DURING RELIGIOUS EMPHASIS WEEK...

Priest To Discuss Morals

By NITA HEDLESTON

(Third in a series designed to acquaint Texans with panelists who will participate in Religious Emphasis Week Feb. 27-Mar. 1 on the campus.)

The Rev. H. J. Halfmann, of St. Elizabeth's Catholic Church in Lubbock, will moderate a panel discussion of "A Moral Being" during Tech's forthcoming Religious Emphasis Week.

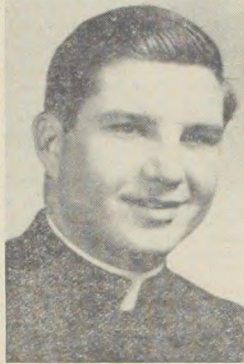

Stressing moral law, Father Halfmann believes "people are losing a certain amount of respect for authority. They have a moral obligation to follow.

"Most people today are taking a passive interest rather than an active interest in entertainment," he stated. "They depend on movies, radio and television for all their entertainment." This he added, "is true of all ages — not just the youth."

Having done a great deal of special work around youth, the Rev. Halfmann says that emphasis on juvenile delinquency today is much overplayed in movies and newspaper headlines. In his experience with youth, mostly of high school age, Father Halfmann says he finds that most are "trying to help themselves."

The Rev. Halfmann attended Price College High School in Amarillo, St. John's Seminary in San Antonio, and studied theology for four years in Boston, Mass. He was ordained April 11, 1951.

Stationed for the past five years in Amarillo, he served three years at Sacred Heart Cathedral and two years at St. Mary's Church there. During that time he taught in the High School department of St. Mary's Academy in Amarillo.

Atom Expert Plans Tech Talk

Dr. Ralph T. Overman, Chairman of the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, has scheduled an appearance on the Tech campus Sunday, Feb. 26 during his Atomic Energy Commission sponsored tour of Southwest schools.

"What With the Atom?" will be the subject of Dr. Overman's talk here at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, as he discusses the relationships of the atomic age with certain religious viewpoints. The Student Union ballroom will be the site of the talk and a discussion period will follow. Attendance is open to all students.

Stop-offs on Dr. Overman's tour include several of the largest campuses in the southwest. Even though Tech was not originally on his itinerary, Dr. Overman agreed to stop here because of the closeness to Wayland College in Plainview, where he is also to speak Sunday.

Not only has Dr. Overman achieved renown in the nuclear field, but he is recognized as an outstanding layman and is in much demand as a speaker. He has been a regular personality at numerous Religious Emphasis weeks in this part of the country.

Dr. Overman became nuclear studies chairman at Oak Ridge in 1948 and since that time over 2,000 mature research workers have been trained in the techniques of using radio-isotopes in research under his direction. The division was organized for the purpose of offering training in the processes of effective atomic energy.

Named in the current edition of

"American Men of Science." Dr. Overman is also listed in "Who's Who in Chemistry," "Who Knows — And What" and "Leaders in American Science."

Mortar Board Exes Schedule Luncheon Thursday in Union

Mortar Board alumnae living in the Lubbock area will meet for luncheon in the Student Union Anniversary Room at 12:30 p.m. Thursday.

Purpose of the meeting will be to make arrangements to entertain Mrs. Carl G. Swanson, national vice president of Mortar Board, who will be in Lubbock in middle March or early April. Miss Daisy Parker, national expansion director of Mortar Board, has notified Tech officials of Mrs. Swanson's coming visit to investigate the Forum honorary group here.

The group will also discuss official chartering of an Alumnae chapter in Lubbock at the Thursday meeting.

All alumnae of Mortar Board who have not been contacted are urged to get in touch with Mrs. Scarborough Hartley, Art Director of the Department of Public Information, PO 5-8541, Extension 417.

Musicians Cancel Extravaganza

Because of conflicting dates and programs in the spring semester, the scheduled Music Dept. production of Victor Herbert's "Sweethearts," headed for a mid-March play date, has been cancelled.

With plans ranging from a production of Gian-Carlo Minotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief" later this season to individual concerts by music students, it was deemed inadvisable to pursue the original planning, said Robert Elson, Tech Choir master.

Raider SWC Hopes Raised By SMU Surprise Move; TCU Remains Loyal

By FLOYD WOOD
Toreador Sports Editor

Chances that Texas Tech will be admitted into the Southwest Conference look better after an announcement yesterday by Southern Methodist University President Willis Tate that SMU favors the Raiders' admission.

Announcement of the University's new position on the issue came in a press conference yesterday morning following a recent meeting of the faculty committee on athletics.

A vote for Tech by the Dallas university could mean that the way has been cleared for expansion of the conference. In a December meeting in Dallas, a Southwest Conference committee, made up of representatives from each of the member schools, turned down Tech's application by one vote. SMU was one of three dissenting schools.

Dr. E. N. Jones, Tech president, received the news with elation in Dallas, where he was attending to school business.

"This is certainly good news to literally thousands of West Texans and Texas Tech supporters," Dr. Jones said.

Texas Christian University President M. E. Sadler, long-time champion for Tech's admission, felt that the school would be brought into the conference at the spring meeting set for Fayetteville, Ark., May 11 and 12.

"I believe that Tech will be voted in at the next conference meeting," Dr. Sadler said. "TCU will be ready as in the past, to either start or support any move to clear the way for the fine West Texas College. This is the breakthrough in our long, continuing efforts in behalf of Tech."

Dr. Tate, in his statement to reporters, said, "If the conference is to be expanded, the committee thinks the logical choice is Texas Tech."

"Texas Tech is a college of the first class serving the second largest enrollment among the tax-supported colleges in Texas and is the ideal representative of the extensive West Texas empire which does not now have an institution in the Southwest Conference."

Dr. Jones rapidly reassured conference members that Tech would move to correct the small capacity of Jones Stadium, reportedly a sore spot with several SWC officials.

He said, "We trust that, if admitted, we will be worthy opponents down through the years. Naturally, if admission is granted, we will have to enlarge our football stadium, which has a seating capacity of 28,000."

There was no immediate word whether the University of Houston or the University of Oklahoma would try to further their campaigns for admission in view of SMU's stand. Houston was suggested in December but failed to receive a second to an admission motion. OU hasn't made application in the last few meetings.

Athletic director DeWitt Weaver pointed out it would possibly be three or four years before Tech would be in contention for football honors even if immediately admitted. Most SWC schools have their schedules made several years in advance. However, the Raiders do have contracts with Texas A&M, Baylor and Texas for football games in the coming two or three seasons.

Army To Break Ground For New Reserve Armory

Ground breaking ceremonies for a new $100,000 Army Reserve Armory will be conducted at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow. Construction site is at Fourth Street and Canton Ave., near the old Rodeo arena in the northwest area of the campus.

The ceremony is planned in conjunction with U.S. Army Reserve Day, and Tech Army Reserve personnel will be on hand to answer questions about the Reserve's activities in Lubbock, according to Capt. Paul Isagi, commanding officer of the unit.

On hand at the ground-breaking will be George E. Benson, vice president of the Tech Board of Trustees; Brig. Gen. Lewis S. Griffing, chief, Texas Military District, USAI; Lubbock Mayor Murrell Tripp; James H. Goodman, Lubbock attorney and chairman of the Fourth Army Advisory Board;

Ernst Giesecke, who will address the group on behalf of the college, and S. M. Kennedy, Jr., assistant Arts and Sciences dean at Tech, and president of the South Plains chapter of the sponsoring Reserve Officers Association.

SC ELECTION MAR. 1 TO FILL VACANCIES

A special election will be held Thursday, March 1 to elect two representatives to fill vacancies on the student council.

The representatives must come from the Business Administration and Engineering Divisions.

Petitions are now available in the Student Council office and must be turned in by 5 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 28.

Student Union Fills Eight Committee Head Vacancies

New chairmen for eight of 13 Student Union committees were announced today by Mrs. Glenn Rainer, Union program supervisor. The new leaders have been moved up from committees to fill vacancies left by the resignation of last semester's chairmen, Mrs. Rainer explained.

Tech Drops 83-65 Tilt To Miners

Conference championship hopes for Texas Tech received a big jolt last night when Texas Western bumped the Raiders 83-65 in El Paso.

In a frigid first half the Raiders collected only 29 points. At one juncture they were behind 17-4.

Jim Reed paced the losers with 17 points. Other double figure scorers for Tech were Gene Carpenter, 14, and Du-Wayne Blackshear and Bobby Wilson, 10 points each.

The Miners were led by Ed Haller with 25 points.

They include Carol Wayman, replacing Bill Surber on Dance Decorations; Bob Richards, taking over as Friday Night Dance chairman in the place of Pat Tyson, recently promoted to director of public relations; Sylvia Young, replacing Charlene Williamson who resigned as Movies chairman, and Sandra Cooper, new Hospitality chairman replacing Miss Williamson.

Bob Huff is filling a vacancy created by the resignation of Thomas Holeman as Music chairman, and David Conner is taking over for Dick King as chairman of the Union Record Dances. New Square Dance chairman is Bill Denney, replacing John Hallum, and Beth Van Maanan was elected to fill a vacancy resulting from the resignation of Elaine Russey as chairman of the World Traveler program.

The changes are effective immediately, said Mrs. Rainer.

Chances Are Good . . .

Southern Methodist University's decision yesterday to join forces with other Texas schools in a fight to admit Tech to the Southwest Conference was received here with some bit of surprise but no outward show of triumph. Faculty and student sentiment at the Dallas institution has been behind Tech for some time, and now SMU — as an institution — has taken a stand.

The attitudes displayed by the SMU student body and administration in support of Tech, and particularly those comments on the situation which appeared on CAMPUS editorial pages, are to be commended. We quote from a Dec. 14 editorial appearing in the SMU paper:

"It is our opinion . . . that we should vote for Tech . . . even though they would probably beat SMU more times than they would lose to them . . ."

"We hope that Tech students and others who supported the movement for Tech's admittance will not hold the entire student body at SMU in contempt for the action . . . in the recent meeting. It is our opinion that a great number of the student here are for Tech's entering."

Such support shown then by certain members of the school, and now displayed officially by the institution, is deserving of a vote of thanks from Techsians.

Tech has labored many years to prove it worthiness, both academically and athletically, for membership in the Southwest Conference. Its relentless perseverance in knocking at the Conference door has captured the support of all West Texas.

Public sentiment today seems strongly behind the Raiders. Chances for our admission to the Conference have never been so good.

FISH MUST FINISH TESTS SATURDAY

New freshmen who entered this semester and failed to take entrance tests are requested by administrators to come to the Testing and Counseling Center at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 25, to take these tests. The regular fee of $2 will cover tests taken at this time, but the charge will be increased to $3 for any who take them later.

Theta Sig Contest Opens

Letters are in the mail this week inviting 58 area weekly and daily newspapers to participate in the third annual writing contest sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for women in journalism, according to Mrs. Margaret S. Schrader, president.

Editors are to enter no more than two stories in any or all of four divisions: news stories, local columns, feature stories and editorials. Articles must be submitted by March 1.

Journalism faculty members, Dr. William E. Hall, Adrian Vaughan, and Miss Marjorie Wightman, will judge the three contest classifications: large dailies, small dailies and weeklies.

Winners will be announced at

Phi Psi's Celebrate 104th Anniversary

Phi Kappa Psi celebrated the 104th anniversary of its founding with a breakfast Sunday at the Restaurant Walden. Active members and Lubbock alumni attended.

Bud Smith, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, gave the invocation; and Charles Macdgen, Jr., president of the Lubbock National Bank and president of the Lubbock alumni association, gave the welcome.

David Jones, president of the active chapter, gave a speech on the founding of the fraternity. The group attended First Methodist Church together after the breakfast.

FTA NAMES OFFICERS

Bill McLaun is new president of Tech's chapter of Future Teachers of America as a result of a recent election held by the club.

Other new officers are Caroline Contreras, program vice president; Toby Sellers, membership vice president; Jerry Brewer, secretary, and Kathleen Watkins, treasurer.

HUSBANDS, ANYONE?

It has been alleged that coeds go to college for the sole purpose of finding husbands. This is, of course, an infamous canard, and I give fair warning that small and spongy as I am, anybody who ever says such a dastardly thing when I am around had better be prepared for a sound hiding!

Girls go to college for precisely the same reasons as men do: to broaden their horizons, to lengthen their vistas, to drink at the fount of wisdom, to trail their fingers in the main currents of American thought. But if, by chance, while a girl is engaged in these lofty pursuits, a likely looking husband should pop into view, why, what's wrong with that? Eh? What's wrong with that?

The question now arises, what should a girl look for in a husband? A great deal has been written on this subject. Some say character is most important, some say background, some say appearance, some say education. All are wrong.

The most important thing — bar none — in a husband is health. Though he be handsome as Apollo and rich as Captain McCutchen, what good is he if he just lays around all day accumulating bedsores?

The very first thing to do upon meeting a man is to make sure that he is sound of wind and limb. Before he has a chance to beguile you with his wit and charm, slap a thermometer in his mouth, roll back his eyelids, yank out his tongue, palpate his thorax, rap his patella, ask him to straighten out a horseshoe with his teeth. If he fails to pass these few basic tests, phone for an ambulance and go on to the next prospect.

If, however, he turns out to be physically fit, proceed to the second most important requirement in a husband. I refer to a sense of humor.

A man who can't take a joke is a man to be shunned. There are several simple tests to find out whether your prospect can take a joke or not. You can, for example, slash his tires. Or burn his "Mad" comics. Or steal his switchblade. Or turn loose his pet raccoon. Or shave his head.

After each of these merry pranks, laugh gaily and shout "April Fool!" If he replies, "But this is November 28," or something equally churlish, cross him off your list and thank your lucky stars you found out in time.

But if he laughs silverly and calls you "Little minx!" then put him to the next test: Find out whether he is gentle.

The easiest, quickest way to ascertain his gentleness is, of course, to look at the cigarette he smokes. Is it mild? Is it clement? Is it humane? Is it balm to the palate? Does it minister tenderly to the taste-buds? Does it coddle the nerve-ends? Is it the perfect accompaniment to today's easier, breezier living? Is it genial? Is it bright and friendly and full of dulcet pleasure from cock-crow till the heart of darkness?

Is it, in short, Philip Morris?

If Philip Morris it be, then clasp the man to your bosom with hoops of steel, for you may be sure that he is gentle as a summer breeze, gentle as a mother's kiss, gentle to his very marrow.

And now, having found a man who is gentle and healthy and blessed with a sense of humor, only one thing remains: namely, to make sure he will always earn a handsome living. That, fortunately, is very simple. Just enroll him in Engineering.

The makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column, would like to suggest another pleasant and gentle life's companion: Philip Morris, of course!

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Cliff Downer (right), A.B. in Mathematics, '49, M.S. in Civil Engineering, '50, Harvard, on the site of a building construction project.

"Projects you can sink your teeth into"

Clifford J. Downer started his telephone career in the building engineering department of The Southern New England Telephone Company. At present he is working with the Bell System's manufacturing unit, Western Electric, helping to build facilities for housing a Continental Air Defense project. His assignment: a key liaison job in supervising a subcontractor's work on several million dollar construction operation.

"One of the most interesting features of my present job," says Cliff, "is making decisions on the spot. For example, drawings showed where bedrock for footings would be reached. Excavations revealed a poor grade of rock. How much further down do we go? A hundred workers and tons of equipment are waiting for the decision.

"There's a lot of future for a civil engineer in the telephone business. New and smaller types of telephone equipment will probably change our ideas about how telephone buildings should be built. It's fascinating work, all right. And broadening, too, because it's leading me to other engineering fields.

"It looks to me as if there are real challenges ahead — projects you can sink your teeth into. Besides, I'm convinced the telephone business recognizes and regards personal industriousness and drive."

Interesting career opportunities of all kinds are also offered by other Bell Telephone Companies and Western Electric Company, Bell Telephone Laboratories and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about these companies.

Tech Baseballers Enter First Week Of Practice; Set 16-Game Schedule

Preparations for the 1956 baseball season got underway here Monday with a meeting of players. According to Coach Beattie Feathers, a similar meeting will be held for all prospective baseballers at 7 p.m. today at Jones Stadium. Anyone interested who cannot attend is urged by Feathers to contact him at the Stadium as soon as possible.

loopholes in the last year's lineup, but with 13 lettermen returning, prospects seem brighter than in past years. Some help is expected from boys who worked out for a short while last fall.

Tech's 16-game schedule for the fourth year of baseball at the college will start March 17 instead of April 1 as originally announced. Most games will be played on week-ends this year to avoid class absences for players. This is also the reason for the early starting date, explained Feathers.

Here is the complete schedule:

- Mar. 17—West Tex. State, there
- Mar. 24—West Tex. State, here

Hickson Takes Bledsoe Tourney

Jerry A. Hickson defeated F. Lynn Wallace 3 to 1 in the finals of the Bledsoe Hall ping pong tournament Thursday afternoon.

Hickson, sophomore engineer from Bexter, N.M., outplayed Fred E. Henne, business administration sophomore in the semi-finals. Wallace, freshman engineer from Ft. Worth, defeated Robert H. LeMond, also a freshman engineer, in the other semi-final match.

Trophy cups were presented the winners at Bledsoe's dorm association meeting Thursday night.

Ping Pong Tourney Registration On

Registration is now underway at the Union news stand for a Tech Ping Pong Tournament, according to Ted Carthel, chairman of the Union Games and Tournaments committee. The five top men in the singles and doubles competition here will be eligible to compete in the Inter-Collegiate Meet at Texas A&M in March.

To participate, a student must be regularly enrolled at Tech with a grade point average of one-point, and must carry the minimum number of semester hours.

Brackets will be drawn up and posted Saturday in the Rec Hall Games Room. Each participant will be required to contact his opponent and arrange a suitable time for play.

Trophies will be given for first place singles, doubles, and second place singles and/or second place doubles in the Tech competition.

The five top men in the tournament will be eligible to participate in the Inter-Collegiate Ping Pong Tournament at Texas A&M March 24 and 25. The team must provide its own transportation, said Carthel, but gasoline and entry fees for the tournament will be paid. The entry fee includes Saturday dinner, lodging for Saturday night, Sunday dinner, tournament expenses, and trophies.
