

Student Hits Car — Now That's News!

Monday just wasn't Bill Shirley's day

The Tech student had an accident at noon in front of the Student Union Bldg.

What happened? He ran into a car. And he was a pedestrian at the time.

It all came about when he leaped toward the car to avoid being hit by another. But he didn't stop soon enough and jammed his hand through the windshield of the parked vehicle.

Shirley, a junior from Vernon, was taken by two Techsians to the Tech infirmary, where he was examined and released.

One of the good Samaritans fainted at the sight of blood, however, broke a tooth, and in turn was taken to a Lubbock dentist.

Oh, yes. Both students missed lunch.

Hundreds Prepare For Bus Caravan To Froggie Land

All-School Trip!

Busy Slate Includes Tech Game, State Fair, Six Flags

"All aboard for Froggie Land" Tech-TCU game in Fort Worth will be the cry of hundreds of Saturday night.

Tech students at 12:30 a.m. Saturday morning. This is the time the "Red Raider Special" departs from the Tech campus on its way to the

The school trip is sponsored every year by the student council in an effort to provide the student body with an organized all-school trip. Lewis N. Jones, dean of men, said, "The trip is good for the students. It gives them a chance to work up a lot of enthusiasm about the school and the football team." Tickets for the trip are available through the student council, the dorm associations and the Tech Union. The price of the ticket is $12.50 and this includes the bus trip to Fort Worth, the game ticket, an after-the-game dance in the TCU Student Union and the trip back to Lubbock.

According to Charlie Aycock, student council president, the deadline for purchasing tickets is Wednesday at 5 p.m.

A traveling saddle that goes to the winner of each regular season game between Tech and TCU will be at stake Saturday night. The trophy is called the West Texas Championship Saddle and is presented to the student council of the victorious school each year. The saddle has been in the possession of Tech during the last year. (Tech won last year's game 10-0.)

Activities for the trip will start at 12:30 a. m. Saturday in front of the Union building. The first stop will be in Fort Worth for breakfast, followed by student trips to either the State Fair or to Six Flags Over Texas park.

Aycock urges all students planning to make the trip to stop by the student council office before Wednesday at 5 p.m. and sign up for the trip they want to make.

The students will receive an escort back to Fort Worth at 4:30 p.m. A pep rally is being planned for all students on the TCU campus before the game.

Next stop will be the TCU Student Union for supper and then the game. Rounding out the fun-filled day will be a dance for the Tech students after the game in the Union. The buses will depart from Fort Worth at 12:30 a.m. Sunday to return to Lubbock.

Several organizations are planning to charter their own buses for the trip. Aycock announced that banners and signs will be permitted on the buses but there should be no painting on the buses themselves.

The use of the buses is somewhat new to the Tech school trip. Until 1959 the trips were always made on a train. It was decided to switch to buses in 1960 because train connections could not be made to Austin, site of that year's trip. The cost of the trip was five dollars higher per student when trains were used and Tech's band was usually worn out after a night of constant jam sessions, so the student council decided to use the buses.

IT'S GONNA BE CROWDED, BUT WE'LL MAKE IT!

say these pretty Chi Omega coeds, but they don't seem to be too sad about the situation. Hundreds of Techsians are expected to occupy buses, trains, planes and sports cars for the annual all-school migration to TCU this weekend. —Staff Photo by Charles Hamilton

Theta Sigs Seek Help In 'Handsome' Search

Of all the handsome boys who roam the Tech campus by day and by night, there is one who is THE MOST HANDSOME — and members of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism society, intend to reveal who he is.

However, the group will need help to bring about this revelation. That is why it is asking each organization on the campus to nominate a candidate — NOW. Tech's Most Handsome Man will be elected at Club Scarlet, mock nightclub, Saturday, Nov. 3, in the Tech Union ballroom.

According to Alayne Kornbluch, Theta Sigma Phi president, each nominee must have a 2.0 grade average (unless he is a first term freshman) and must be enrolled for at least 12 hours work during the current semester. He may be of any school or classification.

A glossy 5x7 photograph of each nominee should be submitted by 5 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 23, to Mrs. Louise Allen in Journalism 201. Those who do not submit photographs by the stated time will be eliminated.

Judges will select seven finalists to compete in the Most Handsome Man election. Each person paying admission will have one vote.

All campus organizations will be able to compose and present a skit as part of the Club Scarlet floorshow. A brief description of the skit must be submitted to Journalism 201 by Oct. 23. Each participating organization will be informed of a rehearsal when skits will be selected. Skit participants will be admitted without charge; however, they must buy a ticket to vote for Tech's Most Handsome Man.

Patrolman Offers Parking Advice

Carl Francis is a familiar person to most Techsians whether they know it or not. He is the campus patrolman who writes "from 25 to 75" parking tickets per day for violations occurring in the Ad Bldg. and Bookstore parking lots.

"I like all the students," Francis says. "Of course, I have my job to do, but I'll do whatever I can to help a student." In regard to the parking problem, the patrolman advises, "Bring your breakfast and come on over."

While he can't relieve their frustrations, Francis thinks students may find some solace in knowing that faculty and staff members get tickets, too and receive no special treatment.

"Their tickets are the same color as those issued to students," he quips.

Those who know the patrolman wonder how he maintains his even temper and fine sense of humor. "I like this job better than any I've ever held," Francis says.

The 60-year-old patrolman had 12 years law enforcement experience prior to coming to Tech. He was the "first man to sign up" when the present Traffic-Security Department was organized in 1956.

William L. Shirer Speaks For Tech German Week

William L. Shirer, internationally famous foreign correspondent and author of the best seller, "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich," will present a special lecture on campus at 7:30 p.m., Oct. 18, in the Municipal Auditorium.

Shirer's lecture will be in connection with "German Week" which will be observed at Tech Union Oct. 12-21. "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" will be the subject of the poetry hour Oct. 16.

Millions of Americans regard Shirer as a genius of journalism. His news broadcasts, lectures and books give the American public a picture of the day's developments.

Shirer is a graduate of Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and has been employed in the field of journalism since 1925, when he was given a job on the copy desk of the Paris edition of the Chicago Tribune. Also working on the copy desk at that time were James Thurber, Elliott Paul and Vincent Sheean, who was a full-fledged correspondent.

In 1927 he was moved to the home edition of the Tribune and was employed there until 1932. The next year he sailed with his recent bride to a small fishing village off the coast of Spain. Here he and his wife, the former Viennese drama critic and painter, Theresa Stibertz, shared a house with the famous guitarist, Segovia.

In 1937 he joined the foreign correspondence staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System at the invitation of Edward R. Murrow, its European director. He covered the various crises which led to World War II and was in Berlin when Hitler began his attacks.

Since 1941 Shirer has published many books including novels and such works as "The Challenge of Scandinavia," "Midcentury Journey," and "Berlin Diary," as well as "The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich."

Many honors have been bestowed on Shirer, such as the George Foster Peabody Award, radio's greatest prize; the Wendell Wilkie Award for his outstanding achievements in journalism; and the Legion of Honor from France. He is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, the Foreign Policy Association and the Farm Bureau, and has been president of the Author's Guild.

Tickets for the Shirer lecture will go on sale Oct. 15 in the Union lobby. Student rates are 75 cents, while faculty tickets are $1. Town people may obtain tickets for $2. Tickets may be purchased at the Union ticket booth through Oct. 18, and they may also be obtained at the door. There will be no reserved seats.

Shirer's lecture is under the sponsorship of the Ideas and Issues Committee of Tech Union.

Other German Week activities will include the showing of the special film "Mein Kampf," and the poetry hour program.

56 Coeds Vie For Positions

There are 56 girls who have applied for President's Hostesses positions at Tech, according to the dean of women's office.

Today is the deadline for returning applications. To be a President's Hostess a coed must be a sophomore or above, have been at Tech a year and have at least a 2.5 grade average.

L-V Staff Meets

All section editors of the 1963 La Ventana must be at a staff meeting in Room 211 of the Journalism Bldg. at 5 p.m. Wednesday, according to editors Joyce Woody, Kay Kagay and Travis Peterson. Plans for production of the yearbook will be started.

Reflections of Telstar

Remember the picture above? It flashed across your television screen on a hot night last July. Perhaps you remember that it originated from France. And that it reached the U. S. via Telstar, the world's first private enterprise communications satellite.

Since that summer night, the Bell System's Telstar has relayed electronic signals of many types—television broadcasts, telephone calls, news photographs, and others.

But there's one Telstar reflection you might have missed. Look into the faces of the Bell System people below and you'll see it. It is the reflection of Telstar's success that glowed brightly on the faces of all who shared in the project.

Their engineering, administrative and operations skills created Telstar and are bringing its benefits down out of the clouds to your living room.

These Bell System people, through their talented, dedicated efforts, make your phone service still better, more economical, and more useful.

The reflections of Telstar are many.

Tech Infirmary Aids Ailing Students Daily

By JEANNIE STARK
Toreador Staff Writer

Ailing Techsans with weebegone faces travel daily to the Harriett and Len McClellan Memorial Infirmary, Tech's own little "hospital" on campus.

Located east of Tech Union and north of Horn and Knapp halls, the infirmary keeps its doors open from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. until noon on Saturday.

Tech infirmary supervisors are Dr. Fred P. Kallina, director of the Student Health Service, and Dr. E. R. Rose, professor and college physician. Students who become patients of the infirmary are under direct supervision of one of these doctors.

Seven registered nurses, eight licensed vocational nurses, one receptionist - laboratory technician, one dietitian, three cooks, a maid and a custodian are included in the infirmary staff.

If illness strikes a student after 4:30 p.m. and he desires medical attention before morning, he may go to the emergency room of the infirmary, located on the south side of the building.

Clinic visiting hours are from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. Allergy immunizations are given free of charge between 2 and 4 p.m. each day.

"Our budget will not allow us to provide the various vaccines needed for the immunizations, but we will be more than glad to inoculate those students who furnish their own medicine." Dr. Kallina reported "and if the student needs a prescription to obtain such drugs we will be very glad to provide him with them, thus eliminating an expensive doctor's fee."

An added service this year is the distribution of the Sabin Oral Polio Vaccine. Types 2 and 3 will be offered periodically.

"Tech students have an advantage in obtaining their sugar-cube-vaccine from the infirmary. They are released from their parents to Tech when they are registered and no parent's signature is necessary to receive the vaccine from the infirmary," related Dr. Kallina.

The infirmary is divided into two divisions: the out-patient clinic treats students who are not sick enough to require hospitalization, and the in-patient clinic treats students who have to be put to bed.

Dr. Kallina and his staff are ready to take care of just about any student who is sick enough to require treatment but not "in such physical condition as to require surgery or the services of a specialist."

JFK Steps Up Campaign Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy extends his political campaigning into midweek this week as he steps up the pace of his drive to help win more Democratic House seats.

Heretofore, he has confined his partisan appeals for Democratic candidates to weekend appearances but this week he will speak at a Wednesday night rally in Baltimore, flying to and from the Maryland city by helicopter.

Nixon Draws Praise From Eisenhower

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower capped a day of political jabs at President Kennedy and what he called one party government with a "100 per cent" endorsement Monday of Richard M. Nixon's candidacy for governor of California.

The former president, who received a thunderous welcome to San Francisco, said regretfully he didn't work hard enough for Nixon in the 1960 presidential race. He urged Californians not to make the same mistake this year.

"I endorse him 100 per cent," he said.

Rain Floods Dallas, Washes Away Cars

By The Associated Press

Cloudburst-type rains struck Dallas before dawn Monday creating flash floods which drove residents from their homes, washed cars off streets and paralyzed traffic in the north portion of the city.

Dallas residents called it the worst flash flooding they ever witnessed.

No one drowned. Two persons died in the rain area outside Dallas in traffic accidents blamed on slick highways.

Rain fell at a rate of an inch an hour for four hours before slackening off.

Heaviest reported rain was at Lipan south of Fort Worth—5.49 inches.

One rescue at Dallas involved an unidentified woman of about 30. Her car stalled and water rose rapidly.

Marcus Ward, who lives nearby, pulled her free but the two could not move against the flash flood. John E. Bigler tied Ward and the woman to a street sign until a youth appeared with a rope and belt and the pair was pulled to safety.

By that time, the water covered the woman's car.

O. D. Miller, Dallas fire department chief of communication said debris from a construction project may have blocked a creek. When water finally broke through it caused a wall of water to crash down that and other streams.

Rescue units, harried by pleas for help and frustrated by high water from reaching some areas, said they could not estimate how many families evacuated their homes.

A $35,000 home burned from lightning.

Police said traffic jams caused by water and traffic accidents were so severe that nearly all north-south vehicle movement was stopped for hours.

One of the worst jams was on Central Expressway, the major artery feeding into downtown from the north. At one time traffic was stacked up beyond suburban Richardson, 14 miles from the center of Dallas.

Court Refuses Ole Miss Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court turned down an appeal by Mississippi Monday contesting court orders which forced the University of Mississippi to admit James H. Meredith, 29, a Negro.

Justice Hugo L. Black predicted on Sept. 10—before the riots set off by entry of Meredith into the university—that "there is very little likelihood" that the Supreme Court would consider Mississippi's appeal.

Black made his comment in setting aside a stay order by U.S. Circuit Court Judge Ben F. Cameron which for a time blocked Meredith's entry into the previously all-white university. Black then called for Meredith's immediate admission and enjoined the university and others from taking any steps to bar him.

The court did accept two important cases in the racial field and in effect let stand rulings barring segregation at bus and railroad stations.

One appeal accepted for argument challenges a public school transfer plan adopted by Knoxville and Davidson County, Tenn., in carrying out racial integration.

Hundreds Prepare For Cuban Prisoners

WASHINGTON—In Washington and in Miami, hundreds of people were at work today setting up facilities to take care of 1,113 Cuban prisoners if and when they are released.

Officials would not be drawn into discussion of whether negotiations to free the captives of the Bay of Pigs invasion actually have been concluded successfully, but they gave every impression they think the men will be released.

At the Health, Education and Welfare Department, an official said: "We are getting ready to receive them if they are released. They will be met at the Miami Airport, where arrangements have been made for their processing through quarantine and immigration."

Ranch Hand Finds Politician's Plane

Eureka, Calif.—The plane of missing Rep. Clem Miller, D-Calif., was found today on a mountain slope 25 to 30 miles east of Eureka. Two bodies were sighted. There was no sign of a survivor.

A ranch hand reported to the Humboldt County sheriff's office by radio telephone that he had found plane wreckage on the south slope of Chapparral Mountain with the body of a man and a boy. Miller, his pilot, George Head of San Rafael, Calif., and Head's son, Ronald, 13, were on the twin-engine plane when it vanished.

Senate Okays $3 Billion Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON—The Senate completed congressional action today on a bill appropriating $3,928,900,000 for foreign aid.

The total is more than a billion dollars short of what President Kennedy asked.

Passage of the bill, a compromise worked out by Senate-House conferees, was by voice vote. The House passed it Saturday by a vote of 171 to 108.

U.S. Stands Firm On Cuban Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—At a tumultuous General Assembly session Monday President Osvaldo Dorticos Torrado of Cuba demanded that the United Nations condemn as an act of war any U.S. blockade of his country.

Outside the hall chief Delegate Adlai E. Stevenson served notice the United States would maintain its economic pressure against the Fidel Castro regime as the least violent way of coping with a Communist threat to the Western Hemisphere.

Dorticos was interrupted at the outset by cries of murderer and degenerate hurled at him by spectators in the galleries. The galleries were closed to the general public. All those admitted held tickets issued to them by U.N. delegations.

Loud applause also punctuated the speech. It was led mainly by a group of Soviet U.N. employees who left their desks to attend.

Lawyer Intends To Quit Walker

DALLAS—Robert Morris, attorney for former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, said Monday his responsibility in the Walker case will end after a psychiatric examination of the one-time Army officer.

Walker is charged with inciting an insurrection and seditious conspiracy stemming from alleged acts at the University of Mississippi at the height of the integration trouble there last week.

The ex-officer returned to Dallas Sunday after being released from the Springfield, Mo., federal prison and medical center where he had been held by court order.

Walker had agreed to take a psychiatric examination to determine whether he is well enough to stand trial on the federal charges.

Walker, on his arrival here, denied any guilt. His attorneys sharply pointed out that the agreement with Federal Judge Claud Clayton of Oxford, Miss., to undergo examination is voluntary.

Morris, president and attorney of the organization called Defenders of American Liberties, said after the examination Walker's defense will be taken over by Clyde Watts of Oklahoma City, a long-time friend of Walker.

Election Commission Calls Special Meeting For Oct. 23

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Commission on Higher Education Monday postponed consideration* of budgets for the 20 state-supported schools after many of the institutions sought changes.

The commission called a special meeting for Oct. 23 to reconsider the budgets.

Dr. Lester Harrell, program examiner for the commission, said the commission decided Sunday night not to make public the staff recommendations on the budgets.

Professor Attends Language Meeting

Mrs. Grace Willborn, Tech English professor, will leave Thursday by plane for the annual meeting of the Rocky Mountain Modern Language Association in Logan, Utah. She will read a paper "Hawthorne's Use of Number Symbolism" on the section of American literature and is scheduled to return Sunday.

Professors Conduct Molecular Research

By EUGENE YOUNG
Toreador Staff Writer

Last summer Texas Tech received a grant amounting to $209,000 for establishment of an Air Force Office of Scientific Research Center for Molecular Research. The grant came from the Air Force Office of Research.

The program will extend for a three-year period and is described as part of the answer to the challenge of space flight problems.

It is divided into two major aspects: 1) the study of methods by which intense heat breaks down a special class of materials, known as coordination compounds, some of which have been proposed for use in space capsules and 2) study concerned with the preparation and properties of certain unusual substances which have multi-ring structures containing sulphur.

Dr. W. W. Wendlandt of the chemistry department is head investigator of the first aspect. His chief concern is the effect of complex compounds from high temperature. This includes dissociation products, heat effects, rate of decomposition and color changes.

Aiding in the research are many complicated instruments amounting to thousands of dollars. Several of these instruments have been constructed and tested by the chemistry department. Dr. Wendlandt is responsible for the latest piece of equipment used, a high temperature reflectance apparatus, the only one of its kind in the world. This instrument measures the color changes of a sample as it is heated.

A result of this experiment could aid in the cooling and heating of a space capsule during different phases of flight.

Working with Dr. Wendlandt are graduates Preston H. Franko, Chak Yak Joe, James P. Smith, undergraduates Jay Hoiberg and Lowell Cole, and post-graduates Dr. Alvarez Funes, Argentina and Dr. S. I. Ali, India.

Dr. H. J. Shine, as principle investigator of the second of the two aspects, has been working with the Electron Spin Resonance, a technique of detecting whether or not an unpaired electron exists in a molecule and if so, how it is located within the molecule. Also, he is to determine the electron spin distribution.

Raiders Give Cadets Scare

Unbelievable Finish Sinks Battling Tech

By CHARLEY RICHARDS
Toreador Managing Editor

Texas Tech's Red Raiders may not have the most impressive won-loss record in the nation, but one thing is for sure. They have one of the most deceiving.

Their conference slate at present is 0-2, but take away a storybook finish at College Station Saturday night and the Techsans would now be officially in third place in the Southwest Conference.

Tech took a 3-0 lead with just 19 seconds left in the game with H. L. Daniels' first field goal of the year, but the Aggies spoiled the upset with an unbelievable finish, a 100-yard kickoff return, the longest in SWC history.

The Aggie Corps, completely filling nine sections of Kyle Field, retained their cockiness throughout the game as they strived to carry out the role as the Aggies' "twelfth man."

But with the "winning" field goal, the Aggies for once were out-yelled. Or maybe it was just that the players, the cheerleaders and the scant handful of Raider fans were just cheering so loud they couldn't hear anyone else. The Saddle Tramp bell "Bangin' Bertha," rang for five minutes.

Then came the kickoff, the Aggies' last and only chance to score and win—and they took it.

Aggie sophomore quarterback Joe McIlhenny took it on the goal line, cut to his left and broke into the clear at the A&M 30 as he watched his teammates cut down five Red Raider would-be-tacklers. For the last 50 yards he was all by himself.

It left everyone from Tech in a daze, still stunned from the sudden turn of events! A Tech cheerleader, bubbling over with laughter and happiness only moments before, turned into a shivering, sobbing, unbelieving imitation of her usual self.

It was deathly quiet in the Raider dressing room, and by looking at the Tech team you'd never believe all the stories you hear of "hard-boiled football players."

They were all crying like babies. For it was a supreme effort they put out, probably the best by a Texas Tech team in several years, either at home or away.

They gave their all, or even more if it's possible. They kept fighting for four quarters until they not only pushed the Aggies back but finally made a score of their own.

The yardage you lose by failing to execute a pass properly in traffic cannot be regained. The Texas Safety Association warns: If your next play is a pass, plan ahead. Don't misjudge your distance. Make sure you have plenty of time and space to pass another motor vehicle before you pull out into the passing lane.

Giants Even Score, 7-3

NEW YORK (AP)—Chuck Hiller unleashed a grand slam home run off New York's Shyam Ford in the eighth inning to boost the San Francisco Giants to a 7-3 World Series win over the Yankees Monday and even the best-of-seven series to 2-2.

Davenport, Matty Alou, Bowman and finally Hiller all romped home to an impromptu celebration at home plate.

The only runs off Ford up to that time had been scored in the second on Felipe Alou's double and Haller's home run into the right field seats.

Coates was the losing pitcher, for the runs that meant the difference in that inning had been put on base by him although Bridges had walked Nieman and thrown the home run ball.

In the fifth inning the Giants' infield performed like the rinky dinks and escaped. The Yankees left two in that inning, three in the sixth and 10 in all.

The Giants were rolling along with that 2-0 lead behind Juan Marichal until Marichal was hit on the right index finger while trying unsuccessfully to squeeze home a run with a bunt in the fifth. The Yanks had only two hits off him in the first four innings. It was a tough blow for the Giants for Marichal struck out four men.

Amid the continuous roar of the Aggie Cadets and the sound of the Saddle Tramp's "Bangin' Bertha," Texas Tech's Red Raiders played one whale of a football game Saturday night. Time after time the Raiders held their ground when the Cadets were hammering away inside the Tech 20-yard line.

"I don't believe I ever saw a team give so much in a football game," said Polk Robison. "It was a supreme effort. They reached down and got that little extra something that you need when you're outmanned."

Tech was playing two teams to the Aggies' three. When a Raider came out of the game, and you could see the sweat pouring off his face onto his jersey, you knew that he had been working and working hard. Sometimes you saw a red and black jersey go down hard and then disappear under a ton of Farmers. And you wondered if he would ever get up. But he always bounced back into the huddle and on the next play he hit a little harder, a little faster.

About 8,500 men in uniform were screaming "Go Farmers, Go" for 60 minutes. And if you could hear yourself think, you were lucky. Five times the game officials turned to the Cadet Corp asking for quiet. And sometimes the din just grew louder.

Then you looked at the Raider bench and wondered who cared about those guys from Lubbock. But if you looked a little further down the sidelines, you found out. Five cheerleaders and five Saddle Tramps were standing at the edge of the chalk boundary line wearing their voices out on every play.

"You can do it Raiders, fight those Aggies!"

Maybe those ten voices helped. Maybe "Bangin' Bertha" gave the Raiders a little extra drive. But whatever it was, Tech battled like no other Raider eleven has battled for years. It was a supreme effort, so supreme that we'd go to Boston or anywhere else to watch that kind of Raider "Go."

Joe Kelly, sports editor of the Avalanche-Journal, has been following Tech teams since the Dark Ages. And of the game Saturday night Kelly says, "... never in the years that we have had the privilege of watching and covering Raider football teams has another team tried any harder and put more into a one-game effort than the team which lost such a heartbreaker as was Saturday night's defeat."

In other words, "It's not the size of the dog in the fight, it's the size of the fight in the dog."

Tech proved that Saturday night.

Bombers Fall In Eighth...

with a blazing fast ball, threw nothing but strikes — all 16 pitches without a ball — in the fifth but two of the strikes were hit for singles by Bill Skowron and Cleto Boyer opening the inning.

When Ford hit a ball back to first base, Skowron was trapped between third and the plate. In the ensuing rundown, the Giants forgot to cover second and third and both runners moved up.

Davenport then fumbled Kubek's slow roller for an error and the bases were loaded with only one out. Richardson grounded sharply to Hiller at second and the second baseman made the force and completed the double play although his throw to first bounced and Orlando Cepeda had to make a fine pickup.

There was one out in the Yankee sixth when Bolin ran into a wild streak and walked both Mantle and Maris. Elston Howard flied out but Skowron singled to left for his third straight hit and Mantle scored. Boyer's single to left, past the straining shortstop, drove in Maris with the tying run.

Dark then called for Larsen to replace Bolin and escaped without any more damage.

"It will be Jack Sanford (24-7) Tuesday and probably Billy Pierce (16-6) in San Francisco Thursday," said Dark. "Willie McCovey will play first Tuesday, Matty Alou will be in right and Haller will catch."

Houk named Ralph Terry (23-12), loser to Sanford in the 2-0 second game, to pitch Tuesday.
