McDowell Well No. 12 Good Producer

On Oct. 18.—Big Lake No. 12 hit pay early afternoon, slightly below 2000, and at 2 o'clock was flowing into the sand and the hole.

Deeper was expected to ob- serve of at least 2,000 bar- rels. No. 12 is the eleventh County producer and the best by the Big Lake Com- pany on section 36, block 1, Ordway Railroad. It is about 1/2 mile between Texon group and Big Lake No. 10. —The wells furthest from the proven territory.

Mr. Vane accompanied Mr. Ray afternoon to Reagan where the California Com- pany is completing a rig for a well on section 11, block 8. Just when will take place will depend on the transportation.

Company Buys Interest

Oct. 27.—The Hickok Company of Toledo, Ohio, bought a half interest in the West Texas Refining and Oil Company from the An- chorage Oil Corporation of City which owned the en- tire of the West Texas Com- pany.

Some of the Texas Com- pany changed to the An- chorage and the capital stock to $400,000. L. H. Pritchard, Toledo is president, and J. M. Anderson of Okla- homa secretary-treasurer.

County Oil News

expect to spud in within the next two weeks. The location is on a bench of a dome which seems to swell up out of the surrounding terrain, especially on the south.

The writer was a visitor to Big Lake last week and noted the feverish activity that is going on there. Everybody seems to be in a great hurry to go somewhere. A pipe line is almost in sight for this field.

The Marland company last week purchased the north half of section No. 14, block 11, University lands for $60 per acre. This land lies four miles west of the town of Big Lake, and will be used as a tank farm and a depot of supplies. The town of Kemper was laid out on this land, but no further development has ever been made.

While in the vicinity of Big Lake last week, we had the pleasure of being a guest at a barbecue given to celebrate the spudding in of Coats well No. 1, of the University Oil Co. on section No. 17, block 10, University lands in Reagan County. This well is in Mrs. Ollie Japson's pasture about a mile northeast of the ranch house and about seven miles north of Big Lake. A part of the Coats family were among the celebrants. If all of the members of this splendid family had attended, there would have been a large crowd. This well will be known as Coats No. 1. — Sterling City News-Record.

Lions Club Meeting

W. W. Inkman presided at the weekly luncheon of the Lions Club at the T. & P. Dining Hall Wednesday and a snappy and interesting meeting, and a fine feed were enjoyed.

Judge James T. Brooks was one of the speakers at this meeting and made an especially fine talk on Home Town Cooperation.

W. W. Rix, a Lion recently captured in the jungles and tamed, also made a splendid talk on what we have been trying to do and what we might do to forward the interests of Big Spring.

Quite a bit of interest among the members was occasioned when the proprietor of the dining hall held up an innocent little memorandum book with the announcement that a member of the Lions Club had lost it at the meeting last week. The book was given to the secretary who announced that no name was inscribed thereon, but there seemed to be writing which indicated that it was a diary. The chairman thereupon requested the secretary to read a few of the notations and possibly the owner might recognize his property.

Wolf Proofing 27-section Ranch

A. D. Neal is going to convert his 17,280 acre ranch into a sheep ranch for the present and is doing the thing right. He has enclosed 18 sections of his ranch with a wolf-proof wire fence and has material on the ground to enclose the remaining 9 sections. He will not have to worry with sheep herders when his entire pasture is protected against wolves. He has already placed 3500 sheep on his ranch and expects to add about 1500 more. So far the wolves have only caught one lamb.

That such a fence as Mr. Neal is building is needed by a man who intends engaging in the sheep business is shown by the number of wolves being captured on the Neal ranch by Joe Hill, one of the best trappers in the United States. During the past month Mr. Hill has caught twenty-five coyotes in that vicinity.

Tar Party to Serve Terms

Condemning in strong terms the conduct of the mob which last July tarred and feathered Dorothy Grandson at Frederick Maryland, the Chief Judge in Circuit Court sentenced one woman and eleven men. The woman was sentenced to serve nine months in the county jail. Two men were sentenced to serve two years in the house of correction. Nine others were sentenced to serve one year.

LITTLE THEATRE MOVEMENT

First of Series of Home Talent Entertainments Proves Big Success; Other Plays Planned

Success of The Little Theatre Assured

The first entertainment given under the auspices of the Little Theatre movement was a rousing success if you ask us. This entertainment was given at the auditorium of the High School building on Thursday night of last week and the packed house thoroughly enjoyed every number on the program.

The two clever, little one-act plays, the fine singing and readings made up an entertainment that was indeed pleasing. If this is a sample of the fine, wholesome entertainments the Little Theatre plans for our folks we can look forward with pleasure to each succeeding entertainment and the movement is assured of the loyal cooperation and patronage of our folks. Entertainments such as the one given last week are far superior to the ones we are accustomed to secure from traveling entertainers—they are clean and more enjoyable from every standpoint.

There is a big field for the Little Theatre in our city—not only as a means of furnishing good wholesome entertainment for our citizenship but also the excellent training afforded the young people taking part.

So successful was this entertainment from a financial standpoint that the promoters were able to give Central School fifty dollars. The next entertainment will be given Nov. 25th and the proceeds will be donated to the Basketball uniform fund of the High School.

The Little Theatre is a splendid institution for any community so give it your unstinted support and cooperation. Plan to attend every entertainment they present.

The Little Theatre

Already plans are afoot for two more plays to be given just before Thanksgiving. We are extremely grateful for the kind reception given our first venture, and assure our friends we expect to improve from month to month. To begin with, we were content with one act plays, but we shall attempt two-act dramas next also, we hope, a very clever monologue.

We have heard so many words of praise and commendation for last Thursday's entertainment, we feel greatly encouraged. Also, we appreciate the fine work done by Central pupils in the sale of tickets, and the hearty cooperation of the teachers.

Over fifty dollars was the share going to Central ward school, a neat, tidy sum that can be used to advantage by the school force in charge.

The next performance goes to the Athletic department, High School, to be applied on purchase of uniforms for the basketball team. A hundred dollars could well be spent for our eager and enthusiastic young players. They deserve our best support. Let us help them all we can.

The only criticism that has reached our ears has been the universal complaint "not able to hear for the noise." We regret very much that there was so much disturbance in the balcony, and we assure the public it will not occur again. The director has so often been present when "pin drop" order was the usual kind, that it did not occur to her to station officers of peace thru the building. Another time we shall be prepared.

The Little Theatre and also the participants in the plays wish to thank the public most heartily for the splendid attendance and kindly attention given our first appearance. Come back again and we shall attempt to give even better value. November 25th will be our next date.

To Improve State Parks

D. E. Colp, chairman of the State Park Board, Vance Prather of the Kentucky Park Board and Homer L. Fry, landscape architect of the Glacier to Gulf Highway, are now inspecting the 14 park sites in the 19 counties on the Glacier to Gulf Highway between Brownsville and Texline.

Plans for beautifying these parks are now being prepared and the work of putting the parks in first class shape will be started before long. Governor Neff has made arrangements to use convict labor on this work; honor men at the prison farms to be used.

Yuell Robb returned Wednesday from Dallas where he had been to purchase lighting fixtures for the new Theatre in this city.

Be Sure To Vote

Only that over confidence on the part of Mrs. Miriam Ferguson's supporters, which may deter them from attending the polls, can result in her being defeated for the governorship of Texas. That the vote is going to fall far short of the primary totals is conceded. In the red hot contest between Earl B. Mayfield and George B. Paddy, a democrat, making the race on the Republican ticket, a total of 410,943 votes was cast in November, 1922. This is 90,000 votes less than the vote Mrs. Ferguson received in the August primary. In 1922 W. H. Atwell the Republican nominee received 73,997 votes against 332,146 for Pat Neff, the Democratic nominee. George B. Paddy, candidate for the U. S. Senate received 131,992 votes or 58,496 more than the Republican governor received. Earl B. Mayfield received 278,951 votes.

Y. M. C. A. Membership Campaign

The big membership drive for the Y. M. C. A. was started this week. Jake Bishop is general chairman of the membership committee and he has a good bunch assisting him in rounding up renewals and new members. Jake and his helpers are busy folks, just as you and the other fellow, and it will be impossible for them to see everyone who should belong to the Y. M. C. A. You are therefore requested to call at the "Y" and pay a yearly membership.

You can readily understand that the Y. M. C. A. is one of our most worthy institutions, deserving the wholehearted support and cooperation of our citizenship. If we did not have such an institution in our city we would gladly "dig up" a large sum to get a Y. Now that we have it let us give it the deserved and needed support—your yearly membership. Do it today.

A Race With the Law

W. R. Purser and Bob Austin were the innocent causes of quite a bit of excitement last Saturday night. They left Big Spring Saturday night for a hunting trip in Southwest Texas, and were driving Mr. Austin's gray roadster. Just that day officers down the line had been requested to be on the lookout for a gray roadster that had been stolen; and when they saw Mr. Austin's car headed toward the border they took in after it. Messrs. Austin and Purser thinking the car behind wanted an opportunity to give them an exhibition of the motorist's delight—"Excuse My Dust"—stepped on the gas themselves and a merry race was on. The officers did not overtake the supposed-to-be auto thieves until they reached Big Lake. Then the officers were quite crestfallen to learn they had been on a wild goose chase.

In Interest of Bankhead Highway.

J. A. Rountree of Birmingham, Ala., director general of the United States Good Roads Association and secretary of the Bankhead Highway Association, is working in the interest of a campaign to have the Federal Government take over the Bankhead Highway as a commercial and military road. The Bankhead is a transcontinental thoroughfare extending from Washington, D. C. to San Diego, Calif., and of course it passes thru this section of West Texas.

Mr. Rountree announces that the Federal Good Roads Association is seeking to have Congress increase the federal road aid appropriation from $75,000,000 to $300,000,000 annually.

Shenandoah Passes Over City

The Shenandoah, Uncle Sam's big dirigible, passed over Big Spring at 6:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon of last week. It was just about at dusk when it reached here and was traveling at a high altitude.

The lights on the ship seemed to have been turned on just about the time the Shenandoah arrived over our city.

The coming of the dirigible had been given wide publicity and most everyone was out sky-gazing. The ship was sighted thirty minutes before it reached here.

The Shenandoah was here on Thursday on its first trip — when bound for the Pacific Coast.

BOYS CONFERENCE WAS BIG SUCCESS

Delegates From Many Points Attended Older Boys Conference Here Friday, Saturday, Sunday

One of the greatest meetings ever held in Big Spring and one that will be instrumental in bringing about great good in our community was the West Texas district meeting of the Older Boys Conference held in this city Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 24, 25 and 26th.

The older boys conference opened Friday morning, the morning hours were given over to registering the delegates from other places as well as our home boys and men. There were one hundred and twenty registered delegates in attendance.

The opening speech of the conference was made by Harry Rimmer of Los Angeles, Calif., at the High school building. His subject was "Fire on the Inside." The student body was thoroughly aroused and many of the boys registered after this masterful speech. Following this all of the delegates gathered at the First Baptist Church which had been very kindly offered for the conference. The meeting was presided over by Monroe Johnson, president of the Hi-Y Club of Big Spring high school. Again Mr. Rimmer brought a wonderful message after which several of our boys decided for the christian life.

The first thing in the evening hour was a splendid speech by P. W. Horn, president of West Texas Technological College, Lubbock, urging the church to make more of an effort to enlist men in the Christian life. Not making it seem an easy thing to do but make it a work that challenges all that there is in a man. He very favorably compared it to the challenge there is in a football game.

Following Dr. Horn, Dr. Rimmer spoke again on the unconquered kingdoms of the world. Making it very plain that the future holds even more wonderful achievements in science and invention than the past. After the evening meeting everyone was invited to the K. P. Hall where the Girl's Reserve club of the high school gave an entertainment for the conference. Songs, games, and stunts in which all took part helped to make it an evening of real pleasure. One of the most enjoyable features of the evening was the refreshments served by the girls under the leadership of Mrs. McNew, Miss Theama Fox and Mrs. Smith, sponsors of the club.

The devotional period of the conference was opened Saturday by Jim Boyer of Cisco, athletic coach and physical director of the high school. Following the devotional period a discussion of ways in which boys can serve in the home, school, church and community was led by Mr. J. E. Lewis of Dallas. After the discussion Dr. Rimmer again spoke to the boys. In the afternoon the boys enjoyed an auto drive and the football game between Tahoka and Big Spring. In the evening all the delegates enjoyed the barbecue given by the business men of the city. After which Harry Rimmer again spoke to the men and boys on the first kick of Mrs. O'Leary's cow. After the meeting at the park Dr. Rimmer again spoke to a group of men on the street Sunday morning Dr. Rimmer preached at the Baptist Church. In the afternoon he spoke to men and boys only, taking for his subject "The Unbaptized Arm." In the evening he spoke to a crowded house leaving on No. 6 for Fort Worth.

The conference committee here at home wish to thank every one who made it possible for us to have this splendid conference brought here.

B. S. Steers Defeats Tahoka Hi

A large crowd was at the baseball park here last Saturday afternoon to witness the football game in which the Big Spring and Tahoka High school teams were the contestants.

Early in the contest it was evident that the Steers were too strong for Tahoka; and it was not a difficult task to keep the Tahoka team from scoring while the Big Spring team was piling up a sizable score.

Coach Joe Ward used three teams during the game, the third string players making a touchdown against Tahoka. Ward has the football boys working together like old timers now and they will give a good account of themselves against any team in West Texas.

T. W. Bracon left Thursday morning for a trip to points in South Texas.

America, Coming to Big Spring

"America," one of the greatest motion pictures ever filmed will be presented at the R. and R. Lyric, Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 17-18.

The romance of one hundred and ten million people—that is the story of "America," which many critics now declare is greater than Mr. Griffith's earlier picture, "The Birth of a Nation."

Several years ago Mr. Griffith began planning an elaborate and accurate film story of the American Revolution; but at that time, so-called costume plays were not popular. His research staff had harvested many unusual and whimsical facts long shadowed as trifles, but vividly revealing the life of that day.

In May, 1923, the Daughters of the American Revolution addressed a letter to the motion picture industry, inquiring why a film of the Revolutionary War had not been undertaken, and suggesting it should not be delayed.

Mr. Will Hays received the letter and asked Mr. Griffith to undertake the work.

Exhibit Shows in Sunday News

A photographic reproduction of the Howard County agricultural exhibit, which represented our county at the Dallas Fair this year, appeared in the October 26th Sunday issue of the Dallas News. Our county made a splendid showing in this respect. According to the judges who awarded our exhibit 135 points out of a possible 150 for attractiveness and neatness of arrangement, this exhibit would have been away up the line had we completely filled out the score card. We must plan our exhibit at planting time next year and arrange to have products grown especially for this purpose if we want to be in the race for a prize.

More Than 10,000 Bales of Cotton

More than 10,000 bales of cotton have been ginned in Howard County up to Thursday night of this week. Over 8,000 bales had been received in Big Spring up to Thursday evening or about 1428 bales more than one week ago.

Something over 2000 bales have been received at Coahoma, we were unable to learn the exact amount.

The weather continues to be especially favorable for picking cotton and our folks are staying on the job. A total production of 20,000 bales of cotton for our county is now the estimate.

New Theatre May Open Nov. 7th.

If present plans materialize the new R. and R. Theatre, 206 Main street, will be formally opened Nov. 7th. The work of remodeling the building is far advanced, and painters and plasterers are now on the job.

The new opera chairs, motion picture machines, lighting fixtures are either here or will be in time to open on the date named.

Election Returns Next Tuesday

Bulletins covering the Presidential and gubernatorial races in Tuesday, Nov. 4th, election will be received in Big Spring next Tuesday night. The bulletin board will be arranged in front of the Chocolate Shoppe on Main street.

As interest in both National and State elections are at a keen pitch these bulletins will prove of absorbing interest.

Folks Appreciate Good Treatment.

One of the Herald's subscribers dropped in Wednesday and said, "You fellows have been good to me; I appreciate it, and want to return the favor. You have carried my subscription the past two years without kicking, complaining or dunning me, so I want to pay up back subscription and two years in advance." This goes to show that one good turn deserves another.

District Court Convenes Monday

District Judge W. P. Leslie will be here Monday, Nov. 3rd to impanel a jury commission. On account of it being necessary to hear a civil suit in Sweetwater next week, Judge Leslie has set the case of the State of Texas vs Jim Yell, on a charge of rape, for Monday, November 10th.

Stamford Defeats Anson

Stamford high school football team defeated Anson Tuesday afternoon at Anson by a 9 to 6 score in a bitterly contested game.

Stamford's scores came in the first quarter on a touchdown and a drop kick. Anson scored a touchdown in the same quarter.

Ever have a "low-down" pain in the back?

In the "small," right over the hips? That's the home of backache. If it's caused by weak kidneys, Use Doan's Pills.

Big Spring people testify to their worth. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. A. Bilger, Big Spring, says: "I had heavy, bearing-down pains in my back and was all tired out. I was sore and lame all through my kidney. I had headaches and was nervous and usually felt languid. A friend recommended Doan's Pills, so I started using them and I got the trouble in time. Doan's certainly brought me fine relief. Since then, I have used them once in a while to keep my kidneys in good condition."

It is related of a certain king, that, when embarked on a voyage, attended by some of his courtiers, and carrying with him some of his treasures, a storm arose, which made it necessary to lighten the ship; whereupon he commanded his courtiers to be thrown overboard, but saved his money. How is it with parents who are embarked with fortune and family on this voyage of life; when they need a better schoolhouse to save their children from ill health, or a better teacher to rescue them from immorality and ignorance, or even a slate or a shilling's worth of paper to save them from idleness; have we any parents amongst us, or have we not, who, under such circumstances, will fling the child overboard and save shilling?—Horace Mann.

Butte must be a "beaut." He is criticizing "Ma" Ferguson because she is going to secure some negro votes; the vote that the Republican party has faithfully nursed and catered to, so, these many years. We suppose he would try to have Texans believe that a Republican candidate is too high minded to accept a negro vote. He would also have us forget that his great Republican party has placed a negro as collector of customs at New Orleans. Maybe Butte, if elected, may be able to induce the Republican chief to appoint a few negro office holders in Democratic Texas to remind us of the "carpet bagger days."

the idea that this sta-
management of the so-

gricultural interests of this section is a show place, but quite the contrary is true. Many very helpful ideas go forth to farmers of this section in the solution of their problems, encountered in this new land for their ventures.

Not until within very recent years has the influx of farmers migrated to this section and the art of agriculture begun on a great scale. With this coming of farmers, there was begun the breaking up of the great ranching interests, and thousands of plows began turning acreage where for half a century had roamed thousands of cattle. Right here for the first time showed the foresight of the Department of Agriculture, in the early establishment of the experiment station. Data had been collected, in years gone by, by men in charge of this outpost station, regarding crops most suitable to the soil, average annual rainfall, and many other things which proved invaluable to incoming farmers. This information was theirs for the asking, saving them money and endless disappointment. Many of the pioneer farmers came here to make their homes, and take up the pursuit of farming, with their finances at a very low ebb.

Experiments at the station have established beyond a shadow of a doubt just what crops are adapted to this particular section of West Texas, a belt of exceedingly fertile country, lying immediately below the caprock. Only one step from this section and one goes to a much higher altitude, and the western plains of Texas proper. The production of corn, as before mentioned, is almost impossible, while the growing of small grain such as oats, wheat, rye, and barley, are rather uncertain, taken over a period of years. Crops, though, that have proved successful are the different types of grain sorghum and cotton.

At present the farm is under the capable management of F. E. Keating, who has been in charge for the past three years. Along with the manager in charge, several men, all experts in agricultural pursuits of the West, are making very extensive experiments with new products that might be profitable producers in this section. Some twenty separate varieties of grain sorghum are being grown in profusion at the station. Among those most profitable are milo maize, kafir corn, dorso. The dwarf milo maize, states the manager, is most formidable as a grain producer. The dorso only this year has been introduced to a section of Central East Texas, of Johnson, Hill, and adjoining counties, where the farmers highly prize the new grain as a supplement for corn, which in recent years has not been so certain as in former years. This grain produces even more grain than the maize in the black land belt, but some growers state that the grain possesses a bitter taste when grown during unfavorable seasons. This new grain adaptation may prove highly successful in the black land belt, while the milo maize may hold the center of the stage in the West.

Among other crops produced on the farm for experimental reasons are the great number of varieties of cotton, there being some twenty varieties in the lineup. Another interesting crop is a vine leguminous growth being experimented with, the aim being to discover a green-fertilizer cover crop. This plant, known as guar, a late adaption, seems destined to fill the purpose intended. Much of the station acreage being of a sandy nature, peanuts, of many varieties, are being successfully grown. In fact, the entire 130 acres of the farm are covered with the wide range of crops adapted to this section in process of improvement, and experiments are being made with new crops.

Last spring a new line, the feeding of livestock, was introduced on the experiment farm, when a bunch of forty-five baby beeves was fed for one hundred and eighty days, and fattened for the markets of Fort Worth. This was an experiment engaged in between Mr. Keating and ranchers of this section, to determine whether or not cattle could be successfully fattened in this section at a profit, when fed on home-grown feed. The forty-five calves were fattened on products grown solely on the experiment farm. Feed used in the fattening process were cotton seed and by-products, along with different grain sorghums, and home-grown hay. Care was taken that a balanced ration be apportioned to the calves. The calves to be fed were blooded Herefords supplied by ranchers of this section, selected from their herds. The calves were secured from the ranch of T. C. Tom of Martin County. A trial made at this undertaking was so successful last spring that a similar pen will be fed next season. No one undertaking has met with keener interest on the part of ranch owners, in this section for years, than this feeding demonstration. Ranchers believe that an entirely new industry, that of feeding cattle for the beef markets of Texas, has been discovered, or rather developed, in this section. With ranches being broken up constantly, thus greatly lessening grazing possibilities for the herds, and with an abundance of grain sorghum and cotton products grown at hand in superabundance, the ranchmen are asking—why not?

One improvement that has not been introduced in the way of modern farming ideas is that of power farming, at the experiment station. Mr. Keating, representing the United States Department of Agriculture, uses six heavy draft horses for all farming operations, which seem to answer all requirements in the way of power. Power about the barn for crushing and chopping of different feeds is supplied by electric current. In fact, every article of farm machinery, animal, and plant on the farm represents so far as possible the most appropriate for this section of country, or that may be beneficial in the future, truly an experiment station, and under very capable management.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLEDGE AND HOW IT STARTED THE PLEDGE.

What is it? Do you know? There were thousands who took it who don't. But just now it is a great issue in the most remarkable gubernatorial campaign ever waged in Texas.

If you voted in the primary election either of July 26 or the second primary of Aug. 23, you took the pledge, which reads:

"I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary."

That pledge was written at the head of every ballot. If you entered the primary, asked for a ballot, and marked the ballot for your favorite candidate you legally made a promise and took a pledge to support whoever was the nominee in that primary.

You made a legal pledge, because the pledge is put there by the statutes of Texas, but, of course, there is no penalty for failure to keep that pledge.

The highest court in the state has aptly said: "No person can be compelled by law to keep his word."

But now that the pledge is being so much discussed, it is interesting to give something of its history.

Advocates of the pledge say that it is absolutely essential to the Democratic party. They base their statement on a lot of experiences of by-gone days.

When the Terrell election law was passed about 20 years ago, defining the direct primary, it made no provision for a pledge on the ballot.

At that time the wet and dry issue was the great one in Texas.

In many counties the wets would marshal themselves behind the wet candidates in the Democratic primary.

But if they failed to nominate their candidates they would flop to the Republican ticket in the November election. This resulted in many Republicans going to the legislature.

In about 1907 the election law was amended, providing that on every ballot should be written a pledge, and that when a person entered the primary he stated that he was a Democrat.

But he takes in addition a pledge that he will "support the nominees of this primary."

This serves the double purpose of keeping Republicans of Democratic councils and at the same time tying the Democrats to the party at least until after the general election.

Just now a number of leaders are advocating that Democrats ignore this pledge and vote against Mrs. Miriam Ferguson.

They say the duty to the state is higher than the duty to the party, and even higher than the pledged word of the voter. They think duty to the state demands a vote for the Republican nominee.

On the other hand, E. A. Berry and other leaders declare such doctrine "monstrous."

The primary was purely a party affair, they say. The Democratic party took the word of all who participated that they were Democrats. It took their pledge they would on Nov. 4 support whoever was the nominee, regardless of whether it pleased them or not. To go back on that word now they term an outright breach of faith.

They say it puts the voter on a par with one who signs a note and then refuses to pay because the statute of limitations has run and the law can't make him pay.

The supreme court has also spoken pretty plainly on the party pledge. It says in the case of Westerman vs. Mims, 227 SW, 180:

"In our opinion a voter can not take part in a primary or convention of a party to name party nominees without assuming an obligation on the voter's honor and conscience.

"Such obligation inheres in the very nature of his act, entirely regardless of any express pledge, and entirely regardless of any statute.

"The obligation, like the promise exacted by the statute when treated as governing future conduct, is for cooperation in good faith to secure the success of the nominee.

"There is no reasonably certain measure to bona fide cooperation in matters of this sort. The voter's conduct must be determined largely by his own peculiar sense of propriety and of right. It is for such reasons that the courts do not undertake to compel performance of the obligation."

Since the pledge was placed on the ballot it has been most generally observed in Texas. While it bears no penalty for violation, a party governing body such as a county or state committee, might read out of the party anyone who took the pledge and broke it.

The senatorial primary law goes further than the general law. It provides that one who breaks his party word shall not be allowed to participate in the next primary. — Fort Worth Press.

Jew is Miracle of All Time, Says Dr. Norris

"The Jew is the greatest miracle of all times," declared Rev. Frank Norris Monday night in his sermon at the tabernacle, Main Street and McKinney avenue.

"He is the key that unlocks Divine Revelation. If it had not been for the Jew we would have had no Bible. All of the writers both of the Old and New Testaments were Jews. All the prophets were Jews. All the Apostles were Jews.

"He is the key that unlocks human history. All history is made around the Jew. We would know nothing of ancient Egypt and ancient Babylon but for the Jew.

"The Jew is the key that unlocks the present; the one outstanding result of the war was the giving back to the Jew of Palestine. No one nation could give it back. It took the world cataclysm to break up all existing alliances and treaties.

"He is the key that unlocks the unknown future. The greatest history of the Jew is in the future. I repeat—he is the greatest miracle of all time.

"Let me emphasize the miracle of the Jews. Can the world show anything like it? They saw the proud Egyptians perish; they witnessed the ruins of the Macedonian conquests. And now they have outlived the Caesars and outlived the dark ages. They have been through all civilization, shared in all convulsions, and have kept pace with the entire progress of discovery and art. And here they stand today, as distinct as ever, occupying no country of their own, scattered through all countries, identical in their immemorial physiognomy, earth's men of destiny, before the venerableness of whose pedigree the proudest escutcheons of mankind are but as trifles of yesterday. But have they suffered severely? One conclusive groan of agony breathing through 19 centuries, and is heard in every land but our own. At the siege of Jerusalem by Titus, besides the tens of thousands led into captivity, it was as if in a single action of a great war the slain on one side should amount to 1,300,000; and when the remaining Jews having been expelled from their country, they attempted, 60 years afterward, to return a half million more were slaughtered. For centuries they were forbidden, on pain of death, even to set foot in Jerusalem. Under King John of England, 1500 were massacred at York in one day. Under Ferdinand and Isabella 800,000 by a single decree were forced out to sea in boats, and the most of them perished in the waves. They have been fined and fleeced by almost every government known to history.

"Here they are holding fast to that one tall-tale face keeping up the sacred learnings of their traditions, self-conscious in their isolation, responsible in their love of Jerusalem sublime in their singular patriotism, evermore looking and longing for their Messiah, the same intense individuality as when, lord of the soil, he plucked his olives from the trees of Judea. And, what is more, these world wanderers of the centuries, these tribes of the weary foot, have not only survived, but have now risen again as an element of power among mankind. He is the head of different nations. The Jew is among the foremost, whether in science, or literature, or government. In witchery of song unsurpassed, he enchants the world with some of the sweetest music it ever heard. Surely, he is the standing miracle of the world's current history; the bush of Moses, ever burning, yet never consumed; an ocular demonstration of how God may energize the secret springs of a people's life, yet without disturbing individual freedom or social characteristics; an unanswerable refutation of that godless philosophy would turn the Almighty out of his own universe. And for what have they thus been borne in the hands of God, all along the ages? Beyond a peradventure, if so literally have been fulfilled the prophecies which foretold their sufferings, and their preservation, equally sure are the predicted grandeur of their future."—Houston Chronicle.

THE DEMOCRATIC PLEDGE AND HOW IT STARTED

THE PLEDGE.

What is it? Do you know? There are thousands who took it who don't. But just now it is a great issue in the most remarkable gubernatorial campaign ever waged in Texas.

If you voted in the primary election either of July 26 or the second primary of Aug. 23, you took the pledge, which reads:

"I am a Democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary."

That pledge was written at the head of every ballot. If you entered the primary, asked for a ballot, and marked the ballot for your favorite candidate you legally made a promise and took a pledge to support whoever was the nominee in that primary.

You made a legal pledge, because the pledge is put there by the statutes of Texas, but, of course, there is no penalty for failure to keep that pledge.

The highest court in the state has aptly said: "No person can be compelled by law to keep his word."

But now that the pledge is being so much discussed, it is interesting to give something of its history.

Advocates of the pledge say that it is absolutely essential to the Democratic party. They base their statement on a lot of experiences of by-gone days.

When the Terrell election law was passed about 20 years ago, defining the direct primary, it made no provision for a pledge on the ballot.

At that time the wet and dry issue was the great one in Texas.

In many counties the wets would marshal themselves behind the wet candidates in the Democratic primary.

But if they failed to nominate their candidates they would flop to the Republican ticket in the November election. This resulted in many Republicans going to the legislature.

In about 1907 the election law was amended, providing that on every ballot should be written a pledge, and that when a person entered the primaries he stated that he was a Democrat.

But he takes in addition a pledge that he will "support the nominees of this primary."

This serves the double purpose of keeping Republicans of Democratic councils and at the same time tying the Democrats to the party at least until after the general election.

Just now a number of leaders are advocating that Democrats ignore this pledge and vote against Mrs. Miriam Ferguson.

They say the duty to the state is higher than the duty to the party, and even higher than the pledged word of the voter. They think duty to the state demands a vote for the Republican nominee.

On the other hand, E. A. Berry and other leaders declare such doctrine "monstrous."

The primary was purely a party affair, they say. The Democratic party took the word of all who participated that they were Democrats. It took their pledge they would on Nov. 4 support whoever was the nominee, regardless of whether it pleased them or not. To go back on that word now they term an outright breach of faith.

They say it puts the voter on a par with one who signs a note and then refuses to pay because the statute of limitations has run and the law can't make him pay.

The supreme court has also spoken pretty plainly on the party pledge. It says in the case of Westerman vs. Mims, 227 SW, 180:

"In our opinion a voter can not take part in a primary or convention of a party to name party nominees without assuming an obligation on the voter's honor and conscience.

"Such obligation inheres in the very nature of his act, entirely regardless of any express pledge, and entirely regardless of any statute.

"The obligation, like the promise exacted by the statute when treated as governing future conduct, is for cooperation in good faith to secure the success of the nominee.

"There is no reasonably certain measure to bona fide cooperation in matters of this sort. The voter's conduct must be determined largely by his own peculiar sense of propriety and of right. It is for such reasons that the courts do not undertake to compel performance of the obligation."

Since the pledge was placed on the ballot it has been most generally observed in Texas. While it bears no penalty for violation, a party governing body such as a county or state committee, might read out of the party anyone who took the pledge and broke it.

The senatorial primary law goes further than the general law. It provides that one who breaks his party word shall not be allowed to participate in the next primary. — Fort Worth Press.

Jew is Miracle of All Time, Says Dr. Norris

"The Jew is the greatest miracle of all times," declared Rev. Frank Norris Monday night in his sermon at the tabernacle, Main Street and McKinney avenue.

"He is the key that unlocks Divine Revelation. If it had not been for the Jew we would have had no Bible. All of the writers both of the Old and New Testaments were Jews. All the prophets were Jews. All the Apostles were Jews.

"He is the key that unlocks human history. All history is made around the Jew. We would know nothing of ancient Egypt and ancient Babylon but for the Jew.

"The Jew is the key that unlocks the present; the one outstanding result of the war was the giving back to the Jew of Palestine. No one nation could give it back. It took the world cataclysm to break up all existing alliances and treaties.

"He is the key that unlocks the unknown future. The greatest history of the Jew is in the future. I repeat—he is the greatest miracle of all time.

"Let me emphasize the miracle of the Jews. Can the world show anything like it? They saw the proud Egyptians perish; they witnessed the ruins of the Macedonian conquests. And now they have outlived the Caesars and outlived the dark ages. They have been through all civilization, shared in all convulsions, and have kept pace with the entire progress of discovery and art. And here they stand today, as distinct as ever, occupying no country of their own, scattered through all countries, identical in their immemorial physiognomy, earth's men of destiny, before the venerableness of whose pedigree the proudest escutcheons of mankind are but as trifles of yesterday. But have they suffered severely? One conclusive groan of agony breathing through 19 centuries, and is heard in every land but our own. At the siege of Jerusalem by Titus, besides the tens of thousands led into captivity, it was as if in a single action of a great war the slain on one side should amount to 1,300,000; and when the remaining Jews having been expelled from their country, they attempted, 60 years afterward, to return a half million more were slaughtered. For centuries they were forbidden, on pain of death, even to set foot in Jerusalem. Under King John of England, 1500 were massacred at York in one day. Under Ferdinand and Isabella 800,000 by a single decree were forced out to sea in boats, and the most of them perished in the waves. They have been fined and fleeced by almost every government known to history.

"Here they are holding fast to that one tall-tale face keeping up the sacred learnings of their traditions, self-conscious in their isolation, responsible in their love of Jerusalem sublime in their singular patriotism, evermore looking and longing for their Messiah, the same intense individuality as when, lord of the soil, he plucked his olives from the trees of Judea. And, what is more, these world wanderers of the centuries, these tribes of the weary foot, have not only survived, but have now risen again as an element of power among mankind. He is the head of different nations. The Jew is among the foremost, whether in science, or literature, or government. In witchery of song unsurpassed, he enchants the world with some of the sweetest music it ever heard. Surely, he is the standing miracle of the world's current history; the bush of Moses, ever burning, yet never consumed; an ocular demonstration of how God may energize the secret springs of a people's life, yet without disturbing individual freedom or social characteristics; an unanswerable refutation of that godless philosophy would turn the Almighty out of his own universe. And for what have they thus been borne in the hands of God, all along the ages? Beyond a peradventure, if so literally have been fulfilled the prophecies which forecast their sufferings, and their preservation, equally sure are the predicted grandeur of their future."—Houston Chronicle.

Presbyterian Auxiliary Notes

In spite of grief and heartache over the departure of Rev. and Mrs. Shepherd the activities of the Auxiliary have gone right on. The three Circles had fine meetings and are taking the usual pleasure in preparing a generous box for the orphans. The business meeting was an interesting one, the reports showing the work in a healthy condition.

Next Monday the ladies will meet at the church at 3 o'clock for the last lesson in the "Romance of Home Missions," the last three chapters being the assignment. The secretary of Literature is making plans to observe Church Paper Week, Nov. 9 to the 16, and planning for a rousing program on Nov. 17th in observance of Home Mission Week. Full particulars of these will be given later.

On last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. B. Littler the Auxiliary gave a parting shower to Mr. and Mrs. Shepherd. This affair was in the hands of the three Circle chairmen, Mrs. Littler, Mrs. Barrick and Mrs. Tamsitt, and was thoroughly enjoyed by the goodly number present.

On last Thursday the second annual conference of the Auxiliary of Colorado, Coshoma, Midland and Big Spring was held at Midland. In spite of a very threatening morning, about seventeen of our women started out and were repaid by spending a most pleasant and profitable day, with our Mrs. Barnett presiding over the conference. The Auxiliary is deeply appreciative of the kindness of the men who acted as chauffeurs, Judge Littler, Mr. Louis Hutto, Mr. Willard Road, and Rev. W. L. Shepherd.

All members and friends are urged to be present.

Mrs. F. F. Gary is District chairman of the Parks and Playgrounds committee. We all rejoice that Mrs. Gary can report for Big Spring the maintenance of a City Park; and also the securing of a State Park. If the other towns in the Sixth District T. F. W. C. do as well, Mrs. Gary may win the loving cup offered to that district which creates the most interest and secures the greatest results in the Parks and playgrounds movement.

It's Easy To Have Beautiful Floors Now

Your floors may look badly now. Maybe they are scarred, scuffed and gray in appearance. But they aren't hopeless. A can of Vernicol Stain and a few minutes of your time will make them smile and glisten as they did years ago when they were new.
You'll be amazed at the results you can get with Vernicol. You see it's a combination varnish and stain, so it makes a lasting, water-proof surface. It applies easily and dries hard to a beautiful, richly colored finish. It's intended for floors and old furniture and it comes in a variety of attractive colors.

Maybe your floors just need a coat of Vernicol. If they do we can supply you with Neptunite Floor Varnish—a varnish made for floors. Maybe a kitchen chair needs a coat of enamel. If it does we can furnish you with a small can of Linduro enamel. In fact, we have a Lowe Brothers Product specially made for whatever painting you have to do.

H. T. Mount Died Last Week

Harry Townsend Mount, born June 6, 1870 in Phillipsburg, N. J., died October 23, 1924, Pecos, Texas. Mr. Mount had been in failing health for the past several months and Monday underwent an operation for appendicitis and Wednesday a second operation was performed for perforated bowels. The end came Thursday morning at six o'clock.

Mr. Mount came to Big Spring many years ago and was there married to Miss Agnes Kelley and to this union were born eight children, as follows: Dennis, a twin brother of Dan passed away in early childhood. Robert is also deceased. Those surviving are two sons, Dan and Clarence and four daughters, Misses Mary, Emma, Lillian and Dorothy. The wife passed away in December, 1913. In early boyhood Mr. Mount was converted and became a member of the Presbyterian Church. He and his family moved from Big Spring to Pecos eleven or twelve years ago and have resided here since where Mr. Mount has been employed in the machine shops of the Pecos Valley Southern R. R. He was a loving and indulgent father, a kind and accommodating neighbor and a loyal friend, and thus another good man has passed to his reward. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 4:30 at the residence, conducted by Rev. J. M. Garner, pastor of the Baptist Church, immediately after which burial was made in Fairview cemetery beside the wife.

The Enterprise joins the hosts of friends of this good man in deepest sympathy to the bereaved loved ones.—Pecos Enterprise.

Resolution of Condolence

Whereas, God the Creator of all things has deemed that these things of life are destined to His Divine Glory; and that the consummation of His act is that all men must die. This act has been caused in the sad death of our esteemed friend and brother, Max Weisen of Big Spring.

Whereas, our esteemed friend and brother, Max Weisen, departed this life Oct. 14th, 1924, and;

Whereas, Mr. Weisen being a member of our local Council Knights of Columbus No. 1482,

Therefore, be it resolved: That this Council extend to the bereaved family our heartfelt sympathy with the thought that the sorrow they are feeling should be mitigated by the thought that the will of God is supreme and that He has called their loving husband and father to his reward to enjoy the fulfillment of that eternal joy, the beatific vision of God, His Angels and His Saints and that we hope also to enjoy the life to come.

Be it finally resolved, That this resolution of condolence be spread on the record on the minutes of our Council and a copy sent to the family of Bro. Max Weisen and a copy to be published in the local paper.

1st Baptist Missionary Meeting

A very interesting and enjoyable meeting of the First Baptist Church W. M. U. was held at the home of Mrs. P. G. Stokes Monday afternoon October 27th at 3 p. m. with a large number present.

Mrs. Darr, a visiting member, from Oklahoma, was a very capable leader.

The subject for the afternoon program was "The 75 Million Emergency Campaign." Mesdames Green, Mims, Gary and Reagan made inspiring talks, each one making it clear that in order for the vast amount of work which has been started to be completed, it is imperative that every body respond to this call.

Mrs. Homer McNew gave a Dialogue Reading which was very much enjoyed.

The importance of starting the work to increase our "quarters" was stressed by the president, Mrs. P. G. Stokes. More funds are needed to complete the improvement on the basement, so it is hoped that every member of the society will find some good way to make her "quarter" grow.

Next Monday afternoon at the regular hour, a box will be packed for Buckners Orphan Home. Come and bring what you have that can be used.

Mesdames Stokes, Piner, and Henley who composed the refreshment committee served sandwiches and tea.

Knott Items

Mrs. W. A. Morris and son, and Mrs. E. L. Odom returned Monday night from Stephenville, Texas, where Mrs. Morris visited her daughter, Maysie Dee, who is in school at John Tarleton. They also attended the fair at Dallas. Maysie Dee and cousin, Charlie Brandt, accompanied them to Dallas. All reporter a glorious time.

Mrs. J. B. Sample and Miss Laura Gist accompanied as far as Abilene to visit relatives. All were glad to get back to Big Spring.

Those who enjoyed this hospitality were: Annie Belle Roberts, Irene Mullikin, Frankie Smith, Ruby Elliott, Ruth Claunch, Jessie Coffman, honoree Ida Mae Echols. The following boys were present: Truett DeVaney, Paul Madison, Leonard Aeker, Jimmie Walker, Orville Carter, "Pete" Claunch, Cecil Coffman. As there were two more boys than girls, Paul Madison "played liked" he was a girl and was as lady like as any one could wish. The young folks wish that some other mother would be as generous and invite the crowd as Mrs. Echols did.

P. L. Fletcher spent all of the two weeks of the Fair in Dallas. He declares it worth one's while from an intellectual feast of mind and esthetic feast for the eye.

Do not forget that the M. E. ladies serve dinner Tuesday, Nov. 4. They appreciate your patronage, and you will appreciate their good dinner.

The Presbyterian ladies were disappointed Thursday that the weather was not pretty as had been the previous week. Many wanted to attend the conference at Midland. Only two did get off. They are enthusiastic over the program of the day as well as the delightful plate lunch served in the home of one of the Midland ladies. The M. E. ladies of Midland were the hostesses of all out of town guests as well as the Presbyterian ladies of Midland—hostess at the noon hour. They served a three-course luncheon. Nor do we fail to mention the fact that the home where lunch was served also the church, was decorated beautifully. This was done by the Baptist ladies. The report of the conference was given Saturday at the regular bi-monthly meeting by Mrs. Guthrie. The meeting Saturday was well attended and the rapidity with which the questions were answered and topics rendered showed study on the part of its members. Next lesson in Mission Study is latter part of Chapter 3, while Act 4 is Bible reading, and beginning with question 292 finish 1st Samuel. Mrs. Frank Lovelace is leader.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Shives spent Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. Moffitt in Colorado. Mr. and Mrs. Moffitt and little folks came back with them. Little Cornelia had spent all last week with her grandmother and uncles.

The M. E. ladies have changed their day of meeting from Monday to Saturday afternoon. They meet bi-monthly.

Christine Pyle returned from where she has been nine months. She is feeling fine, looks well and is happy to be at home. She makes her home with Mrs. A. N. Hart. Messrs. Hart & Pyle, with Mrs. Hart, started after Christine Thursday but a rain storm prevented their finishing their journey. So they came back home and made the trip Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Burt Runyan, Mrs. Nando Henderson, Arthur Clyde Runyan, Lloyd Potts and Vesta Potts left here early the morning of the third Sunday, drove without a mishap into Lubbock in time for a delicious mid-day meal. A short visit with friends was all the time they could give, so reached home in the early evening. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler Graham, with George and Jack, spent last Sunday with George Wheeler near Knott. They attended S. S. however before leaving Coshoma.

Purl Monday of Lamesa and Mr. Bell were on our streets Monday. Mr. Bell is to put up the tin needed on the brick building which Mr. Collins is building.

Lee DeShazo was with friends here Sunday.

Mrs. Myers and Myrtle Myers returned home Monday after a lengthy stay with Mrs. Myers mother.

R. B. Hood was sick Sunday and Monday; was absent from his school duties Monday, but at the old stand Tuesday.

Mrs. George Thomason's baby has been sick, but is improving.

Gilbert Madison and wife have moved to the country with Gilbert's parents. Margaret Joiner is working at the Cafe where Gilbert did work.

Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Bell left the 19th for Denton, where they will make their home. They like Denton very much.

The Sr. C. E. held its regular meeting Sunday evening. There was a small attendance but every one present took part on the program which made an interesting hour. The roll call was answered with verses beginning with "C." Next Sunday with "D."

Clifford and Rubeen Reeves have their home on the farm just about completed. They plan on moving out the latter part of the week. We will miss them, especially Mrs. Clifford Reeves.

The Junior C. E. met at 2:30 Sunday afternoon; after practicing some songs, reports of committees being given and roll call, the leader took charge. Everyone on the program was present and was prepared. The Juniors decided that they were willing for the teen-age to withdraw and form an intermediate society. This was done with Norma Hart as President, Virginia Hall vice president, C. H. DeVaney secretary-treasurer, Burton Fletcher chairman of publicity committee. The other chairmen to be appointed later. The Intermediates are to work hard or the Juniors will carry away the pennant next year. The program for Sunday, Nov. 2nd, is:

this week with friends in this city.

Oct. 24 being Irene Mullikin's birthday, she gave a party in the evening. The guests were met at the front door by Frankie Smith and was given a greeting card. This card also had a number. The cards were tied with yellow and blue, respectively. The yellow was pinned on the lapel of the boys' coats while the blue-bowed card was pinned on the girls. The number corresponding called for partners for a contest. Leaving the room of greeting, each person passed to another room where Glenn Guthrie presided over a punch bowl. The bowl and stand were decorated in yellow and blue. Glenn served the guests with as much ease as any girl could have done. The person who brought gifts left them in this room, then passed into another room where Norma Hart, next in line, relieves them of the wraps and accompanies each to the dining room, where Irene Mullikin requested an autograph. This was complied with, the name of each guest is placed away in the neatest little book tied with blue and yellow ribbons. There are 80 names thus kept. A contest, making the greatest number of words from the letters found in the name of the hostess, showed faithful work and careful thinking on the part of many of the guests. The laurels fell to Olga Wolfe, with Mary Claunch a close second. The next contest was forming animals of chewing gum. Troy Keller carried off the palm in this race. Mrs. Charter Hale then presented Miss Irene with a basket, whose weave showed again the color scheme. This basket was filled with gifts too numerous to mention. After looking and letting others enjoy seeing them, numbers on small pieces of papers were passed, and again the boys thus found their partners for refreshments. Mrs. Looney Fletcher and Mrs. F. Mullikin passed to the crowd delicious meat sandwiches, followed by a sweet sandwich. The guests then began their departure securing the wraps from Norma, stopping as they passed by the punch bowl for a farewell glass on to the reception hall, where the adieux were said, with the assurance to the hostess of a delightful evening.

T. & P. Freights in Head-on Collision
Engineer J. L. Woods of Fort Worth was killed in a railroad wreck at Eastland, Texas, Thursday of last week when two Texas & Pacific freight trains crashed in a head-on collision; and fireman Cunningham was seriously injured.

Mr. Woods was engineer on engine 389 pulling a westbound freight and Fireman Cunningham was on engine 520 attached to an extra eastbound freight.

The local train which consisted of an engine and two cars was in charge of Conductor W. A. Thomson and was switching in the north yards and was on the main line when the through freight, in charge of Conductor Ed Arnold came into the yards on the main line. It was coming downgrade and was heavily loaded. The local being much the lighter was knocked down the track about 100 yards before it stopped. Both engines were badly damaged but remained on the track. The two tenders and ten cars on the eastbound train, one a stock car loaded with cattle, were smashed almost into kindling and piled upon the track and on either side. Several head of cattle were killed and many crippled. They were pinned underneath the wreckage.

Worth Remembering

Although fraternal greetings may be exchanged across the top, the wall of social differences is never scaled. Charity begins at home and only too often remains at home all the week. On Sundays it goes to church parading nice things about itself.

There are those who think themselves above the rest of us. In a certain sense there may have been a time when they were—but not since they began indulging that thought.

In morals the world has added little to the philosophy of Aristotle. Gentleness, consideration, moderation, mutual helpfulness and the principle that one man's privilege ends where another man's rights begin—these, according to the philosophy of Aristotle, make up the sum.

Never was there such a monster as man. Mix hatred or greed or fear or ambition in the human character and you have a beast capable of wholesale. In the many men—and took with silk next their skin and blood on their souls? There was a day when the pen may have been mightier than the sword, but the "mitt" now-a-days is mightier than pen or sword. Fist-power seems to have the inside curve on brain-power.

With a little twist in verbiage it is more proper now to say: "Fair heart never won fainting lady."

Whoever is responsible for that oft repeated phrase: "They never come back," has another think coming. At least the immortal quotation is under suspicion because—they do come back.

From the way a lot of sickness shops are being ran, one would suppose that pills and quinine have gone out of date.

"Faithful as a dog," a phrase coined to express superlative fidelity. If man who coined it would but follow its precept and example what a lot of human anguish would be saved.

When a fellow is going at a gait between sanity and insanity and knows it, his tortures are of the sort generally conceded to be the lot of the damned.

There are folks who just will not believe anything; to some people truth is indeed stranger than fiction. And, too, many of them carry the theory of unbelief to such an extent that they become excellent barometers. If, while listening at the door, they hear some one telling—in confidence of course—some hurtful scandal and forthwith swallow it head and tail, we can safely depend upon it that what was overheard was a damned lie; if they dispute it we may safely accept it as an impeccable truth.—Facts and Fiction.

THE PASSING DAY

By Will H. Mayes, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

The people of the United States have been vying with each other in the effort to show the Prince of Wales that we are pleased to have him visit this country, as indeed we are. The Prince is a nice sort of a visitor and a democratic kind of a fellow in spite of his inherited title. He knows how to make himself agreeable in a truly American fashion and seems to be without that affectation that we have learned to expect in Englishmen generally. That being true, he must at times have a feeling of disgust at the propensity of the average American to bow down and worship royalty. Doubtless he would much prefer to be accepted for what he is rather than for his title, but Americans will not have it so.

In spite of our democratic ideals, we are not far enough removed from monarchical government to keep from toadying to royalty and seem to delight in paying homage to those highest in authority. This is shown so often in the character of our entertainments. The most popular spectacular shows we have are our pageants depicting the crowning of a king and queen, with great royal processions of dukes and duchesses, ladies in waiting and attendants. In spite of the almost ludicrous mimicry of such affairs people turn out in great numbers to witness these processions of imitators of royalty, and the royal performers pay immense sums to bedeck themselves in what they regard as royal apparel. The spectacle would be amusing if it were not so pitiful.

We are too much disposed to truckle to those in authority. Every citizen is under obligation to support, and should delight in supporting, those to whom the affairs of government are entrusted, but this does not carry with it even a suggestion that those in service are a whit better personally than other citizens. It is interesting to watch the almost servile attention we give to a president or even a governor and then to see how quickly and how far he can drop from public sight as soon as his term of office expires, and that in spite of the fact that his services has in most cases made him a really great man. A governor is a great man so long as he is governor; an ex-governor is merely a man who is down and out so far as the people are concerned.

A man is handicapped by what he has been unless he is constantly striving to go forward to greater things. He can't live on past achievements and hold that position in public esteem which those achievements won for him. The more he accomplished the more the public expects and has a right to expect. The things done in the past indicate his capacity for greater undertakings, and unless he is willing to make the effort to carry on he soon finds himself losing his own grip as well as the confidence of his friends. On their part there comes a feeling that perhaps he has been over-estimated. There is no stopping-place in life at which one can hold all that he has gained in the way of public favor.

Perhaps public favor should not be regarded as a test of one's worth by his fellow-men, yet it is about the only test by which he may be gauged. Certainly few persons may be accepted on their own elevation, for that is either too high or too low. The public is the safest criterion of human values, even though it is too much disposed to give hero-worship to those temporarily in the limelight and to forget those who are not constantly endeavoring to lift themselves by their own boot-straps.

Certainly if you are not in good favor in the community in which you live—and you can learn your own standing if you really want to know it—it behooves you to examine yourself to see just where the trouble lies and then to correct it. Every one owes it to himself and those about him to do his best to hold the favor of others. He is justified in having a pride in his community standing, but should take care not to develop a spirit of arrogance—a holier than thou, or better than thou attitude.

West Texas Proves It

West Texas again scores. In statewide competition agricultural displays from West Texas counties carry off the first ten prizes, and the eleventh on the list of awards is likewise a West Texas county. Nothing so proves the agricultural progress of West Texas as the result of this competition. True enough, West Texas counties have won high awards before when pitted in competition against other counties of the State in the matter of agricultural exhibits. But never before have so great a number of West Texas counties scored so uniformly.

The result shows that not one particular section of West Texas, a single county or so, has developed agriculturally, but the whole vast region and that today it is recognized as the agricultural center of Texas.

This is no new story for West Texas. Three years ago Floyd County topped the list. For the last two years Hale County has led, with Floyd second, closely followed by Randall, Dallam, Dawson, Wilbarger, Garza, Haskell, Childress, Potter and Foard. West Texas knows it has the best farm conditions in the world, and takes delight in showing it to the world. This latter is as much a reason for the continued triumphant showing of West Texas at the State Fair as is the first. The collection, transportation and arrangement of county displays at the Fair requires a high degree of community cooperation and enterprise. West Texas has these qualities, as well as the goods for showing.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Cotton Statistics Once More to Front

Just what is the joke about cotton statistics is a little hard for a serious-minded man to appreciate. The other day the Government announced that the cotton condition was worse and that the crop would be smaller than anticipated. And the price promptly caved in to the extent of seven dollars a bale. According to the logic of that occurrence, if the next report should say that the yield of cotton will be twenty bales to the acre throughout the South, the price of cotton ought to shoot up to five or ten dollars a pound. It's all crazy-quit and cross-purposes. The facts don't jibe with the estimates as a rule, and the prices are at outs with both. Cotton men go around with nervous fidgets whenever it comes time for a report to emerge. They brace themselves for the worst—whichever side of the market may give them their idea of what is worst. The fact that the worst never gets here, but is always around the corner, causes them to react in wildly illogical fashion.

If you want to buy cotton for use the fact that cotton is scarcer than you supposed will lead you to pay for it, if you can. But if you have been betting that the cotton crop will be a fizzle and along comes the assurance that it isn't nearly as bad as a complete fizzle, your scramble to get some cotton begins to calm down. If that isn't the spirit of the market on report day, then there is no accounting for it whatever.

Theodore Price says one reason for the upsetting character of these reports is the narrowness of the market. He thinks this is due to the fact that the margin required on the futures transactions is so large now that only a few have the capital to operate. Hedging is made confusing, he declares, and "in nearly all aspects the present market has become unusually difficult to read." He continues:

"The result of all this is that the supply of contracts is very much reduced, and if still smaller crop estimates should become generally current we may see wild markets in which trading is exceedingly hazardous."

"But a discussion of the possibilities or the probabilities is a waste of time. In another two weeks we will have another Government estimate that may put the market up or down another four cents."

That, by the way, was written before the report issued Oct. 8 as to the condition of the crop on Oct. 1. His advice is summed up thus:

"Under the circumstances the best advice that can be offered is to avoid being either long or short. Eschew speculation, hedge purchases or sales instantly, and be content to wait until the common sense of all concerned has compelled the Government to abandon its paralyzing reports."

This would indicate that Mr. Price thinks paralysis is what is wrong with the market when a Government report appears. But to a man on the outside it looks more like blind staggers or delirium tremens.—The Dallas News.

When Reason Reigns

The most difficult thing to do is to think. If anyone should doubt it, let him try it some time.

To rise above prejudice, and passion and personal interest and think a subject through to an inevitable, logical conclusion, starting from an axiom and keeping in mind only demonstrable facts and proved principles, ah, this is a feat.

Our fears, our hopes, our avarice, our ingrained prejudices, our hatreds, determine our opinions and convictions more often than our reason. He is a big man who can separate himself wholly from the narrowness of personal aversions and dislikes and the pettiness of selfish interest and give a clear, unbiased judgment upon an issue in which he is more or less personally concerned.

One of the sure signs that a person is thinking in the terms of prejudice and passion rather than of rational thought is his quick descent in an argument to the use of epithets and the impugning of motives.

It is much easier to transfuse your opponent with an opprobrious adjective than to disprove his argument, much simpler to overwhelm him with billingsgate than to contradict his facts, easier to impute base motives than to prove his logic fallacious.

So fundamentalists calls the liberal "anti-Christ" and modernist retorts "old fogey." Republican calls the Democrat "radical" and the Progressive "red" and they return the compliment by sneering allusions to Wall Street. Our friends of the religious press are sometimes eloquent in the language of vituperation, and while in one column there may be a tearful plea for tolerance and gentle sympathy in the treatment of all questions, throughout the other pages the vocabulary of abuse is exhausted, and the epithets bigot, fanatic and liar are the simplest and the kindest.

But while there may be temporary applause for the vehement editor who lays about him with the most uproarious verbal lashings, because the populace always loves a fight, in the long run prejudice, passion and hatred must yield to facts and reason.
