Help Save Lives

SINCE the traffic light for the corner of College avenue and Fourteenth street was taken down about a year and a half ago, the busy intersection has been a traffic hazard for Tech students who must cross it to get to the Coop and Avenue.

According to Lubbock City Manager M. R. Smith, jr., the light was taken down because after checking it was thought that the value of the light was less than its cost to the city. The person who checked the light found that 75 percent of the time the light was on, no cars were coming east and west, or along College avenue, and that 50 percent of the student either crossed when the light was red or cut across the middle of the block.

Now there is scarcely a time when the College Avenue-Fourteenth street intersection is clear. Automobiles, busses and fast trucks whiz along the four-lane avenue with only the consciences of the drivers to slow them down.

The intersection is especially dangerous at night, for there is not even a street light at that corner. However, equally as many students cross at night on their way to the Avenue.

A definite problem exists and we believe it would be obvious to city officials if they will be fair enough to make another check. It would be over-ambitious to say that replacing the traffic light for College avenue and Fourteenth street would entirely cut out jaywalking and crossing against the light, but it might save lives.

Boogie Or Brahms?

Patty-cake, patty-cake, baker's man, Swing out baby, give it all you can.

SO the strictly hepped-gent croons to his neat chick and they dance on far into the night with music that fits their youth to the "nth" degree.

And then the classical lovers sit back, take a deep breath and come forth with the startling bit of information that the younger generation is going to the dogs.

Someone once said that there are three classes of music; music for education, music for amusement and music for intellectual enjoyment. The well-rounded, broad-minded person enjoys all three.

Many students say that they do not like grand opera because they cannot understand it, and yet they thrill to the rendition of a so-called song like "Flat Foot Floogie with a Floy Floy," and "Hold Tight Frrr Racky Sacky."

Despite the qualities of this form of composition, which originated in Harlem and on lower Basin street, many persons actually prefer it to Brahms or Beethoven.

Certainly no one will argue that this so-called modern type of music can lift you to the height to which true musical genius is capable, and in no sense of the word can it be called inspiring.

We are not advocating that students should spend all their time listening to grand opera and scorn juke boxes, but it might be interesting to sample music of the higher level for a change.

Good Neighbor Policy

AN ADVANCE toward better relations between countries and toward furthering of the good-neighbor policy is being made by some of the foreign language students on Tech campus.

Through an agency located in Eugene, Ore., Prof. C. B. Qualia, head of the foreign language department, has secured names and addresses of students located in Cuba, Mexico, Puerto Rico, the South American countries, French Canada and the United States, who are deeply interested in starting a correspondence with students on this campus.

To date 18 Techsians have turned in their names to the foreign language department for a correspondent. These students, through this project, will learn all about the customs, geography, amusements, traditions and habits of the people in the country of their correspondent.

To have a successful good-neighbor policy, there must first be an understanding on both sides about the people and ideals of each. There could be no better nor pleasanter way of reaching such an understanding than through this method of correspondence.

Approximately half of Tech students take some foreign language during the four years college curriculum. On the basis of this fact, it seems that more than 18 students should be interested in this experiment and be willing to give it a trial.

Life With The Exes-

Howard W. Schmidt, son of Dr. C. C. Schmidt, head of the physics department, was graduated as pilot and received a commission as second lieutenant in the Army Air forces at Columbus Army Air field, Columbus, Miss., last week.

S/2c Bob A. Wilson, '43 electrical engineering student, is in the Naval School Receiving unit at US Naval Training center, San Diego, Calif.

S/1c Robert (Bob) Kent, '43 electrical engineering student, has been transferred from England to northern Scotland and is in LST service, according to his father, Dr. Harry L. Kent.

Lt. Ernest E. Ammons recently completed an orientation course designed to bridge the gap between training in the States and combat soldiering in Germany, according to public relations headquarters, Air Service command.

Marine Lt. John T. Haynes, veteran of 17 months overseas duty in the Pacific theatre of war, is a platoon leader with the Infantry Training regiment at Camp Lejeune, N. C.

Jimmy Rowan Bragg, '43 student in pre-law, is home with a medical discharge from the service. Bragg expects to re-enter Tech the second semester.

Buford K. Watkins has been recently promoted to the grade of staff sergeant at Laurinburg-Maxton Army Air base, glider installation of the First Troop Carrier command.

Ensign Eugene Wright, '43 graduate in electrical engineering, stopped on the campus to visit friends this week while on way to the west coast, where he will attend a sound school.

Wendell Smith, '43 civil engineering graduate and later instructor in the ASTP on the campus, is now in the Navy and will soon go to San Diego, Calif., for training.

To Department Heads

A TREMENDOUS number of ex-Techsians are now in service. The records are kept in the president's office, but how much easier it would be if each department head kept a record of his own exes.

Dr. L. T. Patton, head of geology and petroleum engineering, already has his own system of keeping records for service men from his department.

When the Homecoming edition of The Toreador was in preparation, the reporter gathering data about ex-Techsians ran into considerable difficulty, and had to check and recheck before the complete information was obtained.

Another advantage that would be gained if the above suggestions were followed would be that after the war is over, Tech would have a complete record, that could easily be assembled, of its contributions to World War II.

Tech Ends Season With 7 To 6 Victory Over SPAAF

Raiders Win Four Out Of 11 Games

TEXAS TECH'S RED RAIDERS hung up their tattered football jerseys after closing the books on the 1944 gridiron season Saturday afternoon with a 7-6 win over South Plains Army Air field's Winged Commandos.

The Raiders squeaked by the under-rated soldiers without the services of their star fullback, Walter Schlinkman. It was Schlinkman's substitute, Billy Whitehead, starting in the Dumas Dynamiter's position, who provided the Tech score when he intercepted a pass by SPAAF's Paul Campbell and ran 19 yards for a touchdown.

End Luke Thompson kicked the game-winning extra point and performed the punting chores all afternoon.

The smallest crowd of the season was on hand to see the closest and possibly the best game of the season—a battle of two big, rugged lines and fast, flashy scat backs.

The Raiders swarmed down to within spitting distance of the SPAAF goal-line six times during the first half, but was never able to push over a touchdown, even with first down and goal to go inside the SPAAF ten-yard line. The stubborn Commando line allowed Tech backs to scamper virtually as they pleased in midfield, but inevitably stiffened and threw them back when they marched near pay-dirt.

However, SPAAF's passing attack was completely stifled by the Raiders, who intercepted four of SPAAF's 11 passes while the soldiers only were able to complete one of the tosses.

The Tech marker came in the opening minutes of the second quarter, when Whitehead grabbed a pass out of the air and scatted down the sidelines to score before the Commandos knew what had happened.

SPAAF came back strong in the second half, taking the kickoff on their 35 and making a first down on the 45 in three running plays by lanky Paul Campbell. SPAAF fullback who hails from Breckenridge. With the pigskin resting on their own 45, the Commandos got down to business and on the next play fullback Claude McClanahan from Dallas took a short lateral from Quarterback Joe Eager, cut off his own left tackle, reversed his field and ran 55 yards for a touchdown with never a hand laid on him.

Campbell's try for extra point was blocked by the Tech line, the only conversion attempt Campbell has had blocked all season.

That ended the scoring for the afternoon, although Campbell broke loose from his own 44 in the fourth period and lugged the ball to the Tech 18 before being caught from behind by Don Dudley, who played fine defensive ball at end all day.

The entire Tech line played excellent football, battling a good SPAAF forward wall that was just as determined and perhaps slightly bigger.

Dudley, Johnny Birdwell, Otis Turner and Thompson especially stood out for the Raiders up front, while 200-pound End W. W. Fowler, Guard Pat Steele and Center Tom Lacey were outstanding for SPAAF in the line.

Art Shahan, T. M. Cox and Whitehead carried the ball for Tech in the backfield while the SPAAF stars were Campbell and McClanahan.

SPAAF outrushed Tech on the ground to the tune of about 210 yards to 156, but Tech completed four passes for 50 yards. The game was played in misting rain and on a soggy field. Schlinkman did not even suit up and first-string quarterback Gene Hardey also was missing from the lineup for the entire game.

With the SPAAF game Tech finished up a football season which has not been conspicuous for victories but which has bolstered the reputation of the Red Raiders for football in all parts of the state.

High point of the season for the Raiders was their upset of Rice institute, which led the Southwest conference race at the time Tech

The Sideline--

By Hugh Rowland

Well, it's all over—that's all she wrote. The 1944 football season is finished. We lost more than we won, 7 to 4 to be exact, but the opposition we have met can truthfully say that we put up a good fight.

The football prospects for Tech next year are better than they have been in the past three years. Fourteen of the old players will be back. That sounds mighty good compared to the two or three vets that turned up at the beginning of this season, and the crop of new boys is expected to do more than equal those of this year. But, on the other hand, the schedule for next year is expected to be far rougher than any of the past several years, so maybe it's a good thing that the situation has improved.

Of course "Salty" leads the Raider scoring parade for this year. He has a record of seven touchdowns and 11 extra points with conversions making a total of 53 points—that ain't hay, brother.

Arthur Shahan and Don Dudley are tied for second place with 18 points each. They both scored three touchdowns. Cecil Norris is third with two touchdowns for 12 points, and Luke Thompson is fourth with 8 points. Costin, Bufkin, Billy Whitehead, Glenn Lewis and Ernest Hawkins have a touchdown each for six points, and "Spider" Dillon kicked a goal for one point.

This series gives the Raiders a grand total of 134 points while our opponents made 170. The Raiders have an average of not quite two touchdowns per game, failing to score in only one—the TCU tilt.

All in all, the season hasn't been too profitable from other angles either. The fact that we lost our first three home games and were defeated the Owls.

Tech won only four games of a rugged 11-game schedule, but won recognition for the colorful brand of football the Raiders like to play. Fullback Walter Schlinkman's outstanding offensive and defensive play all season already has won for him All-American mention by the United Press and plaudits as the Southwest's best fullback.

To a large extent playing football against colleges with Naval or Marine trainees with considerable gridiron experience to call upon, the Raiders have borne themselves well and made their opponents respect them. In only one game did they fail to score and that was against the Southwest conference champions, Texas Christian university's Horned Frogs.

Texas Tech's record for the season:

- Tech 13, LAAF 27.
- Tech 14, Texas A&M 27.
- Tech 7, Okla. A&M 14.
- Tech 7, Tulsa 34.
- Tech 19, Southwestern 21.
- Tech 35, West Texas 6.
- Tech 13, Rice 7.
- Tech 13, New Mexico 7.
- Tech 6, SMU 7.
- Tech 7, SPAAF 6.

Basketball Coach Polk Robinson is one of the best liked coaches ever to lead a group of Tech players. The fact that he is an ex-Techman himself and that he has one of the most pleasing personalities to be found causes him to rank "tops" with everyone.

LAAF Tilt Begins Basketball Season

THE 1944-45 basketball season officially opens Saturday night when we take up our young, but violent, feud with LAAF. The clash will see three Tech sophomores and a squad of fish pit their cager skill against a far more experienced Army quintet.

The LAAF team is made up of 10 men with college ball playing experience, a sprinkling of All-State and All-City players, a couple of semi-pros and a collection of high school grads from all over the nation. The Flyers can boast of no particularly big name talent in their lineup, but for the past several weeks they have been working on some pay-dirt combinations. As yet they are in the same position as we find ourselves in. They are in need of more drill for better cooperation and teamwork, and their final player selections are still being delayed, pending further developments.

As for Tech's side of the picture—things are about as expected. Around 20 boys reported to the Raider basketball coach, Polk Robinson, at the beginning of the season. Of this number approximately 13 remain, but more are expected to turn up late this week. Don Grove, Jay Kerr and Paul Haskins are the only upperclassmen out for Tech so far. Dudley was an outstanding player here last year. The six foot-five incher was second scorer with a total of 265 points scored for the season. Don held the seven foot Bob Kurland of Oklahoma A&M to the giant's all-time low score for the season last year.

Jay Kerr came to Tech last January, playing his first game for Tech at about mid-season. He ran up a total of 63 points in 10 games. Paul Haskins is the only other returning player, but he may not be with us much longer. Paul reported to Dallas Tuesday to take his Naval physical. However, he is not expected to pass because of a slight heart murmur.

The fish squadmen who have reported are Gene Hardey, Mandy Manderson, Bill Kelly, Weldon Minchew, Jerry Crawford, Bill Cope, Jiggs Jackson, Billy Walker, Lee Brannan and Costin Bufkin.

The game time is scheduled for 8 o'clock at the Tech gym.

Basketball Rules Change This Year

The major rule changes as made by the National Basketball committee to become effective this year is quite an improvement over the old rules that is expected to turn the tide for many an underdog.

The first change is the four-personal-foul rule which, under the new system, becomes a five-personal-foul rule. A player is disqualified when he commits his fifth personal foul. This applies to teams of all ages. An additional foul is not granted when a game goes into extra periods.

A new section 10 appears in rule nine. This is aimed against the very tall "goal tender" used by some teams. A defensive player may not touch the ball after it has started its fall so long as it remains above the level of the basket ring. This applies only to a try for a field goal or a free throw, and not to "bats." Changes in rule three are as follows: Each team is to provide the scorer a complete list of all their players' names and numbers at least two minutes before the game. Failure to do so is a technical foul and will award one free throw to the offended team before the ball is tossed at center to start the game or at any time later if such an irregularity is discovered. There is no limit to the number of times a player may leave the game and re-enter. This will relieve the officials of the necessity of keeping entry records.

Sigma Delta Pi Hears Talks On Pan-America

Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish fraternity, met Tuesday evening with the following speakers presented on the program:

Robert Guirette, Mexico City; Guido Luis Rodriguez and Norman Arguello, Costa Rica; George Colon, Santurce, Puerto Rico; Maria Valdes, Monterrey; and Francisco Cordero, Chihuahua.

After organizing an imaginary Pan-American club with Norman Arguello as president, George Colon as treasurer, and Guido Luis Rodriguez as secretary, Anglo-American members then opened the floor for discussion on improving relations between America and the Latin-American countries.

Robert Guirette spoke about summer school at the University of Mexico and its contribution toward bringing about better relations between the different countries. Guirette also discussed, in addition, the significance of Mexico's Christmas celebrations held in Mexico City. Colon spoke about Christmas customs in Puerto Rico. Other speakers presented topics pertaining to conversational interest.

Members joined in the discussion with speakers concerning ways of improving the Pan-American relations, particularly those with Argentina. The talks were given in Spanish.

Sunday, Dec. 10, will be "Go to Church" Sunday for all Tech students.

Faculty Women Hear Lecture

Library trends were discussed by Miss Ruth Spaulding, reference librarian, at the second meeting of Quarterly club last night. She briefly outlined college library history and commented upon library cooperation as evidenced by union catalogs and inter-library loans, and war activities of libraries. Miss Spaulding predicted that college library service will depend largely on changes in educational curricula and practice.

Membership was granted to Mrs. William M. Whyburn, wife of Tech's president, Miss Marjorie Sheridan, dietitian at Sneed hall, and Miss Lucille Finley, textile researchist. The club is composed of women faculty members.

Review Club Selects Books With Advice Of Dean Doak

Acting on the advice of Dean Mary W. Doak, members of the Book Reviewers club have made a careful selection of books to be reviewed this year. At Tuesday's meeting LaNell Doshier discussed Frances Parkinston Keye's book, "All That Glitters." At a previous meeting Miss Lucille Gill talked on "Poetry in the War," and next week Anita Hale will review A. J. Cronin's latest work, "The Green Years."

Alexander Reads German Story To Club Group

Theodor Alexander read "Hansel and Gretel," a German children's Christmas story, before members of Liederkranz, German language club, Tuesday evening.

The story which Englebert Humperdinck, German composer (1854-1921), transcribed into a children's Christmas opera was read by Alexander in German with members stopping him at intervals in his reading to ask him questions about words, and phraseology.

Prof. Carl Henninger, sponsor of the club, and Alexander spoke in German before members about Christmas customs in Austria.

Rita Norman gave a lecture on the history of Christmas in Germany, basing her talk on the contrast of pagan customs to that of modern Christian Christmas celebrations.

C. W. Ratliff To Speak At Press Club Tuesday

C. W. Ratliff, editor of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche, will be guest speaker at a regular meeting of Press club in room 210 of the Journalism building Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Ratliff will speak informally on "City Desk Problems."

marker designating Coronado's route in Texas the surest place we known would be on Highway 84, about one-half mile east of Muleshoe," states Holden.

Holden believes that Quivira was in northeastern Kansas for two reasons. Two different explorers who were on the expedition, Coronado and the writer of Relacion del Suces, said it was on the fortieth degree of latitude, and the time consumed in making the journey, with the directions as indicated, placed Quivira where the explorers said it was, the fortieth degree.

Sunday, Dec. 10, will be "Go to Church" Sunday for all Tech students.
