

Third Artist Course Number Will Be Presented Monday Night At Technological Gym

Cherniavski Trio Of Musicians Known World Over For Musical Talent; Tour Of South America Just Ended

The third number of the Artist Course will be given next Monday night when Jan. Leo, and Michel Cherniavski appear in concert.

Brokers Are Fortunate This trio of musicians, one a pianist, one a violinist, and the other a violonist, is known the world over and his college is fortunate in booking the concert they will give Monday night.

The program will be made up in a large measure, according to Professor W. R. Wagborne, of music rarely heard, being few organizations playing the fine chamber music of the great composers except that which has been written for string quartets, Beethoven, Mozart, Mendelssohn, and Schubert all wrote compositions for just such an ensemble as the Cherniavski trio.

From Famous Family This trio of musicians is from a family famous for its musical accomplishments, and two of these men were presented in public concert at the ages of six and seven years respectively.

Two more concerts are to be given in the series of Artist Course programs. On March 20, the Brahms quartet, Beethoven, Mozart, Mendelssohn, and Schubert all wrote compositions for just such an ensemble as the Cherniavski trio.

Collection Of Old Money Is Presented University

AUSTIN, Texas.—A collection of United States, Colonial and Confederate money was recently presented to The University of Texas library by Mrs. John D. Bowson of Austin, according to Mrs. Mattie Austin Hatcher, archivist.

The rarest item in this collection is perhaps a Colonial $3 certificate issued in 1776, Mrs. Hatcher said. Some of the other valuable pieces are three 6-cent certificates issued in 1837, three 12-cent certificates issued the same year, and one $1 Bexar County certificate.

A MODERN EDUCATOR

"It is my belief that the true purpose of education is to stimulate ideas, to preserve and to promote ideals." The foregoing was said by President Walter Williams, of the University of Missouri, in an interview with Mary B. Mullett, writer for the American magazine. President Williams will be remembered by the older students as the man who gave the commencement address last spring. He also was a guest at a breakfast given by the Press club the morning of the commencement exercises.

The title of the article written about President Williams is "A College President Who Quit School at Thirteen" and should be quite interesting to those who became personally acquainted with him while he was here. He established the world's first School of Journalism at the University of Missouri in 1908 and twenty-two years later became president of the University. Although he was offered the presidency at two other times he refused the offer. In Missouri he is called the best-educated man in the state.

He has gotten his education by reading and putting what he has learned into practice. His ideals are high and his ideas are modern. He holds to the theory that a college education is not a good thing for every youth. And, too, he says, "Students are not always to blame when they say courses are 'dry' and show no aggressiveness toward mastering the course. The courses weren't dry, but the professor were. So many teachers are not teachers. They are listlessly repeating today what they taught last year."

Too bad colleges and universities can't stay up with the rest of the world and offer today's ideas, or yesterday's ideas, in today's language.

WORKING ON THE PAPER

In another part of this paper there is an article on places open to students who want to work on the Toreador. It means just this—that we believe there are students here in school talented along journalistic lines but who have not had the chance to reveal their writing knowledge. Probably self-conscious as to their ability and they hesitate with bashfulness to appear as a finished newspaper reporter, or as few call them "adjective jerkers", in the Toreador office.

No doubt there are a few who have worked on or even edited their high school paper and therefore know the fundamentals of reporting. While there are others with no experience at all that might, with little practice, develop into real journalists.

Newspaper reporting is not easy and the same conditions are combated on the college papers as on the dailies. It is true that the daily papers have a greater field but intricate problems arise and are settled on the college weekly as well. Reporters learn the art of meeting people and getting from them the desired story. After the facts are obtained the skillful part comes in writing the story so that it will be interesting and yet will not vary from the true facts.

If you have not chosen your vocation and feel as though you might be interested in newspaper work, apply at the Toreador office Friday and Saturday mornings.

GETTING OUR NAMES IN THE PAPER

Mildred Price didn't attract enough attention as it was—she had to go and get a flaming red and white jacket. Her brother brought it back from O. U.—says Mildred.

Well, the Cheri Casa boys really did the thing up right last Saturday night. We don't know whether they are going to get any publicity anywhere else in the paper, so we will give them some. It was a great dance and all we can say is hooray for Cheri Casa boys, for negro orchestras for good punch and cookies, and may they give one as good every Saturday night.

Van Earl Sams went to Dallas this week-end. Guess we won't see very much of Van Earl over the week-ends now.

Have you met the new freshman president? He's a swell guy, even if he is just a freshman. His name is Matt Seymour. He has a big job ahead of him, but we think he is capable of doing it.

Lilly Feete is another freshman that should be watched. She has such an odd accent, and how she can pour honey is just too bad for the boys.

Ruth Carter is just another Home Ec. student, but she's nice for all that.

Ruby Kennedy is going to get her degree this year from the Home Ec. school. Some of you boys should take that into consideration, and make the most of the time left you.

Another accent that we have noticed is in Fish Collins speech. He just hates to be teased about it and says he's going to quit saying anything if we keep on teasing him about it. G! wouldn't it be wonderful if we could get some of these girls to that point?

Jean Shelley Jennings is one of the most attractive young ladies in school, according to our notion. She has a weakness among the Centaurs, but that doesn't matter.

Here's another of those Argles that we have been saying something about—Leonard Dennis. He happens to spend about as much time over here in the Ad building as he does in the Aggie hang-out's so we will pass him on that account.

We don't know whether Garth Daniels wants any publicity or not, but he's getting it. We've been told that Garth is "kinda" conceited, but we don't believe it. Don't give folks that impression, Garth.

We ran out of staff members in the issue before last, but we have one reporter that is such a valuable aid to the society page that we think she needs mentioning—Julia Slough. Mary Beth and Cecu always will be grateful to Julia for helping them out. It has even been rumored that Julia might replace Cecu. You know us club girls do get busy!

Lady Melchet has declined the nomination as candidate to Parliament from East Toxteth, Liverpool, England, to fill the vacancy caused by the succession of her husband, Henry Blood, to the peerage on the death of his father.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS

Well folks here comes the office boy back again after a few weeks' absence. The associate office boy has been taking his place.

One queen has been elected and here comes another. The Fish queen is going to be elected and it is going to be sponsored by the Toreador. Who will she be? Now freshmen it's up to you to make the election a success.

The professors are always getting the blame for being absent-minded but down at the University one of the students has pulled a stunt that beats any doings so far that has been printed on professors.

The story goes that in one of the labs the men students take off their coats, roll up their sleeves, and take off their tie, so that working will be more comfortable. In the lab one day one of the students started to completely undress and imagine his embarrassment when he found out what he was doing.

Floyd Woodriddle may sign up for a course in cooking after falling to one of the home ec teachers. It seems that Floyd was after some sort of menu to go by over at Cheri Casa. He wanted to know how to cook potatoes more ways than just mashed. He says, "We don't want anything elaborate but for goodness sake we do want a change."

Don Boggs, mysterious visitor into the Toreador office, slides in without being noticed and drifts out unknowingly. He's a modern Sherlock.

Folks the "T" club is working on their minstrel that is to be held during this month and if you can help any, don't fail to do so. Who knows but what they will discover another

She'll play like a kitten and bite like a cat. In the morning she will, in the evening she won't. When you expect here to do, she don't. She fears a cockroach, she'll scream at a mouse. But she'll tackle a sweetheart as big as a house. She's crafty, she's simple, she's cruel, she's bold, she's happy, she's witty, impatient and cold. She's petted, she's scorned, she's wise as her brother, she's modest, she's brazen, but as pure as her mother. —Mrs. C. B. Jackson.

MARCHING with modern industry to World-Power

In the great new power plant that serves the city of Buenos Aires, Crane valves and fittings are found in use. In the paper mills of Ontario and the water power developments of Niagara Falls, engineers swear by them. Camels carry them into the depths of the Abyssinian Desert and dog sledges into the wilds of Canada.

The quality of Crane piping materials has won them a world-wide demand. The globe-girdling Crane distributing organization has placed them within easy reach of power and industrial builders everywhere. Naturally, this distributing organization is most complete and efficient in the United States. In this country are factories in five cities manufacturing industrial piping materials; branches and sales offices in 160 cities; warehouses in close proximity to every important industrial center. All these facilities are keyed to receive orders for quickly needed materials and have them on the spot with no loss of time.

No matter where you take up your career after you leave school, you will find need for piping materials from the complete Crane line, and a Crane office nearby to make it easy for you to get them.

More Program For Next All College Night

Al Simmons To Be Matched With "Big Nasty" Langford In Glove Battle; To Award Football Letters

The second College Fun Night for men will be held at the gymnasium Thursday, February 19. The program is even more varied than the one offered last month with twelve numbers planned.

To Award Varsity Letters A feature on the night's bill will be the award of varsity and freshman football letters for the season just ended.

Al Simmons decided that two freshmen at the same time was too much so this time he has signed for a no rule bout with "Big Nasty" Langford.

Second to none will be the back-breaking wrestling match between "Terrible" Tribble and "Tough" Carr who tips the no-springs machines at 205 pounds.

Strong Man to Perform Tech's famous strong man, if you ask him about it! Frizell, just out of high school and looking for more demonstration of his prowess by blowing up a heavy tire tube until it bursts.

Last month the colored boys who were billed as headliners failed to put in an appearance but this time some have been secured who will perform and they will be seen in a minstrel and later a battle royal, such as only colored boys can stage.

Fancy Rope Jumping, an army sing-song, and other events will be on the night's program of fun and amusement. And there should be a record crowd at this one because people here are willing to attend anything as long as there is no admission tax to spoil their evening.

Agg School Builds New Sheep Houses

With the exception of roofs, 16 new houses have been constructed for the sheep belonging to Tech. According to Professor W. L. Evans, these are the first buildings that have been made for the sheep.

Interior of the houses contains movable hurdles, which make possible the caring for eight ewes during the lambing season. Later the hurdles will be removed and then each house will accommodate 15 of the sheep.

News From Other Colleges And Universities

Believing that he was doing the university a noble deed, a big game hunter presented students of Columbia a lion cub. This happened at the beginning of the present school year. They are now trying to get rid of him. The report goes that he grew too fast and changed his diet from milk to cheer leaders and student managers.

A course in "Crime" will be offered at Texas U. next semester. No. Al Capone will not teach the class.

Students at Howard-Payne are going in strong for "ping-pong". Basketball has been a popular sport at T. C. U. for twenty-three years.

One of the neatest college publications in the Southwest is published by Amarillo Junior College. Their "Ranger", despite its size, is a very compact and well organized paper.

Hard times eh? Students at Washington U., St. Louis, have purchased 500 more "Hatchets" college annual, so far this year than at this time last year.

The "Ranger", Amarillo Junior College, is sponsoring a short story contest.

"Amos 'n Andy" led Rudy Valle in a radio favorite contest at T. C. U. Up in South Bend, Ind., the boys at Notre Dame look upon this guy Rudy as quite the "ice cream cone". In an editorial in the "Scholastic" they gave him a very thorough going over.

One-fifth of the students of the University of Wisconsin are wholly self-supporting. 5,000 of the Badger students contribute partially to their expense.

The no-smoking law at the University of Utah is violated more by members of the Engineering school than by students from other departments.

IN TECH SOCIETY

Faculty Members See Grand Opera

A number of faculty members and students attended the opera at Amarillo last week-end. They left Friday noon and returned Sunday. Professor W. R. Wagborne, head of the music department, and Professor Carl Henninger, head of the German department, said it was by far the finest production they had ever heard. In their estimation "Die Walkure," "The Flying Dutchman" and "Tristan and Isolde" were superb.

Those who went from here were: Professor and Mrs. Carl Henninger and son, W. R. Wagborne, Seth Cummins, Dean W. J. Miller, Mrs. Carl Scoggins, Evelyn and Dorothy Knipp, Virginia Robertson, Margaret Hamilton, Evelyn Randolph, Coleta Baker, Fern and Pauline Holland, Etta May Biggers, Mabel Brunmley, Ruth Mildred Rylander, and Mrs. Lloyd White.

Pi Gamma Mu To Have Banquet

Pi Gamma Mu, national social science club of Tech, will have its annual banquet Friday night at 8 o'clock in the Hilton hotel. Each member is permitted to bring a friend, and 25 or 30 are expected to be present.

Dr. O. A. Kinchen of the history department is to be the main speaker for the evening. He will talk on the subject of a personal philosophy, in which he will include a considerable portion of his own. His address will be followed by brief comments from anyone who wishes to add some of his philosophy to that of Dr. Kinchen.

Latin And Spanish Clubs Hold Meeting

Fish Class Holds Meeting To Make Queen Nominations

Nominations for fish Queen candidates and electing fish representatives on the student council was the purpose of the freshmen meeting held last night in room 318, Administration building. Nominations for the Queen had not been made at time of going to press, but names of the nominees will be announced at a later date.

The meeting was called by Matt Seymour, recently elected president of the class. According to Seymour the freshmen dance, where the elected queen will be crowned, will probably be given about the middle of April. Plans are now being formulated for an elaborate affair as announced by the president.

Freshman representative from the Aggie school and one from the engineering school was elected. The Liberal Arts representative was elected at an earlier meeting. Dates for the election of the freshman queen will be announced at a future date.

Reds Defeated By Blacks On Slippery Field

Opening Quarter Is Punting Duel Between Watkins And Smith; No Sensational Playing By Either Team

The Blacks, Floyd Woodridge's All-Star team, defeated Buddy Brothers' Reds 7 to 6 last Saturday on a muddy field to wind up the 1931 intramural football season.

The opening quarter was a punting duel between Mina Watkins, Red quarterback, and Smith, Black fullback, with the latter having the edge on distance. Seven punts sailed through the air in the first quarter. Smith and Watkins averaged 30 yards on their punts with Smith punting four times and Watkins booting the pigskin 9 times.

With neither team doing any sensational playing the whole game was slow and dull. The rain that started falling in the second quarter might have been partly responsible, yet both teams did poorly considering the fact that they were composed of the best men selected from the intramural teams of the season just ended.

TOUCHDOWN CAME LATE

The Blacks' touchdown came late in the second quarter after they had passed and plunged their way to the 1 foot line from mid-field. After a time-out Bartley, Engineers quarterback, plunged the ball over the line and Smith, another Engineer, kicked the goal that was to decide the game.

In the second half the Reds came back strong after a 30 yard run by Potter had placed the ball within the Blacks' twenty yard line. On the second play after Potter's run, Watkins passed to Maddin who stepped about 10 yards and across the goal line to make the score 7 to 6. Watkins attempt to tie the score by kick failed and the quarter was over as soon as the Reds kicked off.

WATKINS KICKS

In the last quarter the Reds were backed up on their four yard line and the Blacks failed to gain an inch in four tries. Watkins kicked the ball 50 yards down the field and out of danger and the game ended before the Blacks could get their offense under way again.

For a little man Grundy, Black center, turned in probably the best game for the linemen on either team. He was in there scrapping throughout the entire game and it was his work that helped to give the Blacks their slim victory.

Opposite him was Nix, Red center of last fall, who turned in a great defensive game for the Reds. Frizzell, former Lubbock high star, showed up well on the Red's right tackle.

Watkins, quarterback for the Reds, saved his team many embarrassing moments with his fine kicking. His passing arm was in good shape also and he used it to advantage.

Smith and Bartley team-mates on the Engineers' squad, showed up well on the Black's side. Smith showed the fifty odd spectators a few punting tricks and Bartley was sure-fire on the receiving end of passes tossed by Smith.

COACHES ARE ASSISTED

Woodridge, the Black's coach, had as his assistants Langford, Teal, and Durham, all Varsity players. Brothers, Red coach, was assisted

At The Theatres

"MIN AND BILL" STRONG
DRAMA WITH EXPERT CAST

Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery as a character team, provide the central figures for "Min and Bill," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's vivid drama of the waterfront, now playing at the Lindsey Theatre, and, incidentally, are giving film fans something decidedly new in the form of screen entertainment. Miss Dressler, best known for her comedy, surprised the world with her first character role in "Anna Christie," and this time is a dominant, forceful figure who rises to supreme dramatic heights. Beery, who played the sinister Butch in "The Big House," presents a character lovable rather than awesome.

The story depicts the struggle between a foster mother and natural mother for the happiness of a girl, and the tremendous denouement that solves the problem is a decidedly new note in the drama of the screen. There is not a lisp in the breathless interest in this astounding story, and despite its poignant drama, there are many comedy moments, as well as a charming love romance, to lighten its more sombre moments.

Miss Dressler is a dominant figure as Min, keeper of the waterfront dive, and Beery plays her lover Bill, fishing smack captain, with deft skill. A newcomer to the screen scores heavily in the person of Marjorie Rameau, seen as the evil by McWilliams, Ayres, and Vinzant, other varsity men of the past season.

Starting lineup: Blacks: Smith and Hitchcock, ends; Davis and Turner, tackles; Harris and Gray, guards; Grundy, center; Maddox, quarter; Williams and Roberts, halves; Smith full. Reds: Tate and Stubbs, ends; Frizzell and Locke, tackles; Holley and Sparham, guards; Nix, center; Watkins, quarter; Oswald and Potter, halves; Banta, fullback.

EL TORO

BY JAY TIMMONS

Cheri Casa seems to be about the busiest place on the campus right now. The Minstrel proteges are practicing over there every night for the big event that the "T" club intends to present to all of us about February 22. From the sounds of things it will be a "goodun". Besides this the Matador cagers are turning in early every night to get the much needed shut-eye so necessary for long wind in the games.

Well it seems to me that the Matadors hit their stride in the opening game against McMurry, but they must have needed a rest in the second game. Such a loss has never before been seen on the gym floor. It was anybody's game until the pistol fired at the end. In the first half, scores were so far apart that the Matador supporters fairly screamed every time a goal was made. That's something when the rooting section screams and it takes a real feat to do it. We're doing better though and it isn't going to be long until our gym will be filled for every basketball game. Just think if all of us would buy Student Activity Tickets we wouldn't have room for the town people, and would that be a lively game? Yes!

Hodges is getting so good that he has received the praise of the local news sports writer. That's going some Hodges better go buy a new hat. No foolin' Hodges did a nice piece of work in the opening game with McMurry which fact is more than proven in the Tuesday edition of the Avalanche. Fisher shined as bright as his bald head, Darr as much as his smiling countenance and Crews was as tough to handle as his face looks.

The Golf Bugs will enter a match play tournament today to see who can hit the ball the fewest number of times and still sink it in all of the eighteen holes. This will take place at the Meadow Brook Golf Club. Ed Harris, Harold Busby, Guy Pogue will enter the field against some twelve others. Those who play in the match will be known as the history of transportation, aerodynamics, airplane construction, gliding, aerial photography, navigation, instruments, engines, maintenance and aviation laws.

Rev. J. O. Haymes, will give the last of his series on Life's Dilemmas next Sunday evening. The theme will be, "Beyond Your Dilemmas".
