Tech Begins Freedom Campaign

HUNGARIAN HELP — Freedom Drive Chairman Ted Carthel looks on as Tech President E. N. Jones makes the first contribution in the "Tech Tribute To Freedom" drive. The campaign officially opens tomorrow morning at the Tech Union Building. A goal of $10,000 has been set.

"Tech's Tribute To Freedom," the all campus drive to raise $10,000 for relief work with Hungarian refugees will begin tomorrow.

The gigantic 7-day campaign will begin at 7:30 a.m. in the Tech Union and will conclude with an all-Greek mixer and a penny-a-minute night next Wednesday night.

The local campus drive is a tribute to the men who fought and died for freedom in Hungary and to those who are still fighting Communism, drive chairman Ted Carthel pointed out in a meeting of key workers last night.

Tech Hosts Area Bands Saturday

The Big Red Band will demonstrate "just how it should be done" Friday afternoon as it plays AAA and AAAA class music for the 13th Annual Region I Band Clinic to be held on campus.

The band, under direction of Prof. D. O. Wiley, will present its two-hour program of difficult music in the band room of the Music Building starting at 1 p.m. Though this year's clinic is primarily devoted to regional band directors, all students and campus personnel interested will be admitted free of charge.

Included in the program will be "Anacreon" an overture by Churubini; a symphonic poem by Franck arranged by Harding; "Prayer" and "Dream" from the opera, "Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck; the second movement from "Unfinished Symphony" by Schubert; "Iphigenia In Aulis" an overture by Gluck; and the first symphonic poem ever written, "Les Preludes" by Liszt.

Class AA music will be demonstrated by a band of outstanding musicians from Tom S. Lubbock and Monterey High Schools in the band room from 3-5 p.m. Music from classes A, B, and C will be played by a band of Lubbock junior high musicians in the band and choir rooms from 9 to 11:45 Friday morning.

The Saturday clinic will consist of additions by regional high school musicians for 15 positions in the All-State High School Band.

Tech has been the site of the annual band clinic every year since 1943, according to Dr. Wiley.

Entries End Friday For BSO Workshop

Training of leaders and stimulation of thinking is the two-fold purpose of the annual BSO workshop to be held Dec. 15, according to Richard Estes, publicity chairman.

Friday is the deadline for registering for the workshop. Each Tech organization is allowed to send two representatives for a fee of $2 per person.

Warlick Carr, prominent Lubbock attorney, will speak at the noon luncheon which will open the workshop. Entertainment for the luncheon will be provided by a quartet composed of: Don Armstrong, Amarillo; Charles Sanders, Dallas; Johnny Matson, Fort Worth; Bob Wham, Hobbs, N. Mex. They will be accompanied at the piano by Janelle Ohlenbusch, Lubbock.

Following the luncheon session at 1:30, those present will divide into five groups to discuss the topic, "Long Range Planning for Student Organizations." At 2:30 the representatives will reassemble. L. M. Hargrave, associate professor of agriculture, will speak on "Fundamentals of Parliamentary Procedure."

Refreshments and entertainment will be provided for workshop participants form 3 to 3:45. Mac McDuffie, Sherman, will present a pantomime; Barbara Bartlett, will present a modern dance; and Allan Hollis, Lovington, N. M. will present a variety program on drums.

From 3 to 3:15 an election of the executive council of BSO will be held.

At 3:45 the representatives will again divide into discussion groups for the topic of "Adjusting to Integration at Texas Tech." Dr. Earl Camp, associate professor of biology, will close the workshop with a brief address. Proceedings are due to end at 5 p.m.

On Tuesday members of the five committees of the workshop will appear on the Community Crossroads program on KDUB-TV to discuss the workshop.

WAYNE GIBBENS

Gibbens To Produce 1957 Varsity Show

Wayne Gibbens was named Varsity Show Producer today by the Varsity Show Board.

Gibbens, sophomore from Breckenridge, was one of five persons who applied for the position. Others who applied were: Bill Boyd, Jack Gibson, Dick King and Tommy Reager.

The new producer will select the director before Jan. 3.

The Board has announced that it hopes to be able to select a script after the holidays also. Three students, Warren Dunn, Bob Guess and Johnny Gilbert are writing scripts to be presented to the Board. If none of the scripts are acceptable the Board will again select a Broadway play.

Gibbens served as president of West Hall and secretary of Men's Inter-Dormitory Council last year as a freshman. He is a member of Saddle Tramps and is on the West Hall supervisory staff.

3 Administrators Return From Meet

Three Tech administrators will return tomorrow from the annual meeting of the Southern Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges in Dallas.

They are President E. N. Jones, Registrar Warren P. Clement, and Dean of Arts and Sciences Robert C. Goodwin.

Clement also attended a meeting of the Southern Branch of the American Association of College Registrars.

EFFIGIES AND MEMORIES . . .

Anybody know where the effigy-hangers have been hiding during Texas Tech's recent rise to football fame?

They didn't make an appearance when the '53 Raiders set the national scoring title, turned in a near perfect season record and trounced Auburn in the Gator Bowl.

They remained in hiding while '54 and '55 Weaver-coached elevens continued to bring home a large majority of victories and keep Tech's standing as the "scourge of the border conference."

And where was the "lynch mob" when work on Weaver's part helped to make Tech the newest member of the Southwest Conference? Where were they when the Raiders put the TCU Frogs to shame a couple of games ago?

These fair-weather friends are probably among the same group that stays away from the pep-rallies—the same bunch that refuses to get into the spirit of the football season or any other college activity—the "ball-and-chain" which has been dragging at Tech's school spirit for years.

Monday's first effigy was hung during the first basketball game of the season, making it quite apparent that the boys that strung up the dummies didn't do it out of school loyalty. Football boys left the basketball game to cut the effigy down.

Surely our memories are not so short that campus-wide opinion favors hanging effigies—and what allegedly well-educated person will openly subscribe to such mob psychology?

If campus-wide opinion favors the ridicule of the coach that has put Tech on the football map, then Weaver should have a perfect right to hang an effigy of his own—one of the Tech student body.

RODEO IS A SPORT . . .

Rodeo is a sport just as football, basketball or tennis. Collegiate rodeo participants and fans were deprived of their favorite sport at Tech last year.

In the spring of 1955, Rodeo Week at Tech got out of hand. A small percentage of the student body conducted themselves as high school students might on their first weekend away from home. As a result, Tech cowboys could not have their annual rodeo.

Students would never think of conducting themselves in such an unseemly manner at a football game. They would not consider getting the Athletic Association in a

Shortly after the Rodeo Association was placed on probation, the Tech team won the Championship National All-Collegiate Rodeo Team trophy for their skill.

Inauguration Band Second For Wiley

Dr. D. O. Wiley, professor of music, will be directing an inaugural band for the second time when he takes the Red Raider Band to Austin on Jan. 15 for Governor-elect Price Daniel's inauguration ceremonies.

Professor Wiley directed the inaugural band in 1927 after Governor Dan Moody was elected. At the time, Professor Wiley was directing the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band.

The 100-piece Tech Band will lead the parade in downtown Austin, will play a concert, and will play for the inaugural ceremony. Details are not yet complete.

Ridgway Awarded Grant For Study

Richard L. Ridgway, senior from Brownfield, has been awarded a $2,000 research assistantship to study insect control at Cornell University. The grant is renewable annually until Ridgway receives a doctorate from Cornell if he does continually satisfactory work. He also will be exempt from tuition while receiving the assistantship. An agronomy major with a 2.9 grade average, he expects to get a Bachelor of Science degree in agriculture from Tech in January. He is the second Tech agronomy student to receive a Cornell assistantship in the past 12 months. In February, he will join Ellis Huddleston of Snyder, Tech graduate who was given a similar grant there last June. Ridgway said he plans to study possible controls for forage crop insects.

Tech Coeds Receive Injuries In Wreck

Three Tech students escaped critical injury in a Thanksgiving holiday auto accident which resulted in the death of a 24-year-old Levelland man. Gay Johnson and Monette McGuire, both Tech juniors from Levelland, were reported in good condition by the Phillips-Dupree Hospital of Levelland. Joe Bybee sophomore, was released after emergency treatment. Killed in the accident was Billy Jack Taylor of Levelland. Eta Kappa Nu, electrical engineering honor society, will initiate 19 pledges Saturday afternoon at 5 in a closed meeting in Room B of Tech Union.

A banquet will be held at the Top-Of-The-Plains Restaurant at 7:30 following initiation for pledges, members and guests.

Don Shuster, employee of Sandia Corporation and a pledge, will be the guest speaker. He received honorable mention by Eta Kappa Nu, as outstanding young electrical engineer in 1956.

Shuster is the only professional to be pledged this year. The other 18 pledges are undergraduates. There are no graduate pledges.

William Thompson will be master of ceremonies at the banquet.

Pledge prospects for this year include building a bulletin board, framing the Eta Kappa Nu charter and making a large bronze casting of the Eta Kappa Nu key.

Officers are: Sam Estes, president; Jack Aldridge, vice-president; Ray Alsworth, recording secretary-treasurer; Lynn Elliott, corresponding secretary. Harold Johnson, electrical engineering instructor, is sponsor.

Block and Bridle Livestock Exhibition Scheduled Saturday In Aggie Pavillion

The Block and Bridle Club will present its annual Little International Livestock show Saturday in the Aggie Pavilion, with activities beginning at 1 p.m.

Contestants consist of Tech students interested in showing hogs, dairy cattle, beef cattle, horses or sheep. Each participant drew lots for his show animal about three weeks ago, according to Clarence Smith, Block and Bridle president. They have been grooming and caring for the stock since then.

The club is pushing the sale of 50 hams, processed by the college, to finance Saturday's activities. The auctioneer will be Kenneth Bozeman.

Among the activities will be various games contests, starting at 5 p.m. A "Milk Maid" contest will be featured, which any Tech coed may enter, and a greased pig contest will be sponsored for the male element.

Judges of the stock exhibition will be Eual Liner, hogs; Joe Kirk Fulton, horses; Ralph Harbin, dairy cattle; Durward Ritter, sheep.

Raiders To Host TCU Frogs Tonight

By BILL DEAN
Tuesday Sports Editor

Texas Tech's Red Raiders go after their first win of a very young season tonight against the Texas Christian Horned Frogs at 8 p. m. in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

The game will be preceded by a Picador intra-squad contest slated to begin at 6 p. m.

TCU brings to town a much improved ball club as compared to the team that lost to the Raiders 76-64 last year in Ft. Worth. The Christians will be led by 6-7 center Richard O'Neal. O'Neal is the all-time scoring leader in the Southwest Conference and shows no signs of slowing down.

TCU lost only one starter from last season's last place finishers and several promising sophomores should also help relieve Coach "Buster" Brannon's pain. Jimmy O'Bannon, the only other senior with O'Neal, has been a standout in practices and will be counted upon heavily by Brannon.

In pre-season predictions the Frogs are rated third by SWC experts. Monday night TCU ripped Austin College 81-62 in their season opener.

Coach Polk Robison of Tech expressed disappointment with the loss Monday night to Kansas State. "It's always a disappointment to lose," he remarked. "However, I was proud of the hustle shown. We will just have to have more intelligent hustle and cut out a lot of mistakes," he continued.

"We have no definite starting line-up. It will vary with about 10 to 12 men seeing about an equal amount of action. Our success this year will just have to depend upon a team effort," the coach concluded.

Tech has lost the services of forward Royce Elam due to a head injury.

In the 19 previous Tech-TCU games the Christians hold an 11-8 advantage. The series began in 1931 with a 30-19 TCU win. The closest margin of victory, one point, came in 1944 on a 38-37 victory. The largest victory margin, 22 points, was recorded in a 1947 Tech triumph 66-44. Last year's 76-64 battle produced the highest total of points, 140.

LEADING SCORER — Raider forward Ned Underwood's 21 points Monday night against Kansas State took top honors for Tech scorers. He is expected to see plenty of action against TCU tonight.

SOPHOMORE HUSTLER Gerald Myers, 5-10 Raider guard, was definitely a crowd pleaser Monday night against Kansas State with his drive and hustle. He also was second in the Tech scoring column with 14 points.

JUNIOR STANDOUT — Forward Bobby Wilson was another standout for Tech in the Raider loss to Kansas State Monday. The 6-4 junior contributed 13 points to the Raider scoring column.

Tech Photo Wins Again In Contest

The editors of Sport Magazine, chosen to judge the photos taken this season by college publicity offices, have named this shot of Texas Tech guard Ray Howard as the best in the offensive line-man category.

This is the second year in a row that a shot of a Tech griddler has been given this award. Last year's winner was in the backfield category, a photo of former Tech quarterback and All-American Jack Kirkpatrick of Post.

Both the pictures were taken by Laughhead Photographers in Dallas. Laughhead handles a good deal of the Tech athletic photos.

Tramps Will Initiate Members Saturday

Arch Lamb, Lubbock business man and founder of the Tech Saddle Tramps, will be the main banquet speaker in the Student Union ballroom Saturday at noon.

Pledges will be initiated as members and membership plaques will be given to all who have not already received them.

The noon banquet will be free to all active Saddle Tramp members and pledges.

Mural Managers To Meet

All managers of intramural basketball teams are requested to attend a meeting in the gym at 5 p. m. Thursday.

According to Edsel Buchanan, Tech Intramural director, it is imperative that all managers attend this meeting.

Wildcats Top Raiders In 90-84 Thriller

By BILL DEAN
Tuesday Sports Editor

Kansas State ruined the opening college basketball in the new Lubbock Municipal Coliseum Monday night, but not before they had a giant size scare thrown their way by Texas Tech's fighting Red Raiders in a 90-84 thriller before 5,500 fans, largest crowd to ever watch a Tech home game.

State's All-American center Jack Parr and forward Bob Boozer were just about the whole notching 27 points. They also spent plenty of time picking off important rebounds from the smaller Techsians.

Forward Ned Underwood led the young Raiders in their assault with 21 points, thanks to a terrific second half. He received plenty of aid from hustling guard Gerald Myers with 14 and forward Bobby Wilson with 13.

Coach Polk Robison's Raiders were definitely crowd pleasers with their drive and hustle but the height of the Wildcats coached by Tex Winter told the final story.

Kansas State took the lead with the opening whistle on a hook by Parr and moments later Boozer's foul shot put the Wildcats in a lead they never lost.

The 'Cats increased this to 22-8 at 13:50 of the half, but the Raiders stormed back on "Podd" Hill's jump shot, Wilson's jump and two free tosses by Myers to make it 29-20.

It was nip and tuck for the rest of the half with Myers and Hill leading the attack against Parr, Boozer and company. The half time score stood at 61-48 for State.

The Raiders came back strong to close the gap to 69-62 early in the second half with Underwood leading the way. His three foul tosses and felder brought it to 73-67 at 12:53 of the half and Myers narrowed the gap further to 75-71 with two charity throws.

Underwood and Wolfe both scored on drives sandwiched in between Boozer's two foul throws to bring Tech to within two points at 77-75. But then the Wildcats moved away again at 85-77 thanks to free throws by Boozer and Parr.

Underwood scored on a free throw and then hit with a set shot to narrow it again to 85-80.

With time running out the Wildcats put on a stall but Logan Cummings scored on a set and two free efforts to bring the score to 85-84 with 2:14 remaining in the game.

State stalled again to eat up almost two minutes and Parr led the game with a drive for two and a charity toss minutes later for an 88-84 advantage. Time ran out as State's Jack Kiddoo hit of a field goal attempt for the final of 90-84.

the Picadors edged the Cameron Aggie 78-73. The Freshmen blew an early advantage but held on for the victory.

Dale McKeehan of Sweetwater led the scoring with 25 points, followed by Robert Echols of Amarillo with 21, Pat Noakes of Ft. Worth with 11 and Gene Arrington of Amarillo with 10. The Picadors were coached by Royce Elam, unable to play with the varsity, in the absence of Coach Gene Gibson.

Four Tech Foes Present In Bowls

Four teams faced by the Texas Tech gridlers will be present in bowl games come Jan. 1 and one more is absent only due to a ban by the NCAA.

Texas Western (Sun Bowl), West Texas State (Tangerine Bowl), TCU (Cotton Bowl) and Baylor (Sugar Bowl) have all been foes of the Red Raiders this season. Texas A&M, another Tech opponent, would have gone to the Cotton Bowl, but is unable to make the trip due to a ban placed on the school by the NCAA for excessive recruiting.

The Raiders lost to all of these foes except TCU. Tech lost to Texas Western in the opener 17-31; Baylor, 28-0, the next week; A&M, 41-6, the third week; West Texas, 34-14, one week later. The Raiders upset TCU on Nov. 10, 21-7.

Still a sixth opponent, Houston, was given a great deal of consideration for a bowl game. But the Cougar bowl bid fell through the last week of the season.

"I'm Not About To Quit, While I'm Losing" - Weaver Tells Raider Club

"I'll tell you one thing, I'm not about to quit while I'm losing." This statement by Texas Tech Head Coach DeWitt Weaver came as a sudden jolt at the last meeting of the Red Raider Club Monday noon in the Caprock hotel, according to the Avalanche Journal.

Weaver, apparently answering critics of his team's record, stated that Tech needed the support of everyone in recruiting and that instructions to prevent violations would be published in the next Red Raider Club letter.

Weaver cited causes of the lack of success in recruiting. One was when 'the paper' ran a story that I was going to move to athletic director and another coach brought in," he declared.

This referred to a story published last winter by The Avalanche Journal, which stated that it had been learned that the Tech board of directors had been called to a special meeting. The purpose of the meeting allegedly was to discuss the athletic department and possible changes.

He also told the club that they had run in the red for two years and that money to make necessary visits to recruit was too short to finance the trips.

Weaver declared that the athletic department had also taken it easy on many boys so as not to offend the Southwest Conference members. "We wanted them to vote for us," he emphasized.

Weaver further remarked that the material was thin at Tech this year, but "I can't say anything about the boys. I just wish I had a lot more like them."

Weaver was hung in effigy twice Monday. One white dummy, with a dark "double-T" on it had a card attached which read: "No Cadillac this year. So long, Gray Fox."

Red Raiders End Season In 41-14 Loss

Texas Tech's Red Raiders closed their 1956 season last Saturday in slightly less than a blaze of glory, blowing a 14-0 lead and going on to absorb the worst licking ever handed a Raider eleven by the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, 41-14, before 5,000 unbelieving fans at Abilene.

Up until Saturday Hardin-Simmons had never scored more than 28 points against Tech and had never beaten the Raiders by more than 21 points. But Saturday was a record breaking day in more ways than one. It also marked Tech's worst football season since 1929.

The Raiders closed out with a record of 2-7-1 as compared to the '29 record of 1-7-2. This also has been Coach DeWitt Weaver's worst season at Tech. His six year record now stands at 35-23-4.

HSU quarterback Gene Saur was plenty sour for Tech. His constant barrage of passes opened the door for the slaughter. And when Saur's passes weren't clicking off sizeable gains a host of Cowboy backs were roaming at will through a demoralized Tech team.

Two of his passes were good for scores and several set the stage for more points. He added one tally himself on a keeper.

The afternoon started off to be a pleasant one for Tech as the Raiders piled up a 14-0 lead in the first period. The Weaver-men scored on a 14-yard run by fullback Gene Bentley and an eight-yard dash by quarterback Don Williams. But after that it was a case for the National Guard.

In both those two drives Tech ran and passed with ease. They gained 140 of their final 180-yards rushing during that first period and also picked up 55 of the total 87-yards passing.

The first touchdown drive took just three plays to cover 64 yards, capped by Bentley. The key was a 44-yard pass and run play from Williams to end Ken Vakey. The second march went 95 yards in seven plays ending with the score by Williams. Fullback Charles Dixon and halfback Hugh Fewin consumed most of this yardage on 33-yard scampers.

Then the Cowboys took over. Halfback Charles Massagee started scoring for Simmons when he took a 12-yard pass in the end zone to end a 43-yard drive in six plays.

Halfback Danny Villareal took a six-yard pass for the second tally to climax a 78-yard, eight-play drive. The half ended with Tech still holding a slim 14-13 advantage.

The next one, a 78-yard, eight-play drive ended on a one-yard plunge by Fullback Dewey Bohling early in the third quarter. That put the Cowboys ahead to stay. This was followed by a 12-yard field goal off the toe of halfback Joel Honeycutt.

Saur scored the fourth TD on a keeper outside right end to touch off a 75-yard march in 12 plays. Moments later Simons again got the ball on the Tech 47 and on the first play Bohling took a flat pass from Saur and raced all the way for the fifth tally.

The final score came when sub halfback Don Sizemore dashed seven yards ending a 71-yard drive in just four plays.

This amazing team victory saw the fired-up Cowboys romp for a total of 540 yards both passing and running. The team carried Head Coach Sammy Baugh and his assistants off the field at the game's end. It was truly their finest hour.

Crane Represents Tech AIA At Meet

George Crane, president of the American Institute of Architects, represented Tech in Washington D. C. Nov. 19-21 as the Second Annual Forum of the National Association of Student Architects convened.

Highlights of the Forum were addresses by officers and members of the staff of AIA and nationally prominent architects and educators.

Sibyl Moholy-Nagy, associate professor of architecture at Pratt Institute of New York, addressed the group on "Architecture—Art or Design?" Prominent Sarasota architect Paul Rudolph discussed architectural form and Vincent G. Kling, well-known architect of Philadelphia talked on the transition of the student to professional practice.

Group discussion ranged from the encouragement of student organization activities to relationship between students and practicing architects. The creation of several round-robin exhibits was offered as a possibility for interesting high-school graduates in the field of architecture.

3-D Dance Set Friday

The "3-D Dance" will be held Friday in the SUB ballroom at 8:30 p.m. according to Peggy Malinak, chairman of the dance.

Burl Hubbard, member of the Tech faculty, will furnish the music. The Friday Night Dance Committee of the Union is sponsoring this event.
