Judging Teams Are Named At Pig Roast

Aggies Will Go To Chicago, Ill.

Nathan Allen, Big Spring, Albert Devin, Tulla, James Gunter, Claude, Kenneth Lewis, Sweetwater, William Montgomery, Longworth, and John B. Wheeler, Eola, were named members of the livestock judging team to represent Tech in the International Livestock judging contest in Chicago, at the 19th annual Aggie Pig Roast Nov. 12. The contest will be held Nov. 30, stated Dean W. L. Stangor, introducing the team, the first since 1941.

Members of the dairy cattle judging team, which represented Tech in Waterloo, Iowa, this fall were introduced by R. C. Fine, associate professor of animal husbandry. The American Royal livestock judging team was also introduced at the Pig Roast by R. C. Mowery head of the animal husbandry department. The American Royal team represented Tech in Kansas City, Mo., in October. Dairy Manufacturing and Plant Industry clubs were not represented by teams this fall.

Pres. W. M. Whyburn, commenting on the Pig Roast, said that it was, in his opinion, one of the finest traditions any school could have, and that it was a wonderful send-off for judging teams. "It ties together students, ex-students, faculty and friends of the Agriculture Division of the college distributed throughout Texas and neighboring states," added Whyburn.

Girls in the Aggie division set the pace at this year's Pig Roast, turning out en masse for the occasion. There are eight girls enrolled in the division, and all are members of the Aggie club, which boasts a record membership, said Whyburn.

Guests at the Pig Roast included faculty members, division secretaries, college officials and other faculty members, several ex-students, and the herdsmen and farm employees. Members and guests were served roast pork, ranch style beans, pickles, potato chips, bun, coffee and ice cream.

Local Yekel Makes Good

By JOE HORNE

They come a time in everyone's life, that moment of greatness, that recognition of hard work, that satisfaction of a job well done and that knowledge of personal success, to which he feels lifted above the common herds on earth. Today that greatness and success was bestowed upon Miss Jane Watson, Tech ex-instructor in journalism and well known professor of photography.

Quoth Jane: "Joe! Joe! I have been made head of a department. Isn't that wonderful?"

Quoth Joe: "Yes Janie, that's fine, tell me about it."

Quoth Jane: "Well this morning I was rushing madly from darkroom to darkroom when I saw a raging fire in one of our trash barrels in the basement; so I put it out with my bare hands."

Quoth Joe: "Haven't you any fire-fighting equipment for the basement?"

Quoth Jane: "No, nothing, but Mr. Mills is buying a fire extinguisher and we'll be set for the next one."

Quoth Joe: "Janie, I'm real proud of you. I think you are to be congratulated and rewarded for saving all that valuable equipment."

Quoth Jane: "Oh I have been, remember, I said I have been made head of a department."

Quoth Joe: "Department! What department?"

Quoth Jane: "Head of the Fire Department—what else?"

AAU Includes Tech On Approved List

We Call It . . . Coffee

By MARY KING
Toreador Feature Writer

Do you know of a more heard-of phrase than "let's go have a cup of coffee," and all coffee drinkers know the best, in fact the only, way to start a day right is with a few cups of good, hot coffee.

Somehow, this fact has not been impressed on the mind of the coffee-maker in Women's Dormitory No. 2 "Mud" was an affectionate slang term that the sailors used for Navy coffee; mud is a truthful adjective for dorm coffee!

Naturally the manager of the dorms (and I'm not using any name) is trying to conserve in every possible way; however, considering the amount of room and board we have to pay (it has gone up in case you hadn't heard), surely she could afford to buy a little better quality of coffee . . . and it wouldn't take much more to have it hot instead of lukewarm.

Now we all know it takes only a nickle, five cents, that is, and a few steps over to the cafeteria to get that desired kind of coffee, but how 'bout it "you know who" . . . won't you do that little favor and give us good, hot coffee in the dorm for a change?

Membership Will Extend Privileges To Graduates

Chilean Speaks To Spanish Club Of Native Land

Senor Carlos Morojodich, a native Chilean, was the guest speaker at the meeting of Capa Y Espada, the Spanish club, November 12, said Maria Valdez, president.

Senor Morojodich discussed the geography, industry, and people of Chile, a country of five million population. He stated that the northern part of the country is mostly desert, and water is piped in from the Andes. This section is the richest part with great natural resources of sodium-nitrate and the biggest copper mine in the world. The southern part of Chile is mainly agricultural. He further stated that the Chilean future lies in industrialization, and that at present industry is financed by the government and foreign companies.

"Chile depends on the United States as do most of the South American countries. Even the politics are influenced by the United States, and the economy is in North American hands," said Senor Morojodich in closing his speech.

Senor Morojodich's wife was also present at the meeting. They are friends of A. B. Strehli, a professor of foreign languages, who was named as one of the two sponsors. Scottie Mae Tucker is the other sponsor. In the business session of the meeting, Betty Seaman was elected song-leader.

Capa Y Espada will have several other guest speakers during the year, according to Valdez.

Notice that Tech has been approved for inclusion on the accepted list of the Association of American Universities was received by President William M. Whyburn Saturday morning.

News of the academic honor was received from Frank H. Bowles, Secretary of the Committee on the Classification of Universities and colleges.

Whyburn pointed out that membership in the AAU carries with it numerous privileges and opportunities to the students from which they had formerly been barred. A Tech graduate now has the right to enter graduate schools of the 33 member institutions without discrimination.

A second benefit will allow all women graduates to become members of the AAUW, whether graduated before or after approval. The American Association of University Women gives approval by AAU as one of its requirements.

AAU approval also enables the Forum, campus service organization, to meet the final requirement for affiliation with the Mortar Board, national honorary society.

Tech graduates may now receive teacher's certificates in other states. In some cases, Tech graduates with teacher's certificates in Texas have gone to other states and been unable to obtain certificates because the college was not on the AAU list.

The acceptance of Tech credentials in graduate work elsewhere without probation, will apply not only to member colleges and universities of the association, but to the several hundred other colleges and universities on the approved list and generally to other graduate schools.

Speech Department Announces Play Cast

Library Funds Meet With AAU Book Standard

Library book allotment fund for this year has been increased from $15,000 to $27,000, A. S. Gaylord, Librarian, announced Wednesday. The increase was made by President W. M. Whyburn who said in a letter to the Library Committee.

The Library, that this allotment meets the standards of the American Association of Universities requiring a yearly expenditure of $500 per student for books.

Dr. Whyburn informed the Library Committee that the size and quality of book stocks should be improved because of Tech's large enrollment.

The Library Committee was innovated by Dr. Whyburn in 1945. It operates in advisory and administrative capacity to coordinate the relation of the Library to teaching needs of faculty and students. Members of the committee are Dr. C. B. Qualla, chairman, head of the Department of Foreign Languages; Dr. T. W. Camp, head of the Department of English; O. A. St. Clair, head of the Department of Industrial Engineering; and T. F. Wiesen, head of the Department of Economics and Management. One vacancy on the committee has not been filled since Jules De Lannay, professor of physics, resigned from the faculty last summer.

Cast for the play, "Our Town", to be presented by the Speech Department, Dec. 6, in the Lubbock High School Auditorium, has been announced by Lucien Upshaw, director of the play. This will be the first fall production of the Speech Department in several years.

"Our Town" is a three act play by Thornton Wilder depicting life in the small New Hampshire town of Grover's Corners. The cast of the play includes: Stage Manager, Jack Terrell; Dr. Gibbs—Bob Nash; Joe Crowell—James Vaughn; Howie Newsome—Bill Glines; Mrs. Gibbs—Billie Hutchings; Mrs. Webb—Joanne Crabtree; George Gibbs—James Simpson; Rebecca Gibbs—Lou Nolan; Wally Webb—R. L. Williams; Emily Webb—D. Ruth Hopping; Professor Willard—Eddie Aryaian; Mr. Webb—Floyd Sadler; Simon Stimson—Jackie Cogdill; and Mrs. Soames—Janet Moore.

Annah Joe Pendleton, head of the Department of Speech, stated that student activity books will admit any Tech student.

"Stunt Night" Is HE Club Program

"Stunt Night" was the program of the Home Economics Club meeting Tuesday, Nov. 12, says Betty Renner. The program included shadow plays of three familiar nursery rhymes presented by a group of Applied Arts majors; a melodrama, "Little Nell" by the Wesley Players, and a duet by Norma Grace Reid and Jeanann Smith.

Group singing of "The Merry-Go-Round" closed the program. Addierene Clay was student program chairman and Miss Charlotte Ballew, professor of child development, faculty sponsor.

Gladys Dawson, club representative to the Province III meeting of Texas Home Economics Association, gave a report of her trip during the business meeting. Avis Fuchs invited the club to the Christmas reception in the Home Management house December 6.

MID-SEMESTER REPORTS

Mid-Semester reports will be ready sometime Monday, Nov. 18, for all students, according to W. F. Clement, registrar. This report will be sent to the parent or guardian of each student, and it will state whether the student is passing or failing his work. A copy of this report will be available in the registrar's office to all students, the registrar stated.

DM'S HEAR HUNTER

Glen Hunter, milk cartage driver for the City of Lubbock, spoke to the members of the Dairy Manufacturing club Monday, Nov. 4 at the club's regular meeting, says Herschel Lamb, president. Hunter discussed the City Health Department's work concerning ungraded milk, and explained why ungraded milk is sold within the city limits. He also presented the procedure for source inspection of milk production.

Women's Branch Of TWVA Active

One of Tech's newest organizations is the Women's Branch of T. W. V. A. This organization is composed of women veterans of World War II who are attending Tech. "The purpose of the organization is to help women veterans to adjust to college life and to become acquainted with each other," says Naomi Duff, president of the organization.

This branch of TWVA was organized last Spring and has been functioning since. Officers are: president, Naomi Duff; secretary, La Rue Moody; Naomi Duff and La Rue Moody together with five other women veterans founded the Tech chapter, which now has 20 members. Each of the 40 branches of the service is represented.

There are similar organizations in colleges throughout the country, and the members of the Tech chapter plan to correspond with the members of the others. Last week the chapter received a letter from Ann Arbor, Michigan, offering to correspond with the Tech-sans.

Meetings of the Women's Branch of TWVA are held the second and fourth Thursday of each month at 7:00 in J208. Any eligible person wishing to join is advised to contact Naomi Duff, 1608-22nd.

Plans for December include a luncheon with all women veterans of Lubbock, Duff stated.

ROTC Announces Non-Com Officers

Student ROTC non-commissioned officers were announced Wednesday by Lt. Col. Ludlow C. Adams, P.M.S.&T. "After eliminating those being considered to twelve, a final test given Wednesday afternoon gave these results."

"Battalion Commander Robert E. Arnold, Adjutant, and Master Sergeant Battalion Adjutant, with the grade of Staff Sgt. is William D. Spradling, of the Air Corp Training in the ROTC unit. Company Commanders will be Tech Sergeants. Company A is commanded by J. Lee Robbing, Senior Commerce student. Company B Commander is Richard R. Tibbets, Junior Commerce student. Company C is commanded by Jean S. Wood, Junior Engineering student," said Adams.

"The reason that these positions that normally would be commissioned are not, is that there are no senior students and it is felt that the honor of holding the commissions should be reserved for men in that class," said Col. Adams.

The twelve men who were in the final test were chosen for their ability on the drill field and from academic records in their ROTC work," said Major John M. Goodman.

Major Goodman conducted the test that consisted of three main points; voice and command, ability to explain movements to men, and moving of a squad to a designated point.

The reviewing board for the test was composed of four officers and four non-commissioned officers of the Unit Staff.

Faculty Members Address Session

Two Tech faculty members addressed sessions of the South-Central Modern Language Association meeting held at the University of Texas in Austin on November 8-9.

Two addresses by Dr. A. L. Strout, professor of English, were "Some Letters of James Hogg," and "Whig versus Tory in Criticism." Dr. T. Earle Hamilton, associate professor of foreign languages, spoke on "Comedies Attributed to Alarcon."

Dr. C. B. Qualla, head of the Department of Foreign Languages, was secretary-treasurer of the organization.

Other faculty members attending were: Dr. T. W. Camp, head of the Department of English; Dr. Alan Gunn, associate professor of English; Miss Eleanor Scott, assistant professor of English; A. B. Strehli, assistant professor of foreign languages; and Mrs. Marie Harrison, instructor in English.

SOPHOMORES MEET

The sophomore class held its first class meeting of the year October 29. Jim Hutchins, vice-president of the class, resigned from his official duties and Aubrey Ferguson was elected in his place.

Sponsors for the year were also elected at this meeting. They were Cecil Ayers, Asst. Prof. Plant Industry and Elizabeth Wilson, Asst. Prof. of Architecture.

College To Get Surplus Buildings

Administrative officials of Texas Technological College have been notified that the college is to receive 30 surplus buildings.

The Federal government awarded the buildings to relieve acute shortages of class room and storage space. The buildings are to be moved from airfields at Honda, Abilene and Brownwood. T. C. Root, assistant to the president, states that he doesn't expect the buildings to be ready for use before next summer.

The buildings will provide Tech with more space for classes, laboratory work, health supervision, faculty offices and storage.

Teacher Bureau Places 77 in 1946

Teacher Placement Service headed by Dr. Doyle D. Jackson has placed 77 teachers this season beginning January 1, 1946. Since September 12, 1946 the following teachers have been placed:

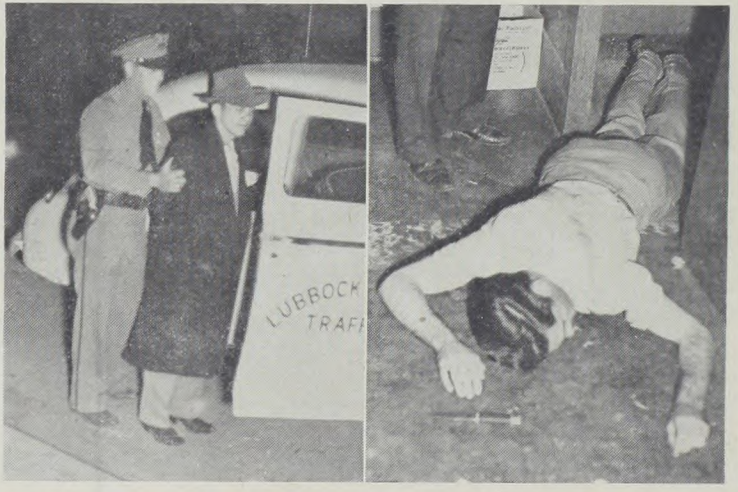

William T. Martin of Texarkana, Texas, to teach 7th and 8th grades at Southland, Texas. Martin was a June '46 graduate of Tech.

Emmett Brumbalou of Goodland, Texas, to principalship of Whitt School, Whitt, Texas. Brumbalou was a Junior in San Marcos Teachers' College.

Lester Rogers of O'Donnell, Texas, to teach social science at Colorado City, Texas. Rogers is a graduate of Abilene Christian College.

Sylvia Bee Kelly of Lubbock to teach high school English at Turkey, Texas. She was a Sophomore in Hillsboro Junior College.

Willie Hampton of Fredericks, Oklahoma to teach history and science at Spur, Texas. Hampton was a '40 graduate of Denton, T.S.C.W.

Fred Libby To Be Tried Monday

Prosecuting, Defense Attorneys Delve Into Pre-Law Mock Trial

Fred Libby, freshman arts and sciences student of Lubbock, has been indicted for the brutal murder of Robert Pardue, junior arts and sciences Lubbockite, who was fatally stabbed last night about 9:30 in the telephone booth of the College Avenue Drug store. The door to the booth was pushed open just wide enough to allow a passer-by to slip a knife in the back of Pardue, who was making a call.

Customers in the drug store were aware of the stabbing only when Pardue managed to open the door of the booth; immediately after, he fell to the floor, dead.

Libby was picked up by a Lubbock patrolman Billy Daniels, one block east of the College Avenue Drug, about midnight; he resides at 2401 13th.

Prosecuting attorneys, Robert Cole and Oliver McMahan, hinted that there was a love triangle involving a Tech coed.

Defense attorneys, John Culver and Bob Cooper, deny the murder charge.

The defendant made no statement.

Nine jurors will be named at the trial by the presiding judge, Darrell Carpenter. "This is the Pre-Law club's all-college trial for the fall semester," he says, "and I hope all students who can will be present. I shall select the jurors from the audience."

The trial will be held Monday, Nov. 18, in C101 at 7:30 p. m., says Amos Howard, president of the Pre-Law club.

NEW MUSEUM RELIC

The skull of a Pueblo Indian found last month near Pie Town, Texas, has been loaned to the Museum by Ben Moore of O'Donnell, local collector.

The skull is an unusual specimen, said Mrs. Jean Quinn, Tech graduate in charge of the Museum, because it has no teeth. She explained that Indians usually have good teeth. Typical flattening of the skull is caused by the practice of strapping babies to a cradle-board, she said.

LIBRARY CIRCULATION

Circulation of books in the Library last month doubled the rate for the same period last year, according to figures given by A. S. Gaylord, Librarian. Total circulation for October, 1946, was 10,885 books, compared to 5,942 for October, 1945.

TECH GETS PROMOTED

We, the student body of Tech, want to express appreciation for our being accredited by the Association of American Universities, and we want to say thank you to all the administrators who worked that this might be accomplished. We realize that this is the most important mark in the history of our college, which can now call itself with justification, a University.

President Whyburn and Dean Goodwin were staunch backers of this movement. Whyburn made this his main topic of advancement for the college when he became President. Tech was accredited this time—our third attempt—because of its growth in numbers and in the quality of its instruction to students.

The association's approval will make everything we attempt in the future easier. We will be able to have more national organizations within our departments. Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board, American Association of University Women and other groups, will be more likely to consider Tech for chapters.

When our students transfer or attempt graduate work at other universities, they will have no trouble enrolling. Their credits will be accepted without question.

We could go on patting ourselves on the back, but all we really want to say, is that we are very proud of our University.

TO GRIPERS ONLY

Looks like another editorial is needed to explain the Toreador. We put out a student publication. That is, we try to reflect the opinion of the majority of students.

Of course, this is difficult, since no one or group of people, know the majority of people on the campus. For these reasons, we welcome letters to the editor, and contributions to the Tech-Sand column.

The letters, however, must be signed when you write them. It seems that anyone who is heated enough over an incident to write, would be willing to admit that he is. This is not the reason, that the letters must be signed.

There is a ruling in the Publications Committee's handbook which states that the Toreador editor must have a signed letter on file. Therefore, sign your letters, then if you don't want to take the credit and blame for them, put a P.S. at the bottom which says so.

Letters which have constructive suggestions are always welcome to the Toreador, as well as volumes of gossip. We need it and want it. If we feel that someone's good name is at stake, and that the gossip is catty rather than clever, we reserve the right to omit it from print. Letters which are so full of material to take a stand in controversial issues, then fail to give a signature, give the appearance of missing the mark, in our opinion.

It's your paper—make it what you want. We are glad to criticize ourselves in your name.

Thoughtless Frankster

Did you notice the absence of the flag Homecoming Saturday? Many did. It was caused by some person thoughtlessly tying the rope out of reach and then greasing the pole. This was Homecoming, not April Fool's day. Let's give some thought to things like this.

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor: It seems to me that some of the Raiders' fans are doing a lot of complaining that should be directed to themselves, rather than to our boys. Maybe from their benches the team did look lousy, but why in hell didn't they yell.

Letters To Editor . . .

Dear Editor:
 As the President of the Saddle Tramps I desire to thank you for the publicity which you saw fit to give us by printing the letter from hard pressed "Loyal (?) Techsan." The substance of his letter shows that he is not half as loyal as he would have us believe. Otherwise like even the "good fish" he would know the tradition of the school, its spirit and the part the Saddle Tramps play therein. After being assured by a reliable source that "Loyal Techsan" was to quote "a little sophomore, who didn't know any better" we are inclined to feel that that explains it all. However, we are glad that the subject has been brought up so that we can re-acquaint "Loyal Techsan" and others of the Student Body with the purposes and activities of the Saddle Tramps.

Now as we see it the writer's chief complaint comes from the fact that he didn't get to sit in the Saddle Tramps section. The solution to his problem seems simple enough: one, as a male an dan upperclassman he should be a Saddle Tramp—pledging himself to the support of the team and the spirit of the college, as all true Techsans do; two, as a female, go with a Saddle Tramp or have your boy friend join the organization.

During the Denver game, two Lubbock policemen had to investigate a disturbance in the student stands. They reported that when they reached the spot, the situation had been put under control by the Saddle Tramps, and that if the Saddle Tramps had not been there, they (the two policemen) probably would have had a very difficult time of it. We are wondering where our "Loyal Techsan" was.

The Saddle Tramps are responsible for all pep rallies and the cheering at all ball games, and we need the help of all Tech students. However, I believe most will agree with the undersigned when I state that Tech's cheering has decidedly improved since the Saddle Tramps section has been "installed". And so it should for that is the primary purpose of the organization and one to which they are pledged. Also the organization is responsible for the cheer leaders and plans to pay for all future uniforms they are to wear.

In passing it might be stated that the Saddle Tramps donated $100 to help build Tech a new Stadium. It was the only Campus organization to make a donation to this cause. On the other hand it is regrettable that there is no pep organization for female students, because the cute Tech girls have been outnumbering the males at all pep rallies.

In closing, we are just wondering if "Loyal Techsan" was loyal enough to be at the Depot to meet the football team when they returned from their Rice defeat. Yes, we realize that it was damp and cold, but the reception given by the few Tech Students there was HOT.

Signed
 Maxey Pinson
 President Saddle Tramps, '46-'47.

Dear Editor,
 Your editorial last week, "Ignorance Is This," stressed some of the most important things that have been wrong with our audience etiquette; however, there is one point that I would like to stress. That is applause.

These artists that appear on Tech Artist Course programs are eager to give us encores, if we will only ask for them. Nothing pleases the performer more than a roaring applause and if we are the type of students that we should be we realize that we can't possibly lose because we will be hearing some outstanding selection and at the same time we will be paying tribute to the artists, as well as paying tribute to the neighbor across the aisle who sincerely wants to hear another number.

J.H.S.

Dear Loyal (?) Techsan: By definition, loyalty is that quality of trust, confidence, faith, duty and allegiance to the established government and traditions. I suggest you join the Saddle Tramps and use some of your hot air rooting pray!

 Be prepared for de Lord on his Judgment Day.

What Happened To Bob?

BOB FENIMORE, Back

With the announcement, made several weeks ago that Bob Fenimore, twice chosen All-American halfback has been injured, speculation has been made that the all-time star has passed up his possible third chance at the title by stepping out of the playing picture this season in favor of the many veterans who are playing on the team. Fenimore was under age during most of the war years and received another draft deferment only recently.

With a love for the game like Fenimore's, it would take nothing short of a major catastrophe to keep the Oklahoma back from showing his wares.

Raider Basketball Team Will Rely On Experience-Speed
By JOHN HASSON

Tech's basketball team has experience and speed to carry them through the 1946-47 season.

Against the two-time national collegiate champion Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater on December 3, the Aggies, without the services of their towering center, Bob Footballs Kurland, will be seeking their third national title in as many years. The Raiders, somewhat less ambitious, will be starting

Oklahoma Aggies Invade Tech Saturday At 2:30

Bob Fenimore Will Be Out Of Game Due To Injuries

The Oklahoma Aggies invade the Tech stadium Saturday afternoon for their tenth grid tilt with the Red Raiders in as many years. The game will start at 2:30.

Sans the two-time All-American great Bob Fenimore, 192 pound half back, the Aggies will be out to break the four game deadlock each team holds, plus the 6-6 tie of 1940. The Aggies have won each of the last four meetings between the two schools.

Coach Jim Lookabaugh's squad, injury-free for Saturday's game, are due to arrive in Lubbock this afternoon by plane, and work out briefly.

With a starting eleven averaging 190 pounds and line that is listed above 215, the Oklahoma eleven fare to give the Raiders a rough afternoon.

In the Raider camp this week the Men-In-Red are undergoing lengthy process-ironing sessions in almost every department. Several combinations of players are being tried by Coach Dell Morgan with emphasis placed on pass offense as well as defense.

In Wednesday's practice, which continued until floodlight time in the evening, two promising backfield prospects appeared outstanding. Ray Hopkins, fleet back, and Dwight Hoskins, of Amarillo were handling their assignments well. Hopkins, who has not seen much action this season is proving an outstanding defensive back and ball handler.

The search is still on for a passer, however, and Coach Morgan seems to be using everyone in the book to develop one. Dick Stander is still favoring a knee-injury and may be held to the bench Saturday.

ing a season in which they hope to win the Border Conference championship, a distinction which a Raider team has not achieved since the 1933-34 season.

Head Coach Earl Huffman will be back to assume duties as head coach, a position held by Polk Robison during the war years. Indications are that this will be a typical Raider team as far as height is concerned. Definitely not on the tall side, experience will be one of the teams biggest assets. Most of last year's lettermen will be back in addition to several lettermen and squadmen of previous years.

Garland Head, an all-conference guard in 1942 and 1945, Jay Kerr, high-point man on last year's team and Gene Hardey will compose a squad. Other lettermen include Roland Nabors, Ardis Barton, Bill Kelley, and squadmen Bob Loflin and Clayton Roberts.

New or returning men expected to strengthen the team are 'Wimpy' Hill, third highest scorer in the Pacific Coast conference with Stanford last year, 'Red' Williams, Ernest Hawkins and Costin Bulkin, lettermen in 1944-45, Wayne Bowles, 1942 letterman, Eugene Gibson and Winston Churchill. Only three of last year's regulars will not return. They are Allen Close, Tilley Sneed, and Jiggs Jackson.

Sixteen games have been scheduled with Border Conference foes, eight at home and eight away. Tech is also entered in all-college tournament at Houston December 20-21.

Following the opening game with Oklahoma A&M at Stillwater the Raiders will journey to Norman the following night to meet Oklahoma University. On December 9 the Raiders meet McMurry in the first home game. On December 13 they go to Tucson, Arizona to begin conference play with Arizona University.

Sponsors of the Women's Recreational Association were informed by ROTC officials this week that the rifle activity, normally presented by the association, will not be held this semester.

Crowded ROTC schedules and limited supply of qualified rifle instructors were cited as reasons for not holding the rifle classes.

DOUBLE-T DOPE ASKS... Has The College Grid Player Attitude Changed Since War?

By SAM MALONE, Jr.
Toreador Sports Editor

With the kindest permission of the ladies present and tender-skinned professors (if there be any present) "We've had a bellyfull."

There's been several feet of plain every day muck spread almost solid around the campus the past couple of weeks and it is getting tiresome trying to muddle through it.

Yes, we had excellent seats for the New Mexico game last Saturday and can read sufficient enough to gather the report that Rice Institute beat Tech the week before that. Let's settle down, people, and listen.

According to pre-season ballyhoo, Tech, as well as most of the other colleges over the nation, had a wealth of material for this football season. Three, four and even five-men deep for every position which is supposed to make for a coach's and fan's dream of a perfect season. Former lettermen were turned away from every college because they couldn't make the grade, former servicemen were glutting the football market. These veterans didn't have to hang on to a football scholarship to stay in school. They had that as well as a little spending money on the side furnished them as just paid dues from serving their country in time of war.

Does that change the college football picture? For our money, yes. Since one of the fundamental factors in going to college was financial aid—received by football player in pre-war years—and since these conditions have been changed by conditions of the past five years, the effect on college football is only natural.

Just prior to the opening gun of the 1946 season Texas Tech lost one of the nation's finest ends, Hubert Sechler, who decided to attend the University of Texas in place of two years at Texas Tech. Why? He had the chance to KEEP his All-American rating on one of the nation's finest teams.

There, then, is where some of the three, four, and five men deep squads have lost key men from their squads.

With all due respect to every player on the present Red Raider squad Texas Tech is one of the many schools that have the ballyhooed wealth of material—but we have some weak spots in the processing somewhere.

Like any small group of men who work together in anything—as the group gets larger, it becomes more difficult to keep a single, unified spirit, pulling for the same ultimate purpose. Somewhere on the Raider squad of this may be an excellent passer. Someone who can hit the swinging tire at fifty paces—the end who cannot only break away from the defensive opposition, but pull the impossible ones from out of the blue—the fullback that takes four to five men to the sod with him on every pigskin tote—a safety man that has the unerring judgment to spot the ball and tacklers, catch the first and get around the second for precious yardage, and a forward wall that makes every tackle one that sticks and does not bounce off. That's what must be found before every mother-son of a football fan will be made overwhelmingly happy and kick in with the season tickets.

Football at Tech is big business. The athletic fund is now operating in big round figures. So we are functioning on one end as big time, made possible by increased earnings in the country—while the players end goes slipshod for the want of TIME to catch up at the beginning.

Would that it were possible for any coach to hold the old-time whiphand over his players, submissive to the extent of a college education, perhaps the season that schools all over the country are going through, would be changed. Most of today's college players are men of the professional football stage. Grown in mind and body beyond the young high school graduate age, these players are not playing for that old BA degree since the end of the line. The college player of today wants to be a working member of an outfit that gets some glory.

That's what the fans are after too. Sliding into the corner drug-store for a quick grasp on the reins. When Tech sees that quarrelsome, Texas Tech, that harassed Coach Morgan's (four) velp the spirit of a winning and bination—our remaining foes and those of next season can just crawl into the back shanty—we're going to town.

I enjoyed most of last week's ball game. It was worth the price of admission to see Bernie Winkler stretching out for paydirt as was Tuffy Nabors in like manner. Nabors, intercepting a Lobo pass and locating Glen Lewis as he was running one direction and looking another, ending in a lateral that marked up another score. Sure they looked sloppy against a defense that was a complete surprise (5-4-2 combination). Coming from a team that supposedly

Wranglers And Kemas Win Intramural Touch Games

Two inter-club touch football games were played Sunday with the Wranglers and the Kemas emerging as victors.

In a hard fought game at Chapman field, the Wranglers defeated the Los Camarados by a score of 7 to 0.

The Kemas-Centaurs game was played in Tech stadium at 2:00 p. m. with the Kemas winning by a 13 to 6 score.

Following the game the Kemas held an impromptu picnic at Mackenzie park.

Two more games are scheduled for next Sunday. The Wranglers will square off against Kemas while Silver Keys take on the College Club.

Those free gifts in the form of linemen taking touchdown sprints was born of the fact that, in spite of the type of play the Raiders were performing, the New Mexicans were desperate—hence the passing route. They telegraphed their passing play with a flag—because it is the only way they could get the passers free to get one off before the Raider line swamped them.

We won that ball game and, as a Raider fan, this department is backing them all the way to play their best-win, lose, etc.

If something is in the way—hindering a successful, Coordinated football representation from Texas Tech let's get it cleared up and finish this season at the very top of the nation in spirit and good sportsmanship.

Nabors, McKnight And Winkler Turn In Credible Game

Lady Luck, and some long-armed linemen rode with the Red Raiders Saturday afternoon as they drove another tack into the New Mexico Lobo's conference coffin 27-0 as they rest in the Border conference cellar.

Following a 69-yard drive early in the second quarter which marked their first pay dirt, the Raiders settled down to bolster up their defensive weak spots and let two linemen handle the scoring chores for the remainder of the game.

Big, happy Tuffy Nabors intercepted a Lobo pass in the fourth stanza on Tech's 10-yard stripe and located Glen Lewis who scampered for pay dirt from his own 24.

One play later as New Mexico moved up the field, Bernie Winkler gathered up a free fumble on the visitor's 30 and picked up interference to score.

In the closing minutes of the game, Nabors, who shined all over the Lobo backfield, slapped an attempted pass into the air on the New Mexico 30 and pulled it in to make his second jaunt for the day. He crossed the goal standing up.

Winkler again intercepted a Lobo pass as the game time ran out placing the ball on the N.M. 18 yard line. Henderson picked up twelve yards before the closing gun sounded.

The game was outstanding throughout with the aid of second-guessing officials. Midway in the second quarter a defensive holding penalty was assessed against the New Mexico visitors. Moving the ball from the original spot of play on the Lobo 48, the official paced off fifteen yards. Since the penalty can only be for five, he guessed at the starting place and wound up giving an eight-yard penalty. After

Tech Keglers Down U. N. M. Five By 140 Pins Saturday

Teams of Texas Tech and New Mexico U. Keglers met in an unofficial matched bowling contest at the Lubbock Bowling Club, Nov. 9. Tech won by a score of 2506 to 2366.

The best line was rolled by Montgomery of N.M.U. with a score of 211 while the highest average of 178 was compiled by Ben Brown of Tech.

The game scores were:
1. NMU, 781; Tech, 758.
2. Tech, 903; NMU, 763.
3. Tech 845; NMU, 822.

Members of the Tech team and their averages were: Douglas, 167; Robertson, 161; Knight, 162; L. Brown, 168; and Ben Brown, 176.

question by both coaches, he guessed again placing the ball for play on the New Mexico 44.

Coach Willie Barnes used an unusual five-four-two defense formation, the first the Men-In-Red have witnessed to baffle the gaining game of the Techsians in the first quarter.

Maxey McKnight, senior Raider from Littlefield and three-year-lettermen on 1940-41-42 squads played his first outstanding ball of the season Saturday. While he fumbled the ball on two occasions, his outstanding defensive game was good for three pass interceptions and punt returns up to 40 yards.

A glance at the game statistics reveals that the Raiders picked up a total of 123 yards rushing to the Lobo's 43; Tech lost 23 yards from rushing plays while they claimed 47 yards from New Mexico.

Tech completed 7 passes for 78 yards, and the Lobo connected 7 for 66 yards. The Raiders marked 8 first downs (2 with passes) to their opponents' 6 first downs (3 via the pass).

Young Represents Tech At TSA Meet

Prof. A. W. Young, head of the Plant Industry department, will represent Tech at the Texas Seeds Association meeting in Corpus Christi, Nov. 18. He will also attend a meeting of the State Seed and Plant board, at which the in-estate movement of seed will be discussed.

Following his meetings in Corpus Christi, Young will go to Omaha, Nebraska, where he will attend three meetings: the International Crop Improvement association meeting, at which regulations for production of certified seed will be under consideration; a meeting of the Soil Science Society of America, where scientific papers will be presented; and a meeting of the American Society of Agronomy, which will discuss scientific papers dealing with farm crops.

HE Club Donates To European Xmas

Members of the Home Economics Club sent forty-six Christmas boxes totaling one hundred pounds to New York Friday for the World Christmas Festival. They will be sent to the needy children of Europe from New York.

Many of the boxes were special. They were addressed to "Yugo" if they were unaddressed but must be sent to the countries they will be most needed.

Members of the committee to send the boxes are Roberta Conrad, Ruth Haynes and Billie Carr.

Community Chest Drive Underway

Alpha Phi Omega, national service fraternity, is sponsoring the Community Chest drive on the campus Nov. 14-15, it has been announced by Harold Tunnell, president of the chapter. For several years, many Lubbock citizens have tried to organize a chest of this sort; but they had no success during the war because of the various bond drives and campaigns. Now, six of Lubbock's charitable and social and welfare institutions have become a unit which are to be supported co-ordinately by donations submitted to the Community Chest.

Members of the Chest include: The Boy Scouts of America, the Junior Optimist club, the Lubbock Boy's club, Milam Home, Inc., and the Salvation Army.

The South Plains Council area of the Boy Scouts of America contains some 19,000 boys of Cub or Scout age. The Council wishes to expand so that all boys wishing to join these groups may do so.

"Citizenship in action around the world" is the descriptive slogan of the Girl Scout program. The Girl Scout organization is for girls from 7 to 18 years of age.

The Junior Optimist club, sponsored by the Lubbock Optimist club, serves the boys of Lubbock. It hopes to become a greater organization with the support of the Community Chest.

The Lubbock Boy's club has been an active project of the Lubbock American Business club since 1943. Of 138 boys who have been paroled since August, 1944, only one boy has violated his parole.

The temporary home of more than 800 children in the last 13 years, Milam Home, Inc., has had a great responsibility which should be shared by the community. The Home cares for about 20 children daily.

Classes are held daily in religion, music, and art craft by the Salvation Army. Their code is—"a man may be down, but he's never out." J. D. Hassell Jr. and H. L. Allen, campaign chairman for the Chest, declared, "It is our common community responsibility to care for homeless, dependent children, to lend a helping hand to our neighbors who hit some temporary rough going, and to provide recreational and character-building activities for our boys and girls."

Donations may be made by students and teachers to the Chest at the voting booth in the Ad Building on Thursday or Friday, Nov. 14-15.

ADAMS PROMOTED

Lt. Col. Ludlow C. Adams, P. M. S. & T., has received orders from the War Department promoting him to the permanent grade of Major, effective 20 July 1946.

Col. Adams assumed his duties at Tech this past summer. He has been a member of the Army Reserve since 1927. He took his oath as an officer in the Regular Army last summer when he was commissioned a permanent captain.

Nell Young, Freshman from Spur, is the new secretary of Tech Press, according to Wayne Kittley, superintendent. She succeeded Mrs. Mac Barnes.

Married Vets Get Forty Apartments

T. C. Root, assistant to the president, has been notified by the Lubbock Housing Authority that 40 apartments will be ready this month for veterans with children who are now living in the bachelor officer quarters at LAAF.

The apartments are the first of some 280 now under construction. Mr. Root said that they should be finished and ready for occupancy by the first of next semester. The apartments will create 40 vacancies at LAAF, also to be occupied by veterans.

Each day Miss Laura Drew, supervisor and instructor, takes her trusty magnifying glass and searches in each nook and cranny for a fleck of dust, a spot of grease, or a mislaid fingerprint. It isn't "elementary my dear Watson"; it takes work and plenty of it to complete a sejour in the Home Management House. If you've gotten the idea that it's "all work and no play," forget it. These gals dine and shine all over the place; teas, weiner roasts, dinners, parties, and even steak fries. (Steak? You remember, you ate 'em years and years ago.) The girls pay $60 for the nine weeks course—Please! No mad rushes, the house will accommodate only eight.—M.H.
