Services For Gary L. James To Be Held Friday Afternoon

Pfc. Gary L. James, pictured above in a gun emplacement in the area where he received his fatal wounds, died Monday, May 29, as the result of wounds received in action in Vietnam on May 21. This picture was taken a few days before the wounds were suffered. Gary is the first Santa Anna boy to give his life in the struggle against Communism in the Vietnam Conflict.

Word was received by the family on Tuesday afternoon that his body would arrive in Santa Anna about midnight Thursday, June 8. Services are scheduled to be held at the First Baptist Church at 4:00 p.m. Friday. Full military services will be held with Rev. Bill Brewer, a Captain in the National Guard, being put on active duty for a two day period to conduct the services. Burial will be in Santa Anna Cemetery, with Hosh Funeral Home in charge of local arrangements.

Gary Lynn James, 23, died Monday, May 29, as the result of wounds suffered in action in the Vietnam Conflict on May 21. The wounds were of a very critical nature to his right flank and consisted of lacerations of the liver and kidneys. He was in combat in the Ia Drang Valley on perimeter defense when he was hit by fragments from a hostile mortar round. He was evacuated to the U.S. Military Hospital at Nha Trang, about 350 miles from where he suffered the wounds.

This was the second time he had been wounded in the Vietnam action. His first was a shrapnel wound in the leg about seven weeks previous to this wound. He had been decorated with the Purple Heart and returned to duty about three weeks previously.

Gary had attempted to enlist in military service four times previously to the time he was accepted in June 1966. He was a small build and the military did not think he was heavy enough for the service. However, he was finally accepted and sent to Fort Bliss in El Paso for his basic training. From there he was sent to Fort Polk, La., for special training as a "tunnel rat". Small men are used for this purpose in clearing out the many tunnels used by the Communist forces throughout the Vietnam area. During the battle clearing out what was known as the Iron Triangle, Gary saw lots of action in the tunnels. After they moved into the Ia Drang Valley area, he was appointed "point man" for his platoon and did advanced perimeter duty.

He left the United States during December and arrived in Vietnam a few days before Christmas, 1966. Nineteen days later he earned the Combat Medal for being in action.

He was born in Santa Anna, August 5, 1943 and was a member of the First Baptist Church. He attended the Santa Anna Public Schools. Survivors include his mother, Mrs. Madie James of Santa Anna; his father, I. O. James of Coleman; two sisters, Mrs. Bruce Cammack of Santa Anna and Mrs. Curtis Alvey of San Angelo; his grandfather, Jim O. Owen of Santa Anna; numerous other relatives including two nephews and one niece that he was particularly fond of.

The accident was investigated by the Sheriff's Department.

Auto Accident Wounds Put 2 In Hospital

Two men were injured on Wednesday, May 31, about 7:15 p.m. five miles west of Santa Anna on Highway 67, when their car collided with three detour signs on the highway. A 2x4 from one of the signs went through the windshield of the 1956 oldsmobile, apparently hitting the two men who were admitted to the hospital. Another man in the car was not injured.

Charley Brown of San Angelo was admitted to the hospital with glass cuts around the eyes. He was later removed to the county jail and was charged with being drunk. J. D. Lasater of San Angelo was admitted to the hospital with apparent head injuries. The other man was Bill Lindsey of De Leon.

NYC Program Gets Underway

The summer Neighborhood Youth Corps program began this week in the Santa Anna School system. The local schools have been allotted five places in the program for the summer months.

This work plan calls for six hours of academic and vocational schooling each Monday, for which the enrollees are not paid. However, if the student does not attend the Monday classes, he will not be allowed to work during the remainder of the week.

Students will work 30 hours during the week in maintenance and other duties assigned at the school. Pay scale is established by the Federal Government.

In order to participate in the program, the student must be 16 years of age. The Department of Labor has ruled that no student under this age may perform the duties established under this program.

Improvement Club To Meet Thursday Night

"What Can Our Town Do," will likely be one of the topics discussed—and there is something our town can do. Come out and listen to this discussion, and express your ideas. You can help make this a real Neighborhood meeting.

Attend Church Regularly

Most School Taxes Increased

Several hundred property owners in the Santa Anna Independent School District were notified last week that their school taxes had been increased over last year. This came as a result of the Board of Equalization being in session for the past several days.

County Baptist Leaders To Meet Here Tuesday

Baptist leaders in Coleman county will co-sponsor with the Stewardship Division of the 1.8 million-member Baptist General Convention of Texas one of more than 100 major conferences across the state introducing a 1967 Christian concept, dealing with total stewardship from a family point of view.

Included in the new approach is a money management emphasis not only on what the family gives, but the wise use of what it kept. Leadership and families in Coleman Baptist Association, comprised of approximately 3,800 members from some 20 churches in the county, have been invited to attend the Tuesday conference at 7:30 p.m. in First Baptist Church, Santa Anna. Rev. Bill Brewer is pastor of the host church.

Rev. Ray Martin, pastor of Valera Baptist Church is stewardship chairman of the Coleman association and will lead in promotion of the area program throughout the year in addition to his work coordinating the Tuesday night conference.

Overall purpose of the sessions is to introduce an effective approach for churches to implement 1967 materials featuring "A Christian family witnessing to its faith."

On a compact program of local, area and state Baptist convention leaders, guest speaker for the event will be Harry V. Hamblen, missionary co-ordinator for the State Missions Commission of the BGCT.

Two staff members of the BGCT Stewardship Division—Cecil Ray and W. F. Vanderburg, thbo of Dallas—and administrative leaders from Coleman association also are scheduled to lead in the meeting, which includes two 7:30-8:30 p.m. conferences.

The 1967 "family witness" materials will be introduced in a meeting of all pastors, music and education directors and other staff members in the church leadership conference. This period also will be given to a study of church budgets, money management and tithes, will-making and estate planning.

In a simultaneous session, individuals and family groups will examine the matter of Christian witness in spending, giving and ownership. Rev. J. H. Hallford of Ballinger, associational missionary, and Rev. Horace Crowder, pastor of First Baptist Church of Coleman and associational moderator, will preside.

Major thrusts of the conference will come in a joint worship service at 8:30 p.m. with presentation of the new materials and showing of a noted convention filmstrip "The Money Trap." Mr. Hamblen's special message, "The Family Bearing Witness to its Faith," will conclude the conference.

Dr. Ben H. Moore To Preach For Presbyterians

Dr. Ben H. Moore, Pastor-Emeritus of the United Presbyterian Church will fill the pulpit for the next two Sundays, while the pastor, Richard Wood and family, are on a vacation.

Everyone is invited to attend each service.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spence of Richardson came Monday to visit Mr. and Mrs. W. P. West.

The board changed very few assessed values, but made changes where they felt they were needed. This is the first duty of a board of equalization. They feel they have arrived at values that are as equalized as men who know the property are able to determine.

All are aware of the increased costs in the operation of public schools. The board determined that certain actions were necessary, and has stipulated that the following actions should be taken:

1. Raise all assessed valuations 20 per cent above those equalized values established by the board for the 1967-68 school year;

2. Reduce the tax rate from the current rate of $2.00 per $100.00 assessed valuation and divided $1.50 to the Local Maintenance Fund and $0.50 to the Debt Service Fund, to a rate of $1.70 per $100.00 assessed valuation and divided $1.50 to Local Maintenance Fund and $0.20 to the Debt Service Fund;

3. Follow plans 1 and 2, thereby holding each taxpayer's total cost near the same level as established during the last two years, but making it possible to transfer additional tax income to the Local Maintenance Fund, reducing the current surplus possible but restricted to Bond and interest Payment.

The Board of Equalization will be in session in Room 101 at the Santa Anna High School from 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. Wednesday, June 14, for conference with any persons interested in meeting with the members.

George Havens Cowboy Camp Meeting Is Set

George Havens, a former resident of Santa Anna and a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John R. Pearce, announces he is sponsoring an old-fashioned Cowboy Camp Meeting June 18-25, at his Flying H. Acres, located three miles west of Santa Anna on Highway 84. Havens is a former Grand Ole Opry singer and movie actor, turned evangelist.

He and his wife, Lucy, extend an invitation to everyone to attend the old-fashioned revival and camp meeting.

Havens said the old bean pot will be there. And so will the chuck wagon, the freight wagon, and water wagon. All are original specimens from the old West.

Havens said that back in the days of the Old West, about once a year God-fearing cowboys and their families would come together for worship at a Cowboy Camp Meeting. They would gather into one place in their covered wagons, buggies or whatever means of transportation they had. Come dusk, they would all gang around the old chuck wagon and feast from the old bean pot.

Then they would gather around the camp fire and sing old hymns, while a cowboy here and there played along on his guitar, banjo, fiddle or harmonica. Some would start testifying. Some young wrangler with an extra good understanding of the Good Book might even get up and preach a sermon.

As most folks now-a-days do not own covered wagons or buggies, they are invited to come and camp in their house trailers, camp rigs on pickups or whatever camping facility they have.

At 5:30 p. m. each evening during the week, cowboy vittles will be served by the chuck wagon, followed by a testimonial service, spiced with singing and guitar picking. At 7:30 p. m. everyone will gather under "Little George's" tent to hear some of the best known preachers and singers in the Lone Star State.

Legislators knew their job was little more than half finished when they adjourned at midnight May 29.

Governor John Connally cheerfully reminded them that he would "see them in the fall or next year" meaning that that is when the 1969 budget and a balancing tax bill must be written.

Later, Connally told reporters that it is highly unlikely he will call the special finance session before next year. He hinted that next year's tax bill may be less than the predicted $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 and he does not intend to recommend an increase in the general sales tax rate.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court reversed a 49-year-old rule requiring a property owner to warn employees of a subcontractor of hidden dangers on the property. Case involved a Nueces County welder injured in an accident. Court said injured worker's own employer and foreman should have warned him of threats to his safety.

In another case the Supreme Court upheld a decision of the Dallas Court of Civil Appeals that questions of usury and unreasonable collection methods should be considered together. Case dealt with a 423-a-week yardman's suit against Pacific Finance Loans and Bond Finance Company.

Dard County District Court judgment that salinity content of water furnished by a water district caused $16,344 worth of damage to a milo maize crop also was sustained by the higher court.

FUNDS FOR AGING PROGRAM APPROVED

A $140,774 program to develop community programs of direct service to the aged in Lubbock, Big Spring, Fort Worth, Mercedes and San Antonio have been approved by the Governor's Committee on Aging.

AIRPORT FUNDS ARE AVAILABLE

Legislature appropriated $475,000 for building and improving small town airports. Big Bend National Park will get $150,000 plus federal aid for new airport. Lake Whitney State Park, $40,000, and $25,000 will go to aviation research at a higher education institution.

Texas Aeronautics Commission Director Charles Murphy estimates that 40 percent of applicants for state aid will share in available funds.

INTERIM COMMITTEES

A record-breaking list of interim committees, some 70 in all, have been appointed to serve until the next special or regular session of the Legislature begins.

Committees will deal with about everything the Legislature considered during its recent session. In fact, there are more interim committees than there were standing committees during the 60th session. Total then was 44 in the House and 24 in the Senate.

Among the special committees are those dealing with state and local tax policy, law enforcement and crime prevention, State Constitution, general investigating, slum problems and clearance, causes of poverty, renovation and maintenance of Governor's mansion, parking problem around state capitol, state college faculty pay and benefits and unessential state government expenses.

Others relate to the importation and grading of eggs, prices of fruits and vegetables, industrial entertainment promotion, safety regulations for school buses and home improvements contracting.

Also, selection of a state poet laureate, and return of the Alamo flag from Mexico.

SHORT SNORTS

Sen. Ralph H. Hall of Rockwall was selected president pro tempore of the Senate for the interim between legislative sessions.

Texas Highway Commission adopted a $75,000,000 budget for maintaining Texas' highway system during the next fiscal year — up $12,600,000 over the present level.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said a county officer of Harris County who is authorized to sell abandoned and unclaimed property may hire a person to conduct an auction in his behalf.

Former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson is head of a new Republican task force on crime and law enforcement.

Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, has allocated $304,591 for 13 programs for 1967 grants for Community Service and Continuing Education proposals authorized under the federal higher education act.

The Texas Department of Health warns that three cases of paralytic poliomyelitis have been reported in Texas to date this year pointing up the need for immunizations for infants and preschool children.

Education Top Family Expense

The home may be taking second place to college education for the children as the biggest family investment, according to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The National Association of Home Builders has reported that the average new home last year cost in the neighborhood of $20,000, not counting interest on the mortgage.

But consider the investment facing the average family with three teenagers to educate, suggests Wanda Meyer, Extension Home Management specialist at Texas A&M University. Just the basic fees alone can rival the family's housing investment.

Basic fees and charges at a publicly supported four-year college or university average a little more than $1,000 a year in 1967, according to HEW. Those same basic fees and charges at a private institution averaged about $2,100. Thus, four years at a public or private university or college will cost a family $4,000 to $8,000 for only one youngster.

For the average three-child household, the basic higher education bill could range from $12,000 to $25,000, depending upon whether the family chooses a public or private institution.

But that's not the end of it. Education costs are rising. Furthermore, there are other expenses besides the basic charges. Books and supplies cost the average family $100 a year for each student. The transportation costs range from $150 to $250 a year. Personal and miscellaneous expenses average $400. Including all these expenses, it now might cost a family up to $3,200 a year to keep a youngster in a private school and up to $1,800 in a public one.

This means that the total investment for a family of three children would range up to $38,400 if they chose a private school, and up to $21,600 if they chose a publicly supported college.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

If you filed your tax return at 11:59 p.m. on April 17, and have been perturbed because you haven't received your refund, it will pay you to calm down. The electronic machines can compute hundreds of items on thousands of taxpayers returns before you can say "Send me my refund." But the machines can't work on the return until the humans open the mail, check the information on the return, prepare the punch cards, and give the electronic monster a crack at it. Internal Revenue reports excellent progress on sending out refunds, but advises patience.

Danger: The Dotted Line

"I know you can't help me," a woman wrote this column recently, "but since so many are caught in this way, I thought it would be a good subject for an article."

Which way was she "caught?" She had signed an order for a set of books, offered by a door-to-door salesman. Later, when she talked it over with her husband, they decided they could not afford the purchase.

Unhappily, however, she had no grounds for getting out of her contract, except that she had changed her mind. And, as she herself realized too late, that was not enough.

A dotted line, like a railroad crossing, is a good place for caution. In the vast majority of cases, at least if you are an adult, the law will hold you to what you sign—no matter what second thoughts you might have afterward.

This sternness is based on practical necessities. Countless business transactions in everyday life are based on the understanding on both sides of the bargain that a signature is binding. We would have commercial chaos if agreements, formally entered into, could be cast aside at will.

True, the law may let you out of a signed contract if there are special circumstances that justify relief. Most often, such cases involve some kind of fraud. For fraud "infects" a contract and makes it subject to cancellation.

Here is an example:

C of C Magazine Covers Most West Texas Attractions

The second issue of the new magazine published by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce went to all members this week. This is West Texas' for June/July covers some of the most colorful of West Texas attractions.

Features in the current issue include a cover picture in four colors of the beautiful Highland Lakes country with a picture of the Lake LBJ shoreline. The accompanying story tells of the challenges to fishermen in all the Highland Lakes.

Industry is spotlighted in a story on the Mooney Aircraft Company of Kerrville. This manufacturing plant produces and sells more aircraft of its type than any other manufacturer in the world, according to figures released recently.

Also in the June/July issue is a visit in story and pictures to the fabulously beautiful caverns of Sonora. Though not rated as large as Carlsbad Caverns of New Mexico, no quarter is given to the beauty of the formation in the Sonora underground fantasyland.

Scenic Palo Duro Canyon and its Panhandle Heritage Theatre are given a full treatment in this issue. Also included are stories on the Albany Fandango, the Littlefield "Operation Sparkle," Anton G. Carter Museum of Western Art and other features of interest to West Texans.

BLACK CRICKETS FOR BAIT

In East Texas black crickets are favorite fish bait. They are sold at the same bait stands that handle minnows and crayfish.

LITTER IS INDIVIDUAL PROBLEM

With twice as many people using the outdoors today, the litter problem can become immense unless we do something about it ourselves.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Danger: The Dotted Line

"I know you can't help me," a woman wrote this column recently, "but since so many are caught in this way, I thought it would be a good subject for an article."

Which way was she "caught?" She had signed an order for a set of books, offered by a door-to-door salesman. Later, when she talked it over with her husband, they decided they could not afford the purchase.

Unhappily, however, she had no grounds for getting out of her contract, except that she had changed her mind. And, as she herself realized too late, that was not enough.

A dotted line, like a railroad crossing, is a good place for caution. In the vast majority of cases, at least if you are an adult, the law will hold you to what you sign—no matter what second thoughts you might have afterward.

This sternness is based on practical necessities. Countless business transactions in everyday life are based on the understanding on both sides of the bargain that a signature is binding. We would have commercial chaos if agreements, formally entered into, could be cast aside at will.

True, the law may let you out of a signed contract if there are special circumstances that justify relief. Most often, such cases involve some kind of fraud. For fraud "infects" a contract and makes it subject to cancellation.

Here is an example:

CONQUER MULTIPLE SCLEROSIS

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

Washington, D.C. — The threatened conflict between the Arab States and Israel should have a sobering effect on our Government's official policy of "building bridges" with the Soviet Union and its Communist satellites in Eastern Europe. It should put a damper on the support by some of the largest American business for the administration's policy of increasing trade with the Russians.

On more than one occasion Ambassador to the United Nations Arthur Goldberg has made it clear that peace in Vietnam rests with the Soviet Union. According to the statements of Nassar of Egypt, the official line of the Russians is complete support for attacks against the State of Israel.

Not only are the Russians blocking any action in the United Nations, but they are checkmating any possible moves by the Geneva Conference machinery provided in the 1954 Agreements for settlement of the Vietnam war.

All the talk about a policy for the United States to make concessions in East-West Trade Agreements has a hollow sound unless the Moscow Government declares its efforts for peace in the Middle East and in Vietnam.

It is strange indeed that our government and American businessmen have started a campaign to break a logjam in trade with the Soviet Union. Washington is supporting the participation of American companies in a Trade Fair in Moscow at this very time. The exhibition, concentrating particularly on food processing and food packaging equipment, opened May 16.

It should be clear to policy makers that we can not satisfactorily end the war in Vietnam in a reasonable time or bring about a satisfactory peace by making unilateral concessions to Russia or by blinding ourselves to the realities of world power politics. The world politics in this instance wears the same brand which it has always worn — world Communist domination.

Now, after feeding Hanoi the supplies to kill our men in South Vietnam, their long-range strategy in the Middle East is showing itself as a frightening speed.

A glance at the map is enough to show that Russian ambitions in that part of the world include control of the Red Sea and beyond it. They include the Persian Gulf, a source of Western Europe's oil supply, and to control that supply is an invaluable advantage. The complete control would mean a dominant influence on the economic life of Western Europe.

For more than 40 years the secret intent of the Communists has been known. The center of their strategy is to find conditions where strife of any sort or kind can be fomented. It then becomes a vehicle for their use. Although it is presently played down by our officials, the numerous trouble spots all around the world do not appear to be accidents.

Their efforts for crisis in Berlin, in Indonesia, in Hong Kong, were unsuccessful. Earlier, they were unsuccessful in Greece and Turkey, in Iran and in Ghana. At the present time, however, the situation in Greece, Cyprus, the middle east and of course, Vietnam, supported by Soviet intrigue, is a threat to the United States. It is not a matter of our being the policemen of the world, but a matter of meeting aggression which eventually will threaten our own shores.

While we talk of "building bridges" to Russia via a Consular Treaty and promises of more trade, the Communists are destroying bridges of stability in every part of the world they can reach.

Not only should we not contribute to the welfare of the Russians by increased trade, whether it be strategic or otherwise, but we should in strongest terms tell our friends of the free world that they are no longer our friends if they do so. To do otherwise is to help them through trade and aid to achieve their world aims through aggression.

No one feeds a snake to keep it from biting.

District 4-H Camp Held Last Week

District 4-H Camp was held at Lake Brownwood Christian Retreat, May 31-June 1-2. These attending were Vickie Skelton, Sandra Hemphill, Ann Davis, Jimmy Eubank, Dickie Horner, Scott Beaver, Sandra Duke, Ass't. County Home Demonstration Agent, and Rusty Jones, Ass't. County Agricultural Agent.

Theme for the camp was "4-H The World Over." The training sessions were held on the various aspects of 4-H at the community, county, state, national, and international level. Coleman County was responsible for 4-H on the state level. The Rev. Floyd Boulware, pastor of the First Methodist Church, spoke on "Adult and Adolescent Relationships." This group meeting gave the 4-Hers a better understanding of themselves and their adult leaders.

District 4-H Camp is a leadership laboratory for senior 4-Hers. Each county in District 7 has a quota of three boys and three girls. The representatives from Coleman County are chosen on the basis of their leadership in the County 4-H Council. After attending this camp, the senior 4-Hers are responsible for planning and carrying out these plans at the County 4-H Camp.

Sportsmen, landowners and wildlife biologists will explore the possibility of expanding the 1967 deer season in some counties under direct authority of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department at the annual county hearings on game and fish regulations.

In the Edwards Plateau, Oak Prairie and South Central regulatory areas sufficient interest has been indicated in having an early season on antlerless deer and the subject of a deer season extending into January to justify placing the subject on the county session agendas, according to the Department.

A Department spokesman said no recommendation is being made at this time on the above topics and that the subjects are merely being opened for broad consideration at the county meetings.

One Lightning Strike Is Enough

Lightning may or may not strike twice in the same place, but folks with experience say once is enough!
Each year lightning-caused fires destroy farm buildings, rural houses and stored feed valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars. It also kills more than 400 people and injures another 1,000.
"Lightning protection on buildings would eliminate a lot of this loss," says W. S.
Allen, Extension agricultural engineer at Texas A&M University. Such protection can prevent loss of life and property and reduce the cost of fire insurance.

When buying a new installation, says the engineer, make the purchase from a reliable firm or person.

For information on installation and maintenance of lightning protection systems, ask your local Extension agricultural agent for a copy of B-2136, "Lightning Protection for the Farm."

Loy Jackson Is Outstanding Conservationist

Loy Jackson and his wife, Edna, were honored last Wednesday as the Outstanding Conservation Ranchers of the Central Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District and were presented an engraved plaque by the Lions Clubs of Coleman and Santa Anna. The Jacksons were selected for this recognition by the board of Supervisors of the district and the presentation was made by Dennis Gaines, President of the Coleman Lions Club.

The Jacksons began work on their conservation plan in 1959, with the technical assistance of the Soil Conservation Service made available to them through their cooperation with the Central Colorado SWCD. Their plan has now been completed and is being properly maintained through proper management, according to Robert F. Pearson, Work Unit Conservationists at Coleman.

The Jackson's conservation plan included such practices as brush control, range seeding, fence construction for proper range management, a livestock water distribution system of pipelines and storage facilities, many of which were installed through the Great Plains Conservation Program. Range seedings were deferred from grazing until established and grazing has been managed so that the condition of Jackson's rangeland has improved, erosion controlled and water conserved, Pearson said.

Guests at the luncheon, along with the Jacksons, were A. J. Young and J. H. Martin, District supervisors, Robert F. Pearson, Jess Jackson, and Ed Schwille of the Soil Conservation Service.

COOK IT YOURSELF

Keep food costs down by preparing more foods yourself. This could mean more time in the store and more work in the kitchen. Let's use meat as an example since it takes the largest portion of your food dollar. Consider the cuts that require more preparation in the kitchen and longer cooking time. Boneless stew beef that has been cut and trimmed for you in the store is twice as costly as beef plate and considerably more than blade chuck. You and your trusty carving knife can make your own stew beef in just the size pieces you like and with just the right amount of fat.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gilmore and children of Roswell, N.M., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Gilmore.

TAX MAN SAYS

If everything has been going your way this year and you are making money hand over fist, you may need to file an estimated tax return or amend the estimated tax return that you filed on April 15. The withholding system works beautifully for most of our taxpayers, but self-employed taxpayers must file an estimated tax return and pay their tax during the year.

On the same basis, if you receive wages, but make a profitable deal during the year, you may be required to file a tax estimate and to pay the tax you owe on the additional income.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Williams and Mrs. Marcella Hatfield of Denison came Friday to visit Mrs. Alma McNutt. They all spent the weekend at Abilene with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Hatfield. Mrs. Williams remained with the week with Mrs. McNutt.

Health Tips From AMA

FISHING

Fishing is good therapy—both physical and emotional—says the American Medical Association.

Of course, the millions of Americans who head for the lakes and streams across the nation each fishing season don't need a doctor to tell them that fishing is good sport. They probably have seen their doctor sitting in the next boat with a line in the water.

Fishing can be elaborate, complete with a trip to the seashore and renting deepsea boats and equipment. Or it can be the cane pole and worms affair on the banks of a neighborhood creek. Either way it gets us out in the fresh air and sunshine, gets our minds off the cares of the day.

Unless you are the vicious type who wades through racing rapids or rows hard for miles, fishing is mild exercise. Fishing is good for the body and spirit. But it has some built-in hazards. Most of them can be avoided.

The most common fishing accident is catching a barbed hook in the flesh, usually a finger or hand, but sometimes a leg or other part of the body. Lures and hooks left unprotected on a dock or on the bottom of a boat cause many of these accidents.

The wise fisherman guards against accidents by shielding the hook. One simple way to do this is to stick a small cork over the barb. Lures should be stored in the tackle box until needed, and returned promptly to the box when removed from the leader.

The band of your favorite fishing hat is, of course, a reasonably safe place to keep lures you intend to use later in the day.

Fly or bait casters are responsible for many hook accidents to their fellow fishermen. Particularly dangerous are the "side-swinders" who cast with a side arm motion rather than overhead. Train yourself to look before each cast to make certain no one is in the way. This will also save lures from snagging on trees and bushes as you cast.

In removing a hook from the fish, hold the fish firmly under the gills, so that its head can't flop or wiggle. A freshly caught fish is slippery and hard to hold. Get a firm grip before dislodging the hook.

If, despite precautions, a hook becomes imbedded in your hand or finger, don't try to pull it out. Your physician will snip off the shank and push it through, thus causing less further damage to torn flesh. The doctor will also, if necessary, administer antibiotics and tetanus toxoid. Hook wounds often lead to infection unless treated properly.

Fishing is fun. A fish hook through the hand can spoil the day. With care it can be avoided.

Retirement Security Needs Early Planning

Plans for financial security during retirement should be developed during the young and middle years, says Leota C. Lane, family life specialist with Texas A&M University.

It is important to remember, however, that a sum of money which would be considered adequate for retirement living by today's standards will probably be less than adequate a few years from now. The specialist points out that it is important to consider the effects of inflation when making financial plans for retirement.

"In planning for retirement, a person should strive for two basic objectives: to be happy during retirement, and to have enough money, property, or income to make it possible to be happy," says Elvin F. Donaldson and John K. Pfahl in their book "Personal Finance." According to these finance experts, too many people wait until retirement to think about the problem of their family's finances. They offer the following suggestions for realistic financial planning for the later years. "Most male adults in the United States have savings accounts of one kind or another and carry some form of life insurance. Also, the majority of them either own or have substantial equity in their homes. Many own U.S. Savings bonds. These are, of course, the types of investments that should be made first."

"There is another form of investment that should be considered by people with sufficient capital and earning power—stocks. The statement is often made that more people lose money than make money in stocks. Successful investment in stocks can be enjoyed by those who select a well-diversified list of the more promising stocks, and who hold on to them for a long period of time, say ten or twenty years." It has also been said that an individual should never invest more money in the stock market than he can afford to lose, and Miss Lane suggests this as a guideline for determining how much of one's retirement income should be invested in stocks.

Families also need an emergency fund to fall back on in case of an accident, sickness, temporary loss of job, or a financial loss. This is needed both before and during retirement.

$3000 Fellowships Won By Six Extension Workers

Three men and three women employed by the Cooperative Extension Service of six state land-grant universities are successful candidates for a $3,000 4-H Fellowship administered through the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago. All six were former 4-H Club members and are presently working with 4-H youth.

The fellow recipients will spend the last week of August in Chicago visiting the National 4-H Service Committee headquarters and Chicago-based 4-H award program sponsors before going to Washington, D.C. for a year of graduate study in the U.S. Department of Agriculture school and in nearby universities.

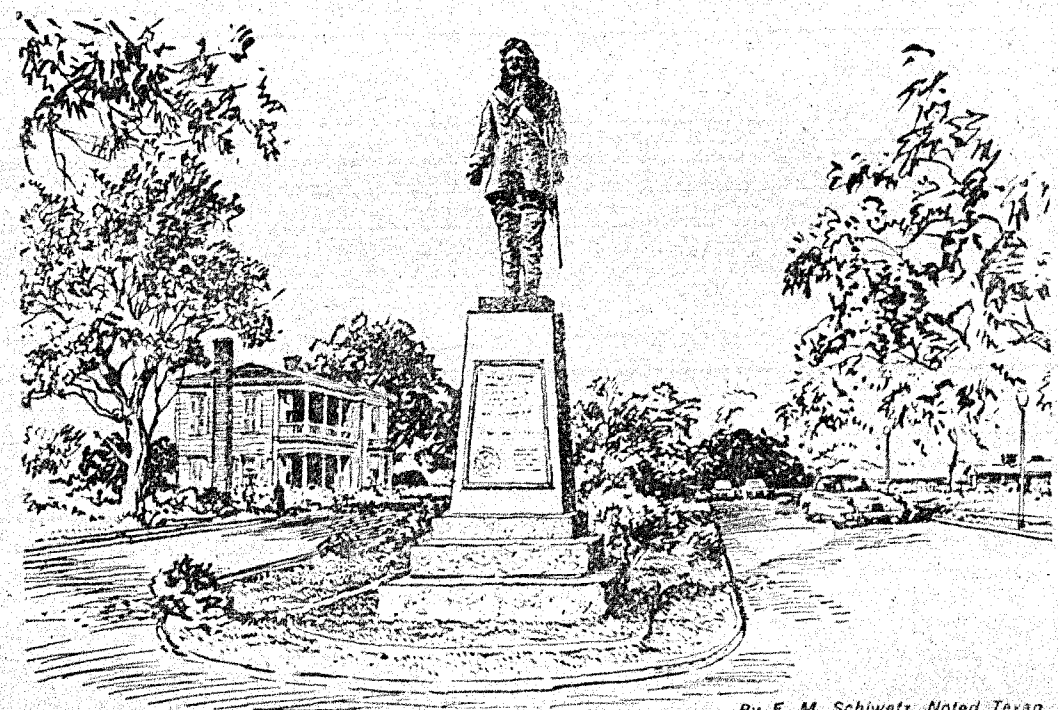

The grants are offered annually to men and women with one or more years of extension experience, and who have been 4-H members for at least two years. Finalists are selected by a scholarship selection committee composed of extension personnel.

LA SALLE MONUMENT
 Navasota

SIEUR de LA SALLE: "His was the restless spirit, the inquisitive urge to explore strange lands and uncharted seas . . ."

He set out to reach far horizons which held more lure than the glint of gold. Tossing aside a life of wealth and ease, he chose the wild, adventurous, unexplored New World.

On his third voyage to establish a fortified post on the Gulf of Mexico, he met death at the hands of mutinous men of his own party.

The La Salle monument was erected at Navasota near the site where many believe the assassination took place.

Thus, though the enterprise ended in failure and death, it strengthened France's claim to a greater part in the New World.

WE CAN SHARE IN NEW HORIZONS!

The average citizen can take part in the present exploration of new worlds and the wonders of the new space age by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds. Maybe we can't all be astronauts, explorers, conquerors of the unknown, but our dollars invested in Savings Bonds help make it possible for others to "explore strange lands and uncharted seas."

Ideas For House Improvement In Correspondence Course

University Park, Pa. — Many families rate the kitchen as the most lived-in room of the house. Because the kitchen has this status, it should be attractive, efficient and well-lighted, and have equipment conveniently arranged.

Perhaps you're thinking of improving your most lived-in room. Give serious thought and study to planned changes although you may not make all of them at once.

To guide you in your planning, The Pennsylvania State University has an excellent and interesting correspondence course, "Improving House and Grounds," has suggestions for convenient arrangements for equipment and ways to make the best use of existing storage areas.

Besides ideas for indoor improvements, the course has information on improvement and maintenance of the lawn and the planting of shrubs, trees, and flowers.

5 Per Cent Dull Good Park Image

State park patrons generally have become a more considerate type and have improved on their outdoor manners, even as affects littering, but the "usual five per cent" still keeps maximum pressure on neat premises, according to a veteran parks manager, Bill Dickinson, husky superintendent at popular Inks Lake State Park near Burnet.

Dickinson is the optimistic type, dating back to survival of a World War II Marine battle that cost him a leg. But he does believe people simply have been impressed with appeals to take their own good breeding on their outdoor recreational trips.

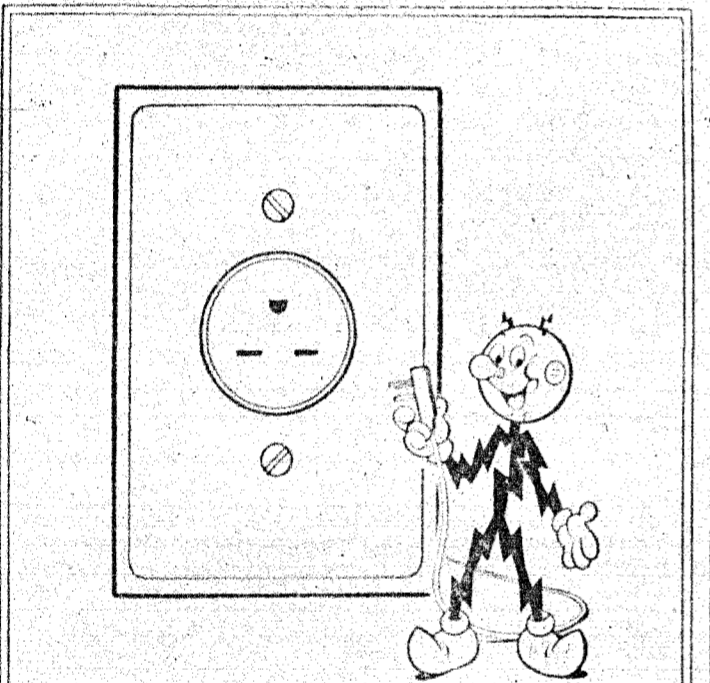

"The least of his troubles is the camping area," he said. "Campers simply are neater. They use the containers placed at handy locations. The seasoned camper just doesn't want to be caught being untidy. And the new ones catch on mighty fast."

Young Families Have Sizeable Stake In Social Security Pay

Why should a man with a wife and young children concern himself with anything that seems as far away as social security?

"Social security is not just a retirement program, and it is not just for old people," answers R. R. Tuley, Jr., social security district manager. A new booklet, "Social Security Information for Young Families," tells why a young worker should be concerned.

Social security survivor protection can amount to over $75,000 in benefits if the breadwinner in a young family dies, he pointed out.

Disability insurance is the other social security program of particular importance to the young worker. After just five years of work under social security, the worker and his family are eligible to receive monthly benefit payments of up to $368.00. If he should become severely disabled with a condition expected to last a year or longer.

Tuley said that the new booklet explains in detail the survivors and disability protection for a family.

Mobs, Riots and Destruction Must Not Be Tolerated

BY JOHN EDGAR HOOVER, Director FBI

Crimes of violence, such as forcible rape, murder, aggravated assault, etc., which increase sharply during the long, hot months, are no longer the only major crime problem of many communities each summer. Some areas are haunted by an equally grave danger—riots and anarchic demonstrations which leave devastation and ruin in their wake.

This danger places a tremendous burden on law enforcement. Already hampered by understaffed staffs, police authorities are forced to marshal their strength in expected trouble spots and leave other neighborhoods without proper police protection. Nevertheless, responsible police officials recognize, as do all right-thinking Americans, that all citizens have an undeniable right to petition and demonstrate for causes they support. In fact, enforcement officers spend much of their time protecting and guarding marchers and petitioners.

However, police officials, as well as the general public, are becoming weary of persons who, for self-aggrandizement and monetary gain, exploit noble causes and agitate peaceful groups into rioting mobs. Some so-called leaders seem to "blow hot and cold with the same breath." Their preachments are beginning to have a hollow ring. They claim to support nonviolence, but do they? For instance, to publicly pinpoint certain cities where riots and violence may occur seems to be inconsistent with the doctrine of nonviolence. Rather, it is more like an open invitation to hotheads and rabble rousers in those areas to move into action once. It puts them on notice that they are expected to riot. Where are the reason and judgment in this type of leadership?

In the past, law enforcement, with rare exception, has met its responsibilities during riots and disorders in an exemplary manner. Some police officers have been killed and many have been assaulted, abused, and maligned for no greater sin than enforcing the law. However, I am sure that the public, every man, woman, and child regardless of his station in life, can rely upon responsible law enforcement to discharge its duties of protecting the lives, liberty, and property of all citizens.

Local, county and city authorities should speak out and let everyone know that law and order will prevail. They must support the enforcement of law and make it abundantly clear that mobs, riots, and senseless destruction will not be tolerated. And, too, all Americans must remember that under our system of government there can be no true liberty for one unless there is liberty for all. Lincoln once said, "There is no grievance that is a fit subject of redress by mob law." This is an ageless maxim. The lawful way is the only way to secure equal right, liberty and justice for all citizens.

Texas Baptists Entering New Study Emphasis

Texas Baptists are entering into a new massive evangelistic thrust through an increased emphasis on Bible study, expected to flow over into the lives of 11 million people.

The thrust, according to Charles P. McLaughlin, will follow the Baptist General Convention of Texas' 1963 theme, "The Bible — The Foundation for Ministry." McLaughlin is secretary of the State Missions Commission of the 13-million member BGCT.

The tremendous Bible emphasis thrust is a partial result of this year's BGCT Sunday School Convention in Corpus Christi which attracted upwards of 3,000 Baptists as well as representatives of other denominations.

McLaughlin said that 3,931 Southern Baptist churches in Texas with an enrollment of 1,169,000, will be challenged by 100,000 Sunday School teachers and officers to improve Bible studying in their classes.

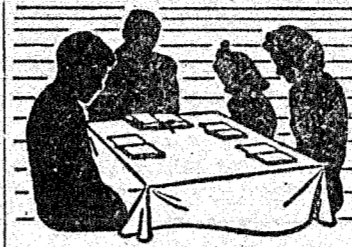

Four major objectives in the program were told by the state denominational leader. They include launching a concentrated effort among the 11 million Texas population to create a strong appreciation of Bible study in the Sunday School, to assist all Texas Baptist churches to enroll more people of all ages in Sunday School, to assist Texas Baptist Sunday School workers to improve Bible teaching and to lead Sunday School workers to win converts to Jesus Christ as Saviour. The Sunday School Department is a unit of the State Missions Commission.

Read I Peter 2:1-10

You are a chosen race, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, God's own people, that you may declare the wonderful deeds of him who called you out of darkness into his marvelous light (I Peter 2:9, RSV).

We have read and heard about the church gathered and the church scattered. We should never forget the importance of the witness of the church when the members go out into the community to live the faith.

The clarity and strength of this witness, however, depend to a large extent on the spiritual strength received by the church when it assembles as a worshipping community.

As a worshipping church, we give thanks to God, confess our sins, and receive forgiveness, hear the Word proclaimed, and rededicate ourselves to the work of the kingdom. Through corporate worship, the church as the body of Christ better understands its mission in the world, and receives light and inspiration for carrying out that mission.

PRAYER:

Our Father, hallowed be Thy name. As we humble ourselves to worship Thee, speak to us. Help us to keep our hearts and minds open so that Thou canst enlighten us. Grant us patience that we may learn to wait for Thy word to us. In Thy Son's name we ask these things. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY:
By gathering to worship, we are better representatives of Christ wherever we go.

FISH STRIPS FOR PORK RINDS

White strips cut from the belly of a fish are as effective fishgetters as pork rind. Like pork rind, you can store the fish strips in a saline solution.

CHECK BOAT FENDERS

Use extra care with cork filled, canvass covered boat fenders. They pick up a lot of moisture. If left hanging against the boat, they will rot wood and stain fiberglass.

MITTENS WARMER

In cold weather wear a finger glove on your trigger hand and a mitten on the other. Mitten allows fingers to touch and normally warm each other.

FARM CHEMICALS

BUY BONDS!

Sometimes it seems the job is 50% walking, 50% waiting, and 50% fighting. It's tough, tiring work. But these brave men believe in it. A majority of our servicemen overseas are helping to pay the bill for freedom through regular purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds. Would you like to show these men their sacrifice is appreciated? You do it—and you walk a bit taller—when you buy Bonds where you bank or join the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

U.S. Savings Bonds

Bond facts: Savings Bonds pay you back $4 for every $3 at maturity in only seven years... are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen... have special tax advantages... can be redeemed whenever the need arises.
