Roundtable discussions were offered for residence hall advisers to exchange ideas.

The theme of this year's conference was Cowboys, Canyons and Sunset Serenades. Friday night the conference hosted a western barbecue at the Texas Tech Ranching Heritage Center and casino night was Saturday in the University Center.

Villyard said the Lubbock Jaycees and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce helped the committee with parts of the conference.

The visiting RAs had the opportunity to tour the campus and some of Tech's facilities Saturday. They also set up displays about their schools in the business administration building rotunda.

Tech's SBA hopes to strengthen law school, main campus ties

Students fight rain forest destruction

Lydia Guajardo Lifestyles Writer

You say you went on a shopping spree this weekend. It was a big shopping spree. You bought items for the home?

This weekend you bought a couple of end tables for the living room. How nice it looked with the rest of the furniture. What were they made of? Mahogany?

It may well be that those tables and the other mahogany pieces or wooden products that you own are contributers to the destruction of the rain forests of the world.

Many products sold in the United States are made of, or contain, a portion of wood from the tropical rain forests.

Some brands of pencils contain jelutong, an imported tropical wood. Picture frames, tool handlesand wooden cassette boxes also are products which contain imported

The place a product is manufactured is a good indication whether it

The main imported woods used most often in the states are launan, teak, mahogany, and rosewood. Launan is most commonly used for plywood while teak is often used for kitchen utensils and salad bowls. Office and home furniture is also built from these various types of woods.

But how is this affecting the students of the nation? Well, the wood is used to build and renovate university structures.

Students rallying together to save the rain forests have formed the group Rainforest Action Network. The student group, headquartered in San Francisco, has grown from 30 organized groups to 45 groups located at various universities and colleges around the country.

In 1990, a RAN affiliate, the Students Environmental Action Coalition at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, reached an informal negotiation with the school's administration to cease purchasing of tropical rain forest wood for furniture and building construction.

RAN has 30,000 members and more than 100 affiliate groups across the nation and in Canada. The groups are located in California, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine. Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Ver-

Jilted woman fakes breast cancer

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — A woman jilted by her fiance sought sympathy by faking terminal breast cancer for two years, shaving her head and dieting away 20 pounds or so, a psychiatrist says. She even fooled a cancer support group.

The woman, who also feigned listlessness and loss of appetite, built up a network of close friends among support-group members.

That was gratifying for somebody who usually had trouble establishing relationships, and who faced the aftermath of the broken engagement.

"She felt that the process of rebuilding a social life for herself was simply overwhelming. She needed a shortcut," said Dr. Marc Feldman.

Feldman, a psychiatrist in Birmingham, Ala., is a co-author of a report on the case in the spring issue of the journal Psychosomatics.

The woman had what psychiatrists call a factitious disorder. In this condition, a person consciously fakes an illness for some psychological gain. A well-known variant is Munchausen syndrome, in which a person virtually makes a career of being a patient.

Nobody knows how common factitious disorder is, said Dr. David Folks, a professor in the department of psychiatry and behavioral

TAUGHT IN ENGLISH BY DANISH FACULTY

Hans Christian Andersen (1805 - 75) - the great Danish fairy-tale writer - understood the value of expanding your world:

TO TRAVEL IS TO LIVE! LIFE BECOMES RICH AND EXCITING WHEN YOU ARE NOURISHED BY THE GREAT WORLD. 'TO EUROPE' IS THE CRY FROM THE SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF AMERICA. TO THE LAND OF OUR FATHERS, THE WONDERFUL LAND OF MEMORIES AND DREAMS - EUROPE!"

DIS, Denmark's International Study Program. Affiliated with the University of Copenhagen. One of Europe's oldest, safest and most highly esteemed study abroad programs. Established, recognized and supervised by the Danish government.

Topwork from the DIS program was what I got - it really fulfilled my academic expectations. The fact that instruction was in English, but by Danish faculty, substantially added to the program - gave a true insight into what Danes and other Europeans feel about the new developments. That, logether with the study tours and field trips, and my Danish host-family that I loved, have been highlights of my stay.

Steven C. Robison, University of the Pacific, Fall 1990

The DIS program was one of the biggest challenges I have ever had to face. I have learned so much because I was experiencing the curriculum in addition to just reading about it. The study tours arranged by DIS added tremendously to this real life experience'. Europe is expensive but with DIS I got more than full value for the money I spent. Tech escapes Austin with one win; keeps postseason hopes alive

By ANDREW HARRIS The University Daily

AUSTIN - Passers-by at Texas' Disch-Falk Field are used to the familar 'ping' of baseballs being smashed off of Longhorn bats. In Saturday's Red Raider-Texas Southwest Conference doubleheader, fans heard a somewhat unfamiliar sound nothing.

Saturday's twinbill saw Tech and Texas combine for only 19 hits, just two more than in Friday's opener.

But perhaps the most important 'ping' Tech heard this season came in the top of the fourth inning in Saturday's second game when Raider right fielder Jeff Boydston singled home Jon Mize to give Tech

Brandenburg ing up his 11th win of the year. Boydston a 1-0 lead. That would be the only run the Raiders would score on the day, but it would hold up and give Tech a 1-0 win over the Longhorns, salvaging the series and avoiding a

With the win, the Raiders snapped a 20-game losing streak at the hands of the 'Horns.

Earlier in the day, Texas' Roger Luce's sacrifice fly brought home the 'Horns winning run as the Longhorns (36-12, 9-3) captured the first game 1-0 in eight innings.

But the highlight of the day came from the Raiders' ace Mark Brandenburg, who shut down the potent Texas offense, holding the Longhorns to only four hits in pick-Brandenburg (11-3, 3-1) went seven innings, chalking up his 12th complete game of the season.

"It was a good game," Brandenburg said. "I just wish we could have won three instead of one."

The only time Brandenburg found himself in trouble was in the Longhorns' half of the third inning. Texas third baseman Clay King and right fielder Dean Haskins led off the inning with back-to-back singles. Short stop Shane Halter grounded into a fielder's choice, followed by a Calvin Murray bunt that moved the runners up.

But the 'Horns were unable to cash in as Kevin Pate grounded out to second to quell the Longhorn Tech (37-13, 8-7) got an equally good performance from first-game starter Rodney Steph, who pitched seven and two-thirds innings, scattering six hits and allowing one run. Texas countered with excellent pitching of its own, as Brooks Kieschnick threw seven and onethird innings of scoreless ball, allowing only two hits, before giving way to lefty Chris Cox with one out and one on in the top of the

In Friday night's opening game of the series, Tech got started early with consecutive hits from Kent Blasingame, Joe Mendazona, Tony Tijerina, Darrin Glenn, Greg Cushman and Wes Shook to stake freshman Travis Driskill with a 4-0 lead after a half inning of play.

But the hinges quickly came off for the Raiders as the Longorns touched Tech pitchers for seven runs in the second inning, behind four consecutive walks and three wild pitches.

Texas never looked back, as junior Chris Gaskill came on in relief in the first inning to surrender only two hits in eight and two-thirds innings of work as the Longhorns pounded Tech 14-4.

Tech thinclads fair well at Jacobs meet

The Texas Tech men's track team participated in the John Jacobs Invitiational in Norman, Okla., this weekend as the Red Raiders came home with some important victories.

Junior all-American Tony Walton showed why he is an all-American, pacing the 400-meter relay team and winning the long jump portion of the meet.

The team of Walton, Wood Holman, Ricky Atkins and Tony Brown won with a time of 40.21 which was good enough to beat Oklahoma and Baylor.

In the long jump, Walton jumped 24-feet, 11-inches, while Holman got his second victory of the day in the Tech's Mitchell signs 100 meters with a time of 10.66. Walton also finished third in the 200 meters, while Tony Miller finished seventh in 22.75 seconds.

Toby Howell also picked up a victory in the javelin, in the absence of Rodrigo Zelaya, by throwing 215-feet, 5-inches.

Thomson to golf team

The Texas Tech women's golf team received some good news last week with the signing of Richardson-J.J. Pierce High School's Tracy Thomson.

She will be in the 1991 fall lineup for the Red Raiders. Tech coach Jeff Mitchell says Thomson shoots in the mid 70s. He also said he feels she will make an immediate impact Four Arkansas basketball players, including second team All-American Todd Day, were suspended from the team for one year by the All University Judicial Board, sources said last week. Their appeal to B. Alan Sugg, university system president, may be resolved this week, Sugg said.

Aikman look-alike Hollas takes aim at career in NFL; wants to play for 'Pokes

By The Associated Press

Hollas

DALLAS -During his final six weeks as Arkansas' defensive coordinator, Fred Goldsmith became blearyeyed from watching film of UCLA quarterback Troy Aikman.

His final task before becoming Rice's coach was preparing the Arkansas defense for the 1989 Mobil Cotton Bowl Classic.

When Goldsmith arrived in Houston, he found an Aikman lookalike wearing a Rice uniform. Oddly, Donald Hollas was playing safety.

"Donald is big, strong, and he has the strong arm just like Aikman," Goldsmith said. "And he can move. When scouts come down here, they make the same comparisons to Standing side by side in pads and helmets, Hollas and Aikman might seem like football twins.

Both are slightly shorter than 6-4. Both carry 220 pounds like an outside linebacker.

The difference is that Aikman brought razor-sharp skills to the Cowboys and the NFL from a sophisticated college offense.

"I will have to be groomed," Hollas said. "I have a lot of raw talent and that dreaded word, 'potential.' I think in time that I can make it in the NFL."

Hollas is in a rare category of draft-eligible players who have yet to be slotted by scouts.

Once mentioned as a possible sixth-rounder in the April 21-22 draft, Hollas has recently emerged as a potential second- or thirdround pick. Since the Indianapolis scouting combine in early February, his stock has risen faster than anyone's.

"One of the most interesting players in the draft," a scout said. "You will see a lot of teams taking a second look at him. Right now, we have him right behind (Dan) McGwire and (Brett) Favre. That means he could easily land in the second round."

McGwire, from San Diego State, and Favre, from Southern Mississippi, are considered sure first-round choices. New England still might take the 6-8 McGwire as the first overall choice.

Giants General Manager George Young, a highly respected talent evaluator, said Hollas grades well.

"I don't know if he has a firstround grade," Young said. "I think he will get some attention. I cannot tell where he will go just yet. We think well of him, and we like him more every day. He also plays

Indeed, Hollas played most of the 1990 season on a sore right knee that required arthroscopic surgery a week after the season.

Four weeks later, Hollas threw one touchdown pass and ran for a score in the Senior Bowl. Most scouts thought he performed better than McGwire and Favre.

"He is a competitor and an excellent athlete and has possibilities, said Cowboys coach Jimmy Johnson, who won't scout Hollas but won't rule out taking him. "We have not determined that position. A lot is determined on the early rounds."

Eight teams have scouted Hollas since early February. Green Bay coach Lindy Infante even tutored Hollas on footwork.

The Packers signed Mike Tomczak out of Plan B but still might want Hollas in the third round.

"Naturally, I am a little prejudiced about Donald," Goldsmith said. "But I've watched McGwire a lot because I study the one-back set. Donald is better than McGwire. His numbers weren't as good in college because we ran a conservative offense. But Donald has a strong arm and is far more athletic than McGwire."

Hollas, an academic All-American, will graduate May 4 with a 3.6 grade-point average and a triple major in general business, sports management and political Academics, however, no longer will be a priority after the draft.

"All I want to do right now is play in the NFL," he said. "What I would really like to do is play for the Dallas Cowboys."

Boddicker (1-1) walked three and struck out four — including Hensley Meulens three times.

The Yankees loaded the bases off Mark Davis in the ninth inning and Bryn Smith (2-0) allowed six hits Jeff Montgomery relieved with one out. Pinch-hitter Mel Hall then cleared the bases with a double. But Montgomery nailed down the last two outs for his third save.
