

Burned - Up Owners Serve Free Well - Done Steaks

Steaks—well-done—were Sunday night's specialty at the Food-A-Go-Go, a new restaurant located off College Avenue.

The food A-Go-Go, owned by three Tech students, only serves steaks with french fries. However, Sunday night, the cook made the "mistake" of putting too many beefs on the grill—the results: a grease fire.

The customers, mostly hungry Tech students, were apparently enjoying the intimacy of the candlelight atmosphere when a waiter calmly announced that the kitchen was on fire and the dining room would have to be evacuated immediately.

The crowd moved quickly without incident, except for the grumblings of those who had not yet been served.

Two units of the Lubbock Fire Department were dispatched to the scene, but were too late to assist as the fire was already under control. Equipped with mops and brooms, they aided in clean-up duties.

Nevertheless, every smoked filled cloud has its silver lining. The management announced that the food that had been served would be "on the house." Customers were aglow, but management was a little burned up.

Senate To Consider Committee Names

The Student Senate tonight will consider two student nominees to serve on the present three faculty member Intramural Executive Committee, thus creating a student-faculty group governing all appeals and policies involving intramurals.

These nominees will be sent to Dr. R. C. Goodwin, Tech president, who will appoint two students to serve on the Intramural Committee.

Mike Jones, chairman of the Election Revision Committee, will report on new election revision codes and proposals and the committee's suggestions for improving Tech's elections and reducing the number.

Other committee reports include Wayne Packard, Food Committee; Don Henry, Foreign Students Committee; Bill Mabus, Poster Committee; George Strickland, Program Council; and Max Blakeney, Summer Senators.

Three of these committees—Foreign Students, Poster and Summer Senators—were appointed at the last Senate meeting. Henry will report on the Foreign Student Committee's work during the past two weeks. The group had two meetings with foreign students and with the advisor for foreign students to see what problems they face and how the Senate can better help them.

The Summer Senators Committee was set up to check the possibility of having senators or representatives during the summer who will carry on the work of the Student Association.

The Senate will also discuss Class Favorite elections and will establish a new committee, Campus Facility Improvement Committee, which will handle matters concerning the campus, such as the moving of the flagpole.

The Senate will meet at 8 p.m. in the Union Mesa Room.

Either Cotton or Gator

Bowl Berth Assured For Tech's Raiders

Texas Tech will play in a football bowl game regardless of what happens in Fayetteville this weekend—the Cotton Bowl if it wins, the Gator Bowl if it loses.

Reports Monday from the Associated Press and Polk Robison, athletic director, said Tech has conditionally accepted an invitation to meet Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla., on Dec. 31, pending the outcome of the game with Arkansas.

If Tech beats the Razorbacks Saturday, they will tie for the Southwest Conference championship and automatically go to the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Jan. 1.

Coach J T King made it plain that he was not conceding victory to Arkansas.

"Our No. 1 concern still is the Southwest Conference championship and Cotton Bowl but our

NO. 9 IN NATION
Texas Tech was voted the number nine team in the nation this week in both the Associated Press and United Press International polls. The Raiders had previously been rated in the Top Ten in the UPI rankings, but this is their first appearance in the AP poll. See story on page 7.

squad voted several days ago and decided to accept the Gator Bowl bid if the Cotton Bowl is not available," he said.

Robison explained "there was a commitment made to us prior to the Baylor game last week by the Gator Bowl people, that Texas Tech would be one of the teams for that game. I am sure the same offer was made to Arkansas.

"The Gator Bowl representatives agreed to take the loser of the Tech-Arkansas game. We accepted on that condition and also on the condition that we receive permission from the Southwest Conference to play there."

The Raiders were also in the running for Sugar, Bluebonnet and Sun Bowl bids. Several players said the Gator Bowl bid was accepted because their offer was certain and did not depend upon winning the Baylor game.

One player said the Sugar Bowl bid was passed over because the Raiders would have had to commit themselves to the bowl this week but could not be guaranteed of playing in the bowl until after the Arkansas game.

Offensive guard Phil Tucker said one reason for accepting the bid now was not taking the chance of not playing in any bowl.

Terry McWhorter, senior defensive end, said the Gator Bowl representatives seemed to be more interested in Tech than those from other bowls.

But senior offensive end Jerry Shipley probably expressed the feelings of the Raiders best. He said he didn't know anything about the other bowl games, including the Sugar, Bluebonnet, Orange and Sun Bowls.

"We're just going to the Cotton Bowl," he said.

Christmas Card, Petition Drives End Wednesday

Texas Tech's two-pronged drive to show support for United States policy in Viet Nam will culminate Wednesday night with the presentation of Christmas cards and petitions to military and government officials, respectively.

The petition drive had netted 5,250 signatures as of 3 p.m. Monday, according to Johnny Ramirez, president of Men's Residence Council, co-sponsor of the campaign along with Women's Residence Council.

Ramirez emphasized that faculty and college employes also may sign the petitions. They will be located today in the Union and bookstore and will be staffed by members of Women's Service Organization. He said approximately 85 per cent of dormitory residents had signed the petitions.

Frank Steiger, president of Men's No. 9, sponsor of the Christmas card campaign, said Monday 21,500 cards had been donated to be sent to soldiers in Viet Nam. Deadline for donations is 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The presentation ceremony will be at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the cafeteria of Men's Nos. 9 and 10.

To Be Seen Statewide

Tech Talent Taped For Television

By BARBRA WORLEY
Feature Editor

The wind howled, the dust blew, and from somewhere within a huge white truck came a magic voice shouting instructions.

Two separate groups of Tech students listened to the voice, performed and re-performed their acts, and then went into the truck to watch the finished product—segments of Talent '66 to be seen by television audiences throughout the state sometime after the first of the year.

What goes into filming these segments? Cal Jones, producer of the show, was quick to answer a lot of hard work. "We have 14 production days in which we have to get the show done. We tape and travel every day."

The two acts of Tech students didn't argue the hard-work point.

Jim Bergner, who with his sister Betty Jean sang a medley of songs from the off-Broadway production "The Fantasycks," estimated the time spent taping their act as about eight hours.

Scheduled to begin the audio taping of their songs at 4 p.m. Sunday, they were delayed when the KHOU traveling station ran into a bit of trouble with its tires on the way from Dallas. "The taping did finally begin about 6:30, and we worked until 9," Bergner said.

Monday morning, the tape processed and ready to go, the Bergners "lip-synched" their act on the steps of the Science Building. Working time: 9 until 11:30.

THE CAMERA'S VIEW—The television camera zeros in on dancer Sherry Cannon, one of five Tech students appearing in two acts for Talent '66. The above taping was done in front of University Theater. The program will be aired to a statewide audience in about two months.

The second group, dancers Nancy Slaughter, Sherry Cannon and Jon Stevens, did their taping Monday afternoon from 12:30 until 3.

The moans and groans emanating from the truck as the group watched the rerun of their dance belied their reactions when they had seen the completed segment.

"We were pleased with most of it," Stevens said.

Their dance, a jazz ballet, was a group effort, choreographed by the three.

The Bergner's medley was arranged by Ben Smith, of the Tech music department, from the original songs by Tom Jones and Harvey Schmidt. The songs are "Much More" and "Soon It's Gonna Rain."

Although this was the first performance before the TV cameras for the Bergners, the dancers have had previous filming experience. One of the group, Sherry Cannon, danced in Tech's selection for Talent '65 televised last spring.

The production, which auditioned at 22 schools for a selection of 17 acts, auditioned at Tech two weeks ago. Members of the groups selected were notified of their selection the same day.

Asked about the results of Talent '65, the first in the series, Jones said the response had been excellent. "I feel the series will continue," he said, "because it provides good publicity for Southwestern Bell (the shows sponsoring company) and at the same time perform a public service."

Hog Tickets Still Available

The Texas Tech athletic office has about 500 tickets still available to the Tech-Arkansas game Saturday in Fayetteville.

Tickets will be available until Wednesday, when all remaining tickets will be returned to Arkansas.

Tickets for students are $1 with an ID card. An ID must be presented for each student ticket purchased. Tickets are for reserved seats.

Approximately 3,000 tickets were made available to Tech students, with 300 of these reserved for the Tech band. Of the 2,700 remaining, about 2,200 had been sold as of Monday afternoon.

• Tourel Tickets

Jeannie Tourel, one of the foremost mezzo-sopranists in the United States, will perform in Lubbock Wednesday.

Tickets for the event are available in the Tech Union downstairs ticket booth. They are free to Tech students.

Admission for Tech personnel and the immediate families of students and personnel are $2 each. Tickets for the general public are $4.

LETTERS: Views Of The Reader

National Group Supports Viet Nam

Dear Editor:
The college-aged students of the United States have been badly criticized in recent months for their attitude toward the Viet Nam issue. This criticism has resulted from the unfortunate wide-spread publicity given to the small, noisy minority of students who have been opposing the American defense of Viet Nam.

Consequently, Young Republicans, Young Democrats, and Independents have come together to form the new bi-partisan National Student Committee for the Defense of Viet Nam. This new student committee has no association with any extra-party political organization of either the right or the left. Our sole purpose is to mobilize college students in a concerted program of responsible action in support of American resistance to Communist aggression in Southeast Asia.

Specifically, we will engage in a number of activities on the campus level. First, our committee intends to distribute and collect petitions supporting the United States defense of Viet Nam.

If your college already has distributed petitions on behalf of American policy in Viet Nam, we would appreciate your indication to us of the number of students who have signed. At the end of November, we plan to announce nationally, the total number of student signatures favoring the American commitment to the people of South Viet Nam.

Secondly, we are urging college campuses, especially during the period from November 22 to December 10, to engage in a series of rallies supporting American policy in Viet Nam. If you feel that it is possible for your university to hold such a rally during this period, please let us know the date for the rally and any information you might have as to its nature.

Thirdly, we plan to distribute educational materials to college campuses explaining this country's position in Viet Nam. Please let us know if we can be of assistance to you in this area.

Finally, we urge students on your campus to send Christmas cards to our soldiers in Viet Nam. You can address these cards in care of the World Affairs Forum, Brigham Young University, Provo, Utah. The cards must reach Brigham Young by December 1, if our soldiers are to receive them on Christmas Day.

We welcome your cooperation and assistance in this bi-partisan, national program to show the American people that the new student radicals do not speak for our generation in their irresponsible opposition to our country's policy in Viet Nam.

If you have any questions as to any phase of our committee, please feel free to write us or call the individuals in Washington whose numbers are listed below.

- Yours truly,
Tom Kane, President, School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University, (Democrat) FE 7-3300 Ext. 564
Frank Keating, President of the Yard, Georgetown University, (Republican) FE 7-3300 Ext. 349
Jay Parsons, formerly associated with International Voluntary Services in Viet Nam
Tom Pauken, National Chairman College Young Republicans NA 8-6800
Jay Wilkinson, President, Yale Political Union, (Democrat)
Allen Williams, National President Association of International Relations Clubs.

Let us bring the question into severe focus. Will a single birth-control advocate step forward who would have liked for his parents to have prevented his birth by using some artificial contraception? It seems to be their opinion that their lives are all right, but they want to say that other lives should no come along. As is the Way of God, He gives and He takes away. He decides.

The real crux of the Pope's statement was to plead for the distribution of wealth, to strive to feed those hungry and clothe those naked, and to teach those ignorant, and to do the things toward human life that Christ called blessed.

Should we truly consider our world a miserable place in which to exist, let us never forget that to go against God now, in this time of temptation, will be to pay for it during our infinities with such sorrow and suffering as this world will not know.

Hopefully,

Havard Comments On Young Marine

Dear Editor,
The story about a young Marine who had just returned from duty in Viet Nam (Daily Toreador, Nov. 11) reveals the repulsiveness of war and our civilization's (or man's) apparent ability to take it very lightly.

The 17-year-old Marine's boast to a high school class of having killed a woman and "I'd do it again 'cause a woman would just as soon kill me," makes me wonder if the Marine is the fine example of a man we should have teaching our children.

If the reporter accurately covered the Marine's speech, and I trust he did, then the Marine's tales of bar room experiences, ability to kill and number of actual killings, leaves a doubt in my mind if the high school students have been given a desirable American "hero."

There is no doubt the students now have a better understanding of that savage war in Viet Nam and I'm not one to say they should not have an accurate picture of life; but I do doubt if the cause of advancing man is aided much by any attempt to make the Marine's tales into examples of heroism. That Marine deserves no medal.

As a soldier myself I believe that war sometimes may be the only way to defend our lives and ideals, but I hope I will follow the example of my father who in '44 fought the Germans from Normandy to the Rhine and yet today does not boast of killing a single German.

War may be "normal" and a fact of life; but even if it is, I feel no responsibility to accept it.

Sincerely,
Bronson L. Havard

Smith Defends Pope's Statement

Dear Editor,
I do not feel that Bruce Mabrito, in his letter to the Toreador last Wednesday which questioned the stand of Pope Paul's United Nations statement on birth control, was particularly bitter. I believe, rather, that his letter was born of the misinformation common in so many cases.

With a little research, the world would not question so unbelievably the position of the Roman Catholic Church on birth control.

Pope Paul's statement, while it represents his own view, the view of 550,000,000 conscientious Roman Catholics all over the globe, and the view of those devout non-Catholics who for twenty centuries have adhered to the teachings of God, does primarily represent the view of God.

When Christ, God Incarnate, established the Church on the strength of such a leader as St. Peter, He passed these teachings on to the Big Fisherman, who in turn throughout history, has passed them directly into the holy hand of Paul VI.

With these teachings came corresponding laws which bind us today to keep them. And Paul VI, as Christ's Vicar on earth, upholds these ancient laws as he does all the other teachings of Christ. There is no reason, therefore, to draw back "in awed horror," to quote Mr. Mabrito. God sanctions no "horror" when He commands us to follow His law.

The Catholic Church favors limited families. But the method of limitation is that which is so strongly objectionable. No means of artificial prevention of conception is permissible. Onan, we recall from the Old Testament, committed an unnatural sex act and wasted his seed. God, in His justice, punished Onan just as He will punish those who defy His law today.

What's In A Debate?

LAST WEEK the Daily Toreador ran a story about a small college in Georgia and how the students there are being educated about all sides of current campus issues.

It seems that the Debate Club at West Georgia College in Carrollton, Ga., sponsors a public debate each month, presenting arguments both for and against current topics that interest and affect students.

The club's topic for the first month's debate was "Should campus restrictions on girls be liberalized?"

One group argued for the affirmative, and another group spoke for the negative. After the debate, members of the audience were allowed to question the debaters and present their own arguments.

The value of such open discussions are clearly evident:

- Students are given the opportunity to hear both sides of every issue in a clear, factual presentation removed from emotional argument (we hope).
- Administrators and faculty members can also become better acquainted with student opinions.

All in all, such programs make wiser men out of everyone who listens and learns from them.

We need a better exchange of ideas, opinions and facts here on many topics. Wouldn't this be a good way to go about it?

James Bond Strikes Again

Here is some inside information for James Bond followers who remember, with a slight chilling of the spine, how that brand new Lincoln Continental was crushed to scrap in the film "Goldfinger."

In the next epic, "Thunderball," a car again steals the big scene.

The script calls for an enemy agent to attempt to shoot Bond as their cars draw level on the main highway.

He fails because a motorcyclist, a beautiful girl dressed as a man, blows up the assassin's car with some bazooka rockets she just happens to have fitted to her motorcycle.

Producer Harry Saltzman has been shooting this second essay in quick car disposal in England and this time the model on the destruction line is a Ford Fairlane 500.

His special effects team filled the car's trunk with gasoline just to make sure they got a good bang. Then, to be certain they had it right, they shot the scene half a dozen times. At the end of it all the car was still operable but much the worse for wear.

"Thunderball" will be released early next year.

Techsan Honored By AHEA Chapter

Zafer Cetinkaya, senior home economics education major from Istanbul, Turkey has been named "Home Economist of the Year" by the Texas College Chapter Section of the American Home Economics Association.

Commenting on the award, Dr. Willa Vaughn Tinsley, dean of the School of Home Economics said, "Zafer has brought honor to herself, to home economics and to Texas Tech."

In winning the top state honor, Zafer was cited for her professional attitude, for outstanding work in her major field as well as above average scholastic standing and leadership in campus activities, and for participation in the Texas Home Economics College Chapter fall workshop where she was a featured speaker.

ZAFER CETINKAYA

Recipient of the AHEA International Student Scholarship for two years, she also has received the American Friends of the Middle East Award, ranking second in the country as "an outstanding college student of the Middle Eastern countries attending school in the United States."

With a 3.71 overall average, she has consistently been on the Dean's Honor List and is a member of Phi Epsilon Omicron (home economics national honorary), Alpha Lambda Delta, Junior Council and Mortar Board. She also is listed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

She has served as delegate, bloc leader and secretary-general of Tech's Model United Nations and as Tech's delegate to Model UN assemblies at Oklahoma University and the University of Texas. She also represented Tech at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Symposium on American Women in Science and Engineering in 1964.

She has served as treasurer of the International Club, member of the Tech Union Ideas and Issues Committee, Home Economics Club representative to the Association of Women Students and as committee secretary and co-chairman of Women's Day.

Listing working with children as a main interest, Zafer has worked the past three summers as a director, counselor and program assistant at a co-educational camp in Northern California.

In Turkey she attended the American Academy for Girls in Istanbul and she received an additional taste of American education as an American Field Exchange Student at Hawthorne, Calif., High School.

A fluent linguist, she is the eldest of four children in a family where education is given high priority. Her father is a teacher. Her sister is a senior at the University of Istanbul and her older brother is a freshman at Middle East Technological University in Turkey. Her younger brother is a fifth grader in Istanbul schools.

Topics Occupy Steering Group

Consideration and selection of topics for the General Assembly of the Model United Nations was the business of the M.U.N. Steering Committee at its last regular weekly meeting.

Departing from the tradition of building the General Assembly proceedings around one issue, the Steering Committee will choose six topics for debate in this fourth session of Tech's M.U.N. Topics and delegation assignments will be made early in the second week of December.

"Some issues are just bound to arise," said Barry McNeil, chairman of the Topics Committee. "Membership for Red China is one, the Rhodesian situation is another. We just couldn't have a realistic program if we ignored the important problems before the real United Nations."

The Steering Committee is seeking topics which will give every nation, regardless of size or geographic location, a vital interest to forward and defend. The topics as defined by the Steering Committee will be relatively broad and vague so as to leave room for creativity and original thought in the preparation of resolutions and delegation positions.

Applications for a delegation will be accepted through Wednesday, November 24, the last day before Thanksgiving vacation, in the Program Office of the second floor of the Student Union Building. Keith Strain, General Assembly President, emphasized that anyone who could find three members to complete a delegation could apply.

Everyone who applies will be offered a position, and interest is the only prerequisite for participation. "Anyone can easily learn everything else he needs to know to represent his country accurately and well," said Strain.

Secretary-General Chris Hickey announced one new appointment. Lonnie Dillard, past president of the General Assembly, will act as legal counsel this year. He will also be in charge of the selection and training of the committee chairmen, subject to the approval of the Steering Committee.

Common, Famous And 'Just Names' Make News

Chances are that one out of every 80 students you'll run into at Texas Tech is named Smith. The odds are pretty good, too, that your random acquaintance might be an individual named Jones. There are plenty of those.

Tech enrolled a record 16,305 students this fall, but it didn't come up with that many different names. As a matter of fact, seven rather common surnames—Smith, Jones, Williams, Brown, Johnson, Thompson, and Adams—account for approximately one-twentieth of all the handles on campus.

Those seven names total 725 with the Smiths getting the nod for the largest number at 211. In case you're interested, there are 131 of the Joneses, 106 guys and gals named Williams, 93 Browns, 92 Johnsons, 52 Thompsons and 40 Adamases.

There are quite a few famous folk represented at Tech, too. The Student Directory discloses one John Adams, a John Hancock and a Lynda B. Johnson, a junior from Houston.

Many Texas cities are represented as well. There's a George J. Dallas III from Dallas. But Cynthia J. Ralls is from Tyler, and Bill R. Tyer is from Wellington. Strangely enough, freshman Joellen Snyder is from, of all places, Snyder!

Lest things get too worldly, St. Peter (James W. of Dallas) is around tending to his business as a sophomore in the English department.

Lubbock senior George Bandzevicius cops honors for the longest surname with 12 characters represented in his family name. The researchers thought they had come up with a longer one in Kimmonsikimmons, but it turned out the IBM machine got stuck and it should have been Kimmons, Joyce L., a senior from Baytown.

Honors for the shortest name are shared by Judith Aab of Hobbs, N. M., Lee Ash of San Angelo and Donald K. Ahr, a Houston freshman.

But while Miss Aab, a 19-year-old sophomore art education major, may have to share honors for the shortest surname, she doesn't take a back seat to anybody when it comes to who's first alphabetically.

Judy, who says that mispronunciations plague her and range from "arad" to "odd," admits her surname brings many benefits. "I can always count on getting the first seat," she says. "The main advantage here at school is that in the larger lecture classes, I'm always up front and I can learn better."

Miss Aab's name appears first in the Tech directory and it brings her many telephone calls from persons just looking for someone with whom to talk. She has one anonymous male caller, who's been telephoning for the past year and a half. "He's real nice," Judy says, "but kind of a nut. He always has these unusual jobs. Sometimes he sells sweatshirts for parakeets . . . one time he wanted me to join a record club for $20 and receive a record a week—for two weeks!"

Judy's folks, Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Aab, live at 1907 North Fowler in Hobbs, where her father is district superintendent for the Skelley Oil Company. They moved to New Mexico from Tulsa, Okla., where Judy was born.

At the opposite end of the alphabetical spectrum is Miss Swiatoslawa Zyla, a sophomore music major from Lubbock. Swiatoslawa, whose friends call her Sonia for short, is the daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Wolodymyr T. Zyla, and is a 1964 graduate of Monterey High School. Her father is an Assistant Professor in Tech's department of foreign languages.

Sonia came to Lubbock with her parents from Canada, but she has also lived in Brazil. "Most people have little trouble with my last name," she says, "but they usually don't bother to try my first name."

Miss Zyla, an accomplished violinist good enough to play in Tech's symphony orchestra, is accustomed to being last in seating assignments and other similar chores. But it doesn't bother her. "I have run into people whose last name is behind mine."

"MISS Z MEET MISS A"—Judith Aab, right, Hobbs, looks over the Texas Tech Student Directory with fellow sophomore Miss Swiatoslawa (Sonia) Zyla of Lubbock. The two girls, who represent the opposite end of things alphabetically among Tech's 16,305 students this fall, admit there are advantages and disadvantages to their surnames.

Polls Agree, Rank Tech No. 9

New Year's Problem Is Almost Settled

MIKE LUTZ

SO IT'S FINALLY settled. If Tech loses to Arkansas in Fayetteville Saturday, it will accept a position in the Gator Bowl Dec. 31 opposite Georgia Tech, thus narrowing down to two sites the whereabouts of the Red Raiders for the New Year's holidays.

Speculation was about all that could be ventured until Monday when an Associated Press story quoted Tech Athletic Director Polk Robison as conditionally accepting the invitation.

Still Matters About Cotton

The condition under which the Raiders would not accept the Gator commitment is, of course, if Tech defeats Arkansas and goes to the Cotton Bowl in Dallas.

Immediately following the conditional acceptance, Tech officials (Robison and Head Coach J T King) moved quickly to affirm that the Raiders have conceded nothing to the Razorbacks and are making plans to be the host team in the Cotton Bowl, January 1.

"Our No. 1 concern is defeating Arkansas and going into the Cotton Bowl," King said shortly after the Gator Bowl acceptance was announced.

"Our feeling is that the club deserves a major bowl game and I certainly think the Gator Bowl is an excellent choice," King said.

The team reportedly voted early last week to accept the Gator invitation. "The squad expressed themselves in this way and so the Gator Bowl would be my No. 1 choice after the Cotton Bowl," King said.

Criticism has already cropped up concerning the Raiders' decision. "Why did they choose the Gator Bowl?" several have asked.

Warmed Over Doo-Dads

SATURDAY'S LEFTOVERS—Donny Anderson sat on the Raider bench near the end of Saturday's 34-22 victory over Baylor and commented on Tech's slow start in the game. "We just made up our minds were ready to play and we weren't. It's hard not to look ahead to Arkansas" . . . Baylor Coach John Bridgers, commenting on the Raiders' success, "I can't understand why these people out here wouldn't be singing J T's praises all over. He's done a wonderful job in bringing them up to the Southwest Conference level" . . . Ted Twomey, the Gator Bowl representative in the Jones Stadium press box Saturday, formerly coached King when the latter was a guard at the University of Texas. "J T was a terrific leader then and now he displays the same fine character that he did as a player" . . . The Gator Bowl, located in Jacksonville, Florida, has a seating capacity of 61,500 . . . Arkansas still has the ability to rally. Last season the Raiders played the Hogs to a 0-0 tie at halftime, but the 'Backs came from the floor to bop Tech, 17-0. Last Saturday against SMU, they bounced from a 3-0 deficit to club the Mustangs, 24-3. . . . Baylor placement kicker Bob Purvis who kicked a 33-yard field goal against Tech Saturday said: "Now that we've lost, I'd really like to see Tech beat Arkansas."

Michigan State, moving toward a showdown meeting with Notre Dame, continued to show the way Monday as the No. 1 team of the nation in The Associated Press' weekly college football poll.

Arkansas, with 21 straight victories over a two-year span, was a close second, with unbeaten Nebraska and once-defeated Notre Dame not far behind.

Alabama, Southern California and UCLA followed in that order as the first seven teams maintained the same ratings of last week. Missouri edged into the No. 8 spot and Texas Tech and Florida moved into the Top Ten, displacing beaten Tennessee and Kentucky.

Duffy Daughtery's Spartans probably were looking ahead to the Irish and had to come from behind Saturday to beat Indiana 27-13 for the Big Ten championship.

Notre Dame also was paying more attention to Saturday's date at South Bend than the business at hand but woke up in the last period to top North Carolina 17-0.

AP Rankings

The Top Ten with first-place votes in parentheses, season records and total points figured on a 10-9 etc. basis:

1. Michigan State (31) 9-0 456
2. Arkansas (15) 9-0 439
3. Nebraska (2) 9-0 378
4. Notre Dame 7-1 346
5. Alabama 7-1-1 268
6. Southern Calif. 6-1-1 226
7. UCLA 7-1-1 180
8. Missouri 6-2-1 115
9. TEXAS TECH 8-1 86
10. Florida 6-2 42

Irish President Issues Warning

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Displays of poor sportsmanship by students and other Notre Dame fans could result in the end of intercollegiate competition at the university, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, school president, warned Monday.

In a letter to students living in campus housing, Father Hesburgh urged them to avoid "turning the campus into a jungle or embarking on an emotional binge" in enthusiasm for football victory over Michigan State Saturday.

The unbeaten Spartans, Big Ten champions and ranked No. 1 in the country, end their regular season against the once-beaten, No. 4 Irish here.

Father Hesburgh's letter warned that poor sportsmanship by students and fan before, during or after games could result in "the end of intercollegiate competition here—because there is no reason for other universities to become involved with such nonsense."

Sun Bowl Revises Prospects

EL PASO (AP)—The Sun Bowl Selection Committee released a new list of 15 teams being considered for the Dec. 31 game.

Four teams were added to the list after three teams on last week's priority list accepted bids to other bowl games. A fourth, Texas, was dropped after losing its fourth game of the season.

Additions to this week's list are Arizona State University 4-4, Auburn 5-3-1, Mississippi 5-4, and Texas Western 5-3.

Georgia Tech accepted a Gator Bowl bid, Missouri will go to the Sugar Bowl and Texas Tech will go to either the Cotton or Gator Bowl depending upon the outcome of its game with Arkansas this week.

Other teams on the Sun Bowl list this week:

Colorado 5-2-2, Florida 6-2, Florida State 4-3, Georgia 5-4, Kentucky 6-3, Louisiana State 6-3, Syracuse 6-3, Tennessee 4-1-2, Tulsa 6-2, Utah State 7-1, and Wyoming 6-2.

Shipley, Wilson Selected Week's Top Back, Lineman

By MIKE LUTZ
Sport Editor

Senior end Jerry Shipley has joined the new fad among Red Raiders of breaking records and for his performance against the Baylor Bears Saturday afternoon, has been named the Daily Toreador's Lineman of the Week.

Shipley, a Lubbock Monterey product, is joined in the weekly selections by quarterback Tom Wilson, who was awarded Back of the Week honors.

Catches 10 Passes

Shipley's 10 receptions in Tech's 34-22 victory over Baylor, established a new school record for Tech pass catchers. Shipley's effort erased the old mark set by Dave Parks in 1963 when he snagged eight against Kansas State.

Shipley was by no means a unanimous choice and almost had to share equal billing with co-captain defensive tackle John Porter.

It was Porter's alertness which gave the Raiders impetus to rally from a 9-0 deficit in the second quarter when he fell on a Baylor fumble to set up Tech's first score.

Six "Big Plays"

But that was not Porter's only contribution to the Raiders' eighth victory of the season. Statisticians credit him with nine tackles and five other big plays.

Wilson completed 19 of 32 passes for 258 yards and three touchdowns. The Corsicana man under hit 10 of 11 in the second half alone and graded 87 per cent for the game.

Even more amazing among Wilson's statistics is his percentage of completions, which is currently 60.4. He's connected on 141 of 240 attempts for 1,800 yards.

The yardage total is second only to Don Trull's 2,157 in 1963.

Also receiving consideration for the back honors was Heisman Trophy candidate Donny Anderson, who rushed for 82 yards and scored two third quarter touchdowns.

Needs 26 Yards

Anderson is now only 26 yards shy of the NCAA record for total amount of yards gained by running, receiving, punt returns, and interceptions.

Defensive halfback Robert Yancer also received pleasing nods for his performance. He jarred the ball loose from its carrier in the first quarter to allow Porter to recover the important fumble.

Later in the game, Yancer deflected a Baylor pass which was intercepted by end Pat Knight to stall a Bruin offensive.

The Baylor victory was all but forgotten Monday however as the Raiders began preparation for their SWC showdown with the Razorbacks in Fayetteville, Saturday.

DELTA PHI ALPHA

Delta Phi Alpha, German honorary, will sponsor the film "Rosen" Wednesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. in the biology auditorium. Tickets are 50 cents and may be purchased at the door; the movie will have English subtitles.
