All College Fun Night To Be Held For Men Students In Tech Gym Monday Night

Colored Boys To Have Battle Royal; Freshman and Sophomores Will Engage In Real Roughhouse

All College Fun Night! Under the new regime of coaches the first time when all men students of the college will get together for a night of wholesome fun will be next Tuesday night at the gymnasium at 7:45.

Stunts will be in order, colored boys will put on a battle royal, and the Sophomores will engage the lowly Freshmen in a roughhouse. This should be an opportunity for the fish to get back at the upperclassmen before Fish Day comes with its attendant aches and pains.

The band will start things off at 7:45 and at eight the Seniors and Juniors clash in a potato race that is said to have more thrills than the Kentucky Derby. Ten picked men on each team will fight for the honor of their class.

And then comes the red hot boys under the management of Jack Durham, Matador football captain. These boys from downtown will do a number of specialty acts.

To Have Wrestling Coach Morgan in the next event will present some of his boxers and wrestlers. Tribble, an East Texas boy, has been throwing everything that comes his way this fall and Tuesday night he will show the boys what he can do in the squared arena. Flat Nose Teal has been receiving a few lessons from Tribble in the manly art and he will testify that the boy knows what he is doing.

During the intermission, Mr. George Dupree, a well-known lawyer on the South Plains will give a short talk on school spirit and athletics at Tech.

More of Jack Durham's boys will give the sixth event on the program—a battle royal. Six of them will fight it out with one hand tied behind their backs. It is quite a mystery as to just what kind of boys Durham is training for Tuesday night but they are good if the Matador captain has charge of them.

Freshmen and Sophomores Tangle The high point on the night's program will be the rough-house between 25 Sophomores and 25 Freshmen. All will wear old clothes at the beginning of the struggle and it may be that some will have on clothes when the last man is put off the floor. The Sophs will be stripped to the waist and the Fish will wear a light jersey. This is necessary to tell the two groups apart. This event will correspond to the clashes between the two classes in other colleges.

The losing class in the rough-house will see their class president tossed in a blanket in the last event on the night's program. The winning team may have charge of these fitting ceremonies.

Sponsored by the Tech Chamber of Commerce these nights will be held monthly in the gym. They are to develop school spirit and a closer union between the men students of the college.

Intramural Grid Teams Working Out

Four Teams Begin Practice For Initial Games To Be Played January 23; Each Team To Play Three Games

Intramural football started off with a bang Monday afternoon and the teams are being whipped rapidly into shape on the new practice field back of the gym.

The Liberal Arts team under Floyd Woodriddle is running the Tech plays. Coach Woodriddle has out fifty men, the largest representation from any of the schools. The Liberal Arts team is practicing on the field next to the fence around the playing field.

To Use S. M. U. Plays McWilliams, assisted by France, is coaching the Engineers this year. They are using S. M. U. plays and are practicing on the second field located immediately north of the gym. Thirty engineers reported Monday afternoon.

The Military Corps under the tutelage of Buddy Brothers, with Waller and Ayres assisting, has twenty men out working each afternoon on the north field back of the stands. The Haskell Indians play are used by the Military.

The first games will be played on the twenty-third of January. Each team will play three games during the season with McMurry and Kirk doing the officiating. Two teams composed of the best men will be picked at the end of the season and they will play an All-Star game. The eleven best out of this group will be selected and awarded silver footballs and invited to come out for the varsity squad.

More than three thousand eight hundred attended the show last year and because of the convention being held at the same time it is expected to be more than double in number this year.

Plans will be worked out, at the meeting, for financing the show. If the necessary amount of money can be obtained more exhibits and far better show will be staged, according to Cary Lodal who is general manager for the affair.

Managers from each department have been named and are as follows: John A. Davis, Architect; E. V. Middleton, Civil Engineer; W. L. Pearson, Electrical Engineer; Frank Stone, Chemical Engineer; Winny Wardell, Textile Engineer; Clarence Cole, Geological Engineer; and Bill Fry, Mechanical Engineer.

Students wishing to make an application for a try-out for the Sock and Buskin club, call at the speech office.

Fully 13,000 publications, including reprints, appeared in England in the last 12 months.

WELCOME

The college extends a most cordial welcome to 175 new students who have enrolled in the Texas Technological College since the first day of January.

Some of these are students who have been with us during previous years, but who were out for the fall term of 1930. Some of these have been at work and have been obtaining money for their expenses during the remainder of the year. The entire college welcomes these students back again. It means the renewing of old friendships. We want these former students to feel altogether at home in their return. Some of these students, on the other hand, have never been in college before. Many of them graduated in December or in January from their high school. These students are entering a new world of work and of thought. They are starting out on a glorious adventure. Every member of our faculty and of our student body is eager to extend a helping hand. May the four years ahead of them be four years of successful adventure and of profitable work.

The Texas Technological College is a democratic institution. It desires to serve. It is also a friendly institution. It desires to help. Every member of the college, including the President, the Faculty, the Student Body and the Administrative Staff extends a most cordial welcome to the new students.

Pictures May Still Be Made For Year Book

Dead Line Has Been Placed At January 15; Pictures Will Be Placed In Regular Class Sections

There is still time to have pictures made for La Ventana, according to R. C. Marshall, editor of the annual. The dead line has been placed at January 15, and all students who have not had their pictures made for the year book are urged to do so as soon as possible. The pictures will be placed in the regular class sections. Many students have the idea that pictures made now will be placed in a separate section but this is not true, Marshall says.

Beauty pictures that have already been made at any studio may be turned in to the editor and they may be turned in by the girls themselves or by one of their friends.

The art work for La Ventana, carrying out an idea particularly adapted to this section of the country, is nearing completion.

W. A. A. Sponsors Cage Tournament

Approximately thirty-five girls, comprising five teams, took part in cage ball and the total work-out at the close of the fall term. This tournament, in charge of Miss Johnnie Calkerson and Miss Zella Reigel, was sponsored by the Woman's Athletic Association of the college.

The teams were designated by color and the tournament was defeated by the whites, with a score of 37 to 28. This team is then, the first team of the college.

Those on the team are Lucile Kirtrel, Leah Cox, Daisy May Bradshaw, Bala Green, Erma Lois Harris, and Eunice Cox. Daisy May Bradshaw is captain of the team.

The consolation tournament, held for the losing teams, was won by the reds.

To Make Plans For Engineering Show

Managers, heads of each department, and Dean Miller, of the engineering school will have a business meeting tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the engineering building, concerning the engineering show which is to be held during the Chamber of Commerce convention here in Lubbock sometime during the latter part of the spring term.

More than three thousand eight hundred attended the show last year and because of the convention being held at the same time it is expected to be more than double in number this year.

Plans will be worked out, at the meeting, for financing the show. If the necessary amount of money can be obtained more exhibits and far better show will be staged, according to Cary Lodal who is general manager for the affair.

Term Affairs Discussed By Social Clubs

Presidents Of Various Clubs Met With Dean Of Women For Discussion Of Affairs To Be Held During Term

Presidents and representatives from all social clubs met with Mrs. Doak Tuesday afternoon for the discussion of social activities to be held during this term.

The time or date set for clubs to take in new members was Monday week, January 19. All new members must have an average of C in 12 hours work. The average must be taken from the term preceding that in which he is to become a member. Invitations are to be sent out to prospective members and he or she will have the choice of either accepting or rejecting the bid.

There will also be a discussion of dates for the social affairs to be given by the different clubs. As was the custom during the first term all affairs must be placed on the social calendar before girls not residing in Lubbock may attend.

The meeting was in line with the inter-club council. The council is composed of a president and vice president, or a representative from each club and rules and regulations concerning all social clubs are made.

Tennis Practice Is To Start Soon

Practice in tennis is to be started soon, according to an announcement by Professor A. B. Carrey, tennis coach. Within a few days a schedule will be made for the spring term. Gordon May, who was seen about the campus last tennis season, and who displayed remarkable form as a varsity player, will be back with the racketmen this year. According to present plans a tournament will be held during this winter term. Four meets have been promised for the coming season.

Louis Lahm and Bill Sewell, letter men of year before last, will also be seen in action this season.

Eighty boys of St. Mary's school, England, grammar school spent their summer vacation in building their own bathing pool.

Department Of Animal Husbandry Experiments With Different Feeds

Last year the Animal Husbandry department of the college fed 120 Rambouillet lambs in cooperation with the Texas Agriculture Experiment Station. The lambs were divided into six lots of twenty each, with all lots receiving a mixture of milo maize heads and cottonseed meal. Lots varied according to the kind and amount of roughage fed with lot one receiving alfalfa hay, lot two receiving equal parts of hay and higeria fodder; lot three receiving 25 percent hay and 75 percent fodder; lot four receiving higeria fodder and limestone flour; lot five receiving higeria fodder and limestone flour; lot six receiving limestone flour.

The lambs were fed for a period of 90 days. They averaged 59 pounds at the beginning of the test and 89 pounds at the close. Gains per lamb per day ranged from 248, lot six, to 346, case of lot five. The cost of 100 pounds of gain ranged from $10.73 for lot six to $8.44 for lot five.

The experiment showed when lambs are fed limited amounts of limestone flour that higeria fodder is more valuable for fattening lambs than alfalfa hay.

Following up the work of last year 120 lambs were placed on feed December 1 of this year. All lots are receiving the same grain mixture as last year and only lot one is receiving alfalfa hay. The balance of the lot are receiving higeria fodder as a roughage.

If the results of this year bear out the results of last year the addition of limestone flour to grain roughages will be of great value to lamb feeders in this section.

Lambs being fed this year can be seen at the pens at the sheep plant west of the dairy barn. A. C. Rogers has charge of the feeding again this year.

The lamb feeding trials are used as practical projects in class sheep production courses and a large amount of data in connection with experiment is prepared by students in these courses under the supervision of Mr. Stangel.

One of the features for this year will be the custom during the first term all affairs must be placed on the social calendar before girls not residing in Lubbock may attend.

Just before leaving the Army Vocational Training Center at Housatonic, England, soldiers now in learning a trade, those with marked ability having the privilege of taking special courses in ladies' hairdressing, watchmaking and poster designing.

Hold Convocation At Gym Wednesday

"I would not tell you positively that college had or did not have a good influence on a boy or girl," Dr. Paul W. Horn said in his address Wednesday morning at the first convocation of the winter term held at the gymnasium. "Selectivity" was the subject of the president's address and he explained the above statement by saying that it all depended upon the student himself, and the people or conditions he let influence him.

Dr. Horn first defined an educated man as one who was developed, as far as possible, to his capacity. He then discussed the limitations of this statement by showing that it was necessary to select those things which enter into the moral and intellectual make-up.

At this point Dr. Horn used the radio as an illustration of selectivity. "When you come to college you find as many tones as when you listen over the radio. What kind of a group are you going to tune in on? Decide the particular level of intelligence you are going to listen in on and you will become of that level."

Dr. Horn particularly urged the students of the college to select the very best that the school has to offer. "You are entitled to it," he added, "and I sincerely hope that you see to it that you get it."

His final plea was that the seniors, who were guests of honor at the convocation, should strive to set the standard of the college higher.

The convocation was opened by the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers" and Rev. J. O. Haymes, pastor of the first Methodist church gave the invocation.

There was special music by the Baptist Students quartet.

To obtain a position as civil service messenger under the new rules in England a boy must pass an examination including questions on botany, advance arithmetic, drawing and economic history.

Bath bowls of bright colors and coca brushes with enamelled backs, ornamented with a picture of a dog and the inscription "Brushing Time", are among the latest novelties in London for pet dogs.

Every candidate for a license to drive a taxicab in London has to give a strict medical examination.

Matador Basketball Team To Meet School Of Mines Here Friday And Saturday Nights

Chinese Class To Continue

Teaching of the Chinese language will be continued during the winter term, according to David Au, Chinese student in the college. The class meets at 2 o'clock each Thursday and several students were enrolled in the class last fall. Many of the students who are majoring in English are enrolled in the course.

Matador Band To Reorganize

Vacancies Caused By Students Leaving School; Students Now Registered In Tech May Try Out For Membership

During the next two weeks the Tech Matadors band will be reorganized, according to Harry LeMaire, director.

There are a number of vacancies in the band caused by students not returning after the Christmas holidays. Beginning next Monday any student registered in the college is eligible to play in the band for two weeks. At the end of this time a try-out will be held and the best players will be selected to play again in the band.

The vacancies are one cornet, two trombones, two clarinets, and one bass.

Band practice is held each morning from 7 until 8 o'clock in the auditorium of the chemistry building. During the fall term the band practiced approximately ninety times.

Tentative plans are also being drawn up for a tour next summer of the western and northern states.

Harry LeMaire is director and Staniel Bagwell is assistant director of the organization.

Completes Social Science Program

The program for the Southwestern Political and Social Science Association has just been completed by Dr. W. A. Jackson, who is the program chairman for the government section.

The association meets in Oklahoma City on April 3 and 4. Dr. Jackson, who is head of the government department, H. C. Pender, M. E. Ogden, and J. W. Jackson, also of the department, plan to attend the meeting.

Meeting Is Called For Spanish Club

First meeting of the winter term for "La Capa Y Espada," Tech Spanish club, will be held in room 310 of the administration building at 7:30 tonight.

Plans of this term's programs will be discussed at the meeting and it is probable that several will apply for membership into the club.

Southern College Acclaims Her

It isn't difficult to understand why Miss Janie Secret of Monroe, N. C. has been voted the most beautiful girl at North Carolina College for Women. She was chosen from among 1,800 students.

Girl Given Credit For Grid Fame

Even if she didn't play in a single game, nor even coach, Mrs. Joe Almoray gets credit for helping Louisiana State varsity attain its fine record this season. She is the wife of the team's star backfield man. In order to enable Joe to stay in school and play football, Mrs. Joe worked at the office of the highway commission every day in Baton Rouge.

Sock And Buskin Elects Officers

The Sock and Buskin club met Tuesday night, January 6th in room 402 of the administration building. Officers for the following term were elected: President, Margaret Cooper; Vice President, Graydon Ausmus; Secretary and Treasurer, Virgil Rowland; Reporter, Ernestine Reynolds; Sergeant at Arms, Carl Crutchefield.

Stone's Collegians Play At Amarillo

"Frank Stone and his Collegians" returned last week from a ten-day stay in Amarillo. While there they played a series of dances at the Country Club, Elks club, Pejo Duvo hotel, and broadcasted a number of programs over station WDAG at the Capitol hotel.

There has been one change made in the personnel of the orchestra. Buford Dovel, who is the only member not attending Tech, has replaced Gerald Geysler as drummer.

Because of difficulties which they say they got into as soon as they entered France, several cab drivers who had started on a tour of Europe in their cars, have returned to Barcelona, Spain, after having covered nearly 1,000 miles.

THE HIGH COST OF BOARD

During these days of depression when the world's prosperity is at its lowest ebb, when unemployment exists everywhere, when men are being laid off their long held jobs and when prices on everything are being lowered to normal for the first time since the world war, there seems to be one institution in Lubbock which continues with its war time prices; The Tech boarding houses.

Every single item in the grocery line is selling from ten to fifty per cent lower than this time last year. Wages have been reduced, and help which is plentiful may be had very cheaply. Students have come to Tech with the hopes of getting by cheaper than ever before. Yet the Tech boarding houses continue with the same price of board as during recent prosperity years.

There is no doubt but that the boarding places made money last year. Otherwise they would not have reopened. There is still less doubt that with groceries reduced thirty-five per cent and with wages reduced considerably, the places are making much more money.

During this time when practically every student is economizing, many were forced to drop from school due to finances, it seems that the boarding places which the students have caused to exist by their patronage should at least be fair and share their part of bearing the depression load. It would only be a little practice of the Golden rule.

THE NEW YEAR

The New Year is the dawn of hope for many and it will probably be a year long remembered as one in which rebuilding of financial circumstances and firmer, stronger foundations of business life for the years to come will be inaugurated. Admonitions are scarce and failure is almost sure to come for those who are neglected. The world's business is everybody's business. The New Year will only bring in prosperity what the world puts into it. Each individual may help and each individual will derive his interest and returns only from his earnest labors put forth for the betterment.

What will this year mean to us is certainly no different to the millions of those who are extracting education and knowledge from their different colleges and universities. We should be as deeply interested in the welfare of 1931 as those who now have to bare the heavy burden of depression. We should strive even in the small way that we might to equalize conditions. Surely we are the ones to promote business in a few short years from now and a lesson learned during the present circumstances will not be in vain for a future year. We should see the true value of courage and intelligence that is so profoundly needed in this trying time. The old saying what we should profit by others mistakes would certainly not be unwise under these conditions.

The value of money should now be realized and a thorough lesson in saving should have been learned by the majority who understand the conditions of the country. The value of an education has been increased over that of other years and it surely must be realized by those who are striving for the so important knowledge. Therefore try to get out of college all that will aid in the mode of living after school has been finished. To do this it will depend entirely upon the individual and he will reap benefits from only those efforts that he himself has contributed.

Dr. Beck Gets Letter From Friend In Europe

Dr. Thor J. Beck, head of the French and German departments of Tech, has received a letter from a friend of his, Mr. Alexander F. Mellyn, who is studying on his doctor's degree at the University of Strasbourg in Alsace-Lorraine. He has his M. A. from the University of Michigan and succeeded Dr. Beck as Professor of Modern Languages, Emory and Henry College in Virginia. The University of Michigan is one of the sixteen American colleges whose M. A. is counted as equivalent to the French "licence." Mr. Mellyn tells many interesting facts in his letter about the country, the people, and the customs in Alsace-Lorraine. He says, "that Strasbourg is only a short distance from the German border and the atmosphere there is still heavy with war politics. Clericalism appears to be strong. The University has both a catholic and a protestant theological faculty. He says, however, that the mayor of Strasbourg is a Communist and does not hide his sympathies for Germany. In speaking of the language of the people he says that the bourgeoisie speak French; the plain people speak Alsatian and some French. Their papers, however, are published in high German. Expenses are much less on the continent than in America, according to Mr. Mellyn. He can go to school four semesters for $18.50. Also in planning for the publication of his doctor's dissertation he finds that he can get 500 copies of a 100 page book with good paper and good binding, printed for $175.00. These prices are exceptionally low when compared with similar ones in the United States. Mr. Mellyn is very complimentary about the architecture of Strasbourg which is distinctly French. The famous cathedral is quite naturally the high spot of the city," he says. "No church I have ever seen can compare with it in its grave, majestic beauty. This is in the nature—very in nature—of a one-act tragedy. Aspiring but unappreciated young author writes to the young lady of his choice offering his hand in marriage. She answers, beginning 'I regret to say—' Out of sheer force of habit, he thrusts himself into the wastepaper basket with the rest of the rejection slips. American Legion Monthly. 'If you're there before it's over, you're on time.'—Mayor James J. Walker of New York. Five thousand new shade trees will be planted on New Orleans streets and avenues during 1931.

"Paid" To Start Soon At Lindsey

"Paid," which will be the attraction strating Sunday at the Lindsey Theatre, is Joan Crawford's first straight dramatic starring vehicle and is of particular interest in being the first dialogue film version of Bayard Vellier's sensational stage play, "Within the Law."

According to word from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, Miss Crawford was given her opportunity to play the tragic heroine in this smashing underworld drama in recognition of her splendid portrayal in "Our Blushing Brides" and other recent hits. In essaying this difficult role, Miss Crawford follows in the footsteps of Jane Cowl who created the part of Mary Turner on the New York stage in 1912, and Alice Joyce and Norma Talmadge who played it on the silent screen in 1917 and 1923 respectively.

Vellier's Best Drama The play was written eighteen years ago and is generally regarded as Vellier's finest work. Among the dramatist's other successes were "The Thirteenth Chair" and "The Trial of Mary Dugan." With the exception of modernization of dialogue and setting by Lucien Hubbard and Charles MacArthur, the play comes to the talking screen intact in original form. Sam Wood, who directed the production, last filmed "Way for a Sailor" with John Gilbert. He previously screened "The Girl from Notre Dame" and "So This Is College." Wood is a veteran of the directorial ranks, having first won recognition for exceptional work with the late Wallace Reid.

School attendance in Japan is now compulsory until pupils reach the age of 14.

Collegiate Notes

By Mildred Price

Delaware police were called upon recently to disperse a class fight between 400 freshmen and sophomore women on the campus of Ohio Wesleyan University.

Freshmen girls for several days had refused to appear in their freshman berets. They one evening the sophomores organized and swooped down on the freshman cottages.

The freshmen likewise were soon organized and a hot battle ensued. Hair was pulled, dresses torn and faces torn and scratched in the melee.

The first policeman on the scene mistook lipstick, smeared on the faces of the freshmen girls, as blood marks, and sent in a general alarm. The cops soon separated the combatants, and no one was seriously hurt in the conflict.

The unbridled fresh coeds later marched through downtown streets in snake dance formation, shouting to the world that they would not wear the prescribed freshman headgear.

Creating no little interest by its initial appearance, a new column came to light in the last edition of the Optimist, college paper from A. O. C. This column, entitled "New York, Week by Week," is being written by Walter Adams who is now attending Columbia University in New York City. Mr. Adams was a former student of A. O. C. and the students will enjoy reading his observations on the world's largest city. The Optimist plans to make this column a weekly feature in their paper.

An entirely new and altogether interesting collegiate contest is to feature the annual of the University of Utah, as is noticed by The Utah Chronicle. The great American duet, Betty Goetz and Joe Colton, are now wandering about the college campus unlabeled, but in the course of a few days they will take their place in the year book's hall of fame as the two most typical collegians. They will be chosen by the popular vote of the student body.

"In my view perjury could never have been more life than it is at the present time," said Justice McCordie, a prominent English legal light, in London recently.

Lewis Ayres To Be At Palace

The management of the Palace theater has announced Saturday as the opening date for "The Doorway to Hell," latest Warner Bros. and Vitaphone melodrama featuring Lewis Ayres, who won such distinction in "All Quiet on the Western Front."

In "The Doorway to Hell," which is probably the most understanding study of gang psychology yet presented, young Ayres plays the part of a mildmannered underworld king. Others in the cast are Charles Judels, Dorothy Matthews, Leon Janney, Robert Elliott, James Cagney, Kenneth Thompson, Jerry Mandy and Noel Madison. The story is by Rowland Brown. The screen dialogue was done by George Rosener. Archie Mayo directed. Thrilling in the extreme is this story of strong men gone wrong.

Cooking Class To Serve Luncheons

Luncheons are to be served on Tuesday and Thursday to the students and members of the college faculty in the Home Economics tea room this term, according to Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the school of Home Economics.

Notre Dame Wins Gridiron Award

Notre Dame wins a smashing victory in the final balloting of the country's leading sports writers engaged in selecting the championship football team of 1932 for the Albert Russel Erskine Award. For the second successive year, Notre Dame captured the national gridiron title, according to announcement by W. O. McCeehan, chairman of the Erskine Committee of Award.

The preliminary ballot, which was completed two weeks ago, resulted in re-submitting to the jurors the names of Notre Dame, Southern California, and Alabama for the final vote. This final vote tallies 261 for the South Bend team and 5 for Alabama. It includes the votes of the sporting writers who compose the jury, plus the votes of the 20 members of the Award Committee, Theodore Roosevelt's selection was called from Porto Rico by way of the War Department in Washington.

The Notre Dame team will be entitled to hold for another year the huge silver cup which is the emblem of victory. The formal presentation of this cup, as well as the presentation of a parchment scroll and a Studebaker car to Rockne, took place in New York on January 2, 1931.

GETTING OUR NAMES IN THE PAPER

Well, here we are again—you are going to have to put up with this for another five or six months at least.

You have all heard about that 'bad penny' which always turns up about children, like birds will, always come home to roost and all such stuff? Well, that looks like what some of our straying pennies and children have done.

There's Mary Allen who went to Baylor before Xmas, who has come back to go to Tech.

And June Hargus decided that the climate around Lubbock and Tech was better for his health than that of Illinois and Nebraska where he has been working, and has come back to go to school.

We guess most of you have seen Hogue Williams by now. You remember he is the boy that did the school so much good when he was here. Our students prey last year, etc. etc. etc.

We can see right now that our basketball team is going to prosper this season, because Jake Bourland has come back. He's been laboring in Fort Worth for the last few months.

And Jimmy Kerr, too. The makings of a basketball team right in those two men. Hooray! Too bad that Bill Maxwell couldn't come back as he had planned.

Fred Fairley finally got in. We told you to expect him this term. Now don't you girls rush him too much. He's still just a wee bit bashful!

Dick Bond and Bill Kline are in. We never expected them to get by the Dean's office. Don't tell us the day of Miracles is passed!

That blonde Colie girl, that makes such good grades is back this term. She is especially good in English. Glad to see you.

The greatest break this school's tennis squad has received in several months is when Louis Lahm decided to come back. Now, men, there's some competition for you.

Another break for the same department was when Gordon May registered. He was competition last year, but wasn't eligible because he was a transfer from McMurray. We're going to expect great things from our tennis squad this year.

Speaking of tennis—Santy Clause brought the writer of this column a new Spalding Top-flite for Christmas, and needs some competition. Anybody wishing to indulge—just drop in at the office.

Annie Lou Barrier will be among those present during this term.

The worst Christmas vacation story we've heard is that Percy Powers bought his Christmas cards and was too lazy to go get them out of his car, and consequently didn't mail them. Any of you that expected a card from Percy know why you didn't get it. His spirit was willing but his flesh was weak!

Brad Nunlee has been here visiting. Glad to have you Brad, and wish you could be in school.

Don't tell us there ain't no Santy Clause, because in answer to our letter, he gave Johnny Autman that train that he wanted so badly. He went to a Christmas tree at his girl's home and there hung his train. Imagine his embarrassment!

You men certainly came in answer to our plea for aid beautifully! At the last All-college as the

BY JAY TIMMONS

The trend of sports "write ups" seems to be taking on an air of review for the year that has just gone out. Differing from the times, decidedly, in that business has labored under a false impression of hard times the sports world has enjoyed greater attendance, more publicity, broken records, enthusiasm and better leadership.

Knute Rockne started with an underdog atmosphere and arose to the heights of national championship with a team that will place as many men on the All American team as any other school in the football realm.

Bobby Jones amid the cheers of this great nation won the four major golf titles of the year and retired shortly after this wonderful record to show the great mass of golf players how to improve their scores.

Our beloved Connie Mack brought his Athletics to the foreground to win his fifth world series triumph. Gallant Fox, the second "Man seventh girl went on the floor there were exactly thirty-five boys! And a great time was had by all—the girls. Hope you respond as willingly every time we call on you.

We would be through with our staff members if we hadn't had such a radical change just before Christmas. Due to a resignation in the staff we had to promote some of our reporters. Chief among them was Kenneth Hart. He's a very poor reporter, but it seems that he kept the Aggies on the front page, so if he does his sports as well we'll give him a gold star by his name.

O'War", of turf renown won an unprecedented bag of money for his supporters in racing circles. For the first time in the history of the ring a big overgrown German won the World's championship Heavy-weight boxing title on a foul. Army-Navy teams resumed their age old conflict on the gridiron before a record breaking crowd of 70,000 fans for funds to help those unfortunate many out of jobs.

Tech for the first time in her history seems to be taking on an air of enthusiasm for the intramural sports of the coming year. With Pete Cawthon, athletic leader and advisor, many of the proteges of football, basketball, boxing, fencing and wrestling have opened the new year on the campus with a serious thought of training for the contests that will take place during the next few months. El Toro says power to them and to the coaching staff composed of Morgan, Golightly, Sadook, Fisher and Cawthon. It's a great step toward athletic enthusiasm, so necessary to this great and growing institution.

The Tech cagers lost their first combat with the Sooner aggregation only to reverse the tables in the second go around. They displayed fast and well timed Varsity Five. It looks as though the boys are going to put up a real show in the tournaments to come. Captain Hodges, Varsity man of last year, is in fine form and with the support of Tadlock, Fisher, we have promises of finding an entertaining place with our fifty cent pieces.

Gridmen will continue their stay in Cheri Case for the rest of the year. That's a piece we should all think of as a place of real sportsmanship where only the true blue MEN of the campus are entitled to stay. Not that there are not many more of the same kind of men in this school, but the fact that no unnecessary and un-called for dissipation of manliness ever takes place.

El Toro wishes his two readers a prosperous NEW YEAR with the hopes that they will support the efforts of the Athletic leaders in every way possible. Adieu.

Miss Elizabeth Hardgrave spent Christmas in Dallas, where she visited relatives and friends.

club was for last Monday night, but because of the holiday vacation the meeting was postponed until next Monday night.

Miss Elnor Aycock spent the Christmas holidays in Rosebud where she lived before moving to Lubbock.

L. C. (Happy) Dalton of Lake Arthur, New Mexico, visited James Dominty in Lubbock during the Christmas holidays.

Floral Company Opens Unit On College Avenue

On eighth and College Avenue directly across from Tech Field one notices a large greenhouse with an office fronting it of no little beauty. Flowers are grown, kept and delivered, from this thriving business concern, which insures the buyer of the very freshest things in the floral line.

Nearly a year ago this particular concern took up their quarters across from the Lubbock Sanitarium Clinic under the name of "The Broadway Flower Shop". Since that time their business has been a growing institution both in the way of service to their customers and of courtesy to anyone who enters their door.

The Broadway Flower Shop catered to the floral needs of the different clubs about the campus. They have been staunch supporters of every helpful move made by the College. Today they have taken up their quarters as our neighbors and will continue to do business under the same management as before. Mrs. Eubanks is a student of floral design and decoration work and has accomplished much along this line.

We are glad to see this growing concern moving toward the Tech Campus and believe that they will be followed later by other business concerns as the school grows and the demand for commodities increases. The newly adopted name of this greater Broadway Flower Shop will be The South Plains Floral Company.

Well folks here we are back again doing our regular daily meeting of classes after enjoying the Christmas holidays. Through conversing with several of the eds and co-eds I find that the majority spent their vacation doing odd and ends in the "ole" home town. While a few were audacious enough to venture into other localities where they visited friends and relatives. On the whole no adverse comments were heard concerning the fruitful way in which every one spent their holidays. In other words a good time was had by all.

To break the monotony of one long continuous bit of unintelligent scribbling this column for the present is going to be separated from one topic to the other. This is being tried out and if it looks any better, then maybe it will stay that way. Of course it will be just like when the talkies first came out the people paid for engineers salaries while experiments were being made. And the office boys salary must go on while the experimenting is in progress. The salary for this column is two cigarettes and one chew of tobacco paid every week.

Tech has its share of Hero's. The story goes that three or maybe more Tech students were enroute from Brownwood, Texas and on entering into the city limits of Cisco, they discovered a house in flames right near by. As hero's would do, the car was stopped and the three brave men gallantly rushed into the flaming house. Furniture and everything that could be found was taken from the burning building by these daring chivalry hero's. It was rumored that a blond was saved from the falling debris but I think one of the boys just grabbed a mop and thought it was a female character. It would hardly be fair to give the names of such courageous men and surely due credit will be extended there. They are as follows: Winfrey Wardell, Elmore Plemons, and Bo Williams. There might have been another but at the present writing I have either forgotten or I just don't know. This story comes from Bo Williams and further information of the heroic act can be obtained from him.

Part of my holidays spent viewing the sights, through a street car window, of a metropolitan city in Texas. Being raised in a country town I still thrill at the bright lights. The window displays, tall buildings, continual cries of the news boys, and the hurry throng of thousands of people through the streets, give a perfect picture of city life. The man who carries his cross-word puzzles and dictionary along with him on the street car to have something to pass away the time between the office and home. The crowded conditions of street cars give the morning when everybody is going to work and again in the afternoon when the same crowd is leaving their job until the next day.

The newsboys make the city seem civilized more than any other one thing. They find the most daring write up and then make use of their voice to shout it out to the many passing by. Whether it be a murder, a car wreck, or an explosion the newsies use them as their sales chatter.

Another interesting spectacle viewed only in the cities is the craftsmanship shown by engineers on the steel shell sky scrapers reaching hundreds of feet into the air. The steel skeleton must be put into place before the cement work can commence. The old method of riveting is fast becoming extinct and arc-welding is taking its place.

These happenings and many others make the city a drawing card for college graduates. And once the boy leaves the farm for the city he seldom ever returns to the

SWISS EAGLE IN NEST FILMED
Motion pictures of a young eagle in his nest have just been made, on the western flank of the Hallenstock, in the Linthal, in Switzerland. Gamekeepers lowered a camera man to a narrow rock 30 feet above the nest. When the older birds were away he filmed the young one, which was about the size of a chicken, lying on a bed of fir branches and eating the carcass of a small chamois. At another time one of the large eagles returned, and the photographer gamekeepers were ready to fire blank cartridges to frighten the bird, but the eagle, after circling above the nest, flew away. When the photographer went down for the third time he noticed that the parents had brought to the nest two squirrels.

O Yez! O Yez! Court Of Cheri Casa In Session

Newly Married Man Tried By Football Court In Mock Trial; Others Tried

I, the undersigned, do bring charges in this the most honorable and high court of the Matadors, on December 1, 1930 before the most upright and honorable justice, George Langford, against one of our members who has fallen by the way, J. Orville Brothers.

Whereas on the sixth day of September the defendant along with his girl, Mary Elva Burns, secretly and inappropriately left the most peaceful city of Lubbock without the consent of the consenters and journeyed to that lovely country of New Mexico, to the Disreputable town of Clovis and there the two were joined in wedlock by a base and constable for the sum of two bits. This point we could allow, but since the sixth day of that school month he lived among us, (the members of the Matador Court) as a single man. We believe that it itself is enough for conviction, but the following facts are true. He would and did on several separate and distinct occasions take in vain the names of those who professed to be "courtiers". His actions and deeds were such that a married man should never indulge. Last, he continually instigated a water fight. I think the above charges to be worthy of consideration after many hours of patient study and discussion, and ask the most honorable judge to try the said Brothers in the light of these charges.

Signed—Floyd Woolridge, (foreman), William Flowers, and Howell, found the defendant guilty after lengthy deliberation and argument, with a recommendation for mercy.

Judge Langford assessed the prisoner two spots from each the wielders of mercy, Moffett, Durham, and Ayres.

The charge against Darr was read next. It reads as follows: Before this Matador Court of Justice, in the name of the morals and common decency of the inmates of this hall, we charge Jewell E. Darr with the grave offense of wearing garters, commonly known as spats draped over his dogs.

Bridge Party Given By Wranglers Club

The Wranglers, mens social club, entertained with a stag bridge party at Hotel Lubbock last Monday evening.

Special guests for the occasion were Russel Rylander, Andy Freeman, and Fred Hinger.

Members present were as follows: Frank Emlson, Ralph Penny, Paul Hardy, Harrison Thomas, Don Leach, Vincent Foster, Jake Bourland, E. W. Herring, Joe Kelley, Ted Moody, Noel Cason, and Kirmit Smith.

The defendant speaks: "Up in Mexico where I was an all-county man they couldn't understand why I would be punished for such an absurd charge and so I ask for a change of venue."

Judge: "Trial must be continued here."

Darr: "It looks bad to me."

Secretary Dallas: "Don't you realize that this is the mark of a jelly?"

Darr: "I plead not guilty because of insanity. Furthermore, I doubt that I can secure a fair trial in this court."

Judge: "I'll ask Dr. Durham and Tadlock to examine the prisoner." At this point the spats were found
