The Bull Wheel

FISH BROOKS ran up to JOHN LOUIS COOK and said, "Say, do you know what the greatest thing out?" John Louis, wondering how he was going to pay his monthly bills, replied "Out of debt, boy!"

CHARLES CARTER says that the English prayer-book entitled "The Poorer" is four times poorer, four better, it is worse.

A dog wears more clothes in summer than winter, because in winter he wears a coat and in summer he wears a coat and pants.

EMMETT FARRIS said that the reason Adam and Eve didn't gamble was that their pair was taken away from them.

Officials Here For Conference

Firm Starts Loan Fund For Worthy Students Of Tech

Dr. Horn And Dean Gordon Selected By Officials Of Store For Administrators Of $500 Donation

Now Have 12 Funds

$1000 Also Recently Added To Loan Fund Of Lubbock Rotary Club; Many Students Are Helped By It

INCREASING the total number of loan funds available for Tech students to 12, Carter-Houston, a local department store, recently lent a check for $500 to Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the college, to serve as the basis for a fund which they hope to increase from time to time.

Dr. Horn and Dean J. M. Gordon will be in charge of the administration of the fund, having been selected by officials of the store. They have expressed their appreciation for the service of Carter-Houston in giving assistance to needy students.

The approximate value of the 12 loan funds now available for Tech students is $27,500. At the last meeting of the Lubbock Rotary club an additional $1,000 was raised, bringing the total for the Rotary loan fund to $7,000. Dean Gordon announced at that time that there were 180 loans outstanding, and that 140 students had been helped by it since the beginning of the fund several years ago.

Tech Latin Club To Fete Contestants

Tech People To Take Part In Roman Banquet Planned For High School Students By S. P. Q. R.

Carrying out the theme of Virgil and his work, the Tech S. P. Q. R. club will entertain 150 contestants in the high school Latin tournament of the Northwest Tech as district with a Roman banquet at the Hotel Lubbock on the night of April 11. Mrs. William Dingus, head of the department of Latin, in the college will preside and Mr. M. Duncan, superintendent of the local high school, will deliver the opening address.

Dr. P. W. Horn, president of the college, the principal speaker of the evening, will discuss the subject, "Virgil and His Work." Dean J. M. Gordon of the school of liberal arts will speak on "What the Study of Virgil Means to the College Student."

King Sides will sing two numbers, one from Virgil's "Aeneid" and one from Tennyson's "To Virginia." Virginia Ruffledier will read, Margaret Baskin will give a classical dance, and there will be music by Mary Frances Ackard and Annie Fern Bickley.

Final plans for the banquet will be made at the meeting of S. P. Q. R. tomorrow night in room 310 at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. William Dingus, sponsor of the club, urges every member to be present.

Great Plains Meet To Be This Month

Victory In Contest Would Be Third Win For Tech, Giving Scarlet And Black Silver Loving Cup

The Great Plains intercollegiate track and field meet will be held in Canyon this year on April 25 and 26. The meet is an annual event sponsored by the West Texas institution, and a host of brilliant athletes are generally attracted. This year some 50 invitations will be sent to colleges and universities in Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas. Gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded to the winners of first, second and third place.

It is reported that a new event will be added to the meet this year. That is the Medley Relay. This race includes the 40, 220 and 800-yard dashes and makes one of the prettiest of relay races.

A silver loving cup will go to the school winning the meet. Tech has won this cup twice in the past, and should the Matadors come through with another victory this year the cup would become the permanent possession of the Scarlet and Black.

Tech Entry Places Second In West Texas Intercollegiate Play Contest

Engineers Nose Out Artists To Cop The Track Title

Three-Fifths Of A Point Margin Enable Engineers To Claim Supremacy In All Intramural Events

The Engineers nosed out the Liberal Arts in the intramural track meet which was completed Monday afternoon. By winning the meet by the narrow margin of three-fifths of a point, the Engineers became the champions of the three major intramural sports, having already won the intramural basketball and football titles.

The track championship was determined at a whirlwind finish in the 440 dash. Vizant from the Ag school was leading until the last two yards when Morgan, an Engineer, passed him. His time was 54.5 seconds. Hopper and Walker took third and fourth places respectively in the 440 to give the Artists 4 points, but this was one point shy of victory.

The Engineers entered the final afternoon of the contest more than 10 points behind the Liberal Arts. They emerged victors by taking first, second and third places in the two-mile run. Cantrell of Mexico, who was 100 yards over of the meet, won the first place in this event. His time was 11 minutes and 55 seconds. Wingo and Perry, both Engineers, were second and third men, respectively.

Walter Burns To Be Engineers' Editor

Walter Burns is to edit the special engineering edition of The Torreador which will be published next week. Work on this paper is now actively under way, and a large amount of material pertaining to the engineering school will be contained in it.

The special edition of The Torreador will be published next week. These helping Burns on this edition include Cary Lodal, Don Boggs and several others. The regular Torreador staff will work as usual at the gathering campus-wide news for the paper, although a large portion of the content is to pertain to matters related to the engineering school.

Aggie Students And Faculty Hear Co-Op Man Speak

Moser Discusses Work Of Government In Relieving Condition Of American Farmers

A special group of agricultural students and members of the faculty met with Mr. C. O. Moser, vice-president and secretary of the American Cotton Cooperative, to discuss the condition of the American farmer and his opportunities through the intervention of the co-ops last Monday evening at 8 o'clock. Although Mr. Moser took his stand on the principles of the Federal farm board's program, he freely discussed the possibility of the mistakes by the government in the farm relief measures.

The American Cotton Cooperative is the main organ of the Federal Farm Board in dealing with the cotton farmer. The set-up of this organization was briefly related and the exact functions of the district concentration centers, of which Lubbock has the opportunity of becoming one, were discussed.

After a summary of the co-operative movement history in other countries, Mr. Moser went on to show how that the farmers of this country had made history through their own activities. Besides being one of the country's greatest consumers of manufactured products, the American farmer is the greatest producer of wealth in the world. Yet without organization and education the condition of the farmer will not change appreciably.

The valor also discussed briefly the necessity for a decrease of acreage devoted to cotton and the possibility of large-scale production in the cotton industry itself.

Dr. R. E. Garlin underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Lubbock sanitarium last Friday.

Willis Judged Best Actor Among Men

TEXAS TECH was awarded second place in finals which culminated the second annual West Texas Intercollegiate one-act play tournament held in Abilene Monday and Tuesday of this week. R. V. Willis received the signal honor of being voted the best actor among the men participating in the contest.

Using the play "Dregs," by Frances Spencer, Howard Payne college of Brownwood won first place for the second time in two years. Miss Mabel Stoeck of that college was chosen the best player among the women.

The Tech group which took part in the tournament included R. V. Willis, Ellen Graves, Kate Pressley, and M. O. Phillips, giving the play "His Inheritance," by James Parks. Mr. Willis is one of the most talented and experienced dramatists of the college, having taken important roles in three major productions here this year, and having won a scholarship as the best actor in a state high school one-act play tournament last year.

Robert Randall, of Fort Worth, judge of the meet, said the Tech play had the strongest finish of any drama presented in the contest, but failed by a few points to equal the Howard Payne play as a whole. The tournament, which has been made an annual affair since its inception and first meeting here last year, was sponsored this year by the dramatic department of Simmons university in Abilene. Seven West Texas colleges participated.

Miss Ruth Pirtle, director of the play, and John Leok, Coach, accompanied the players to Abilene.

Stock To Compete At Plainview Show

Thirteen Head Of Cattle To Be Shipped To The Third Annual Panhandle Plains Dairy Show

Tech livestock from the school of agriculture will vie for honors at the third annual Panhandle Plains Dairy show to be held at Plainview April 7, 8, 9, 10. The exhibit this year, consisting of 13 head of cattle, is by some smaller than that of last year, but nothing except the best show animals will be included.

"Flowerdale Echo Cynthia, a Holstein Friesian, will be one of the major exhibits of the contest. She has a record of producing more than 90 pounds of butter last month. One of the bulls included in the Tech exhibit has never been beaten in his class at the Plainview shows.

We expect to make an excellent showing in the production contest," said Mr. W. L. Stangel, head of the department of animal husbandry. The Tech exhibit will be in charge of Ray C. Mowery and Mr. R. C. Middleton, graduate of the school of agriculture last year. The stock will be loaded out for Plainview Saturday or Sunday.

Dean Weeks Gives School Honor Roll

Announcement of students in the school of home economics who are especially to be commended for work done during the winter term has been made by Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the school. The following students have carried the regular college courses of five or more subjects during the winter term and have no grade less than B.

Elmer Anderson, Clara Bailey, Barbara Cryer, Mrs. Annie M. Ellsworth, Roxana Ruth Ford, Mary Evelyn Gordon, Mrs. H. T. Patterson, Mozelle Treadway, Eloise Wilkie, Ise Wolfe, Mina Marie Wolf, Hattie Mounts had no grade less than B in four subjects.

Spanish Teachers To Form Chapter

The Spanish department of Tech is sponsoring the establishment of a chapter of the American Association of Spanish teachers, a national organization with headquarters at Leland Stanford University. It is planned to have teachers of Spanish in the college and in the high schools of the South Plains become members of the association. Mr. C. B. Qualls, head of the Spanish department, is very enthusiastic over forming such a chapter.

Further Rules On Campus Social Life Adopted By Group

Inter-club Council Considers Recommendations Of The President; Important Items Disposed Of

Further restrictions and regulations governing the operation of social clubs on the campus and penalties for the infringement of rules were discussed and adopted by the inter-club council in its regular meeting Monday night.

The council had previously adopted resolutions regarding the activities of the social clubs and submitted these to Dr. P. W. Horn. The president's opinion on the resolutions was the chief topic of discussion Monday night. In addition to the former resolutions that were adopted the council unanimously decided to go on record as discouraging the purchase of expensive pins by the various clubs. It was also agreed that no club should make the purchase of pins compulsory. The scholastic requirement was set as C with no mention as to the number of hours. Recently the requirement was a C average on 12 hours work. It was further decided to make the average of each club come up to the general average of the entire college. Any club that failed to meet these standards would be placed on probation and not be allowed to place any social events on the college calendar.

The council also decided to have all prospective groups who desired to form a social club submit a petition to the council asking permission to charter a club. This petition would state the proposed aim and the proposed members of the new club, together with the average grade of each of the members for the preceding term.

It was decided that the council would co-operate with the dean of women's office in trying to balance the social calendar for the year by sending representatives to the conference with the dean to make reservations in advance for dates on the social calendar. The council decided that all class and society functions should be given due consideration in balancing the calendar. All college dances are also to be provided for.

Invited To Attend Thespian Contest

Students and visitors are invited to attend a contest to be held by members of the Thespian club next Tuesday afternoon at 6 o'clock in room 202. The participants will give two-minute selections from "Up," by Adams, and a prize is to be awarded the winner. Speakers will include Isabel Patterson, Ida Belle Templeton, Loyd White, Rhea Merle Boyer, Mary Francis Genter, Irma D. Palmer, Doris Ladd Johnson, Hilma Bartlett, Pearl O'Dell, Sophie Bender, Marjorie Blackhear, Francis Barks, and Martha Knight.

Judges will be members of the advanced expression club which includes L. C. Frazier, Twilight Baker, Vivian Williams, Lela Fay, McIntire, and Gertrude Osborne. Entries are to be judged on the following points: voice, memory, stage appearance, pantomime, and general interpretation.

Council Discusses Coming Elections

Calls Attention To Special Requirements For Candidates For All Offices Of Publications

Discussion of the coming spring candidates concluded the principal business of the student council at the last meeting Thursday evening. It was decided to call attention to the special requirements exacted of candidates for any of the publications offices. It is required that all candidates be of at least 50 standing; that is, they must have at least 90 hours credit by the end of the spring term. Each prospective candidate must also draw up a petition stating his intention of running for an office, and the petition must be signed by at least 50 students at Tech. This petition must be presented not less than 10 days nor more than 30 days before the elections, which are to be held May 5 and 6.

New Matador Mentor Declares That Hard Work Is To Be Program For New Regime Ushered In For Tech Athletics

Pete Cawthon Is Introduced To Student Body At Convocation Yesterday; Makes Short Talk

Work Is Started

Coach Calls For Material For Matador Squad To Report And Start Training Immediately

HEAD COACH Pete Cawthon made his first appearance before the student body of the Texas Technological College yesterday morning at a student convocation.

"I am coming out here to work," Pete declared in the very beginning of his short but positive address. "I am going to expect the co-operation of the entire student body in the drive to better Tech athletics. I am fully aware that a great work along the line of athletic development has already been done by those who have preceded me. Cawthon paid further tribute to E. V. Freeland and others who have had charge of Tech athletics.

Plans New Program
"I am going to inaugurate a new kind of program, different from anything that has been conducted here before. He had no more definite statements to make, but what he intends to do, stating that "I am going to study the situation and feel things out and talk later—otherwise I might have to apologize."

In an interview with Cawthon previous to the convocation, the new Matador mentor indicated that he would not be in a position to say just what assistants would be until he had had a chance to get thoroughly familiar with the situation here. He further stated that spring training would probably last about four or six weeks, and that if possible a spring game with another college would be matched.

All Athletes Meet
Cawthon announced that there would be a meeting of all men interested in any form of athletics at the college gym Wednesday afternoon. The purpose was to give him a chance to meet and learn all the athletes or prospective athletes. Football equipment was loaned to all varsity players at 1:00 p. m. Wednesday, and at 3:30 material was issued to any other men who wished to take part in spring training.

Cawthon arrived in Lubbock from Ft. Worth Wednesday morning and was met at the train by a large delegation of college students, professors, and local business men. At the convocation the student body gave the new mentor a rousing welcome.

President Paul W. Horn will speak to a general convocation of students and faculty on "The Responsibility of Journalism to the Public" at 10 o'clock on the opening day. Other principal speakers include Walter M. Harrison, managing editor of the Daily Oklahoman and the Oklahoma City Times and president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, who will speak on "Why Be an Editor" and M. E. Foster, editor of the Houston Press and past president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers' Association, who will take as his subject, "The Newspaper of Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow."

Prominent Speakers
Representatives of the news gathering agencies will be present in the persons of E. Dye, head of the Associated Press in Texas, and L. I. Penrite, Texas manager of the United Press, who will discuss "Costs Involved in News Collection." "Our Changing World and Its Newspapers" is the subject of Ward Maybourn, publisher of the Temple Telegram and president of the Texas Newspaper Publishers' Association. The secretary of the Texas Press Association, Sam P. Harben, will discuss "Opportunities in the Country Field."

Speakers will be on the program from three out-of-state schools that are participating in the congress this year. These schools are the University of Oklahoma, Louisiana State university, and Tulane university. Professor George E. Sims.

Engineers Work On Campus Plans

The plans of the Tech campus showing the location of the buildings are missing from the president's office. They have not been purchased, but have been taken to the engineering building where they will be enlarged by the engineers. This enlargement of the plans will be on display April 11 and 12. The engineers are to have a house to the public.

A Good Eye Test

PROSPEROUS American students, often dissatisfied but rarely lacking in anything essential to their welfare, might do well to contrast their lot with that of their less fortunate fellow students in other countries and, by so doing, see the broadness of their margins of safety.

In that part of southern Europe in which the immediate springs of the World War seem to have arisen is the little country of Bulgaria—defeated in war, stripped of its richest provinces, flooded with refugees, saddled with a burden of debt to be paid out of a depreciated currency worth only one-twentieth what it was before the war, shaken to the ground by a recent earthquake whose damage amounted to 40 percent of the annual budget of the country—all in all, a tiny country that is in far worse shape now than immediately after the war.

But if the condition of the country as a whole reflects abject poverty, that of the students is hardly difficult. If Bulgaria is ever to emerge from its plight, it must be through the efforts of educated men—engineers, scientists, agriculturists, and doctors. The youth of the country, therefore, needs, seems determined to meet it, but at the greatest sacrifice conceivable. There are about 6,000 students at the universities and technical schools of Sofia. Their situation is desperate. The minimum amount necessary for a student's maintenance is $30 to $22 per month. About 40 percent of the students have less than $11 per month; 10 percent have less than $6 per month; and one-third of the whole student body has only one meal a day. The student with regard to lodgings is extremely bad, as most of the students come from the provinces. They live crowded in garrets, cellars and basements in Sofia. The only relief from such conditions is illness. The last statistics drawn up by the Ministry of Health prove that 30 to 52 percent of the students are tubercular. The number of cases of suicide among students is nearly five times as large as in any other country. Thousands of students are always hungry, have no money to buy books or clothes and have no home.

The government is too poor to relieve the situation single-handed, although it has done its utmost. Plans for a student home accommodating 2,000 students and providing wholesome food, rooms for meeting and study and student work-shops have been developed by a committee of professors, members of Parliament, and industrialists in co-operation with the International Student Service, a subsidiary organization of the World's Student Christian federation. The cost of the project is about $35,000. It is impossible to anticipate the raising of the remainder in Bulgaria within the next few years; neither does the I. S. S. have any money of its own for the project. Yet disease is on the increase, all the while. Recognizing the implications of the situation, the I. S. S. has promised Bulgaria that with the help of the students of the world it will raise $15,000 if the remaining $11,000 are raised in Bulgaria.

Thus it is that the relief of the future of a country from danger due to the martyrdom of its youth becomes an international problem for the students of the world to solve. $15,000 are needed immediately. Are American students able to promote their minds and spirits from out of their ease and see and respond to needs that lie just around the corner of the world? In particular, are Tech students interested in and capable of understanding situations that lie beyond their physical vision and of taking active steps toward their solution?

Journalism Meet

mons, head of the department of journalism at Tulane, will take as his subject, "What's Right With the 'Abolition'."

College Representatives: Besides the above speakers there will be representatives of Baylor University, Baylor-Belton, Trinity University, Texas University, C. I. A. and S. M. U., who will each discuss some vital phase of journalism and newspaper ethics.

In addition, Dr. Horn, Tech will be represented by R. A. Mills, chairman of the board of publications, Cecil Horne, director of publicity, and the following students: H. Y. Price, Margaret Trigg, Eva Bob Watkins, Alta Rollins, Cecil Kersey, Lois Cooper, Elizabeth Blair, Claudine Cook, James A. Strange, Morgan Bowman, and Martins Pfaff.

"Are you a Sans Souci?" "No, I got caught in the rain and my dress shrank."

Student Opinion

CONCERNING INSIGNIA OF OTHER SCHOOLS

The writer of this article feels that the part of the college constitution which prohibits the wearing of insignia of other schools on our campus should be repealed. It is obvious that such a law destroys the true spirit of democracy in our school, because its sole purpose is to establish a taboo which interferes with an individual's private rights. Whether there is any good in this spirit of intolerance which has always been an obstacle in the path of human progress? The writer also feels that such a law requires its executives to take an arbitrary position which is a reflection on the progressiveness of our school; contrary to the brotherhood which is supposed to constitute its foundation; out of harmony with the constitution of our country; and an insult to the student who is loyal enough to prize an emblem of honor which he has rightfully won.

The author of the law against the wearing of insignia of other schools on our campus evidently entertained the false idea that loyalty was something that people wear on their sweaters. It is true that sweaters are one expression of loyalty, but there are other expressions that we must recognize, or else we will find ourselves in the deep rut of bigotry. When a student judges a student by the sweater he wears, and tells him that he is not loyal to our school, that person runs a great risk of insulting one of the most loyal students of this institution. The fact that a student is loyal to another institution is evidence that he will be (if treated right) just as loyal to this institution. On the other hand, the fact that a student immediately surrenders his loyalty to another institution is evidence that he will do the same to this institution, and therefore his loyalty is really not worth asking for.

True loyalty cannot be forced or compelled. If we use the "whip into line method," or the frivolous method of discrimination (as has been suggested to win loyalty to this institution), we will have the kind of loyalty that will betray us the moment we lay down our whip; the kind of loyalty that will cast a stone in our midst when we are not looking. The student body surely does not want this kind of loyalty; it wants the kind that volunteers; the kind that will speak favorable words for this institution in all portions of the earth. How are we going to win loyalty that will be true to our school? Let's adopt exclusively the policy of friendship and kindness.

The only argument for this law against the wearing of insignia of other schools on our campus is that eastern schools have it embodied in their codes. In other words the sole argument for this law is based upon the foundation of eastern ideals and traditions. Are we trying to develop a school out here in the West in accordance with eastern ideals or western ideals? Must we look to the campuses of Yale and Harvard for our code of laws? Has "Tech" nothing by which to distinguish herself? Yes, "Tech" has something out here in the West that Yale, Harvard, or no other institution has, and this "something" that is being spoken of is West Texas individuality, an individuality that is duplicated in no other land. Let's carpet the campus of our school with West Texas individuality, and let's stand on this carpet and keep our code of laws in accordance with the ideals of West Texas people.

If "Tech" is ever distinguished as a school among schools, it will be for its true expression of West Texas ideals. Let's not let these ideals become tainted with bigotry and intolerance, but let's keep them pure in order that this school may be known as a place where students meet and practice good citizenship as well as learn to be good citizens; a school where the law of the land has not been broken by depriving individuals of their private rights; a school where West Texas hospitality has been preserved, thereby making it a place where students from other institutions can come and not be insulted!

El Toro

Sport interest that has been paramount in the "Track fight" has been almost completely overshadowed by the arrival of Pete Cawthon, our newly selected athletic coach, to start the spring football training camp.

THERE HAVE BEEN many opinions circled over the camp as to what sort of a camp this will be. In light of Pete's pre-arrival announcements, everyone is of the opinion that the camp will be a literal hive of business and hard work. Of course Cawthon will be faced with the proposition of learning his men and their respective abilities, but that is the very thing that this spring camp is designed to do. By the time for the campaign of 1930 to start, Pete will be in a position to throw his best material in the field in the first game.

Famous Iron Adds To Tech Collections

Dohoney Secures Brand Of The Great XIT Ranch Near Farwell Through Courtesy Of Hamlin

Another article of historic interest, a branding iron of the famous XIT ranch, has been added to the collection of the Plains Historical society through the effort of Mr. E. L. Dohoney, registrar of the college.

Judge James D. Hamlin of Farwell, Tex., a friend of Mr. Dohoney and Texas representative of the owners of the ranch, was asked for one of the irons. Through his courtesy the valuable article was immediately sent and is now in the Tech museum.

The XIT ranch, one of the largest in the world, originally consisted of 3,000,000 acres and embraced a large portion of the Panhandle. This land was granted by the legislature in return for the construction of the Texas capitol and was controlled by a Chicago syndicate organized by the "Pawleys." Due to the same ranch, the iron is a prized acquisition of the museum officials.

The tennis tournament is under way, but due to a delay in finishing the new hard surfaced courts the play has progressed rather slowly. Indications from the matches that have been played are to the effect that Tech will be well represented on the court this year.

WHAT LOOKS like a mammoth vegetable garden just back of the gym is only the beginnings of a new practice football field. The ground has been plowed and will be sowed soon. The turf on Tech Field will be greatly preserved by having another field on which to practice.

The success of the Texas Christian University Horned Frogs last season has given rise to a drive to build a new stadium. Strange as it may seem, the drive started on April Fool's day. This, however, is no indication of T. C. U.'s intentions. Plans are to build a stadium that will cost $400,000 and will seat about 28,000.

That is an average cost of about $14.00 per seat.

THE INTRAMURAL golf tournament is now underway. Play was to start last week, but due to unfavorable weather conditions, was postponed until this week. The tournament is under the supervision of W. G. McMillan, owner of the Meadowbrook course.

We notice from the Yellow Jacket of Howard Payne college, that track has become a major sport in the Brownwood institution.

Cy Lejand has shown his heels to Claude Bracey so much here lately that it is becoming quite monotonous. The only thing of interest about a race between these two speed demons is guessing how far ahead Cy will be, even after he has been set back a yard or two.

Windy Nicklaus, former Matador full back, was in town Tuesday. He brought his Tahoka High school ulldogs over to meet the Lubbock HI aggregation. Windy's crew met and defeated Post, Slaton, Lamesa, and O'Donnell.

There was a young lady named Ralls. Who went to the Architect's ball. Though scantily dressed, She outshone the rest. For she literally outstripped them all.

(Apologies to Baboon.)

"Now laugh these off," said Mrs. Ballard as she wiled the buttons on her husband's vest.

"What would you say if I were to toss you a kiss?" "Lazy, lazy."

Maid: "The lady can't see you, she's in her bath." Agent: "Oh, that's all right; I'm selling soap."

More than 300 Are Expected Here for District Meeting

With Harold W. Singer, prominent young people's worker of Kansas City, and Otto Nelson of T. C. U. as leaders of discussion, and Dr. J. M. Gordon, dean of the school of liberal arts of Tech, as toastmaster of the fellowship banquet, plans are being made to entertain more than 300 young people here in a district Christian Endeavor convention on April 11, 12 and 13.

The First Presbyterian, First Christian, and Cumberland Presbyterian churches will be hosts to young people of college and high school age from all over the Panhandle, who will come to Lubbock to discuss religious problems of a national and international scope.

Lillian Nelson, J. E. Couch, Ruth Reed, Christova Sawyer, Jennie Robinson, Eleanor Nelson, and E. B. Fincher are Tech students in charge of the convention. They have planned special music, luncheons, and other entertainment for regular sessions of the convention.

If a Home Economics girl gets mixed up in the School of Liberal Arts, that's no news; but if a Liberal Arts boy gets mixed up in the School of Home Economics, that's news.

So might be paraphrased the famous formula for judging the news value of stories. One Tech collegian recently found out that too intimate association with the prospective housewives results in publicity, and that of the most permanent and undesirable kind.

Sanford Gabrielle, a Liberal Arts student majoring in economics, has pulled a stunt that would entitle him to membership in the freshman class even if he were not already a member. Here's the way it happened.

When the photographer for La Ventura took Gabrielle's picture, he presented him with a slip requesting certain information for the annual staff. Either through an unkind whim or through an unfortunate inability to distinguish between terms, Gabrielle placed a check by "School of Home Economics."

And that explains why when the annual comes out this spring Gabrielle's picture will be in the midst of a group of beautiful freshman Home Economics co-eds.

Miss Mary DeBardachen, teacher of Bible, will be one of the instructors in the summer conferences at Fayetteville, Ark., and Fayette, Mo., until the middle of July. She will pass the remainder of the summer in Nashville, Tenn., where she plans to work in the department of literature in the woman's work of the Methodist Board of Missions.

Cecil Horne, journalism instructor, plans to do special work in journalism at the University of Colorado at Boulder during the last term of the summer session.

W. B. Waggoner, head of the department of music, will vacation in Canada after he has completed the first term of teaching here.

Dr. Thor J. Beck, head of the department of French and German, will pass the summer doing special research work in eastern libraries preparatory to the publication of two volumes to be completed, instead of going to Europe as he had previously intended.

Dr. A. B. Cunningham, of the English department, plans to spend the summer trout-fishing in Colorado, where he will incidentally gather material for short stories.

Mary Chauveaux Crowned Freshman Queen

Receiving the highest honor to be bestowed by her classmates, Mary Chauveaux, of Claude, was crowned queen of the freshman class last Friday evening in the midst of an admiring court. Her majesty made her appearance in an improvised ricksha carried by four negro youths. She wore a gown of pure white, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Trustee Brooks of Brownwood, class president, placed the glittering tiara on her head, crowning her queen before the court, which included the following: Lady Ove Matthews and Sir Raymond Brittain, Lady Pearlina Marshall and Sir R. V. Husky, Lady Louise Garrison and Sir Clayton Lawrence, Lady Jo Ann Estes and Sir Theo Hazelwood, Lady Christine Carter and Sir Johnnie Young, Lady Eileen Graves and Sir Joe Burkett, Lady Dorothy Oxeher and Sir John Louis Cook, Lady Elizabeth O'Connell and Sir Charles Williams, Lady Evelyn Rutherford and Sir Hiley Boyd, Lady Melbina Pirtle and Sir Cecil Kersey, Lady Grace Thompson and Sir Burton Pate, Lady Francis Gunn and Sir Van Earl Sams, Lady Louise Presgrove and Sir Fred Jordan.

Howard Ford was the royal sumpter and R. V. Willis, the herald, announced the formation of the court. Duchess Mary of the House of Snyder, escorted by Duke Carl, of the House of Pfluger, was the representative of the senior class; Duchess Martha of the House of Knight, and Duke Garland of the House of Davis, of the junior class; and Duchess Catherine of the House of Jameson and Duke Phillip of the House of Ruhman, of the sophomore class. Lady Clara Mae Bishop, escorted by Sir Lynn Gray Gordon, was maid-of-honor to the queen.

Following the coronation festivities were staged: Sophie Bender sang; Wilma and Wilda Spikes, the court jesters, entertained the queen; Katie Gilbert did a tap dance; and the court musicians, Ewen Hall's orchestra, were presented. The grand march formed directly after the program and dancing followed until 12 o'clock.

Architects' Faculty Balls Brilliant Affairs

Dancing amid unique and colorful Mayan decorations, the gayly costumed guests at the Architects' and Faculty balls witnessed the climax of two of the most brilliant social affairs of the season. President and Mrs. Paul W. Horn lead the grand march of the latter affair, and prizes for the most picturesque costume went to Mrs. Roscoe Wilson, who went as an Indian princess, and to Dr. Leroy Patton as Cortez.

The ever-famous "The Private Life of King Zumas," written by Professor F. A. Kleinshmidt and presented by the architectural students, scored a decided success, due to the burlesque on various members of the faculty.

A great variety of clever innovations characterized the costumes at the Architects' ball, prize-winners being Flora Goforth, as a gypsy; Hal Lary, in a Spanish costume, and Mrs. R. A. Mills, in a period costume. Mayan incense burners fashioned by the architectural students were awarded as prizes.

April Fool Party Given By Sans Souci

April Fool merriment reigned supreme last Tuesday night at the dinner party honoring Sans Souci members at the Hotel Lubbock, with pledges of the club acting as hostesses.

Formal invitations had been sent the guests, but on arriving at the scene of the affair the joke was discovered, for the ballroom had been transformed into a barnyard for the occasion. The motif was carried out by piles of hay, swinging lanterns, and other fitting decorations.

The dinner was served in three courses from a table with a gray red and white checked cover. Tin plates and crude table appointments further accentuated the "barnyard" theme. Grady Gilder's orchestra furnished music for the occasion.

Campus Pranksters Busy With Stunts As April Fools' Day Grants Liberties

Tech students did not permit April Fools' Day to pass with no recognition of its sacred rights. All of their pranks have not yet been revealed, but a few of the more outstanding ones could not be covered up.

One stude called up every taxi company in town and gave orders for cars to call at the home of the president, Dr. P. W. Horn, at a certain hour. For a short while Tuesday afternoon parking space was at a premium around the president's home.

Bill Sewell, special editor of the Toreador April Fool Extra edition, received a momentary shock when a feminine voice claiming to speak as the president's secretary asked him to call by the president's office for a talk with Dr. Horn. Fearing the wit of some prankster, Bill called up the president and found that there was no cause for alarm, but instead received the congratulations of the president on the issue.

Students under Dr. Thor J. Beck enjoyed momentary respite Tuesday when some stunt-puller locked him in the Toreador office with no other company than the editor. Fortunately he was soon released from the imprisonment.

These are only a few samples out of the many things that were done by people who never quite grow up—at least, not on April Fool's Day.

Buddy Miller: "Oh! Pardon me. Isn't this College Inn?"
Flah Jones: (Practically)—"No! And don't you dare come near room 217, second floor on the left in the north corridor!"
—Proth.

"Well, I guess I'll put the motion before the house," said the chorus girl as she danced out on the stage.
—Octopus.

A Higher Law Perhaps It Was After All

A new conception of man's relation to woman has been worked out by another one of those brilliant students who ever so often manifest themselves. "What is meant by Seward's 'Higher Law'?" was one of the questions recently asked on an examination. It referred to the theory of Lincoln's secretary of state of a law higher than the constitution. One student answered as follows:

"Seward went to Mexico on a secret mission to try and induce Mexico with a compromise. He told his wife of the secret. This was a higher law in telling his wife."

Conference

Miss Jones became connected with the American embassy in Berlin in 1911-1912. Upon her return to the United States, she became a member of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. In connection with her work with the Carnegie Endowment she has established more than 200 International Relations clubs and has been associated for many years with international relations work in the schools and libraries of this country. For the last four summers she has visited Europe to study conditions at Geneva, The Hague, and in Austria, Hungary, Germany, France, and the other important countries of the old world.

She has recently returned from the International Conference of Universities held at the University of Havana, Cuba, at which she was the only woman representative. She is a member of the American Political Science Association, and in 1928 attended the British Universities League of Nations conference held at Oxford university in order to make preliminary plans for the British-American Students' conference held at Oxford in 1929. At this conference, Miss Jones acted as adviser to the American students.

Leading Authority
Dr. Clyde Eagleton has become, through his study and writings, one of the outstanding authorities in the country on international law and relations. He received his B. A. degree from Princeton in

"The Responsibility of States in International Law" written by Dr. Eagleton, is an authoritative discussion of one of the three subjects chosen for the conference on Codification of International Law now being held at The Hague. He is now preparing another book to be entitled "International Government."
