TECH'S GROWING SCHOOL SPIRIT.

As Texas Technological College enters upon the third year of her existence it is very consoling to note the growing school spirit, which has evidenced itself on many occasions during the past two years. It would seem to the casual observer that Tech is slowly but surely rasping off the rough spots—the spots of loyalty to other schools—the spots of newness—which so manifested themselves during the first strenuous two years.

Among many other things that Tech can well be proud, is the present Freshman class. Not that the institution was not proud of previous Freshman classes, but the Freshmen of '31 seem to be more wholeheartedly behind the school than were their predecessors. The present Freshman class is composed, in the main, of young boys and girls; boys and girls who are impressed with the value of a college spirit. They are doing all in their power to get the most out of their college life. To this end the three upper-classes should, likewise, bent their every effort.

Tradition—the word has a variety of meanings. Tech Tradition—It is the desire of every true Tech citizen that the early tradition of the school shall be something for later classes to strive to maintain. Tradition should say that every student must attend convocations, pep meetings, and all other student gatherings. In the past all old students realize that this has never been done. Now, as we enter the third year of our existence, as a new and better Freshman class enters the portals of the school, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors, should endeavor to get a 100 percent turnout for all student meetings.

If each upper-classman will answer for himself, or for herself, the Freshmen will see that they are expected to attend all such functions and thus the school spirit will be increased.

At Convocation last week, President Horn emphasized the fact that no student gets more out of college than he puts into it. This is as true of all phases of college work. The student who does not attend class meetings, Convocations, and who does not take part in at least one extra-curricula activity, is not getting all out of college that there is in it.

A true citizen, either in life or in college, will participate in the activities of his group and by his endeavor, will try to make the world a little better for his having lived in it.

PEP AND THE MATADORS.

The Texas Tech Matadors, so named by Mrs. E. Y. Freeland, and the proud wearers of the Scarlet and Black, have in the first two years played a total of nineteen games. These games have been played with the best of success. In the majority of cases the Matadors have emerged victorious, however, a few of the games have resulted in tie scores.

During the history of the college the Matadors have gone far and near to battle for the school and have carried the banner of the college proudly, defiantly. Taking their cue from the fighting football team, the student body has only to exert themselves to the utmost in order to accomplish, whatsoever they may set out to do.

The first few pep meetings were woefully mis-named. "Pep," to mis-quote Octavius Roy Cohen, "was the only thing, there was none of." It is not necessary to try to find the cause of this lack of interest. Suffice it to be remarked—there was none.

The Ft. Worth game is scheduled for next Saturday. Tech made a name for itself in the Cowtown last year. What is going to be the attitude of the student body toward upholding that reputation?

AGGIE NEWS.

Claude Hope is now general flunky for the School of Agriculture. He also insists on everybody knowing that he has not been chasing the little cow-lets about a Sweetwater farm as was reported in the last issue of this paper, but instead he has been working in his father's milk plant. Claude will be remembered as the winner of the first agricultural scholarship by Mr. Jones.

John Simpson, supposed lost to the University of Arkansas, reappeared at Tech just as everybody was celebrating. However, we suppose we can stand him another year or so. Everybody is used to him now, anyway.

Aggie students were awarded passes to the Panhandle South Plains fair for one day last week, and several laboratory periods were spent in going over the various exhibits of vegetables, grains, and livestock.

Secretary Mims of the Agricultural Club informs the writer that anything short of a barn dance twice as good as the last year one, won't be tolerated. That's taking quite a chaw, but Mims is hard working, as well as hard looking, man, so it ought to be a hum-dinger.

Dean Leidigh is beginning to get over his hard-boiled attitude, which he assumes about the time of year that registrations begin for the fall term. He has everybody in their place, we suppose.

Orders have been placed for material for the construction of the greenhouse, we understand, but as ship-

Notice: All Would-be Writers Meet in 311

All students interested in the practical side of journalism are invited and urged to be present at a meeting of The Toreador reporters on Thursday at 4 o'clock, in the Publication office, room 311. All who are interested in press work but who have class work at that hour and are unable to be present are requested to call at the Publication Office at their convenience and register their names.

TOM B. MORRISON,
Editor-in-Chief, The Toreador.

Waghorne to Direct Choral Club Numbers

The Texas Tech choral club, under the direction of Mr. W. R. Waghorne, meets in room 214, on Tuesday afternoon, from 3 to 5.

Every student is cordially invited to attend, and an interesting time is promised to all. The course is registered as Music 011. The club will present a program each term, that of the last term being an operetta.

The Girls' and Boys' quartettes are to be organized, and the try-outs are to be held soon. Those interested will please see Mr. Waghorne as soon as possible.

Members will be made from Tonawanda, New York, we can't say when construction will be completed.

The Student Dairy has quite a few new members as it begins this year's work. A meeting of the Dairy Association was held last week.

The Engineers are not the only ones that have brought in a bunch of transfers, both from other colleges and from other schools in this college. The Aggies have several of these animals.

CHERI-CASA COL-YUM

Well some how or other we're back together again; most of us are anyway. With only nine of the old inmates back it is hard to feel the same as we did last year. We will just suppose that hard luck overtook them and they will be here after Xmas.

There's Frank Stone; hard luck nearly ruined him. He is here in a brand new Chivvy coach. Some boys surely have a hard life.

Jeff Newton is back with some new ideas about the world and he says that he is more firmly convinced that a good five cent cigar is not all that the country needs.

Carl Pfluger's physical exam showed him to be six degrees lazier than he was at the same time last year.

Red Huff is going to save money on stamps and stationary this year. That "flame" of his is now a lowly freshman, but Red says she is just as sweet as she ever was. Need there be another reason?

We can't find out just why Curtis Reese came back, but it seems that there is a reason whose name we are not allowed to disclose here.

Roy Leach is here to fix anything that has wires on it and comes under the name of wireless. He has cut out lots of the static within himself and promises to express almost human intelligence this year.

Red Rollins must have enjoyed the summer. He is all fat and healthy and his hair still looks like a third alarm fire. Chevrolets agree with Red.

Bill Riley says that beauty is not his only excuse for being. Bill says that there are better shows in Lubbock than in Coleman, and besides, the people up here haven't found him out yet. The boy honestly believes that he is good for another term.

Then, there's that Dunlap boy! We don't expect him back, but since he is here, there seems to be nothing we can do about it. Yeah, I imagine Purney caused it.

Students, allow Slime Pfluger to introduce himself. He is the cutest thing that ever went without four-wheel brakes. His map is not so good but we are exerting every effort to find a sack that can stand the strain.

We haven't got them all located yet, but we will be out with a regular directory next time, with the office hours of each one and—oh, well.

WEEKLY MORAL: He who laughed last ought to have kept quiet.

Pep Squad Hopes To Present All Tech Cheer Song

At last! The desire of every Tech student for a song for Texas Tech that will rank along with the "Aggie Song" and "The Eyes of Texas," may be satisfied.

The girls pep squad has worked out several very clever and appropriate songs. One may be chosen from this group as the All-Tech song.

Wednesday evening at the Lindsey theatre the thirty-six girls who compose the pep squad will sing these songs. It is to be a beneficial programme for the purpose of raising money to send the girls to Ft. Worth Oct. 8. In addition to the songs, dances and music by the Toreadors will add to the programme. The regular admission of thirty-five cents will be charged.

The girls have worked up several new and original stunts to be performed at the T. C. U. and A. and M. games.

Election of a leader and the other officers of the squad will be held the first of next week.

Ag. and Home Ec. Staff Judge Community Fair

Miss Edna Walker, professor in the School of Home Economics, Professor Harold Brodrick, and Professor H. J. Bower were judges at community fairs at Levelland and Bledsoe last week.

Miss Walker was judge of domestic science and arts. Mr. Brodrick judged fruits and vegetables, and Mr. Bower was judge of grains. Dean Leidigh judged in a similar fair at Muleshoe.

Just a Word to the Fish of '31

By a CHERI CASIAN.

It seems that some of the freshmen will never learn that there are other students in school besides themselves. If there is anything unpardonable in a freshman, it is ego. We naturally expect them to be dumb to a certain extent, but when they try to go the limit they ruin all of their chances of ever getting over.

One freshman came into the library the other day and, on seeing a fellow fish, he yelled out at him. Probably the freshman forgot that he was not calling the hogs or yelling at a neighbor in an adjoining field.

Another young freshman made a public announcement that she had lived to be twenty years old and had never been kissed. The audience never could figure out whether it was a threat, warning, or a promise. If the sweet young thing had just kept quiet we would probably never have known the difference.

One fish was accused of looking like a high school student. She just turned up her nose and said, "It don't make any difference, I came up to stay a while anyway." We are glad to have her; just for a while.

It would probably do none of the fish any harm to get a blueprint of the Ad building and find out where the library and a few of the class rooms are.

That gag about having a Cadillac at home don't go over any more because it has been over worked for the last ten years and it was pretty old when it got into college.

Just remember, freshmen, that every time you say anything that you think is cute or try to pull any cute stunts, you are just a repetition of last year's gang and it is old as the hills, so keep quiet and "don't let on".

Library Prepared For Increased Enrollment

Doubtless the students who were here last year, as well as the students who were here in the summer school, have noticed a very different arrangement in the stacks in the Library. Too, a work room has been built for the cataloguer, Miss Emma Main, and her assistants.

In part, this new arrangement is temporary. Along the west wall, and part of the north wall, there are wooden stacks, or shelves. These are to be replaced in the near future by steel stacks, according to Miss West, the Librarian. These stacks are expected to arrive at an early date and will promptly replace the wooden ones.

The magazines have been moved to the east end of the wall just behind the charging desk. The magazines have a new rack.

As the Library is not large enough to accommodate as many students as will want to use it the rotunda, or room just east of the Library, will be fitted with tables and chairs. This room will be a type of study hall, anyone is welcome to make use of it.

"We ask the co-operation of the students," Miss West said, "who are passing through the study room. We want them to be very quiet in passing through, so that they do not disturb those who are trying to work. The object of this study hall will be to provide a place where students will have more freedom, where they will be allowed to talk things over with one another."

"The Library is a home for students; they are to act as freely as possible, taking care, however, not to disturb a fellow student who is trying to study. Each student has certain obligations to the library: 1. He must use it intelligently. 2. He must give us a chance to serve him. 3. He must remember and observe the rights of others. 4. Proper use and care of material is important. Care should be taken not to mark the books. Every good student will return books promptly and in good order. 5. He must keep quiet and really work. 6. He must help keep the Library tidy and in good order. There are a number of trash baskets in the Library—don't fail to use them! Care should be taken of the furniture, also."

Miss Frances Whatley, of the Spanish Department, and Miss Eugenia Marshall, of the French Department, have made presents of books to the Library. Miss Whatley sent one very interesting book from Spain—Sandoval's VIVA DE CARLOS SEGUNDO. Miss Marshall presented HISTORIE DE LA CIVILISATION FRANCAISE in four volumes.

Methodist Class Stage Enjoyable Farce Thursday

A very humorous musical comedy was staged in room 202 Thursday evening by members of the Methodist Student Federation for the Methodist students of the Tech. The play was directed by Mrs. E. E. White.

Ned Camp, as Alimony, a colored gentleman, and his sweetheart, Castoria, who was played by Russell Hardin, were the hits of the evening.

The play, "Help Yourself", was written by Mrs. Mollie Moore Godbold, of Dallas, and was a laugh from start to finish.

Miss Martha Wentworth, played by Margaret Turner, is a woman fifty years old who is living next door to her divorced husband, John Gordon, played by Guy Carter.

Her neices and two of their friends, Polly, June, Grace and Doris, who were played by Glenda Crawford, Anna Belle Guffin, Evelyn Wilson, and Ailse Herndon, arrive for a visit at the same time that four boys, played by Russell Denison, Etheridge Eagan, H. Y. Price, and Clarence Whiteside come to visit John Gordon.

Many complications set in. A bull dog which Aunt Martha purchased is stolen and the boys, disguised as peddlers, invade the house in order to meet the girls.

John Gordon comes to see Aunt Martha and is forced to hide and the young people, finding him, make them confess that they have always loved each other and have been too proud to admit it.

All ends happily and in a roar of laughter, as even Alimony and Castoria confess their love.

Engineer Items.

The second week of school has seen the engineers fully settled to work. On the field pursuing C. E. knowledge or, in the buildings, many studies can be found handling the textile machinery in the labs or experimenting with instruments of precision in the shops.

The Textile Department under Professor Camp, ably assisted by Professor Gardner, recently added to the faculty, has begun a real year's work.

Many Sophomore and Junior students are learning the processes of making difficult materials.

Professor Camp has just completed several tests for the Murray Gin Company of Dallas. No machinery capable of testing the cotton sent here by that firm could be found in the state or Southwest, except here at Tech. This is another example of the up-to-dateness and completeness of Tech's Textile mill.

Of interest to the engineers and others as well is the fact that workmen are breaking ground for the new Engineering building just west of the oval between the Ad building and the Textile Mill.

Child of Ag. Faculty Member Dies Suddenly

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock for the child of Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Renner at their residence, 2214 Eighteenth Street. Death came to the child after a short attack of whooping cough.

Mr. Renner is a recent addition to the Agricultural faculty, connected with the Dept. of Dairy Products and Manufactures. He came to Tech from Manhattan, Kansas.

XX HALL ITEMS.

Mojo, 1926 Freshman, and otherwise known as a fat walrus from Colorado, is beginning to complain of his heavy assignments. Nobody believes him but the Fish and they don't know him yet.

Zeeman E. Lee, erstwhile philosopher, has actually bought a book on that subject and vows he intends to study it (if necessary).

Mister Junior Herman, from Stamford, former student of last year at Tech and still more formerly of Texas University, arrived in this city in the dead of night, and registered before the faculty was aware of his identity.

Dead Eye Underwood of Willow, Oklahoma, resigned his position in the Frogpond school near Willow (upon the insistence of the trustees) and is back in this rendezvous, much to the sorrow of all of us.

Freshman Fagg says chapel tickets are entirely too high, and has been trying to get someone to sell them at a reduced price. He couldn't get any second-hand ones at the book store.

Fish Young, of Plainview, is true to his name in every respect. Several have asked him what grade he was studying. However, Young is coming out of the brush. He has already learned how to play our portable phonograph fairly well after only three lessons.

Colonel Harbor, of the Imperial Tech Guards, has purchased himself a shiny new pair of military (officer's) boots, which are the admiration of all the Freshmen.

Freshman Thomas Be Goode is anything else but. He has been trying to get into the fair grounds on general principles and looks. His looks, defeated his purpose, even when accompanied with a ticket.

Freshman Harold has been furnishing music to the whole crowd at this suburb point. Harold is pretty good with the harp, having been accustomed stopping cattle stampedes with same at home.

Fish Yaws, official sheep herdsman for Fort Stockton (it's on the map), has registered in the A. H. Department at the college, and continually bores the crowd with stories of escapes with he-men of the sheep herd, otherwise known as rams.

New Department Shows Rapid Growth

"Enrollment, since July 1, has reached eighty-six, and exceeded expectations of the department," says Mr. J. F. McDonald, Director of the Department of Correspondence at Tech.

"This department was organized officially by the Board of Directors on July 1, and since that time fifteen departments have offered courses of instruction by correspondence.

The enrollment has been from many different communities of the state; New Mexico being represented by several students. Full college credit is given for correspondence work. Students may complete one-fourth of the courses required for degree by correspondence. Students have enrolled in practically all fifteen departments, the heaviest enrollment being in English, following by Education, Government, Spanish, History and Economics, respectively.

Those enrolled in this department include those who could not return, teachers in service who wish to raise the class of their certificates, students in residence who cannot secure some course because of conflict, and citizens of Lubbock who are otherwise occupied and cannot attend classes at the college, but desire to advance their education.

Requests have come for work in other departments and for courses other than those offered for instruction. As these demands develop, there will be courses offered by other departments in order to meet them.

It is the purpose of the department of correspondence instruction to carefully safeguard standards and render a service worthy of the institution.

The examinations are in every instance given under the supervision of the instructor who has offered the course, or under some responsible person of professional standing who consents to supervise the examination.

Mr. McDonald states that he greatly appreciates the splendid cooperation of the teachers who are giving correspondence courses in the department."

Special Train to Carry Tech Fans to Ft. Worth

A special train will be run from Lubbock to Fort Worth for the Texas Christian University-Texas Technological college football game this year. The train has been undrewritten by the college authorities and something like 200 fans of the South Plains are expected to accompany the Matadors in the second clash with the Horned Frogs.

The train will run via the Santa Fe all the way into Fort Worth, leaving Lubbock Friday evening at 7 o'clock and will arrive in the Panther City, at 9 o'clock on the morning of the game.

The return schedule calls for the special train to leave Ft. Worth Saturday evening at 11:55 and arrive in Lubbock Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The game between the Matadors and Frogs is scheduled for October 8, the third game on Texas Tech's football card.

DOAK HALL DAY-DREAMS

Slime Cumble says the things that interest her most on Tech Campus are the red sweaters and what's in them.

That Soph from Slaton, Edith Marrs, and her room-mate, Soph Hall, from Littlefield, have found a new way to take their "daily dozen": Moving furniture upstairs and downstairs 'bout three times a day—Excuse: Too cold upstairs when it's too hot downstairs.

Co-eds Show Fashions.

The Palace Theatre was the scene of the Grollman Fashion Show Tuesday night of the past week. The Grollman store secured the services of several of Tech's co-eds in the modeling of their creations. Among the co-eds represented were: D'Aun Sammons, Elois Sneed, Jane Mast, Ella Brown, and Agnes Brown.

Construction Hurried.

Ground has been broken preparatory to the erection of the $240,000 Engineering building. A giant steam shovel was moved on the job Thursday night, and everything is in readiness for speedy work. The contract is in the hands of the Sampson Construction Co., of Lubbock.

Maynard Robinson is Voyaging in East

Maynard Robinson, who for a time was on the staff of The Toreador in 1926, has written Mr. Cecil Horne, Instructor in Journalism, from Hong Kong, China. Robinson is on a Standard Oil boat as Quartermaster. He has seen much of the Orient since leaving Lubbock in June. Robinson writes that he has witnessed the scene of the Sepoy Rebellion of 1857. The location of the "Black Hole" tragedy of Calcutta is marked by markers erected to the memory of the men who perished during that awful night.

His travels in China embrace Hong Kong, Nanking, Shanghai, and as he wrote his ship was bound for Kobe, Japan. Robinson reports that he expects to be back in Tech in January.

Las Chaparritas

The Las Chaparritas Club was entertained on Monday evening from seven till nine, with a candle bridge party, at the home of Mrs. Royce Waters, 2905 21st Street, with Misses Cymbal Patterson, Floy Pryor, and Ruth Starnes as joint hostesses.

A color scheme of orchid and yellow was carried out in the beautiful decorations. Bridge was played during the evening. Miss Afton Gilkerson made high score and was presented a beautiful puff box, appropriately decorated with the club colors. The honorees were presented dainty handkerchiefs in the club colors.

A buffet supper consisting of chicken sandwiches, fruit salad, potato chips, olives, cake and tea, was served. Miss Johnnie Gilkerson, the Faculty sponsor for the club, poured tea. The table was appropriately decorated in the club colors.

Those present were, Misses Almeida Murray, Afton Gilkerson, Pearl Hensley, Edna Yonge, Cecil Dawson, Verma Wilson, Sylvia Wilson, and the hostesses, Ruth Starnes, Floy Pryor, Cymbal Patterson, and Mrs. Royce Waters, and the honorees, Misses Ann Harston, Alyne Felmet, Wauweise Stoker, Ruth McCarron, Lynn Dougherty, Virginia Griggs, Clarice Scott, Tommie Preston, and the Sponsor, Johnnie Gilkerson.

Gamma Pi Alpha

Gamma Pi Alpha's held a business meeting September the tenth for the purpose of electing officers and planning the social activities for the coming year. Miss Alma Spikes was elected president, Miss Novelle Hemphill, vice president, Miss Jane Mast, secretary and treasurer, and Miss Kathryn Bryarly, reporter. This club was very active in the college last year and has planned to be even more so this year. Parties have been planned for the pledges which will take place during the next two weeks.

Miss Novelle Hemphill entertained the members and rushees with bridge at her home, 2009 Broadway, Thursday afternoon. Following games of bridge, in which Mrs. Ross McWhorter receive high score, a salad course was served to the following:

Misses Anna Bell Collins, Virginia Mullican, Ruby Arnett, Geraldine Smith, Wauweise Stoker, Alyne Felmet, Toots Harston, Faye Foote, Helen Wallace, Mary Frank Nickols, Raye Morgan, Charlotte Elms, Rachel Cole, Ella Houston, Ruth McCarron, Alma Spikes, Virginia Conley, Ruth Slaton, Kathryn Bryarly, D'Aun Sammons, Jane Mast, Mesdames Sam Harvey, Ross McWhorter, and Charlie Guy.

Saturday the new pledges were entertained with a luncheon at the Hotel Lubbock. The colors of the club were carried out in decorations and favors. After the luncheon the girls were taken to the football game at the Fair Park, between Tech and St. Edwards.

A dance has been planned to take place in about two weeks and the pledges will be presented in a novel way.

A tea and a theatre party are also being planned for later on. Three dances during the year will be given, one each term, along with the weekly parties.

Dance and Reception Feature Week End

Saturday evening was a gala night for Tech students. Preceding the First All-College Dance in the Gym,

CHURCHES FETE ALL TECH STUDENTS IN FIRST SOCIAL

On Friday night of last week the various churches of Lubbock opened their doors in welcome to the Tech students, with an informal reception at each church. A large attendance was reported by each, and a general good time was had by all.

The Episcopal Church had planned to entertain the students at the Country Club, but owing to the weather, the entertainment was held at the home of Mrs. F. R. Friend. Miss Eugenia Marshall had charge of the cleverly planned program. At the end of the entertainment, a buffet supper was served. There were about forty in attendance.

At the Church of Christ the pastor, Mr. Davis, welcomed the students with an address. Mr. J. W. Jackson replied with a short speech. A short and interesting program followed. The church reported an excellent attendance.

The Baptist, Presbyterian, and Methodist Churches entertained with splendid programs. The students of these churches reported an enjoyable time.

The young people of the First Christian Church entertained with a party for Tech students. Games were played throughout the evening, and refreshments were served to a large crowd. About thirty-five guests were in attendance.

It is hoped by all the churches that the students will soon line up with the denomination of their choice.

Dr. and Mrs. Horn were hosts to all Tech students in the cloisters of the main building. The President's reception is held each year during the first days of the term but owing to inclement weather on Saturday, the 24th, the reception was announced for last Saturday night.

The dance in the Gym ushered in a series of like functions which will afford pleasure to lecture-weary students and will provide supervised amusement during the week ends. The Toreadors played for the first dance, which was sponsored by the Senior class.

Is doing good business—improving each day—with the support of the Tech Students.

We surely appreciate your trade and invite all Tech students to make THE MATADOR your dining room.

THE MATADOR, L. M. Brooks, Prop.

"THE FACULTY CAR"

The beautiful new Chevrolet of such amazing quality is suitable for faculty and students alike.

We have an IMPERIAL LANDAU in the Tech Matadors colors—scarlet and black.

It's a Beauty.

Come to see us in our NEW HOME or phone for a demonstration on the Imperial or other model you may prefer.
