Wild West Scheduled For Raider Theater

By NATALIE MOORE
Staff Writer

Texas Tech fans can get ready for some real Wild West action tonight when the Red Raiders have a showdown with the New Mexico State Aggies in Jones Stadium at 7:30 p.m.

The Red Raiders, ranked No. 9 in the nation, will be shooting for their seventh victory of the season.

Both the Aggies and Raiders have records for the season of six wins and one loss.

The U.S. Weather Bureau has predicted perfect football weather for tonight's game, with temperatures dropping into the lower 60s or upper 50s, with light to moderate winds.

Mrs. Mildred Wright, director of ticket sales at Tech predicts a rather small crowd of 25,000 for tonight. Mrs. Wright said that the reason for this turnout is that this is a non-conference game.

That "going band from Raiderland" with twirlers Chris Adrean, Juanna Jo Moore, Judy Stewart, Judy Banner, Dyanne Curry, Diane King, Sandi Parmer, and Donna Snyder will come marching out on the field at half-time to put on a show containing march tunes.

They will open up their show with some old John Philip Sousa marches, "Washington Post" and "Hands Across the Sea." Then they will do a Barnum & Bailey favorite, "Under the Double Eagle."

The band will also play marches of other countries, beginning with "Rule Britannia" followed by "Le Marseillais."

Feature twirlers Vicky Keene, Claudean Cunningham, and Terry Stephens will twirl fire batons to the Spanish tune of "Ritual Fire Dance." Stephens will be twirling three fire batons at once, all lighted at both ends.

The band will end their half-time show with the "Grand March" from the opera "Aida."

The Saddle Tramps will be on hand as usual to give the Red Raiders an extra spiritual boost. Since this will not be a conference game the Tramps will not have a card section in the stadium.

As in previous games this season, the Saddle Tramps will be throwing 750 red souvenir footballs into the crowd before the game begins.

MUN Session Plan Begins Taking Shape

Invitations to participate in the Fourth Annual Session of the Texas Tech Model United Nations are being mailed to all campus organizations today. Over 350 Techsians will be involved in the simulation of a session of the United Nations March 3-5.

Included with the invitation is a list of the nations to have delegations and a registration form. Anyone wishing to obtain this information may get it at the Program Office on the second floor of the Student Union Building. Registration will begin Monday, Nov. 8, in this room.

Under the direction of Secretary-General Chris Hickey, the MUN steering committee has been working since March, 1965, to organize this year's program. The proposed agenda is similar to previous ones. The main activity will be in the General Assembly where resolutions will be advanced, debated and resolved with each nation promoting actions advantageous to itself.

The committee, concerned with changes and innovations to make the activities as realistic and exciting as possible, plans several basic departures from past structures and procedures. New features will include an independent Security Council to meet simultaneously with and separately from the General Assembly, an International Court of Justice, and an enlarged slate of issues for consideration, and a revised pre-General Assembly committee system to prepare resolutions for the General Assembly's consideration.

Students desiring more information on the Model United Nations should contact members of the steering committee listed below:

Sherrell Andrews — 5842;
John McLaren — PO2-4952;
Jan Shoemaker — 2615; Keith Strain — SW9-7364; Bill Cox — SH4-7483; Nancy Taylor — 6417; Chris Hickey — 2801; Lyn McClellan — 5603; Karen Kitzman — 3578; Barry McNeil — PO2-1616; Ione Heartsill — 5024.

Ninety-eight nations will be represented by three-man delegations, except for the Security Council member delegations which will have four members. Campus groups ranging from religious centers to housing units to honorary organizations often form delegations from their memberships, but interested persons without a group affiliation are encouraged to form delegations independently. A student who desires to participate, but who does not know others to complete his delegation should indicate this on his application and the steering committee will direct him to others in his situation. Such individuals need not pay the registration fee until placed in a delegation.

Rusk Clashes With De Gaulle, Declares Policy Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk, clashing with French President Charles de Gaulle, declared Friday that integration of U.S. and allied forces in Europe is an operational necessity to avoid "complete confusion at a moment of crisis."

"We have a very substantial force in the heart of Europe—if my friends in Europe would forgive me—surrounded in a sea of foreigners," Rusk said. "Integration is imposed upon us by the de facto situation."

"Our responsibility for the effectiveness and the security and the future of those forces in Europe is such that we need to know who is going to do what, when and where, if there is trouble."

Strong Defense

His strong defense of the allied integration system at a news conference immediately raised a question of whether if De Gaulle succeeded in breaking down the system the United States would pull its forces out of Europe.

When this question was put to Rusk he declined a direct answer, but replied: "With these troops in the heart of Europe, there is a certain de facto impulsion toward integration of strategy and command and arrangements and logistics and all sorts of things. This is something that is required, it seems to us, by the operational necessities of the situation."

De Gaulle, who announced Thursday that he would stand for a second seven-year term as president of France, already has declared—at a September news conference—his determination to seek an end to the integration of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces by 1969, at least so far as France is concerned.

A showdown on this issue probably will begin to develop next year with French proposals for reorganization of NATO. In effect De Gaulle's press conference in September and Rusk's response Friday marked the joining of the struggle.

While Rusk left the implied threat of a U.S. withdrawal of forces from Europe without denial, U.S. officials say privately that their strategy in meeting the De Gaulle challenge does not contemplate such an outcome. On the contrary, the United States and other non-French allies already have started planning for maintaining the present NATO system without France, if necessary.

U.S. authorities are confident that the other allies will not follow De Gaulle's lead and that whatever pullout occurs will be executed by the French and not by the United States.

The United States, in fact, is seeking greater integration of forces in NATO through the formation of a nuclear weapons force in which Germany and any other interested allies would become a partner in nuclear strategy and operations alongside this country, Britain and France, if France were willing.

Talent '66 Chooses Four Tech Students

A dance ensemble consisting of Tech students Nancy Slaughter and Sherry Cannon and singers Betty and Jim Bergner have been chosen to appear on TALENT '66, an hour long, statewide television program.

Miss Slaughter and Miss Cannon and Betty and Jim Bergner were chosen from approximately 400 acts from 21 colleges and universities around the state of Texas in auditions conducted by Cal Jones, producer, and Jon Stainbrook, director, of TALENT '66.

TALENT '66 is produced on-location against outdoor backgrounds by KHOU-TV, Channel 11, Houston, for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. It features outstanding performing talent from various campuses throughout the state.

'Noah' Tickets Still Available

Tickets are still available for tonight's performance of "Noah" in University Theater. Sunday's performance is completely sold out. If any tickets for today's special children's matinee are left at noon, they will be sold to students. Tickets are $1.50 and 50 cents with IDs.

I'M GONNA BE THE FIRST ONE THROUGH—Residents of Men's Dorm No. 10 work on a tunnel by which they hope to reach Men's No. 9. The joke tunnel will provide a secret passage to the adjoining dorm next year when 9 becomes coed living quarters.

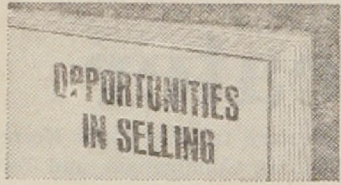

APO To Mark Auto 'Extras'

Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity, will mark hubcaps and other removable automobile accessories Saturday from 10 a.m.-noon and from 1-4 p.m. in the coliseum parking lot.

Traffic Security will keep records of all articles marked in case they are stolen.

Texas Tech Hosts Area School Bands

LUBBOCK—More than 2,000 band students from 34 area senior and junior high schools will be guests of Texas Tech at the New Mexico State University-Texas Tech football game Saturday night (Nov. 6) in Jones Stadium.

The young musicians, seated together as units representing their respective schools, will perform at breaks before the game and at halftime, although there will be no marching, said Dean Killion, Tech band director.

The visiting delegations will include school bands from Midland, Plains, New Deal, Floydada, Springlake-Earth, Hale Center, Clarendon, O'Donnell, Sundown, Lockney, Frenship, Jayton, Sudan, Olton, Lorenzo, Whitharral, Kress, Smyer, Ropesville, Crosbyton, Ralls, Idalou, and the following from Lubbock: Coronado, Dunbar, Lubbock High, Monterey, Alderson, Atkins, Evans, Hutchinson, Smylie Wilson, O. L. Slaton, and Thompson.

National Teachers Exam Registration Day Nears

Less than two weeks remain for prospective teachers who plan to take the National Teacher Examinations at Texas Tech on Dec. 11, to submit their registrations for the tests to Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey, Dr. James E. Kuntz, director of the counseling center announced today.

Registrations for the examinations must be forwarded to reach the Princeton Office not later than Nov. 12, Dr. Kuntz advised.

Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing Registration Forms may be obtained from the Counseling Center or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Box 911, Princeton, New Jersey.

At the one-day test session a candidate may take the common examinations, which include tests in professional education and general education, and one of the 13 teaching area examinations which are designed to evaluate his understanding of the subject matter and methods applicable to the area he may be assigned to teach.

Each candidate will receive an Admission Ticket advising him of the exact location of the center to which he should report, Dr. Kuntz advised. Candidates for the common examinations will report at 8:30 a.m. Dec. 11 and will continue, after lunch, until approximately 3:10 p.m., Dr. Kuntz said. The teaching area examinations will begin at 3:15 p.m. and should finish at approximately 5:20 p.m., according to the time schedule for these examinations which has been set up by Educational Testing Service.

CHRISTIAN STUDENT CENTER
Dr. Dudley Strain, Minister of First Christian Church, will speak at the Student Center, 2318 13th St. at 7:30 p.m. Sunday.

'Noah' Set For Child Matinee

A special children's matinee performance of "Noah," Texas Tech's production of the Biblical play by Andre Obey, has been scheduled for 1 p.m. today (Nov. 6) in University Theater.

"Although "Noah" is primarily a play for adults, there are many features of the story of the Flood which we feel will be enjoyed by children," said Ronald Schulz, director, "especially those of elementary and junior high school age."

Tickets for the special performance are 50 cents each and may be purchased at the theater box office or reserved by telephone, PO2-8811, ext. 2154.

Final performances of the play will be as originally scheduled, at 8:15 p.m. Saturday and at 3 p.m. Sunday. The cast is composed of Tech speech students.

SPELEOLOGICAL SOCIETY

The Tech Speleological Society (Tech Caving Club) will meet Tuesday, in the Science Bldg., room 48. A caving trip for Sunday, Nov. 11 will be organized. The meeting will be at 7:45 p.m.

Paul Tillich, the outstanding 79 year old Christian theologian who was tentatively scheduled as the speaker for the Willson Lectures, died after a heart attack two weeks ago in Chicago.

James Allen, Dean of student life had been corresponding with Tillich for several months concerning arrangements for the lectures.

Those letters are now posted on the bulletin board by the student life office.

Had Tillich been able to come to Tech says Allen, he would have been one of the greatest speakers ever brought to this campus.

Tillich was professor of theology at the Divinity School of the University of Chicago. He came to the United States after he became the first non-Jewish professor to lose his job for speaking against the Nazis.

This is what made Tillich a great man, according to Allen. Not only was he a great thinker, but his personal experiences and religious values were a vital item in contemporary society.

"It was unexpected that a man of Tillich's vitality should die," says Allen. "He thought so young that he seemed not to be old at all."

Allen talked long distance with Tillich a few weeks before his death. He said one could feel Tillich's quiet greatness as he spoke in his deep German accent.

Several speakers are being considered for the Willson Lectures. Allen, chairman of the University Speakers Committee, said we must convince ourselves that there is no one too great to be asked to speak here.

AGRONOMY CLUB
Mr. Duane Howell, agricultural editor of the Lubbock Avalanche Journal, will be guest speaker for the Texas Tech Agronomy Club at their meeting Monday night at 8 p.m. in room 205 Agricultural Plant Science Building. Mr. Howell was a member of a group of representatives for the Texas Farm Bureau who made a tour of five European countries last spring for the purpose of finding possible markets for High Plains cotton. He will speak and show slides of their tour. All interested persons are invited to attend.

The increase in student fees this year makes possible for the first time the funds necessary to bring controversial speakers to the campus.

Allen says by controversial he means those speakers who provoke our thoughts on issues of the day and lift us to a level of thought that is beyond our normal reach.

Allen believes the name "technological" and the somewhat out-of-the-way location prevent the college from having more prominent personalities on campus.

We grieve because a great man has died said Allen, one that we thought so much of that we selected him to speak at Tech.

Why Do You Read So Slowly?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of rapid reading which should enable you to double your reading speed and yet retain much more. Most people do not realize how much they could increase their pleasure, success and income by reading faster and more accurately.

According to this publisher, anyone, regardless of his present reading skill, can use this simple technique to improve his reading ability to a remarkable degree. Whether reading stories, books, technical matter, it becomes possible to read sentences at a glance and entire pages in seconds with this method.

To acquaint the readers of this newspaper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing rapid reading skill, the company has printed full details of its interesting self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Reading Improvement" mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Simply send your request to: Reading, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 0000, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do. Please include your Zip Code.

Our View On: University Happenings

On Selecting Electives...

EVER GET CAUGHT on registration day needing another elective and not having the faintest idea what electives are offered by the various departments and which ones would be beneficial to you?

That's not an uncommon situation, and in an attempt to answer some of these questions, the Daily Toreador will begin a series next week concerning elective courses.

Each department will be taken separately, all electives from the department will be listed and a summary of what each course involves and how it could be beneficial will be given.

The purpose of this series is twofold. For one thing, far too many students schedule elective courses haphazardly. In many cases, electives are selected during registration simply because the student needs three more hours to complete his schedule and the subject is offered at an hour when he can take it.

The result is he struggles through the subject probably with a low grade, because he is not interested in the subject and it has nothing to do with the field he plans to enter. However, he could probably be taking another elective, perhaps one not related to his major, but one which would interest him.

The second purpose is to give Techsans a general knowledge of the university they are attending and acquaint them with the various departments. Many students know very little about what Tech has to offer outside their major. There is a need to branch out and become acquainted with other facets of learning outside one's chosen field.

A knowledge of electives should help eliminate the necessity of last minute consultations with major advisors and help students plan their own schedules.

We hope students will use this series on electives while planning their schedules and will select electives with more thought and consideration.

A University of Houston coed was in critical condition last week after what campus authorities called the most serious traffic accident on the Houston campus.

The girl was a pedestrian who was hit as she was crossing one of the campus streets. Apparently, she was not looking where she was walking and the driver of the car didn't see her until it was too late.

After she was rushed to a nearby hospital, two emergency operations were needed to relieve blood clots in her brain.

But student reaction to her plight was quick in coming. The UH Student Association began a drive to raise funds for her hospital expenses and several other groups are working on other plans to help her, says the Daily Cougar.

We feel that it is just blind luck that such drives haven't been needed on the Tech campus—yet.

Technical and mechanical on-the-job training is really paying off in savings for students at Del Mar College.

The Foghorn reports that students at Del Mar Technical Institute, also in Corpus Christi, are learning how to repair everything from televisions and radios to complicated automobile work.

All the student work is under close supervision of trained instructors, and all the customer has to pay is cost for needed items; there is no labor charge.

Dissatisfied customers are very few in number, and the students in training offer no competition to commercial businesses, since they limit their service to faculty members of the Corpus Christi School District and current students at Del Mar.

However, there is often a waiting period because the students have so much work piled on them.

Other schools, particularly high schools, have similar programs. In Lubbock, Lubbock High School has a well equipped automotive shop where students provide good work with modern equipment and get a good background in various repair jobs.

Students at North Dakota State University in Fargo are jeopardizing their college careers by stealing from themselves, says The Spectrum.

Floor ash trays, rugs and other loose items in the Union Building have been added to the missing list. Many students are also reporting the loss of coats, billfolds, purses, books and other articles.

One of the school's deans said that the action taken against thieves in the future will depend upon individual cases, but in all cases action will be taken, and it will be swift and harsh. Suspension from the university is a possibility.

We agree with the manager of the North Dakota bookstore—we don't see how a student can jeopardize his entire college career for a pack of cigarettes, a book or an ash tray.

San Jacinto College in Pasadena is now the second largest public junior college in Texas, reports The Texian.

The school posted a fall enrollment of 3,657, including 2,103 day students, 1,619 evening students and 25 students in a special stenography program.

San Jacinto, which placed third last year, passed Del Mar College, which was in the second spot last year. San Antonio College still tops the list with approximately 10,000 students this year; Del Mar now has 3,411.

These figures seem to be indicative of others around the country and predictions by statisticians:

Even while four-year colleges are increasing rapidly in enrollment, junior colleges will have to start expanding to handle the overloads.

Some people also say that junior colleges will have to expand their curriculum to four-year status sometime in the foreseeable future.

The Student Senate at Rochester Institute of Technology, Rochester, N.Y., has set as its goal this year "selling RIT to RIT."

According to The Reporter, the new student association president will emphasize the building of school spirit as a necessary prerequisite to the designated goal of uniting the student body toward the formulation and expression of student opinion.

To accomplish this, the Senate will become a more active body and try to get things done for the students.

Some of the day to day problems the Senate will work on include the cigarette machine "issue," parking problems, book exchange, the removal of certain restrictions which resulted from last year's moral crisis, the promotion of better quality entertainment, both from organizations and from the Senate itself.

The president also suggested a new awareness on the part of the Senate concerning the function of the government, emphasizing the need for the newly established Student Court which offers a strong voice for the student body.

A new psychiatrist is settling into his new quarters at the University of Redlands, Redlands, Calif.

The doctor will be available for self-referrals of students and in an advisory capacity for staff members, suggesting methods of improving student-faculty relations, says the Redlands Bulldog.

His primary function will be evaluation and diagnosis rather than long-term therapy. He will help students in selecting doctors for referral.

In accordance with medical ethics, any matter discussed with him will be confidential. No information will be divulged without the permission of the student.

Unfortunately, Texas Tech does not have a full-time psychiatrist, although we do have a well-staffed Testing and Counseling Center which can help students with many personal and vocational counseling problems.

Still, as was brought out in a Board of Directors meeting last year, we do need the special talents of a readily available psychiatrist on campus.

Serendipity Singers Visit Tech Campus

'In Time And Space' Theme Of Festival

What has nine lives, two coiffures, one pair of glasses, plays banjo, guitar, congó drums, bass fiddle and sings?

It's the Serendipity Singers who will perform at Texas Tech on Dec. 1, sponsored by the Tech Union. Tickets are now on sale in the Union program office Monday through Friday priced at $1.25 for students, $2 for faculty and $3 for general admission.

The two coiffures belong to the female portion of this group . . . the instruments belong to the seven young men with whom they appear . . . on records, in night clubs, and on the concert stage.

Featured with the Serendipity Singers on the Ford Caravan of Music will be Earl "Fatha" Hines, jazz pianist and the comedy of Hendra and Ullett.

"In Time and Space" is the theme of the Tech Fine Arts Festival event to be presented by two campus performing arts organizations, the Tech Opera Theater and the Tech Dance Theatre.

The presentation, featuring music by Mozart and Bach, is scheduled for 3 p.m. Sunday in the speech auditorium, located in the speech building northwest of the Tech Library. The program will be repeated at 8:15 p.m., Monday.

There is no admission charge. The Dance Theatre will open the performance with "A Bach Suite", danced to music of the two-part and three-part inventions of the baroque master.

Suzanne Aker, director of the Dance Theatre and choreographer of the program, said: "The dances are designed to be an extension of the musical form rather than carrying a dramatic narrative theme. In a sense the movement is revolutionary, because it is a mixture of classical ballet and modern dance. In contemporary dance, some choreographers find it satisfying to use both styles in unity."

In its post-intermission offering, the Opera Theater will stage five scenes from the operas of Mozart. In addition to the four most familiar Mozart operas, "Cosi fan tutte", "The Marriage of Figaro", "Don Giovanni", and "The Magic Flute", a scene from the little-known late opera seria "Titus" will be heard, featuring faculty singers Heather Woodall and June Ackroyd.

DR. JUDSON MAYNARD

Organist Gives Recital Monday

The Department of music and the American Guild of Organists will present a faculty recital Monday by Dr. Judson Dana Maynard, organist.

Maynard will entertain with "Fantasia and Fugue in G Minor," Bach; "Fantasia in F Minor for a Mechanical Organ," Mozart; "Prayer," Cesar Frank; "Scherzetto," Louis Vierne; "Postlude for the Office of Compline," Jehan Alain; and "Carillon de Westminster," Vierne.

The recital will be at the First Methodist Church at 8:15 p.m. It is a part of the Fine Arts Festival.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

The Texas Tech Young Republicans will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m. in the Coronado Room of the Union for their November meeting.

Part of the program will consist of the film "Go Safari" which is designed to give the strategy of the 1966 campaign in Texas and the reelection of Senator John Tower.

English Club Hears Director Takes Engineering Fraternity Pledges

Mrs. Jean A. Jenkins, director of placement on Tech campus, spoke Wednesday to the Graduate English Club in the Union.

Mrs. Jenkins, who has served as director of placement since its beginning in 1947, explained the services offered to graduating students by the placement office, its functions and goals. Applications to different employers are handled through the office.

Mrs. Jenkins, a Tech graduate, was instrumental in originating the placement service. She also serves as vice-president of a Lubbock bank.

Eleven Tau Beta Pi Pledges began their duties Thursday afternoon by polishing the bent which hangs in the foyer of the Electrical Engineering Building.

The bent, inscribed Texas Beta Chapter Class of '37, is the symbol of the honorary engineering fraternity. Working in pairs, the pledges must spend two hours brightening the bent's finish.

In addition to this first task, the pledges also must secure the signatures of all active and graduate members of the fraternity and engineering faculty members, take a quiz over the Tau Beta Pi constitution and history, take a general academic quiz and write an essay concerning the government and the engineer.

If a pledge has successfully completed these duties by Nov. 17, he will be initiated into the fraternity.

The pledges are Eugene Chambers, Fort Worth; Bob Darwin, Lubbock; James Gattis, Pottsboro; Roy Grubbs, Hereford; Floyd Howard, Fort Worth; Coy Hunt, Borger; Larry Ritchie, Odessa; Albert Smith, Shamrock; Brooke Smith, Houston; Jim Stephenson, Borger and Kenneth Young, Irving.

TAU BETA PI—Albert Smith one of eleven new pledges in the honorary engineering fraternity gets started on his duties by polishing the bent which hangs in the foyer of the Electrical Engineering Building.

Miss McClinton Leads In Tall City Tourney

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP)—Sandra McClinton fired a three-under-par 68 Friday to take the first round lead in the $10,000 Tall City Open golf tournament, banging out six birdies and laying down a four-under-par 32 on the final nine.

The girl from Mt. Pleasant, Tex., was a stroke ahead of Clifford Ann Creed and Sandra Haynie on a day that saw three eagles shot on the long first hole.

JoAnn Prentice, Judy Torluemke and Carol Mann registered the eagles on the 465-yard hole that proved to be the easiest of the day for the touring women pros. There were 14 birdies.

Miss McClinton is seeking her first tournament victory in several years on the tour. Her highest finish has been fourth at St. Petersburg, Fla., last year.

Five of the players were bunched at 70, thus eight bettered par for the day.

It was warm and clear and the rain that had hampered a pro-amateur Thursday was only a memory.
