Mountain Echoes

By Barbara

One way to know whether or not our readers enjoy articles or features is to omit it for a week. At least that's the way we know so very many people are enjoying "Bless This Mess", by Billie Wheatley.

The absence of the clever home-like column completely ruined the week for one of our readers, she said, and we admit there was a void in the issue of the NEWS!

Billie (or should we call her "Mrs Mess") was busy canning and freezing fruits and vegetables and just did not have time for literary pursuits last week!

Nearly everyone we see is busy "putting up" produce. After a slow start with gardens, there's corn, peas, peaches and others in abundance (if you know the right people!)

You can readily recognize a peach-peeler by the dark cuticles and stained hands!

Our attention was called to the attractive flower boxes along the sidewalk at the apartment complex. Some of the downtown planter boxes need attention, others are always in perfect order.

TMA Tackles Doctor Supply Problem

The Texas Medical Association is working hard to solve the state's physician supply problem, a medical executive has said. Coleman County is better off than some other parts of the state although the area still could use more physicians.

Coleman County has a ratio of about one physician for every 1,980 persons, which is about 2 1/2 times the state's ratio, said C. Lincoln Williston, executive director of the Texas Medical Association. The state's ratio is approximately one doctor for 780 people. One factor that helps Coleman County is that there is approximately one general practitioner for every 2,000 people, the ratio recommended by the American Academy of Family Physicians. This type of physician plays a vital role in less populated areas by providing many types of services.

The Texas Medical Association (TMA) is working on the physician supply problem by fighting the malpractice insurance crisis, encouraging more doctors to settle in smaller towns, and expanding medical education opportunities, Williston said. He spoke Tuesday at a meeting in Coleman sponsored by the Overall-Morris Memorial Hospital.

Williston said a statewide TMA survey shows more than half of Texas doctors have had to cut back some services due to the threat of malpractice suits. Skyrocketing malpractice insurance costs are discouraging young doctors already faced with high costs of establishing a practice. Many older physicians are retiring early because they cannot afford huge premiums, especially if they limit their practices. "Obviously it is the patient and the public who ultimately must bear the burden of the high cost of insurance," Williston said.

In addition to working on the malpractice insurance mess, TMA is encouraging doctors to settle in rural areas. Last year TMA sponsored a bill which provides funds for medical students who agree to practice in counties with 25,000 or fewer people, Williston said. TMA also is working with the National Health Service Corps, a group that assigns volunteers for two years to counties with no physicians. Additional activities include operating an active placement service and encouraging local groups to work to attract physicians' spouses.

RETURNED HOME

Karla Kuykendall spent the past week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Balke. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kuykendall of San Antonio, came for her Wednesday and spent several days before returning to their home.

Karla enjoyed bass fishing with her grandfather and was successful in catching some nice ones while here.

IT'S A FACT!

The most expensive school in the world appears to be the Oxford Academy in New Jersey. A private prep school for boys, it has 47 pupils who are taught individually by 15 instructors at an annual tuition of $8,400.

A "school" that pays its pupils while it prepares them is the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve which offers opportunities to learn a specialty while earning up to $2,700 annually for one weekend a month and two weeks a year of training. GOOD NEWS

By WRIGHT PRICE, Pastor

One of the greatest causes of depression and unhappiness is uncertainty about the future.

It is true that we cannot see even one step into the future; but the good news of God for the Christian is that "He goes before him, to make the crooked places straight; to destroy the barriers of brass, and to give him treasure and secret riches hidden in the darkness." Isa. 45:2-3.

The Christian is called by Jesus "out of the darkness into his marvelous light." 1 Peter 2:9.

This security, deliverance and unspeakable joy is available for all; simply by coming to Jesus for salvation and making him Lord of your life. Jn. 6:37. "He is light and in him is no darkness at all." 1 Jn. 1:5.

Come Worship Him With Us.

By Billie Wheatley

Dear Santa Claus,

I hope you will forgive me for taking up your time so early in the year. It isn't that I'm trying to get ahead of everybody else, and I certainly wouldn't want you to get the idea that I'm greedy. It's just that I have a short memory and if I wait until December I'll forget to ask for this marvelous thing that I want.

A fellow sufferer told me about it. She says it works to beat sixty on the yellow ones. Santa, dear Santa, please bring me a black eyed pea sheller for Christmas.

Sir, did you know that it takes 2000 little peas to fill a quart jar, and it takes 7 quart jars to fill my cooker. That's 14,000 little peas. It takes two big buckets of peas brought from the garden to make the seven quarts. Santa, that's a lot of peas, and when you remember that there are only 12 little peas to each pod it's enough to stagger the mind.

It would break my heart if you brought me this which I desire and then made me give it back when you found out that I hadn't been honest with you, so let me confess that I haven't been as good a girl as I should have been.

Santa, I was cutting the grass and I ran over a big rock with my husband's brand new lawn mower. Worse yet, I didn't even tell him. Also, I've fed the poor man sandwiches so many times this year that I'm truly ashamed of myself. I wish I could say that except for the above mentioned I've been a good girl, but not so, not so. Santa, I doubted him. You see, he had to rebuild the engine in his pickup, and when I saw all the many parts scattered all over the place, I just knew that when he put it back together he would have some left overs. Sir, would you believe he got every piece back where it belonged, and it started all by itself. I didn't even have to pull him off.

Please take into consideration that I'm not asking for anything like a new fur coat. In fact, a coat hasn't crossed my mind all week. The pea sheller will do just fine. If you happen to have any extra jar lids that are guaranteed to seal you might drop a couple of boxes in my sock.

Thank you Santa. I Love You. P.S. If you have anything that will remove this yellow stain from my fingers please bring that too. I am tired of being asked if I've taken up cigar smoking.

THE MAIL BOX

Dear Editor:

Most people don't know there is a priest in the Seventh-day Adventist Church. This priest is Jesus Christ. Most Christians would be surprised if they read their Bibles and found that Christ is engaged in the work of being a High Priest right now in heaven. It's all outlined in the New Testament book of Hebrews.

Adventists believe in the time-honored Protestant doctrine of the priesthood of all believers—that all Christians have equal access of God's grace simply by believing. That is why there are no earthly "Priests" or intercessors in the Adventist Church or any other Protestant denomination.

But Christ is alive in heaven, and is our real mediator between God and man. He represents us and hears our confessions of sin and our pleas for mercy.

It behooves each of us to take advantage of this most wonderful privilege of having Christ intercede for us, that we may be ready for salvation when He comes again.

Sincerely,
(Signed) A. L. Swanson

VISIT GRANDPARENTS

Alice and Mike Gilbert of Houston are spending the week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gilbert. They are the children of Daniel and Linda Gilbert.

My news is scarce this week for the reason I forgot to collect news, and it is past bedtime. So just forgive me this time.

On July 20th Mr. and Mrs. Tom Vinson left their home here in a new Cadillac, driving to Scottsdale, Arizona where they delivered the new car to their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Tom Berry. They spent the weekend in Las Vegas, Nevada and Mr. Vinson told me everyone should during their life time go to Las Vegas Nevada. The Vinson's had a wonderful time.

Dates and regulations for the fall dove hunting season were to be set last week by Texas Parks and Wildlife Commissioners as they met July 29 and 30 in Austin.

Among items to be studied were amendments to migratory game bird seasons, bags and shooting hours for morning doves.

Although dates and regulations for deer, turkey and quail hunting had been set earlier, the dove season was yet to be decided. Former dates have been from September 1 to October 15 or 30.

Hunters may expect a good supply of doves in this area as there is good cover and vegetation throughout the area, and plentiful supply of water.
