SCRAPINGS

FROM AN AGGIE DOORSTEP

For days and weeks a spirited conflict was waged among the staff-members as to the contents of this column, and as to its resulting appellation. One member favored a re-print of "Paradise Lost"; another desired a popularization of "Virtue Rewarded", while the most original chap voted to place before our appreciative student-body the Honor Roll of the fall term. This suggestion, however, was vetoed as conductive of irrelevant material. And besides, the printer's devil lost the sack of large type.

And Besides—

We hear that Tommy Taylor is planning to astonish the Business World with a new bottling process which will revolutionize the entire industry. "A larger, smoother, and browner bottle works wonders in this game," says Mr. Taylor.

Politics are waxing hot. As usual, the air is premeated with fiery speeches and the spirit of embryonic conquests. We must always have with us one or two young exponents of Cicero who insist or figuratively cask their throats by unwise insinuations. Most unfortunate!

"And," he continued, "let us commend the prevailing type of sidewalk advertising as following the best customs of some of our social groups."

There will be a meeting of the Parallel Lines at Infinity next Thursday morning at 8:13. Dr. J. Olmstead Gallsworth, who will preside, urges that all members be absent.

When Percy Powers made two A's the same term under Prof. Bowers every one looked upon it as a revelation. However, dirty work has been uncovered and the following poem results:

Little Percy Powers
Eat under Bowers,
Taking his final exam.
He looked at his neighbor,
Copied his paper,
And says "What a smart boy I am."
Ask T. J. Harris how he got the name "Urpy."

"What's the meaning of this."
The above words were uttered in an anguished tone by:

RED YODER
JOE NELSON
H. L. HERSHEY
Carl Pflueger, after spending four years taking a Liberal Arts course, has decided (next year) to show his Dad how to raise and feed Hereford cattle. Carl's a smart lad at that.

Being specimen of the Genus Intelligence, they were discussing Art and Literature.

"Do you know Locksley Hall?" asked one brilliant young lad. "No," answered the enterprising young engineer, is he a sophomore?"

Taylor Leaves For Oratorical Contest

Robert A. Taylor, of Stratford, Texas, left Wednesday morning for Las Vegas, New Mexico, where he will represent Tech in the regional final of the National Oratorical contest. This regional contest is sponsored by the University of New Mexico. He was accompanied on the trip by Wayne Castleberry.

DELEGATES TO HUNTSVILLE DEAL WITH PROBLEMS COLLEGE PRESS

The Toreador was awarded first place in Class A competition at the Texas Intercollegiate Press association meeting in Huntsville Friday and Saturday, at which delegates from a dozen colleges and universities of the state met to consider the various problems connected with the management of student publications and to receive the announcement of winners in the fifteen contests for the various forms of literary production. An editorial entered by the local Press Club under the name, "On the Prevailing Theory of Conduct" was also awarded first prize.

A silver loving cup will soon be sent to the college by the Dallas News in recognition of the honor bestowed on the Toreador. The writer of the editorial will also receive five or ten dollars in gold.

N. T. S. T. C. Leads
North Texas State Teachers college was awarded five first places in the contests the largest number received by any college. Simmons university received four first places.

Miss Margie Neal, editor and Texas state senator, was the principle speaker at the convention. She addressed the convention and the student body of the Sam Houston State Teachers college in joint assembly on the "Influence of the Press on Public Education", calling attention to the interest and effect of newspapers in promoting worthwhile educational projects in the state.

Hold Banquet
The convention reached its climax with a banquet at the Kemp Hotel, at which time the contest winners were announced and some of the awards presented. Rev. Ernest Sanson, a charter member of the association as organized in 1908, spoke at the banquet, giving reminiscences of the early days in college journalism.

Following a day spent in forming acquaintances and in entertainment Thursday, the convention settled down to its more serious work Friday. Sectional conferences on newspapers,

ZAITCHIK DESCRIBES CONDITIONS OF AGRICULTURE IN RUSSIA

As one of some 300 young Russians who are being sent out to the principal countries of the world to study methods of farming, manufacturing, and other modes of industry, A. E. Zaitchik, of Moscow, Russia, district agricultural agent for the Russian Soviet government, visited in the school of agriculture last Saturday. Mr. Zaitchik talked to several classes in agronomy and animal husbandry on the agricultural conditions in Russia.

In the talks the speaker told how, instead of having farms as we do in the United States, the farmers live in villages of from 600 to 700 people, the people of each village farming about 300 acres of land. Crops are planted on the land under the direction of an agricultural agent, and only crops are specified by the Agent may be planted. The land belongs to the peasant only as long as he farms it. After he has finished farming the land, it automatically goes back to the government.

STORY OF LAST WEEK OF CHRIST IN JERUSALEM TO BE BROUGHT HERE IN FREIBURG PASSION PLAY

The above picture shows Adolf Fassnacht as he plays the part of Christ suffering in Gethsemane. In assuming the role of the "Christus" a man assumes at the same time a great responsibility. His life must be absolutely above reproach, and he is responsible to the town council of Freiburg for his actions.

Deans' Council Decides Against Two Exercises

VOTES FOR PLAN TO GO INTO EFFECT FOR FOLLOWING SENIOR CLASSES

Reversing their decision of March 21, the council of the Deans ruled Tuesday that there should be one commencement exercise this year in which both May and August graduates should participate. This action was taken at the petition of the seniors, which petition was presented by Charles Woolridge, president of the class. The previous ruling was to the effect that there should be two graduating exercises hereafter. Only those students completing their required work were to have graduated in May. However, due to the lateness of this

FREE TICKETS REQUIRED FOR ADMITTANCE TO PRODUCTION

Scientific phenomena and marvels will be presented at the annual Physics show Friday and Saturday of this week in room 116 of the Chemistry building under the direction of members of the faculty and students in the department of physics. The group in charge announce that their exhibitions will include the same interesting features as characterized their earlier productions with a number of improvements.

Several performances of the show will be given in order to avoid any possible conflict with the Passion Play also to be presented on those days. Due to the smallness of the lecture room, admittance will have to be by ticket only, tickets being issued free to the capacity of the room.

Seniors To Forsake Customary Dignity In Day of Celebration Here Tomorrow; Plans Included Burlesque Convocation

SENIORS AND FACULTY TO TIE UP IN BASEBALL GAME

Final plans for a full program tomorrow, the official Senior Day, were formulated last Tuesday evening at a call meeting of the class. A holiday will be given the seniors because of the occasion. Prof. James Allen, class sponsor, Marjorie Eagan, Carl Pflueger and Holmes Webb compose the committee in charge. Starting the festivities, a dinner dance and bridge party will be held at the Hilton hotel tonight.

Friday will start for the seniors with a breakfast; convocation will follow from ten o'clock till eleven. The program for this occasion is being kept secret, but it is understood that some kind of a burlesque will be carried out. At 11 o'clock the class will retire to the official senior grove which was started by the senior class of '29 just north of Dr. P. W. Horn's home. A tree-planting ceremony will follow, carrying on the tradition started last year.

Senior-Faculty Game
Immediately after lunch the class will be complimented with a theatre party. After the show, a baseball game will be played between members of the class and a team chosen from the faculty. This will culminate the activities for the day.

It was announced Tuesday evening that the Junior Investiture will be held this year on the evening of May 24 following a reception given the class by Dr. and Mrs. Horn at their home. The Investiture will be attended by the class in caps and gowns and will be staged on the green south of the Administration building.

Comes With Centuries of Tradition and Inheritance

SEVEN CENTURIES of traditions and development and four hundred years of inheritance are represented in the Freiburg Passion Play, of Freiburg, Baden, Germany, which will be produced at Tech stadium Friday and Saturday of this week. The Passion play is on its first American tour.

Adolf Fassnacht, who portrays the Christus during His week of Passion, suffering death and triumph, is the eighth Fassnacht in direct descent to portray the role. Since 1760 A. D. the role has been jealously guarded as a Fassnacht heritage, each successive generation striving to improve itself in the part and bring a deeper spiritual and artistic significance to the presentation of the triumph of the Man of Sorrows.

Thirty-Six Principals

Mr. Fassnacht is supported by a company of thirty-six principals, members of the original German company which eighteen months ago began the American tour. Many of these have, in like manner, inherited their parts from preceding generations. Because no company could possibly carry the large number of people required to stage so massive a production, a number of local people will be given an opportunity to take part in the production. Mrs. Carl Scoggin will be in charge of the choral work and her material will be gathered largely from the voices of "The Messiah", which was presented here recently, according to an announcement by Major Joe R. White, advance agent of the play. Prof. Harry LeMaire will be in charge of an orchestra of school and local musicians. Mrs. Mamie I. Neal will be accompanist for the musical features of the play.

Authentic costuming of the ancient orient, elaborate lighting and scenic effects and acting of rare power make the Passion Play a colorful pageant of magnificent proportions. Telling the age-old story of Jesus simply and sincerely, its theme carries an appeal to all kinds and classes of people.

Stock Judgers Hold Workouts

EXPECT TO DEVELOP STRONG JUNIOR TEAM FOR NEXT YEAR

In an effort to increase the ability of the stock judgers of Texas Tech, regular workouts are now being held every Saturday afternoon from 1 o'clock until dark. These workouts are held with the juniors and sophomores, the plan being to acquaint the former group more thoroughly with the methods of Coach Ray C. Mowery.

Persons in charge of the workouts declare that the junior team next year ought to be one of the best in the history of the institution. The sophomores who are taking part in the training are: Chesser, Gordon, Browning, Limer, King, Cook, Moore, Grimes and Stovall.

Next year's senior team is to be picked from: Harris, Powers, Van Noy, Giddens, Yoder, Parks, Williams, Carmichael, Hartman and Meharg.

ASSOCIATION OFFICERS TO BE CHOSEN AT WEDNESDAY CONVOCATION

Annual elections for the student publications offices will be held next Monday and Tuesday. The offices to be filled are: editor and business manager of The Toreador, and editor and business manager of La Ventana.

According to Hogue Williams, president of the Student council, ballot boxes will be located in the east wing of the Administration building and also in the Engineering building. The polls will be open both days from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. Any bona fide student of the college is eligible to vote in the student elections. Voters are instructed to scratch all the names except the one they wish to vote for. All ballots will have to be signed. The election of student president, vice-president, yell leader and officers of the student association will be held at a student convocation Wednesday, May 7.

The official ballot will read as follows:

With The Graduates

It is surprising what a varied field of activities Tech graduates pursue upon leaving the college; students are distributed throughout many of the states and even abroad. The majority of graduates, however, follow the teaching profession.

Harry Montgomery, former editor of the Treador, is now a reporter on the Amarillo News Globe. He married Pauline Trippett, a graduate of '27.

Anna Belle Collins, a home economics graduate, is now social editor of the Amarillo News Globe. John Forikner also has a position with that paper.

Winfield Nicklans, better known as "Windy" and who was one of Tech's star football players is now coaching football at Tahoka.

Matthew Sheppard who graduated in '28 has just put in an application as flying cadet in the U. S. army air service.

Mary Hope Westbrook is registrar at Western Carolina Teachers College at Cullowhee, North Carolina.

C. W. Ratliff, a former student body president is now day editor of the Lubbock Morning Avalanche.

Guy Carter is a law student of the University of Chicago. He recently married Phyllis Burleson, formerly of this city and a graduate nurse of the Temple sanitarium.

John Wisdom is working for a sugar company in Cuba.

Vaughn Corley who was captain of the Matadors last year is now coaching football at Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Ned Camp who was a member of Tech's first graduating class is now head of the department of chemistry in Emory Junior College, Oxford, Georgia.

Irwin Coleman is a clerk in the Texas supreme court while studying law at the University of Texas. His wife Mable Gibbs Coleman, is doing graduate work in the University.

Kenneth Hemphill is selling insurance in Littlefield.

Martin (Shorty) Hayhurst, who was here last week-end for the track meet is coaching athletics at Brownfield.

Grady Moore, while attending the University of Chicago, is working for a dry goods company there.

Zed Glimp is working for the Westinghouse Electric Company at Philadelphia.

Back Weaver is with the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company here in Lubbock and Robert Burns is with the same company at Dallas.

E. Hunt, Ike Hendrix, W. Varde and Pauline Miller are attending Medical school at Galveston.

Dayle Wallace is doing graduate work in English at Yale.

Eldon Thorp is in Berkeley, California, doing research work on ocean deposits, while attending school. He will receive his doctor's degree this spring.

What Is A Student Union Building?

WHY SHOULD Texas Tech have a Student Union Building? Just what is a Student Union Building? Such questions as these are coming into the minds of students as the campaign for a student union fund is being launched. In the first place, a Student Union is just what the word says it is. It is a Union—a place where the students can come together for any worth while purpose. It is an institution that will bring about a "union" between the Liberal Arts, the Aggie, the Home Economics, and the Engineering students and make them realize that they are all members of one campus—the Texas Technological college.

There are several things that are usually embodied in a Student Union Building. There is a large lobby containing a soda fountain, lounge, post office, and sometimes a bookstore. The lounge is a place for students to gather when they are not in classes. In short the lobby is a sort of general "hang out" for all students.

Each campus organization generally has a private room in the Union; that is, Student Council headquarters, Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. offices, and social club rooms. There is a reception room which can be obtained for private functions. Also, there is usually a large ball room. There are many other features of a student union depending on the size of the building. It is estimated that the first unit of the Tech Union will cost $100,000. This should provide a suitable building for many Students Union features.

The drive is being started this term and will continue in earnest for the next year and a half. A special drive committee is at present working on a plan for getting pledges from the student body for the Union fund. More details of this plan will be announced later.

In the Agg Edition, we have no desire to press our views on the student body. EL TORO

With the closing of the track season on the athletic activities around the college have about terminated for the season of 1929-30. The athletic council has abolished baseball as a college sport, and the followers of the diamond sport on the campus will have to content themselves with watching the big league happenings in the newspapers.

Tech is not the only college by any means that have abolished baseball. In fact the nearest institution with which the Matadors could match games is Daniel Baker at Brownwood. Baseball has been found to be a non-paying phase of athletics in many of the larger colleges of the north and east.

Speaking of Daniel Baker, we see that the Goats swamped the Southwestern Texas Teachers College in a duel track meet last week by a score of 80 to 37.

We are glad to note that Coach Cawthon is going to put all football men under one roof next fall. To our notion this is one of the most notable developments that has taken place in Tech athletics in a long time. Cawthon declares that a spirit must be built up between the men off the field as well as on it. A training table will be operated in connection, and at least one of the members of the coaching staff will live in the house with the team.

Leland again beats Bracy in century. This would have been real news several months ago, but the so called "Blond Blizzard" has left Bracy at the post so much this season that it is becoming quite monotonous. Leland's time of 9.6, however, is something worth mentioning in the head lines. This feat was accomplished at the Drake relays.

Jimmie Dallas did not set any records at Canyon except one. It was the first time Jimmie's mother had ever seen him defeated in a race. Upon hearing that the Tech captain had qualified for the finals, Mr. and Mrs. Dallas of Brownfield, motored to Canyon to see Jimmie do his stuff. Had it not been for an exceptionally bad ankle, Jimmie would have brought home the bacon in the century, as well as some of the other dashes.

One-Act Plays To Be Given May 6

Members of the Thespian and Sock and Buskin clubs will hold open house on the evening of May 6, in room 202. Three one-act plays are to be given: "The Unseen", by Alice Gerstenberg, with Mary Francis Senter, Kate Presley, and Byron Clauch as the characters; "The Slave with two Faces" by Mary Carolyn Davies, with E. B.

Fincher, Marjorie Blacksher, and Isabel Patterson constituting the cast; and "The Fatal Quest", (anonymous) with Virgil Rowland, E. B. Fincher, Hilma Bartlett, Pearl O'Dell, Irma D. Palmer, and Ida Bell Templeton, as the players taking part. The public is invited to attend.

MISS DORRELL JUDGES

Miss Jean Dorrell has been assisting Miss Louise Baird, county demonstration agent, in judging the living rooms that were entered in the Living Room contest staged in Lubbock county.

It Stands To Reason

That the man who has lived the most democratically will be the most democratic in office.

"Hy" Price is a "commoner."

That the man who is the most representative in present contacts will put out the most representative paper.

"Hy's" supporters come from every group on the campus.

That the man who has shown the most ability HAS the most ability.

Price was editor of the special Liberal Arts edition. Give him a chance to do the same for the whole college.

That a man who knows journalism can present the news of every school to best advantage.

Every school will be represented by an associate editor on "Hy's" staff PLUS his journalistic skill in presenting the news favorably.

That Price will be an impartial editor.

In last week's edition of The Treador his political opponents and supporters alike admit that he was absolutely fair.

We have confidence in his ability.

We believe in his Integrity.

We endorse his candidacy.

Cawthon Closss Matadors Spring Training

Is Pleased With Hard Work Done By Spring Squad

CAPTAIN DURHAM IS AWARDED TROPHY FOR HARDEST WORKER

By BRUCE PARKS
With the close of the spring training season Monday, Tech students, players and observers of the game have realized that the athletic council has made a wise choice in the selection of coaches to steer the Matadors in the future. Pete Cawthon and his assistants, Smith and Morgan, been working hard and have done much to instill a thorough knowledge of the game and a fighting spirit into the squad. Although material is somewhat lacking yet, Cawthon is greatly pleased with the spirit shown by the squad—individually and as a whole. "I appreciate the cooperation shown me on the part of the squad; and I want to say that I have never met a bunch of boys that responded more readily. I feel that we have done at least two months work, but there is still plenty left to do. The fact that material has been lacking has been of set to some extent by the remarkable spirit shown by the boys."

Scrimmage has shown that Cawthon favors a strong offensive to a large extent. However, this does not mean that he fails to emphasize the defensive.

Likely Candidates
All the fellows that have turned out for spring training have been working hard, and the newcomers threaten to make the veterans scrap for their places. From the outlook during the training season the most promising candidates for berths on the team next year seem to be:

Backfield: Brothers, Hodges, Doose, Westner, C. Williams and Powers.

Ends: Teal, Howard, Tadlock, Eaves and Whitesides.

Tackles: Langford, McWilliams, Simmons, Murphy and Osborne.

Guards: Ayers, Jones and Nixon.

Center: Durham and other promising men developed in last fall's freshman squad.

Durham Awarded Trophy

Del Morgan and the lettermen chose their captain, Jack Durham, as the winner of the trophy for the hardest worker during the spring training season. The choice was practically unanimous. Durham has been constantly on the job all spring and, in fact, is one of the most consistent fighters ever to don the Scarlet and Black. He received a silver statuette offered by Cawthon at the beginning of the training a few weeks ago. The words, "Hardest Worker—Spring Training, Tech, 1930" are engraved on the trophy.

Coach Cawthon plans to establish training quarters for all athletes next fall. At present he intends to obtain a dormitory in which all athletes will be quartered. He has in mind three buildings, but refuses to give out any information concerning their names. Reduced rates will be obtained for athletes that occupy these dormitories. Possibly forty varsity men and thirty freshmen will be stationed there. Training tables will be provided for, and food of the right kind will be furnished.

Rifle Team Has Second Victory Over El Pasoans

FAUST AND SPEER TIE FOR HIGH COUNT HONORS WITH 137 EACH

In a closely contested match the Tech Rifle club shot its way to a victory over the Texas School of Mines team from El Paso here last week. This is the second defeat the Miners have taken at the hands of Lt. H. E. Killin's men this year, the other being last fall when the Rifle club team journeyed to El Paso.

The local contest was close, but the School of Mines team could not cope with the consistent accuracy with which the Tech men punctured the high count area of the targets, making their score 669 points with 636 for the Miners. Faust of the School of Mines tied Speer of Tech for high point honors with a score of 137 out of a possible 150. Other members of the Tech team were: Cain Hester, Chapman, Adams and Fisher.

Debate Contest For Award Held

The first event in the annual Public Speaking Scholarship Contest was held last Friday, four men were entered in the debate on the disarmament question. These were Alvis Ellis, Heber Ellsworth, Ross Ayers, and Bill Sewell. Ayres and Ellis upheld the affirmative and Ellsworth and Sewell defended the negative. The judges were John C. Granbery, O. C. Corry, and J. W. Jackson. The decision as to which of the four was the best debater will be announced at the spring commencement exercises. A $50 scholarship will be awarded the winner.

The next event will be the Oratorical contest held on May 5, for which a scholarship will also be given.

Miss Mary Beth Seeley was the only contestant in the girls division of the debate contest. She will also receive a $50 scholarship.

Many cities are putting in fine new library buildings, but there are still some young people who decline to spend their evenings in them.

Tech Net Team Is Defeated In Canyon Finals

HENRY AND EMISON REACH SEMI-FINALS IN SINGLES TOURNAMENT

Tech sent two men to the semi-finals in the singles play and a team to the finals in doubles at the Great Plains Tennis tournament last week, but none of these teams were able to win, although some of the greatest tennis the meet has ever seen was played.

In doubles Pfluger and Dalton of Tech lost to Eubanks and Landers in the finals. This was one of the fastest matches in the history of the tournament. Both teams were playing hard and wide open. The score by which the Canyon team won is not at all indicative of the struggle. The Buff netters annexed the title in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4. By winning the title this year the Buffs won permanent possession of the doubles trophy.

Henry and Emison of Tech both progressed to the semi-finals in the singles play. Henry opposed Landers, the West Texas ace, and was defeated 6-3, 6-2. Emison lost to another Teacher by 6-2, 6-2 count. Thus Eubanks and Landers, both of West Texas, entered the finals in the singles race and will meet to decide the title Tuesday.

CONDUCT INQUIRY

James L. Gordon has received a letter from Harold Nunn, freshman in Northwestern university, requesting information on local traditions affecting school spirit. A special inquiry into matters affecting school spirit is being conducted by a committee in the Student Congress of Northwestern university.

Please ma'am, may we borrow your phonograph?"
"Do you want to dance?"

Out-of-State Schools Triumph Over Texas Institutions At Great Plains Meet; Matadors Take Fourth Place

WALLER LEADS FIELD IN 220 YARD HURDLES

Tech scored more points in the Great Plains Track meet than any other Texas school, but that was only good enough for fourth place. Two Oklahoma institutions topped first and second honors. The Southwest Teachers of Weatherford won first honors with 62 points, and the Central Teachers college was second with 42 points. New Mexico Military Institute won third honors with 30 1-2 points to make it all in all a sad day for the Lone Star Colleges. Canyon Teachers massed a total of 12 points for fifth place.

The Matador's lone first place was won by Red Waller who led the field in the 220 yard hurdle race.

Other places won by Tech entrants were:

Second place 880 yard run, Basil Hill; second place javelin throw, Leon Fisher; third place discus throw, Waters; third place broad jump, Floyd Woolbridge; fourth place high hurdles, Ameral Payne; fourth place low hurdles, Floyd Woolbridge; fourth place shot put, Waters; fourth place discus throw, Ameral Payne; and third place in both the mile and medley relay events.

The absence of Captain Dallas from several of the dashes was a severe blow to the Tech team. Dallas qualified in the 100-yard dash, but his injured ankle prevented him from making any showing in the final event.

The meet was the largest ever this year, and six old records were beaten. Neal of Southwestern set a new mark in the mile run when he ran the distance in 4 minutes and 33 1-5 seconds. McCommis of N. M. M. I. set a new mark in the 220 yard-dash with 21.8 seconds. Roberts of Southwestern lowered the two mile record to 10 minutes, 27.8 seconds. A foursome from Central Teachers college lowered the mile relay time to 3 minutes 29.3 seconds. Miller of West Texas hurled the discus 127 feet to break the old mark by three feet. Swafford of Central set a new record in the javelin with a distance of 178 feet and 8 inches.

Summary

High hurdles: Stahbaugh, Southwestern; Compton, Central; Dillard Clarendon Junior; Payne, Texas Tech. Time 15.8 seconds.

Navarro Takes Leading part In Three-Act Play

LITTLE THEATRE'S "LOVE IN A MIST" IS WELL RECEIVED

Rendering a very creditable performance to a large and appreciative audience, Alfred Navarro, Tech freshman from Pueblo, Mexico, made his first appearance in a dramatic presentation since coming to Lubbock in the Little Theatre play, "Love In a Mist", given at the college gymnasium Tuesday evening. Navarro played the leading male role of the three act comedy, that of an Italian, Count Varelli, who, falling in love with an American girl, comes to the United States to marry her. On finding that the girl, deceitful as she is, has become engaged to an American boy, the count shoot himself. He is nursed back to health and happiness by the girl's cousin, however, and fall in love with her.

Navarro played the role of the count admirably, skillfully handling some difficult comedy situations. "He was very well suited to the role," Mrs. T. A. White, director of the play, said of the young student.

Tech People To Make European Tour In Summer

WILL SAIL FROM CANADA AND VISIT NINE COUNTRIES ABROAD

Mr and Mrs. Ray C. Mowery, Miss Anna Jo Pendleton, and the latter's father, J. H. Pendleton, of Vernon, will sail from Montreal on June 14 for a summer tour of the European continent.

The tour will include visits to England, Holland, Denmark, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and France. The party expects to return to Lubbock the first of September.

Prof. Mowery, of the animal husbandry department at Tech, has appointments with professors of animal husbandry at the Universities of Edinburgh, Cambridge, Oxford, Denmark, Belgium and Holland.

Mrs. Mowery and Miss Pendleton, of the Tech speech department, will attend the Passion Play at Oberammergau.

Plans Laid For Large Summer School In Tech

TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND COPIES OF ANNOUNCEMENTS MAILED OUT

Although the appropriation was cut practically in half, college officials are planning one of the most successful summer schools that Tech has ever had. Approximately fifteen hundred students are expected for the season which opens June 2 and closes August 22.

Twenty-five thousand announcements have just been mailed from the registrar's office to prospective Tech students. This bulletin lists 26 courses offered in the school of agriculture, 37 in the school of engineering, and 84 in the school of liberal arts. A regular summer school catalogue giving detailed information of courses, and regulations, has also been mailed out.

Artists Course
A special feature of the summer session this year is the artists course, which heretofore, has only been offered during the regular terms. The first attraction will be Fisk Jubilee Singers, a sextet of negro singers, direct descendants of the original Fisk Jubilee Singers of Sixty years ago. "Grumpy" an English play, will be presented by the Bennet-Hall Players of Chicago, and the final feature will be "The Light Opera Mirror", which will present selections from favorite light Operas.

Other recreation plans for the summer session have been formulated by a special committee of the faculty and they provide for group singing, band concerts, dramatic productions, moving pictures, and a watermelon party. The college will, as it does each summer, sponsor a trip to Carlsbad Cavern. This trip will be made about July 4th.

Dr. Holden To Lead Summer Field Trip

A field trip in Southwestern Archaeology will be conducted during the second term of the Texas Technological college summer session under the direction of Dr. W. C. Holden. The trip will include a total of not more than 25, both men and women, according to Dr. Holden. Nine hours advanced credit will be given for the work. The cost will be approximately the same as attending in residence.

The trip will likely be made into the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rocky mountains in New Mexico. Permanent location will be made somewhere west of Las Vegas but field trips will be made to Indian pueblos, festivals, and various historical places of interest.

Tau Cast Takes In New Members

The Tau cast of Alpha Psi Omega initiated the following pledges Wednesday evening: Lillian Hopping, Eileen Graves, Milbria Pirtle, Martha Knight, R. V. Willis, Orval Burroughs, Byron Claunch, Charles Woolbridge, and Jack Durham. The scene of the ceremony was the Campus Play House.

Members of the local chapter will have a dinner-dance and a theatre party in the near future.

LOUISE ST. CLAIR HONORED BY JUNIOR CLASS

In the midst of an improvised summer garden, cerise and silver lighted Louise St. Clair was crowned queen of the Junior class at the annual program held Friday evening in the college gymnasium. The queen was escorted by Orville Brothers, president of the class, and was coronated with a garland of roses by Dr. A. B. Cunningham, class sponsor.

Eight duchesses in gowns of pastel organdie, and their escorts, formed the court. The presentation was opened by Cornelia McCanne and Hooks Boyd who took their places on the right. Miss McCanne was lovely in a blue bouffant organdie. Donna Vaughn and Robert Webb were next to be introduced, and stood opposite the preceding couple. Miss Vaughn wore a gown of pink organdie, trimmed in ruffles and hand-made roses. Martha Knight, in an organdie of pale blue, escorted by Garland Davis, was next to be presented. Helen Womack beautifully gowned in yellow bouffant organdie, and her escort, Thomas Taylor, then took their places on the left. Faye Foote, wearing yellow organdie with a skirt of circular ruffles, was present with her escort, Robert Patterson.

Christine Denney, escorted by Harold Ammons, was next to be presented. Miss Denney wore a princess dress of orchid. To complete the court on the right, Veta Stafford and her escort, Thomas Hickey, took places after the preceding couple. Miss Stafford wore a blue organdie made Elizabethan design. Marie Butler also was gowned in a blue organdie dress of the Elizabethan period.

After the formation of the court, Louise St. Clair was presented as queen of the Junior class. Miss St. Clair was lovely in a dress of white organdie, made bouffant by a skirt of small ruffles and trimmed with lace and rosebuds. She carried a bouquet of American beauty roses and fern.

Immediately after the coronation came the grand march led by Miss St. Clair, Dr. Cunningham, Missociondier, Te Clair and Mr. Brothers, Dr. Cunningham, Miss Johnnie Gilkerson, and Mr. Bailey Carroll.

Plans Being Made for W. T. C. C. Meet

ABLENE, Texas, April 17—Specialties for convention visitors here May 29, 30 and 31 who will not attend scheduled business session of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, but who will be here to mix and mingle with West Texas friends and to enjoy entertainment features of the conclave have been announced from Abilene convention headquarters of the regional organization.

The program of merriment, including novel features and worthwhile attractions will begin on Wednesday night, May 28, at McMurry College with a program sponsored by students of that institution. An aeronautical circus, outstripping all previous efforts of West Texas in producing acrobatic shows of the air, Sunday afternoon will conclude the entertainment program. The air show will be a part of the formal dedication for Abilene's recently completed $150,000 municipal air harbor.

Preliminaries in the West Texas Band Contest will be held during the college programs along with the student offerings and speeches of the "My Town" contest.

A big feature for entertainment seekers will be the gigantic out-of-doors band concert presented by a band of musicians picked from West Texas college organization. The presentation will be directed by Herbert L. Clark of Long Beach, Calif., conductor of the United States' largest municipal music-making organization. Two big parades are scheduled. An "Educational" parade will include groups from numerous West Texas Colleges, and representative groups from throughout this section will march in the "Delegation" procession. The former march will be staged on Thursday, while the latter will precede the airport dedication on Saturday afternoon.

All types of army planes will be included in the 40 ship offerings from government ports on exhibition in the Saturday afternoon air circus.

There will be "something doing every minute." Theatre parties, luncheons for newspapermen, receptions and luncheons for visiting ladies, banquets, golf matches, skeet shoots and dances. Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights—all go to complete the program of gala entertainment.

Lounging pajamas of velvet are the mode's latest word. They are fitted affairs in black, gray, pink and white. Made with a flaring skirt, and a versatile "coat tail" attached to the back.

SCHOLASTIC STANDARDS ACCORDING TO DR. LEIDIGH

(Editor's Note—The following article has been prepared by a member of the Southern Scholarship society following an interview with Dean A. H. Leidigh of the School of Agriculture. It is one of a series of such interviews with prominent persons on the campus that will be given from time to time as a part of the society program of investigation into the scholastic standards of the college.)

We sometimes neglect to consider that life is competitive. In education as in vocational accomplishment, high scholarship is so very directly related to the student's ability to do excellent work that there is no question but what the man who takes his college work seriously and ranks high in his studies has many times the chance of success and the opportunity for advancement as a low grade student.

In the professional courses in agriculture, because of the wide range of future application and the broad fundamental scientific viewpoint required the matter of high scholarship is very important. Likewise the matter of driving power on the part of the student so as to enable him to cover with credit a wide range of associated subjects makes the question of high scholarship one of extreme importance.

The School of Agriculture has, of course, its own peculiar problems. For instance, due to a small enrollment and maintenance in the beginning very small groups in the different majors were carried into the advanced classes. This condition resulted in a lack of true audience situation in the classroom, and greatly complicated the teaching problem. The senior class as a whole has been so small that it has suffered from a lack of stabilization that comes from proper group consciousness.

In the School of Agriculture at Texas Technological college a check of the honor roll for several terms reveals the fact that the agricultural students make the honor roll in approximately the same percentage as their representation in college. An exception worthy of note in this regard is in the matter of the agricultural sophomores. These men usually carry two or three sciences and usually three-fifths of their work is outside of the School of Agriculture. As a general rule their percentage representation on the honor roll is about twice as great as their number justifies. This seems to indicate that the matter of standards in teaching and accomplishment is well maintained between the three different schools in which these men receive instruction in that year.—Interview from Dean Arthur H. Leidigh, solicited by a member of the Southern Scholarship Society.

LAS CHAPARRITAS HAVE CAMPING PARTY

Las Chaparritas were entertained last week-end with an unusual affair in the form of an overnight camping party. Fourteen members motored out to Buffalo Springs Saturday afternoon and returned Sunday at noon. Such seasonable activities as games, contests, swimming and hiking were enjoyed during the outing.

Patronesses of the club joined the group Sunday morning for breakfast. They were Mesdames: F. R. Friend, J. T. Hutchinson, W. J. Murray, Mary W. Doak, J. W. Hankins, and J. N. Michie. Club members present were: Gladys Grimsley, Beth Wulfman, Virginia Murray, Marjorie Ainsworth, Mary Lois Gamel, Inez Hensley, Faye Hunt, Camille Stobaugh, Voncie Gilkerson, Frances Ford, Sarah Michie, Sylvia Wilson, Johnnie Gilkerson and Mrs. Ed Allen. Zella Reigel and Mrs. Jimmie Allen also joined the group for breakfast.

W. A. A. SPONSORS ALL-GIRLS' DANCE

Several hundred girls attended the all-girls' dance at the college gym Wednesday evening. Attired in costumes indicative of all sports, the girls danced from 8 until 10 o'clock. Music was furnished by Frank Stone's Collegians.

Proceeds from the affair, which was sponsored by the W. A. A., will go toward making the first payment on the girls camp site, which is to be made June 1. The site is located one and a half miles north of the Tech campus, and girls' organizations on the campus are invited to hold their outings there during the remainder of the year.

WILL CELEBRATE EL CINCO DE MAYO

Celebrating the Mexican national holiday, el cinco de mayo, the Capa y Espada club will hold its fifth annual banquet in the Spanish room of the Hilton Monday night. A color scheme of red and white will be carried out in the decorations; pieces of Mexican pottery and other novelties of the country will mark the places of the guests.

There will be two speakers on the program for the evening. Holmes Webb will speak on "Cinco de Mayo" and E. B. Fincher will make a talk on "Carlota y Maximilian." Other features on the program will be two Spanish songs, "Golondria" and "Mi Viejo Amor," by Ruth Love and Dorothy Rylander. Mrs. A. B. Strehl and Virgil Rowland will dance the tango.

William Nelle is president of the club and Mrs. W. B. Gates is sponsor.

PRE-MEDS HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

The annual Pre-Med picnic was held last Friday evening at Bowlin's ranch south of town. About forty members and their guests were there.

A business meeting which was held at the same time officers for next year were elected. The new president is Murray Ballenger, of Lubbock. Jack Mickle, also of Lubbock, was elected vice-president and Mina Wolf, of Stamford, was elected secretary-treasurer of the club.

The retiring officers are: Bob King, president; Lucile Houston, vice-president; and Helen Jackson, secretary-treasurer. Talks were made by the old and new officers.

Mr. M. F. Landwer and Miss Mildred Bush, both of the biology department, are the club sponsors.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB ENTERTAINS SENIORS

The class of 1930 of Texas Tech was honored last Saturday evening with a reception in the Home Management house by members of the Home Economics club. Guests called from 8 until 10 o'clock.

The receiving line included: Miss Margaret Weeks, Nora Cocks, Ruth Combast, Hattie Mounts, Ruth Ford, Faye Kemp, Bettey Stewart and Mrs. Annie Ellsworth. Daisy Lockwood, Ganie Nix, Helen Winstead, Dorothy Gleason, Miss Mabel Erwin, Jean Dorrel, Dorothy McFarlane, and Mrs. Edna Buser constituted the house party. Mrs. Mary W. Doak and Miss Mayme Dwyford poured tea.

MARY LOU BAYLESS HOSTESS TO SANS SOUCI

Mary Lou Bayless was hostess to members of the Sans Souci club last Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. E. Watson, 1921 29th street, with a lovely bridge party. A handkerchief and hose shower for Lucille Moxley, bride-elect, was featured in the affair. High score and high cut prizes were handkerchief and hose.

A salad course was served to the members of the club and the following guests: Eudora Noel, Jean Shelley Jennings, Cecile Horne, Rosemary Leaverton, Priscilla Watson, Chloedell Whitley and Mrs. Joe Nislar.

S. P. Q. R. TO PICNIC TOMORROW

A picnic at Tumble Inn will be given on Friday evening by members of S. P. Q. R. in place of the last regular meeting of the club. Members are requested to meet in front of the Administration building at 6:30 o'clock, where cars will be provided for those who have no transportation.

ROLLING PIN CLUB IS ENTERTAINED

Members of the Rolling Pin club were guests at a forty-two and bridge party Thursday evening in the home of Dean and Mrs. A. H. Leidigh. Mrs. R. C. Tom received high score in bridge for the ladies, and Bristol Chesser was high for the men. Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Vinzant received high score in the games of forty-two. The ladies were presented rolling pins, while the men were given Andy Gump picture books.

Refreshments were served to the following members: Messrs and Mesdames W. G. Vinzant, Bristol Chesser, Hal Yoder, J. H. Freeland, R.

L. Burdette, W. King, H. L. Hershey, J. J. Nelson, R. C. Tom, Williams and Cole.

LAS LEALES GIVES HAYRIDE FOR GUESTS

Members of Las Leales entertained twenty guests with a hay ride Tuesday evening. After a hilarious ride over principal streets of the city, the party was brought to the Home Economics building lawn, where a picnic supper was spread. Guests attending were costumed as hobos and tramps.

Special guests were: Elizabeth Tolk, Mary Beth Sheeley, Aline Odum, Lola Thompson, Daisy Lockwood, Ganie Nix, Hilma Bartlett, Corens Warner, Elizabeth Crews, Ruth Walker, Mary Alice Persons, Ruby Kennedy, Wilma Jones, Janie Ruth Shepard, Annie Fannie Sewell, Alice Claire Teague, Eva May, Annie Fern Bickley, Juanita Price, Sue Marshall, Miss Mabel Erwin and the club sponsors, Mrs. Mary W. Doak and Miss Margaret Weeks.

Thspian Club To Have Open House

Open house will be held by members of Thespian club Tuesday evening May 6, in room 202, at 8:15 o'clock with members of the Sock and Buskin club assisting.

The program will consist of three one act plays: "The Unseen," by Alice Gerstenberg, with Mary Frances Senter, Kate Pressley and Byron Claunch constituting the cast; "The Slave With Two Faces," by Mary Carolyn Davies, an allegorical play acted by E. B. Fincher, Marjorie Blacksher and Isabel Patterson; and "The Fatal Quest," (anonymous), Virgil Rowland, Irma D. Palmer, E. B. Fincher, Hilma Bartlett, Pearl O'Dell and Isabel Templeton taking the roles of the various characters.

The public is invited to attend.

WOMAN'S FORUM HONORS NEW MEMBERS

Newly elected members of the Woman's Forum will be honor guests at a garden party on the evening of May 6, at 6 o'clock. All women of the college are invited to attend the affair. It will be given on the lawn south of the Administration building.

Council Adopts Song for Tech

R. C. MARSHALL SUBMITS TUNE PLACED FIRST IN CONTEST

Following agitation over a period of several years for a spirited song for Tech, the student council recently approved the entry of R. C. Marshall, transfer from Hillsboro Junior College, in a contest held for the purpose of adopting an official tune.

The words of the selection are as follows:

SONG OF THE MATADORS
 Fight Matadors for Tech;
 Song of love we'll sing to you,
 Bear our banners far and wide,
 Ever to be our pride,
 Fearless champions always be,
 Stand on heights of victory,
 Strive for honor ever more,
 Long live the Matador.

Considering all the breach of promise cases, the men would better take a lawyer along when they go out with the girls for a ride.

Zane Grey's "The Light of Western Stars" Begins Run At Lindsey Theatre

Say, Matador!

Didja ever have a HEAVY date
 With the most inCOMparably deVine creature
 In ALL the world?
 And didja SHINE your shoes,
 And buy a new pair of SILK socks,
 And press your PANTS
 And PREEN yourself
 To the ACME of perfection?
 And didja drive PROUDLY down
 In your newly SHINED machine
 Ten minutes EARLY?
 Only to find that SHE was not ready—
 But didja wait for TWO hours
 With RISING impatience
 Only to have her come in at TEN FIFTEEN
 With a HIGH SCHOOL SOPHOMORE?
 Say, Matador, didja? Holmes Webb did!

"Battling Man"

RICHARD ARLEN

Zane Grey's "The Light of Western Stars" will be featured at the Lindsey theatre, starting today for three days.

This tale of outlawry on the western front, brings forward Richard Arlen in his second Western role, the first being "The Virginian." Mary Brian, the leading lady of "The Virginian" plays the part of sweetheart. This, the first of Zane Grey's stories to be filmed, has an unusual strong supporting cast.

Arlen plays the part of Dick Failey, battling man of the West. He seeks to win the heart of Mary Brian with cave-man tactics and meets with little success. He then changes his tactics and through many scenes of adventure and danger finally wins out. "The Light of Western Stars" is an important record of the defiant spirit of the American pioneers and entertaining throughout.

The College World

Well, it looks like the Aggies have at last got their hands in with the University in getting hold of some of all that money coming from the oil lands set aside many years ago by the legislature. That announcement as given in a recent issue of The Battalion, the weekly news sheet of the Aggies, will probably cause other state supported institutions over the state to stretch and wonder.

The new plan affecting A. and M. and the University seems to be to submit a request to the legislature for a revision of the law controlling the oil lands, giving the Aggies $150,000 for the next four years and from then on a third of the total proceeds, which now amount to more than $14,000,000.

Create Loan Fund

Seniors in T. C. U. this year have decided to try to ease the rocky road to education a bit for their followers in creating an initial loan fund of $1,000 for the use of coming senior classes. Each member of the class is giving $6 to the fund, which is to be administered by a board of trustees composed of one faculty member and six members of the class.

To Play Faculty

That famous Tech faculty football team as pictured by Spiv Huff in the April Fool issue of the Toreador may be called to mind in the announcement of the senior-faculty baseball game to be played at Baylor University Friday, May 9. Such frays do not always result in vindication of the athletic superiority of the younger generation; it frequently happens that instead of a bunch of gray beards hobbling about the diamond the undergraduates are faced with a snappy nine made up of ex-college stars. It is a safe wager that there are any number of men on the Tech faculty who could give strong competition to any kind of team the students here might put forth.

And it is just those little traditions like that that help to "humanize" the faculty and create stronger friendships than are developed in the class room.

Adopt New Plan

One of the most important steps in financing student activities in recent years was taken recently by the faculty and student body of West Texas State Teachers college at Canyon, making the purchase of student activity tickets practically compulsory and providing for adequate support for intercollegiate athletics, lyceum courses, intramural athletics and intercollegiate debate. The matter of making student activities compulsory has been one of the most serious facing the smaller state institutions. Denominational institutions have been able to make their student fees compulsory, but the Pollard Fee Bill of three years ago made it impossible for state schools to compel students to pay activity fees.

Canyon is getting around the difficulty in this way. No student is to be eligible for representation of the college in any intercollegiate contest or for any remunerative employment in the college who has not paid a student activity fee of $9. Nor will any such student be eligible for participation in any organization recognized as a student activity. Just how effective the restrictions will be yet remains to be seen. It will be recalled that there are on every campus a number of students who are not interested in representing the college, in belonging to organizations, or in attending student affairs or contests. The requirements do not yet seem to reach them. It is also planned for every faculty member to purchase an activity ticket.

Canyon has also made a most important decision in declaring that all profits from the college bookstore are to go in the general fund for the support of the four activities mentioned.

From these, and other sources, The West Texas Teachers hope to be able to draw a total of at least $9,600 to be distributed possibly with allotments of $6,400 for intercollegiate athletics, $1,920 for the lyceum course, $960 for intramural sports, and about $320 for intercollegiate debate. It is pointed out in The Prairie, the Canyon college newspaper, that these amounts exceed in each case what has been expended in the various categories in the past.

Tech will probably watch with interest the developments at Canyon, especially in view of the well-known financial difficulties of the local institution.

T. W. C. Bids Accepted

Politics are brewing in other schools

as well as Tech at this time of the year. In some schools, notably S. M. U., the contests have taken on something of the nature of a fight between the fraternity and the anti-fraternity groups. In others it is more of a battle between the ins and outs. At McMurry there has been for several years a fight between the ministerial and the athletic group, with the ministers getting the worst end of the fray for the past few years. Sam Houston State Teachers college, on the other hand, has seen within the past few weeks a sharp division between the athletics and the literary people, and strange to say, the latter group seems to have scored something of a triumph in the selection of certain student officers and in the division of activity funds.

Simmons university will hold its elections next Wednesday. Opportunity for campaign speeches with "No mud slinging tolerated" will be given at chapel Monday. Being a denominational school where publications are conducted as free lance affairs by the students, positions calling for salaries are hotly contested. They usually pay far above the meager salaries given in schools where stricter regulations have been imposed. McMurry on the other hand, has something of the same proposition, but its publications managers feel lucky to avoid a deficit. Tech had its own experience in free lance student publications during the first two years when copies and flowers got mixed up in the printing bills for some strange reason and when the college directors had to pay the publications out of debt.

All-College Dances

By ORVAL BURROUGHS

All-college dances are necessities. Since the opening of the Texas Technological college in 1925, the majority of our students have recognized this fact as being such. During the first session, the year was far advanced before the faculty agreed with the student leaders that college dances were really necessary as social functions. Finally an agreement was reached by which dances were held once a month. The students had won a well deserved victory.

At a later time, the controlling powers looked with even greater leniency on the request of the students for additional social functions. All-college dances, a long with social events, were held more often, becoming bi-monthly affairs.

In all the requests and all the arrangements, the faculty committee has been quite generous. The student managers, moreover, have been above reproach. There is, however, something wrong with our all-college dances. The pleasure to be derived from these functions has become less and less. If neither the faculty committee nor the student managers are to be blamed for the degeneration, then the fault must rest with the students who attend the dances. There is little doubt but that the fault is in the attitude or viewpoint of the individual dancing student. Many students—and particularly men—fail to see the real purpose of dances limited to college people and their guests. They take the attitude that these dances are to be attended merely because the price of admission is less than at other dances, because the occasion bids fair to be less dignified and more unrestrained than any other they might attend. This type of student, although far in the minority, makes the dances much less pleasant than they would otherwise be. He is, in fact, about the only discordant note in these affairs. Chief among the rudeness of this more boorish type of dancer is the habit of promiscuous cutting-in on girls with whom there is not even a faint acquaintance. Most girls object strenuously to the attitude that their acquaintance is held as cheap as that of some hanger-on at an East Side Dance Palace. If they don't object to this attitude, it is doubtful if they belong at a college dance.

In addition to the practice of indiscriminate tagging, there are at least three outstanding examples of ill breeding that are not unknown at Texas Tech. The first of these is the tendency of some few men to insist on objectionable topics of conversation while dancing. The weather, of course, is not exactly exciting as a topic of social discourse; but if it is the only alternative, it is much more conducive to pleasant relations than are certain types of risqué stories.

The second criterion of ill breeding is a method of dancing which is to say the least unusual, unorthodox, and conspicuous. Not all of us, to be sure, are such exponents of Pterpsichore as to be above reproach. Surely, however, all of us can refrain from attempting to resemble reptile-contortionist hybrids.

The final injunction, it seems, might well be imparted in the form of a gentle hint followed by an equally docile query. Chaperones for student functions are becoming harder to get, according to a well based report. There must be some good. Are we being as thoughtful as we might?

The cure for all these ills rests, for the most part, with the girls. If they refuse to dance with men with whom they are unacquainted, or would report any instance of ill-breeding on the part of a dancing partner, these objectionable individuals might soon be weeded out. These offenders are very few, and without them our dances may continue to be the pleasant affairs that they should be.

Some Outstanding Scenes In The Freiburg Passion Play

magazines and yearbooks were held. Hal Lary, the delegate from the local Press club, was in charge of the discussion and comparison of college newspapers attended by present and future editors and business managers and other interested parties.

Ft. Worth In '31

At the business sessions Friday important affairs in the life of the association were disposed of. Although Stephen F. Austin State Teachers college came to the convention with the avowed purpose of taking the meeting to Nacogdoches next year, it was decided in light of its central location and facilities for entertainment and instruction to assemble in 1931 in Ft. Worth as the guests of Texas Woman's College.

Resolutions urging more diligent study of the constitution, extending appreciation to Sam Houston State Teachers college and to the city of Huntsville, and recommending important developments in the program for next year were submitted by the committee on resolutions and passed without opposition. A fourth resolution recommending vigorous editorial policies and freedom from external domination was the basis for considerable debate, but was tabled until the session next year. However, a resolution introduced earlier in the session by the committee on policy and recommending very much the same idea expressed in milder terms had been passed without opposition.

Amend Constitution
Important changes in the constitution distributing the load of the vice-president in securing material and judges for contests among the several officers were adopted.

Mary Hamilton of Texas Woman's college was elected president of the convention for the coming year. Miss Hamilton is a former resident of Lubbock and is a sister of John Hamilton, former Tech student.

A summary of the first places won by the schools entered in the T. I. P. A. contests is as follows: North Texas State Teachers college, formal essay, humorous short story; Simmons University, college yearbook, class A, sport story, news story, and feature story; Abilene Christian college, college newspaper, Class B, one-act play; Texas Tech, college newspaper, Class A, and editorial; Sam Houston, yearbook, Class B; McMurry, familiar essay.

Other schools entered in the contest and represented at the convention at Huntsville were: Southwest Texas State Teachers college, Texas Woman's college, Trinity University, West Texas State Teachers college, Wichita Falls Junior college, and Stephen F. Austin State Teachers college.

BEAUTIFUL PARK INCLUDED IN LANDSCAPE PLANS

Visioning a day when the barren tracts on Tech campus will be no more, the department of horticulture in the School of Agriculture has since the beginning of the college been making an effort to restore the dense growth of trees which, according to some mythical fancy, once graced the Texas plains.

Legend has it that many years ago, before the moderns penetrated this region, Paul Bunyan came out to the Texas Plains on some sort of a logging trip. The myth says that he would hitch his blue ox to a quarter section of land, drag it into camp, cut the trees from it, and then drag it back to its original place again.

With hundreds of varieties of trees growing on the campus today, it may be that within thirty or forty years it will only be a myth that the land was once barren. On the campus there are seven or eight thousand Chinese elms growing with almost unbelievable rapidity. Within the next few years, these trees will have reached the height of from twenty-five to thirty feet.

Bordering the edge of the campus and the different drives within the college grounds, are straight rows of Catalpas, Arizona Cypress, or Chinese elms, which, within a few years, will be towering many feet above the passerby. Forming a soft background on the west is a large grove of trees, standing out distinctly against the western sunset. Besides being a piece of superb beauty, this plot is a nursery in which young plants are grown.

Outstanding in the landscape architecture is the park which has been started from the book store to nineteenth street. A winding drive extends throughout the length of the park. At present, there are several varieties of trees growing, which include Norway Spruce, Western Yellow Pine, Deodar Cedar and Red Cedar. More trees and shrubs will be added as they are secured.

It is easy to picture the Tech campus of tomorrow. A school park with hundreds of stately trees swaying in the breeze, with a soft carpet of grass underneath—blossoming flowers adding to the color—birds flitting from tree to tree—fountains spraying, forming rainbows in the rays of the sun—and benches placed in the shade where Tech eds and coeds may gather to talk.

The campus is certainly undergoing a change, though it may seem to be a slow one, and it is all being brought about under the direction of the school of agriculture.

Deans Council—

ruling, much embarrassment had been caused some members of the class because of the invitations which were to the exercises in May.

Mr. Cole of the book store has informed members of the class that caps and gowns must be ordered by Saturday of this week. After that date no senior will be able to obtain a cap or gown through the bookstore. Two hundred and thirty-three invitations besides the ones ordered by members of the class will be received. It will be necessary for those who have not ordered their invitations to do so immediately.

The council indicated that the ruling decreasing two graduating exercises each year would go into effect after the present class has been graduated.

Tech Students in College Social Function

Many Tech students find that they have more time for college social functions by writing their notes and themes on a Royal Portable typewriter. And in addition to having more time for other things, they receive a premium for neatness.

The Royal Portable is the leading portable typewriter of the day on account of its unsurpassing speed, ease, beauty and durability. It is the standard portable typewriter and may be had in any of a variety of keyboards, colors and type, including the new Vogue type for personal correspondence.

Ask to see and try this wonderful "Baby Grand" Royal.
