CONSTRUCTIVE CRITICISM

Favorable Criticism of Publications is to be offered by capable instructors in Texas Technological College. That the paper and other publications of the college are to be eyes through which Tech is to be seen brings this combat for better writing, uplifting editorials, correct use of grammar, and fewer typographical errors. Not only is aid going to be given to the Toreador, but to the La Ventana also. A study of both publications will be carried on in a class of students interested in journalism and under the direction of the journalism professor aided by the head of the English department.

The criticism heretofore has not reached the Toreador office only through the discussion of staff members. Probably those who have criticized were under the impression that the staff was sentimental or undesirable of constructional criticism. This idea is not at all in accordance with those who are every day trying to learn the journalism trade. Inexperienced, but willing to learn, the staff is trying to satisfy both the faculty and the student body. Therefore, if the paper is causing a disturbance or is becoming unpopular don't offer suggestions to those who have nothing to do with publication, but to those who are deeply interested and are doing their best to please.

While offering criticism to Tech publications, it might be well to consider the publications in other colleges and universities over the land. Surely Tech publications are equal with publications in other colleges in upholding ideals. It is really hard to decide just what will please both students and faculty members; to be partial to the one would be unfair to the other. The Toreador should be a practical paper and not one that will interest only a few. The staff welcomes constructive criticism so long as it is given to them first.

Much is expected to be gotten out of the new journalism course where students and faculty members will be given the opportunity of bringing constructive criticism to the class concerning the college publications.

LEARNING A TRADE

Up at Boise, Idaho, Mr. W. D. Vincent, commissioner of education, believes there will come a time in Idaho when no high school student will be graduated without a trade which will fit him to earn his way through college.

Idaho and Texas are widely separated in regard to distance, but the two states are not unlike in regard to the problem of college students earning a part of their expenses. Ever since the opening of Texas Tech, a large part of the student body has worked at various jobs in order to defray a part of the expense of college. We are indeed glad that it has been possible that students who have really needed work have been able to secure employment.

"Most students asking for a part-time job while going to college will tell their employer that they can do anything," Mr. Vincent says. "What they mean is that they can do nothing. If all of them are taught to do some one thing well before leaving high school, they will find it a tremendous help."

It seems that teaching students a trade will insure more students getting through school, and at the same time it will reduce the number of hours required to earn necessary funds.

There is much food for thought in this plan of Idaho's. A plan of this kind certainly would meet with much approval in our own state.

Coach P. W. Cawthon was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Agg club, which was held Wednesday night, November 7. Intramural athletics was the main subject of the talk given by the coach. ### T. C. U. To Hold Oratory Contest

FORT WORTH, Jan. 15.—The State Oratorical Contest and the Girl's Oratorical Contest will be held at Texas Christian University early in March, according to announcement by Prof. Lew D. Prizes totaling more than $100 will be offered in the state contest. Orations may be on the subject of "Peace" or "The Constitution."

deuts is to tag the person and elegantly say "may I tag please, and thank you." It isn't hard to say and surely you will be respected more by the majority of students.

A letter received from Jay Hall, who was a student here last year, states that he is planning on entering the University of Texas at the beginning of the second semester. Here is hoping that he makes good and in his spare moments he will give us a little thought back here at Tech.

There are several new students registered in Tech this term but until now they have stayed any of the Toreador office. The older students are becoming more refined and therefore are ruining the news of this column.

Don't Forget the STUDENTS OPINION column.

Business Courses Popular At T.C.U.

FORT WORTH, Jan. 15.—Business administration is the most popular field of study at Texas Christian University, a study by E. R. Tucker, T. C. U. registrar, reveals. Slightly more than 23 per cent of the upperclassmen are majoring in business administration.

The field of English literature comes next as a choice for a major at T. C. U. Here however, the majors are about seven to one girls, while in business administration the proportion is approximately nine to one boys.

History, science and music follow closely behind the leaders. Then come Spanish, education, Bible, journalism, sociology, government and physical education, in the order named. Other fields of study are also represented, but those named include more than 80 per cent of T. C. U. students.

Dance Is Given By Stag Bridge Club

Colors of purple and gold, emblematic of the society, predominated the decorative scheme used by the Stag Bridge club in the ballroom of Hotel Lubbock, Saturday evening when members and guests danced there.

Married men of the club and their wives were guests of honor, and they received favors from the hosts during the evening.

Columns in the ballroom carried shaded lights with the club monogram on each shade. A large banner of the society hung from the ceiling. Other lights were in pastel colors. Music for the dancing was furnished by Frank Stone and his Collegians.

He was staking his future on those castings

Even though it was July 4 and a holiday, R. T. Crane, then a young man, was so eager to see his tiny new foundry in actual operation that he lighted the furnace, filled the crucible with metal, and poured his first castings. When the moulds were cool, and the first Crane products ready, he studied and cleaned and polished with inexhaustible care.

The little foundry has grown into the 347 acres of Crane manufacturing plants. Progress has brought rows of giant electric furnaces to take the place of his first crude one. The lightning rod couplings that he made on that day in 1855 have been expanded into a line of 33,000 items, meeting every modern valve and fitting need of the world's industries. But to this day, the example the founder set of intense personal interest and pride and care for the quality of each product remains a distinguishing mark of the Crane organization.

Just as the founder on that first day felt that his future rested with the quality of those couplings, Crane men are trained to feel that their company's reputation rests upon the quality of each valve and fitting they turn out.

Harvey Dunn Plays Stellar Game For Local Quintet; Score Favors Miners At End Of First Half

Both Games Fast

Coach Gollightly Makes Very Few Substitutions; Captain Hodges Is High Point Man With 13 Points

Coming from behind in the last minute of play the Tech Matadors took by the margin of two points, both games of the series played with Mack Saxon's Texas Miners here Friday and Saturday nights.

In the game Friday night, Friedman of the Miners started things off by looping one from the field and followed it up with a free one. Hodges, taking a pass from Kelsey, flipped the first one for Tech, and followed it up in a few minutes with two from the field and a free toss to give the Matadors the lead. Tadlock missed a shot as the half ended, leaving the Border men ahead 12 to 11.

Game Becomes Fast
After the half, during which the fans were entertained by pupils of Miss Zella Riegall and Johnny Glickerson in a clog dance, the game became fast and furious. Tadlock and Harvey Dunn scored two field goals to give Tech a short lead, but this was quickly lost when Payne and Andrews made long shots from mid-court to tie and take the lead. And so it went until with 8 seconds of time left and with the score tied Dunn, an up and coming youngster, who will bear watching, took a pass near the sidelines and dropped in the winning tally. Some of the fans kept their seats for a few minutes in an effort to recover from the strain.

The second and last game was fully as exciting and hair-raising. Coach Saxon in an attempt to change his luck had different jerseys on his men but this apparently urged the bull-fighters on. A thousand frenzied fans saw Gollightly's men fight off a team determined to win, saw Fisher, center, make a free basket to give Tech a 13 to 14 lead as the half ended, saw the score tied four times in the last half, and saw Dunn toss the winning goal just fifty seconds before Bon Condray, timer, fired the ending gun.

Few Substitutions
In both games Coach Gollightly made few substitutions using only two men other than the ones in his starting line-up. Not so with Coach Saxon who made substitutions frequently in an effort to stave off defeat.

Hodges, perhaps inspired by the presentation of the sweater to him the previous night by W. L. Stangel on behalf of the Tech athletic council and coaching staff, was high point man again with five goals and three free shots for a total of 13 points. Friday night it was four field goals and five free goals for another total of thirteen points.

Dunn Looks Good
Dunn didn't connect so many times but when he did it brought a shout of approval from the stands. A sophomore, he looks like the main-stay of the Tech team for next few years if he can keep up the pace.

Friedkin dealt the Matadors misery Friday night with four field goals and one free toss for a total of nine points until he was put out on four personal fouls.

The next night Pippen, who was

Cadets Form New Non-Com Club

The cadets of the college met last Monday night in the armory and organized a Non-com club. Paul Hardy, a junior in the college from Bonham, was elected president and W. M. Hudson of Paris is secretary of the club.

The Non-coms was formed for the promotion of fellowship among the cadets of the college and plans are being worked out for a number of entertainments and fun nights to be held in the armory.

seen on the Tech football field last fall, was high point man with four from the floor and a free toss for a total of nine points.

Out of twenty free throws Friday night and twelve Saturday night the Matadors registered only nine and eight respectively. The Miners trailed behind on this phase of the game.

Too Meet Again
Tech meets the Miners at El Paso February 27 and 28. The Miners will probably welcome the local boys because it will look like a good opportunity for revenge.

EL TORO

By JAY TIMMONS

Congratulations, Pete, on your new athletic plans. It looks like there is going to be much interest manifested in these gatherings from the looks of the start. It seems that as long as anything is free at Tech that the business men are for it in a big way. It's a shame those "niggers" that were going to try to beat one another to death got scared and ran away. However, the Tech substitutes seemed to be lacking in no way when it came to socking.

Since El Toro has to write before the first game is played between Canyon and the Mats there is very little he can say in regard to his outlook on those two squabbles, but I don't think the Matadors will lose sight of that trimming we got at Canyon's hands in football. No doubt, Canyon has an excellent team to present upon the basketball court of the Tech Gym. Canyon has defeated the Miners by a much larger score than we did, nevertheless it must not be forgotten that the Miner crew has been doing much traveling in the past week which has no doubt left them in a weaker condition than they would have been otherwise.

"Crip" Gollightly, Tech basketball mentor, has expressed his sincere hopes that Tech will overcome this crucial stage in their schedule for the year and come out of the tangle with the Canyon quintet in great style. Boys it's worth our time, energy and money to go out there tonight and root like nobody's business for the five men wearing the scarlet and black for dear old Alma Mater. Let's go by all means.

Now let's get back to this pain in the neck, back, head and various parts of the torso that lots of us have been experiencing since the advent of the well known intramural sports. Each Ex-Letador coach expresses the opinion that his particular team is going to win the pennant with ease and grace. Well, that remains to be seen which one is the better dooper. Wouldn't it be tough if they were all right and each game was a tie? I watched some of the boys work out the other evening and believe me if someone isn't killed in the games that are to follow it will come close to being a full house for the Lubbock Sanitarium. But leaving all of the "bull" aside I think that the boys are working with a vim that has never seen an equal in the line up of sports, of an amateur nature, in Tech.

While passing by a group of the weaker sex I heard some one of them ask, "What is this 'intramural' sport we hear so much about?" Pete, don't you think they have the last part of that sport named just a little old. (Explanation to the English in school will be furnished upon request.)

It won't be long now until we will see some of the tennis stars of the school get down their dusty rackets and take up some of their old tricks in the way of serving and returning balls within the white lines of the courts. Raymond Pizer and "Lety" Emlson should show us some of the latest curves in this racket of rackets. For the sake of competition El Toro would like to see a number of the reputed good tennis players enter the contests to determine who will represent Tech this year in the various meets. So get down the balls on some of these pretty days we are having and try your luck.

El Toro has been asked to help find a very important belonging of one of Crip's proteges. It is in the form of a tooth. It seems that this young man lost one during practice which must have been decidedly tough. Crip says that whoever finds it will be given a reward of some kind provided it fits the mouth from which it came. So look around boys.

A Cape of Good Hope four-cent 1892 stamp printed in the wrong color was sold in London recently for $1,050.

Dr. Beck Returns From Conference

Dr. Thor J. Beck, head of the French and German departments of Texas Tech, has returned from Washington, D. C., where he attended the meeting of the Modern Language Association of America.

The Association met on the invitation of the George Washington University in conjunction with the American University, the Catholic University of America, and the Georgetown University. Nine hundred modern language professors from colleges and universities throughout the United States and Canada were in attendance.

A personal message from President Hoover extended a welcome to the Association, inviting the members to visit the White House.

Dr. Beck was introduced as coming from "the youngest and fastest growing institution in the entire United States."

"The Texas Tech is manifestly known in the East," says Dr. Beck, "and is being recognized by representative educators from coast to coast."

YWCA Entertains Lubbock Nurses

Mrs. John C. Granbery's First Methodist Sunday School Class, which is composed of Lubbock Sanitarium nurses, was given a party by the Y. W. C. A. on Friday evening, January 9, in the parlor of the Methodist Church.

Informal games and contests were played throughout the evening. The guests were divided into two groups. Scores were kept for each side, and at the close of the contests the points were added for each side. The winning side put on a stunt for the losing side.

Punch, cookies, and mints were served to the forty-five guests who were present.

The Y. M. C. A. is furnishing leadership for a group of under privileged boys in the Sanders school district. There are seventy boys enrolled in the group. Wiley Loughmiller is heading the athletic program and meets with the boys three times each week. Vance Vanoy teaches a Sunday School class of the younger boys. Mr. George Dupree, a Lubbock attorney, is sponsor of the whole program.

England and New Zealand, 13,500 miles apart, have just been connected by radio telephone service.

In Plain Words..

Rubber hose, or any other flexible connection, is as dangerous as rattlesnakes. It is likely at any time to become leaky, or disconnected, with resultant injury to health and property.

Because of its lack of durability and the ease with which it may become leaky or disconnected, rubber hose, or other flexible material, should never be used for connecting gas stoves, or other gas burning appliances.

A three-eighths inch iron pipe connection is the safest and most efficient connection for the ordinary room heater. Have your plumber replace rubber hose, and other flexible gas connections in your home, with iron pipe. DO IT NOW.

Terror Tribble and Crawford gave a splendid example of the manly art. Crawford opened the match with a vicious clamp around Tribble's neck lost it, and quickly found himself the center of attention on the part of Tribble who had an arm hold, only to lose it when they rolled off the mat. After a few more holds by each, Tribble came back strong and stretched Crawford out with the scissors and an arm hold. Losing these he applied more pressure the next time and took the match with an arm hold.

Social Given For Baptist Students

In accordance with plans made by the B. S. U. Council, the representative organization for Baptist students on the campus, a successful social was enjoyed by about eighty five Baptist students and other young people Friday evening at the First Baptist church.

The social was in the form of a railroad party, each one receiving a ticket upon his entrance bearing him from "Dontnoem" to "Inoernnow". At a signal of negro porters throughout the evening, the group was occasionally divided into four cars. The evening started very cleverly planned by Hazel Kikonour, student director. Hot chocolate and cakes were served. A cordial invitation is extended to all who were present to attend all services for young people at the church, including Sunday School 9:30 each Sunday morning, Tech B. Y. P. U. S. Church services 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. each Sunday.

Club Gives Name Of New Members

The Centaur club of Texas Tech announces as its new members for the year 1931 Mr. Rob O'Hair, Mr. Robert Salter, Mr. Robert Maxey, Mr. Jack Mickle, Mr. Billy Lane, Mr. Walter Storts, Mr. Richard Hoffman, and Mr. Kenneth Letwlich.

GETTING OUR NAMES IN THE PAPER

The campus has had a very distinguished visitor over the week-end. Mr. Alton Hutson in person. We lost a valuable man when Alton graduated.

Martha Knight, who was here last year and has been teaching in Roswell during the fall has decided that Tech is better than teaching.

Well, well—we thought we were through with Jim Cloud, but he's just like a poor relation—you can't get rid of him. Anyway, we're glad to have you back, Jim, and luck to you.

Christine Denny is here. We just wonder if pressure wasn't brought to bear? Nevertheless, we're glad she's back.

We've been talking about tennis players quite a bit and think that Cecil Biskley deserves a good word. Cecil hasn't reached the height of his form yet, as he's only a Soph, but he should be watched.

Jack Grundy came back this term. We never expected to see Jack without that right-hand man that he had last year.

Vernon Jones is an interesting person to know. He's a student assistant in chemistry, makes good grades and is a good dancer. Girls, do your stuff!

Another perennial bloom that is back this term is Helen Womack. A few more additions and the school would look natural again.

J. W. Timmons will be our staff member this week. There's very little to be said for Jay, because actions speak louder than words, we've heard. Jay has taken over the business management of the Toreador for two years, is business manager of the Picador and is a generally priceless man. To say more is unnecessary.

"Lightnin'" To Open At Lindsey Sunday

Will Rogers may be the best known personality in America and internationally famous as a wit and philosopher, but on a motion picture set he is just a boy, a play boy.

During the making of "Lightnin'", Fox Movietone comedy drama, adapted from John Golden's tremendously successful stage play, on locations near Lake Tahoe, former Rogers spent a great deal of his spare time playing with his well remembered rope and teaching twenty or more youngsters some of the tricks of casting a lariat.

"Lightnin'" coming Sunday to the Lindsey Theater, Rogers portrays the role of "Bill Jones", who hates work as much as he likes his little nip. He is, as a rule, about half "lit up" and on such occasions tells the most outrageous and fanciful lies imaginable, including his boast that he "once drove a swarm of bees across the plains in the dead of winter and never lost a bee."

The role of Mrs. Jones, "Lightnin'"'s wife, is enacted by Louise Dresser, popular actress of both the stage and screen. Other notables in the large and carefully selected cast are J. M. Kerrigan, Joel McCrea, Sharon Lynn, Frank Campeau, Jason Roberts, Luk Cosgrave, Walter Percival, Charlotte Walker, and Thomas Jefferson.

Dinner Given By Las Vivarachas

Members of the Las Vivarachas club were hostesses to several guests at a five-course dinner given Sunday evening in the private dining room of the Hotel Lubbock.

Guests who attended were Misses Josephine Carraway, Lorene Fryar, Tina Alexander, Louise Garrison, Temple Boone, Mona Gowan, Lillah Wright, Opal Palmer, Harriet Roosa, Ruth Norman, Mary Evelyn Woodson, and Naomi Mitchell.

At the request of several members of the faculty and student body the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. have initiated a series of services of worship to which all students and faculty are invited. The services are held in room 310, Administration building, at 11:00 o'clock, every Wednesday except when general convocation is called. Each service will adjourn at 11:30 or before. The program consists of prayer, hymns, a devotional talk, a meditation, and special music.

The Cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. has arranged to appoint ten new officers and committee chairman in order to take care of vacancies. At the last meeting of the Cabinet the program for the second term was outlined and there is need for additional workers.
