Red Raiders To Test TCU In SWC Tilt By JIM RICHARDSON

Toreador Sports Editor

FORT WORTH - Some 3,500 Tech and Lubbock area residents will be headed today for this Texas city "where the West begins" for a weekend of fair, flags and football.

The fair is the State Fair in neighboring Dallas; the flags are six and midway between the two cities; but it's the football, Tech-TCU version, that's causing the South Plains' eastward migration.

Tech's Red Raiders will be moving into TCU's Amon Carter Stadium tonight at 7:30 with "upset the Froggies" written all over their jerseys. And upset it would be, for the TCU Horned Frogs will take a solid favorite role into the game.

It's beginning to look like the Raiders thrive on under-dog roles, at least against TCU. In 1956 a formidable group of Froggies stepped onto the Jones Stadium turf and took a sound, 21-7 beating from an unglorious Tech squad that had only a tie and one win in six outings before the upset. Tech's final record that year was 2-7-1.

Just last year the Raiders scoffed at their defeat billing before the TCU contest in Lubbock and spanked the Frog-gies, 10-0, to win the West Texas Championship saddle. The Frogs aren't always the victims of upsets, however. They gave the bookies a jolt last year when they some-how wound up ahead of Texas, 6-0, at a time when the Longhorns were celebrating the rank of the No. 1 football team in the nation.

TCU can't boast of being a leader in the Southwest Conference this year, but the Frogs have a lot of experience back for another try at the top. In most pre-season polls, the Fort Worth squad was picked to finish fourth or better in the conference. Already Abe Martin and his purple and white have dropped two games, one to conference foe Arkansas last week, 42-14, and the other to powerful Miami.

But the Froggies have a guy named Gibbs, Sonny Gibbs, who throws bombs. This All-SWC candidate at the signal slot stands 6-7 and weighs 230 pounds and might be called the biggest quarterback in the world. It was Gibbs' 50-yard shot to end Buddy Iles which wiped out Texas last year. And it was another Gibbs bomb, this one for 62 yards, that gave the Froggies a 7-7 tie with national champion Ohio State.

Then there's Tech's Johnny Lovelace who measures 6-5 and carries around 214 pounds. And you have to remember that game last year when Lovelace and Doug Cannon forgot that Gibbs was supposed to run the show, and paced the Raiders to the shutout win. Tonight Tech will have a sparkplug that had to sit on the bench and watch the Raiders' battle long and hard last week against the Aggies. Bill Worley, a halfback flash, will be able to work for the Raiders for the first time tonight since the West Texas State game. "The leg's a little sore, but I'm ready to go," assured

Worley Friday morning.

That makes 3,501 who are ready for Tech to "GO" tonight.

ANY men who would like to wear tab collar shirts do not do so because they object to the tyranny of collar buttons. It is not just that collar buttons are hard to find when you need them. (Contrary to popular belief collar buttons do not always roll under furniture. The only sure way of finding a collar button is to walk around barefoot in the dark until you step on it. Now there is an experience.) No, there is something else: some men are simply not built for collar buttons. Their Adam's apples are in the wrong place. Or their hands are not the right shape for wrestling with all those empty collar button holes. So they end up wilty and out of sorts before they ever hit the street. It is the haberdashery equivalent of cutting yourself shaving. 🖈 But that is a thing of the past. An Eagle Tabsnap Shirt is secured by one simple, inaudible click. As you can see from the illustration, it lies inconspicuously flat and neat. The snap enclosure is covered by the same material as the shirting itself. Eagle Tabsnaps are available in a wide range of colors and patterns, with short sleeves or regular. 🖈 Yes, it appears that the collar button will join the button fly in the museum of clothing antiquities. Say, that is a good idea. If you can find your collar button please send it to us and we will start one (The Afflerbach Collection) right here in Quakertown. In return we will tell you where in your town you can find Eagle Shirts. 🖈 Otherwise how would you know?
