

SA officer change-up to appear as proposal in Wednesday referendum

By BETSY JARMON
Special Reporter

Because of an act passed by the Tech Student Senate Thursday, a proposal to create two Student Association (SA) vice-president posts will be on the ballot in Wednesday's referendum.

The ballot will have two parts. If a student votes to give the SA president power to appoint the secretary and business manager (both are now elected offices), then he can vote on the dual vice-presidency proposal.

The Senate also approved Freshman Council plans to hold a referendum of freshman women on the abolition or retention of university-imposed hours for freshman women in the dorm.

After the UD deadline Thursday night, the Senate passed both acts. The sponsors of the acts had been unable earlier in the meeting to muster the two-thirds vote necessary to consider the legislation before it had been sent to committee.

Business Administration Senator Bill Sewell said he co-authored the dual vice-presidency act because "The SA president doesn't have time to implement programs he wants to initiate."

Sewell said the same plan has worked well at Rice University. Under the proposal, there would be a vice-president for internal affairs and a vice-president for external affairs, both elected by the students.

The vice-president for internal affairs would preside over the Senate.

The vice-president for external affairs would implement all SA programs and be responsible for the SA business manager and secretary.

Graduate Senator Rolf Wigand spoke against the plan. "Any further stratification of executive jobs would make communication more difficult," he said. He pointed out the SA offices are crowded now. "Where will you place another vice-president physically?"

Business Administration Senator Bob Craig, another co-author of the act, said, "It's set up like a good, well-organized business."

Home Economics Senator Mary Stenika said she believed with one more elected office "we're spreading ourselves too thin."

Senate President Greg Wimmer yielded the chair to say he supports the plan. He said he never would have approved the proposal to make the offices of business manager and secretary appointed by the SA president if the dual vice-president offices had not been under consideration.

Engineering Senator Jim Nader said an advantage of having the vice-president for external affairs implement programs is that the officer would be under Senate control.

The Senate also passed a resolution which recommended the establishment of a public relations department for the Lubbock Police Department.

Mike Warden was appointed to fill the Arts and Sciences

Senate seat vacated by Ellen McDaniel.

In his report to the Senate, SA President Bill Scott said students saved $8,048.05 in the Book Exchange.

He said cost of the Book Exchange was $280, including a $180 loss on books the campus bookstore did not purchase from the exchange.

Scott reported that $325 had been received from the Women's Service Organization, Honors Council and the SA to cover costs of the exchange.

Referred to the Allocations Committee were bills to provide funds for a ROTC drill meet in March, funds for a tutorial program, money to help the University of Texas defend its legal aid program in court and funds for the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association.

Legislation urging the Administration to: adopt a more efficient way to refund money lost in campus vending machines, automatically reimburse the property deposit to students completing their last semester at Tech and provide Tech library cards to members of the community were referred to the Student Life Committee.

The Government Operations and Relations Committee will consider a revision of the Executive Order Act and a resolution to include a statement of the belief in equal employment opportunities by Tech students in every university placement publication.

Variety marks Gonzales' Speakers Series address

By HAL BROWN
Managing Editor

In an appearance for the University Speakers series Friday night, U.S. Congressman Henry Gonzales spoke on everything from the state of politics in the United States today to the Texas stock fraud scandal.

Gonzales, who arrived half an hour late for the speech, began by reading a prepared text which began with a swipe at politicians who depend on political "gimmicks" to get elected instead of concentrating on issues.

"One of the unhappy things in politics, at least in the recent past, is that candidates are paying more attention to technique and less and less to issues," Gonzales said.

Gonzales pointed to the book, "The Selling of the President," which reveals the tactics used in the Nixon campaign of 1968.

This trend, Gonzales says, has spread to other office seekers who now "worry too much about how to get into office and not enough about what they are going to do once they are elected."

Gonzales said this type of campaigning "obscures the basis of politics—issues," and soon leads to an electorate such as we have today which he said has a mood of "frustration without anger."

"Techniques are necessary, Gonzales said however, for a candidate to be elected in our system.

Gonzales then turned his attention to the rights of minorities in our political system, which he praised for "protecting the rights of minorities 99 point 9 per cent of the time, if not better."

"Minorities are the engine of change, the instrument which makes the majority accountable for its actions," Gonzales said.

Gonzales said he didn't favor forming "power blocs" out of ethnic minorities but rather favored building support from a small base of supporters then seeking constantly to add to the base until gaining a majority.

Gonzales attributed his political successes to following the latter course and said he was elected on the basis of his stand on issues confronting the electorate.

Being of Mexican descent, Gonzales said, has had little effect on his campaigns. "The electorate is more interested in issues than the candidate's last name," he asserted.

In a question and answer session after his prepared speech, Congressman Gonzales said he felt the three most critical problems facing the U.S. at this time were the lack of policy in Southeast Asia; the economy (foreign and domestic) and a need for a clear cut long range definition of domestic problems such as education and employment. Gonzales said the greatest problems were in the United States' role as a world leader.

Minorities would benefit, Gonzales feels, if direct election of the president was inaugurated.

"I feel the potential would be for a greater voice or participation (for minorities) in the direct electoral process," Gonzales said.

Gonzales would not favor a value-added tax to replace property taxes, he said, because he considers it a regressive tax.

Gonzales said he felt not all the facts in the Texas stock fraud scandal had been released and "never would until Mr. Frank Sharp goes before a competent court and under trial processes answers the full particulars."

Gonzales said he had no evidence of wrongdoing on the part of either Governor Preston Smith or Waggoner Carr "except those that I'm sure you have read about in the newspapers."

Gonzales said members of minorities don't have to give up their ethnic identity to become members of the prevailing culture and that members of minorities who become angry and self-centered are serving a defeatist attitude.

U.S., North Vietnam claim other's government blocking peace efforts

By The ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Vietnamese Minister of State Xuan Thuy and U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers each accused the other's government Sunday of blocking progress in efforts to end the Vietnam war.

Thuy said President Nixon's revelation of secret negotiations with Hanoi created a serious obstacle to a peaceful settlement. But Rogers said Xuan Thuy's government had been "totally intransigent" in both secret and public negotiations.

Rogers said, however, "they have not rejected President Nixon's proposal in eight points as such. I would hope in future they would realize negotiations hold out the best hope."

He said these proposals "provide a basis on which agreement could be reached."

Rogers was interviewed on the CBS-TV program "Face the Nation" in Washington directly after a broadcast of a discussion with Xuan Thuy, chief North Vietnamese negotiator at Paris, which "Face the Nation" taped in the French capital Friday.

18-year-old rights petition to circulate

By FRAN HEARN
Staff Writer

The right of full legal adult status could come within reach of Texas 18-year-olds, if 55,000 registered voters sign petitions being circulated by the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association (T.I.S.A.).

Legal rights requested in the petition include: the right to purchase and consume alcohol, the right of contract, and the right to serve on juries.

According to Bill Scott, SA president, T.I.S.A. has divided the required number of signatures proportionately among all Texas schools. Tech is responsible for at least 5,000.

Scott said that "equal rights for young voters could prove to be a more important issue this year than the draft."

In order for the petition to be considered by the Texas Senate this spring, it must be completed by Feb. 25.

Pat Moody, chairman of Tech Voter Registration said that "the petition drive should help voter registration, because students must have registered to vote before they can sign the petition, however, they can sign it before receiving the actual certificate."

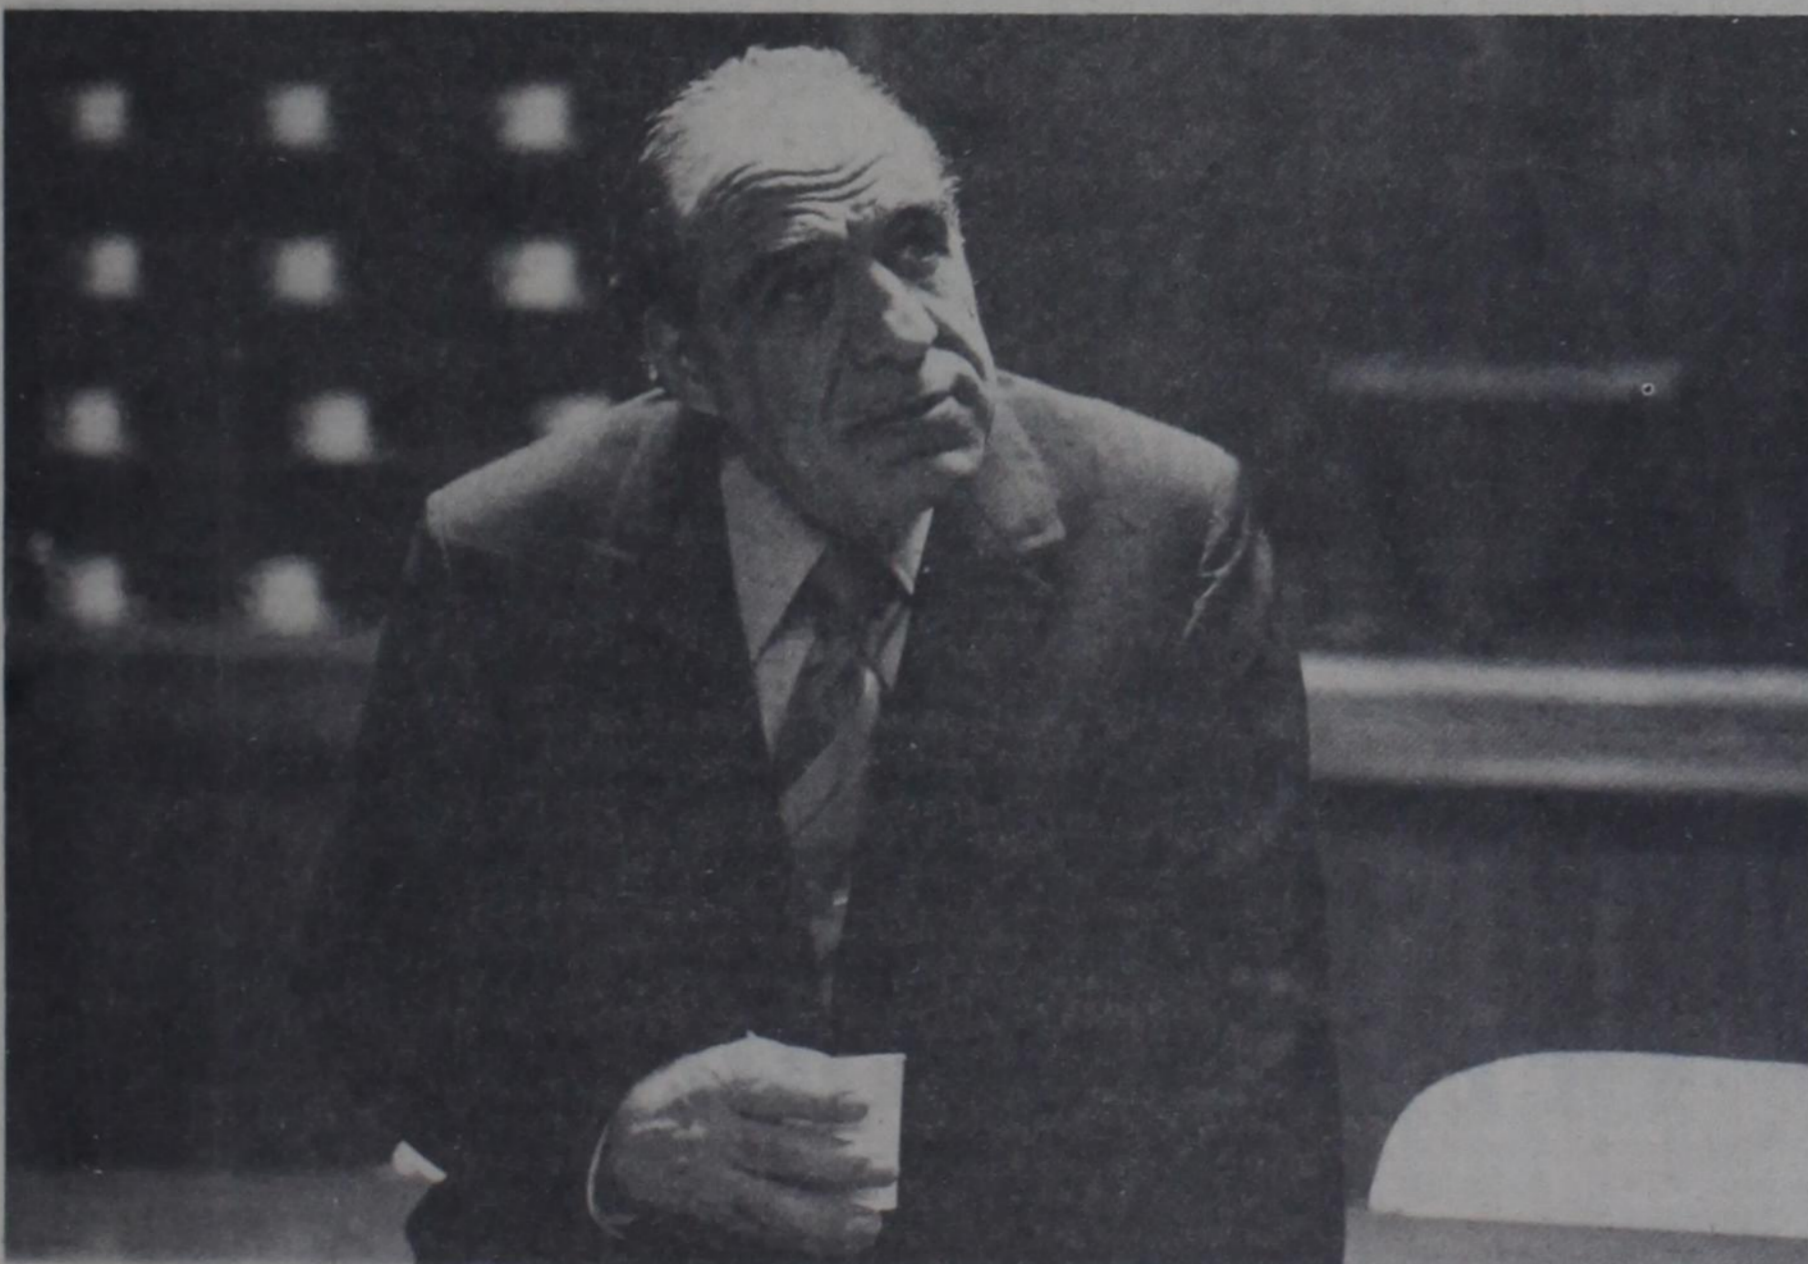

The SA will begin circulating petitions today. They will also be available in the University Center and the SA office.

Scientist proposes shooting nuclear wastes into sun

WASHINGTON (AP)—The chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission has suggested solving the difficult problem of getting rid of radioactive wastes by loading them in spaceships and shooting them into the sun.

Dr. J.R. Schlesinger said his agency is encouraging the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to examine the cost of such a disposal method for the radioactive waste products from atomic power plants.

On other campuses...

University of Texas

Student Government President Bob Binder was cited as a possible candidate for appointment to the board of regents at UT in a political column of the Daallas Morning News.

Binder acknowledged that he had heard rumors to that effect, but had not heard anything from the state capitol.

However, Gov. Preston Smith's press secretary, Carlton Carl, confirmed the fact that the governor is considering the possibility of appointing a student to the board of regents.

"He (Smith) hasn't gotten it down to a specific candidate for a specific school, though," Carl said. "No definite time has been set. It depends on where there is an opening."

In the same issue of UT's student newspaper, The Daily Texan, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes promised "to appoint a large number of blacks, browns and young people" to state boards and commissions if he is successful in his bid for the governorship.

Barnes declined to stipulate that he would appoint a student to the UT Board of Regents, saying, "I might well do that, but it would be throwing a political bone to promise you that now."

West Texas State

Voter registration at the WTSU campus is in a questionable state.

When Paul Nash, a Sweetwater senior, turned in the list of students wanting to be registered, Mrs. Audrey Bruse, Randall County tax assessor-collector, told him he would have to call each student on the list to find out the exact date he came to the county.

An informational sheet—"Guidelines for Volunteer Deputies in Randall County"—used in the registration drive reads, "It would be appreciated if the applicant would fill in the date of arrival columns to establish residence requirements."

When State Rep. Bryan Poff was contacted to check on Mrs. Bruse's requirements for accepting the students' voter registration forms it was determined that Nash could simply write "OK" in the optional date-of-arrival column.

That wasn't enough.

When Nash wanted to turn the list in again, employees of the county told him he had to swear that all the people on the list had been in the county the legal amount of time.

When asked last week where or in what process the student names were, Mrs. Bruse said she did not know where they were or when the final voter certifications would be mailed out to the students.

University of Tennessee

Do you pay your fair share of parking fines?

Since last July, University of Tennessee campus police have collected more than $45,000 for traffic violations. The bulk of the fines were collected from July to December in which approximately $32,000 was obtained. The remainder of the sum was collected during registration week when almost $13,000 in citations were issued.

The money collected through traffic fines is used as partial payment for new parking facilities on the Tennessee campus.

($45,000 can buy an awful lot of shredded shingles—THE EDITOR)

East Texas State

Thefts on the ET campus have increased by 16 incidents over the total the same time a year ago with the number climbing to 125 so far this year.

There is an unusual aspect to this rash of crimes. Although thefts have increased in number, total losses have gone down from $9,632.67 last year to $5,915.46 this year.

The drop in losses may seem puzzling at first, but an examination of the ever-growing list of items stolen sheds a little light on the problem. Such items as money, stereos, a parking permit, a camera, one set of motorcycle handlebars, a rear license plate from a car and one research rat—yes a rat—have been listed as stolen.

So, the drop in total losses this year is not hard to explain. After all, just how much can you hock a rat for?

Library suggests reading for enjoyment

Now that the semester has begun and is in full swing most of the students are trying to keep up with their assigned reading. If any of you have the urge to get away from it all, and read a book for enjoyment, come to the library. Reviewed below are just a few of the many we have to offer.

Epstein, Cy. HOW TO KILL A COLLEGE. Los Angeles: Sherbourne Press, 1971.

LD 729 C982 E6

On February 9, 1970, Ronald Reagan, Governor of California, appeared at California State College in Fullerton to deliver a speech. The result: How to Kill a College. This absorbing, sometimes frightening book by Cy Epstein, is a look into how a middle-class, conservative college can be racked by student-police confrontations. Epstein, an Assistant Professor of English at Cal State, was faculty advisor to the Student Mobilization Committee, a job that led to his arrest.

Griffin, Al. THE CREDIT JUNGLE. Chicago: Henry Regnery Company, 1971.

HG 3755 G73

It's the first of the month and your bills from BankAmericard, Master Charge, and various other credit cards are arriving. It didn't seem like you were spending that much money. Would you like to learn how and why you landed in the clutches of the Credit Jungle? Al Griffin, in his book of the same name, tells how easy it is to obtain credit and why it is so easy. He reveals the 18 per cent interest on bills you've already paid. He discusses the intricacies of the car loan, including the "balloon" loan and the hundreds of other credit devices. For all of you who didn't know about credit and now are horrified to learn, read the Credit Jungle.

Adams, Ruth. SAY NO! Emmaus, Penna.: Rodale Press, 1971.

HC 110 E5 A63

This action manual, subtitled A New Pioneer's Guide to Action to Save Our Environment, says no to needless progress, to superhighways through the park, to pollution in the skies and to other threats to the environment. Adams hopes to put you in contact with other people who are concerned and who Say No! If you want to fight air pollution, water pollution, or noise pollution, you must read Say No!

A note for all students: the typewriter service that was housed in the basement of the library has been discontinued.

The private company that provided the service decided it could not keep the typewriters in working condition and so ended their service. The library, however, still makes the room available for those who wish to use their own typewriters.

Have a Question About Liquor By The Drink?

- question: If this issue is passed during the election, will package stores be barred from the Lubbock city limits?
answer: Your vote for liquor by the drink will not keep anyone from having a later election on package stores - by precinct, or all of Lubbock county.
- question: Why should we pay a yearly membership fee for the privilege of buying a glass of beer at 50 cents to 75 cents a glass in private clubs?
answer: You shouldn't! Places of business may be put in anywhere in the city limits (subject to city ordinances), and the addition of competition in the city and near the college will provide establishments where beer can be sold at 25 cents a glass.
- question: How do we, as registered voters, express our opinion for this issue?
answer: Sign the petitions located in the Texas Tech Bookstore and University Center (sub) on campus, or at major shopping centers. Then when an election is called, vote yes. Sign the petition first—it is necessary in order to call the election.

Raiders retain second place standing

Aggies slip past Tech, 68-63

by MILLER BONNER
Sports Editor

Tech won most of the battles but lost the war and a share of the Southwest Conference basketball lead Saturday night as Texas A&M handed the Raiders a 68-63 setback at College Station.

Tech led throughout most of the ball game but relinquished the advantage with two minutes remaining to send the Aggies and SMU into a two way tie for the SWC laurels.

The Raiders are now 4-2 in league action while the Mustangs and Ags sport 5-1 slates.

SMU beat Baylor in Dallas Saturday to retain their share of the top spot. The Bears fell 74-70 and are now 2-4 in conference warfare.

Texas and TCU are tied for third place with 3-3 slates following the Horned Frogs' 88-75 win over the 'Horns in Ft.

Ranger deals Pics third setback, 75-68

Ranger Junior College had five players in double figures and Tech's Picadors failed to hit on important free throws Saturday night, giving Ranger a 75-68 victory at Ranger, Tex.

The Pics hit only 14 of 27 from the line for 53 per cent. Tech out-shot the Rangers from the field, 27-26.

William Johnson led the Pics with 18 points. Kim McClintock pumped 15 while Steve Trncak had 11. James Derkowski scored nine and Bryan Mauk, five.

Tech now stands 6-3 on the season. The other two losses came to New Mexico and South Plains Juco in away games.

Phil Bailey, who scored 30 points in the win over SMU's frosh in Tech's last contest, managed only one field goal, two of six free throws, for four points.

Ranger's Bobby Davis led the winners with 18 points. Tech's next contest will be Tuesday at 5:45 p.m. when the Pics host the Abilene Christian College junior varsity. The game will precede the Tech-TCU varsity game.

Worth. In the other SWC pairing Saturday Arkansas beat Rice 103-95. The Hogs are 2-4 in league play while the Owls are yet to win after six attempts.

TECH USED a 17 point first half output by Greg Lowery to grab a 36-32 half time lead. A packed house at A&M's G. Rollie White Coliseum watched the Raiders spot the Aggies four points before getting any tallies on the scoreboard. Lowery broke the ice for the Raiders with 15:15 remaining before intermission with a 15 foot jumper and Tech was off and running.

Six ties later the Raiders went ahead with Ralph Palomar's short jump shot and a nifty hook shot to put the Techsans on top at 20-19 with 8:33 left until the half.

The Raider dominance continued until the final two minutes of the ball game. With the home crowd responding beautifully, the Aggie quintet began chipping away at a six point Raider lead

Pool mark falls, Murphy shines

Tankers bow to SMU

By LES MOORHEAD
Ass't Sports Editor

One pool record fell in the 1000-yard freestyle and Tech's Danny Murphy swam a tremendous anchor leg in the 400 freestyle relay, but the Raider tankers bowed to a staunch SMU swimming team Saturday, 74-39.

Going into the meet favored in almost every event, the Mustangs took every first place except two, the one-meter dive and the 100-yard freestyle.

In dual competition, Tech stands 6-3 but it was the finest showing of any Southwest Conference school against the Mustangs this year. SMU is undefeated and is ranked third nationally.

Raider Chris Schacht defeated favorite Cal Locke in the one-meter dive, 254.50 points to Locke's 251.50. Tech's Steve Hundley finished third with 233.95.

SMU's John Rubottom set a pool record in the 1000 freestyle with a 10:20.7 clocking. All-American Jerry Heidenreich was second with 10:41.5. Tech's Chris McCurdy was third at 10:41.6

Murphy anchored the 400 freestyle relay that finished second to SMU's foursome. Murphy started the last leg almost the length of the pool (25 yards) behind Pony Tom Crossen, the SMU anchorman. Murphy caught Crossen but Crossen touched the wall one-tenth of a second faster than Murphy. The winning time was 3:21.7.
