

Techsans Go To Polls Today

Today Techsans elect representatives to fill vacancies on the Freshman and Student Councils.

Candidates for six Freshman Council vacancies are David Beckman, Sara Beckman, Ellen Branch, Tom Callaw, Ann Courtney, Sara Cox, Connie Curry, Mary Beth Diers, Sandra Duke, Mary Gibbons, Jo Hansen, Suzanne Harrington, Danny Hood, Pam Hughes and Evelyn Kuhn.

Other candidates for Freshman Council posts include Jimmie Martin, Jenny Matthews, Betty Melzer, Mike Moore, Janice O'Neal, Clark Pfluger, Vicki Pharr, Margy Randolph, Jeanie Rook, Kay Taylor, Roger Thraikill, Martha Welch, Marcia Winkelman and Shirley Wishcamper.

Applicants for two Student Council openings in business administration are Diane Baker, John Paul Davis, Rick Klein, Becky Parker, Jerry Peirce, Mac Percival, James Perry and Pat Walker.

Candidates for the single engineering post are Ronnie Botkins and Peggy Pedigo.

Voting hours will be 8 a.m. to noon, and 1 to 5 p.m. today in all academic buildings, and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Union.

Ballot boxes will be located in the Union lobby; the central lobby of the C&O Bldg.; the first floor, east wing of the Ad Bldg. and the breezeway of the East Engineering Bldg.

Members of Circle K service organization will regulate each voting position.

Only freshmen may vote for the Freshman Council representatives. Freshmen may also vote for Student Council posts, if they are in the Schools of Business Administration or Engineering. I.D. cards are necessary to vote.

In Decision Thursday

Court Voids Election Rule

The Tech Supreme Court, debating until late Thursday afternoon, handed down a decision reversing an earlier ruling of the Student Council Election Committee.

The Court, meeting in the Union at 3 p.m. Thursday, heard James Perry, junior class vice president, say his disqualification by the Election Committee earlier in the week was unconstitutional.

PERRY SAID HIS decision to run for business representative to the Student Council "is a right I feel I'm being denied."

His appeal came after the Committee Monday declared him ineligible to run in today's election. The Committee based its decision on a ruling enacted by the Student Council Oct. 2, stating that a person may not simultaneously hold any of the positions of Student Council representative, class officer and cheerleader.

Student Council Secretary Karen Anderson, also chairman of the Election Committee, told the Court Thursday she felt the Committee was within its bounds and that its ruling was approved by the entire Council.

SHE SAID THE Committee based its ruling on the Council constitution stating that "The Student Council shall provide for the holding of elections and shall enact an election code therefor . . ." and by-laws which state that ". . . the Elections Committee shall formulate detailed election rules. These rules shall be submitted to the Council for approval and shall be maintained on file in the Student Council office."

Miss Anderson explained that the ruling was enacted by the Council to prevent "concentration of leadership." Without the clause, she continued, it would be possible for one person to hold all three offices.

THE SUPREME Court said, in a two-page decision handed down after almost three hours of deliberations, that ". . . the Election Code rule disqualifying Mr. Perry is invalid and that, since he has fulfilled the regulations of the election code, his name should be placed on the ballot.

"This Court does not intend to imply that all election procedures and qualifications must be incorporated within the constitution.

"WE FIRMLY BELIEVE that the constitution must be a flexible document if it is to remain responsive to the needs of the student body. However, if the Council wishes to elaborate and make additional qualifications, these qualifications should be incorporated within the by-laws."

MISS ANDERSON said Thursday night she felt the Student Council would incorporate the Election Committee's ruling into the by-laws of the constitution, because she thought that was one of the main reasons for the Court's decision.

Perry said Thursday night that he would definitely run for the position in Friday's election.

BSO Delegates Leave For Retreat

By CELESTE HARDY
Toreador Copy Editor

Sixty-six campus leaders and three administrative officials left at 8 a.m. today for the ninth annual Board of Student Organizations retreat. The group is scheduled to arrive in Cloud-croft, N.M., at 2 p.m. today.

MAIN PURPOSE

"The main purpose of the retreat is to try to instill in the minds of every campus leader on the retreat the responsibility he has as a member and an officer of his respective organization," explained James Cole, BSO president.

"We feel that if we can accomplish this purpose that we not only strengthen these 66 people but the organizations they represent," Cole said.

TO DISCUSS SPEECH

Floyd Read, executive vice president of the Tech Ex-Students Assn., will address the delegation at 6 p.m. today on "Why Join?" Following his address, delegates will discuss, on an abstract level, the principles of his speech.

"The question we will be considering is 'Do these principles really apply to us as leaders of college campus organizations?'" said Cole.

Saturday morning delegates will resume discussions on Read's speech. They will dwell on practical application of the principles to different areas of Tech's organizations.

Discussion groups dealing with campus problems as a whole will begin at 10:15 a.m. Each delegate will submit questions concerning Tech students "from athletic intergration to student apathy."

OFFICERS FOR 1963-64

"We are not necessarily going to come up with any solutions to these problems, but we want to look at all sides of any problem and consider alternative solutions," said Cole.

Following dinner Saturday night the 1963-64 BSO officer slate will be introduced. They are: Ken Snider, president; Sandi Campbell, corresponding secretary; Carolyn Chenault, recording secretary and Patsy Wood-dell, treasurer.

At a "fireside chat" delegates will "wrap up" what has been accomplished on the retreat. Entertainment will follow.

Highlighting Sunday's activities will be "Pearce on the Spot," a question and answer session with questions being directed at Dr. William Pearce, academic vice president.

The session will be directed as a press conference. Students may ask questions on anything concerning Tech, including administrative policy.

"We feel that this is the appropriate way to cap the retreat," said Cole.

LEAD DISCUSSIONS

Accompanying the students on the retreat are Dr. Florence Phillips, dean of women, James G. Allen, dean of student life and Dr. Pearce.

Discussion group leaders are Hank Hunt, Myla Henderson, Lynn McElroy, Charlie Aycock, Ronnie Botkin, James Cole, Paul Dinsmore, Steve Magee, Sandi Campbell and Royal Furgeson.

Students on the retreat committee are Betsy Baker, chairman, Ronnie Botkin, Joe Barnhart, Loysanne Slaughter, Sandi Campbell, Dick Bush, Gay Haught and Annette Inmon.

The group is scheduled to leave Cloudcroft at 1 p.m. Sunday and arrive in Lubbock at 7:30 p.m.

Freshmen Look For Favorites

Freshman Council is seeking nominations for class favorites. Any organization or individual may submit the name of a freshman boy and/or girl for these honors.

Names must be submitted by the Freshman Council meeting at 5 p.m. Wednesday in Tech Union Blue Room. Nominations may come from the floor or may be given to a council member before the meeting.

Class favorites will be elected in an all-class vote later.

Chess Tournament Opens On Campus

About 20 entrants are expected for Tech's annual chess tournament which begins Sunday, according to Murray Tabachnick.

Each entrant will play one game a week in the Swiss style, six-round tourney.

As I see it . . .

by johnnie lu raborn

The fraternity system was reviewed, blasted and praised from two camps this week. Look magazine, in its article "The Perils of Big Brotherhood," took a dim view of fraternities, their role in the modern college and value to the individual. On the other hand, Walter Cronkite, CBS commentator, handed nothing but praise to the Interfraternity Council Workshop meeting at the University of Texas (Daily Texan, Feb. 24).

There seems to be a growing discussion, pro and con, about the activities and future of fraternities in our colleges. Time magazine had featured a discussion on it in an October issue which I noted in my column as having little effect on the Tech fraternity system. With an increase of literature about the subject, it would be good for us to take note of what is being said.

First of all, both view points have substantial bases for their assertions. It all depends on the vested interest or lack of interest with which one looks at the situation.

The Look article took note of the decrease in college fraternity systems. Examples he cited were mostly colleges in the North and East which concurred with a previous article in Time. Those colleges that kicked out or threatened to eliminate fraternities listed false loyalty, discriminatory clauses, and rituals "full of Civil-War-era melodrama" as reasons for decline of the system.

Delta Upsilon at Williams College described the sort of intellectual squalor by saying, "Having ideas doesn't count — except against you. You get along better if you don't stir things up. That means restricting your conversation to the broadest, easiest topics — sex and booze, for example."

What did Cronkite say in reference to these words? "Companionship, self-confidence, life-long friendships and being introduced to girls too expensive to date," were what he received from his college fraternity.

"The system's object is to build friendships and have fun. It is a diversion from the routine of day-to-day college life," he said. "We are growing overly serious and fun has almost become a dirty word," he continued.

Cronkite hit another controversial issue when he said, "They (fraternities) should take supplementary roles to education, but good fraternities instill the gentlemanly virtues in their men." According to Look, "Esteem is slipping from the grasp of the old social aristocracy of manners, represented by the 19th-century fraternity, into the hands of a new intellectual aristocracy of concern. The new student cares less who you are than what you can do."

What are the truths and half-truths concerning the debate of the fraternity system? Because Tech fraternity men represent a mixture of the campus population and are not isolated from the main stream of students, maybe they aren't affected by some of the arguments. Being a woman, I can't say. Only those in the system can judge the merits or shortcomings — if they will be objective. Can you answer the questions?

AS I SEE IT

About 66 Techsians will be "heading for the hills" of Cloudcroft today to participate in a weekend of discussing ways to improve Tech organizations on the BSO retreat.

Friday the Alpha Phis will have an all-night slumber party at the lodge for members and pledges. Time? 7 p.m. until?

Delta Delta Delta sorority is having a "Big and Little Sister game party" from 2-4 p.m. Saturday at the lodge. They will play bridge and Password without the assistance of Charles Goren and Allen Ludden.

AS I SEE IT

A Kappa Kappa Gamma reception for the National Maid of Cotton will be 4-5 p.m. Sunday at the KKG lodge.

Phi Mu's Founders Day Banquet will be 6:30-9 p.m. Monday at the Lubbock Women's Club.

Geoscientists Challenge 'Toughies'

By RICHARD DAVIS

Toreador Staff Writer

The 50-mile hike has been "toned down" at Tech and a smaller scale of the sport substituted. Result?—a rousing game of golf.

The "intellects" of the geoscience department challenge anyone on the faculty who rates himself "tough competition" for a duel at the Meadowbrook Golf Course.

Rae Harris, David Dunn and Richard Mattox, professors in the geoscience department, are the challengers. And not at all surprising they also constitute the rules committee. Date of the game has not been set, but it will be arranged by the tri-member committee.

Anyone willing to play who can stand the strain may contact Harris. According to Harris, the game is "to boost faculty spirit and participation."

The rules laid down by the tri-member committee state that three players from each department may enter. For further information, contact Dunn, Mattox or Harris.

African Sculpture Exhibit Worth $6,930

Collection Includes Ceremonial Masks

African sculpture from a 30-piece circulating exhibition of New York's Segy Gallery will be on display today through March 16 in the main lobby of Tech Union.

The sculptures include a mask which natives believe to be the dwelling place of spirits of their ancestors. This mask is from the Baule tribe on the Ivory Coast.

Another mask from the Ivory Coast has a movable mouth and was worn by ceremonial dancers.

Total value of the exhibit is $6,930. It is sponsored by the Union Art and Design Committee.

Cadets Study Pilot Program

Members of AFROTC, Flight F, visited Reese Air Force Base recently to study the Air Force pilot training program.

The group assembled in the briefing room of the 3501st Pilot Training Squadron where Major D. B. McCoffey, operations officer, described the base program. The group then received information about the new Air Force jet trainer, the T-38.

The group moved to a hanger, and the cadets were allowed to look over aircraft. The final activity was visiting the Mobile Control Unit.

Each week a different flight from the AFROTC cadet wing at Tech visits Reese to become more familiar with the Air Force flight training program.

Popular Pianists Play 'Moods' Here Tonight

By JANICE RODOWICK
Toreador Staff Writer

Ferrante and Teicher, two of the nation's top pianists, bring their new show, "The Many Moods of Ferrante and Teicher," to the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. today.

The program, ranging from show tunes and popular music to "pop" classics, will demonstrate the artistry and musical sense-of-humor of two performers called by critics "the most exciting team of our time."

Active on every front of the entertainment world, the two have appeared on the nationally televised Dinah Shore, Perry Como and Ed Sullivan shows, as well as winning wide favor among the younger set on The Dick Clark Show. They have played concert tours and night club engagements across the United States and Canada.

In two years, the pianists have sold over six million single discs and two and a half million LP's, their hits including "Theme from The Apartment," "Exodus" and "Tonight."

During their school days, Ferrante and Teicher studied under the direction of the same teacher and graduated from Juilliard as piano majors.

Travelling by car and accompanied by a special truck carrying their two Steinway concert grand pianos, they have barnstormed across the nation.

Tickets are on sale in Tech Union, Tech Bookstore, and Wayne's Record Shop. Admission is 75 cents for Tech students and $1 for faculty. Other student tickets are $1 and general public tickets are $2.

Raiders Meet 2nd Place Ags

By RAY FINFER

Toreador Sports Editor

Sporting a starting line-up of five players averaging in double figures — for both season and conference play—Texas Tech will travel to College Station today to engage the Aggies.

Tech, finally beginning to click as a team, will send a much-improved starting five against the Aggies. Bobby Gindorf and Glen Hallum will be starting forwards; Sid Wall and Tom Patty at guards and Harold Denney at post.

Gindorf is averaging 14.6 in season and 11.3 in loop play; Hallum is 11.4 and 13.5; Wall is 12.8 and 11.2; Patty is 10.2 and 11.9; and Denney is 13.0 and 12.1.

The Farmers will start leading conference scorer, Bennie Lennox, 6-2, and Paul Timmins, 5-11, at guards; Gerald Woodard, 6-3, and Jerry Windham, 6-7, at forwards and Lee Walker, 6-8, at center.

Lennox scored only 21 points against Baylor in Saturday's meeting, but he still leads the conference in scoring average for the season with 511 points and a 23.3 game average.

Tech's top season scorer is Denney with 272 points and an average of 13 points per game. Gindorf leads the team in loop scoring with 175 points for a 14.6 average. He is ranked eighth in league scoring.

Gindorf also leads Tech in two other departments as the most accurate field goal shooter and free thrower. He has hit 71 of 123 floor shots for 58 per cent and sunk 33 of 40 free throws to garner 83 per cent in gratis shooting.

Hallum is the team's leading rebounder, both in season and loop action. For the year he has hauled down 157 rebounds and has captured 81 in conference play.

Tech stands fifth in the Southwest Conference ratings with a 6-6 record. Texas has already clinched the championship with a 12-0 record. A&M is second in the league at 8-4; Rice and Arkansas are tied with 7-5 records; SMU is sixth with a 5-7 standing; Baylor is 2-10 and TCU is last with 1-11.

Other conference action tonight includes a single game between Texas and Arkansas at Austin. Saturday will find Baylor at SMU and Rice at TCU.

Delts, Rams Renew Rivalry

West Texas State's all-college intramural basketball champs, the Rams, will meet Tech fraternity champions, Delta Tau Delta, at 7:30 p.m. today in the Men's Gym.

Members of the Delt team, who finished fraternity play with a 9-0 record, are David Dean, Tom Arnold, Kent Hance, Steve Henderson, Mike Kunstadt, Bob Powers, Ronnie Siler, Kennedy Whiteley, Ward Williford, David Woods and coach Buddy Peele.

The game renews a four year rivalry.
