly opens — Nov. 10 — unless the Russians pay up for peace-keeping operations. The step was taken amid hints from the Soviet Union that it will quit the United Nations if it is deprived of its assembly vote.

Canada Meet Draws Tech Ag Professor

Dr. A. W. Young, professor and head of agronomy at Texas Tech, was a delegate at the 46th annual meeting of the International Crop Improvement Assn. in Victoria, B.C., Sunday through Friday.

This year's meeting, the second to be held in Canada, was highlighted by the attendance of 19 herbage seed experts who serve on the advisory group to the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development in Europe.

Visitors, who represented 13 European countries, attended the meeting as the climax to a tour of the northern United States during which they observed procedures used by U.S. and Canadian seedmen.

Dr. Young, currently an associate member in the organization, is its past president and former director. He served as president and as director from 1959 through 1961 and acted as an official host last year when the international meeting was staged in Galveston.

Tech's department is currently chairman of the Association's committee on sorghum, and holds positions on several other key committees.
