Senate Will Receive Court Opinion Today

The Student Senate will hear its third Supreme Court opinion—this one concerning the election of Senators according to schools—at today's Senate meeting.

The advisory opinion will clarify Article 2, Section 3, Clause 1 of the Tech Constitution, which reads "A Senator must be registered in the school from which he is elected."

Several questions have arisen concerning the clause, such as whether or not a student can transfer from one school after being electd to represent that school and whether or not a candidate who plans to transfer to another school can run for Senator from that school.

This year's Supreme Court has been more active than in the past, partially because of the adoption of the new constitution and the need to clarify and explain certain passages, said Scott Allen, vice president.

Allen will also open discussion on the constitutional Amendment No. 1 concerning the state ad valorem tax to see if the Senate chooses to take a stand on the question.

Wayne Packard, chairman of the By-Laws Revision Committee, will give the committee's first reading concerning the Supreme Court's advisory opinion suggesting a revision of the By-Laws requiring cheerleader candidates to have a 2.00 average which cannot be made up during the summer. If passed after two Senate meetings, the ruling will not affect this year's cheerleaders but will become effective next fall.

Two other committee reports will be given by Scott Gilmore of the School Trip Committee and Chris Hickey of the Graduate Representation Committee. Hickey will submit the committee's proposed plan for graduate representation.

Two new Senators from the school of Business Administration will be installed.

Today's Senate meeting will be at 8 p.m. in the Union Mesa Room.

Athletic Council Talks Of TV Game Coverage

The Tech Athletic council Saturday discussed the use of live television and television replay coverage of Tech football and basketball games.

This coverage would be in addition to the closed-circuit coverage used by the football team and would be broadcast by a regular television station.

Dr. William Davis, chairman of the council, said no action will be taken at the present time. The council will probe the matter further after learning the Southwest Conference policy on televising athletic events.

The next SWC meeting will be in December. For this reason, Davis said it would probably be December or January before Tech's athletic council could consider the matter further.

In other action, the council reaffirmed its previous interpretation of the SWC ruling on the banning of cannons and explosives at both conference and non-conference games, meaning that Tech will continue not to fire its cannon at football games.

ALL-SCHOOL TRIP—Freshman Ann Moore puts up a poster advertising this weekend's all-school trip to the Tech-SMU game in Dallas. Tickets are available in the student government office in the Ad Building.

Chartered Buses To Take Techsans To SMU Game

Buses will leave at 7 a.m. Saturday for the all-school trip to Dallas.

Tickets for the bus trip are on sale in the student government office for $10. Tickets are available for the Texas Tech-SMU game for $1 in the ticket office of the athletic department. Bus tickets must be bought by noon Friday.

Students who go on the school trip will have free time Saturday afternoon to attend the Texas State Fair. The Dallas chapter of Texas Tech Ex-Student's Association is giving a reception for Tech students before the game at the Fair Park Roller Rink on the state fair grounds.

The buses will return to Lubbock early Sunday morning.

Students To Elect Frosh Cheerleaders

Freshmen Council members Monday night designated 6:30 p.m. next Tuesday in the Tech Union Ballroom as the time and place for the election rally for Freshmen cheerleaders. Three boys and three girls will be elected.

Anyone wishing to vote in the election must attend the rally. Candidates will draw numbers for their position in the try-outs and may perform one yell individually or in pairs. No posters may be used in the election.

In other council business, Carla Bell was named to head a committee to decide on a faculty sponsor. Mike Riddle will work with Johnny Walker, 1964-65 council president, on a committee to revise the present council constitution.

Candidates for cheerleader posi-

Patsy Jenkins, Joyce Keddie, Nancy Ruff, Linda Hill, Janet Small, Shirley Barnum, Sue Ann Long, Mary Beth Wood, Alice R. West, Candy Allen, La Trelle Sprott, Cindy Currin, Jane Massey, Tina Leighton, Tanya Amo, Denny Gay Jones, Linda Waits.

Steering Committee Sets MUN Changes

Closed session Security Council meetings and an International Court of Justice are but two of the changes new being planned for the 1966 Tech Model United Nations.

The Steering Committee, responsible for the organization of the MUN, will choose bloc faculty advisors at 3 p.m. Friday in the Executive Room of the Tech Union.

Members of the committee are Chris Hickey, secretary-general; Keith Strain, president; Sherrell Andrews, executive advisor; and Karen Kitzman, secretary. Bloc consultants are Jan Shoemaker, African bloc; Barry McNeil, Asian bloc; Lynn McClellan, Middle Eastern bloc; Nancy Taylor, South American bloc; John McLaren, Soviet bloc; and Bill Cox, Western bloc.

Queen Contest Gains Candidates

Two more candidates for Homecoming Queen should be added to the list published in Saturday's Treador.

They are Julie Parkinson, sponsored by Clement Hall, and Sherry Ribble, sponsored by Men's No. 9.

The two additions bring the total number of Homecoming Queen candidates to 31.

Raiders Come From Behind Again!

OH, IF WE COULD HAVE ONLY LEFT BEFORE THE LAST TWO MINUTES—Bill Young (80) Oklahoma State's defensive end, gapes in horror as the Red Raiders' "two minute offense" wins its third game in a row. Happy Settle (11) makes a desperation dive as split end Jeff White pulls down Tom Wilson's 22nd aerial with 1:03 left on the clock. White described the pass as "perfect." Coach J T King called the win "lucky."

English Art Lecture By Dr. Kline

Rabbi Alexander S. Kline, Lubbock art collector, lecturer, and authority, will explore the life and paintings of Sir Joshua Reynolds in a seminar at the West Texas Museum auditorium today. The lecture will begin at 10 a.m.

This is the second of ten lectures by Dr. Kline on English painting in the 18th and 19th centuries. The seminar, sponsored by the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum, will present weekly programs through Dec. 14.

Tech students can purchase ten lecture tickets for $5. The tickets may be used for multiple or single attendance for any lecture. Non-students can purchase tickets for $10, or single lecture tickets for $2 per person.

Reynolds, subject of today's lecture, was one of the most famous English portrait painters and one of the most expensive. He turned out a large number of portraits of influential 18th century personalities. Samuel Johnson, Oliver Goldsmith, David Garric, and Lawrence Sterne can be numbered among his well-known subjects.

Sir Joshua gained much prestige when King George III appointed him "Painter to the King" in 1784. His painting was primarily influenced by Sir Anthony Vandyke and the Venetian painters. Though he equaled neither in drawing or composition, the royal appointment evidenced the popularity of his overall effect.

His most famous works include "The Age of Innocence", "Mrs. Siddons as the Tragic Muse", "The Infant Hercules", "The Strawberry Girl", and "Garrick Between Comedy and Tragedy".

All lectures include slides of the artists' work from Rabbi Kline's personal collection of over 80,000 prints.

Coming programs of the art seminar include:

- Oct. 26— Thomas Gainsborough, 1727-1788
- Nov. 2— Henry Raeburn, 1756-1823
- Nov. 9— Thomas Rowlandson, 1756-1827
- Nov. 16— William Blake, 1757-1827
- Nov. 23— Minor English Painters
- Nov. 30— John Constable, 1776-1837
- Dec. 7— J.M.W. Turner, 1775-1851
- Dec. 14— The Pre-Raphaelites

Comedian Vies For Senator

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Comedian Steve Allen, after talks with California Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has formally entered the race for the vacated congressional seat of James Roosevelt.

Allen's candidacy, announced Sunday, depends on a State Supreme Court ruling expected later this week on whether he may file as a candidate.

State law requires a candidate to be a registered member of the party in which he runs for at least 90 days before filing for the seat. Allen, although active in Democratic party causes for many years, was registered as an Independent until Sept. 18, when he switched his registration.

Engineers and Scientists:

Let's talk about a career at Boeing...
50-year leader in aerospace technology

Campus Interviews Monday and Tuesday, October 25 and 26

The most effective way to evaluate a company in terms of its potential for dynamic career growth is to examine its past record, its current status, and its prospects and planning for the future, together with the professional climate it offers for the development of your individual capabilities. Boeing, which in 1966 completes 50 years of unmatched aircraft innovation and production, offers you career opportunities as diverse as its extensive and varied backlog. Whether your interests lie in the field of commercial jet airliners of the future or in space-flight technology, you can find at Boeing an opening which combines professional challenge and long-range stability. The men of Boeing are today pioneering evolutionary advances in both civilian and military aircraft, as well as in space programs of such historic importance as America's first moon landing. Missiles, space vehicles, gas turbine engines, transport helicopters, marine vehicles and basic research are other areas of Boeing activity. There's a spot where your talents can mature and grow at Boeing, in research, design, test, manufacturing or administration. The company's position as world leader in jet transportation provides a measure of the calibre of people with whom you would work. In addition, Boeing people work in small groups, where initiative and ability get maximum exposure. Boeing encourages participation in the company-paid Graduate Study Program at leading colleges and universities near company installations.

We're looking forward to meeting engineering, mathematics and science seniors and graduate students during our visit to your campus. Make an appointment now at your placement office. Boeing is an equal opportunity employer.

Industry Scans Campus For Future Leaders

By PAUL REGER
Associated Press Writer

Major industries are vigorously competing for the best of America's young brainpower. The battlefield is the campus, where recruiter-polished, alert men who may determine their company's future on a hunch, sift through the seniors, looking for an undefinable quality that could some day spell corporation president.

Company men say recruiting is necessary to maintain competitive positions.

Texas A&M placement officer W. R. Horsley was more blunt about it:

"The companies' survival depends on getting top grads. The companies would go to pot without them."

Horsley said one top national retail firm lost much of its rank because it didn't get the best minds into executive positions. Its recruiting program failed.

What do companies look for? Recruiters from the companies indicated grades are the top, but not exclusive, quality.

Top grades, along with other factors, will pay off with $40 to $50 more a month in starting pay, several recruiters said. The amount could be even higher where competition for rare specialties is extreme.

A bookworm is not always assured of the top.

"Grades alone do not pay off in money, but coupled with other characteristics they will," said Ben Jeffries of the Dallas plant of Collins Radio. "We look for a well-rounded individual. Some intangibles are important to us—for instance a man who will give high effort and plain old hard work."

Jeffries and most other recruiters admit these "intangibles" are "very hard to determine" in the typical 30-minute interview given seniors. Several said the decision often comes from a hunch.

Dexter Betts, placement director at Arlington State College, described the student with the best chance:

He would be in the upper half of his class; have energy, an outgoing personality, an understanding of the private enterprise system; and some work experience.

The college placement officers get company representative and student together over an interview table.

A student may hold interviews with a dozen firms.

Voting Act Ruled Unconstitutional

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—An Alabama circuit judge ruled Monday that the federal Voting Rights Act of 1965 is unconstitutional.

Circuit Judge James Hare, ruling on an injunction request by the State of Alabama, held that the federal voting law violated the provision of the U.S. Constitution allowing the states to set up their own voting requirements, "so long as there is no discrimination," and also violated the "equal footing of states" doctrine of the U.S. Supreme Court.

Hare issued the ruling in granting an injunction requested by the State of Alabama through Gov. George Wallace.

Let's End Passive Approval

IT'S A GOOD THING that we live in a country where a minority can express their opinions on such things as the draft and Viet Nam.

However, this last weekend things got out of hand all the way around:

- The few students protesting and demonstrating may have had good intentions (to them anyway), but their actions did not justify their goal.
- The persons who attacked the marchers were also wrong in their actions, although they probably thought they were doing the right thing.

In short, we believe the entire fiasco should never have happened, especially in America.

The ludicrous marches by the college "students" bordered on the absurd. Besides accomplishing nothing, the demonstrators encountered resentment and closed minds, which resulted in far too much physical injury.

It was ridiculous to besiege local Selective Service centers. If they truly want a change in the draft system, the only way to accomplish it is through national legislation.

And the only way to bring about national legislation is by responsible actions, not by laying down in public streets and in front of Army depots. Such actions as were used this weekend were childish, and they were looked on as childish and very irresponsible.

We also feel that the actions of the last few days in no way reflected the attitudes of the vast majority of responsible students.

We feel that the students of today do not want a war, any more than the students of 1917 and 1941 wanted a war. But, we also believe that responsible students can recognize the threat to our way of life.

The students of 1917 recognized this threat when Germany began sinking U.S. ships and demanding submissive action from the American people.

The students of 1941 recognized this threat—not when Adolph Hitler was slowly taking over the small countries of Europe, but only when action was forced upon them.

Today, the threat of Communism has been definitely written and a predetermined route to take over the earth has been laid down.

No, we do not see a communist behind every bush, nor do we want to. We also feel that the students of today do not want to see this either, and that they would rather stop communist advances in Viet Nam and save as much of the world as they can for the peoples of the world.

Rather than propose that we abandon Viet Nam and the rest of the world to Communism, we would rather see actions supporting the U.S. stand.

We wish that the responsible students at Tech and throughout the country would take the initiative and write, call or otherwise notify the President and other leaders, telling them that they recognize the gravity of U.S. commitments and that they support them.

It is time to do away with passive approval and let others know that today's students are responsible and worried about the future, and that not everyone goes around laying in the streets.

Voters To Decide On Aid To Aged

AUSTIN (AP)—Health care for needy Texans reaches a crossroad at the polls Nov. 2.

Voters will decide whether they want to assure continued tax-financed medical assistance for old people on the welfare rolls.

They also must decide whether large charity hospitals in certain metropolitan areas may receive property tax exemptions.

Here is what each amendment does, numbered as it appears on the ballot:

AMENDMENT 3—Authorizes the Legislature to revise state laws as required to continue cooperative state-federal programs of medical care and rehabilitation services for the needy. It raises the age of eligibility for aid to dependent children from 16 to 21 and lowers the age limit for aid to the blind from 21 to 18. Old age assistance would be extended for the first time to non-citizens who have lived in the United States 25 years or longer.

AMENDMENT 7—Exempts from local property taxes certain hospitals providing free medical and hospital care to the indigent. The hospital must be in a county of more than 1.2 million people and must spend at least $12 million in one year for charitable purposes to be eligible for tax exemption. It must spend $1.8 million yearly to retain this status.

Judd Dislikes Current Styles

Dear Editor,

Concerning Barbra Worley's article on men's hairstyles and her statement, "most girls interviewed disliked the 'new' styles," it is interesting to note the change in attitude of both men and women since women have infiltrated man's world of business, politics, sports, recreation and, yes, even fashions.

It seems to me women are becoming more masculine in actions, attire and attitude. In their domineering attitude toward men, men are becoming passive and more feminine in nature. For example, some barbershops have thrown out their spittoons, sprayed the place with perfume, and installed carpet, soft music, hair sprays, hairnets and manicurists.

If women are disturbed by some men's attire, appearance and submissive attitude, perhaps they should stop a minute and evaluate their own attire, appearance and attitude. Personally, the man sporting a "surfer cut" looks better to me than a woman in public in hair curlers, sweatshirt and pants.

It seems to me that this new hairstyling trend is merely a means by which men can strike back. Perhaps some men want attention and perhaps they draw a parallel with long hair to strength and virility from the Bible story of Samson who lost his strength when Delilah cut his hair. He regained his strength when his hair grew back. I don't recall Samson leaving any heirs.

As for Linda Klebeis' statement... "I am just waiting for them to start wearing make-up," I suggest she can stop waiting. Some men are not only wearing make-up but carrying cosmetic cases in the form of a traveling kit.

I don't profess to have the answer to the situation, but I believe the oriental cultures have the right idea.

Gerald F. Judd

P.S. If any women would like to discuss the matter with me I can be reached at the YMCA. Don't worry, they can probably get in.

TISA Supports Amendment No. 1

Dear Editor,

On November 2, Texas voters will go to the polls to cast their ballots regarding several proposed amendments to our State Constitution.

Two of these amendments are extremely important to the future expansion and improvement of higher education, both public and private, throughout the state.

The first of these, proposed Amendment No. 1, would provide additional funds for the construction of badly needed buildings on the campuses of our state supported colleges and universities.

The second, proposed Amendment No. 6, would establish on the state level an educational loan fund similar to the National Defense Education Act program operated by the Federal Government.

The purpose of this fund would be to grant loans to students in both public and private colleges across Texas, thus assuring that no student in our state would be denied the benefits of higher education for financial reasons.

In keeping with our tradition of unqualified support for measures improving the scope and quality of higher education, the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association's Executive Committee, meeting in special session, formally drafted and unanimously approved the two resolutions enclosed herein. I would urge you to study these resolutions as well as the amendments which they concern.

In addition, on behalf of TISA, may I request that these resolutions be printed in your newspaper in conjunction with any resolutions or other measures that may be enacted by your own student association. I would also hope that these two important measures might receive your editorial support.

If we can be of any assistance to you in this regard, please do not hesitate to call upon us. Thank you for your consideration of these resolutions and for your co-operation.

Sincerely,
James W. Jones
President,
Texas Intercollegiate
Student Association

Senate Objects To Anti-Draft Demonstrators

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators exploded in angry criticism today of anti-draft demonstrations saying they bordered on treason and undermined efforts to attain a negotiated peace in Asia.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, the assistant Republican leader, told his colleagues that protesters who burn draft cards and fake illnesses to escape military service are "sowing the seeds of treason."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said he was "shocked" to see pictures of protesters putting a cigarette lighter to their draft cards. Both he and Kuchel applauded the FBI investigation of such actions, which led to the arrest today of a 22-year-old student in Hooksett, N.H.

Sens. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, Spessard L. Holland, D-Fla., and Milward L. Simpson, R-Wyo., plugged for passage of a pending bill which would make it a crime to delay the transportation of military personnel or equipment.

LBJ PROGRESSES SLOWLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, moving with obvious effort, took a half-hour walk Monday. His press secretary later predicted Johnson's recuperation will stretch out longer than anyone thought.

Johnson, after walking slowly, sometimes gingerly, for about a quarter-mile around the grounds of the Bethesda Naval Hospital, was quoted by press secretary Bill D. Moyers as saying "It takes something to take those steps."

Ex-Students Association Supports Constitutional Amendment No. 1

The Texas Tech Ex-Students Association has joined the ranks of organizations advocating passage of State Constitutional Amendment No. 1. This provides construction funds for academic buildings at 17 state-financed senior institutions of higher learning, including Tech.

The Association's board of directors recently unanimously endorsed a resolution urging passage of the amendment as it will appear on the ballot Nov. 2.

The resolution stressed that "the future of higher education in this state is dependent upon providing of adequate facilities for classrooms and housing by the people of Texas."

The Association represents more than 30,000 ex-students, graduates and friends of Texas Tech, said Wayne James, executive director.

The proposed amendment will create funds on which bonds can be issued for construction of academic buildings.

Passage of the amendment will make available from $15- to $20-million in revenue for Tech which can be used to alleviate the already existing shortage of classrooms, laboratory and instructional facilities brought about by a rapidly rising enrollment.

Tech's enrollment skyrocketed to 16,300 this fall, an increase of approximately 2,500 over last year. An enrollment of more than 20,000 for the Lubbock campus is projected by 1970.

Passage of Amendment 1 will mean that every state-supported senior institution in Texas will have a definite, constitutionally-based source of building funds, James noted. It also will put state-supported colleges and universities in line for approximately $50 million in matching federal funds over a 12-year period.

We're Not Crying "Foul" But...

MIKE LUTZ

All coaches react differently to defeat. Some are philosophical. Others analyze the game, pointing out key plays that led to the final outcome. Most are at least hospitable. But there's still another diminishing group of mentors, who, upon being outscored on the gridiron, withdraw into a shell of silence, and, too often take out their frustration on those around them, such as sports writers.

... This Was Ridiculous

Granted, a coach whose team has just been defeated in the manner Oklahoma State went down to Tech, 17-14, Saturday night, Cowboy Head Coach Phil Cutchin's conduct in the dressing room following the game was something less than the courtesy normally prevailing between coach and sports writer.

Under normal conditions, sports writers gather outside the dressing room door and wait about ten minutes for a coach to give his players any post-game instructions he deems necessary. Then, 99 percent of the time, he opens the dressing room to the press, discusses the game and allows interviews with anyone, or all of his players.

But normal conditions did not prevail in the Oklahoma State dressing room Saturday night. After keeping the press waiting approximately 20 minutes following the game, Cutchin swung open the dressing room doors. Thinking it was okay to enter, this writer started in but was grabbed by the arm by Cutchin and instructed not to enter the dressing room.

After saying something like "that's our dressing room and we're going to keep it that way," Cutchin said if the writers gathered had any questions, he'd answer them, but emphasized again, not to enter the dressing room.

A few questions were tossed out but the answers came tersely and with no additional information volunteered.

To "Did you change your game plans?" he said, "No." When asked to compare two common opponents he said, "I don't compare teams." To the query, "What impressed you about Tech?" he answered, "They have a fine football team."

And so it went, until the scribes tired of the mock press conference.

Politeness Is The Word

It is the opinion of this corner that one of the prime purposes of athletics is to build character, and while Coach Cutchin's actions were not of the serious nature, it remains that there's room for improvement in regards to politeness to the press or anyone else—win or lose.

We have not related this incident ONLY to criticize the OSU coach, but also to as a way of giving a pat on the back to Coach J T King and his staff for their complete cooperation in matters concerning the press.

In our association with the athletic offices, we have never been refused admittance to a dressing room, regardless of the outcome of the game. Even after Tech's on-ly loss this season, a 33-7 smear and gave us possession for the last from Texas, no one grabbed our arm and directed us to stay out-

Longhorns Lose To Hogs, But Gain SWC Stat Lead

Texas' only consolation from its 27-24 defeat by Arkansas last week was that it now leads the Southwest Conference both offensively and defensively.

The Longhorns rolled up 401 yards and held Arkansas to 181, which made them winners in the statistics but not on the field.

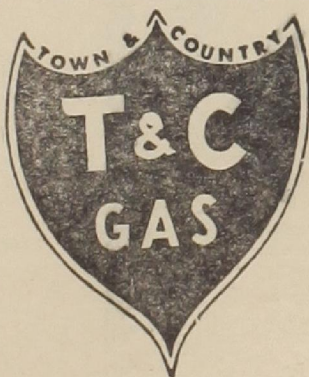

Texas leads in rushing with 236.6 yards per outing. Texas Tech tops in passing with 200.8.

Texas has the strongest defense against a ground attack, giving up only 68.2 yards per game. Texas A&M is best against passing. The Aggies have allowed 111.4.

Offense	Rush	Pass	Total
Texas	236.6	135.0	371.6

Anderson, Porter Selected As Top Back, Lineman Of Week

By MIKE LUTZ
Sports Editor

Donny Anderson, who threatens to make back of the week honors his personal possession for the rest of the season, and co-captain tackle John Porter head this week's Daily Toreador back and lineman of the week selections.

It was Anderson's third straight acquisition of the title, but after watching the frequency of his heroics in Saturday's 17-14 thrilling win over Oklahoma State, few could dispute the pick.

It's becoming a standard statement for Coach J T King on Monday morning to say, "Anderson contributed so much to our winning and figured in so many key plays, he has to be the obvious choice."

Open With Bang

It took Anderson, a consensus all-America last season, just 14 seconds to set the theme of the game Saturday night, when he grabbed the opening kick off and ran untouched 100 yards to give Tech a quick lead.

Just as much as the exciting run-back, Anderson contributed to Tech's come-from-behind victory with key pass receptions, booming punts and a punt return that set up the winning touchdown.

Anderson's punts were again the high, spiraling variety, giving his teammates ample time to cover. No punts were returned.

Late in the fourth quarter, Anderson took an Oklahoma punt on his own 32 and couldn't be stopped until he reached the Cowboy 32, to set up the final six-point effort seconds late.

Porter Outstanding

Somewhere between Anderson's obviously outstanding performance were the efforts of Porter, a senior from Lamesa, whose worth is not always noticeable until the game film has been graded.

And, as usual, it was Porter who came in with the highest blocking percentage of any of his cohorts. He was pressed by consistent Marc Bryant for top honors, but his blocking percentage gave the title to Porter.

"Bryant looked good on defense and Porter was good on offense," King said. "In fact, he (Porter) was best on offense."

Other Linemen Named

King also praised the efforts of guard Phil Tucker, and center Jerry Turner. Both graded in the 60s.

But not to be forgotten among the back selections is quarterback Tom Wilson, who increased his passing yardage to 997 and threw his ninth touchdown pass of the season.

"If anyone compared with Anderson's performance, it was Wilson," King said. "He didn't look as good as in some previous games, but he had to face a tremendous rush and, considering the results, I think he did an outstanding job."

Lutz's Column...

touchdown drive. And it was the offense that followed through to give us the score."

King said Saturday's game came closest to constant performance by both offense and defense. "We're finally beginning to work together," he said. In previous weeks, it had been either the offense or defense that provided impetus for victory.

"They have the third best material in the league," King said when questioned about the Raiders' return to conference warfare against SMU Saturday in the Cotton Bowl. Only Arkansas and Texas rank ahead of the Mustangs materially speaking according to King.

"They're just now beginning to jell," King warned. "Last year they had a lot of injuries and weren't too noticeable," but they've got up some steam now and we're going to have to be at our very best to even stay on the field with them."
