Traylor scholarship declared illegal

By GARRY MANGUM
Special Reporter

A $200 scholarship in the name of Tech Student Senate sponsor Dr. Idris Traylor cannot be established by the Senate, according to Tech administrative representatives.

The scholarship bill, introduced on the Senate floor Thursday night by BA Senator Tommy Wheat, was sponsored by most of the senators, said Senate Parliamentarian Jim Boynton.

"We contacted the Student Association president, Bill Scott, and told him this was not legal," Dr. Owen L. Caskey, associate vice president for academic affairs, said.

Caskey said this ruling is the same as the one last week which negated Student Association (SA) allocations to the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association (TISA) and The University of Texas legal defense fund.

"The Texas Constitution forbids the allocation of public money for private use," Caskey said.

Caskey said the money for the scholarship would have come from the student services fee. He said receipts from the student services fee is state money, and allocation of the receipts must be governed by state law.

"It isn't that we don't want or need the scholarship," Caskey said. "We just can't use the money this way."

Leo Ellis, Tech comptroller and treasurer, said "it all boils down to one thing. We are not allowed to fund anything with state funds that would be beneficial to any one individual."

Protests against Wimmer discarded; Hall not certified, dropped from ballot

The Student Senate Government Operations and Relations Committee in executive session Tuesday night discarded the five protests filed against Student Association (SA) presidential candidate Greg Wimmer.

The committee also notified SA internal vice presidential candidate Robert Hall that the committee could not certify him because he lacked the required 2.0 executive candidacy grade point average.

Hall's name will not be on today's election ballot, committee chairman Gayle Snure, said.

The first three of the five protests were filed Monday by Graduate Senator Mike Tindall, ex-Senator Gary Lambert, Tech student David Lourel and ex-SA vice president Dennis Graham.

The first of the protests alleged Wimmer, a BA senator last semester, engaged in material campaigning for the SA presidency at that time.

The protest noted Wimmer sent letters with his signature to students in various Tech colleges, asking how student government might be improved.

Graham told the committee he considered the letters material campaigning for the presidency because they were sent to students in colleges outside BA.

Although Tindall said he could not produce the letter for consideration, "in time, I think we could dig it up."

Senate Parliamentarian Jim Boynton said he had misplaced the letter.

"I was just trying to do my job," Wimmer said. "That was two and a half months before the executive filing dates and I didn't even know I was running. I only got 40 of those letters back and I'll bet none of them would be able to tell you whose name was on them."

Wimmer said he used SA stationery, envelopes and postage for the letters.

"I paid for that stationery and stuff this semester after Scott (Bill Scott, SA president) issued his executive order (the order prohibiting unauthorized use of SA materials)," Wimmer said.

Wimmer said Scott had given him (Wimmer) permission to use the materials.

"That's like asking your mother if it's all right to commit murder," Tindall said.

Graham called Wimmer's action "a massive showing of intent and negligence."

The second protest alleged Wimmer "had posters in windows of off-campus establishments as early as three days prior to the date specified by the election code."

Lambert testified he saw Wimmer's campaign posters in the windows of Snell Drug and University Shoe Repair on Sunday. The date for posting campaign materials specified by the code was Monday.

Wimmer said Miss Snure had given him permission to place the posters at the two locations.

Wimmer also said he had included the expenses for the posters in his expense account presented to the committee.

Committee member Paul Horton said he believed the committee had no jurisdiction over off-campus campaigning.

The third protest alleged a student wearing a shirt bearing a Wimmer campaign slogan was seen on campus Saturday by SA presidential candidate Rick Merritt.

"Shirts are to be construed as improper campaign materials as defined in the election code," the protest noted.

"I don't know anything about that," Wimmer said. "I never authorized the printing of that shirt."

Wimmer campaign manager Rick Buckberry said he had seen two such shirts presented to Wimmer at Wimmer's apartment.

"Those two shirts never left my apartment," Wimmer said. "They were souvenirs of the campaign presented to me and my girlfriend. I never used them in my campaign."

The protest alleged "a candidate is responsible for anything with his name on it."

Tindall filed the final two protests Tuesday.

The fourth protest alleged Wimmer campaigners distributed campaign materials this week in Stangel cafeteria.

The SA election code prohibits "oral or material campaigning in dormitory cafeterias or in cafeteria lines inside the cafeteria proper."

Tindall said Wimmer's materials were placed inside newspapers and passed under the cafeteria tables by campaigners.

Wimmer said he had "worked diligently" to inform his campaign workers "as to what was right and wrong because I knew people were going to be watching us real close."

The fifth protest noted Wimmer's expense account did not include the cost of the shirt observed by Merritt.

Wimmer said the shirt was not a part of his campaign materials and that it should not be included on his expense account.

While the committee stood at rest, Hall told Miss Snure he had been "discriminated against by the press" because he was not informed, in writing as he had requested, of his noncertification until Tuesday afternoon.

Snure said she had expected the letter to "go out any day."

Hall claimed he was not invited to a UD editorial board interview with the executive office candidates because his certification was in doubt.

The board interviews resulted in candidate endorsement by the UD in today's issue.

UD Managing Editor Cass Ray said he invited Hall last week to the interviews.

Jerry Nisler and Maurice Richard, candidates for place four of the Lubbock City Council, listen to questions from Arts and Sciences Honors Council members Tuesday night.

Council candidates discuss liquor, student representation, city police

Jerry Nisler and Maurice Richard, candidates for place four of the Lubbock City Council, discussed student representation on the council, liquor-by-the-drink and improvements in the Lubbock Police Department at the Arts and Sciences Honors Council meeting Tuesday night.

Asked if he favored representation of Tech on the city council, Nisler said, "I'm not informed enough on that issue. However, I feel that the Tech voting strength is strong enough at the polls to make candidates responsive."

Richard said he advocated representation of Tech on the council.

Concerning the sale of liquor in Lubbock, Nisler said, "this is not a moral issue; it is a personal choice. I would have to wait and see what is proposed. As far as selling packaged liquor, I like the way it is. I have a hesitancy to put liquor-by-the-drink in the restaurants."

Richard said, "liquor sales would give Lubbock more tax money. I am for liquor sales from an economic point of view."

Questioned about investigations of complaints against policemen, Richard said, "there are some very fine policemen in Lubbock. There are, however, some bad ones. Investigations of complaints should be open and honest."

Nisler said he agreed the investigations should be open and honest. He also said, "a focal point needs to be made for complaints."

Asked how the Lubbock Police Department could be improved, Richard said, "we must raise the quality level. Officers should be required to take college courses, especially sociology.

Also, officers in Chicano areas should speak Spanish. Many people in these areas do not speak English. Higher pay for officers would help to improve the force."

Nisler, answering the same question, said, "this problem exists in many cities. It is largely a question of money. Here in Lubbock we have the Civil Service Commission."

Nisler said Chief of Police J.T. Alley had told him the police department was making a genuine effort to hire minority workers.

Richard said Lubbock does not have full representation of the people.

"I see a need for wider representation in this city. The government that governs most, governs best," said Richard.

"Problems facing Lubbock are new problems. Old solutions won't work. Lubbock must take full advantage of its human power," Richard said.

Richard said he felt he could identify with the needs of young people, minorities and labor. He noted he had served on the Human Grievances Commission in Lubbock.

"Generally, we've had good government in Lubbock. Change is okay as long as we remain in a reasonable framework. I'm opposed to change for the sake of change," Nisler said.

Nisler gave a brief biography, noting he had been a Lubbock resident for 40 years and jokingly claiming to be a member of "the establishment." He also stated this was his first political campaign.

Today's election, the candidates

"Every nation has the government that it deserves."

—Joseph De Maistre

Today is election day in the executive offices of Tech's Student Association. Sixteen candidates are running but only four people will go away happy.

These are the most important elections for Tech students this year. What student programs will be implemented, money spent and issues decided will be done mainly by the four representatives selected today.

Because the election is so important, the staff of The University Daily has interviewed each of the candidates and aired each candidate's views in the paper. Now election time is here and the UD staff again has talked to the candidates and the following is the general staff's feeling about each office and the candidates.

PRESIDENT—The staff feels the race is mainly between Greg Wimmer and Ron Orbas. However, because of his three years experience and recent proven leadership ability in the Senate, Greg Wimmer is the best candidate for the presidency.

1st VICE PRESIDENT—This will be the tightest of the four races today. Candidates Onnie Kirk, Jim Nader and Freddie Williams each drew votes and support from different members of the staff. Both Nader and Williams have been two of the better senators and both have the experience it takes and would be better to preside over the Senate. However, because he is an independent and has not been involved with the petty politics of the present Senate, the majority of the UD staff decided to endorse Kirk for internal vice president.

2nd VICE PRESIDENT—The UD staff felt there was only one outstanding candidate in this race that could properly do the job of external vice president—Bob Craig.

BUSINESS MANAGER—Again, in the office of business manager, a large majority of staff members felt there was only one man for the job—William Ramirez.

These endorsements by the staff on election day are in no way any type of political scheme to influence the apathetic voters at the last minute. The University Daily staff has followed the candidates closely over the past semester and these are the ones we feel would do the best job.

The platforms of the candidates that were returned to The University Daily also appear in today's paper. The staff highly suggest each student read these statements by the candidates themselves and vote according to conscience. Above all, however, go back and read the opening statement in this article and DO VOTE.

Claims Socialists target of ultra-right wing suppression

Well, it appears that Lubbock ultra-rightists have found another scapegoat to blame for the problems of contemporary society.

Many fanatic right-wingers have power and influence which they wield without compunction even here at Tech. In the last few weeks, the Young Socialist Alliance has become the favorite target of these people who would deny the Left freedom to speak.

The Young Socialist Alliance has broken no laws, and has merely exercised its freedom of speech, and sold some educational materials. As young socialists, we see our primary job in educating the people as to the desirability of a planned democratic socialist society, as opposed to the anarchic, class society which we "survive" in.

Recently, "someone" (anonymous to us) attended a YSA informational meeting at the Wesley Foundation. This person consequently completely distorted and maliciously lied about the entire meeting. From reports, this individual reported to the police that we were advocating "violent overthrow of the government." In fact, anyone can look at our constitution, etc., and see that we do not, and have never advocated "violent overthrow of the government." We do want a Socialist society because we feel it is superior, but we want it only when the working people (the majority) decide they are ready for it. We do not advocate any type of "coup d'etat," since we want a truly Democratic state, planned by those who produce and completely in their interests rather than the giant corporations who produce for profit, rather than for the good of humanity.

We hope that our friends in the university and community who believe that democracy and the Bill of Rights are for all Americans will not be deceived by the "red-baiting and violence-baiting" reminiscent of the Joe McCarthy era which have recently been used against us.

We trust the American people and the people of Lubbock will not allow the further suppression of any groups freedom of speech, or freedom to have a place to meet.

SA elections today

Executive candidates offer platforms

REGENTS, equality for men and women in all areas of student life including dorm living, expansion of College Allowance Program (CAP) into a student buyer protection program, better communications between the Student Association and the students, contribute to the Student Senate becoming more responsible and less politically oriented, implementation of Legal Aid Program to help students with legal questions, implementation of University Cooperative to save students money, strive for a more workable athletic seating system, elimination of hours for freshmen women Student Government Self Study.

Qualifications: Freshman Council, Student Senate (three terms, chairman of Rules & Student Life Committees, President Pro Tempore, President, 1972), faculty-student committees; Student Organizations & Student Publications, Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, 1971.

PRESIDENT

Ben Florey

As a student who is not affiliated with any social organization, I will work to help fulfill the wants and needs of Tech students as a whole. Among these wants and needs are more liberalized dorm rules, an expanded and more efficient bus system, improved and less expensive athletic seating, a full service student co-op system and legal aid program, a larger edition of the UD containing more national news, and so on.

Tech is years behind in each of these areas and present student government has been shortsighted. Many feel it is not true that our student government is not satisfactorily representing the whole student body. However, the fault lies not in the student government, but in the student body of which only 25 per cent have turned out in the past to vote in student elections. With this small percentage of voters it is easy to see how Tech's social organizations, which are only about 15 per cent of the student body, have been successful in maintaining control of our student government. It is imperative that our student government should become an open and competitive system, but this can be done by your vote. In this election there are well qualified "independents" running for each position.

I am majoring in Government and am a recipient of individual honors from the All-University Recognition Service. I am non-partisan and will work to bring the quality of student government up to the expectations of all.

Polly Kinnibrugh

The upcoming year is a crucial one for student government at Texas Tech. It will require strong capable leadership for program implementation, financial improvement. But, in my opinion, the most important issue is the question, "can the Student Association really respect from the students of this university?" I believe the answer is yes, and for this reason I am seeking the office of president. In order to achieve that goal.

It is time for all elected representatives, those of the SA, and the Student Senate to stop referring to the apathetic students, and start examining the apathy within themselves, and their own lack of commitment to the students they represent. The question is no longer why don't the students come to their student leaders, but why, if your leaders really care themselves as students, is it so difficult for them to approach you, seek advice, and knowledge of your interests and needs?

My primary objective as president would be to reestablish credibility and respect by employing every means to make your government responsible and accountable to you. In addition, the SA would return to its basic purpose of providing services and benefits to the students, eliminating wasted time and money on political maneuvering and personal interests. I ask for your support and your vote.

Rick Merritt

The students of Texas Tech need adequate representation in the state's capital. If elected, I intend to lobby extensively in Austin for programs and issues pertinent to students at Tech and other universities. I will lobby intently for the abolishment of laws that regulate and restrict the free sale and use of marijuana. I will also lobby for free and unrestricted abortions for women who so desire one.

On those issues, abortion and marijuana, I believe strongly that students can affect the tide of legislation, if we only become active. I pledge and commit myself to be more than active — I pledge consideration.

Greg Wimmer

Over the past three and one half years, I feel I have been associated with many different aspects of the campus community. Drawing from this experience, I feel I can relate to all segments of the University and the problems within these segments.

Platform: Student on the Board of

2ND VICE PRESIDENT

Bob Craig

The External Vice President is a new office for new programs. It covers the implementation of programs, public relations and vice chairmanship of the President's Cabinet. I feel that I am qualified to carry out both the expressed and the implied duties of the office of External Vice President.

Those expressed obligations which I will be able to most effectively perform include: Implementation and functioning of Student Association programs; Legal Aid Program, book exchange, Free University, Grievance Committee, dorm libraries, Apartment Association Guide, College Allowance Program, voter registration, Better Business Bureau, newsletter to all organizations, gas co-op, Student Association bulletin board in all dorms; Supervision of Business Manager and Secretary; Vice Chairman of the Executive Cabinet.

I believe the following qualifications will enable me to carry out the implied duties of External Vice President: Student Senate — Student Life Committee; Board of Directors — University Services, Inc.; College Allowance Program — Promotional Director; Union Board; Lubbock Community Planning Council; Men's Residence Council.

Sharon Warford

(1) Total reform of the Student Association through more responsible senators

(2) Research to find more projects, such as the book exchange and the Free University, which will be of help to the student.

(3) Continued efforts for the establishment of a student legal aid service.

(4) Student representation on the Board of Regents.

(5) Strengthening of the academic recruiting program.

(6) Assist the College Councils in the evaluations of teachers and course curricula.

The current inefficiency within the Student Association is the fault of those students who did not vote in last year's election. If you are interested in your student government please take the time and make the effort to vote in this election.

Denise Westbrook

(1) Set up a systematic way of implementing Student Association programs such as a Free University and book exchange and legal program.

(2) Execute new programs such as computerized athletic seating, year-round registration.

(3) Represent the students in external affairs.

(4) Act as a liaison between the Administration and the Student Association.

(5) Serve as vice chairman of the cabinet, coordinating all existing offices.

into working positions.

(6) Qualifications: Officer Freshman Council, cabinet member of Student Association, A&S Senator, chairman Dad's Day, chairman Leadership Retreat, two years.

BUSINESS MANAGER

Joe Cotten

With the growing administrative voice threatening to tell the Student Association how student money should be spent, I feel that a person already experienced in the allocation of Student Association money is needed to fill the office of Business Manager.

As the chief financial officer of the Student Association, I feel that the Business Manager should serve as a watchdog over the expenditures of student money, always keeping the students aware of where and for what their money is being spent. It should be his duty to keep an up to date and accurate set of financial records that would be open to the student body at all times.

As Business Manager, I would also work closely with the Vice President for External Affairs on such programs as CAP and the proposed cooperatives and any other programs which would involve student money.

Qualifications: Student Senate, member of the Allocations Committee; Freshman Council, freshman representative to the Allocations Committee; Westmouth Hall Council; Banking & Finance major.

Kurt Haney

The obligations of the Business Manager are twofold. First, the Business Manager is to carry out all financial duties of the Student Association. Secondly, the Business Manager represents the students of Texas Tech as an Executive Officer.

My background in business as a finance major qualifies me to handle all the financial matters of the Student Association. I feel that I can work effectively with the External Vice President to implement the following programs for the students of Tech: (1) Incorporation of the SA; (2) Expansion of the College Allowance Program; (3) Continuation of book exchange; (4) Promotion of communication with Tech students and organizations; (5) Legal aid program; (6) Student co-op; (7) Voter registration; (8) Teacher evaluation; (9) Improvement of Speaker Series and Free University; (10) Expansion of Intramural facilities.

William Ramirez

I run for Business Manager to give the students of this university a choice between the ineffectiveness of the Senate in the past and its potential for success in the future. I believe the Senate needs to better reflect the students it represents, and I think I am capable of doing it.

My qualifications include an accounting major with an overall G.P.A. of 3.65. I am a member of Men's Residence Council and the Ideas and Issues Committee at the University Center. I have been active in voter registration and the movement for liquor-by-the-drink.

I believe a vote for me will be a vote for effective management of the Senate's business.

Seaplane hijacked to Cuba

MIAMI (AP)—Two men with shotguns commandeered a twin-engine seaplane Tuesday, wounded the pilot and a ground crewman and — after a shootout with police — forced the co-pilot to fly them to Havana.

Five passengers were taken along for the ride and one fled to safety when the shooting started, said police officer C. L. Reynolds.

The Federal Aviation Administration said the plane landed in Havana at 11:15 a.m. EST, approximately two hours after the two men jumped aboard the plane as it was preparing to leave an island base in Miami on a scheduled flight to Bimini in the Bahamas.

Complete Arizona set today

Tech drops two to 'Cats

By LES MOORHEAD
Ass't Sports Editor

The Red Raider baseball team dropped both games of Tuesday's doubleheader to the Arizona Wildcats by scores of 5-4 and 7-3, giving Arizona a two-game lead in the three-day series that goes into today's final twinbill.

Tech is now 6-4 on the young season. The Raiders test the Wildcats today at 1 p.m. in the first encounter and at 3 p.m. to culminate the set at Tucson.

Coach Kal Segrist will send pitchers Steve Brock (1-0) and Jack Pierce (2-0) in the doubleheader today.

In Tuesday's opening game, Raider righthander Randy Prince suffered the loss, going one inning in relief of Carry Knight in an extended 8-inning affair. Ace lefty Ruben Garcia lost his first game of the year in the nightcap.

The game was tied 4-4 after seven frames in the first contest when Prince came in relief of Knight. Prince got the first two men he faced but then walked the third man, gave up a single and walked the next batter to load the bases.

A ground ball was hit to Raider first sacker Doug Ault, who was late in getting the relay to home plate and the winning run came across.

Garcia worked the entire seven innings of the second game. Garcia had held Arizona for four frames before a storm hit. Garcia hit two batters to begin the fifth and then walked another batter to load the bags.

Wildcat right fielder Benjie

Wolf then stroked a grand slam off Garcia to break the 3-3 deadlock, giving Arizona its third straight triumph over Tech.

Tech outthit Arizona in the second game, 9-7. Garcia gave up seven earned runs while walking two and fanning five batters.

Knight worked seven innings, giving up five hits, two earned runs, walking three and striking out six.

Ault, Barry Hoffpauir and Cecil Norris continue smacking the ball for the Raiders. Ault went six-for-seven Tuesday, including four runs-batted-in and one homer in the second game.

Ault's seasonal average is .543 going into today's two-game set. He has four homers and 20 RBI's.

Hoffpauir, hitting .406, went three-for-eight Tuesday with one RBI. Hoffpauir made a brilliant catch of a hard liner up the middle, saving a score in the sixth inning of the first game.

Norris went three-for-seven in the doubleheader, including a double. Norris is hitting .393 on the season.

In the first game, regular catcher Dave Hazzard was rested for freshman John Wilkes. Wilkes, in his initial starting assignment scored Tech's first run after he doubled in the second frame.

Arizona is using seven regulars from its varsity squad for each contest with the Raiders, contrary to a belief that the Raiders were playing the Wildcats junior varsity.

Stubborn SMU falls in overtime

Longhorns take league basketball championship

WACO, Texas. (AP)—Scooter Lenox hit two pressure free throws with 39 seconds left to give Texas a 91-89 overtime Southwest Conference playoff victory Tuesday night over Southern Methodist and send the Longhorns into the first round of the NCAA tournament at Las Cruces, N.M.

The clutch free throw by Lenox gave Texas a 91-87 lead but the Mustangs Rick Billik retaliated with a field goal to leave the Longhorns only two points ahead. The Mustangs had a chance to tie the game in the last second of play but Larry Delzell missed a 25-foot jump shot.

The Mustangs, who shared the SWC title with the Longhorns over the regular season, blew a chance to win the game in regulation play when guard Zach Thiel missed a free throw with 13 seconds left. The game ended tied 82 all.

Both teams played in the overtime without their star players as Texas' Larry Robinson, who scored 30 points, and SMU's Ruben Triplett, who scored 20 points, set out the extra five minutes of play because they had fouled out earlier.

Texas, which will carry a 18-7 overall record into the Saturday game against the University of Houston, blew a 13-point lead in the second half as the Mustangs rallied behind Triplett and Thiel.

A basket by Thiel tied the game 59 all and the lead saw-sawed back and forth with Triplett making a crucial layup with 30 seconds to play to tie the game at 82 all.

Thiel, a sophomore, finished the night with 17 points.

Texas jumped to a quick 89-85 lead in the overtime on baskets by Lynn Groscurth and Lynn Hawden.

Baskets by David Miller and Jack Trout brought the Mustangs back within two points before Lenox hit his two crucial free throws as the near capacity crowd in Heart O' Texas Coliseum screamed.

Despite the loss, SMU still had the consolation of a SWC championship.

Texas built up a 48-39 halftime lead and appeared about to blow the Mustangs out of the game before forward Clayton Korver got hot. Korver made eight of his 12 points in the Mustang come-from-behind surge before he, too, fouled out.

The Longhorns also lost B. G. Brosterhous to fouls during regulation play.

Southern Methodist jumped to a 2-0 lead on a basket by Triplett and were never ahead of the Longhorns the rest of the game.

Texas' zone defense gave the Mustangs trouble during the early going but the Longhorns were guilty of 15 floor errors to only seven for the Mustangs.

A crowd of 9,200 fans saw Texas shoot 47.2 per cent from the field while the Mustangs shot 44.3 per cent.

Texas outrebounded the shorter Mustangs only 44-43.

SMU was much sharper at the free throw line hitting 19 of 25 attempts while Texas could manage a poor 23 of 38 from the charity stripe.

Robinson led all rebounders with 12 while Triplett had 11 for SMU.

Houston starts spring training

COCOA, Fla. (AP)—Lee May slammed a two-run homer while John Edwards and Larry Howard had perfect 3-for-3 performances at the plate as the Houston Astros played their first intrasquad game of spring training Tuesday.

The team led by Edwards beat the team led by Jack Hiatt,

May cracked his homer off Don Wilson in the first inning after a single by Cesar Cedeno and a throwing error accounted for the first run.

In the end, it was Edwards' line single to center in the sixth and final inning that broke up the ball game. He delivered the game-winning hit for Scipio Spinks.

Larry Dierker pitched a full inning—each pitcher worked both halves of the inning—and yielded one hit in his stint. Tom Griffin was the only other pitcher to get through without a run marked up against him.
