

Intramural Athletes Compete Tonight

By RAY FINFER
Toreador Staff Writer

Tonight Texas Tech's top intramural athletes meet in the Noche De Conquistadores, night of conquerors, to bring to a climax the year of intramural action.

The scene of the athletic competition will be the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. The third annual running of the event will begin at 7 p.m.

Nine different types of competition will be on display starting with fencing, trampoline, weightlifting and badminton. These four sports will open the evening and will occur simultaneously. Also tug-of-war championships will be determined in the fraternity and independent leagues.

The all-college boxing championships will follow the first four events and will immediately precede the tug-of-war championship matches.

Next the wrestling matches will be the center of attention, followed by the volleyball and table tennis championships.

Formal presentation of trophies to the first and second place winners will be given at the awards stand throughout the evening as winners are determined. Cathy Gordon and Ann Orrick, officers of President's Hostesses, will present awards.

The outstanding team will be named and presented an award by Marshall Pennington, Tech vice president and comptroller. He also will present the awards to the outstanding intramural participant, the most-winning team and the organization with the best percentage of participation. The recipient of these awards will be named about 9-9:30 p.m.

Jack Dale, sports commentator for KFYO, will serve as master of ceremonies and Tech senior Jim Schiermeyer will handle the color. Fencing finalists are William

Watson, Thomas Mitchell, Wendell Morrow, Ken Ballard and Donald Weldon.

Trampoline competitors will be Howard Hoffman, Ken Bailey, Jim Foster, Cecil Holley, Norman Mayes, Jim Johnson, Alan Sumner, Charles Newman, Glaze Sacra, Don Roper and Rick Klein.

In 123½ pound division of the weightlifting competition will be Rodney Pace and Jerry McMahan; Don Nagai and Jim Johnson in the 132½ lb. class; Ken Bailey, Phil McDavid and David Wight in the 148 3/4 lb. division; Lanny Beatty and James Minor in the 165 lb. division; Jack Nelson in the 181 lb. division; and Ross Woodson and H. L. Daniels in the unlimited class.

Badminton contestants will be Jim Austin, James Jackson, Hock Tjie Tan, Marvin Henderson and Orran Fairly.

In the tug-of-war event, Gaston will meet the Rodeo Club, and Kappa Sigma will take on the Pikes, with the winners meeting in the all-college finals.

Finalists in boxing will match Don Nagai and Jerry McMahan in the 132 lb. class; Paul Price and Larry Maddox in the 147 lb. division; Austin Lewis and Johnny Gonzalez in the 156 lb. division; Dale Stroud and Grant Cooper in the 178 lb. division; George Smith and Robert Browning in the heavy-weight division; and Don Anderson and Perry Seaney in the open division.

Wrestlers and their divisions are Jerry McMahan and Rodney Pace, 123 lb. division; Rex Harris and Jim Johnson, 130 lb. division; Charles Greener and Jim Marshall, 137 lb. division; L. D. Tucker and James Foster, 147 lb.; Rick Shaffer and Eugene Holt, 157 lb.; Bill Lewis and James Minor, 167 lb.; Mosby Lindsay and Bobby Stanton, 177 lb.; Gary Welch and Fred Alexander, 191 lb. division; and Larry Welch and George Smith in the unlimited division.

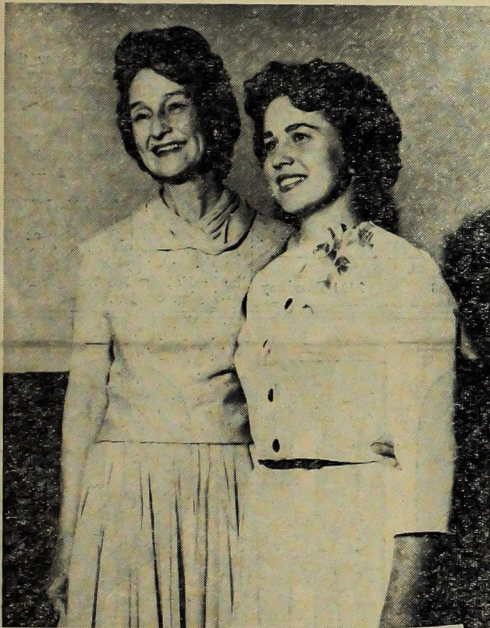

The volleyball championship will pit the Phi Kappa Psi team against Bledsoe Hall.

Tech Coeds Pick Women Of Year

By JEANNIE BOOKOUT
Toreador News Editor

Miss Mary Jo McClain, Tech senior, was named the 1962 Woman of the Year Tuesday before hundreds of applauding coeds at the annual AWS Women's Day Banquet at Tech Union.

The announcement by Dr. Florence Phillips, Dean of Women, came as a climax to the traditional Women's Day events. In making the award Dean Phillips said, "I present one of the finest, gracious and most humble women we shall ever know. She has a distinguished record of service, scholarship and leadership.

Dr. Beatrix Cobb, acting head of the psychology department, was announced as Faculty Woman of the Year. Miss Dorothy Hoyle, who received the honor last year, made the presentation.

Mrs. Grady Gammage of Arizona State University, speaker of the evening, talked to the audience on the "Educated Heart." Mrs. Gammage stressed the importance of gathering the right attitudes at college along with factual information. "Education should teach how to serve," she said.

"If you have an educated heart you will realize it's no worthy purpose to live for yourself alone," she declared. "It is searching for beyond oneself." Mrs. Gammage urged Tech women to leave college with "reasonable expectations, a mature outlook and a calm mind coupled with courage and confidence."

Weeks Hall was awarded a trophy for having the highest scholarship among women's upperclassmen dormitories for the third consecutive year. Taking first place scholastically among the freshmen dorms was Knapp Hall.

Pi Beta Phi, topping sorority grade averages with a 1.92 overall, was presented the Panhellenic Scholarship award. The city Panhellenic award for the sorority with the most improved scholarship in one year went to Sigma Kappa.

Miss Dorcas Turner, who has maintained an average of 2.98 throughout college, was given the Alpha Lambda Award, Winners of the Delta Delta Delta awards were Misses Arminta Kemp, Mary Gas-kin and Bea Schell.

Miss Hazel Hale was recognized as the highest ranking freshman woman with a grade average of 2.97. She was presented the Mortar Board award. The Zeta Tau Alpha award went to Miss Patsy Rohrdanz.

Miss Nickie Woelfel was chosen Home Economist of the Year and the intramural Outstanding Senior award was presented to Miss Norma Hardin.

Placing first in intramural contests was Pi Beta Phi with second place going to Delta Delta Delta. Kappa Alpha Theta received third position.

Members of Mortar Board, Junior Council, Alpha Lambda Delta, President's Hostesses, residence hall officers and legislators were recognized at the banquet.

Capping the recognition services was the installation of the 1962 AWS officers.

Ouida Daugherty served as the banquet Mistress of Ceremonies and Rowena Williams introduced the special guests.

Tech Forum Evaluates Intellectual Atmosphere

Texas Tech's past, present and future intellectual atmosphere was the subject of a lively forum and discussion at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the Aggie Auditorium.

Dr. Joe Adamcik, associate professor of chemistry, moderated a panel consisting of Dr. Winfred Steglich, head of the sociology department; Dr. Arthur Draper, associate professor of chemistry; Dr. Lester Levy, associate professor of economics; and Nolan Porterfield, senior English major.

Edition Honors 'Unrecognized'

Inserted in today's Toreador is the 1961-62 Sigma Delta Chi Awards issue, in which ten members of the Tech community are honored.

Those honored have been selected for making outstanding contributions toward the betterment of the college, without previously receiving appropriate recognition.

Questions were raised and viewpoints discussed on various items that influence a college's intellectual being, including campus political parties, graduate schools, entrance exams, libraries, faculties, administrations, boards of directors, student bodies and campus publications.

Dr. Steglich advocated tougher entrance exams and a harder academic program to rid colleges of existing incompetent students. One student countered with the proposal of applying the same method to the securing and keeping of a

★ Bros. Legg Legs Hurt

Among other things an orthopedic surgeon does is to work on bones and joints—such as broken and sprained knees and legs.

A certain Dallas orthopedic doctor must suffer some at the expense of bad jokes—his name is Doctor Legg.

His morale must have hit an all-time low when his two sons suffered injuries during Tech Rodeo. Walter Legg wears a bandage and Robert Legg wears a cast—on their legs.

TRIO PLAYS HERE—John Stewart, Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane, members of the Kingston Trio, will appear at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum. Tickets are $2 and $3 and may be bought at the Tech Bookstore or the Hi-D-Ho Drive In. Seats are not reserved.

Poetry Hour Schedules Famed Novelist Here

In its final program of the season the Tech Union Poetry Hour will present Larry McMurtry speaking on "Contemporary American Poetry and Prose" at 4 p.m. Friday on the Union sunporch. McMurtry, a resident of Archer City, has recently completed a novel, Horseman, Pass By. For this work he won the Jesse P. Jones Memorial Award of $1,000 for the best work of fiction by a Texan in 1961. He is currently working on an anthology of American writing by writers under thirty years of age.

Smith Presents African Talk

"Contemporary African Affairs" will be the topic for the Ideas and Issues Forum in the downstairs Ballroom of the Tech Union at 7 p.m. today. Speaker for the forum will be Dr. Mitchell Smith from the Tech history department.

Dr. Smith is a member of several groups that study African affairs. In the fall of 1961 he toured Africa for a three month period. While he was there, he visited with the leaders of government, industry and business. Tonight he will discuss the information he gained about the thoughts, feelings and attitudes of the African people and others involved in African affairs.

Dr. Smith, who came to Tech in 1959, is an associate professor of history. This is his 25th year in the teaching profession. He received his doctor's degree in history from the University of Texas.

Raborn's Rantings

Guest Columnist

Patsy Rohrdanz

Editor's Note: Patsy Rohrdanz, assistant Society Editor is guesting as columnist today. Next year we will both share in writing the column.

Twenty-one days left until school is out . . . seems impossible to me that a whole year has gone by. Homecoming, Thanksgiving weekend, Christmas lights, New Year's Eve, Spring vacation, Easter . . . all past. Most of us are looking forward to a summer of relaxation (?) and rest. Some, however, hate to see the school year end. Drops go back . . . friends depart . . . the "freshman rush" is over . . . clothes to ship and store . . . and final grades to expect at home . . .

Seven days until "Dead Week" . . . what does this mean? To some Dead Week involves hitting the books and the ability to say no to a game of bridge, a round of golf, or a swimming date. To others this week is no different from any other. Some of us are being hit harder with hour quizzes than during mid-term exams. Why do professors inevitably wait until the last week, the week originally meant for review and study, to give the final round of quizzes?

To wear a sundress or not to wear a sundress, that is the question. If the weather keeps changing like it has, the women on campus may revert back to sweaters and skirts.

PHI KAPPA PSI will be dining and dancing at their annual dinner dance Friday night in the Palm Room.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA and CHI OMEGA will be busy playing bridge at the Kappa Lodge Friday afternoon. Another dinner dance scheduled for the weekend is GAMMA PHI BETA's at Parkway Manor Saturday night.

ALPHA PHI's will honor their graduating seniors at their annual Senior Breakfast Sunday morning at the Top of the Plains Restaurant.

Another Senior Breakfast will honor the GAMMA PHI BETA seniors Sunday morning at the Chicken Shack.

The DELTA DELTA DELTA sorority will also have their Pan-ey Breakfast this Sunday at the Lubbock Country Club. The annual SADDLE TRAMP Picnic will be held at the Joe Winegar Farm 6-11 p.m. Sunday.

Dear Editor:
In regard to filthy magazines — a person finds exactly what he wants to in what he reads.
John Wehrle
Tech Representative
Bachanal

Dear Editor:
It is my opinion that if a college education was made compulsory by the state of Texas, and if a reasonable amount of the curriculum consisted of useful manual labor, most of our social problems would be eliminated. This work should be directly in the line of education, and a part of the school curriculum.

What should an education consist of? An education should enable one to acquire a satisfactory living, create a desire in the person for more education, and instill in a person the ideals of service. The education of a man is never complete, and thus life and education should go in juxtaposition to the end. This age is pleading for competent men; our civilization wants men who can save it from its decline and eventually its termination, and those men who can contribute the most to civilization are those men who are free from prejudice, hate, revenge, and fear. The education whose goal is mere scholarly achievement, rather than useful intelligence, is of no real value.

It appears to me that the present plan of examination, in order to determine supposedly the knowledge of a student, does not actually reveal how much he knows, causes a great deal of worry, is contributive to hypocrisy, and results in misguided energy. Furthermore, it implies that our educational system has little faith in its present methods. What can be done to correct this fallacy? First, one must exterminate the present grading system for grades do stratify the students. Instead of the present plan of examinations, a better method (similar to the British educational system) would be the installation of a final and thoroughly comprehensive examination which would ascertain a person's competence in the field of his choice.

Moreover, to go to school for four years, or eight, is no proof of excellence (any more than to fail in an examination is evidence of incompetence). The awarding of degrees and diplomas to people who have done no useful things is silly and absurd, since these degrees are no testimony to one's competence. Hence, they tend to inflate the ego of the degree-holder with the idea that he is a great person when, most probably, he isn't. All degrees, it seems to me, should be honorary, and be awarded for some worthwhile service to society.

The summing up of my argument is this — and it is a conclusion that cannot be disproved — that is, one's success in life does not depend upon one's acquiring a college education.

Thank you,
David Towns

Dear Editor:
I sincerely appreciate the space which was donated to "Students Defend Day's Comments" Tuesday. It is clear to me that there are still a few "virtuous" persons around who, like me, would like to keep our newsstands clean. I have nothing against those who are connected with the BACCHANAL. I just don't happen to like their publication and I am willing to say so. If anyone is offended by my narrow-minded comments and convictions, I suggest that they pay no attention to them.

I would like to call to attention the typographical error that appeared in my letter to Mail Call last Tuesday. It was printed that my biggest complaint was being accused of having immaculate virtues... this is wrong. It should have read, the biggest compliment of my life is being accused of having immaculate virtues.

I believe that a person's character can be judged by the material he reads—and enjoys.

Sound and Fury

Defends Capitalism; Attacks Big Unions

Editor's Note—The penultimate in a series of ping-pong, liberal-conservative discussions, Glasscock's column will be answered by Grover Lewis in Tuesday's edition to conclude the altercation for this semester. Tentative plans call for continuation for the duration of the summer semesters.

BY KIP GLASSCOCK

The liberal columnist wrote, "I cannot and will not presume then, to formulate any hasty, over-simplified or deceptively sugarcoated penny summations of liberal doctrine." He then cautiously waited until the next paragraph before declaring "... the liberal, proceeding instinctively from his particular experience of existential phenomena to the slow accretion of a few hard-won general axioms is inclined by the nature of his inquiring temperament toward the kind of personal, highly individualistic outlook which defies rigid classification." If this is not "... oversimplified and sugarcoated ..." what is it? I too find "... papier-mache posture without content to be repellingly offensive ..." Intelligent discussion of issues is impossible without a tangible definitions of terms. That is why I set forth a specific, skeletal definition upon which conservative ideas are based.

Now to the "... ample numbers of black, brown and white human witnesses of the festering inequities ... of the essentially-sound free enterprise system." No realistic system can provide complete equalization. There are going to be poor people in every society. My opponent has not proved these people to be the innocent "victims" of the free enterprise system or shown what he would do to better their plight. Does he propose to make all people completely equal financially? The living standards of these people have steadily increased through the free enterprise system and will continue to do so. The problems of these people can be effectively resolved through local effort at a local level.

It was also implied that I picked a "quaint" time to speak out against federal interference. The time seems less quaint, in retrospect, when one remembers that it was immediately preceded by the threat of price coercion by the administrative branch of our government.

In regard to the "lingering musk of the Billie Sol Estes circus," let us remember that this "circus" was made possible, in part, by loosely supervised federal programs, which the Department of Agriculture and other officials are trying to explain away.

The "seedy spectacle of electronics price-fixing" is unsavory. I abhor it. But I also point out that one can find fraud in business, schools, and on all governmental levels. One finds fraud anywhere one finds people. But this has no direct relationship to liberal and conservative views. Except, it seems a peculiar oversight by Mr. Lewis that he condemns industry for occasionally violating anti-trust laws without mentioning the liberal-favored labor monopolies which are completely exempt from such laws.

Although labor unions serve a useful and constructive purpose, their unbridled and legally uncurbed power should not be allowed to continue. Labor unions have the legal power today to control all of the workers in all of the companies within a particular industry. Such is the case with Reuther's U.A.W. which monopolizes workers of Ford, General Motors, and all other major auto manufacturers. The same case applies to McDonald's United Steelworkers, Hoffa's Teamsters, etc.

With such monopolistic control the unions have forced exorbitant demands upon management. They have been able to push wages up, which in turn forces prices up, (unless the President dictates otherwise) which hurts the rest of the American people. Those who are hurt include people on fixed incomes, pensioners, farmers and other working people who aren't on the payroll of this handful of big union monopolists. So you can see that the conservative is not opposed to Federal Legislation as it applies in the area of nation-wide monopolies. But, he would like to see it equitably applied to management AND labor.

Organizations Combine In Music 'Pops Night'

Tech's music organizations will combine Sunday to present their version of "Pops Night" at 3:30 p.m. in the upstairs Ballroom of the Tech Union.

The two sections of the varsity band, under the direction of Dean Killion will open the program with the overture to "The Student Prince." Following the overture, the 140-member band will play selections from "Carousel" and "South Pacific."

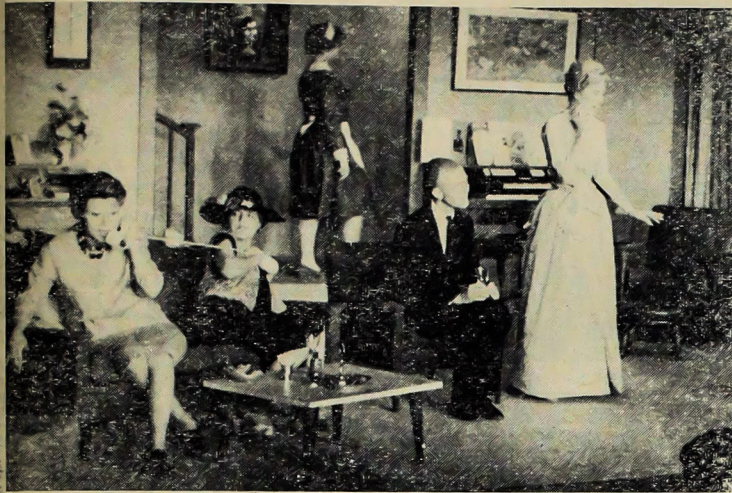

They will conclude their part of the program with several marches and Vaughan Williams' "British Folk Song Suite."

The 46-member Men's Glee Club will sing folk songs and light numbers such as "Dreaming," "Oh Wasn't That A Wide River," "Song of Brotherhood" and "Coventry Carol." The Glee Club will be directed by Gene Kenney.

The Tech Singers will conclude the program with "She Walks In Beauty," "Go Lovely Rose" and "O Lemuel."

The concert is free of charge to the public.

CHAOS IN A LONDON FLAT—Sally Parks chats on the phone in a scene from "Hands Across the Sea" as Jo Galbraith, Gretchen Pollard, Jim Slaughter and Kay Moxley listen. "Hands Across The Sea," directed by Mary John Woolford, is one of a series of three one-act plays now being produced by the Tech speech Department.

Footnotes

by Miller

The cry, "there's nothing to do in Lubbock" seems to be intensifying around the campus these days. So, for those students who are thrown into a mad frenzy of indecision when trying to decide what to do during off-hours, here are a few of the more offbeat amusements Lubbock has to offer.

Have you ever gone swinging at Mackenzie Park? Or for that matter, have you ever gone to Mackenzie Park to really look at the prairie dogs? It may be dark out there at night but if you get up close to their burrows and peer in, you may get a real treat.

Or try counting the number of times your professors say, "Well, uh," during their lectures, or have your fortune told, or try to sneak into a movie on a child movie discount card.

Or take up Yoga or untangle your roommate after he takes up Yoga or wear a hair shirt and carry a "Repent" sign or go on a crusade to abolish spray-net.

Ever sat in the Union and stared at someone until he got embarrassed about the sloppy way he was eating and left? Or walked out onto College Avenue during the rush hour and watched cars leave ten-foot skid marks trying to stop for you?

There's really lots to do in Lubbock.

A movie, "Inn of the Sixth Happiness," starring Ingrid Bergman will be shown in the upstairs Ballroom of the Tech Union at 4 and 8 p.m. Friday and 2:15 p.m. Sunday.

Does anyone know what the "Sixth Happiness" is?

The Union has also scheduled a movie, "The Bolshoi Ballet" for 4 and 7 p.m. Tuesday in the upstairs Ballroom.

And for all Tech stargazers, the Planetarium is having a demonstration entitled "The Zodiac" at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Happy studying!

PETE FEATHER

IFC Selects Officers, Choose Feather Prexy

Pete Feather, a senior retailing major, was unanimously elected president of the Interfraternity Council (IFC) Wednesday.

Other officers elected were John Farrell, vice president and Johnny Ayres, secretary.

Feather, who is a member of Sigma Chi, served as the IFC vice president during the current semester. He has held the offices of recording secretary, pledge trainer and president in his fraternity.

The IFC is an organization of Tech's 11 social fraternities whose aims are to promote scholarship, better fraternity relations, encourage new fraternities and to develop existing chapters and individuals in the fraternity system.

The council, composed of two representatives from each fraternity, establishes official rush week and devises a system whereby the date of the official rush party of each fraternity is derived.

"The Interfraternity Council was created through a common effort toward a more responsible and coordinated fraternity system at Texas Tech. It strives to foster reciprocal cooperation between the social fraternities, other fraternities, the campus and the administration," Feather said.

An IFC court, chosen by the president and vice president of the IFC and with the approval of the council, serves as the judicial body of the IFC. The court consists of five members.

The court tries cases in which the administration brings charges against an individual fraternity for an infraction of the rules governing fraternities.

In the council each fraternity casts one vote on legislation. The IFC offers a traveling scholarship trophy, intramural sports trophies and a sportsmanship trophy. These awards are made at the annual IFC banquet.

STD Banquet Fetes Essays

Professor J. D. Thomas of Rice University will be featured speaker for Sigma Tau Delta's annual spring banquet Monday night.

Also included in the program will be major awards given each year at the annual English awards banquet. These include awards for the freshman writing the best essay during the year, the senior English under-graduate with the highest scholastic record and the graduate student writing the best M.A. thesis.

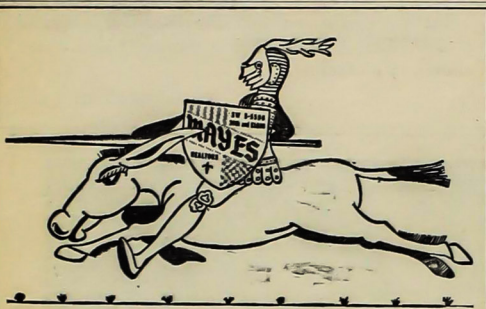

Awards will also be given to those people who have been recognized in this year's two Harbingers.

Professor Thomas has taught at Rice since 1930 and has written a book, "Composition for Technical Students," as well as numerous articles on literature and teaching for scholarly magazines. His speech is entitled "Welcome to the Republic."

Tickets to the banquet are available for $2 and may be purchased at the English office in the C&O Bldg. until 10 a.m. Saturday.

"The typical student," Dr. Levy related, "is more interested in receiving a piece of paper which says he has completed all course requirements than in knowledge for the sake of knowledge."

"The typical faculty member considers his obligations to the students and the college fulfilled if he meets class, takes roll, gives a textbook assignment and makes up, gives and grades an examination."

"The typical administrator considers a good institution to be one that has a growing number of students, faculty members and buildings."

Porterfield urged a closer out-of-class relationship between faculty and students.

Dr. Draper considers a good graduate school to be a great step forward in the growth and value of a college. He said, "The leading schools in the country also have the top graduate schools."

Louis Irwin, freshman chemistry major, felt the campus is in great need of political parties. He suggested that the parties would create a greater interest in all campus issues. "I think they are inevitable. They are coming and can't be suppressed," he added.

Techsans Win Abilene Rodeo

The Tech Rodeo Team widened its lead in the race for the team championship of the Southwest Region Saturday by soundly defeating Sul Ross for the second week in a row at the annual Hardin-Simmons Rodeo in Abilene.

Edd Workman was again chosen as the all-around cowboy. He defeated Pete Lewis of Sul Ross for the second time. Workman won the bareback bronc riding, the saddle bronc riding, and placed second in the first go-around of the calf roping to take the top award, a hand-tooled leather saddle.

H. C. Zachry was a step behind Workman in the bareback riding to cop second place points. He also placed fourth in the second round of the steer wrestling. Bill Barrett, a team alternate placed second in the saddle bronc riding.

Clyde Fort emerged as the champion of the ribbon roping. He captured first in both rounds of the event. Jerry Harlon was third in the first round. Benton Wardlow was a first-place winner in the first round of the steer wrestling.

The team will go to Silver City, N. M., this weekend for the New Mexico Western rodeo.

3 Coeds Receive

Phi Eta chapter of Delta Delta Delta announced the recipients of its annual scholarship awards at the AWS Women's Day Banquet Tuesday.

Receiving the local awards were Arminta Kemp, junior from Roby, and Mary Gaskin, sophomore from Roswell, N.M.

Be Shiao, senior from Taipei, Taiwan, China, won the General Scholarship Award.

Awards were based on academic achievement, outstanding activities and need for financial assistance. Each girl will receive a $150 scholarship.

Gamma Phi's Cop First

Winners of Tech's five intramural speech contests conducted this year were announced Wednesday. Gamma Phi Beta is first and the Pre-Law Club second. Kappa Kappa Gamma, Chi Omega and Phi Delta Theta are tied for third place.

Gamma Phi Beta won the season tournament with a majority of 21 points.

Individual results of the season's final tournament are after-dinner speech, John Compere, Pre-Law; dramatic interpretation, Sondi Nelson, Gamma Phi Beta; extemporaneous, Ann Wilking, Pre-Law; and Sally White, German Phi Beta.

Bible reading, Char Brown, Gamma Phi Beta; poetry reading, Karen Day, independent; Gayle Green, independent; and Nancy Shewmaker, Kappa Kappa Gamma; dramatic interpretation, Susan Weber, Gamma Phi Beta; persuasive, Gayle Green, independent; and Bill Sherbert, Pre-Law; and radio speech, Bill Sherbert, Pre-Law.

Orphan's Adoption Proves 'Nonsense'

COLOGNE, Germany (AP) — Adolf Eichmann's German attorney termed "complete nonsense" Wednesday a report from Israel that the doomed Nazi has agreed to adopt a 16-year-old Canadian orphan girl who admires him.

"I've heard of some nutty things," attorney Robert Servatius told newsmen. "But this is about the craziest I've come across in a long time."

Zoo Officials Go On Safari

FORT WORTH (AP)—A mysterious or an imaginary lion—apparently the latter—was reported strolling along University Drive near the Forest Park Zoo early Wednesday.

The report started activity at the zoo, where four sleepy lions were roused for a head count. All were caged.

A zoo official said someone identified only as "a prominent businessman," called police to report seeing the lion shortly before 3 a.m.

Zoo custodian John Binder counted noses, and reported the zoo's four lions sleeping peacefully.

Police were adamant. Binder rechecked. Still there were no missing lions.

Shortly zoo curator Frank Thompson was called to the scene. He too counted four noses.

By then the zoo had nearly as many people as animals—Binder, Thompson and four carloads of cops.

The safari broke up at dawn.

Rifle Drill Team Attends Festival

The Tyrian Rifles will leave Friday morning for Corpus Christi where they will participate in the annual Buccaneer Day Festival drill competition.

Competition will be held at the Naval Air Station where there will be drill teams from colleges and high schools throughout Texas. Last-year Tech's Tyrian Rifles won third in the competition.

Cindermen Compete In Bear Town

Texas Tech will have seven varsity entries and three freshmen in the quadrangular meet on Baylor's new track in Waco Thursday.

In the meet are also host Baylor, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian.

By event, with best times, the participants include:

440 relay—Bob Swafford of Abilene, Franklin Wood of Stephenville, Ronny Biffle of Anton, Walter Cunningham of Galena Park (41.8)

Mile run — Guy Golden of Stephenville; freshman Jerry Brock of Fort Worth (4:25)

440 dash—Swafford (50.3), Norman Doneison of Stanton (51.0); freshman Fred Walker of Spur (50.2)

AFTER CAR ACCIDENT

Amerson Recuperates

Glen Amerson, former Texas Tech star football player and now defensive linebacker for the Philadelphia Eagles, is recuperating in Methodist Hospital following an automobile accident last Saturday morning.

"I feel a lot better now," Glen said, "but still pretty sore. I just hope they can patch me up in time to get into that football helmet next fall."

With multiple cuts and bruises over his entire face, Glen remains in good spirits with a series of plasters.

880 run—Curtis Hart of Andrews (1:54.6), Gary Don Bove of Happy; Brock

220 dash—Wood (22.4), Cunningham; freshman Walker

Low hurdles—Biffle (24.1)

Mile relay—Hart, Wood, Doneison or Cunningham, Swafford (3:13.3) tic surgery operations and skin grafts to begin soon.

A senior at Tech, Glen returns each spring to work toward his degree. "With finals coming up I'm pretty worried about leaving the hospital in time to prepare for them. I imagine the hospital will release me sometime within the next week, and then I will return after finals."

Amerson had more than 500 stitches taken in his face and head, and doctors have made no definite plans as to when his series of treatments will begin.

"The most painful of the cuts is a severed piece of skin in the middle of my forehead. It is 3½ by 3¼ inches and is being kept alive by a 3/8 inch of tissue. The doctors say it was a miracle that it was able to be sewn together.

"My right eye lid had to be sewn back on, and as a result, I haven't been able to open that eye."

The accident occurred two miles from the Buffalo Lakes entrance on the Buffalo Lakes Road at 2 a.m. last Saturday morning.

The 200-lb., 6-1 Amerson calls Munday his hometown.

Last fall Glen was so little known that no team in the National or American Football Leagues bothered to draft him. Now he is playing an important role with a team fighting to regain the National League title.

Football is an important part of Amerson's life. He was an enthusiastic Red Raider for four years terminating in 1959, and joined the Eagles for a very prosperous first year. When the Eagles' defensive halfback and captain, Tom Brookshier, broke his leg in a game with Chicago, the rookie Amerson was called upon to fill the position.

Frogs Try Tech Men

Texas Tech's tennis team winds up its Southwest Conference round robin schedule against Texas Christian University here Saturday afternoon with the Red Raiders' chances for a third place depending upon the outcome.

Coach George Philbrick's young netters can finish in third place with a 3-3 split. Southern Methodist has completed its schedule with a 21-15 record. Texas Tech is 19-11. Breaking even Saturday would make the Raiders 22-14.
