Teams Portray 57 Nations

Model U.N. Entries Due

By KATHE GRAW
Toreador Staff Writer

Deadline for entry in Tech's Model U.N. is 5 p.m. today. Delegations are limited to three persons, although a single organization may enter more than one delegation.

There is a $5 filing fee for the Model U.N., to be March 29-30 in Tech Union.

Fifteen new entries have been received, bringing the total to 57. Entries and their countries include Theta Sigma Phi, Netherlands; Sigma Delta Pi, Bolivia; Alpha Phi, Pakistan; Zeta Tau Alpha, Senegal; Board of Student Organizations, Canada; Sigma Kappa, Afganistan; JHH-HLH-TWA Club, an independent delegation, Australia; Phi Delta Theta, Denmark; Gaston Hall, Greece; Pre-Law Club, Saudi Arabia; Circle K, Brazzoville; Sigma Nu, Leopoldville; Kappa Sigma, Sierra Leone; Kappa Sigma No. 2, Panama and Delta Tau Delta, Jordan.

Student-Guided

The Model U.N. is being guided by a steering committee composed of eight students from various campus organizations, including Tech Union, Pre-Law Club, Student Council, BSO, editor of THE DAILY TOREADOR. Two faculty advisors, Dr. S. H. Fuller of the government department and Mrs. Karen Moore, Union program director, are also serving on the committee.

Delegations will be oriented according to six blocs: African, Western, Soviet, Middle East, Latin American and Asian. Faculty advisors from the government and history departments will orient member delegations of each bloc to general economic, political, geographical, cultural and philosophical backgrounds of the areas concerned, according to directors. Each delegation will be responsible for researching its country's political and economic views and U.N. voting record.

Discussion Topic

Topic for the sessions is "Colonialism in Southern Rhodesia, South Africa and the Portuguese territories." Each delegation is asked to prepare a resolution on the subject. Rough drafts of the resolution are to be submitted by March 1.

Richard C. Hottel, United Nations news correspondent for CBS, has accepted an invitation to speak at the second plenary session March 30.

Now based in the United States after 20 years of foreign news reporting, Hottel spotlights activities of the U.N. on his TV news program and offers interpretations of the day's news events.

The correspondent will speak on the future of the U.N., whether it is still considered an effective force by its member nations, whether there are any side effects of which to beware and whether the U.N. is potentially more successful in cultural and economic fields than the political.

"We have asked that Mr. Hottel examine the concept of the U.N. as objectively as possible although we realize and expect him to be favorably inclined toward the organization," Mrs. Moore said.

Legislator Asks For Tuition Hike

By BOB ROOKER

AUSTIN (AP)—A ranking Senate Finance Committee member declared Thursday that the legislature must pass a $31 million dollar tuition hike.

Sen. George Moffett of Chillocothe, chairman of the finance subcommittee reviewing agency requests, told the Senate: "We already know that we won't have enough money in sight to meet even reasonable requests" of colleges and other state agencies.

MOFFETT'S statement came during debate on changing a minor county and district attorney salary bill from the Finance to Jurisprudence Committee.

Sen. W. T. Moore of Bryan asked the committee switch. "If we open the door to a bunch of bills like this," Moffett said, "it is going to mean a new tax bill for Texas."

"YOU'RE NOT trying to tell me a little old bill like this will mean another tax bill when we have all the senior college bills in here," Moore said.

"Listen, we're going to have to pass a tuition bill to provide the colleges with any money, anyway," Moffett shot back.

The Commission on Higher Education recommended doubling tuition in state colleges to $100 a semester and said it would bring in $31 million in the next two years.

Later, former Gov. Price Daniel recommended the tuition hike and said it and a one-year extension of the corporation franchise tax would head off the need for a new tax bill.

GOV. JOHN CONNALLY, who goes into the hospital Sunday for a hernia operation, has never taken a stand on the subject. His recommendations are scheduled to go to the legislature in a few weeks.

But Tech has not yet obtained an operating license from the Federal Communications Commission to make use of its 93.7 broadcasting megacycles. According to Charles E. Buzzard, associate professor of speech, the earliest possible date they could have new facilities operating is March 15. —Staff Photo

For Academic Recruiting

New Program Begins

A new academic recruiting program is now in progress in the office of the Student Council.

The purpose of this program is to inform high school students of the educational facilities at Tech.

"We Techsians know that we have here at Tech one of the finest educational institutions in Texas, but unfortunately there are many high school students across the state that are not aware of this fact," said John Rinn, committeeman.

IN ACCORDANCE with this, the Student Council has initiated a program whereby Tech students will act as recruiters during the spring vacation. Their function is to speak to outstanding high school students across the state.

An orientation program will be set up for the selected students, and James G. Allen, dean of student life, will speak to the students, outlining basically the information the students are to convey in their talks on Tech.

"If you would be willing to talk to students at the school from which you graduated, please sign up in the Student Council office as soon as possible," Rinn said.

STUDENTS ARE required to list their home town and the high school from which they graduated. Sophomores and juniors are especially asked to volunteer.

Formal letters, signed by the students, will be sent to the prospective high schools, stating the purpose of the program and arranging a time for the student to speak.

The recruiting program was in its experimental stages last year and was headed by Amon Burton. Due to its rising importance, the Student Council has stepped up proceedings on the program.

"I THINK THAT students have become more aware of the program this year," said co-chairman Ginger Butler.

Stressing the importance of the academic program, Rinn said, "Keep in mind that this program is helping to build a better Texas Tech."

The committee is headed by Miss Butler and Pam White. Other members are John Rinn, Burton and Ronnie Botkin.

Four different ways to make going more fun than getting there

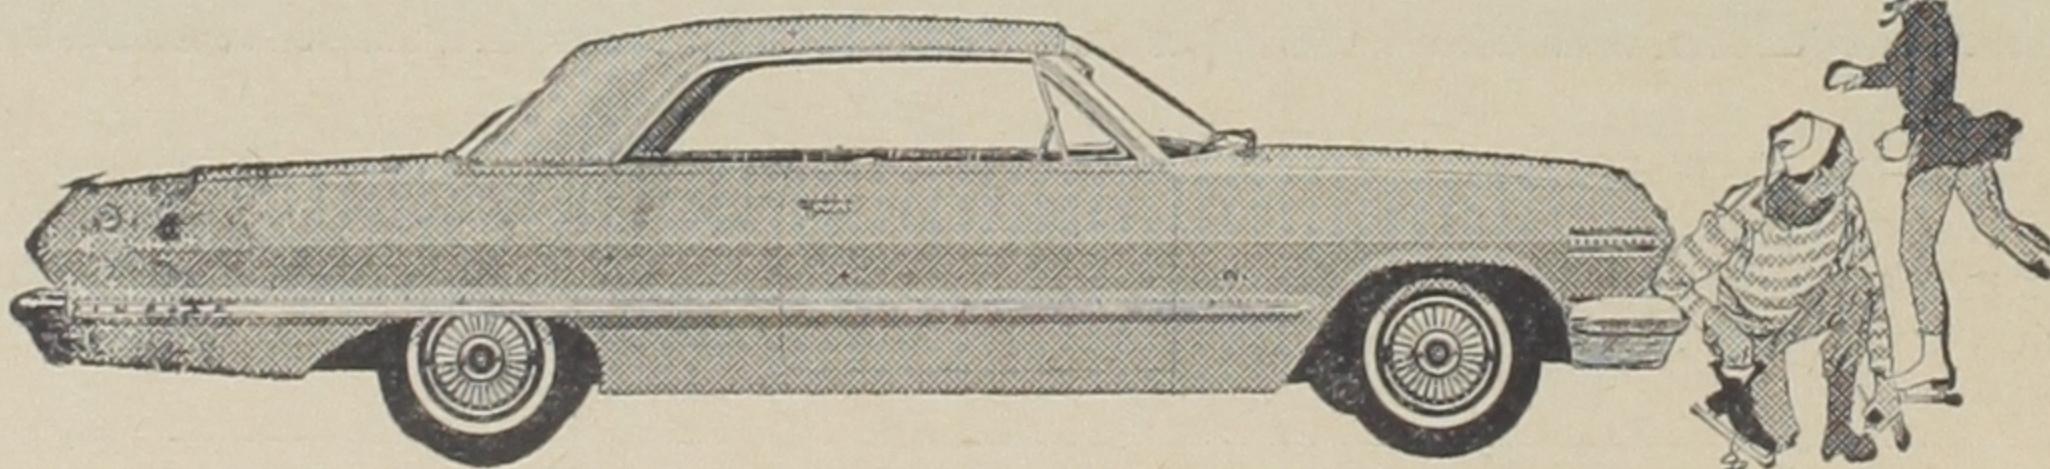

You can see why one of America's favorite outdoor sports is driving Chevrolets, with four entirely different kinds of cars to choose from. There's the Jet-smooth Chevrolet, about as luxurious as you can go without going overboard in price; the low-cost Chevy II, a good-looking car that would send any family packing; another family favorite, the sporty Corvaair, whose rear-engine traction will make you think that ice and snow are kid stuff; and for pure adventure, America's only sports car, Corvette—now in two all-new versions with looks that can stop traffic like a rush-hour blizzard. Picked your favorite already?

The next thing is to take the wheel at your Chevrolet dealer's. If that doesn't have you thinking of places to go, maybe you'd rather just have a ball around town!

Illuminator Discusses Techniques

John Watson, a landscape illuminator from Dallas, will speak on "Garden Lighting" at 4 p.m. today in the Architecture Auditorium. He will illustrate his talk with slides.

According to Don J. Johnson, park management instructor, Watson is virtually the only person actively employed in this field. The popularity of modern architecture has created a need for artistic use of lights in gardens, landscapes and parks, Johnson explained. Watson's illumination style, he said, is the result of trying to bring meaning out of darkness.

Watson recently has been featured in Readers' Digest, Time, Suburbia Today, and House and Garden for his work in this new field. Among his accomplishments are the illumination for Six Flags Over Texas and for Queen Victoria Park, Canada.

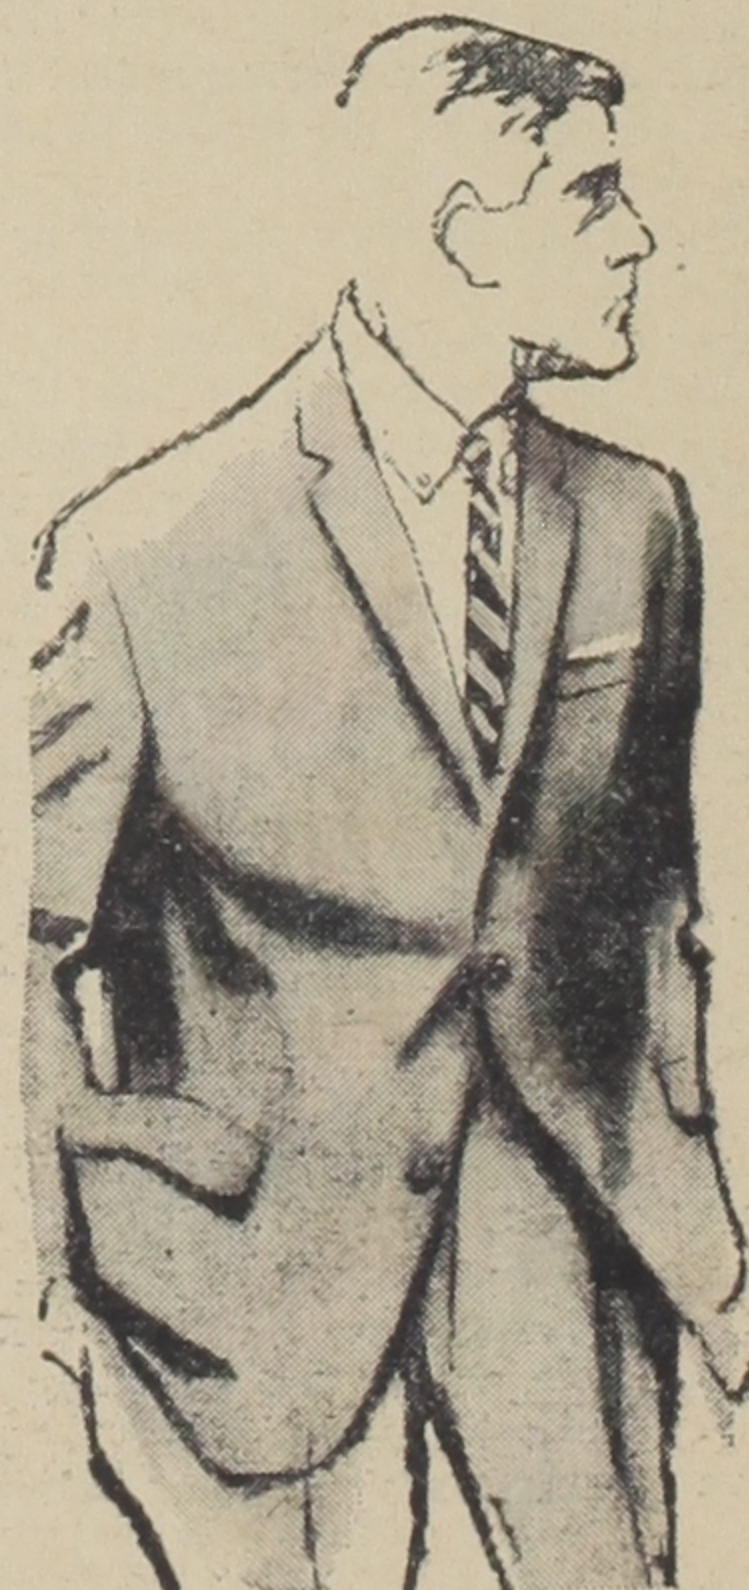

Time quoted him as saying, "The important thing is to achieve an understanding of light—subtle and restful." He demonstrates his theories in his own backyard in Dallas. His 50x50 foot Japanese garden contains 100 lighting fixtures and four miles of wire. It is operated with 179 switches.

Forum Features Freud Discussion

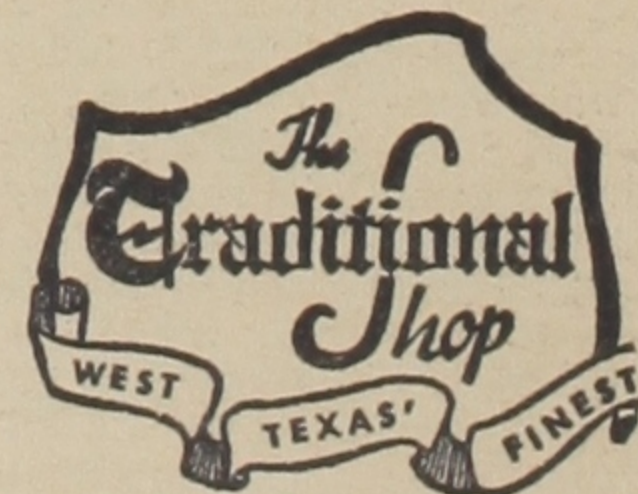

Dr. P. N. Strong, associate professor of psychology, will speak on Sigmund Freud today at the Noon Forum in the Tech Union Blue Room.

A group discussion will follow the lecture. Reservations for the 51-cent lunch should be made before 10 a.m. at the Union news counter.

'BEST DRESSED' APPLICANT — Clarie Adamson, Abilene sophomore, is a Delta Delta Delta entry in the Best Dressed Woman Contest. Applications for the competition are due at 5 p.m. today in the Journalism Bldg., room 201.

English Prof Lauds Tours, England, Tech

By LANE CROCKETT
Toreador Staff Writer

She has been to Europe four times, has an M.A. and B.A. in Latin and Greek and has a doctorate in the English language and literature. She is Dr. Mary Louise Brewer, Tech assistant professor of English.

Dr. Brewer, who was born in Ardmore, Okla., said that she had always wanted to be a teacher. She has reached that goal through what she considers to be many wonderful experiences.

Speaking of her travels to the continent, Dr. Brewer said she enjoyed England probably better than any other country she has visited. She and her late husband visited with an English family in London. While there she visited the British theatre, grand opera and ballet and heard a speech by Queen Elizabeth.

"The European people are just wonderful. They get so much out of life and have a wonderful spirit," she enthused.

She has also lived with a French family near the Atlantic coast and has spent some time in Germany.

Dr. Brewer said that one of the nicest experiences she has had was her tour around the world, when she visited some of the Far East countries — including India and China.

She has taught at Oklahoma State University, Murray State College (Tishomingo, Okla.), University of Texas (where she earned her doctor's degree in Renaissance Poetry) and Texas Tech. She earned her master's degree at the University of Illinois.

"Of the colleges where I have taught, I would place Texas Tech above them all, mainly because of the students. They are responsive, eager and bright to teach," she said.

This summer Dr. Brewer and her daughter Mary, who is a sophomore at Randolph Macon Women's College, Lynchburg, Va., are going to Greece, France, Spain and Italy.

"I am looking forward to seeing the Greek plays. I have always been interested in the Greek people," she commented. This will be her first visit to Greece.

Tech Theater Casts Play

Cast for the speech department's next play, "The Waltz of the Toreadors," by Jaen Anouhile, as announced Wednesday is: Madame Ste. Pe, Kathleen Graw; General Ste. Pe, Durward Jacobs; Gaston, Roger Smith.

Others are Estelle Ste. Pe, Susan Speers; Sidonia Ste. Pe, Lisa Craig; Madame Dupont-Fredaine, Kathy White; Dr. Confant, G. W. Bailey; First Maid, Jo Galbraith; Mlle de Ste.-Euverte, Pat Eakins; Second Maid, Carolyn Jacobs.

The play will open Monday, March 18, and run through Saturday, March 23. Box office hours are 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday, beginning March 11.

The most common emotion was subdued nerves. Each contestant was trying to strike a nonchalant pose, whether smoking or nail-filing or joking. What happens when two girls who follow one another in line have the same dress style? The repose slips.

The Delta Delta Delta pledges are having their presentation at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Lubbock Country Club. The Straight Jackets from Fort Worth will play for the dance after the presentation.

A mother standing in the dressing room tried to smooth it over with a "They never look the same on any two girls." It didn't help much.

Two after-game parties will be Saturday — Pi Kappa Alpha and Phi Delta Theta. The parties will be at the respective lodges with the Caravans playing for the Pikes.

WORKOUTS PROVE EXCITING

Team Drills Hard For Bears

"Cut, sharp . . . Move it . . . Faster, Sid . . . Now, up now."

The sound of rubber scraping, of rubber bouncing, of terse commands, of skin slapping against skin plus the words above combine to form a Red Raider basketball workout.

Watching the Raiders work out is a real treat. The authenticity of a real basketball game, the color of exciting ballplayers and the wisdom of Coach Gene Gibson are all a part of each Tech practice.

Thursday's practice session for example, was one in which the players, eager to meet Baylor Saturday, ran through their drills with gusto. Shouts of praise from the bench for a good play and groans of dissatisfaction, but encouraging remarks, for a poor move could be heard throughout the afternoon.

Gibson is a thorough coach. During workouts he is in the middle of every play, watching, shouting, coaching. He has compliments for everyone. He can be critical, but always helpful.

"Men, live with that ball. Take care of it. To be good in a game, you have to be good in practice. Third effort, not just one or two, but three efforts to get the job done." These helpful suggestions and orders are thrown in a continuous stream from Gibson.

Raider drills, from opening warmups to the closing scrimmage, encompass serious practice as well as good-natured ribbing from the players and coach.

The Raiders are excited about the upcoming Baylor game. Just two weeks ago Tech beat Baylor 55-51 in Waco. A victory here is what the Raiders and fans desperately want. If practice is an indication, Tech should fare well.
