

CAROL OF LIGHTS VIEWERS — With the Chemistry Bldg. behind them outlined in bright dots of red, white and yellow, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Higginbotham of Sherman take in the beauty of the Tech campus dressed up for the Christmas season. After their look at the rest of the campus, the Higginbothams joined voices with the rest of the 1,500-plus crowd to climax the colorful Carol of Lights with familiar Christmas carols.

Tech Lights Herald Christmas Season

By CAROL LEE PAGE
Tornador Staff Writer

For a single moment the huge mass of people stood with breathless anticipation in the cold darkness of night.

Suddenly . . . in the twinkling of an eye . . . Tech turned on the spirit of Christmas! Where there had been blackness seconds before, 16-thousand dots of light filled the night with red, white, and yellow and outlined nine campus buildings.

After more than a month of planning, Women's Residence Council's efforts with the Carol of Lights was realized shortly after 7 p.m. last night. Linda Hill, president of WRC stepped to the microphone. The crowd was hushed.

"Tonight it is with pleasure that we welcome you to this third annual Carol of Lights," she said. "Christmas means many things to many people. Perhaps to the Tech student it means this time when the campus puts on its holiday glow and opens our hearts for the spirit of Christmas."

Then following the invocation by AWS president Carolyn Kelly, the campus was thrown into total darkness. Richard Tolley's brass choir filled the interval between blackout and light with the golden tones of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." There was a pause . . . the tension grew with a quick fanfare . . . the radiant beams of Christmas flashed on!

Dr. Gene Hemmle led the audience in "Joy to the World," and the program had begun. Nine residence hall choirs mounted the platforms to sing the traditional Carols of Christmas . . . "Hark the Herald Angels Sing" by West Hall; "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" by Sneed Hall; Women's 6 and Bledsoe with "White Christmas;" "Jolly Old St. Nicholas" from Women's 7 and Thompson Halls; and Weeks Hall sang "O Christmas Tree."

Also were the gentle songs of Christmas . . . "The Carol of Drums" by Doak Hall; the beautiful "O Holy Night" by Drane; Knapp and Gordon intoned "Silent Night;" and Horn Hall presented "Once in Royal David's City."

Gene Kenny and the Tech Choir performed the beautiful and haunting "Two Kings," followed by a light, joyous medieval Carol, "Fum, Fum, Fum." The Choir concluded the program with "We Wish You a Merry Christmas."

Name Change Hearing Due

The name change controversy will enter its second stage Friday, when the Texas Tech Board of Directors will host a public hearing on the proposed change.

THE HEARING comes as the result of a recommendation of board President Manuel DeBusk, who said earlier that he thought the board should hear and consider the opinions on the name change from all persons interested in Texas Tech.

DeBusk said at the time of the recommendation, "We want fact (at the hearing), reason, judgment—not duplication." He suggested that everyone wanting to come before the board should submit a letter outlining the points he wished to make and then send a copy of the letter to the board members so that they would have time to review the arguments before the hearing.

DeBUSK HIMSELF renewed controversy (which has been going on for the past six years) earlier this year when he suggested that the name should be changed to Texas Technological University.

Protest against DeBusk's suggested name arose immediately, with students and faculty arguing that the words "technological" and "university" in the same title were incompatible.

THE controversy culminated in a student referendum in which Texas State University was given a majority of votes over five other suggested names, including Texas Technological University.

The hearing will be from 1:30-4:30 p.m. Friday, in the Office of the President in the Ad. Bldg.

Railroad Unions Plan Multiple Legal Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) Five railroad unions facing the loss of thousands of members' jobs plan a multiple legal attack on a compulsory arbitration ruling Congress initiated to keep the nation's trains running.

The chiefs of the five unions whose members operate trains also said yesterday they will challenge the constitutional right of Congress to order compulsory settlement of any labor dispute.

"The question of employe servitude to protect management's profits does not relate to railroad workers alone," they said in a joint statement. "The public in general and the labor movement in particular should be concerned with the grave precedents involved."

Friday is the deadline for the unions to file suits on their charges that last Tuesday's arbitration board ruling exceeded the limits Congress set in creating the board to avert a nationwide rail strike.

The unions said there will probably be several suits filed by different combinations of the five unions.

The constitutionality of the emergency law passed by Congress last August a few hours before a scheduled strike will be challenged in a separate suit by the five unions later, the unions said.

The unions said they feared that other issues, including wages, which Congress left to negotiation between the two parties, may also wind up in compulsory arbitration.

The two labor members of the seven-man arbitration board, including one of the union chiefs in Tuesday's joint action, dissented from majority ruling.

The two management members, including the chief railroad negotiator, J. E. Wolfe, agreed to the decision as did the three neutral board members.

The majority ruling said the nearly 200 railroads involved may eventually eliminate 90 per cent of the 40,000 firemen's jobs on diesel freight and yard locomotives. Job protection was stipulated for the remaining 10 per cent.

The board told the two parties they should settle the other major issue—the size of train crews—but provided for compulsory settlement on a local basis wherever the railroads and the unions cannot agree. This issue involves a review of another estimated 50,000 jobs and the possible elimination of some.

They could deadlock and present a new nationwide strike threat if there is no agreement by Feb. 25, when the emergency law expires, except for the arbitration award which stands two years.

Italian KO's Dupas

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Italy's Sandro Mazzinghi proved his first victory over Ralph Dupas was no fluke when he stopped the clever American in the 13th round of a defense of his world junior middleweight title Monday night.

The 24-year-old, hard-hitting Italian won on a technical knockout at 1:10 of the 13th when Referee Vic Patrick intervened.

Dupas of New Orleans was floored twice in the round. When Mazzinghi jolted his foe with a terrific right to the jaw, Patrick stepped in and raised Mazzinghi's right hand to signal the victory.

Union Chooses Acts From Campus Talent For Variety Show

Sparkling entertainment is in order Saturday as 13 Techsians bring songs, music and a variety of other acts to the stage of the 1963 edition of Raider Rambles.

Latest Selections

Those selected to appear in the Tech Union sponsored production are: Fred McFarland, guitarist; Sherry Burgandy, singer; Rita Reynolds, singer; Juanna Jo Moore, twirler; Suzanna Johnson, singer; Bettye Lowder, singer; Mark Park, pianist; Carol Voelkel, tap dancer; Janet Wood, singer; and the Ones Three Plus One, folk singers.

Audition judges were Mr. and Mrs. John Gilbert. Gilbert is an instructor in Tech's music department and will be in charge of production of the show. Mrs. Gilbert was a star in the Varsity "Guys and Dolls" Show in 1958.

Winners Audition

Raider Rambles was first held in December 1957 and was sponsored by the Entertainment Committee. The winner of Tech's Rambles will audition to appear in Region Nine Talent Show at Texas A&M University.

The talent show is an audition rather than a competition event. National talent scouts will be present to look for potential performers. Since 1957 Tech's winners have been selected to appear in Region Nine Association of College Unions Talent Shows. Intercollegiate contest winners have the opportunity to receive expense-paid tours in an act touring the country.

Set For Saturday

It is mandatory that all contestants attend rehearsals Wednesday and Thursday.

Raider Rambles will be in the Union Ballroom at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Peace Corps Sets Exams For Spring Training Plan

Peace Corps placement tests will be given in Lubbock Saturday in conjunction with the Corps' announced plans for the largest spring training program in the agency's history.

This year an estimated 1,500 volunteers will enter training as compared to about 400 mid-year trainees in past years. According to Sargent Shriver, Peace Corps Director, this year's large spring group will fill urgent requests from countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

Many of the spring group will be mid-year graduates of United States colleges and universities who will fill teaching assignments, most of which require college degrees.

About one-third of the spring trainees will not be required to have degrees.

Teachers will be needed at all levels and in all subjects, with particular emphasis on English, science and mathematics.

Leete Jackson

Techsan Saves Drowning Girl

A Texas Tech sophomore has received an award of merit and $300 for his rescue of a drowning 15-year-old girl near Eugene, Ore., last summer.

Leete Jackson, a pre-dental student from Lubbock, was employed as a guard at Pamela Lake Guard Station in the Willamette National Forest when he made the rescue.

According to eye-witnesses, Jackson swam to the aid of Merrillyn McDonald of Salem, Ore., after the girl had tired while attempting to swim to shore from a raft.

She and a friend had poled the raft away from shore and about 500 yards out when the girl decided to swim back. About half way back, she was unable to continue and called for help. Jackson heard her call and swam to her rescue.

Along with the award, Jackson received a letter from Forest Supervisor David R. Gibney. In the letter, Gibney stated that the award was presented for action "above and beyond the call of duty."

Jackson, a 1961 graduate of Lubbock High School, was a starting quarterback on the Lubbock High School football team and played freshman football at Tech. Jackson also served as a life guard at the municipal pool in Lubbock in the summer of 1960.

'It Ain't So' Dean Says

AUSTIN (AP) — Wedding bells and classroom bells do not necessarily produce the sweetest harmony for college couples, according to Dean of Students Glenn Barnett of the University of Texas.

"Contrary to the frequently heard belief that marriage acts as a stabilizing factor and makes the student buckle down, we find marriage seldom makes a good student out of a poor one," Dean Barnett states.

"If the wife was a competent student and dropped out for marriage," Dean Barnett says, "she frequently feels an underlying resentment if her student husband does not excel. In many cases, his grades go down as the time and concentration needed for his work are nibbled away by the demands of family life."
