Lubbock, Texas, Wednesday, April 27, 1966

No. 129

TIE HIM UP!—Skipper Driver, Texas Tech senior from Big Spring, leaps from his mount to make the "tie" after successfully roping a calf during a practice session for the Tech Rodeo Association's annual rodeo which opens April 28 in Lubbock's Municipal Coliseum. More than 200 cowboys and cowgirls will compete in the three-day affair which has been billed as the world's largest indoor intercollegiate rodeo.

(PIO)

Collegiate Rodeo To Draw Top Cowboys

The Texas Tech Rodeo will begin a four performance run Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Municipal Coliseum.

Top-ranked college cowboys and cowgirls from 12 colleges and universities will appear as part of the 1966 edition of the Tech Collegiate Rodeo.

The show, billed as the largest indoor collegiate rodeo in the world, will feature appearances at each performance by Milburn Stone and Ken Curtis, better known as "Doc" and "Festus" on the television show, "Gunsmoke."

Rodeo Queen

The crowning of the Tech Rodeo Queen will be Thursday night. Nominees are Mary John Espy, Meg Garland, D'Lynn McGinty, Marianne Munz and Karan Robinson.

The Tech rodeo team will be competing against collegiate teams from Midwestern University, Panhandle A&M, Oklahoma State, Cisco Junior College, Hardin Simmons, S. I. Ross, Texas Western, West Texas State, Eastern New Mexico State, South Plains and New Mexico State. A special guest will be Miss Carolyn Seay of Corpus Christi, currently Miss Rodeo of America, Miss Seay will make appearances in the show each night.

Grand Entry

Grand entry time is 8 p.m. each night with a matinee set for 1:30 p.m. Saturday. More than 250 performers are expected to compete in the three-day event.

Events include bull riding, bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, tie-down calf roping, ribbon roping and steer wrestling. There will also be wild mare racing for Tech fraternities.

Girls events include barrel racing and goat tying.

Tech Women Of Year Elections Set Monday

Texas Tech Faculty Woman of the Year and Tech's Woman of the Year will be elected Monday in preparation for AWS's annual Women's Day Tuesday.

Women's Day honors the women students at Tech and each year candidates for the Woman of the Year and Faculty Woman of the Year are nominated by the women students for special honors.

Voting will be Monday in the women's dorms. The polls will be open from 8-11:30 a.m. and from 1-5 p.m.

The winners of the two honors will be announced Tuesday night during the Women's Day banquet.

Nominated for Woman of the Year are Joy Cox, Sara Cox, Marge Eubank, Anne Faith, Nancy Hood, Jenny Matthews, Gena O'Dell.

Vicki Pharr, Rita Reynolds, Karen Schroeder, Jane Sosnowy, Mary Tannahill, Sue Walker, Carolyn Weaver and Becky Wilson.

Nominees for Faculty Woman of the Year are Mrs. Suzanne Aker, Mrs. Wildering Edwards, Mrs. Banze Kimmell, Dr. Mina Lamb, Dr. Evelyn Montgomery, Mrs. Emma Reeves, Mrs. Margaret Stuart, Mrs. Lenore Tunnell and Peggy Williams.

ID's must be presented to vote. Tickets for the banquet are on sale in the dormitories. Admission is $1.50.

Walker Has Week To Answer Appeal

By DAVID SNYDER
Assistant Managing Editor

The Elections Committee's decision not to consider a protest filed concerning officer elections was appealed Tuesday afternoon to the Supreme Court by Lyn McClellan, author of the protest.

The original protest, which was filed Friday afternoon, stated that Johnny Walker campaign literature had been placed under dormitory doors. The committee voted not to consider the protest because this was not a violation of a written rule.

Walker was elected business manager of the Student Association Friday.

A copy of McClellan's two-page appeal was given to Walker Tuesday afternoon. He now has a week to reply to the appeal, after which the court will set a date for a preliminary hearing.

Full Week

Walker said Tuesday he expected to wait the full week before answering McClellan's appeal. Chris Hickey will serve as Walker's legal counsel, pending approval of the court.

At their preliminary hearing, the court will determine the facts relevant to the case and determine whether there is just cause for granting a formal hearing. Deliberation concerning these decisions will be in closed session.

If a formal hearing is granted, it will take the concurrence of a majority of the justices participating to render a decision.

Members of the court have the power to keep a justice from sitting in judgment on a case if they believe the justice has a personal interest or bias concerning the case, according to the rules and procedures of the court.

Court To Meet

Chief Justice Bob Fillpot said the court would meet informally at 5 p.m. Thursday in the Student Government Office to determine if all seven justices will hear the case.

After Walker files his reply, the court will meet to approve both the complainant's (McClellan) and respondent's (Walker) legal counsels.

If the court schedules its preliminary hearing immediately following receipt of Walker's reply, it will probably be May 4.

Committee Decision

In McClellan's letter of appeal, he maintained that the Elections Committee's decisions not to consider any case not based on rules specifically written down and not to consider a verbal statement as a formal election rule are "ex post facto in nature and hold no relevance in the present case."

He cited as reasons for filing the protest (1) it was common knowledge (because of an oral statement made by Sara Cox) that the rule existed and (2) both the Senate poster rules and dormitory rules state that posters cannot be used in dorms without the approval of the dormitory supervisor and Student Senate Office.

The second reason is based on the idea that literature involved could be classified as posters.

The letter asked that Walker be disqualified from holding the office of business manager in the Student Association.

Members of the Supreme Court include Fillpot, Billy Tapp, Tommy Craddick, Jo Hansen, Neal Young, Ronald Cantrell and Collier Perry.

Audience Gives Montoya Two Standing Ovations

By MARGARET EASTMAN
Staff Writer

The audience at Lubbock Municipal Auditorium rose to two standing ovations to applaud Carlos Montoya's performance Tuesday night.

The master flamenco guitarist played his own arrangements of gypsy music ranging from the light, lilting "Fandango" to the passionate "Zambrilla" to the romantic, almost serene "Granainia."

Flamenco evolved as an expression of sound of the nature of the Spanish gypsies and of the countryside on which they roamed. It is proud, hot, brilliant, and yet it is suffused with a brooding tenderness. It must come directly from the heart and it speaks directly to the heart.

Montoya is such a gypsy, and his arrangements capture the best flamenco has to offer. This small, peaceful-looking man plays with a fire and intensity his calm exterior betrays. His music is unique in its virtuosity and adherence to flamenco tradition.

The audience responded particularly to Montoya's ability to play melody in both his left and right hands. In some numbers, in fact, his left hand carried most of the melody.

Another audience-pleasing technique of Montoya's is the clicking sound he inserts by tapping his guitar as he plays. This makes for a "good beat" in all of his numbers.

Montoya played three numbers in addition to the 17 listed on the program. These included "Saeta," "Malaguena," and "St. Louis Blues."

"Saeta," a march rhythm commemorating Holy Week, was particularly impressive. The guitarist imitated drums most realistically in this number. And, for his finish, Montoya played his biggest audience-pleasing song—"St. Louis Blues," flamenco style.

Carlos Montoya was born in Madrid and started playing guitar at the age of eight, learning first from his mother and then from a local barber.

By the time he was 14, he had studied under some of the greatest flamenco guitarists and was playing in the "cafes cantantes" during the height of flamenco dancing and singing.

Platforms Will Be Published

The Daily Treador will this year publish platforms for all candidates for the Student Senate who have them turned in to room 102 of the Journalism Building by noon today.

The platforms will be published in Thursday's and/or Friday's papers, depending on the number received. Platforms may be no longer than one double-spaced sheet of typing paper.

Offices Open

Applications for Steering committee members, Secretary-General and president of the 1966-67 Model United Nations are available in the Program Office of the Union. They are due at 2 p.m. Friday in the Program Office.

Ruff Wins Scholarship

Campbell G. Daniel Ruff is the recipient of the Summerfield Scholar of the Year Award presented by Phi Kappa Psi. Along with the certificate, $1,000.00 is awarded to the recipient.

Ruff is a member of the Society for the Advancement of Management and the Young Republicans. He has been messenger, treasurer and president of Phi Kappa Psi.

This annual award is presented in each of the 63 chapters of Phi Kappa Psi and is presented to the member who, in the opinion of his fraternity brothers, has achieved an excellent record of good scholarship in combination with demonstrated leadership qualities and worthwhile contributions to his college and to his fraternity.

Governor Candidates View Economy Cures For Texas

Candidates for governor had differing views Tuesday for what ails the Texas economy.

"The state government needs to promote a massive program of economic aid for South Texas," Stanley Woods, a Democratic primary candidate, said in Brownsville. "South Texas needs a massive Appalachian-type program. It would benefit all of Texas by opening new consumer markets right in our own state."

Gov. John Connally told a Salvation Army dinner in Victoria that "one of my strongest recommendations to the Legislature will be for substantial pay raises for state employees. If Texas is to continue to have economical government, yet a government which meets its responsibilities in a growing state, these pay raises are essential."

Connally noted that more than 7,800 of the 45,000 state employees make less than $3,000 a year—the income level which the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity defines as the breaking point for poverty."

Woods told the Brownsville Chapter of the Political Association for Spanish-Speaking Organizations PASO must seek federal aid to make "beautiful South Texas . . . economically, socially and educationally part of the rest of the state."

Candidates for attorney general also had recommendations for state and local government.

Franklin Spears, one of three Democratic candidates for nomination for attorney general, said the next Legislature should provide "a minimum annual salary of $6,000 a year for law enforcement officers and teachers." He spoke to a reception in Corpus Christi.

"When we pay many beginning police officers only $250 a month and school teachers only about $350 a month we can hardly expect either first class education for our children or first class law enforcement," Spears said.

Crawford Martin, another Democratic primary attorney general candidate, went to San Antonio to discuss alleged voter registration irregularities with county officials. "Texas could expect a deafening silence in regard to the alleged irregularities and possible fraud in voter registration if Franklin Spears were elected attorney general," Martin said in a statement.

Bike Race Set For Saturday

Boys and girls from all over campus will converge on memorial circle Saturday at 1 p.m. for the 9th annual Little 500 bike race.

A total of 42 teams will be competing for a traveling trophy which will be given to the winners of the girls and boys races. A sportsmanship trophy will also be awarded.

Last year the traveling trophies were won by the Rough Riders, an independent boys' team, and Knapp Hall, Sigma Nu and Kappa Kappa Gamma won the sportsmanship awards.

Each team will consist of four riders which will split the number of laps between them at their own discretion. The girls' race will consist of 16 laps around memorial circle while the boys will have 40 laps around the memorial key.

Each lap for the boys is 6/10 of a mile, and when all is said and done the winner will cover 24 miles. Many teams use oxygen at the conclusion of each lap in order to get "further mileage."

The teams will begin warming up at 12:30 p.m. and the boys will race directly after the conclusion of the girls' event.

Nineteen girls and 23 boys teams are entered in the Little 500 this year. No more teams will be allowed to enter.

An orientation of all riders will be held at 5:15 p.m. Thursday in the Agriculture Auditorium. All riders are required to attend.

DeRudder Dies After Five Days With Partial Artificial Heart

HOUSTON, (AP)—Marcel DeRudder, 65, died Tuesday of a ruptured left lung after having lived nearly five days with a partial artificial heart.

The exact cause of the rupture was not determined but an autopsy report said DeRudder's heart, damaged by 25 years of illness, had begun healing by the time death came unexpectedly at 3:04 a.m.

Edna DeRudder, the widow, returned to her Westville, Ill., home with the body.

DeRudder never regained consciousness. The autopsy disclosed this was caused by a blood clot in a major brain artery. The long illness of the former coal miner had included numerous blood clot situations.

An artificial heart pump, technically known as a mechanical left-ventricular bypass, was connected in DeRudder's chest last Thursday during a six-hour operation performed by Dr. Michael A. DeBakey, world famous heart surgeon.

The plastic pump was designed to take over the part of the work of the left ventricle, the chamber that does most of the heart's pumping. DeBakey had planned to use the pump a week to 10 days in hopes it would give the damage ventricle sufficient time to heal itself.

The autopsy report made public by Methodist Hospital said the pump, carrying 40 to 75 per cent of the work load, had functioned normally up to the moment of death.

DeBakey had said the implant was successful but he became concerned about possible brain damage when DeRudder did not regain consciousness by Friday. A kidney malfunction developed Sunday, and, finally, lung congestion was reported Monday.

The final medical bulletin said death was sudden and unexplained.

Eight hours later the autopsy report said an extensive investigation was to be continued to determine the cause of the lung rupture.

The blood clot was found in the left middle cerebral artery. The autopsy also disclosed that during the operation a considerable amount of fragmented clot had been found in and removed from the left auricle, the blood from veins.

"The autopsy revealed no evidence of any reoccurrence of this clot formation in the left auricle," the report said.

Complications from other ailments were listed as the cause of death in two other cases involving partial artificial hearts.

DeBakey used a rubber device in 1963 on a man, 43, who died from brain and kidney damage after four days. A liver ailment was cited as the cause of death Feb. 4 of a Brooklyn, N.Y., man who lived 24 hours after a similar operation performed by Dr. Adrian Kantrowitz.

DeRudder's medical background was not known to have included any major ailments, except the 25-year-old heart problem that had prevented him from working.

Law School Librarian Appointed

Appointment of U. V. Jones, currently librarian of the Lamar School of Law at Emory University, as librarian and associate professor in Texas Tech's new Law school was announced Saturday by Tech President R. C. Goodwin.

The Law School, scheduled to open in the fall of 1967, will be headed by Dean Richard B. Amandes, currently assistant dean of the University of California's Hastings College of the Law.

Dean Amandes, who will join the Tech faculty July 1, said he was "most happy" to have Jones associated with the new school. "As a former practicing attorney, he knows the value of a law library and what it must do for the student," Dean Amandes said.

Jones, a native of Snyder, Okla., holds a bachelor's and LL.B degree from the University of Oklahoma and the Master of Law Librarianship from the University of Washington.

—In Dorm Cafeterias—

Dress Controversy Pits Convenience Against Image

By SHERRY PYRON
Staff Writer

There is currently, and has been for many years past, a running battle between convenience and image on a small segment of this campus.

That small segment is the dormitory cafeterias where women students must eat. The convenience is the wearing of pants, and the image is the one created by all the coeds always wearing dresses. The controversy spreads over the entire campus but is most heated in the cafeterias.

The image is rather simple—only dresses may be worn into the cafeterias from Monday breakfast to Friday supper. On Saturdays, with the exception of Saturdays of home football games, casual, but not sloppy, clothes may be worn into the cafeteria. On Sundays, clothes suitable for church are worn.

These restrictions are designed to create a better image of the girls on campus. Visitors are supposed to be impressed with the fact that Texas Tech has young ladies and not sloppy college students. The rule was made by the Women's Residence Council many years ago.

The battle is caused by the inconvenience the rule causes the girls. There are many other complaints against the rule, but the main one is inconvenience caused by having to have a dress on for each meal.

"I come back to the dorm after class and put on comfortable clothes to study. Then when it's time to eat I have to change again to go to dinner. Sometimes I skip dinner because I just don't want to waste the time and effort," said Suzanne Pool, a sophomore from San Antonio.

When several girls were asked what they thought of the rule they quickly replied "It stinks." One girl complained that she wasted lots of valuable time that she could have used for study. "We're here to learn, not to impress people with our extensive wardrobes," she said.

Most of the girls who were in favor of changing the rule mentioned that the new rule should not allow sloppiness. And no one wanted to change the rule for Sundays.

Linda Hall, a sophomore from Big Spring, thought that the rule needed to be changed, "but the rules should be enforced and the girls should be neat. No ragged cut-offs or sloppy sweatshirts."

"We're old enough to think for ourselves," chorused Carol Gordon and Lynn Snyder, sophomores living in Doak Hall, "and we can look just as nice in pants as in skirts."

Another argument against the rule is the formality and the lack of feeling that students are "at home."

Georgeanne Redinger, a freshman residing in Gates Hall said "Our cafeteria is so big. It would be much more friendly if we could relax like we do at home."

Nancy Bain, president of West Hall, had another thought along the same line. "We pay for this dorm and we ought to be able to feel at home in it. I don't put on a dress for every meal at home."

West Hall, where Nancy is president, is a special problem. In the consolidated cafeteria, three men's dorms—Sneed, Gordon and Bledsoe—eat with the girls' dorm—West. Naturally the girls look a little better in the presence of around 1,000 boys. Most of the girls like eating with the boys, but dread the cold walk from the door of West to the door of the cafeteria.

"It can be pretty cold at 7 a.m. when we go to breakfast. It sure would be nice if we had something warm on our legs. And there are millions of drafts inside the cafeteria," said Ann Hanks, a freshman from Denver City.

To the girls who live in West this year the opinion of the boys is very important. The boys seem to be about evenly divided between pro, con and indifferent.

Larry Bower, a meal ticket puncher in the consolidated cafeteria, said that he thought that changing the rule was "a fine idea. Of course it might make it a little harder to concentrate on my job."

Charles Lankford, a junior from Fort Worth, said "If the girls are more comfortable its fine with me." On the other side, David Cheves, a senior from Midland, said "The female wasn't made for stretch pants—they were made for skirts."

Many of the boys have complained of the view of a girl several tables away who doesn't sit in a very ladylike position and therefore presents a most distracting view.

There are girls who favor the rule. Nancy Penninck, AWS representative from West Hall, said "I think Saturdays are enough. Some girls would take advantage of it." She went on to mention that some girls take advantage of the current rule by wearing "mama dresses," as they are called in the dorms.

Apparently the administration of the school has no real opinion on the rule. Mrs. Fannie Laas, counselor of West, said, "It makes no difference to me, but I'm sure the girls would want to look nice."

Dean Dorothy Garner, coordinator of Women's Residence Halls, said it was a WRC ruling and that she had very little to do with it, though a change of the rule would require her approval.

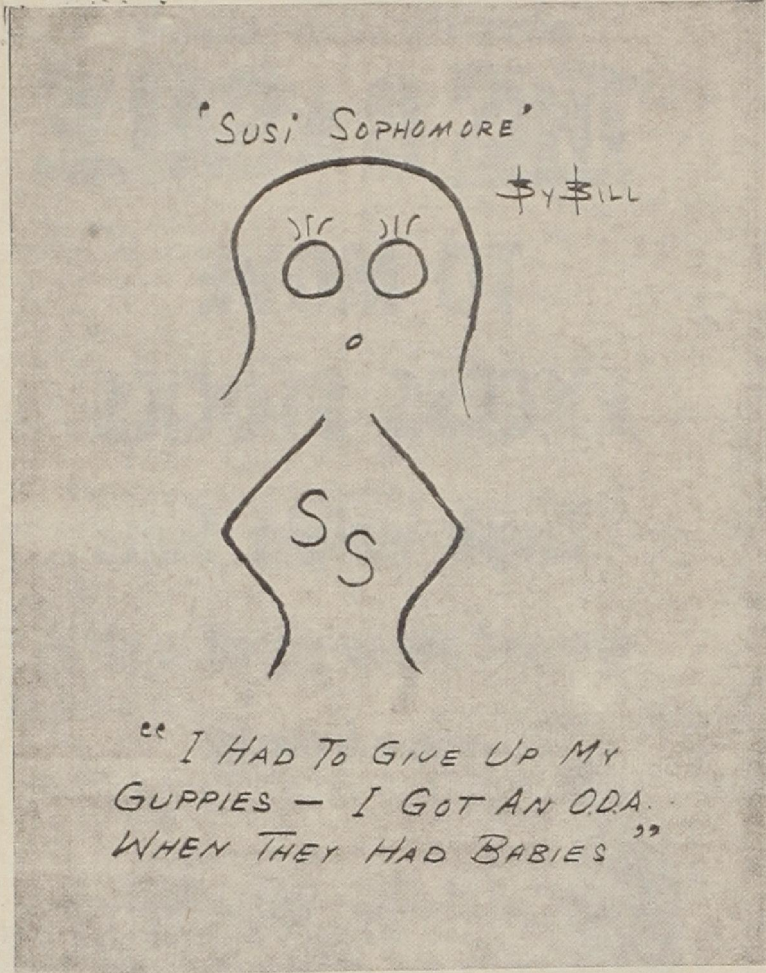

The rule could be changed by approval of WRC, AWS, and Dean Florence Phillips, the dean of women. The suggested change could be brought to WRC by either the president or vice president of the dorms, and then it is discussed by WRC. If they decide to vote on it, it goes back to all the dorm legislators for voting.

Herein lies the problem. The legislators in upperclassmen dorms will usually vote in favor of the change, but freshmen dorms vote against it because they fear that freshmen would take advantage of the rule.

Very few girls ever even know that the rule is up for change. They know "You can't fight city hall" so they don't bother to try. Because of the apathy on the part of the girls nothing is ever done and the complaining goes on.

PHI DELTA THETA

Phi Delta Theta's annual Beach Party will be Friday from 7:30-11:30 p.m. at the Fair Park Coliseum. Tickets are on sale at the Union ticket booth for $2.50 per couple. "The Five Americans" will play and dress in beach wear.

Prestige Or Work?

IT'S ANOTHER ELECTION week at Texas Tech, and the campus is already beginning to assume the colorful, circus-like appearance it had last week.

On the ballot this week will be Student Senate hopefuls from the five undergraduate schools and the graduate school. And we hope they realize what they're on the ballot for.

Too many times in the past, the Student Senate (formerly the Student Council) has been a prestige post for publicity-seeking members of various organizations.

It can no longer stay in this realm of thought if student government is to mean anything on a university campus.

The same qualities that we need in executive officers should be exhibited by members of the Student Senate, because they are our legislative voice and have a lot to say about how the mass of students is governed.

For this reason, we feel that aspiring candidates should make their positions known publicly, so the voters can vote on positive details rather than personalities.

We will give every candidate possible the chance to state his position in the Toreador.

We don't ask for deathless prose or stirring oratory, just simple facts simply stated. What is the position of the Student Senate? What can Senators do next year to make Tech a better place for students and student opinion? What will you be willing to do on—and for—the Senate?

These are just a few questions that can be answered; there are many more that need to be. And we think every serious voter has the right to know where every candidate stands.

(P.S.—Candidates' platforms may also be a way of checking next year to see if the elected Senators are holding up to their campaign promises.)

Pope Criticizes Police Negligence

Dear Editor,

As I was returning from class today I passed what appeared to be a high school track meet taking place at the track stadium just east of Thompson Hall.

As I began to marvel at this wise step in public relations which our benevolent administration had taken, I noticed that a white 1960 Chevrolet, belonging evidently to one of the high school coaches, had parked at the entrance of the field, leaving behind about four hundred feet of torn turf, and ragged, muddy ruts.

From these ruts I would judge that the car had made four or five trips across our fair campus greenery to the Thompson Hall parking lot.

Now I realize that these people are visitors to our campus, and that their gross ignorance should be forgiven. My question is this: Why was a campus cop standing in front of this car, ignoring its presence, with no greater purpose than to see that Tech students did not gain admittance without showing their I.D.?

While this incident may show negligence or stupidity on the part of the campus police, I feel that it shows something even more important—the relationship of our student body with the administration.

If a student had driven the car he would have been accused of breaking everything from the Code of Student Affairs to the Pax Romanae. The village idiot who drove the car did so with impunity. The officer at this scene was placed there to control the student body of this campus, but not the campus from the rest of the outside world.

Is it any wonder that the student body as a whole seems to share a feeling of alienation. Wouldn't it be nice to have the same rights and liberties given to the rest of America?

Regards,
Bruce Pope
Wichita Falls

P.S. Regarding "in loco parentis," I don't think my father would have let the man tear up the campus.

Awards Received At Publications Banquet

W. E. Garets, head of the department of journalism, received a special tribute in the form of a film of his life at Saturday's annual Journalism Awards Banquet.

Jim Jones received the outstanding Toreador non-paid staff member award, and Angele Schletter was named outstanding La Ventana staff member of the year.

The Louise Allen Award for interest in student publications of a non-staffer went to Joe Murfee, student member of the student publications committee.

Mike Ferrell and Bronson Harvard were honored by Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism society. Ferrell, managing editor of the Toreador, and state Sigma Delta Chi vice president, received the Wallace E. Garets Award as the outstanding SDX member of the year.

Harvard, past editor of the Toreador, was named the outstanding male graduate.

The Toreador Editor's Award for the staff member who has helped the editor the most during the year was awarded to Pauline Edwards, editorial assistant. Miss Edwards also was the recipient of the Theta Sigma Phi Scholarship. Diane Weddige, co-editor of La Ventana, presented Garets a photograph mounted on a sketched background of each event depicted in the film. And Carolene English presented special gifts to Cal Wayne Moore, director of photograph and cameraman for the movie, and Artie Shaw, who recorded the film's sound.

Theta Sigma Phi Awards went to Carmen Keith, best news story; Bill Moore, best feature; Cecil Green, best editorial; Barbara Worley, best feature column; David Snyder, best general column; Mike Lutz, general sports; and Darrell Thomas, best photograph.

Phi Orman, director of student publications and master of ceremonies of the event, presented senior awards to 11 graduating students.

Fulbright Competition Opens May 1

Competition for the 1967-68 United States Government graduate grants for academic study or research abroad, and for professional training in the creative and performing arts, will open officially on May 1, the Institute of International Education (IIE) announced today.

IIE conducts competitions for U.S. Government scholarships provided by the Fulbright-Hays Act as part of the educational and cultural exchange program of the U.S. Department of State. Under this program, more than 850 American graduate students will have the opportunity to study in any one of 53 countries. The purpose of the awards is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the U.S. and other countries through the exchange of persons, knowledge and skills.

Candidates who wish to apply for an award must be U.S. citizens at the time of application, have a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by the beginning date of the grant and, in most cases, be proficient in the language of the host country.

Selections will be made on the basis of academic and/or professional record, the feasibility of the applicant's proposed study plan and personal qualifications. Preference is given to candidates who have not had prior opportunity for extended study or residence abroad and who are under the age of 35. Creative and performing artists will not be required to have a bachelor's degree but they must have four years of professional study or equivalent experience. Applicants in social work must have at least two years of professional experience after the Master of Social Work degree. Applicants in the field of medicine must have an M.D. at the time of application.

Two types of grants will be available through IIE under the Fulbright-Hays Act: U.S. Government Full Grants, and U.S. Government Travel Grants.

A full award will provide a grantee with tuition, maintenance, round-trip transportation, health and accident insurance and an incidental allowance. In Ceylon, India, Japan, Nepal, Norway, Poland, Portugal, the Republic of China, and Turkey, a maintenance allowance will be provided for one or more accompanying dependents.

A limited number of travel grants is available to supplement maintenance and tuition scholarships granted to American students by universities, private donors and foreign governments.

Countries participating in the full grant program will be: Afghanistan, Argentina, Australia, Austria, Belgium-Luxembourg, Bolivia, Brazil, Ceylon, Chile, China (Republic of), Colombia, Costa Rica, Denmark, Ecuador, El Salvador, Finland, France, Germany (Federal Republic of), Greece, Guatemala, Honduras, Iceland, India, Iran, Ireland, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, Mexico, Nepal, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Nicaragua, Norway, Pakistan, Paraguay, Peru, the Philippines, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Spain, Sweden, Thailand, Turkey, United Arab Republic, the United Kingdom, Uruguay, Venezuela, and Yugoslavia.

Travel grants will be available to France, Germany, Israel, Italy, the Netherlands, Sweden, and Turkey.

Because of the growing interest in inter-American studies, there are grants available to a number of countries in the American Republics area in the fields of history, the social sciences, law, the humanities and other suitable fields. All applicants for these grants must be proficient in the spoken language of the country for which they apply, and should have an interest in the country or countries for which they are applying. A major in Latin American studies is not required.

Applicants should have a good academic record and should be well informed on the American political and social scene. These grants are provided especially for graduating seniors and graduate students up to and including the M.A. level who are interested in a year of course work in a university in the American Republics area. The grants are not intended to support doctoral dissertations projects. Candidates for these grants may be called for personal interview at university locations throughout the country.

For the grants to the American Republics area, preference is given to single applicants. Although married students may apply for the grants, the awards make no provision for the travel expenses of support of dependents and are thus better suited to single persons.

There will also be opportunities for teaching assistantships in India and Italy for students interested in teaching English as a foreign language; teaching fellowships at universities in Italy for the teaching of English language and English or American literature; and teaching fellowships at universities in Sweden for the teaching of American literature and/or civilization.

Application forms and information for students currently enrolled in Tech may be obtained from the campus Fulbright adviser, D. M. Vigness. The deadline for filing applications through the Fulbright adviser on this campus is October 15, 1966.

Wesley Forum 'God Is Dead' Held Tonight

Wesley Foundation Forum will present the second session of the "God is dead" seminar tonight.

Rev. Mark Williams of the University Methodist Church will lead the discussion of William Hamilton's "New Essence of Christianity" and the philosophy it embodies during the first half of the session.

"The Radical Theology and Death of God", by Thomas J. Altizer will be discussed by Rev. Ted Dotts of the Ropesville Methodist Church.

Rev. Gene Sorley said the purpose of the seminar was to form an honest evaluation of the "God is dead" movement by discussing the actual writings of its originators.

Sorley said too many people are adopting the viewpoints expressed in magazines and newspapers about this movement without even reading the original works.

PRE-LAW CLUB

The Pre-Law Club will meet at 7 p.m. today in the Coronado Room of the Tech Union. Officers will be elected and plans for the banquet will be discussed.

JUNIOR COUNCIL

New members will meet today at 5 p.m. in room 208 of the Union to elect officers for next year.

Raiders Meet West Texas State Today

By GARY TILORY
Staff Writer

If field conditions are satisfactory the Tech diamondmen and the West Texas State Buffaloes will have a game here at Huffman field today at 1 p.m.

The game which was originally scheduled as a nine inning game will now become a double header series of seven innings each.

This will be an all important game for the Huffman boys as they have a 6-11 season so far. There are six games remaining for the Raiders and if they were to win all six this would be the first 500 or better season for the team in the last few years.

The pitchers for the game haven't been picked yet but Coach Burl Huffman said, "We may use the entire staff in this game. We have another double header this week out that will be on Saturday."

"We are hoping to win these two games and the remaining four with Abilene Christian," Huffman said.

The Raiders worked out for the first time in over a week and were showing no signs of regret for the well deserved lay off. The pitchers, who haven't thrown in nearly two weeks were showing some signs of soreness but this is expected after a long lay off.

The starting line up for the Raiders are as follows: Eldon Frost catching, Don Champion at first, Jerry Haggard at second,

Final Game Set Saturday

Tech's Red Raiders, having skipped their "semi-final" spring football game, play their wind-up contest in Jones Stadium at 4 p.m. Saturday.

Rain washed out last Saturday night's game as well as the intended replacement Monday night.

The hotly contested battle for starting quarterback chores will again be split equally between Guy Griffis and John Scovell. Griffis will operate the No. 1 offense during the first half and Scovell will take over for the final two periods.

Neither gridder has cinched the starting berth according to Head Coach J T King, and the No. 1 tag probably won't be known until next fall.

Starters for the No. 1 defensive team include: ends, Joe Hurley and Pat Knight; tackles, James Wheat and Leon Lovelace; linebackers, Bill Doane, Jimmie Moylan and James Henkel; strong safety, Gary Romans; weak safety, Larry Bufkin and linebackers Jimmy Edwards and Gary Seat.

Their opposition will be: ends, Terry Scarborough and Larry Gilbert; tackles, Stanley Edwards and Phil Tucker; guards, Don King and Ronnie Paek and center, Jerry Turner; quarterback, Griffis and Scovell; fullback Kenny Baker; halfbacks, Mike Leinert and Jerry Lovelace.

John McIntyre at short and Ronnie Holly on third. In the outfield there will be Chris Galanos, in left, Jim Miller in center and Lee Watts in right.

There was no information on the West Texas record or line up for today's game.

The West Texans will be trying to get into the win column for the first time with the Raiders since 1959. In that year the Raiders edged the Buffs 3-1 and the Buffs haven't been able to beat the Raiders in the last eleven games.

In the last outing at Canyon Tech took two from the Buffs, 7-0, 2-0.

Don Champion, Raider first baseman, said this about the week off, "It's going to be hard to get your timing back. While you're playing constantly you develop a certain timing at the plate and on the field. When you have a long lay off it's hard to pick right up where you left off."

Pick right up the Raiders must if they plan on making this a winning season.

Malaise, Acton Join Up For SWC Tennis Meet

Dub Malaise and Pat Acton will represent Texas Tech at the Southwest Conference tennis tournament at Austin Thursday through Saturday.

Malaise, who co-captained both the basketball and tennis teams this year, is a senior from Odessa playing only his second season of collegiate tennis. Because of all-star basketball commitments, Malaise missed the Raiders' opening conference matches, with Baylor and Texas A&M, and compiled a 2-2 singles record. Malaise played his last two matches in the No. 1 spot.

Acton, a sophomore from Wichita Falls, played the first half of the season in No. 4 position and moved to No. 3 for the remaining three matches. Winning two matches and losing one at each position, Acton was 4-2 for the season.

Malaise and Acton teamed up in doubles competition in only one SWC match, losing to Rice's Ed Turville and Chip Travis 6-2, 6-4. Malaise's usual partner, Charles Bower of Crane, is having to forego the meet because of pre-medical studies. Bower held down either No. 1 or No. 2 role all season.

LeCrone Makes Final Bid

Twice a runner-up, Tech's Steve LeCrone makes his final bid for the Southwest Conference individual golf championship at Austin Thursday and Friday.

LeCrone, senior and team captain from Amarillo, finished second by a stroke to Pat Thompson of Texas here in 1964, and tied with Lee McDowell of Texas A&M for runner-up spot behind the Longhorn's Randy Geiselman at College Station last season.

Geiselman has graduated, but McDowell in last week's match between Tech and A&M bested LeCrone in their duel. Texas Tech beat Tech and A&M bested LeCrone in their duel. Texas Tech beat the Aggies although McDowell scored a 3-and-2 win over LeCrone. McDowell shot a 74 to LeCrone's 77. LeCrone, considered his best at medal play, posted a 3-4 mark in SWC match competition this season.
