Moscow Leaders Reported In Chaos

BERLIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—Soviet Russia's power to resist has been destroyed, her last fully able armies have been shattered everywhere and her leadership is in chaos, the Germans reported today. With new steel rings forged around 60 to 70 Russian divisions in the vast offensive with Moscow as its prime goal which Adolf Hitler ordered to crush Russia before the winter...

Russian civilians were now reported fighting shoulder-to-shoulder with Red army soldiers to stem the Nazi smash toward Moscow. A German pilot said snow was falling behind the front lines, spreading a thin layer over the Russian steps. "The German command is throwing into the battle division after division," a Soviet bulletin said. "Our units are putting up fierce resistance to the fascist troops and are striking heavy blows at the enemy."

Strikes Stop Work On Big Defense Jobs

By The Associated Press The Buffalo (N. Y.) Forge company, busy with $18,470,000 in defense orders, was struck today by CIO steel workers in a dispute over higher wages, bargaining conferences and reinstatement of three discharged union men. The steel workers organizing committee, claiming a majority of the plant's 1,500 employees, called the walkout 24 hours after authorization vote of 887 to 87. Union sources said their wage demands were a 10-cent increase in the present basic scale of 44 to 50 cents an hour. Construction of the government's $8,000,000 San Jacinto (Texas) ordnance depot was at a standstill today because of an AFL strike, but some progress was achieved toward settlement of a similar strike at an $11,000,000 ordnance project near Texarkana, in the same state. Another AFL strike threatened to halt steel making at the south's largest mill, near Birmingham, Ala. Work on the San Jacinto job stopped when several hundred workers walked out. A spokesman for the AFL Teamsters Union said the contractors had refused to recognize the local as bargaining agent. Officials of the construction company declared that only 5 per cent of the employees belonged to the Teamsters Union. At the Texarkana project, where AFL Building Trades Union workers have been on strike for three days, representatives of the strikers accepted a settlement formula proposed by Bryce P. Holcombe, a U. S. labor conciliator. The contracting firm asked additional time to study the plan, which calls for a check of payroll records to determine whether a majority of the company's 3,000 workers were union members. The union was reported to have asked the company to provide an arrangement under which non-union workers would have to pay a certain sum for a job. A complete halt in steel making operations was threatened by a strike at the vast Fairfield Steel Mills of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company near Birmingham. AFL electricians and machinists struck there last night, closing manufacturing units. A spokesman said the strike was called because the CIO steel workers organizing committee had established a card inspection line outside the plant and had refused to permit anyone but CIO members to enter. He added that the AFL unions had petitioned the national labor board for a collective bargaining agency election, and had agreed to remain at work if no additional CIO card inspections were allowed.

Eastern Air Raid Spotters Get Practice

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—Five minutes before the eastern seaboard's elaborate air raid spotting test began officially at 8 a. m. (EST) today a triad of fighter planes appeared off Asbury Park, N. J., and set the network—primarily but successfully—tingling with warnings to the military. The three planes—it was undetermined whether for the sake of the test they were enemy bombers or friendly fighters—caught the great New York interceptor board unprepared. But in one-half minute the chief operator, having seen the signal light flash five minutes prematurely put on her headphones, adjusted warning plugs and sent out the warning. It was the beginning of quick flights of roaring bombers and lightning-fast fighter planes from Massachusetts to North Carolina in the army's effort to determine the efficiency of the air force and some 40,000 civilian air raid spotters. The maneuvers were the most widespread ever undertaken in the United States in the interest of air efficiency and defense, and will continue through Oct. 15. At New York City's big filter boat, 600 volunteer women received reports of civilian spotters and charted positions of the planes with flashing lights and other devices. Arias Accused Of Pro-Nazi Leanings

PANAMA, Panama, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Arnulfo Arias fled the country by airplane at 5:30 a. m. Tuesday in such strict secrecy that his departure was not disclosed until today when a successor was sworn in. Neither his motives for leaving the country nor events leading up to the sudden development were clear but the country was quiet. Although no official reason was given for Arias' departure political circles said that pressure had been brought against him by political opponents. His foes accused him of being anti-American and pro-Nazi and were said to have feared that his nationalist policies might jeopardize the country's relations with the United States. On the surface, there was no indication that other than internal policies were in the background of the president's flight. The supreme court of Panama today swore in Ernesto Taen Guardia, second vice president of Panama, who is reputed to favor collaboration with the United States, as acting head of the government. The Arias regime, in office about one year, recently had refused to allow ships flying the flag of Panama to be armed. Many ships under Panama registry are carrying United States war aid to Great Britain. Arias was said to have flown to Barranquilla, Colombia, in a Pan-American-Grace Airways plane and since he had reached Cienfuegos, Cuba. One report said he surrounded his departure with utmost secrecy, using his mother's maiden name, forbidding disclosure that he had left and falling to designate a temporary successor. (Arias was reported in Havana to have been in the Cuban capital incognito since yesterday morning, using the name "Am. Madria," his mother's name. Neither how he reached there nor his present whereabouts were known.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Secretary Hull, asked whether he could confirm reports of a coup d'etat in Panama, said today he was aware of reports that something was happening there but as yet had obtained nothing tangible. Hull intimated the state department might have something later in the day. The reporter who asked for confirmation said there were reports of a political upheaval in the republic which borders this country's Panama Canal. Asked whether it would be correct to say the United States would view gravely such an upset was indicated in the coup d'etat reports, Hull said that would be a matter relating to the whole Pan-American hemisphere defense movement. He would prefer, therefore, he said, not to pass judgment on the situation in any particular country at this time.

MYSTERY: How Did Adolf Get Frank's Letter To Joe?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—The White House shared public mystification today on how the German government learned what was in a letter President Roosevelt sent Premier Stalin, promising Russia aid against Germany. Stephen Early, presidential secretary, said this government did not know how it happened, but "the significant thing is the use the Germans tried to make of the letter." (The published German version had the salutation and conclusion in friendly, personal phrases.) Early added there was no reason why the letter should not have been released generally in Moscow since it was not regarded here as "confidential." The official German news agency, DNB, raised the curtain on the mystery in Berlin yesterday by distributing the proposed text of Mr. Roosevelt's communication. Some time later the White House released the text here, and invited a comparison of it with the version that DNB was circulating. "When such a comparison is made," the White House statement said, "the propaganda objectives of the Nazi action become very clear." A comparison disclosed that the wording of the body of both texts was identical, except for an occasional phrase here and there in the DNB version—and such variations were reported to be due largely to translation. There were two very pointed differences, however. Where the salutation in the White House text was "My Dear Mr. Stalin," the unofficial translation of DNB's version had it "My Dear Friend Stalin." Similarly with the conclusion—"Yours very sincerely" for the White House, and "Yours in friendship" for DNB. The White House apparently referred to these differences when it spoke of Nazi "propaganda objectives." But the capital was curious about where Berlin got its knowledge of the contents of the letter, which was delivered to Stalin about 10 days ago by Averell Harriman, head of the American aid mission to Moscow. DNB said it had acquired the letter from the most reliable quarters, but it did not say how. There was a belief in some quarters that the Germans somehow got hold of the text in this country and transmitted it in code to Berlin via South America. But, as far as could be learned, the only known sources here would be the White House, where the letter is believed to have been written about three weeks ago, and the state department, which probably received a copy of the message.

Camp Bowie Men Receive Furloughs

BROWNWOOD, Oct. 9 (AP)—A steady stream of Camp Bowie soldiers moved homeward today on after-maneuver furloughs. The departures started yesterday after the 26th division, observing organization day, formed by regiments and faced west at 11 a. m. in tribute to fallen comrades of the World War. Major Carl E. Nesbitt, former adjutant general of Texas, was the first officer of the 26th to be affected by the new gas regulations. He was transferred to non-combat duty and ordered to the adjutant general's office in Washington.

New Law Pinches Ticket Scalpers

AUSTIN, Oct. 9 (AP)—Pity the poor football ticket-scalper this season! For the first time in Texas history, he faces the prospect of a year in jail and a $500 fine besides. It's a new state law, folks, that prohibits the sale of, or attempts to sell, tickets to sports events, amusements or other forms of entertainment, at prices in excess of the duosite face value. And the statute exempts no one.

Farmers Urged To Save More Pigs

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 9 (AP)—Texas farmers were urged today by the Texas USDA defense board to save 15 per cent more pigs out of 1941 fall litters and 17 per cent more from litters next spring in a campaign for food production for defense. As it set tentative production goals yesterday and considered plans to enlist farmers in the campaign, the board also urged production of more peanuts for oil in 1942. ### Traffic Toll Nears Record

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. (AP)—Studying a mounting traffic toll for the first nine months of the year, State Police Director Homer Garrison, Jr., today said Texas motorists may set a record in 1941—a record for killing more people than they've ever killed before.

"Each month has shown a steady increase in the number of deaths over last year," Garrison observed. "In August the increase amounted to 11 per cent. The count for September is not yet complete, but already there is an increase over September of last year. The complete total for nine months is likely to show an overall gain of as much as 23 per cent."

"Mathematically, this rate of progression would result at the year's end in an increase of 30 per cent. That would mean 2,100 deaths, or approximately 30 more than the 2,043 deaths which set an all-time record in bloody 1937."

Rose Festival In Tyler Underway

TYLER, Oct. 9.—The ninth annual Texas rose festival began today with tours of rose fields and the opening of a rose show.

On hand were princesses from 24 states, one from Mexico, and many from Texas; cities to grace the crowning tonight of Miss Elizabeth Calhoun as Queen of the Festival.

The festival, which continues through Sunday, will include the annual football game—this year a meeting of Southern Methodist university and the College of the Pacific.

Prehistoric Bones From Howard County On Display In Museum

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. (AP)—The skull of a 175,000,000-year-old reptilian phytosaur, taken from Howard county has joined the exhibits at Texas Memorial museum here.

The body of the reptile, an ancestor to the crocodile, measures 15 feet and lack of museum space permitted display of the skull only.

The skeleton was discovered by University of Texas and WPA geologists.

Dr. E. H. Sellards, museum director, explained the phytosaur lived in the swamps of West Texas during the period when dinosaurs were just getting under way.

Crews working under the direction of Dr. Sellards have made extensive excavations in the Chalk and Wild Horse creek areas of Howard county in seeking remains of prehistoric monsters. For years bones of these creatures have been unearthed and the local museum contains some fossils of massive animals. Two years ago bones of a mastodon were unearthed within the city limits. Several years ago jaw and tusk of a mastodon were encountered near Coshoma and several finds have been made along Wild Horse creek and in the red bed section around Chalk.

Scientists Work On Cotton Roads Again

ATLANTA, Oct. 9. (AP)—Roads made partly from cotton unraveled from a giant spool may help untangle one of the south's knottiest agricultural problems—the huge cotton surplus.

Scientists are at work developing a tough, wear-resisting fibre netting made of cotton and fabricated for use in road-building. Other experiments are under way that would have roads laid together with good old fashioned molasses, surfaced with farm waste, and treated with soybean oil.

Cotton roads popped into the news a few years ago when the department of agriculture sponsored a nationwide effort to use up surplus stocks of low-grade cotton. A coarse netting of cotton was unraveled from a big spool at the rear of a truck, alternating with layers of asphalt, rock and other materials forming a "road" for gravel roads.

City Removes Old Wood Bridges On San Antonio Street

Three wooden bridges which hump over drainage ditches on San Antonio street are being removed.

They will be replaced by dips, said E. J. McDaniel, city manager. Those who have been funnelled through the narrow confines of the structures near the baseball park will remember the narrow bridges well.

Other work now underway includes the marking of streets around schools and the remarking of streets in certain downtown areas.

At the airport the caliche on the east-west runway is all in with the exception of the intersection area, last to be prepared.

There is an acute shortage of domestic servants in Germany, the Department of Commerce reported.

Bullets Follow Farewell Kiss For Lost Lover

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—A farewell kiss and three revolver shots marked the end of a five-year romance in Brooklyn today.

The girl, a 24-year-old factory worker, was accused of shooting her sweetheart while kissing him goodbye in a darkened hallway shortly after midnight because he had told her he had found another girl.

While the young man, Gus Scaletta, 27, a navy yard welder, was receiving blood transfusions for critical abdomen wounds, the girl was booked on a charge of felonious assault and unlawful possession of a weapon.

Patrolmen Hubert Montella and Joseph Manso said they found her holding his head in her lap and sobbing: "I shot him. He was going to leave me."

At the hospital, the wounded man's sister, Mrs. Carrie Delaso told police that Scaletta whispered to her: "Please don't be too hard on Mary. I won't talk against her."

Attendants said his condition was critical.

German-Turkish Treaty Concluded

BERLIN, Oct. 9. (AP)—Conclusion of a German-Turkish trade treaty involving 200,000,000 reichs marks (nominally $50,000,000) on each side was announced officially today. It will run until March 31, 1942.

A spokesman said that the pact, signed today at Ankara, called on Germany to send war material and iron and steel products in return for Turkish exports of raw materials, principally cotton, tobacco, olive oil and minerals.

Dr. Karl Cudinus, Berlin economic expert, and the Turkish Foreign Minister Sukru Saracoglu signed the treaty.

Texas Receives 29 Millions In Cotton Parity Payments

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—The agricultural department reported today that the Texas portion of $205,534,629 in parity payments to farmers for 1940 was $29,400,000.

Administrative costs brought the aggregate of payments nationally to $210,005,151, the department said.

Parity payments are made to adjust the difference between actual and parity prices. The distribution was shared by producers of corn, cotton, wheat, and rice who participated in the 1940 program in 48 states and Hawaii.

Lumbermen To Convene Here October 20

Big Spring lumbermen will be hosts the evening of October 20 to members of the Lumbermen's Association of Texas from the 27th district.

Plans for entertainment of the group were made at a meeting Wednesday afternoon, and S. P. Jones was named local chairman.

The program will include a banquet at the Settles hotel, brief business session, and dance. Principal business will be to get acquainted with priorities rulings and lumber problems brought about by the defense crisis.

Speakers will include C. R. Burrow, Plainview, president of the state organization; Gene Ebberson, Houston, state secretary; A. B. Sammons, Fort Worth, state membership chairman; and C. A. Moffett, Seattle, representative of the red cedar shingle bureau.

The district extends from Abilene to Pecos and from Lubbock to San Angelo.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, Oct. 9. (AP)—(USDA)—Cattle: 3,900 calves 2-300; cows strong, calves opened steady, closing weak to lower, other classes about steady; common and medium beef steers and yearlings 6.00-9.50, good kind 10.00-11.00, choice scarce; beef cows 6.25-8.00 few to 8.50, bulls 6.00-7.75; good fat calves 9.00-10.50, common and medium lots 7.00-8.50, good and choice stocker steer calves 10.00-12.00, common and medium 6.50-10.00.

Hogs: 1,400; most butchers 10c lower than Wednesday's average; top 10.75; good and choice 10.20-10.75; packing sows steady, mostly 9.25-10, few 9.75; pigs 25c lower, most stocker pigs 8.25 down.

Wool Market

BOSTON, Oct. 9. (AP)—(USDA)—The Boston wool market was more active today. A number of manufacturers who were awarded contracts for government defense needs were taking up their options on wools. Others, who had not completely covered their requirements, were purchasing graded wools in Boston sufficient to cover their immediate needs. Sales included graded French-combing fine territory wools at $1.05 to $1.07, scoured basis, for average to good lengths and at $1.03 to $1.05 for average to short wools. Graded three-eighths blood-combing territory wools brought 94 to 86 cents, scoured basis, and sales of half-blood staple-combing territory wools were reported at $1.03 to $1.05 scoured basis.

Grain

CHICAGO, Oct. 9. (AP)—Weakness principally by Russian war news, grain prices lost more than 2 cents a bushel in some cases today, retreating to the lowest levels for the past few weeks.

Stop loss selling in late trading added to pressure upon prices. All grains also were depressed by scarcity of terminal market storage space, which tended to limit demand from commercial and industrial interests. Larger receipts in the northwest, despite the shortage of space, attracted attention.

Wheat closed 1 3-4 1-4 cents lower than yesterday, December $1.18 5-8-1-2, May $1.23 5-8-3-4; corn 1 5-8-1-4 down, December 77 3-4, May $2 1-4; oats 1 1-2-1-2 1-2 lower; rye 2 3-4-3-4 down; soybeans 2-3 1-2 lower and hard 40 to 55 cents per hundredweight lower.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9. (AP)—Cotton futures closed steady 6 to 7 points net lower.

Texas To Produce 3 Million Bales

AUSTIN, Oct. 9. (AP)—Based to Oct. 1 conditions, Texas will have a 1941 cotton crop of 2,900,000 bales, the U. S. agricultural marketing service forecast today.

This forecast compares with 2,294,000 bales produced in 1940, and 2,746,000 bales the 10-year (1930-1939) average number of bales produced in Texas. The indicated lint yield per acre is 170 pounds, compared with 184 pounds in 1940 and a 10-year average yield of 154 pounds.

Howard County Man Injured In Wreck

W. M. Johnson, Knott route, was receiving treatment at Cowper Clinic and Hospital today for injuries received in an automobile accident six miles north of Big Spring on the Lamasa highway this morning.

Johnson suffered multiple lacerations and shock, which his physician said were not serious, when his car and a truck were in collision.

Twenty Remain AWOL From Local Draft Board List

Twenty men are still AWOL from the Howard county selective service office, Bruce Frazier, chief clerk of the board, announced Friday.

The number still "missing" so far as the board is concerned has been steadily reduced from about 90 through aid of friends or registrars in helping the board get questionnaires to the men.

The registrars listed below have violated provisions of the Selective Service law in that they have failed to keep their local board advised of their correct address," said Frazier. "Their friends can be of assistance to them and the local board by reporting their addresses at room 11, First National bank building in Big Spring or by telephoning number 785.

Although the board made no threats, it was known that the law provides that ultimately the list of "missing" men be turned over to the federal courts for action. In all probability the board will make no announcement of its intentions in this direction, but there were indications that this time it is not far off.

Listed as "missing" were Alton Evans Blount, Russell Owen Eggle, Alejandro Quintana, Anjel Soto, Victor Durward Wood, Ladislao Chaves, Soledad Granados Corrales, Frank Howard, Jr., Esteban Gutierrez, Adrian Allen J. Merrill, Cesarino Chaves, Robert Vesnie Hilda, Woodrow James Matthews and Arthur Leslie Martin, and four negroes, Lee Tinkle Dewarvux, Bill Arthur Reddick, Connie Brown and Leon Shag Mitchell.

Here 'n There

Big Spring may be on its way to a record. Here it is Thursday afternoon—Fire Prevention Week more than half gone—and no fire alarms have been sounded yet. If the city goes through the week without a blaze, it will be the first time in years.

And in this connection, some inspections are being made by the fire department and fire marshal. One garage was instructed to correct a situation in which waste oil was being allowed to run off into a pile of paper and trash.

Dalton Mitchell, local representative of the Great Southern Life Insurance Co., has left for Houston to attend the fifth meeting of the Great Southern club. This is the third time he has qualified for his company's annual conference, based not only on a volume of new business but on the amount of satisfactory renewals. The meeting will continue through Saturday, he said before leaving. Wednesday he was called to Abilene on learning of the death of a cousin, Ruth Moulton.

Priorities Blamed For Bankruptcy

DALLAS, Oct. 9. (AP)—James E. Metcalf, Jr., Corsicana lumber operator and contractor, filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in Federal Judge W. H. Atwell's court today, claiming he had been forced to discontinue work on contracted jobs due to "increase in price of building material and labor."

The contractor listed $22,126 in liabilities and $2,672 in assets. He said he had three buildings under construction, one nearly completed, another half finished and the other only a third finished.

Three Killed In Auto-Truck Crash

FREDERICKSBURG, Oct. 9. (AP)—The death toll rose to three today in an auto-truck crash whose victims were Camp Bowie soldiers returning home on a 15-day furlough.

Corporal Charles Rose, 21, of Kerrville, died at 9 a. m. of injuries suffered in the crash last night 11 miles south of here on the San Antonio highway. Also dead were Privates Paul Grana, 21, and Howard Marler, 23, of Kerrville.

Fifteen Firms To Participate In Exhibition

Fifteen firms have signified their desire to participate in the manufacturing exhibits, which will be a part of the county fair here Oct. 17-21, the industrial committee of the chamber of commerce announced Thursday.

Those pledging exhibits included Darby's Bakery, Mead's Bakery, Vaughn's Sweet Shop, Banner Creamery, Southern Ice, Barry's Bottling, Coca Cola Bottling, Dr. Pepper Bottling, Coaden Petroleum Corp., Big Spring Cotton Oil Co., Logan Hatchery, Hall Awning and Shade Co., West Texas Sand & Gravel, and J. B. Nabors (emulsion brick). Many others were expected to add their names to the list.

Meanwhile, over the county, organization of community displays was being effected. Demonstration and 4-H clubs, too, were getting ready for the affair.

Regional Singing Convention May Be Organized

Efforts to organize a four-congressional district singing convention here Oct. 25-26 will be expanded to include the possible formation of a West Texas association, Paul Attaway, acting vice-president of the host Howard County Singing Convention said Thursday.

Since yielding its regular county convention time in order to assist in the organization of an association to serve the 16th, 17th, 19th and 21st congressional districts, many outside the territory involved have expressed a desire to organize a West Texas association, said Attaway.

Already some 12 to 15 quartets have been pledged for the affair, initial session of which will be held at the Trinity Baptist church on Oct. 25. Size of the crowd then will determine where the meeting will be held the next day.

Territory from which the organization convention will draw will be west of a line running between Fort Worth and Dallas, or west of the boundaries of the East Texas Singing Convention, according to Attaway. He will preside over the convention until some sort of organization is perfected and officials elected.

ITALIANS RAID HAIFA

ROME, Oct. 9. (AP)—Strong formations of Italian bombers carried out a heavy raid on refineries and fuel depots at Haifa, British mandated Palestine, last night, the high command announced today. The communiqué said the planes left huge fires.

Car, Truck Sales Under 1940 Level

DETROIT, Oct. 9. (AP)—Factory sales of cars and trucks in the United States in September totaled 239,000 units, the Automobile Manufacturers' Association estimated today.

The figure compares with 147,800 cars and trucks in August and 265,106 units in September of last year.

One bad book doesn't make it a bad library. You wouldn't destroy the library to get rid of a few bad books.

A similar situation holds in the beer industry. The vast majority of beer retailers operate clean, decent law-abiding establishments. Now and then an occasional "black sheep" retailer turns up who violates the law or permits anti-social conditions.

The Beer Industry is now actively working to eliminate such retailers. We want to protect your right to drink good beer and see right to make it.

We also want to protect the economic benefits of beer. Right here in Texas, beer provides employment for 31,165 persons, supports an annual payroll of $22,076,182 and contributed $2,273,968.64 last year in state taxes.

This state, too, has an important stake in Beer's purchases—from more than 100 industries supplying the brewing industry with materials, equipment and services.

You, too, can help the cause of moderation by (1) patronizing only the reputable places where beer is sold, and (2) reporting any law violation you may observe to the duly constituted authorities.

SPAB Issues Construction Control Rule

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (Sp)

The supply priorities and allocations board issued a sweeping policy decree today forbidding the start of any public or private construction which would use critical materials essential to the nation's defense or to the public health and safety.

The ruling applied, the SPAB announcement said, to power, navigation, and flood control projects, office buildings, post offices, hotels, highways, and even residential construction. Its effect was to suspend such non-essential building for the duration of the emergency, SPAB officials said.

The ruling carried the implication that the priorities division, headed by Donald M. Nelson, by using its priority power to deny materials to projects it considers unessential, could block public works projects approved by congress.

In such a case, it would permit exercise of a virtual veto power to halt action on one project approved by congress while permitting another project contained in the same legislation to go ahead.

The SPAB announcement said the new policy means that two tests will be applied hereafter to every building project:

1—Does this construction involve the use of appreciable quantities of

To relieve Misery of COLD C 66 LIQUID TABLETS SALVE NOSE DROPS COUGH DROPS Try "Rub-My-Tiss"—A Wonderful Linctant such critical materials as steel, copper, brass, aluminum and bronze? 2—Is the construction directly necessary for national defense, or clearly essential for the health and safety of the civilian population?

"If the answer to the first question is 'Yes' and the answer to the second question is 'No' priorities for the critical materials involved will not be issued, the announcement said.

In cases where construction has started and is substantially completed, SPAB said, "efforts will be made to get the critical materials needed to finish the job."

Re-Assembly Luncheon Given By Music Club At First Fall Meeting

A patriotic theme was used in decorations and appointments when the Music Study club held a re-assembly luncheon Wednesday at 1 o'clock at the Settles hotel.

The table was centered with a group of American flags and red, white and blue candies were spaced down the table. Ribbons of the patriotic colors led to place cards made with music staff decorations. Names of members formed the notes on the scales.

A guest speaker, Mrs. Charles Houser of Odessa, reported on the national music club convention in Los Angeles, Calif., this summer. Mrs. Houser is a former Big Spring club member.

Year books were distributed by the committee composed of Mrs. Harry Hurt, Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick, Mrs. Carl Strom.

Mrs. J. H. Parrott reported on the Junior Music Study club and Mrs. J. H. Kirkpatrick on the Juvenile Music club.

The community chorus was discussed and meeting time for next Monday at 7:30 o'clock at the Settles hotel ballroom announced.

The study for the club this year is American music. Others present were Mrs. V. H. Fiewellen, Mrs. A. A. Holmberg, Edith Gay, Mrs. J. P. Kenney, Mrs. Bernard Lamm, Mrs. L. B. McDowell, Mrs. Omar Pitman, Mrs. R. W. Thompson, Mrs. G. H. Wood, Elsie Willis.

Dahlias And Autumn Flowers Decorate Home At Club Party

Dahlias and autumn flowers decorated the home of Mrs. C. E. Manning Wednesday as she entertained the All Around Forty-Two club in her home.

Mrs. Guy Mitchell and Mrs. B. A. Davis were included as guests. Refreshments were served.

Prizes went to Mrs. Mitchell and Mrs. R. C. White. Other members present were Mrs. C. H. Tamplin, Mrs. Marvin Wood, Mrs. Jim Harper, Mrs. D. P. Day, Mrs. M. E. Eyerly, Mrs. E. J. Tatum, Mrs. D. S. Orr, Mrs. R. V. Forestry, and Mrs. Otis Johnson. Mrs. Johnson is to be hostess next Thursday afternoon.

Annual Cooking School To Be Held In Morning At The Ritz Theatre

The annual Cooking School to be held October 20, 21, and 22nd will this year be held at the Ritz theatre in order to provide an easily available meeting spot. Also in deference to clubs and other activities that take place in the afternoon, the school will be conducted during the morning from 9:30 o'clock to 11:30 o'clock.

Lecturer and demonstrator this year will be Mrs. Cora Wilson, recognized home economist and food authority, whose services were secured through the Southern Newspaper features.

The cooking school is sponsored by The Herald, Big Spring business houses and national food manufacturers and is free to the public. Mrs. Wilson will give actual demonstrations from the stage of the theatre at each session. In addition, she will answer any questions, the famous "Question Box" being one of the features of the school.

New cookery secrets, budgeting, how to plan meals, new recipes and household hints, short cuts to economy, how to market properly, new and attractive ways to serve foods, proper kitchen equipment and many other phases of homemaking will be discussed.

Mrs. Wilson declares that the vitality of citizens, civilians as well as soldiers—will be an important factor in seeing us through our present national emergency. She points out that a basic factor in keeping healthy during this period of stress will be meals that are well cooked and high in vitamin content.

Those present were Mrs. W. B. Dunn, Mrs. D. W. Robinson, Mrs. Lloyd Burkhart, Mrs. C. L. West, Mrs. Jake Patterson, Mrs. Walter Gressett, Mrs. Lols O'Barr-Smith, Mrs. Joe B. Hoard, Mrs. Bill Conger, Mrs. G. F. Painter, Mrs. R. H. Jones, Mrs. L. J. Jones, Mrs. Earl Lucas, Mrs. T. R. Camp, Mrs. P. D. Lewis, Mrs. C. E. Conally, Mrs. R. M. Trudwell, Mrs. Cagle Hunt, Mrs. A. ## P.T.A. Hears Report On Finances And Members At Foran

FORAN, Oct. 9 (Sp)—The P.T.A. met Tuesday afternoon in the gymnasium with Mrs. E. N. Baker leading the group singing and Mrs. Bill Coper accompanying at the piano.

Mrs. Walter Russell read the Scripture and a poem stressing her subject of the responsibility of the parent. The year's work was discussed by Mrs. J. D. Leonard and Mrs. Cagle Hunt read minutes of last month's meeting.

A financial report was given by Margaret Jackson. The association now has 80 paid members with the first grade winning the prize for having the most parent members.

Mrs. Lloyd Burkhart, president, conducted the business meeting at which time it was decided to sponsor a Hallow'en carnival to raise funds.

Those present were Mrs. W. B. Dunn, Mrs. D. W. Robinson, Mrs. Lloyd Burkhart, Mrs. C. L. West, Mrs. Jake Patterson, Mrs. Walter Gressett, Mrs. Lols O'Barr-Smith, Mrs. Joe B. # Despite Bumper Crop, French Go Hungry As Germans Send Food To Other Areas

VICHY—In a land of plenty and with a bumper crop, 40,000,000 Frenchmen are hungry today. The prospects for this winter are even worse than last winter. German regulations on French food production for the rest of hungry Europe are so great that France will have to go hungry so hundreds of millions of other Europeans can eat.

France's wheat harvest was almost normal, 260,000,000 bushels. The potato harvest was better than average, about 300,000,000 bushels. The best sugar harvest will be 90 per cent of normal when it is harvested. The olive oil production will be normal, and that means plenty for every Frenchman who likes his salads floating in oil and his fried potatoes well browned.

For the average Frenchman today, however, there is a per capita distribution of one kilogram—2 pounds—of potatoes a month. He also gets one pound of "fat," including animal and vegetable fats, olive oil, butter and margarine. He draws as his monthly ration one pound of sugar, although the national production, if evenly apportioned, would give him five pounds a month. He gets one-half pound of bread a day, despite a national production of wheat which would allow his normal average of 1 1/2 pounds daily.

The rest is France's contribution to the European war order.

By direct and indirect requisitions, Germany continues to draw out of France to feed less than half of France's farm production. This German drain now costs France 14,000 head of cattle every month. At the same time, the practical consequence has been a reduction of meat rations in France from 270 grams per capita per week to about 70 grams once a week.

French wheat is being poured into Spain, Belgium and Holland, where there is a near-famine in bread. French olive oil is being sent into Italy, from French Provence and from Tunisia, to make up for a great shortage of fats in the Italian food rations. French wine stocks are virtually depleted, a month before the new harvest, chiefly as the consequence of German requisitions of 1,500,000,000 quarts of red and white wines for distillation in Germany to produce an alcohol substitute for gasoline as a fuel for tanks and motor transport. The French grape alcohol is mixed with synthetic gasoline in a proportion of 60-40, and makes a powerful motor fuel.

There is a seasonal glut of butter and cheese in the milk producing centers of France, but a corresponding shortage throughout the rest of the country. This is due to a lack of transport. At the armistice, France had left about 300,000 liters of gasoline in the reserve tanks of Bordeaux and Marseilles. All the reserve stock in Le Havre and other northern ports had been destroyed before the surrender.

Despite parsimonious distribution, the stock of more than 300,000 liters has been nearly exhausted. France tried to bargain with Rumania for September deliveries, but Rumania has so many prior orders to fill for Italy, Germany and others that France may not get motor fuel for some time. As a consequence, it becomes increasingly difficult to ship food supplies from one region to another and from one zone to another.

During the August agitation in Paris and occupied France, marked by a long series of sabotage wrecks on French railroads, German occupation authorities tightened the belts of the Paris population as punishment.

The August distribution of potatoes—2 pounds per capita as the month supply—was to have been distributed Aug. 23. On Aug. 21, a German naval ensign was slain in Barbes subway station. The assailant escaped, but the Germans rounded up 7,000 hostages, chiefly Jews. At the same time, the German authorities ordered the potato distribution stopped. By heavy purchases in the Paris central markets, the Allies, the German authorities further deprived Paris of food during the punitive period, and for nearly one week, Paris had no meat, no fish, no fresh vegetables, no butter or eggs. The August potato distribution did not take place that month.

An official explanation for the shortage of food is that stocks are being put away for winter. The government has granted a stocking monopoly to individuals who are alone authorized to buy for stocking. Eggs, butter, potatoes, dried beans and such produce are stored at the farms. Farmers are forbidden to take their produce to market. The monopoly - buyers make the rounds, gather up the great surpluses, and are supposed to stock them for the winter, when they are to be marketed with a supposedly slim margin of benefit for the stocker.

In the meantime, eggs are so scarce that they are rationed at one per person per week. The butter ration amounts to less than one-half of a pound per month. Cheese is rationed at the pro rata share of less than one-half pound per month.

The most unpopular shortage, however, is that of wine and tobacco. Tobacco grows easily in France, but the farmer or city dweller with a garden is forbidden from growing even enough for his own pipe. The state has a tobacco monopoly and secret police prowls around to make sure none is grown clandestinely.

The wine shortage hits the French working classes. The average per capita consumption of a French worker and his family was 10 quarts of wine a week. He is restricted to a pint a week now.

With no butter or cheese, no sausage or "rilletes" to put on his black bread, no wine to quench his thirst, no meat to give him energy, no tobacco for his pipe after dinner, the Frenchman is beginning to feel the pinch of the British

Helen Morgan, Singer, Dies

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (UP)—Helen Morgan, whose name was synonymous with tearful love ballads ever since she starred in Flo Ziegfeld's "show boat" 15 years ago, died last night.

The 41-year-old, torch singer, stricken last month while in Chicago for a theatrical engagement, had been in critical condition since an operation Sept. 25 for removal of the spleen. She was given 13 blood transfusions and had been unconscious for several days.

Her husband, Lloyd Johnson, wealthy Los Angeles automobile dealer whom she married July 27, and her mother, Mrs. Lulu Morgan of High Falls, N. Y., were at her bedside in Henrotin hospital when she died.

British Trawler Sinks Submarine

LONDON, Oct. 9 (UP)—A British trawler, the Lady Shirley, was credited today with shelling and sinking a German submarine in a spirited battle at sea with what the admiralty called a "larger and better equipped adversary."

The admiralty said the gunlayer of the Lady Shirley was killed by machine-gun fire from the U-boat, and his place was taken immediately by an officer.

"After having been hit by several four-inch shells, the U-boat crew held their heads above their heads and shouted that they surrendered," the admiralty announced.

The submarine sank almost immediately and the Lady Shirley rescued 44 survivors, who were taken to Gibraltar as prisoners.

blockade and he, at least, cannot agree with the headlines that the British blockade is a failure and that the continent already has organized its life against the blockade.

Travel Taxes Go On Tonight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (UP)—The cost of travel will go up 5 per cent at midnight tonight because of a new federal tax.

The transportation tax was included in the recent big tax bill, but the effective date was made 10 days later than other excise provisions.

The tax is 5 per cent of the amount paid for passenger travel on a railroad, bus line, air line, ship route. Ordinarily it will not apply to local buses and street cars, because tickets costing less than 25 cents are exempt. Taxicabs are exempt, too, because the tax applies only to transportation over regularly scheduled routes.

Dogs May Be Tethered
VANCOUVER, B. C.—The old-fashioned hitching post may be resurrected here shortly—for tethering dogs. The city council announced that it would ask the British Columbia legislature to ban dogs from stores displaying foodstuffs. Dog owners would be forced to tie up their pets outside before they enter.

Measured from base to summit, rather than by elevation above sea level, Mount McKinley, Alaska, is the highest peak on earth.

Here Are Some Columbus Day Recipes To Try On Your Family

First, Panettoni, a favorite Italian holiday bread. Popular among both commoners and kings, it's sure to be a hit at home.

Panettoni
(2 large loaves)
Sponge
2 packages fast granular yeast
1 cup lukewarm water
1 teaspoon sugar
1 1/2 cups sifted bread flour
Four the granular yeast into the cup of lukewarm water; add the teaspoon sugar, stir and let stand 5 minutes. When yeast is soft, stir in the flour and beat smooth. Cover and let rise in warm place until light, about 1 1/2 to 2 hours.

Dough
1 cup shortening (part butter)
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
3 eggs and 1 yolk
Grated rind and juice of 1-2 lemons

Above sponge when risen
Sifted flour to make dough
1-2 pound seedless raisins
1-4 pound sliced citron
1-4 cup milk
Cream together the shortening, sugar and salt. Add the 3 eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add the lemon, then blend egg mixture with the risen sponge and beat smooth. Add just enough flour to handle. Knead smooth, but do not allow dough to become too stiff. Lastly, work in the raisins and citron, lightly dusted with flour. Let rise until just doubled in bulk. Turn dough onto floured board, knead lightly, and divide in half. Round each portion into a smooth ball and place on buttered paper in a greased pie tin. Let rise until increased one-half original size. Brush tops with the beaten egg yolk mixed with the 1-4 cup milk. With sharp knife make 2 or 3 cuts across each loaf, then let rise somewhat longer, until dough feels tender when pressed with finger. Bake about 45 minutes in a moderately hot oven, 350 to 375 degrees F.

Old-Time Salt Sticks
Cut off a portion of Italian Bread dough (enough for a medium size loaf) when ready to be shaped into loaves. Divide into 18 equal portions; about the size of a walnut. Round each piece into a ball and let rest about 20 minutes or until tender. Keep dough well covered to prevent crusting. Then, using your hands, lengthen each ball into a pencil-like roll, about 8 inches long. Place the rolls, well apart, on a cookie sheet dusted with flour or cornmeal. Let rise one hour. Brush tops with water and sprinkle with medium coarse salt. Bake in medium hot oven until light brown and crisp.

Fortune Teller's Crystal Astray

DALLAS, Oct. 8 (UP)—The lady fortune teller on the fair midway needs a new crystal ball—but then the old one was slipping when it considered the future.

The lady and the soldier, whose fortune she contemplated, bent low over the mystic crystal. She closed her eyes dreamily to better interpret what she saw. When she opened them both the soldier and the crystal ball were gone.

Electric Co-op Contract Let

Contract was awarded by directors of the Caprock Electric Co-operative here Wednesday afternoon to McClure Electric Co. of Dallas for construction of 183 miles of line on the coop's "B" section. The successful bid was for $91,848.83, according to O. B. Bryan, superintendent. No starting date was given since the work order will not be issued until materials have been sighted, Bryan indicated. However, approval of the contract was obtained in a telephone conversation with Washington. Approximately 330 consumers will be served by the new line which will touch areas around Luther, in the southern edge of Borden county, north of Knot, around Ackerly in Dawson county, near Brown in Martin and reach Tarrant and Wolcott communities for the first time. Lomax community in southwestern Howard county will be served by lines extended from the sections south of Stanton and extending through a tip of Glasscock county. A small area in Midland county will be served. It will be the first time that the

THE WAR TODAY: Russian Situation Grave, Not Hopeless

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The Russian position on the fighting front is exceedingly grave, but not hopeless.

The greatest danger to the Red defense lies in the central sector, west and southwest of Moscow.

Here the nazis have continued to drive into the Bolshevist line the two long salients from which great encircling movements have been thrust out in an effort to surround and destroy sections of the enemy forces.

One of these salients extends along the direct Smolensk-Vyasma route to the threatened capital, and the other is farther south in the strategic Bryansk-Orel area.

The Germans this morning claimed to have crashed through this vital central sector and to have encircled from sixty to seventy Red divisions. This would mean between three-quarters of a million and a million men.

If this is true it will tax Soviet Marshal Timoshenko's skill to the utmost to avert a major disaster. A collapse of the Russian defense in the center would make it exceedingly difficult for the Reds to save the situation to the north and south, especially in the latter sector in the Ukraine where Marshal Budyenny is fighting with back to the wall.

The initiative and the advantage rest with the Germans at this writing. Whether the invaders are able to exploit their gains depends on a matching of wits between attacking Marshal General Fedor von Bock and defending Marshal Timoshenko.

Von Bock's strategy is to encircle and annihilate—to kill and capture men rather than to take territory and cities. Timoshenko's defense must be to evade those great encircling arms of steel, and to extricate his troops if the nazis actually have encircled them as claimed. The Red commander must do all this and still maintain the defense of Moscow, and contact with the Red armies on his right and left. Some task!

The nazis are smashing their way into the Red defenses by sheer weight of numbers and equipment. Men are being flung into the lines with the abandon which always has characterized German military operations. It may easily be that history never before has recorded a battle of such dimensions as is now proceeding on that crucial central front.

The German capture of the city of Orel, which lies at the apex of the southern salient in the central offensive, has increased the danger to the Red armies in the Ukraine. The fall of this important railway junction imparts contact between Timoshenko and Budyenny. Meantime the nazis have continued their thrust eastward along the coast of the Sea of Azov toward the Caucasus, and claim to have surrounded one complete Red army.

Moscow's unofficial appeal to Britain for quick aid, in the form of a direct attack on Germany through invasion of the continent, emphasizes the seriousness of the situation.

London recently has said that invasion isn't feasible at this juncture, and the indications have been that this is so.

There are signs that the British have been considering whether the quickest, most effective aid they could render would be an all-out, continuous bombardment of Berlin and other German cities from the air. This would force the Germans to bring back fighting planes and bombers from the Russian front—a god-send to the Reds, because the Luftwaffe is one of the most powerful weapons being used against them.

SNOW IN RUSSIA
NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (AP)—The German radio said today that snow was falling behind the Russian front, reporting the observation of a German pilot sent to raid a railway line. The pilot said a thin layer covered the plains and that the fall was continuing.

Rayburn Sees Quick Passage Of Lease-Lend

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn today forecast quick passage of the new $5,985,000,000 lease-lend bill in the exact form requested by President Roosevelt, and even some critics of the huge appropriation conceded that attempts to amend it would be futile.

One vital change to bar use of any of the money to aid Russia was expected to be offered by Rep. Day (R-Ill.).

Rayburn predicted that "we will beat the Russian amendment badly" and "go right down the line on the others."

"It would be unfortunate to make any change in the president's recommendations," the speaker said. Rep. Taber (N.Y.), senior republican member of the appropriations committee, expressed the opinion that only about 50 of the house membership of 435 would support the no-aid-to-Russia amendment. He said that proposals to cut $300,000,000 from a $1,875,000,000 fund for agricultural, industrial and other products would be more strongly supported.

Charles Fahy Due To Get U.S. Post

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—President Roosevelt was reported in informed quarters today to be about ready to appoint Charles Fahy solicitor general.

Fahy has been acting solicitor general since June 13, when Francis Biddle was moved from that post into the attorney generalship. Fahy went to the justice department from the labor relations board, where he was general counsel.

Here's A Tip For Brides For That First All-Important Meal

Simple enough for a bride—lamb chops with creamed vegetables

By MRS. ALEXANDER GEORGE, AP Feature Service Writer

When the fall bride gives her first dinner, that is news. Her table is decked out in shiny new silverware, dainty dishes and dazzling glassware.

Clever is the new homemaker who lays her table well in advance of the dinner hour, for she has plenty of time to perfect arrangements.

Plans for first meals should be made in great detail, the bride jotting down the menu, order list, amounts needed, special recipes and other extra tips for party success. The information will come in handy in the future.

The bride would do well to stick to old standby foods, but she should see that they are well cooked and attractively served. As her experience picks up, she can increase the number of courses and go in for fancier foods. It is better at first to spend extra time seeing that the meat is cooked to perfection, the mashed potatoes fluffy and well seasoned, and the gravy lumpless, rather than fashion radish roses and animals or flowers from fruits and dubbing them salads.

LAMB BOATS (Serving 6)

- 2 lbs. ground lamb
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1 tablespoon chopped onion
  - 1-4 teaspoon pepper
  - 2 tablespoons minced parsley
  - 1 egg
- Mix lamb with ingredients. Divide in 6 portions; shape each into an oblong roll 3 inches long and 1-2 inches in diameter. Flatten slightly on lightly greased baking pan, and indent top to match a "boat." Bake in a moderate oven (350) 30 to 35 minutes, until browned. Arrange on hot platter and fill centers to overflowing with creamed peas or potatoes, or both.

CREAMED VEGETABLES

- 4 tablespoons butter
  - 4 tablespoons flour
  - 2 cups milk
  - 2 cups drained cooked peas or diced potatoes
  - 1-2 teaspoon salt
- Melt butter, add flour, and blend. Add milk and stir until sauce boils and thickens. Add vegetable and heat thoroughly.

slices and then spread with chocolate, caramel or pineapple sauce. Interest most guests. Fresh fruits in season, crisp crackers and assorted cheeses are appropriate.

OYSTER COCKTAIL

makes a generally popular starter for dinner. Select fresh oysters of medium size, allowing five per portion. Go over them with the fingers, searching for shell particles. Wash quickly in cold water, but never let them soak as they will lose flavor. (Some folks never wash oysters, claiming too much flavor is lost.) Chill until serving time and then place in small glass cups lined with lettuce. Top with a tablespoon of sauce and place lemon wedges on the cup edges.

Here is an oyster sauce: Mix 1-3 cup catsup, 2 tablespoons each of horseradish, chili sauce and lemon juice; 1-3 teaspoon each of celery salt, minced parsley, salt, sugar and paprika. Add dashes of tabasco or Worcestershire sauce if you have it on hand. The sauce too should be icy cold. It will be chilled the cups beforehand and then do no loitering when the cups are filled.

Broiled lamb chops, smothered Swiss steak, fried or baked chicken, or broiled tenderloin or porterhouse steak, are suggestions for the main course. Baked whole or sliced ham also is a good number to spring on the first guests.

I suggest serving vegetables in pleasing pairs, such as carrots and green beans, cubed turnips with peas, lima beans and diced beets, spinach and corn. Season the vegetables well with salt, pepper and butter. Baked or scalloped potatoes go nicely with meat loaf, a roast or other baked meat dish. In that case serve only one other vegetable.

Green salad with a tangy French dressing always fits in with dinner foods and supplies the needed crisp note. Pass hot biscuits, rolls or cornbread, homemade if possible. Or reheat hard bakery rolls. Any easy-to-do dessert is in order. Ice cream topped with fruit, or served as a filling between cakes

Chinese Army In Big Drive

SHANGHAI, Oct. 9 (AP)—The greatest offensive of the Chinese army in four and a quarter years of warfare is apparently under way, Japanese army sources said today.

They reported that 30,000 Chungking troops attacked Japanese forces Oct. 3 on all fronts of central China and said fighting was still in progress north, west and south of Japanese-held Hankow, Yangtze river port.

Japanese said the principal Chinese objective was Ichang, which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek ordered recaptured, and it was acknowledged that a Chinese division had occupied some frontal positions there briefly. The Japanese declared they later recaptured those positions, with Chinese losses of 300 dead and 100 prisoners.

New Colorado City Teacher Elected

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 9 (Sp)—Mrs. Chesley McDonald, wife of one of Colorado City high school's assistant coaches, was elected this week to teach in the Colorado City Hutchinson (ward) school, succeeding Pauline Jones.

Miss Jones has resigned to become teacher of Spanish at Raymondville. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Jones of Benderbrook ranch, she was beginning her fourth year in the Colorado City system.

Mrs. McDonald has been teaching this year in the Fairview school north of Westbrook.

Rig For Wildcat South Of Colorado

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 9 (Sp)—Machinery was being moved in this week for a 3,000-foot wildcat on Bert Wulfjen land south of Colorado City.

The test will be on land blocked by Lockhart, Dockrey & Robbins of Colorado City. It will be drilled by Doc McQuinn and Bill Donnelly of Big Spring.

Location is 600 feet from the north and west lines of the northwest 40 acres of the southeast quarter of section 8-12, H&TC.

War Spreads "French Mouth" GLASGOW—Kissing may be one of the chief reasons of a wartime malady known as "French Mouth," which has been claiming many victims in West Scotland. Other suggested causes are the use of badly-wiped cups and lack of vitamin C—found in green vegetables and tomatoes.

"Faced Heating" Studied BERKELEY, Calif.—Engineers at the University of California now regard ordinary air conditioning as "old stuff." The problem they are seeking to solve is "faced heating" which would make it possible to leave the windows open all winter and still have a comfortable temperature.

Local Youth In Army Likes Hawaiian Isles

Hawaii is a far piece from home, but if Leo Walling, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Walling, had it to do over again in enlisting in the army he'd head right back for Honolulu.

Stationed at the station hospital in Schofield barracks near Honolulu, Leo is serving as a technician in the hospital laboratory.

Don't get the idea that army life is a bowl of cherries even in Hawaii, says Leo in letters to his parents, but he's one lad who is happy over his hospital learning and will know something when "I get out," he writes.

His letters home sound like a bit of chamber of commerce propaganda when it comes to telling about the islands. "This place has a perfect climate and is the best place to live because every day is the same—perfect," according to Leo.

Recently he had a 10-day vacation on Hilo, an island about 25 miles from Honolulu, where he played tennis, golf, rode horseback and swam. After that rest, he adds that "I feel good for 15 months more."

Unless something unforeseen comes up, he's heading back for the states on a furlough for Christmas. Meantime, he's happy his army duty took him to Hawaii.

Farm Parity Prices Sought

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—An effort got under way today to organize millions of farmers and all branches of agriculture into a potent and unified group, for the announced purpose of assuring agriculture a share of prosperity from the national defense program.

Senator Thomas (D-Okla.) said representatives from more than 30 states and officials of all major farm organizations had assured him they would attend sessions at the Raleigh hotel.

Thomas said he would offer this three-point program to the assembly and then "ask them to work out their own organization."

1. A proposed new bill for computing "parity prices" under present and future farm programs, which Thomas has introduced in the senate.

2. A proposal that government stocks of cotton and wheat, acquired under price-supporting loans, be "frozen" or withheld from markets to avoid depressing prices of new crops.

3. A poll of farm sentiment on proposals to fix prices or place price ceilings on farm products.

You can't fail to make perfect frosting the KARO way!

For frosting that's fluffy, flavorful—frosting that doesn't get sugary and crack—frosting that piles up nicely, looks beautiful and cuts smoothly—follow this fool-proof Karo recipe:

PERFECT KARO FROSTING: 3 cups granulated sugar, 1 tsp. vanilla, 1/2 cup Karo (red label), 1/4 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup water, 2 egg whites.

Cook sugar, Karo, and water over low heat, stirring only until sugar is dissolved. Then boil rapidly, without stirring, to 242 degree F., or until syrup forms a firm ball when a small amount is dropped in cold water. Add vanilla and salt to egg whites, and beat until stiff but not dry. Pour syrup slowly in a thin stream into beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks and is of consistency to spread. Makes enough frosting for filling, top and sides of 3 (9-inch) cake layers.

Schoolboys Have Fast Week --

Corpus Christi Gets Leading Test

By The Associated Press

Corpus Christi's high-geared machine that has swept to 125 points in three games—the top scoring unit of Texas schoolboy football—gets its telling test this week, a test destined to show whether the Buccaneers rate the label of strongest team in the southern region.

The Buccaneers battle Austin's once-beaten, once-tied but highly-rated Maroons at Austin Friday night.

Austin, sparked by Charlie Munson, 172-pound triple-threat and defensive wonder, lost to mighty Temple by a touchdown with the Wildcats having to come from behind to win. The next week the Maroons battled powerful Jeff Davis of Houston to a 7-7 tie.

It's an important week all the way around for the field with 55 games on the schedule by districts:

The week's schedule by districts:

1—Thursday: Tahoka at Berger; Friday: Austin (El Paso) at Amarillo, Bowie (El Paso) at Pampa, Breckenridge at Lubbock.

2—Friday: Vernon at Wichita Falls (conference), Olney at Burnet (conference), Electric at Quanah (conference), Paechal (El Paso) at Graham.

3—Friday: Big Spring at Odessa (conference), San Angelo at Colorado City (conference), Sweetwater at Midland (conference), Abilene at Lamesa (conference).

4—Friday: Arlington Heights (El Paso) at El Paso high, Taleta at Monahans.

5—Friday: Paris at Sherman (conference), Denton at Gainesville.

6—Friday: Bonham at Highland Park (Dallas), Denison at McKinney, Lancaster at Arlington, Woodrow Wilson (Dallas) at Sulphur Springs.

7—Thursday: Amon Carter Riverside (Fort Worth) vs. Poly (Fort Worth) (conference); Friday: North Side (Fort Worth) vs. Masonic Home (Fort Worth) (conference).

8—Friday: Dallas Tech vs. Forest (Dallas) (conference); Saturday: North Dallas vs. Adamson (Dallas) (conference).

9—Friday: Stephenville at Ranger (conference), Cisco at Mineral Wells (conference).

10—Friday: Bryan at Temple (conference), Ennis at Mexia (conference), Corsicana at Hillboro (conference), Waxahachie at Waco (conference).

11—Friday: Fort Worth Tech at Tyler, Athens at Longview (conference), Texarkana at Kilgore (conference), Marshall at Glade-water (conference).

12—Friday: Palestine at Neacochas (conference), Carthage at Lufkin, Woodville at Livingston.

13—Thursday: San Jacinto (Houston) vs. St. Thomas (Houston), Jeff Davis (Houston) at Byrd high (El Paso) (conference); Friday: Lamar (Houston) vs. Reagan (Houston) (conference); Saturday: Austin (Houston) vs. Milby (Houston) (conference).

14—Friday: Sam Houston (Houston) at Goose Creek, South Park (Beaumont) at Conroe (conference), Orange at Galveston (conference); Saturday: Jacksonville at Beaumont.

15—Friday: Fort Arthur at Jefferson (San Antonio), Corpus Christi at Austin, Brownwood at Kerrville, Saturday: Laredo at San Antonio Tech (conference).

16—Friday: Breckenridge (San Antonio) at McAllen, Alice at Kingsville, Harlandale (San Antonio) (conference), Yorktown at Beville.

Six-Man Clubs Pick Up Hot District Race Fri.

Warfare breaks loose again on the district 8 six-man football front as all clubs tangle Friday in the hotly contested loop race.

Forsan's Bufts, rated strongest team in the circuit goes to Water Valley. Sterling City, counted next in line, entertains Garner. Coahoma engages Westbrook and Garden City hosts Courtney.

Forsan is scheduled to have a distinct advantage over the Water Valley six. Coach Cagle Hunt's Bufts hold an abundance of power, plus lads who can fill in handily when the going gets rough. Thus far in the race, Forsan is undefeated. Although the margin is all in the Bufts' favor, Water Valley is on the books for being able to spring a possible surprise. Last week, Westbrook set down Water Valley, 13 to 0.

Garner is faced with a tough proposition at Sterling City. Consistently powerful, Coach F. C. Burnett's Sterling City sextet is particularly potent on its home ground.

The Garner aggregation has been hurt by loss of most of last year starters but some power has returned and is in better shape for the bout with Sterling City than it has thus far this season. Coach Turner's Ben Daughter, '40 all-district center, has been moved into the backfield. Turner said the loss was felt on the line

Lookin' 'em Over

With Jack Douglas

Westbrook's six-man footballers have good minds for saving money. Equipping a gridiron runs up a sizeable bill. The Westbrookers, when organizing football a few years back, realized that the first expense was almost more than they could handle. Were they stymied? They were not! They just went over to Colorado City, about eight miles to the east, and made a deal for the Wolves' field.

Rent and cost of lights is not as expensive as a home field.

Courtney's sextet has a coach with a name well-known to followers of Southwest conference football. Nolan Robinson is a brother of the great Texas Aggie footballer, Marshall Robinson.

Big Spring's Steers are slated to tangle with a badly battered Odessa Broncho outfit. Not many would expect little Lamesa to hammer the big Odessans—can never tell what a really steamed-up team can do though.

Bob Nash of the Odessa sports page is of the opinion that Big Spring is the team to beat, so far as the Bronchos are concerned.

The way Bob puts it—"It is 'way early to be talking titles but nobody doubts that the Big Spring title is 'the game' to date for the Bronchos. If they win it, they will still have a slim chance to win or tie for the crown, but if the Steers win, it will be 'Katy, bar the door'."

Well, that's putting the Big Spring situation kindly. If, by chance, a determination to make up for the setback they suffered in the draw with Colorado City last week, the Steers tack this game to their winning column, it means that Big Spring will only have to contend with five other district crews before the title is won. Looking at it from here, the road is a bit on the rugged side.

But, let us point out again, Big Spring is in the same position as that held at this time last year—one conference game, one tie.

A great feat will become known throughout the nation. Charlie Wheelchel's 11-inning no-hit game against Pampa during the West Texas-New Mexico '41 season received an excellent write-up in the New York Sunday News of October 5.

Just to refresh the memory—Charlie retired the first twenty-seven men to face him. In the tenth a batter was hit by a pitched ball—the next man at bat sacrificed and, before the frame closed, a man was walked intentionally. Charlie won his game, 3 to 0.

The New York paper said it was one of the greatest feats of the 1941 season—that's an understatement—records fail to show its equal at any time.

Warren Lockhart of Big Spring, has been playing football and seeing the sights in the sunny states of California and Arizona.

Lockhart, a guard, is a member of the Buffalo football squad. His team is a member of the Border conference, which has as members Texas Tech, Hardin-Simmons University, Texas College of Mines, Arizona State College of Tempe and Flagstaff, the University of Arizona, the University of New Mexico, and New Mexico A. & M.

The Buffaloes won their first three games, two of which were played in Fresno, Calif., and Tempe, Arizona.

Colo. City To Get Hard Test By S'Angelo

Colds And Bruises May Handicap Wolves In 3rd Dist. Battle

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 9.—Third conference game of the Colorado City Wolves will be laid here Friday night against the San Angelo Bobcats. The 3-AA tussle will begin on Cantrill field at 8 o'clock.

The Wolves, who started off in 3-AA this year as underdogs by losing to Odessa 39-0, have moved into the "top-six" class by virtue of their near victory and tie, 13-13, with the Big Spring Steers last Friday.

San Angelo looked impressive in a 13-4 win over Midland last Friday. Previously, in non-conference games, they had defeated San Antonio Tech 49-0 and had lost to Lubbock 25-0.

Bruises from their hard fight against Big Spring and several bad colds were handicapping the Wolves somewhat this week.

Coach John L. Dibrell plans to use in his starting line-up the following:

Odessa Riddled By Hurts As Crucial Game Looms

Yearlings Get Off To Second Clash Of Season Today

Steers May Hold Edge At Game Time Fri.

Injuries may get in a lick for Big Spring even before the Steers arrive on the scene of the Friday night battle with the Odessa Bronchos.

The Bronchos are short two of their top men, Quarterback DeWitt Fly and Right End Keith Evans. Fly received a bad head injury in the engagement with Lamesa and Evans is on the sick list with an injured shoulder, sustained in the same tussle. But the Odessans have not given up hope.

Raymond Evans, Wetth's brother, stood out in the ball-carrying department last week against Lamesa and may fill the vacancy created by Fly's loss.

Another item that makes the margin of victory creep toward Big Spring is the fact that, for some reason, the Steers are the Bronchos' jinx.

Added up, the prospect of a Big Spring victory seems more favorable as time for the roundelay department, last week against Lamesa, is in perfect condition and several hard knocks in the Colorado City fracas, the Big Springers will likely go into the fray at full playing strength.

Tulane's Coach Makes Modest Claims For '11'

ATLANTA, Oct. 9 (AP)—Tulane's not great, but just a football team trying to get along, said Coach Rod Dawson today as he and his boys headed Texas-ward for Saturday's game with Rice Institute and their third inter-sectional battle in as many weeks.

"We haven't any high-falootin' ideas like some people seem to have that we're a great team," declared Dawson. "We're just a football team doing the best we can."

Last year Tulane's up-and-down team took Rice by a score of 15-6, but Dawson wouldn't predict the same success this year for the outfit which beat Boston College 21-7 in its opener, and followed 't up with a 33-0 drubbing of Auburn.

"Our scouts report Rice has a great personnel," he explained, "but they haven't been tested and I can't tell much about them until they get up against a tough opponent. The team is much more rugged than Auburn."

At Houston, Coach Jess Neely expressed dissatisfaction over the Owls' first-game showing against Sam Houston State Teachers. Despite a 43-0 victory, he felt they looked ragged, complained: "Our locking wasn't anywhere near what it should have been. We're going to work our heads off this week. We have to! Tulane looks like one of the best teams in the south and we have plenty to do before Saturday."

Cowboy Land Motorized

YUMA, Ariz.—Almost the last traces of the early days—the hitching posts and rings for horses that lined the streets—have been removed by the police. Motorists complained that they ruined too many front bumpers.

Radio Comes In Football Maneuvers

PORT LEWIS, Wash., Oct. 9 (AP)—"Calling Coach Tuttle! Calling Coach Tuttle! Pull Hank Smith out of left guard; he's been letting too many men through! That is all."

The army's new technique in radio communication has reached the football field and if the idea spreads you can be on the lookout for plenty of complications.

The experiment is to be made Sunday for the first time on any gridiron, when coaches of the army's six division football team try out two "walkie-talkie" radio sets during a game between the soldiers and the Boeing Aircraft team.

The plan is this: Lieut. Loren W. Tuttle, head coach, will pace up and down the side lines with a walkie-talkie strapped to his back. Assistant Coach John Hackenbruck will perch on the roof of the press box with another portable set.

From his vantage point, Hackenbruck, former Oregon State and Detroit Lions star, will try to spot plays and openings not discernible to Tuttle down on the field.

Coaches Tuttle and Hackenbruck will have no difficulty procuring the necessary equipment, seeing as how the dist. division uses 100 or more of the portable sets on field maneuvers.

Football authorities were approached on the legality of the idea. They haven't as yet been able to find any rules covering such activities by coaches and assistant coaches—so long as they don't talk by radio to players on the field.

Southern, Midwest Grid Statistics Lead Nation

SEATTLE, Oct. 9 (AP)—Football teams which most experts picked to clean up this season are doing all right in the early statistics.

The American football statistical bureau's first compilations released today, showed southern and midwestern outfits topping the figures for total offense and defense.

On offense, Northwestern, after its thorough 51-3 whipping of Kansas State, holds first place with a 521-yard average for the one game.

Defensively, it's Georgia, which in two games against Mercer and South Carolina held the foe to only 11.5 yards per game.

Georgia, which gets its first stiff test this week against Mississippi, also ranks third in total offense—gains rushing and passing—rolling up an average of 488.5 yards per game.

The Texas Aggies, hit into a power team, have turned to passing since all-American John Kimbrough graduated. The figures indicate the Aggies have averaged 243.5 yards per game through the air in their two contests.

Illinois, 397 yards average per game; Texas A. and M. 387; Syracuse 386.5; Detroit 377.5.

Total defense—after Georgia comes Texas, 28 yards yielded per game to both rushes and passes; Tulane 35; Northwestern 33; Illinois 29; Vanderbilt 41.5; Texas A. and M. 30.6; Texas Christian 28; Duquesne, 21; Rice, 21.

Lookin' 'em Over

With Jack Douglas

Westbrook's six-man footballers have good minds for saving money. Equipping a gridiron runs up a sizeable bill. The Westbrookers, when organizing football a few years back, realized that the first expense was almost more than they could handle. Were they stymied? They were not! They just went over to Colorado City, about eight miles to the east, and made a deal for the Wolves' field.

Rent and cost of lights is not as expensive as a home field.

Courtney's sextet has a coach with a name well-known to followers of Southwest conference football. Nolan Robinson is a brother of the great Texas Aggie footballer, Marshall Robinson.

Big Spring's Steers are slated to tangle with a badly battered Odessa Broncho outfit. Not many would expect little Lamesa to hammer the big Odessans—can never tell what a really steamed-up team can do though.

Bob Nash of the Odessa sports page is of the opinion that Big Spring is the team to beat, so far as the Bronchos are concerned.

The way Bob puts it—"It is 'way early to be talking titles but nobody doubts that the Big Spring title is 'the game' to date for the Bronchos. If they win it, they will still have a slim chance to win or tie for the crown, but if the Steers win, it will be 'Katy, bar the door'."

Well, that's putting the Big Spring situation kindly. If, by chance, a determination to make up for the setback they suffered in the draw with Colorado City last week, the Steers tack this game to their winning column, it means that Big Spring will only have to contend with five other district crews before the title is won. Looking at it from here, the road is a bit on the rugged side.

But, let us point out again, Big Spring is in the same position as that held at this time last year—one conference game, one tie.

A great feat will become known throughout the nation. Charlie Wheelchel's 11-inning no-hit game against Pampa during the West Texas-New Mexico '41 season received an excellent write-up in the New York Sunday News of October 5.

Just to refresh the memory—Charlie retired the first twenty-seven men to face him. In the tenth a batter was hit by a pitched ball—the next man at bat sacrificed and, before the frame closed, a man was walked intentionally. Charlie won his game, 3 to 0.

The New York paper said it was one of the greatest feats of the 1941 season—that's an understatement—records fail to show its equal at any time.

Warren Lockhart of Big Spring, has been playing football and seeing the sights in the sunny states of California and Arizona.

Lockhart, a guard, is a member of the Buffalo football squad. His team is a member of the Border conference, which has as members Texas Tech, Hardin-Simmons University, Texas College of Mines, Arizona State College of Tempe and Flagstaff, the University of Arizona, the University of New Mexico, and New Mexico A. & M.

The Buffaloes won their first three games, two of which were played in Fresno, Calif., and Tempe, Arizona.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (Herald Special News Service)—Here are some guys who ought to sympathize with Mickey Owen and the Dodgers—Forrest Matis, a pitcher for Idaho Falls in the Pioneer league, had a no-hitter against Boise with two out in the ninth when Jack Radtke bounced an easy one and Shelly McConnell, the second sacker, fell down trying to make the throw.... The scorer finally had to call it a hit.... Up in Minnesota the Delano and Nowthen teams were rained out in an amateur league playoff game.

The hard there was a dry field and almost all over. The field was almost flooded but the fans pitched in and helped drain it, then just after the game started a cloud-burst came along.... West coast reporters here for the series spent a lot of time quizzing the southerners about Duke after the Blue Devils knocked off Tennessee. They'd like to see Wallace Wade's boys in the Rose Bowl again if all goes well.... Wonder if those cops who pinched Gerry Friddy and Johnny Sturm in Jersey were trying to square up for the bluecoats who got in Mickey Owen's way on 5-4-4?

A Y's move—The football rule-makers have forbidden Oles' "T" formation in which the center faces the backfield. Maybe they thought Oles had the guy sitting on the ball to hatch out some trick plays.... Dutch Bergman, former Catholic U. coach who was supposed to be getting ready to buck the Redskins in Washington next year, has taken a job officiating National league games.... Players who have run into Temple say that Al Drupe, the blocking back, is a better ball player than the highly-rated Andy Tomasic.

The hippopotamus, the largest aquatic hoofed animal, sometimes reaches a weight of four tons.

Great Crowd Expected For Dallas Tilt

DALLAS, Oct. 9 (AP)—Send a couple of bucks like Pete Layden and Jack Crain of Texas against two gridiron dynamiters like Jack Jacobs and Orville Matthews of Oklahoma and you have:

A Cotton Bowl of 45,000 fans, the greatest in the history of the annual colorful classic at the State Fair of Texas.

Texas, boomed for the Rose Bowl, and Oklahoma, something of a mystery but apparently a typical powerhouse from the Sooner state, clash here Saturday in the 26th game staged by these two schools since 1905.

Editorial -- National Defense Talk Is Cheap

Pardon us while we sneeze. Surely you will find us preparing to sneeze in the sacred name of national defense. And next week perhaps we will have a party—in the name of national defense, of course. When next we have a business conference of some sort, the theme shall be national defense. And if anyone asks us to fill in on a program, the subject undoubtedly will be national defense. And if we're lucky, maybe we can promise some display or area gathering—using national defense as the excuse, naturally.

In fact, let us dispense with cheery "Good Mornings," and chirp "National Defense, Brother!" Indeed, let us go beyond the limits of endurance with this maligned, abused and thread-bare theme. It's already been used to an extreme, so we have no sentiments in handling it delicately.

Not that we are unpatriotic, or that we don't think that national defense is a matter of paramount concern; but we do think that shallow thinking people and that legion of lazy opportunists have cheapened the entire effort by their light treatment of national defense.

Soon there will be held two commendable events in the eastern part of the state. They have gotten along remarkably in previous years because they were well affairs. But this season, may we hold our temper, they have to drag national defense into it. It takes an elastic imagination to see the point.

Honestly, is anything ever accomplished by the mere parroting of an issue or clinging to its coat-tails? Is any real and constructive service being given the cause of national defense by these shallow repetitions of the word? Are we increasing our concern about our efforts to rearm; are we building any more planes or ships because a bridge table is decorated in red, white and blue and somebody perpetrates a boring piece of disorganized oratory about national defense.

Isn't it time to stop talking less about national defense and do more about it? Isn't it time that we diligently seek ways for hearing our part in an unparalleled emergency rather than treating it lightly through vain repetitions. Isn't it time we use the term national defense sparingly as a powerful drug, administering it wisely and effectively? Come now, isn't it?

Man About Manhattan—Oscar Rose From Busy Boy To Prominence—As Waiter

By GEORGE TUCKER
NEW YORK—Head waiters who dream of achieving national prominence should study the career of a Swiss emigre whose name is Techirky—a name not recognized by one New Yorker in a thousand. And yet Techirky is one of the best known hotel men in the United States. He is known more familiarly to the millions of this city, and elsewhere, as Oscar of the Waldorf.

A few days ago Oscar slipped quietly away to his farm in Ulster county, near New Paltz, N. Y., to observe a private little celebration with his family. This occasion was his 75th birthday.

The rise of Oscar from an obscure post as bus boy to a celebrity that had books written about him, is merely another example of the opportunities to be found in a town like this. Oscar is not a great chef, as he is sometimes mistakenly identified. He is an ex-head waiter who has been glamorized and fictionalized more than any other head waiter in America.

where Al Smith's Empire State Building now stands at 33rd street and Fifth avenue. The new Waldorf was built on Park Avenue at 50th street, thoroughfare that had not always epitomized the wealth of this metropolis. It threw off its grimy atmosphere only when the uptown burg struck New York and shifted the "midtown" areas from the Thirties to the Forties and Fifties.

Oscar also is quietly celebrating a fourth little anniversary, which to him has a special significance. He is celebrating his 53rd year as an American citizen. He "adopted" this country back in 1888, long before he became recognized as the "most extraordinary" by presidents, fashion czars, prelates and visiting royalty.

The late King Albert of the Belgians knew Oscar and awarded him the medal of the Order of the Crown. Ex-King Carol of Rumania, then a prince, sent Oscar the Order of the Crown of Rumania. France showed its appreciation of Oscar by bestowing upon him the title of Chevalier of the Ordre Merite Agricole. He knows General Pershing, F.D.R., former President Hoover, the king and queen of Siam, H. G. Wells, Petaim of France.

"These," he says, "make me realize how long I really have been around. But it doesn't seem long. When I look back on the days when I was just a beginner, it seems only yesterday."

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—Now Movies Can Portray Foreign Villians Again

By ROBBIN COONS
HOLLYWOOD — It hasn't any bearing on the question raised by that senate subcommittee hearing on "propaganda," but Hollywood would certainly be in a sad state if it suddenly lost its currently "safe" villain.

Hollywood went through some pretty lean years, villain-wise, back in the days when all citizens of other countries had to be nice, general folk who never, never went around kicking babies or biting dogs.

You remember. Movies had villains but the villains had no readily discernible nationality. If a cinema heel showed signs of a native soil, consulates faced crises. Screenwriters used to tear at their pates, trying to come up with convincing henchmen out of people who weren't born anywhere, who had no mannerisms or dialects that might suggest they were born somewhere.

"The only safe villain," groaned bedeviled movie men facing the problem, "is a jobbed 100 per cent American of nondescript features and no accent."

Outside of a mythical kingdom, which was the last resort, the U. S. A. was the only "safe" spot on the globe from which to extract a genuine, all-around no-good for cinema skullduggery. The folks hereabouts didn't seem to mind the implication that, in a parcel of 130,000,000 folk, there might be a couple of heels. Of course, if the chosen whipping-boy seemed to have a decided sectional background and was represented as fairly typical, there was yelling. Also, if he were represented as following a particular trade or profession, his real-life co-workers could be depended on to storm-hence the ideal villain was jobless.

Into this weighty problem stepped a full-pledged answer—the Nazi. He came, like his real-life prototype, from the pages of Hitler's "Mein Kampf." He came in news reports, magazine articles, news photographs—piping hot. He came later from stage plays and novels, which served as bases for most of Hollywood's "anti-Nazi" films.

He is a dandy fellow, and as U. S.-German relations have become increasingly strained, he has become increasingly "safer" as a villain.

Without taking sides on the senate subcommittee's issue, it's still hard to suppress a chuckle at the development it represents. Here was Hollywood, always being chided for its slavish adherence to boy-meets-girl formulas, frequently being lambasted for its indifference to the living, current scene. So Hollywood makes "controversial" movies, and what happens?

Ben Southland, the movie marksman who shoots for the stars, professes hope for Gene Tierney, the "Belle Starr" of the movie: "Miss Tierney already has learned which end of the gun the bullets come from, and I think she could easily hit a barn door at 15 or 20 feet."

Woman Leads Big Tuna WEDGEPORT, N. S.—Mrs. Gunter Hardin of San Antonio, Tex., booked a 636-pound tuna the other day at the Soldier's Rip off Wedgport. It took Mrs. Hardin a little more than an hour to land her tuna.

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

UP FROM THE PAST
Johnny Harris was broad-shouldered, muscular, and his clear grey eyes were startlingly vivid in his lean tanned face.

He smiled and held out his hand. "My father knew your Aunt Caroline Fairhope. You are Miss Fairhope?"

"I'm Sue Ellen Fairhope." She was so astounded that this man should be the son of Aunt Car's old sweetheart that she stood staring at him and even let him take her hand.

"I'll call Aunt Car," she said briefly. "She will want to see you."

For the first time in her life she felt awkward and at a loss for words. She withdrew her fingers from the clasp of his firm cool fingers, went out through the dining room and long hall toward the kitchen. With her hand on the pantry door, she paused. Should she tell Aunt Car or dismiss the man, telling him that Aunt Car was not here? Would it be wise or right to bring back vividly to Aunt Car the memory of an old love affair? Would she want to only her lover's son?

The man had forgotten Aunt Car had married.

"What is it?" Aunt Car herself made the decision, for Sue Ellen heard her voice behind her in the library and Johnny Harris's voice, so unlike Riv's soft slurred southern voice. She heard Aunt Car's little cry of surprise and did not listen any longer but pushed open the door into the pantry and went out to where Aunt Pleas was struggling with Aunt Jennie and the supper.

Aunt Pleas was stout and rosy. Her hair had not a thread of white in it and she had worn it all her lifetime in a figure eight on the back of her head. Her brown eyes were quick and snapping and only her soft slurred tones betrayed her southern birth. She might have been a thrifty New England housewife, for she was quick and decisive and the ruling force in their small household.

"Who came in?" she asked never interrupting her orders that Aunt Jennie move faster, that Uncle Fremont bring in coal, her own fingers meanwhile neatly folding linen, back from the laundry, and her bright brown eyes raised only for a moment at Sue Ellen's entrance.

Is It Love?
For the first time that day amusement touched Sue Ellen. "Guess who's talking to Aunt Car?"

"I never guess. Some sick neighbor, I suppose—that's all your Aunt Car thinks about. Carrying away the supper to give to someone, when we need every mouthful we can get for ourselves."

"This man doesn't look hungry."

"Who is he?"

Sue Ellen slipped into a chair and raised her eyebrows.

"A draftee from Camp Shelby. His father was an old sweetheart of Aunt Car's."

Aunt Pleas collapsed on a chair, her plump hands dropping her linen on the kitchen floor.

"Yes, Johnny Harris. Probably," said Sue Ellen scornfully. "Aunt Car will ask him to supper."

But Aunt Car did not ask Johnny Harris to supper. They heard the door close. Aunt Car appeared, her soft cheeks flushed, her eyes bright and excited. "That was John's son," she said breathlessly. "His father wanted him to come over to Tyler Springs and meet me. He said that his father never forgot me."

Aunt Pleas did not speak, but her small mouth tightened.

There was something almost shameful in Aunt Car's excitement. Usually so reserved, so lacking in animation, so indifferent to what went on about her, it was as though Aunt Car at fifty had come to life. There was a hint of the girliness of the portrait over the mantel in her eager face.

Sue Ellen left the room to dress for dinner. She mounted the staircase to her own room, puzzled by the upheaval in her own breast. Aunt Car had known something she never knew, a love which lasted through a generation. She wondered if Johnny Harris resembled his father.

She forgot that in a short time she would be with Riv. She even forgot the disappointment of the afternoon—she denied that she felt, for the first time, relief that she would not marry Riv soon.

The room where she stood was a beautiful room, in the front of the house. The windows were deep-set and many-paned and the magnolia branches shut off the view of the narrow village street. The furniture was massive, with a canopy bed brought from France long before the War between the States.

She dropped down on the bed and wondered idly if she would meet John Harris again. For some reason unknown to herself, she hoped not.

The Wallers
Colonel Moore, Riv's father, had been more fortunate than families in Tyler Springs like the Fairhopes. The Colonel managed to enter politics and work his way into the favor of those with influence in Washington. He carried on a real estate business in Tyler Springs and the adjoining country and sold plantations at fat commissions to northerners.

The Colonel had made too much money from his Yankee clients to affront them, his most influential one was a man from Michigan, Jim Waller, who made money in automobile parts and now had promoted a gigantic program of airplane manufacture for defense.

The Colonel had entertained the Wallers, sold them a huge estate and insisted, according to Riv's story, that Riv escort them about during the period when they were inspecting the property.

Jim Waller's daughter, Deedra, stayed in Tyler Springs to oversee the restoration of the old Fairchild plantation. She was homesy but smart. A brilliant conversationalist. She had traveled all over the world and had had a splendid education.

Various friends told Sue Ellen she was a fool to trust Riv and she had antagonized many by her positive statement that she would allow no one to annoy her with gossip about Riv, now that they were definitely engaged.

Riv had been sweet and thoughtful during the month following the announcement. Then in June he went to Washington and rumors drifted back that an early acquaintance with Deedra had developed into something quite different.

Sue Ellen heard some of this. She refused to accept it. She discussed the rumors with Riv quite frankly and Riv told her that he had been with Deedra to please the Colonel, who had some deal with Waller, which would keep him out of the draft.

"But you can't escape the draft, Riv," she insisted. "It's a government regulation."

"A damned silly one, and don't think I intend to do square right and left. The Colonel will fix it."

Now, as she dressed for dinner, she wondered if the postponement of her wedding played a part in the Colonel's fixing, as Riv called it.

Buying A Used Car? Here's How To Get Money's Worth

(Second of two articles about the automobile situation.)
By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON — The big decrease in automobile production is going to send people to the used car lots who never have been there before.

The demand that is expected to develop for used cars may sharpen the practices of those dishonest dealers which fringe the second-hand business.

There are, in Washington, two national agencies which have made a study of the used car trade and the dishonesties which some resort to in putting over a deal. There is almost no limit to trickery and no rules that could guarantee every buyer against being KYPED.

There are, however, a few rules which if followed cut your chances of getting stung. Here they are as they were given to me by these same agencies:

No car should be bought without a road test, and "road test" doesn't mean a drive around the block. The car should be driven far enough (50 to 100 miles) to get really hot, and to test the consumption of oil and gas. Start with both gas and oil at "full." Drive through traffic and open country, over hills and rough roads. If the car is a gas eater or an oil hog, trouble already has started.

If a cold engine starts with a slapping noise and quiets down, the pistons are loose. If it idles excessively fast, it is possible that the motor has been "revved up" to cover mechanical irregularities.

Doctored Motors
A clutch that grabs on the get-away or slips on a speedup is in bad shape. Brakes should be tested on a brake machine, but if none is available, make "slam" stops at from 25 or 30 miles an hour, and examination of skid marks will tell most of the story.

When the car is hot, put it up to the limit allowed by law and then take your foot off the accelerator and let the car "push" the engine until you have dropped to about 20 miles an hour. Then step hard on the accelerator. If blue smoke comes out of the exhaust, it indicates worn pistons, rings and cylinder walls. If the smoke changes from blue to black as you gain speed, the carburetor mixture is too rich, a stunt sometimes resorted to by sharp dealers to soften the explosions and hide engine noises. A clattering noise during this speed-up indicates loose connecting rods, and a heavy thumping may mean a loose main bearing or fly wheel.

Tires Tell A Story
Don't go by speedometers as an assurance of mileage. Examine the wear on the brakes, clutch and accelerator pedals and on the tires. A car with several makes of tires in various stages of wear probably has been out 20,000 miles or more. An appraisal of the tires by a good tire man might tell a lot.

Check the battery by using the starter and horn while the lights are on. If they go very dim, the battery probably is in bad order.

Many of these things could be corrected by a competent mechanic. That's up to your horse-trading ability.

Watch your step on guarantees. A "money back guarantee" has been known to mean simply a credit on a more expensive car and maybe a bigger gyp. "New car guarantees" literally cover only defects in workmanship and materials and have nothing to do with worn parts or defects developed by abuse.

Go over your time payment or even cash contracts and make sure that the title is good.

If you have done all that, say my informants, and are as sharp as a tack to boot, you probably will get what you paid for, whether it's a $50 poodle-jumper or a latest model that had rolled only a thousand miles before its owner up and died.

Lower Speeds Would Conserve Gas, Oil

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9 (AP)—A government official declared today that American motorists could save 150,000,000 gallons of gasoline a year and conserve important quantities of oil and tires by holding their top speed to 45 miles per hour.

John Carmody, federal works administrator, said also that such a program of moderation would prevent "wastage of human material resources of the nation through accidents."

Strikes May Stop Most Of Tank Output

Company Making Gears Tied Up By Walkout; Many Plants Affected

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—War department officials reported today the bulk of the army's tank production was threatened with immediate stoppage by a labor jurisdiction controversy at Hillsdale, Mich., and said they were "gravely concerned over the situation."

The main stoppage is at Hillsdale Steel Products company, a subsidiary of the Spicer Manufacturing company of Toledo, Ohio, where department officials said there was also a CIO boycott, resulting from the Hillsdale dispute.

The Spicer company makes about 70 per cent of the transmissions for all the army's tanks and also for most of the half-tracks and "jeep" combat vehicles.

The Toledo concern reported that unless there was a settlement it would have to halt work tonight on transmissions for the military vehicles and that materials were on hand for about a week's further manufacture of parts for the tanks.

Spicer employs about 2,200 workers.

The Toledo plant was said to be involved in the dispute only incidentally. It has a contract with the CIO Automobile Workers Union.

The Hillsdale company, however, has a contract with the rival A.F.T. Automobile Workers Union, which recently won a labor relations board election there.

Despite the AFL victory, the dispute between the rival unions continued at Hillsdale, and rioting this week resulted in temporary closing of the plant at the request of local officials.

ABClub Sees Demonstrations Of Fire Causes

Proof that carelessness pays dividends in preventing fire losses was demonstrated before the American Business Club in its regular weekly luncheon Friday at the Settles.

After B. J. McDaniel, city manager, had introduced Assistant Fire Chief E. C. Gaylor, in charge during the illness of Chief Ole Cordill, used cornstarch and flour dust to show effects of explosions. These were directed within a model house to reveal the effects of gas blasts.

Gaylor also gave gasoline demonstrations to show how the fluid, improperly stored or carelessly used, can be dangerous and destructive.

J. D. Stembridge, city electrician, outlined abuses people make of wiring systems, demonstrated how loose connections and shorts can produce fires, proved the folly of putting pennies behind the fuse by showing that this did not correct the trouble which caused the fuse to kick out. As a consequence, heavy wiring smoked and then burst into flames.

C. O. Nalley named his committee to serve in the scout fund raising campaign Tuesday. W. H. Watson was a club visitor.

Farm Labor Center Contract Awarded

Contract for the Farm Security Administration migratory farm labor center near Lamesa has been awarded to Fox Rig and Lumber Co., of Ardmore, Okla., it was learned here Thursday.

Amount of the contract was not known immediately, but the project originally was set up for well over $100,000 and will provide quarters for agricultural laborers who can move about that area to their work.

Construction on the project, which embraces several buildings, will get underway by Oct. 10. The TSES office here has been notified so that contractors may secure labor.

Victor Watts Joins U.S. Army Air Corps

Victor Watts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Denton Watts, has been assigned to Jefferson Barracks near St. Louis, Mo., the U. S. army recruiting office announced here Friday. He is in the air corps.

Clyde Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Dunn of Coahoma, also accepted for enlistment, has been assigned to the air corps at Sheppard Field, near Wichita Falls.

With New President In Office -- Panama May Allow Freighters To Arm

PANAMA, Oct. 10 (AP)—A coup d'etat government pledged to collaboration in continental defense is reconsidering an order Monday by ousted President Arnulfo Arias which barred the arming of merchant ships flying Panama's flag.

A cabinet member said last night that some decision on the question — which affects many United States-owned vessels shifted to Panama registry because of the neutrality act to carry war supplies to Britain—might be announced today. Ricardo Adolfo De La Guardia, the new president sworn in late yesterday as the republic's third chief executive in one eventful day after disclosure that Arias had flown to Cuba, issued a statement declaring his government "will be inspired by the most absolute sentiments of collaboration in defense of the continent, maintaining always national dignity and the greatest respect for contractual obligations with the government of the United States." (Informed Washington sources said the United States would regard De La Guardia as the constitutional leader of Panama. There is no question of recognition, they said, since the shift followed constitutional procedure without disorder. (On a lecture tour in Paducah, Ky., Dr. Ricardo Alfaro, former president of Panama, said the

Over 5,300 Farm Workers Placed Here

Farm placements jumped past the 5,300 mark here Friday as the volume of cotton moving to gins held steady at around the 1,000 bales a day reached first on Wednesday.

Of the workers placed on farms since the beginning of the harvest season, said O. R. Rodden, local Texas State Employment Service manager, 2,725 have been for Howard county and 2,656 from Dawson county. Both counties, however, include figures for Martin county placements.

Pickers are still arriving in large numbers so that the number of placements may approach 6,000 by the end of the week.

Ginnings to date were approaching 9,000 bales for the county. This was little less than a third of the more often quoted production figure, and less than a fourth of the more liberal observers.

Most Big Spring gins had yards jammed with cotton loads at 10 p. m. Thursday and had enough to keep them humming away until the new movement started in at dawn.

Roosevelt Knows Of No Peace Offers

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Roosevelt, answering a press conference query, declared today he had no reports at all which would indicate that Russia had reached the point in her resistance to Germany where she might have to accept an armistice.

Asked whether he had any knowledge of how letter in which he promised Premier Joseph Stalin all possible American assistance had reached Berlin, Mr. Roosevelt said he had a hunch, but did not elaborate.

Allies Gain Strength In Far East's Isles

MANILA, Oct. 10 (AP)—Henry F. Grady, President Roosevelt's special economic representative, said today he had received assurances during a comprehensive tour of southeastern Asia that the axis would be shut off completely from the world's largest storehouse of war materials.

He told a press conference that officials of the Philippines, China, Malaya, The Netherlands East Indies, India, Burma and Ceylon had pledged their efforts for increased production and expedited deliveries to the United States and Britain of several strategic materials.

Scout Fund Drive To Start Tuesday

With a record of imposing membership gains to back appeals, more than 100 friends of Boy Scout activities in the Big Spring district are prepared to stage their annual fund campaign Tuesday.

Elmo Wasson, finance chairman, outlined plans at a meeting of district officials Thursday evening and disclosed that 122 men had been enlisted for a one-day drive.

For the first time in years, four other communities in the district are planning companion drives, he said. Coahoma, Knott and Foran have completed arrangements and Stanton is devising a working set-up.

Although the Big Spring share of the $15,000 Buffalo Trail council budget is virtually unchanged, Wasson and Dr. W. B. Hardy, district chairman, were interested in making an effort to make it possible in an effort to make it possible to increase the professional service in this district.

The campaign here is being handled through four "scoutmasters" from the four service clubs, who in turn have patrol leaders and patrol

WANTED: One Pole Climber To Render His Flag Service

The colors are calling one good flagpole climber. Some fellow who can shinny up a 50-foot steel pole can do a service to Howard county and the U.S. flag.

For the past several days, the flag hasn't flown from the courthouse pole. Reason: the rope has broken and no one has been found to carry it back up to the pulley at the pole's top.

The county has secured a new chain to substitute for the rope, and it is hoped it will not break so easily, but someone has to carry it up.

County Judge Walton Morrison, issuing a call for help, said he wanted someone for the job who knew something about it, not just a daredevil or an adventurous youngster.

Food Price Rise Continues In Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Texas housewife's food dollar continued to shrink during September. The state bureau of labor statistics reported a survey of retail prices on 82 items in 10 cities showed an overall increase of 8.4 per cent last month.

Some prices, including those on cereals, beef, veal, canned fruits and vegetables and dried fruits and vegetables were down but the reduction was more than offset by increases on bakery products, pork, lamb, chickens, dairy products, eggs, fats and oils and sugar and sweets.

Since April statewide prices, based on the 82 commodities, have increased 8.4 per cent.

74th Execution In France Is Reported

PARIS, German-Occupied France, Oct. 10 (AP)—German authorities announced today that the 74th person had been shot as reprisal for attacks against the German occupying forces.

The announcement said Gaston Pinot, of Courmelles, in Alsace department, was shot today. He was condemned to death last Tuesday for illegal possession of firearms.

It was said also that 15 militant communists had been interned at Amiens on orders of the Perfect of Somme department. This raised to 46 the number of communists sent to concentration camps in that department in the last several days.

Arias Hints U.S. Forced Him To Flee

HAVANA, Oct. 10 (AP)—Dr. Arnulfo Arias, ousted president of Panama, said today that "certain differences" had arisen between his administration and United States authorities and he added caustically that his case contained "a lesson for small countries."

In an interview with Cuban reporters he discussed the situation he left when he fled the little republic in August before dawn last Thursday, ostensibly to see an oculist in Cuba.

"It appears that they (little countries) haven't the right to raise living standards, achieve economic independence and prosper lest they be considered 'a threat' for the future," Arias said.

"My government wished to grant lands (to the United States) for air bases and other defense works but it wished full compensation for private lands," he went on.

"Otherwise the much discussed 'solidarity' couldn't be understood. The coup convinced me I was wrong. Believe me when I say I sincerely regret it for Panamanians and for those, our good neighbors, of the north."

He acknowledged Panama's refusal to permit the arming of United States ships of Panama registry had been "badly received" in the United States.

Rites Today For Mrs. Cora McKee

Rites were to be held Friday at 4 p. m. in the Eberley chapel for Mrs. Cora McKee, 64, who died early today at the home of a sister, Mrs. R. Balch.

Mrs. McKee resided at Vealmoor community but had been at her sister's home since she became ill two months ago.

Survivors include her husband R. H. McKee, with whom she came to Howard county in 1905; three sons, Clyde McKee, Louis McKee and Carl McKee, all of the Vealmoor area; three daughters, Mrs. Ruth Long, Knott, Mrs. Rubie Parks, Amarillo, and Mrs. Opal Grisham, Ira. Twenty-two grandchildren also survive.

The funeral was to be in charge of the Rev. Stalcup, Baptist minister of the Vealmoor community, and burial in the old Mount Olive cemetery.

Helen Morgan Died Almost Penniless

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Helen Morgan, who once earned $2,500 a week singing simple songs in night clubs, died virtually penniless, it was disclosed today.

When the 41-year-old former Ziegfeld star succumbed to a liver ailment in Henrotin hospital Wednesday night she had virtually nothing left from her one time huge earnings, her widower, Lloyd Johnson, said.

A spokesman for Theater Authority, a clearing house for various theatrical guilds, said that a portion of the hospital expenses was borne by the guilds. An offer to pay the expenses of her burial tomorrow was rejected, however, he said.

Grand Jury Probe In Houston Strike

HOUSTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—A Harris county grand jury will be asked today to act on reports that intimidation has been resorted to in the strike of truck drivers which has halted work on the army's $3,000,000 San Jacinto Ordnance Dept., Sheriff R. B. Crawford said.

The sheriff declared that Shorty French, a non-union bakery truck driver, reported that some men had pushed him and told him to keep away from the depot.

Both Armies Hurl Reserve Forces Forth

Mountains Of German Corpses Fill Roads To Moscow, Say Reds

By The Associated Press
Russian front-line dispatches conceded today that Adolf Hitler's invasion armies were still advancing "over mountains of German corpses" in the Bryansk sector of the 9-day-old battle for Moscow, and simultaneously the British radio reported a new threat developing almost due west of the U.S.S.R. capital.

The BEC said that troops were striking toward the upper Volga town of Rzhew, 125 miles west of Moscow, thereby stretching the main Soviet defense line into a 270-mile arc through Vyasma and Bryansk to Orel.

In the see-saw fighting around Vyasma, 125 miles southwest of Moscow, the Russians admitted the Germans had scored gains in several sectors, but said picked Red army troops were now moving up to meet them, reinforcing units which breached the first violent impact of the Nazi onslaught.

Red Star, the Soviet army newspaper, said Russian troops captured a village around Vyasma and found 4,500 German dead.

Elsewhere in the same region, counter-attacking Soviet troops were reported to have routed a German motorized column, killing 8,000 men and destroying 220 tanks in a five-day battle.

Red Star said the German advances around Bryansk were achieved only through sheer might of numbers, with the invaders suffering enormous losses.

Red Star, the Russian army newspaper, said the Germans were throwing immense forces into the new push after being routed earlier in the Bryansk sector, 230 miles southwest of Moscow.

As an example, Red Star said two Nazi tank divisions and two motorized infantry divisions were hurled against a single Red army unit of undisclosed size, and that three German infantry divisions led by 100 tanks attacked another Soviet unit during a one-day battle.

Other Soviet dispatches, however, asserted that despite the renewed fury of the German onslaught, Hitler's vast entrenchment plan before Moscow had collapsed and that at least some of the trapped Red armies had battled their way out of the Nazi net-cracker.

The atmosphere in Moscow itself, contrasting with yesterday's official acknowledgment of a grave emergency, was distinctly more confident.

The Soviet command was reported to have opened the flood-gates of Russia's mighty manpower reserves, throwing masses of fresh troops into the bitter conflict.

A Red army bulletin reported also that the Nazi offensive north of Orel, on the south wing of the German drive on Moscow, had been blocked.

Soviet front-line dispatches said at least 15,000 German officers and soldiers had been killed in various "pocket" battles around Vyasma, 125 miles west of Moscow, and Bryansk, 230 miles southwest of the Russian capital.

Against this suddenly brightening picture of the struggle drawn by the Russians, the German high command asserted that a 310-mile breach on the central front "has been extended further eastward" and that the ring of steel was biting deeper on trapped Red armies in the Vyasma and Bryansk sectors.

On the southern Ukraine front, Hitler's field headquarters said German troops were closing in on Red forces encircled along the 5th of Azov, in a drive apparently aimed at the Don river city of Rostov, gateway to the Caucasian oil fields.

Authoritative quarters in London confirmed that the Germans had captured Melitopol, Oospenko (Berdiansk) and Mariupol along the north shore of the Azov sea, and said it was possible that a considerable pocket of Russian resistance existed west of those points—presumably cut off.

Significantly, the Soviet high command dropped all mention of Melitopol in its latest communiqué, although earlier bulletins described it as a scene of the heaviest fighting.

The Russians also indicated they were maintaining at least equality, if not superiority, in the air in the gigantic conflict, with waves after waves of Soviet dive-bombers blasting incessantly at German armor and mechanized columns.

Anti-Ship Armers Plan All Out Fight

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Congressional opponents of neutrality revision decided today they would have to wage an all-out fight against President Roosevelt's request for authority to arm shipping, even though some in their ranks were not dead set against the idea of putting guns on merchantmen.

The big objective, Senator Taft (R-Ohio) explained, was to preserve the law's existing provisions prohibiting American-flag merchantmen from operating in combat zones or voyaging to belligerent ports.

However, he said, many opposition legislators had come to the conclusion that unless a substantial vote could be mustered against the ship arming proposal in the house, administration forces in the senate were likely to seek more sweeping changes, which would end the curb on ship movements.

"There are some who believe that the arming of ships might not be so bad in itself," Taft told reporters, "but when it is linked with a proposal to send those vessels into the war zone, the whole question must be considered."

In the same vein, Representative Fish (R-NY), ranking minority member of the house foreign affairs committee, said he would reverse his previous decision to support the armed ship proposal if it became apparent that this was "part of the administration plot to get rid of the combat zone provision in the senate."

"In that case," he declared, "I will be against the whole darn thing."

President Roosevelt told congress yesterday, in specifically requesting repeal of the ban on arming merchantmen, that he hoped the legislators would carry out the "true intent of the lend-lease act by making it possible for the United States to deliver the articles to those who are in a position to use them."

Navy Ready To Mount Guns On Merchantmen

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Merchantmen plying the Atlantic danger zones can be armed just as soon as congress gives the word, administration leaders disclosed today, because the navy has sufficiently overcome the serious shortage of proper weapons which existed earlier this year.

"There will be enough guns for the ships in the Atlantic as soon as the necessary revision of the neutrality act is accomplished," an informed administration source said.

Although the navy is known to have great many guns in reserve which were adequate to protect ships against submarines, there was a shortage of anti-aircraft weapons.

Last April 5, however, congress made $75,868,520 available to correct that situation and shortly thereafter the navy began getting deliveries of those guns in substantial numbers. The April estimate placed expected production at about 100 a month.

The money provided was for the purchase of 1,445 guns and 1,364 mounts.

Navy officials testified that those weapons together with those already available would provide for the arming of 600 ships, mostly private merchantmen, and said they estimated that would be the number of vessels which would have to be armed in the event of war.

Oil Control Will Dominate World, Britisher Says

BEAUMONT, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Right Hon. Lord Marley, deputy speaker of the British House of Lords, today told the men who produce a great percentage of the world's oil — members of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association — that "whoever controls the main sources of oil will win the war and dominate the world for years to come."

"American production and American transportation," he said, "are going to be vital weapons in the decisive struggle which faces the democratic peoples in the immediate future."

Lord Marley said the recent "temporary loan of tankers by the United States has enabled Britain to build up a sufficient reserve supply of oil in the British Isles to safeguard herself against the siege effect of an all-out invasion attempt by the axis — an attempt which I believe the axis will be forced to make during the next 18 months."

"Britain's oil problem," he said, "is one of transportation, while for Hitler it is one of geographical control. The oil of the Caucasus was one of the big factors in Hitler's decision to march on Russia, the reason behind his present activities in Crimea and the Black Sea, and will motivate an early thrust into Turkey."

Lord Marley asserted Britain was on the upgrade and Germany the downgrade, industrially.

Oil Control Will Dominate World, Britisher Says

When the democracies emerge after next year, however, he said, "we can be sure of eventual victory."

George Sawtelle of Houston, was announced last night as the association's new president. J. Cooke Wilson of Beaumont was named vice-president for the Gulf coast district and R. F. LeFevre was elected vice-president for the West Texas district. Other officers were re-elected.

Directors of the association, in executive session, adopted a resolution requesting Secretary Ickes to "immediately request and insist that the Office of Production Management promptly grant ratings necessary and appropriate and calculated to make immediately available the necessary materials and supplies for the national defense effort of the oil industry."

Awards for distinguished service to the industry were given John R. Suman, president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers and vice president of the Humble Oil and Refining company, and John F. O'Donoghue of Wichita Falls, president of the Petroleum Producers company.

Dallas and Mineral Wells presented bids for the next convention, whose site will be determined later.

Suspect In Miley Slaying Arrested

FORT WORTH, Oct. 10 (AP)—Two ex-convicts were held today as suspects in the slaying of Marion Miley, 27-year-old nationally known golf star, and his mother at a fashionable Lexington, Ky., country club Sept. 28.

Sheriff Ernest Thompson and Police Chief Austin B. Price of Lexington started for Fort Worth after receiving a telephoned description of the men last night.

Detective Capt. A. E. Dowd of Fort Worth said Thompson told him "there's the men we're looking for."

14 Hurt In Train-Trolley Crash—The Fort Bliss-bound street car (above) was hurled 21 feet when a Texas and Pacific passenger train and the car figured in a collision at El Paso, Texas. Fourteen of the 30 passengers aboard the street car were injured.

Tiny Snorter Is Biggest Worrier In Big Six Loop.

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 10 (AP) — Norman Deway Lester, the Oklahoma Sooners' new football coach who answers to the awful nickname of Snorter, is the smallest, biggest worrier in America. He's worried away five pounds over his game with mighty Texas at Dallas tomorrow and at this rate will be dried up and blown away before the season ends. Snorter has only 125 pounds to start with, packed solidly in a 5-foot 8-inch frame. He is the smallest head coach ever seen in these parts. This mild-appearing, bespectacled little fellow has a fellow tag along behind him on the practice field with a thermos of coffee.

S'West Has Chance For Nat'l Spot

By the Associated Press
Five Southwest conference football teams will meet in an interconference game Saturday and a grand slam would put this state at the very top of the national heap. Texas plays Oklahoma at Dallas. Texas Christian battles Indiana at Bloomington. Texas A. and M. meets New York University at New York. Rice tackles Tulane at Houston. Southern Methodist engages College of Pacific at Tyler. Four of the five are favored to win. The other—Rice's team of mystery—appears to have the hardest task because Tulane has swept to the rating of one of the two greatest elevens in the south. Duke is the other. The heralded University of Texas team runs into a difficult afternoon if history is upheld. Texas and Oklahoma have been meeting for 40 years and it's usually a rip-snorter of a game of long runs and jarring, cracking line play.

Back On The Farm

BUCHANAN, Ga., Oct. 10 (AP)—One of Brooklyn's most beloved "dumb huns"—Whitlow Wyatt—who pitched the Dodgers to their lone world series victory over the New York Yankees, is back home on his North Carolina farm. The tall Georgian, the only pitcher to beat the mighty Yankee in their last eleven world series games, has a 700-acre "farmer's farm," as Whit calls it. At nearby Cedartown, officials are planning a big celebration in his honor next Wednesday. Wyatt called Brooklyn supporters "the greatest bunch of fans in the world. They deserved a pennant."

Gives Bears Nod Over Porkers; Frogs Get Edge Over Indiana

By HERB BARKER
NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Climbing out on the football limb and waiting patiently for the drop that's sure to come: Rice-Tulane: No weakness in this Tulane machine that anyone has discovered so far. Maybe Rice's Owl will come up with the answer but this corner, for one, will have to be shown. Tulane-Texas-Oklahoma: Dave Bible's Texans boast a good line, a flock of talented backs headed by Pete Layden and Jack Crain, and plenty of scoring punch. Oklahoma's played only one game and remains a question mark. Maybe it'll be an exclamation point after Saturday. Until then, Texas. Georgia Tech-Notre Dame: Tech scored the ears off Notre Dame in that 26-0 business a year ago. This may be another scare but there appears to be too much depth in this Notre Dame squad for the Engineers in the long run. Notre Dame. North Carolina-Fordham: Fordham nearly got its ears pinned back by E. M. U. a week ago. Maybe that experience will do the highly-touted Rams some good. They rate a pronounced nod over North Carolina in any case. New York University-Texas A. and M.: No real line on the Texans yet but this battle is cast for them. Indiana-Texas Christian: Indiana's lost two tough ones. Christian's won two of the same variety. All of which means presently nothing. Out of the hat, Texas Christian. Nebraska-Kansas: The Huskers may have real trouble here. Still, Nebraska. Missouri-Kansas State: Taking Missouri. Baylor-Arkansas: Guessing again. Southern Methodist over Pacific. Oregon State-Stanford: These games in the north are a football guesser's nightmare. State was good enough to whip Washington a week ago and should give Stanford a battle. Hesitatingly, Stanford. Minnesota-Illinois: Obviously Illinois is improved but this doesn't look like the spot for a Gopher heaving. Minnesota. Georgia-Mississippi: Would prefer to dodge this one. This is a pivotal test for Georgia, for if the Bulldogs get past Ole Miss they may wind up unbeaten. Ole Miss has Hapes and Hovious; Georgia has Frankie Sinkwich. Boy, the coin. On the spin, Georgia. Yale-Penn: The season probably will see no more spirited rally than Yale's 21-point second half drive to beat Virginia. But Penn seems to have unlimited punch. We'll take Penn. Navy-Lafayette: Shouldn't be more than a good workout for Navy. Maryland-Duke: Ditto for Duke. Boston College-Clemson: Looks like a real dog-fight and the guess here is Boston College. Michigan-Pitt: The Panthers may make it close, but even that is subject to doubt. Michigan-Northwestern-Wisconsin: The Badgers will have to do better than they did against Marquette to even stay in this ball game. Northwestern. Michigan State-Marquette: On what it showed last week, Marquette. Kentucky-Vanderbilt: You figure this one. We'll resort to the hat and out comes Vanderbilt. Louisiana State-Mississippi State: L. S. U. has shown nothing so far to indicate the Tigers are conquerors of Alabama. Mississippi State. California-Santa Clara: That California bubble really burst last week. Still this should be close. Santa Clara. Southern California-Oregon: Maybe the Trojans can bounce back after that Ohio State rout but it's doubtful. Oregon. Washington State-Washington: Extremely even, it appears. Washington.

One minute sports page—Latest addition to the "bow" games is the Carolina Bowl, which will send 22 North Carolina players against 22 from South Carolina for the Greenville (S. C.) Lions club charity fund, Dec. 6. The assumption is the governors will be there to make their famous remarks. Sam Taub, the fight broadcaster, will turn actor Oct. 15 on the "Meet Mr. Meek" program. He has been cast as a fight announcer. South Dakota is due to get a look at several baseball bigwigs during the next week or two while the baseballers look over South Dakota's million phasants. Len Will, who almost played fullback for Columbia this season, and Dave Allred, Princeton's 1940 passing ace, will listen to the Lions-Tigers game together tomorrow at Chickasha, Okla., where the air corps sent them both.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—You can't keep up with the sports seasons. Here we thought football was just warming up and we find Ned Irish working overtime on his basketball bookings. Ned hasn't announced his first college show at the Garden yet (it will be Dec. 13) but he has so many applications for season tickets he doesn't know how he will manage to hold out enough choice seats for the colleges. What's this we hear about Duquesne threatening to quit football? Story is the Duke's can't compete with Pitt at the gate and Pitt won't compete with Duquesne on the field. Phil Risque has promised to be one of the umpires when Pitt Niagara, basketball champion of the second army corps area, plays Fort Adams, first corps area champ, at Brooklyn's Dexter park tomorrow.

Take a chance sept.—Playing safe on this week's football selections, we'll continue to string along with Minnesota and Stanford although they may have tough going against Illinois and Oregon State. In fact, if this is the time Bob Zuppke wants to win just to show up the guys who were trying to get him fired, we wouldn't be a bit surprised to see Illinois upset the Gophers. Other picks are Boston College over Clemson—because it isn't as hot in Boston as it was at New Orleans and because South Carolina scout admits: "I don't think we're as good as Tulane." Colgate over Dartmouth—because we don't think Andy Kerr has showed his hand yet, although reports from New England say Dartmouth has a real good team. Notre Dame over Georgia Tech and Fordham over North Carolina—because we think they're a lot better. For tonight, Temple to beat Georgetown, which fouled us, and Mississippi to beat Georgia—because Frankie Sinkwich won't be at his best with a broken jaw.

School Board Fixes '41 Tax Rate At $1
School board members Thursday afternoon approved the 1941 tax rolls for the Big Spring Independent School District.

Total valuations were pegged at $9,848,570, and the tax rate was established again at the $1 maximum, which gives a levy of $98.4870. Division of the tax receipts was set at 70 per cent for local maintenance and 30 per cent for interest and sinking fund. Only other business before the board was that of approving bills.

Kasch, Bostick Womack Are On Ailing List

Odessa Still Uncertain As To Condition Of Two Key Men

Facing their hardest test thus far in the season, Big Spring's Steers trek Odessa-ward in a weakened condition. Injuries have not made any outstanding inroads on the Herd's strength but a sudden flurry of illness Thursday got in some telling blows. Paul Kasch, Big Spring's smashing defensive back, was on the sick list Thursday afternoon. Thursday night, Kasch declared he would be among those present, though, at Odessa. Quarterback Horace Bostick is ailing—same applies to Billy Womack. Colds and an over-supply of liver and onions makes the sad story for Big Spring.

Remainder of the crew is in fairly good physical condition. Tonight's battle is slated to be an all-out affair from the opening gun. Starting times is 8 o'clock. It all the Big Spring backfield is in condition to enter the fray, the contest should be in the beginning, about even. Loss of one or two of the secondary, may well mean that Big Spring drops its second conference tilt.

Odessa's war strength has become something of a mystery. Earlier in the week it was reported that the Bronchos would be at full power—later it was reported that Quarterback DeWitt Fry and End Keith Ewans would be out of the struggle. As the situation now stands, both lads are supposed to be out—but, don't count too much on their staying out. There is even a possibility that both may play the greater part of tonight's game.

Otis McKelvey is one of the speedsters in the Broncho ball-carrying department who is slated to lead Big Spring trouble. Powerful, 200-pound Raymond Evans, also gets top billing in the Odessa offensive maneuvers. Big Spring's forward wall is not to be considered too lightly, even though it will give poundage to Odessa. Cal Boykin, tackle, Billy Shaw, guard, and Felix Campbell, end, gave good accounts for themselves at Colorado City and are getting more fitness with time. Rest of the line has ruggedness packed in Tackle Wofford Steady and Billy Suggs—that item that can be used to good advantage tonight.

No.	Player	WT.	Pos.
50	Peppy Hount	190	RE
74	Wofford Hardy	160	RT

What's This—! Tech Coach Is Rank Optimist

LUBBOCK, Oct. 10 (AP)—Coach Dell Morgan has his Texas Tech boys out on the coast today for a game with Loyola. Los Angeles football fans can get a shock by asking him how it will come out. Here's what he told Sports Writer Collier Farris before leaving Lubbock: "Well, I think all the scout dope I have received on Loyola is wrong, so I guess the best thing for us to do is just run around for points until we get tired."

The 221-pound Morgan—they call him Delicate Dell because of his fondness for cream pies—is that happy combination of coach and optimist. No moaning for Dell; no stuff about "they're likely to slaughter us." Our team is shot with injuries. He's the Pollyanna of the Texas plains.

Before the game with Oklahoma A. and M. last week, Dell told Bus Ham, Oklahoma City sports writer: "I guess we ought to thump them at least two touchdowns." Tech won 15-4.

Frank Tolbert, Fort Worth sports writer, asked Morgan about his first-string lineup. Said Morgan: "There isn't any first-string. I've got 55 boys and the players who come on the field with their teeth grinding and their sleeves rolled up are the boys I start. If all come out that way I play them all." Here's a typical Morgan pep talk: "Well, you guys have to play a ball game. I hope we're still speaking to each other after the game."

Lookin' 'em Over

WITH JACK DOUGLAS

Chipped and cloudy as it is, following the hammering it took last week, the old crystal ball is again placed on the table for a bit of study. So far as the complete district 3-AA setup is concerned, the view is rather hazy. Only comparatively clear picture in the sphere is the Midland-Sweetwater affair. Judging from past showings of both clubs, Sweetwater is billed to take the Midlanders—but, not by such a score as might be indicated.

The Mustangs have power and fair speed, plus two of the smartest backs in the loop, Young and Flanagan. Furthermore they have that certain flair that is only possessed by a winning club. In opposition, what do the Bulldogs have? Well, they have that desperate determination that usually is the lot of a rank underdog. Sometimes that attitude results in an upset—such doesn't appear too likely to be the case tonight.

Concerning the Big Spring-Odessa match—it is strongly advised that a coin be flipped. Don't be surprised if it falls on the edge. At the rate casualties are cropping up right now, both clubs may be somewhat weakened. In fact, judging from the sick list right now, it's a good thing the game isn't three or four days off—the event would develop finally into a sociable evening of light conversation between coaches and officials.

Based on the prediction solely on the brand of football displayed last Friday night, it looks as though Colorado City should be picked over San Angelo. The score will be close any way it goes—Colorado City may have a bigger job on its hands than last week. But, there is no reason to believe that Royce Smith and Roy Allen are any slower than they were last Friday, nor is there any cause to doubt that the Wolves are still full of the fury that gave them a draw with Big Spring. Colds have weakened the Wolves but perhaps the sick list will be cleared by game time tonight.

Lamesa has Baek Gus White, Jr.—Abilene has Coach Vernon Hilliard. Tonight's result may hinge on one thing—is Coach Hilliard the man to devise a means of stopping White's spectacular ball-toting. If he can, Abilene beats Lamesa handily. If he can't, Abilene becomes another victim of the surprising Lamesans.

Taking it man for man and team against team, Abilene is favored over the Lamesans by two or three touchdowns but it would most certainly not be out of order to toss the coin on this one.

Loyola Due To Put On Aerial Show

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 10 (AP)—Heartened by a courageous if losing game with Santa Clara last week, Loyola university's Lions will seek revenge tonight in an intercollegiate football game with undefeated Texas Tech.

The Texans handed Loyola a 19-0 defeat at Lubbock last year, and enter tonight's contest favored by a slim margin.

A passing attack by the Red Raiders was expected because of the sturdy line molded by Coach Marty Brill of Loyola. It held powerful Santa Clara for three downs on the one-yard line before surrendering a touchdown.

Duke, Duchess On Way Back Home

CALGARY, Oct. 9 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor sped eastward from western Canada today toward North Portal, Sask., tiny border town where they will leave the dominion for a trip across the United States to the Atlantic seaboard.

The Windsors plan several stops during the journey across the United States and will visit relatives of the duchess in Baltimore, her home town.

Locals Aerial, Ground Attack Clicks Smoothly

Big Spring's Yearlings continued their season's victorious march here Thursday afternoon, clouting the fighting Lamesa Juniors, 26 to 0.

The Yearlings stayed in the saddle during most of the contest. In the opening minutes of the game, the locals marked up four first downs straight running then proceeded to hammer through touchdowns by way of aerial and ground attack.

The Big Springers called first in the second quarter, repeated in the third, and added a pair of touchdowns in the fourth. Big Spring took the ball shortly before close of the first quarter and did not relinquish it until the goal line was scratched. Hugh Cochrane's pass to Bobby Barron put the ball near Lamesa's 15.

Cochrane picked up four or five yards around right end. Then, Raulie Matlock took the ball close into easy scoring position. Cochrane hit the line for little gain on the next play. On the next maneuver, Cochrane plowed over the double stripe. Extra point was added with a pass.

Next count was garnered by means of an aerial thrust. Cochrane tossed the ball to Dean, who then romped about 25 yards for the tally.

Claude Matlock put the Yearlings in scoring position with a long sweep around left end. Cameron Warren made a neat pass catch and ripped across the line. Robert Sissons marked up the final score for Big Spring when he took Lamesa's kick near midfield and stepped through the mob to the Crowell led the Lamesa attack.

Small Western Team Leads In Total Scoring

SEATTLE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Pacific Lutheran, a small college near Tacoma, Wash., with a mere 500 male students in its meager student body, boasts the best minor college total offense team and two of the best little school backs in the nation.

Among minor schools playing two or more games, the Lutheran aerial circus averaged 407.5 yards per game by rushing and passing in being Gonzaga, 28-15, and Eastern Washington college, 37-5. The figures were compiled by the American Football Statistical Bureau.

The two spearheads of the Lutheran attack are Marvin "Tommy Gun" Tommervik, 171-pound Associated Press little all-America halfback in 1940, and 206-pound Marvel Harshman, fullback. They turned in these performances:

Tommervik gained 553 yards in 56 ball handling attempts, to lead the minors in total offense gains rushing and passing. In the air he's completed 23 out of 94 attempts for 429 yards, with no interceptions.

Harshman, the fullback, leads the minor colleges in pass receiving with 13 catches from Tommervik good for 159 yards.

Collins of West Texas State is the rushing leader, with 256 yards in 48 rushes. He's followed by Hall, New Hampshire, 245 yards; Bill Knieley, Dayton, 255; Al Walden, Willamette sophomore, 251, and Steinko, Texas A. & I., 228.

Lamesans Are Set For Hard Abilene Tilt

LAMESA, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Golden Tornadoes, Lamesa's little giant-killers of district 3-AA, seek their second conference victory here tonight when they engage the highly-rated Abilene Eagles.

A large crowd is forecast for the battle beginning at 8 o'clock on McCollum Field. The Lamesans combined hard playing and a host of good breaks to dynamite the big Odessa Bronchos last week, 14 to 12. They are paraded on top of the district standings.

This is the conference opener for Abilene's new mentor, Vernon Hilliard, and his large, fast Eagles. General estimate seems to be that Abilene will take the Lamesans—opinion coming mainly from the fact that the Eagles whipped Plainview 25 to 0 and the latter in turn downed Lamesa, 13 to 0.

Coach Lester Gregg, still breathing heavily over last week's victory over Odessa, holds out little hope of another win tonight. His club is still without the services of Kent Morgan, 180-pound tackle. Reserve Darrel Beck, who filled Morgan's position against Odessa, will be in there again.

Owen Taylor, ace Tornado blocking back, out last week, is ready for the fray. Gallinger Gus White, having scored all of Lamesa's points last week, is ready to continue his jaunt down touchdown lane.

Bowling League Ready For Play

Four women's teams are now well into a schedule for their bowling league. Wednesday evening the C. R. Anthony squad downed the Youth Beauty Shop team in the second round, while Modern Cleaners triumphed over Cornellian Cleaners. Next Wednesday Modern and C. R. Anthony meet and Youth Beauty and Cornellian Cleaners will vie with each other.

At an officers election, Eloise Haley was named president, Lois Eason, secretary-treasurer, and Betty Vineyard, reporter. Personnel of the four teams in the league follows: C. R. Anthony—Stella Flynn, Mrs. Gordon Steel, Mrs. Shawn Welch, Mrs. Rufus Miller and Mrs. Betty Vineyard. Cornellian Cleaners—Wanda Griffith, Fern Wells, Eou Parks, Sue Wason and Isabel Robb. Modern Cleaners—Eloise Haley, Mrs. Bob Ward, Sis Smith, Maxine Howard and Sara Reidy. Youth Beauty Shop—Lois Eason, Minnie Howes, Miss Knott, Dorothy Roden and Myrtle Jones.

Reports On National Conference Given At Fall Council Meeting

A talk by Mrs. A. J. Ayers of Fort Worth on "Gleanings From National Conference" was the highlight of the afternoon session of the fall conference of Council of Church Women held Thursday at the First Christian church.

Mrs. Ayers, past president of the state conference, told of the proposed plan of merging the National Council of Catholic Women, National Council of Jewish Women, and National Council of Protestant Women into one united council. The conference here was asked to vote on a name for the organization and voted on "United Council of Church Women" as their choice for a name.

Mrs. Ayers also pointed that Texas rated highest in the number of councils organized.

The afternoon session was opened with music by Mrs. J. C. Pittard at the piano. Mrs. Bernard Lamun led the singing. Invocation was given by the Rev. Robert Snell.

Mrs. Lamun spoke on "Late News on China Relief" and "Christmas Cards for China." Miss Bertha King, Odessa, talked on "The Church Woman" magazine. The Rev. C. J. Duffy gave the benediction.

Following the afternoon meetings, the group was taken on a tour of the WPA nursery school, sponsored by the council, and also to the reading room at the West Side recreation center which held open house Thursday under sponsorship of the 1930 Hyperion club.

Morning sessions opened with an invocation by the Rev. O. L. Savage. Mrs. J. A. East had the devotional. Roll call and reports from council presidents were heard. Mrs. Harry Stalcup sang a solo.

Mrs. H. W. Halslip talked on Bible teaching in the Big Spring schools. Mrs. O. F. Shuttles, Odessa, district president, who presided, told of council work in district eight.

The Rev. H. W. Halslip had the benediction. A covered-dish luncheon was served at noon.

Registration tallied 94 persons with 54 persons attending from Big Spring. Others were Midland 15, Odessa five, McCombs nine, Pecos four, El Paso five, and Balmorhea two.

Downtown Stroller

Mrs. ROY REEDER was looking patriotic the other night. Her hat, which was an off the brim trimmed in red velvet. Red, white and blue and mighty cute looking outfit too....

The airplane influence, has gone to the milliners' products too. Mrs. JACK TERRY was wearing a green ensemble the other evening. Her hat, which was an off the face nature had a propeller of the green on the front. Unusual and clever looking....

Everybody seems to be coming out in new clothes this week. Mrs. CLYDE THOMAS, JR., wore a powder blue corduroy dress trimmed in gold nail heads on the belt. Two hearts in the gold trim were on the belt with the words above and below "I love you, You love me"....

Brown and blue, that lovely combination of colors, was the combination that Mrs. YORDA TAYLOR had on the other evening. Her brown wool skirt was pleated all the way around and she wore a powder blue jerkin top. These Big Spring gals are plenty style conscious....

On the way to work, caught a glimpse of FERN WELLS, who has on a pretty reddish-brown corduroy suit. Her hat was of matching color and her shoes and other accessories were brown. She certainly looked like what the well-dressed woman will wear or ought to wear to work....

If you want to see everybody you know—go to the Cosmo club tonight and tomorrow. The place is full of folks from all over the country. And they've got a good fair too.

East 4th St. Classes Meet For Organization And Social Event

Temple Minister To Preach For First Baptist

The Rev. Guy Newman of Temple will fill the pulpit in both services Sunday at the First Baptist church.

A comparatively young minister, the Rev. Newman nevertheless has had years of practical experience in the work. He abandoned a business at Amarillo to serve in the capacity of assistant pastor to the late Dr. G. L. Yates and filled the place as pastor during the latter's long illness. Later he attended Baylor university and was assistant pastor to Dr. Melton at 7th and James church in Waco.

In addition to participating in Sunday services, the Rev. Newman will address the Brotherhood organization Monday evening, said George Meled, president.

Three Guests Meet With Seven Aces Bridge Club

Three guests, Mrs. O. B. Harris, Mrs. W. K. Harrison and Mrs. Roy Grandstaff met with the Seven Aces club Thursday when Mrs. Earl Corder was hostess in her home.

Mrs. Gene Wilson won high score and Mrs. L. F. Hesley, second high. Roses and marigolds decorated the rooms and refreshments were served. Mrs. U. D. Kindrick was elected president during a business session and Mrs. I. T. Hesley was re-elected reporter.

Mrs. O. B. Harris was voted in as a new member. The next party is to be October 23rd at the Settles hotel. Others playing were Mrs. C. Joe Burnam and Mrs. Ed Allen.

Lecturer To Give Notes On Vitamin-Rich Foods To Prepare For Family

Recent statistics released by the United States Department of Agriculture point out that hardly half of the people of America get enough vitamins for radiant health.

It's not how much but what you eat that counts. And so that more women will know the vital part of an adequate diet plays in the health of every individual, The Herald with the sponsorship of local business houses, and national food manufacturers will sponsor the annual Happy Kitchen Cooking School October 20, 21, 22, at the Ritz theatre from 9:30 o'clock to 11 o'clock each morning.

Mrs. Cora Rapson, noted lecturer, 10-15 Sports Reporter, will give scores of helpful hints on shopping and marketing...new tricks to save time and steps in the kitchen, plus the "Question Box" which Mrs. Wilson will answer daily. Admission to the school is free. Change in cooking school time from the afternoons as it has been in the past to the mornings is expected to be more convenient for housewives. The new location at the Ritz theatre in place of the auditorium is also expected to provide a central meeting place.

"The Chocolate Soldier"

Romantic moments from MGM's new musical production, starring Nelson Eddy and Rise Stevens, supported by Nigel Bruce and Florence Bates.

Nelson Eddy, singing star of the Vienna stage, is jealous of his wife, Rise Stevens, his co-star in Viennese musical comedy.

To test her affections, he masquerades as a Russian opera singer.

She invites him to her home, where he continues his successful impersonation of the Russian.

In the last act of their hit musical show he reveals his true identity by singing his closing song in the voice of the Russian.

And to the strains of the show's finale, all is love and kisses as the two are reconciled.

ON THE SETS

With REED JOHNSTON

When a comedian has scored an outstanding success on stage, screen and radio, the next logical step in his development seems to be writing a book, and so Bob Hope has just taken that latest stride with a little volume purporting to be his autobiography called "They Got Me Covered." This document, mailed to representatives of the press in a moment of self-criticism from the Stockyards Station in Chicago, resembles the conventional autobiography in every respect save two—it is hilariously funny and it doesn't tell you much about the life of Bob Hope.

With an introduction by Bing Crosby, in which he says his radio sponsors forbid him to write about anything not connected with cheese, the book begins, as all autobiographies should, with the birth of what seems to have been a pretty faint Hope. Indeed his mother, studying his ski-alike nose for the first time, informed his father that the doctor must have taken away the baby and left the stork.

That was in England; and once the family had moved to Cleveland, Ohio, the young Hope, one of a family of seven sons, one of whom was the big "Crosby" of his day) embarked on a series of misadventures with his school teachers and various employers who showed an almost pathetic eagerness to terminate relations with him. Nor did the theatre show any detectable enthusiasm when he first entered vaudeville in a dancing act—dancing, he says, because he then presented a moving target which made it tougher for the customers to contact him with over-ripe tomatoes and old shoes. Somehow, during an incautious moment on the part of the producers, he slipped into a Broadway musical and then, he says, "the word started going up and down Broadway that Bob Hope was a great bet for pictures." But this rumor died down after a few weeks, chiefly because Bob was getting hoarse.

To hear him tell it, he met with the same dogged sales-resistance when he tried to crack radio, though his sponsor finally broke down and signed a contract while, he insists, the Hall Johnson Choir stood behind him singing "Careless."

From then on things began to break his way with growing frequency in pictures, though if you believe Bob Hope it was in spite of his efforts and not because of them. On the fly-leaf of the presentation copies the author has written, "Honestly—it's Nothing But the Truth," but wary readers will want to take this with their tongues halfway through their cheeks. But I still say it's funny—and that's what everyone expects from Bob Hope.

Erskine Johnson's HOLLYWOOD

EXCLUSIVELY YOURS: Pie-throwing, favorite cinematic sport of the Mack Sennett era, is having a Hollywood comedified Franchot Tone the latest to join the custard hurlers. Script of his co-starring picture with Rita Hayworth, "Eddie Was a Lady," has Tone hurling a pie at someone every time he gets mad. . . . Cary Grant is angling for a producer-star contract at one of the major studios. . . . Gene Tierney, who has trouble keeping her weight down, had to shelve 14 pounds before starting work in "The Shanghai Gesture" . . . Marlene Dietrich sheds that cast on her leg this week, five weeks after she tripped and fell on a Columbia sound stage. . . . After hearing about John Carroll winning a prize in a Pebble Beach golf tournament, Johnny Weissmuller ribbed: "No wonder Carroll won. He played against fellows who didn't shoot in their 80s—they were IN their 80s!"

Bruce Cabot's performance as the romantic lead in "Sundown" has won him more screens offers this month than he's had in two years. Four studios were bidding for his services before Walter Wanger lent him to Warners for "Wild Bill Hickok Rides." The Hickok picture, incidentally, is one for the book. It's a western without a single barroom brawl. . . . Norman Kerry, the silent star, and Lloyd Pantano have joined Charlie Morrison of the Mocambo in the retail liquor business. . . . Hal Block and John Payne are thinking of sinking some of their coin in a novel theater that would sell tickets to two-somes only. It will have double logs seats and be called "The Pitching Post." . . . That Hays Office ban on sweaters still goes. Although they're playing coeds in "The Male Animal," Olivia De Havilland and Joan Leslie aren't permitted to wear any kind of sweaters.

Rosemary Lane opened this week on Broadway in a new musical, "Beat Foot Forward" . . . Maureen O'Hara's recent operation will keep her away from the cameras for another month . . . Paramount is paying Nancy Kelly for another picture as a result of her work in "Fly by Night" . . . Ring Lardner, Jr., and Michael Kamin, "Woman of the Year" scribes, are spiking reports that Katie Hepburn's role in the picture deals with Dorothy Thompson. They chorus: "Woman of the Year" is not a photograph but a painting—a pigment of our imagination" . . . Fox is holding up a new Michael Shayne whodunit because of Lloyd Nolan's illness. . . . Joan Blondell's version of a post-Civil War version of the can-can in "Lady for a Night" is giving the censors the jitters. . . . Scotty Beckett and Juanita Quigley are a juvenile item. . . . Bud Abbott and Lou Costello will draw $5000 a week for their stint in "Rio Rita" at Metro. Twelve years ago Costello was a stunt man on the same lot—at $25 a week.

Freddie Bartholomew and Jackie Paley, the socialite, have rediscovered each other. . . . Jack Oakie tells it. A drunk staggered into a hotel lobby, picked up a freshly watered potted geranium, and took a drink. "Whew," he sputtered, "they just don't make good mint juleps any more!" . . . Jack Chapin, a Hollywood hit player, who expected to be caught in the draft a year ago but wasn't, might just as well have been. He hasn't been out of uniform since. He was a soldier in "Caught in the Draft," a sailor in "Nothing But the Truth," an air raid warden in "Midnight Angel," a fire marshal in "One Night in Lisbon," and now he's a sailor again with Dorothy Lamour in "The Fleet's In" . . . Producer Rowland Brown has purchased "Beau Beautiful," the story of a Yankee's experiences in the Foreign Legion.

Priscilla Lane and John Barry, the Victorville publisher, will tie the matrimonial knot this month when Mamma Lane returns from New York. . . . The Bill Lundigan-Marguerite Chapman romance isn't. . . . Casting of the month: Keye Luke portraying the role of a Chinese cowboy in a new Universal picture titled "North of the Klondike" . . . Want ad of the month: "Lady with seaham experience to look after two dogs in private home" . . . Ann Sothern's sister, Bonnie Lake, will be the new vocalist with Artie Shaw's orchestra. . . . John Barrymore surprised a nightclub waiter the other a.m. by ordering a glass of milk. But when the milk arrived, Barrymore took a carnation from his buttonhole, put it in the glass of milk, and then gave his usual order. . . . Streamlined caricature of Vic Mature—Cinderella, with two pairs of trousers.

KEN MORGAN'S HOLLYWOOD KEYHOLE

After all the conflicting stories and statements that have been riling back and forth around town for the past few months, the status of the career of one Sonia Henie has finally been decided—she will remain in Hollywood and make pictures. A few months ago we recorded her decision to forsake a motion picture career and confine herself to a career as the wife of Dan Topping and make one ice show tour per year. But reports and reviews from her supposed "last" film, "Sun Valley Serenade," have turned the worm and she reports back to 20th-Fox studios January 1, when her annual ice show closes.

Attention—Band and McNally! The town of Berwin, Oklahoma, pop. 700, located on the edge of Gene Autry's new 1800-acre ranch, becomes officially Gene Autry, Oklahoma, this week. Autry stops off at Berwin on October 5, for official dedication ceremonies on the name changing. Upwards of 100,000 people are expected to attend, including Gene's pal, Guv Red Phillips, and other high state officials.

When referring to John Wayne as an All-American, think only in terms of his citizenship—not as a footballer. A few of the boys at the Sigma Chi house at USC will back me up in that statement. "Duke" played freshman football and made the squad in his sophomore year. The boys do considerable kidding of the now-famous movie star at the fraternity house—but no more, as the aforementioned lads can testify. Wayne says blame it all on Bev Barnett, a fraternity brother, and now his press agent.

THE GOOD HUMOR MAN: Bob Hope, in referring to his home studio Paramount loaning him out to Samuel Goldwyn, calls the chore, "The Lend Louie Bill" . . . Here's a surprise—just heard that the Hollywood Reporter poll of the most popular actor in Hollywood will name Mickey Rooney as number one and (hold it) Gene Autry as number two! . . . Olivia De Havilland had a call in for Gene Markey when his boat docked at Panama . . . Martha Raye, after signing hundreds of autographs at the Ice Follies, signed a check in the Brown Derby, "Sincerely yours, Martha Raye" . . . William Powell is up and around again after a short illness. . . . Joan Marsh is testing at RKO for a comeback. . . . Rochester just returned from the yearling sale at Saratoga and added four more race horses to his stable of two. . . . Lois Moran is attempting a comeback via Broadway—she goes into a play there this fall. . . . Wendy Barrie took her finals yesterday to become an American citizen—she was born in England. . . . Donald Woods is being paid by Moss Hart for the male lead in the Broadway show, "Junior Miss" . . . The Inez Cooper-Bill Marshall duo is beginning to look serious. . . . Mary Carlisle is back to her old steady, James Blakely. . . . Randolph Scott has taken over Edmund Granger's interest in Jinx Falkenburg. . . . Columnists report that Lew Ayres and Olivia De Havilland have found each other—they have been acquainted ever since she started in pictures, as they were both managed by Ivan Kahn at the start. . . . Harvey Priester, once the swain of the silent stars, is getting around with Margaret Lindsay. . . . Ann Miller and Blake Garner are a steady Mocambo twosome. . . . Milton Berle and Janice Carter like each other and the Bar of Music, too. . . . Charles Laughton built his home too close to the Santa Monica cliffs and the other day half his lot slid down on the Roosevelt Highway.

Against the background of the inevitable swimming pool, which makes a nice excuse for a bathing-suit, sits Carol Hughes, Gene Autry's current leading lady in "Under Fiesta Skies."

JOE FISHER'S Reviews of Previous

Warner Brothers scored heavily this week with their preview of "ONE FOOT IN HEAVEN," starring Fredric March and Martha Scott, with a strong supporting cast. This intensely human study of a small-town minister's life is a delightfully skillful interweaving of heartache and laughter which should go a long way toward proving that religious stories can be given widespread popular appeal under capable handling. And a high degree of skillful artistry is just what the picture has received from Director Irving Rapper, who takes a top place in Hollywood's directorial gallery with this production. . . . Fredric March as the Reverend Mr. Spence is everywhere equal to the delicate task of interpreting the gentle minister, bringing to the role a rich understanding of its very shading, and giving it the heart and soul and life which make the original Hartzell Spence so vivid and memorable to readers of his book. As the preacher's wise and long-suffering wife, Martha Scott is exquisite to look at, and her performance in every respect matches that of Mr. March.

In supporting roles, Beulah Bondi, Gene Lockhart, Harry Davenport, Laura Hope Crews, Grant Mitchell, Mervyn Olsen, Jerome Cowan, Ernest Cossart and Nana Bryant are superlative in brief appearances, with Frankie Thomas especially notable as the minister in boyhood, and with Carlotta Jelm, Peter Caldwell and Casey Johnson also to be mentioned as his children.

Out of this combination there is certain to come an Academy Award of some kind, and "ONE FOOT IN HEAVEN" is a picture you'll want to enjoy with the entire family—with the full blessing and approval of the Hays Office.

RKO also placed in the big money with its release of the latest Walt Disney feature-length cartoon, "DUMBO." In this sure-fire hit Disney departs somewhat from his previous treatment, with emphasis almost entirely on comedy played against more modest backgrounds than in previous productions. Nor does it include any of those hair-raising sequences which, in "Snow White" and "Pinocchio," occasionally brought howls of alarm from the younger customers.

You'll be enchanted with Dumbo, the little circus elephant with the oversize ears, and his worldly, wise-cracking companion, a new mouse who resembles Mickey only in being another mouse. This combination had the previous audience roaring through most of the picture, which builds to hilarious climaxes in the champagne episode, the blackbird sequence in dialect, and Dumbo's final triumph when he discovers his ears are perfect for flying.

THUMBNAILED PREVIEWS: Universal's top offering was "IT STARTED WITH EVE," starring Deanna Durbin and Charles Laughton, with Robert Cummings, Guy Kibbee, Margaret Tallichet and Walter Catlett in support. This is a sprightly Cinderella story typical of the best, Deanna Durbin picture, and one which will delight you with its sparkling dialogue and the warm, spontaneous performances of its stars. Deanna Durbin is lovely and in perfect voice, while Charles Laughton goes in for hilarious low comedy in high fashion. Robert Cummings is gaily romantic, with Walter Catlett, Guy Kibbee and Margaret Tallichet gleaming very brightly in the background. By all means turn out for this one with the whole family.

Warner's second release this week was "THE MALTESE FALCON," a remake of the Dashiell Hammett original with Humphrey Bogart, Mary Astor, Gladys George, Peter Lorre, Barton MacLane and Lee Patrick in the top supporting spots. Humphrey Bogart is excellent as the hardboiled private detective, with first-rate villainy supplied by Mary Astor, Peter Lorre and Sidney Greenstreet. Gladys George and Barton MacLane also rate special mention, along with the highly capable direction of John Huston. Highly recommended for its thrills and action.

Universal made a bid for action audiences with another in the Dead End Kid series called "JOB TOWN." The pattern for these pictures is so well established that you'll know pretty much what to expect from this group which includes Billy Halop, Huntz Hall, Gabriel Dell and Bernard Punley as the Dead Ends, with Dick Foran as the understanding young cop and Anne Gwynne as Halop's older sister. Not too original in its story treatment, but filled with brawling action and a tough sort of humor.

MEET THE STARS WITH VIC BOSSEN

In a small Arizona town brought to bustling life by the Howard Hughes company filming "The Outlaw," two men one day came together on the street, a sailor and a tall man with deep, searching eyes and a slight stoop. The sailor, who had sidled up to the other, said: "Excuse me, Mister, but I've seen you somewhere before and I'm just wondering where?"

The tall man bent friendly eyes at his companion. He looked him up and down. "I think I've seen you somewhere too," he said.

"Isn't that funny?" said the sailor. "Here we know each other and yet we don't." "It's a pretty small world," the tall man philosophized. They walked on together for several blocks, each trying to place the other. At length they parted, and the sailor went away shaking his head, still not aware that he had been talking to Walter Huston.

Sailors, and all the millions of people the earth around who know Walter Huston from seeing him on the movie screen, owe the treat of his performances to Huston's discontent with an engineering job at the St. Louis municipal power company thirty years ago.

"I'm going to quit," said Huston to his chief engineer one day. "I'm going into acting."

"You're making a serious mistake," the boss replied. "You've got a future in engineering, not acting."

So, perhaps, he was—an engineer; and maybe if he had gone on, he would have become a famous one, but it would be a lonely venture to argue that Huston made a mistake in turning to acting. Even his old chief, now nearly 90, came forward with a letter recently, after thirty years of silence, to say that he guessed he had given Huston some pretty bad advice that day three decades ago.

Sometimes engineers do well enough; sometimes they become President of the United States, which an actor has yet to do, but there is a degree of eminence even higher than that, identified as such by the President himself when he makes possible the sort of story that follows:

Huston was playing "Dodsworth" in Washington, and one afternoon he telephoned his good friend Miss Margaret LeHand, President Roosevelt's confidential secretary, with an invitation to attend that night's performance. Miss LeHand would be delighted, of course, and abruptly she said, "Wait a minute!" and clasped her hand over the mouthpiece.

Huston, at the other end of the line, could hear voices in the background; and then Miss LeHand was back on the wire. She said, "The President wants to know if he may come along?" Like the puzzled sailor, Mr. Roosevelt had seen Huston somewhere, too; only he remembered.

HOLLYWOOD FASHION SCENE

By MARGARET McKAY

Football came to Hollywood this past week and that is the only way we can sleuth out the fact that fall is here in this part of the country—except for the claims of the calendar, of course. But the fashions have all fallen in line and started wearing their new fall furs, which brings about a lot of new facts about furs. Some of the fur coats are wrapped around us again as in the roaring twenties; muffs are everywhere and usually match a hat of the same fur, black fox being a favorite; gloves are tipped with fur at the cuff; purses are fur trimmed; fur capes are back as are the old-fashioned stoles. On dresses you will see fur-trimmed buttons, fur-covered pockets or peplum hems accented with fur. Little sailor collars of fur are being used on sport fur coats and some coats are cloth outside but fur lined.

Veronica Lake's first public appearance since the birth of her baby was at a cocktail party at the Brown Derby and she wore a large beaver Cossack cut hat. Mary Healy took time off from her current picture, Monogram's "Sis Boom Bah!" to yell the title out at real footballers in a grey Persian trimmed coat with envelope bag and wide-brimmed hat edged in the same fur. Rita Hayworth brought herself a white broadtail cap-hat that hides her hair and hangs low in the back, revealing only the perfect lines of her face.

BEST DRESSED GIRL OF THE WEEK: Constance Bennett in a Damon Gifford designed gown for evening of turquoise crepe. The dolman shoulders flow from a low, square-cut neckline bordered with a narrow banding of gold in scrolls, exotically finished off with a harem draped skirt. Kid gloves of turquoise, gold slippers and bag, complete the ensemble. Seemingly, turquoise stands to be a favorite winter color for both evening and daytime.

AROUND TOWN: Marlene Dietrich, always to be depended upon for the more fabulous new fashions in her Columbia pictures, "The Lady Is Willing," among them a hat for cocktails and evening. John Fredericks designed, it's a coachman's hat of black faille, completely covered with glistening black sequins and touched off with a spray of sparkling black feathers.

Record Review
By WAX MAN
It's getting to be quite a fad for the band leaders to record a tune based on their Hollywood domicile while they are in the tinsel city. Artie Shaw has done Summeridge Drive on Victor; Benny Goodman waxed Town-Charle Drive on Columbia and now Charlie Barnett crashes through with Murder at Peyton Hall on Bluebird. Latter disc is in Charlie's inimitable style, starting out with gun-shots (with strangled screams) and continuing with a flock of trumpet, sax and guitar. On the reverse is The Heart You Steal From Me, a torchy waltz written by Charlie and his public relations counsel, Leonard Feather.

Deca has just released a new record by Ella Fitzgerald of tunes from a Hollywood hit show, "Jump for Joy." Top side carries the interesting title of I've Got It Bad and That Ain't Good and the reverse is tagged Melinda the Mouse. Both are done as only Ella can. Collectors of show tunes should add this duo to the rack.

Add wax-cracks: Jane Pickens—"Swing is the invention of morons for the torture of imbeciles!" . . . Did you know that Gene Austin's recording of My Heart Has a Memory 11 years ago, is the largest selling single record of all time?

"Ole Prof" Kay Kyser offers an excellent course in discology to his students in the form of After Tomorrow, a sentimental ballad with a smooth background. Ginny Sims, assisted by Harry, Jack and Max, earns her stripes for a teary warble. Mate is I Love You More, More Every Day, a cleverly arranged dance tune with the teacher's favorite, lovely Ginny, again the brightest pupil in the class.

Tommy Dorsey should have a couple of winners in his latest session. Pale Moon, the famous Indian love song that has maintained a terrific selling pace for years, is sung by Frank Sinatra for the first two-thirds of the disc, then T. D. unleashes his trombone. The other side finds Hallelujah and the band is in fire-engine tempo given it by Drummer-boy Buddy Rich who gets an opportunity to whang the skins in noble fashion. Look for a couple of beautiful Victor waxings from T. D., in Axel Stordahl's arrangements of Tchaikowsky's Nona But the Lonely Heart and Eli Eli. Tommy's trombone will highlight the former and Ziggy Elman's trumpet takes care of the latter.

County Will Exxtend Gail Road Paving

Pavement on the Gail road will be extended approximately five miles farther north during the coming year, according to County Judge Walton Morrison.

Morrison said the commissioners' court had agreed to use a large portion of the $13,000 given the county from state highway funds for lateral road construction on this project.

At present the Gail road is paved about five miles northward. Extension of the pavement another five miles is estimated to cost about $2,000 per mile, since most of the grade work has been done and only two or three small drainage structures will be required. A regular asphalt paving will be laid.

Last year the lateral road fund grant from the state—amounting to between $8,000 and $10,000—was used on the paving of about five miles of the Coahoma-Vincent road, starting at Coahoma and extending about five miles northward. Included was an expensive concrete bridge, highway width and 80 feet long over Wild Horse creek.

August was the thirty-third consecutive month in which retail sales exceeded the corresponding month of the previous year, the Department of Commerce says.

At present the Gail road is paved about five miles northward. Extension of the pavement another five miles is estimated to cost about $2,000 per mile, since most of the grade work has been done and only two or three small drainage structures will be required. A regular asphalt paving will be laid.

THE WAR TODAY: Reports From Front Fail To Indicate That Soviets Are Finished

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Grime danger still continues to press heavily on the Russian fighting lines, but it's significant that there appears to have been little change in the position since yesterday, excepting possibly in the far south where the news are reported to be forging ahead along the shores of the Sea of Azov toward the gateway to the Caucasus.

In the crucial central sector opposite Moscow the reds seem to be resisting strongly and this in itself is a hopeful, though not conclusive sign for the allies. Every hour that the bolsheviks can continue to hold the Hitlerian aviators in a golden eye for the defense, since the fury of the great German drive probably has reached its peak.

The nazis claim to have extended the salients which they have been driving into the red center, and this might be expected.

That battle along the bloody highway to the capital is one of the most amazing conflicts of history. The German soldiers—youths who have been trained to the fine edge of athletes—are flinging themselves into the pit of death with that courage which always has characterized the race. The perfection of the invading war-machine is amazing.

Even more amazing is the fact that it can be stopped. And the manner of its present holding is an epic, for we find civilians now fighting side by side with their soldiers in defense of country and the soil they love.

The Germans assert that the Russian war is virtually over—that the reds already are crushed. It may be, indeed, that the Muscovites have been so weakened that they are on the verge of collapse. Only time will demonstrate that.

I do not believe, however, that the reds are beaten. They likely will suffer further reverses. Moscow may fall, and the whole Russian line may be driven back even behind the mighty defenses of the Ural mountain chain.

But the only thing that can knock them clear out of the war, as this column has emphasized before, is a collapse of morale. It would be difficult to find any signs of weakening morale in a red fighting front in which civilians—bumble folk who know nothing of the art of war and never have been far from the little farms where they were born—are facing death-dealing terrors which are hard even for the professional soldier to face.

The Russians report they are drawing on their great reserve in man-power to ease the position on the central front. These troops cannot be expected to have the weight of the fully trained veterans already in the line, but they will ease the red situation considerably.

There are millions more where they come from, as the soviet recently called up the military class of 1922—nineteen year olds—for military service. At the same time there was inaugurated the universal compulsory military training program which contemplates the largest peoples' army in history, involving all men from sixteen to fifty.

This doesn't sound as though the Russians were finished.

The busiest thoroughfare in town

Lined with bright, exciting windows freshly stocked with today's news, the newspaper is the busiest thoroughfare in town... busier today than ever before.

In some windows you find news of the home town, the nation, and the rest of the world. In some you find entertainment, advice, interpretation. In others you find news of the goods and services offered by manufacturers and retailers.

Every day in the week, every week in the year, you and your family travel this busy street, looking for things that interest you... and finding them in both the news and advertising windows.

Practically everybody in every community walks along this thoroughfare of news and advertising every day... simply because the newspaper is indispensable to everybody everywhere. That's why the 37,000,000 families in the United States and Canada buy, and read, over 49,300,000 newspapers every weekday... over 33,000,000 newspapers every Sunday.

And because everybody is so intensely interested in the contents of the newspaper, it's easy to understand why advertisers, national and local, find newspaper space the most effective medium with which to tell their story and sell their goods.

Editorial -- Feed Crop Presents Farmer Opportunities

Lamb are being trucked out of the sheep country now by the thousands and they are heading for feeding pens for the winter. We think it is Howard county's misfortune that most of them are going on north where producers have been alert to accommodating this type of seasonal business. Howard and surrounding counties have plenty of feed—almost more than they know what to do with. With the supply so bountiful, it's bound to go at a fairly low price—or at least low in the producer's estimation. A few farmers in this section have seized on this opportunity of realizing more out of their feed crops by providing feed pens, a reasonable amount of pasture space so that sheep can exercise, and fixing up watering facilities. Instead of letting their feed go at a low cost to ranchers and truckers who will come and get it, they are getting more for it by having shepherds bring their chattle to the feed. The trench silo has been a natural instrument for this sort of venture, for it provides, in almost as much as taken out of the trench and consumed as goes into it, whereas bundle stuff loses much of its weight through evaporation and curing. It is not too late to set up on a modest scale for operations of this type. The farmer with water on his place, a little extra land and a good feed crop can go into the business at a modest expense. Perhaps he will find feed easy to obtain from his neighbors. For those who feel they cannot equip their place on any scale in this direction, there is still the possibility of feeding out a few head of cattle. If meat prices stay up, certainly feed could be turned to a greater profit through livestock. Farmers, although they pretty well know how to feed, can find valuable information at the U. S. Experiment Farm here, for that unit has for several years conducted a variety of feeding tests which remove guesswork from such ventures to a large degree. The farmer won't be told how to run his business, but he will be given access to facts and figures and he can draw his own conclusions—conclusions that probably will save and make him money. And, of course, the farm agent will be happy to counsel with those who desire information. The extension service, too, is in a position to be of service. With a drive for more food production to become a major thing in a short space of time, we believe that farmers would not only be doing themselves a service by entering into feeding operations on a far larger scale than ever before, but they would be performing the nation a service as well.

Is it Love? by MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Chapter FOUR MAJOR FABER Sue Ellen dressed to please. Riv said she had a leaf green silk, because Riv said that green made her eyes green. She wore a dress which exposed her perfect shoulders—the famous Fairhope shoulders—because Riv liked a dress with a touch of daring. She pinned her curls high from her broad white forehead and perfect ears because Riv said she looked like a child with her curls loose on her shoulders. The result pleased her. She hoped it would please Riv and knew that it did because he smiled up at her as she descended the staircase and found him waiting. "You're a beauty, Sue," he exclaimed. "Come here." "Don't spoil my hair, Riv. Sophisticated?" She touched the crisp dark waves. "Lovely." Riv caught her shoulders and something in his eyes made the blood mount to her temples. "We're late." She evaded his hands and picked up her coat. "Some day," said Riv softly. "I'll teach you what love is, honey." Riv had been drinking, she accused him; that was what made her involuntarily draw back when he tried to draw her close to him on the veranda outside. She broke away and ran down the walk, but Riv caught up with her as they reached the street. "What's wrong?" he demanded. "Nothing," she lied. "We're late." "Does that matter?" She made no answer because she had no desire to withdraw from Riv's embrace. He opened the car door, she slipped inside and they drove the five blocks to Ginny Fairchild's without speaking. An ornamental iron fence with a swinging gate enclosed the Fairchild yard. Riv pulled his car to a stop in front of it and swung out, walked around and opened the door and stooped to kiss Sue Ellen squarely on the mouth. "That's because you're so beautiful," he said lightly. It was like him to forget his anger so quickly. "That's because your technique is perfect and you saw Harriet Nettleton watching you through the window." Har tone matched his own. "How you hate Tankes." "How I hate anyone who has the money to take away from us what should be ours alone." "I'm yours alone." Sue shook out the folds of her wide skirt and shrugged. "Just as long as you're with me." "Let's go," Riv laughed. "I can see Toby Tyler waving about in there already. Wonder why Ginny asks him, when she's such a little snob." "She asks him because his father gives them credit at his store, that's why." Riv grinned down at her. "Just a bit malicious, Sue." "Maybe. I'm learning that it doesn't pay to be such an innocent." "You're jealous of these modern girls," mocked Riv. They ran up the path. The broad paneled front door swung open to admit them and Ginny Fairchild herself drew Sue Ellen inside. "Aunt Keppie refused to stay and help, and I've had to answer the door and pass things and mix drinks. Riv, why didn't you come earlier?" Riv laughed, stooped and kissed Ginny, said, "Hi, folks," and left Sue Ellen standing in the hall while he moved into a group which closed around him. "I didn't know it was a party," said Sue Ellen, shrugging out of her coat. "Neither did I, honey." Ginny's cheeks were flushed, her black eyes sparkled. "I asked just our crowd you and Riv and Toby, Mary Louise and Tommy—then Harriet Nettleton had a guest, a man from Camp Shelby—a Major, honey." "I heard you might have Camp Shelby with us." "He's nice—the one looking straight at you, over there with Harriet." "Why Not Marry?" A very thin man in a Major's uniform detached himself from the group, as Ginny beckoned. His name was Major Faber. He came from Virginia. His long narrow eyes appraised Sue Ellen approvingly as he suggested that they cross the room and get a drink. "To future meetings," he said softly. There was a great deal of loud laughter just behind the door. Sue Ellen leaned against the grand piano while someone pushed a glass in her hand and someone else, Toby Tyler just behind her, said: "Have one," and indicated the hors d'oeuvres spread out on a massive silver tray at her elbow. The tray was magnificent, the appetizers meager, and no doubt bought with the credit Toby's father extended, hoping against hope that Ginny Fairchild would forget that she came of an old Southern family and would condescend to marry his son; then his descendants would become descendants of the Old Southern aristocracy. There was a great deal of talk about the draft. Tommy Jarvis had enlisted and Riv was ridiculing his solemn insistence that it was the thing to do. Riv had two drinks and began to explain how his father could fix things for him in Washington. "Why not get married?" suggested the major, right beside Riv. "Claim exemption." There was a whip lash of sarcasm in his soft Virginia tones which brought the blood rushing to Riv's face. Someone laughed and changed the subject, although a group at the window still talked earnestly about the war and the prospect of war. Young Doctor Warren, who had just started a practice, debated the advisability of enlistment. Sue Ellen moved toward the window and just then the door opened and she heard a voice she despised. Deedora Waller. Tall, angular...beautiful, and expensive dressed and followed by the man with red-brown hair and keen grey eyes. The talking ceased abruptly and Ginny rushed forward: "Darling!" There were introductions and a moment later Johnny Harris moved across the room. Riv came forward and caught both of Deedora's hands. "Surprise! I thought you were in Washington." He shot him a glance, and the glance included Sue Ellen standing stiffly behind him. There was more in Riv's post-nominal of his marriage than instructions from his father. The Colonel's order probably included continued interest in Deedora Waller. Her name was ridiculous and

Manhattan—Douglas Hertz Has Colorful Life History

By GEORGE TUCKER NEW YORK—I listened to a discussion of famous promoters and sports characters at a restaurant off Broadway last night, and though everybody from Tex Rickard and his Klondike Shenanigans to Ruth Ederle, the channel swimmer, came in for discussion, nobody happened to hit on Douglas Hertz, who probably has led the most adventurous life of them all. Hertz is owner of the New York Football Yankees and a promoter of wide talents and experiences. For twelve years he was a captain in the British Army. He was on the Lusitania when it was torpedoed during the World War. Later he organized a series of widely-ballyhooed pig races in Florida, acquired a polo club in New Jersey, and became the owner of several nightclubs. Recently John Kimbrough, the All-American football star from Texas, came under the interested gaze of Hertz and he gave the star a $35,000 contract without even bothering to inquire what position Kimbrough played. But in this Hertz was only being consistent. Though he owns the Yankees, he has never seen a game of football. In addition to being a widely known and highly-paid striptease dancer, it now appears that Gypsy Rose Lee is a voluminous letter writer. A batch of her epistles have just been made public by the publishers who are bringing out Gypsy's mystery-thriller, "The G-String Murders" this fall. The reasons the letters were published in an attractive little brochure is that nobody believed Gypsy really wrote the book herself. Skeptics are continually asking Lee Wright, "Who's the ghost?" So Wright gathered up all Gypsy's correspondence, written on hotel stationery from San Francisco's Fairmont to Detroit's Book Cadillac, and made them public. Some of the lines make your eyes pop. This isn't placed here with the idea of antagonizing the ladies but Alfred Wallenstein insists no woman can tune in a radio station properly. "The most serious music lovers are doctors and chess players," he says, "which may explain why most musicians are interested in medicine and chess." Wallenstein himself studied surgery before becoming a successful conductor. Here's a nice piece of descriptive writing after witnessing a storm on the Caribbean. The sun rose like a gigantic sliced beet out of a blue platter, drenching the sail with hues of blood and splattering the waves "My Last Million Embers." The movies are going to film an old Broadway musical comedy, "Hit the Deck," but most of the musical score will be discarded and a new score written. The lone exception is the number "Hallelulah," which prompts this corner to inquire, "Why toss out 'Sometimes I'm Happy' which was one of the most pleasing and popular ditties ever composed?" Russell Swann, the nightclub swami, is a former bond salesman. He deals now in rabbits and legends.

Hollywood Sights and Sounds—Wherein George Cukor, Director, Gets Garbo's Secret Phone Number

By ROBBIN COONS HOLLYWOOD—Mr. George Cukor, directing the new Garbo comedy, wished to telephone his star but could not learn her new, recently changed number. Miss Greta Garbo's telephone number is a precious studio secret. "But I am a friend of hers—I go to her house when she comes to the city," I know her well," said the manager Mr. Cukor when denied the number. "Sorry, but it's orders," he was told. "If you wish to reach Miss Garbo, you must call her friend, Salka Viertel, who will call Miss Garbo, and then Miss Garbo will call you." Mr. Cukor, resigned, went through the prescribed routine, and bided his time. When next he saw Garbo, he said: "Greta, you and I are going to take an automobile ride together through Brentwood. We are going to find an old hollow tree. We will mark it. Then, when you have anything to say to me, you will write a note and leave it in the tree. When I wish to tell you something, I will do the same." Miss Garbo, I am informed, got the point, and Mr. Cukor got Miss Garbo's number. Red-haired Nancy Coleman has been acting for five years and has yet to play her first love scene. In "Susan and God," in "Stage Door" (straw-hat circuit), in "Liberty Jones," the allegorical play that won her a movie contract, Nancy was kissless and loveless. Then she made her first movie, "Kings Row," and she was almost, but not quite, loved. Charles Coburn, her screen "addy, gave suitor Ronald Reagan the brushoff. But any day now, Nancy's going to wade into one of the four eliches with John Garfield which the script of "Remember Tomorrow" gives her—and that means, romantically, she'll have arrived. But movie love is strange business. Take Ruth Warrick's world for it, she having completed a couple of weeks of it with Doug Fairbanks, Jr., for "The Corsican Brothers." Today it took her an hour and a half to get kissed by Fairbanks. A full day had been spent on his proposal to her, another day on her acceptance. Half a day was required for the clinch at the picture's finish—a scene shot two weeks before she and her screen lover were to meet for the first time. Getting kissed on the radio is much simpler—"It's all over in three seconds. You just come up to the line where you get kissed. Then you don't get kissed. The sound-effects man makes a noise

The World Today—Communitic, Democratic Ideas Get Strange Exposure To One Another In War Alignment

ed States, Great Britain, France and Japan assisted the White Russians in an abortive attempt to overthrow the Red regime. From the Soviet point of view, Russia had little to choose between the two sets of "imperialist" powers, and this attitude has been the controlling note of Soviet international relations ever since. Because the Soviet had repudiated debts, both public and private, incurred under the czarist regime, foreign nations for a long time refused to have any dealings with her, either political or commercial. In the effort to break down this opposition, Russia invented the system of barter, subsequently copied and amplified by Nazi Germany. This practice, in turn, increased anti-Soviet sentiment abroad and provoked a worldwide campaign against "the Red trade menace." Through the twenty years that preceded the present war there were many attempts to bridge this situation. Great Britain, under its first labor government, tried first. Then came a Soviet attempt, successful for a while, to deal with republican Germany. Hitler upset that one in 1933. Late in 1933 came the Roosevelt-Litvinov pact for resumption of relations between the United States and Russia, largely a failure from the standpoint both of commercial intercourse and the bettering of political relations. Through all of these efforts world antagonism to Russia, and Russian antagonism and suspicion of the whole outside world steadily increased. Finally there came the contest for Russian allegiance in the period immediately preceding the present war. For a number of months were negotiations for an alliance of Russia with the European democracies. The Russians insist that these failed because Great Britain and France, while seeking Russia's assistance to stop Hitler's march into Czechoslovakia and Poland, refused on their side, at least until it was too late, to make a counter promise to go to war in defense of Russia, if she was the one attacked by Germany. In the end Russia signed up with Germany, from sheer fright. Now Russia has been forced to cast her lot with the democratic nations, and the democracies no less have no other recourse but to accept Russia as an ally. Much of the old antagonism between bolshevism and capitalism persists, but as a result of the war these ideologies are becoming strangely the thought of hurting Aunt Car even though she had not lost her feeling of antagonism toward Johnny Harris.

"Probably he's interested in buying up a plantation," she said briefly; "soon there'll be nothing left. All our old plantations will become the property of northerners. I hate them and their money. Money can do anything - it can change this country. I like it all untidy and down at the heels—"

Riv stopped and his cheek touched hers: "You're a sweet thing, Sue Ellen. I wish—"

At the moment he wished that they could be married at Christmas, as they had planned. She knew it as well as though he had spoken the words. There was real affection in the touch of Riv's hand as it gripped hers, before she descended from the car at the Country Club entrance. When he was alone with her, Riv loved her, but was weak—

"Wake up," Riv's dark handsome face was close to her own. "Ginny's bootleg didn't put you to sleep, did it, honey?"

She laughed then. "Was it bootleg, Riv?"

He opened the door, she stepped out and he caught her arm and together they ran up the brightly lighted steps to the crowded little club. High-pitched voices and music poured through the doors that those ahead of them opened. They were right on the heels of the slender man with the red-brown hair. He turned, looked directly at Sue Ellen and said: "Hello."

Sue Ellen answered coolly: "Good evening."

Deedora Waller looked at her curiously and when they were in the little powder room, touching up their makeup, she said abruptly: "Know my boy friend?"

"How could I?" Sue Ellen continued to touch a perfect mouth with lipstick.

After all, the taffeta compared favorably with Deedora's black, when she viewed them side by side in the mirror. The green folds of silk billowed about her slender slippers, the puffing accentuated the perfect line of the Fairhope shoulders. Tonight her sparkling eyes matched the green of the dress. Her soft dark hair was glossy, with a sprig of bright holly berries twisted in the soft curl puffed above her white forehead.

"You're a beautiful child," said Deedora curiously. "But don't flirt with my man."

"Your man?" Ginny's face broke into a gamin grin. "It's every girl for herself in this town, Deedora."

March Of Time Shows Sabotage By Norwegians

Today, every true Norwegian over 18 has one ambition—to escape from the Nazis and join our fighting forces that will one day free Norway, according to a release of the March of Time, showing today and Saturday at the Ritz theatre.

Depicted are the most dangerous ways of escape across the North Sea, how gasoline for the boat motors must be stolen a little at a time from the Nazis and the Quilings.

In characteristic style, the March of Time episode shows the spreadings of the underground revolt against Hitler in conquered Norway and how the people of the land are pressing in a valiant fight to regain freedom.

Methods of sabotage are shown. Obviously, it is impossible to film actual acts of sabotage, but members of the Royal Norwegian Air Force were used in re-enacting the scenes. The issue is particularly timely in view of the spreading revolt over Europe against Hitler domination.

Here 'n There

Don't quote us, but some of our barometric friends on the best were itching to wet a hook Friday. The barometer, they avowed, has risen four points to 33 in the last 24 hours, indicating good fishing weather. And if the fish find out about it, they're sure to bite, though we wouldn't know why. Deviating from their placid dissertations momentarily, they volunteered that what was good for fishing also was good for football. But don't quote us. It might rain tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. O. H. McAllister were to leave Friday afternoon for Dallas to meet Mr. and Mrs. Leander McAllister of Wichita Falls and attend the Texas-O.U. game Saturday. Jake Douglas planned to leave tonight for Dallas, DeAlva McAllister accompanying him from Abilene.

The wettest spot—and we're talking about rain—in this area in September, seems to have been in the South area. Records from rain gauges in charge of the Soil Conservation Service show that 7.43 inches fell at the Denton farm north of Knecht during the month. No less than 5.2 inches fell on Sept. 30. Second heaviest report came from the Wolcott ranch in northern Martin county where 3.17 inches and a .9 of an inch one-day maximum was recorded. The Curlew ranch gauge on the Howard-Martin line had two inches flat with a maximum in one day of 1.15 inches on Sept. 9.

William Clifton Russell, Odessa, is one of the 50 young men accepted by the naval aviation cadet selective board and is to start his training Oct. 23 at Dallas where he will be stationed for about two months and then sent to one of the advanced training centers located at Corpus Christi, Pensacola, Fla., or Jacksonville, Fla. Later as a commissioned officer, he will be assigned to an aviation squadron with the navy.

Alfalfa Bill Talks To Cleburne Crowd

CLEBURNE, Oct. 10 (AP)—The elimination of foreign entanglements, political or military, will keep this nation out of war and thereby preserve democracy, William H. Murray, former Oklahoma governor, told a crowd here last night.

Murray declared that if the United States goes to war there never will be another election. He urged a change in the nation's foreign policy so as to preclude an alliance with any other country.

Markets At A Glance

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—The stock market tried to dig in for a rally today as Wall Street took a pessimistic view of the Russo-German situation.

Dealings were approximately 600,000 shares, a considerable drop from the previous day.

Among stocks showing improvement most of the day were United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Dow Chemical, Western Union, Goodyear and Southern Railway. Lacking resistance were Bethlehem Steel, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse and Johns-Manville. Bonds were steady.

Livestock

FORT WORTH, Oct. 10 (AP)—(USDA)—Cattle 1,600; calves 1,300; generally steady, some clean up deals on weak side; most common and medium slaughter steers and yearlings 6.50-9.50, good grade 10.00 upward, six ear string 1.15 lb. heaves 10.80, part choice yearling steers 12.00; beef cows 8.25-8.50, canners and cutters 4.00-4.25; bulls 6.00-7.75; killing calves largely 7.00-9.50, choice around 10.00; good stocker steer calves 10.00-11.50, choice scarce.

Hogs 1,000; market steady on all weights and grades; top 10.75; good and choice 10.00-10.50; packing sows mostly 9.25-10, pigs 8.50-9.75.

Sheep 2,500; few feeder lambs steady at 8.75 down, remaining supplies mostly yearlings and wethers unsold.

Grain

CHICAGO, Oct. 10 (AP)—Grain prices rallied moderately today from low levels of the past several weeks as traders regained composure regarding war developments in Russia.

Although full gains of fractions to about a cent for various cereals and about 2 cents for soybeans could not be maintained, the market had a stronger undertone mostly because of lack of selling of the type that caused yesterday's retreat. The lower prices attracted support from consuming interests and there were reports of expanded flour business. Shipping sales of corn and oats to move out of Chicago imparted strength to the market.

Wheat closed unchanged to 2-3 higher compared with yesterday, December $1.18 3/4 to 7-8. May $1.23 5-8 to 3-4; corn unchanged to 3-8 up; December 77-1-4 to 3-8. May 83 1-4; oats 1-4 to 1-2 higher; rye 1-4 off to 3-8 up and soybeans 1-4 to 2 higher.

Wool Market

BOSTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—(USDA)—Inquiries for domestic wools were more frequent today as some manufacturers were canvassing the market in preparation of bids on the new government orders for wool underwear. A number of sales of spot fine territory and Texas wools were closed at firm prices. Good twelve months Texas wools brought $1.05-1.08 secured basis. Graded medium fleeces had some call at 47-51 cents in the grease for bright wools.

Mrs. Stevenson Gets Another Transfusion

AUSTIN, Oct. 10 (AP)—After another blood transfusion, the fourth in a week, Mrs. Coke Stevenson, wife of the governor, was reported resting well in a local hospital today.

Mrs. Stevenson has been seriously ill several months.

Attending physicians said they hoped to remove Mrs. Stevenson back to the governor's mansion next week.

Supplies Ship Hit

LONDON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The British fleet arm, operating off Norway, has smashed heavily at Germany's supply route to her forces on the north Russian front, the admiralty announced today, saying that four supply ships were hit and one of them abandoned by its crew.

First Methodist Church Sets 'Family Night' Service Today

Family night will be observed in services starting at 7:30 p. m. at the First Methodist church today as that institution's revival meeting nears its conclusion.

Bishop H. A. Boaz, who is leading in the series of meetings, has a special message prepared—"The Royal Family."

Thursday evening Bishop Boaz emphasized the fact that every individual is writing a record daily, that he must stand or fall on the issue of eternal life, upon this record.

Although he had been in the ministry for 32 years, Bishop Boaz said, "I would not dare stand before God on my record alone and without Christ as my intercessor." He stressed the importance of writing good records in this life, of embracing Christ for once man's destiny is determined by himself.

It is irrevocable, he said.

There will be no services Saturday at the church, but members are being urged to make Sunday, the concluding day of the meeting, a banner occasion. The Rev. W. B. Swim, Post, who has been leading in the visitation work, returned to his pastorate Friday.

One Dockrey-Robbins Well Finished, Second Testing This Week

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 10 (SpI)—One well was completed for 219 barrels and one was testing in the Dockrey & Robbins field of northwestern Mitchell county this week.

Completed for 219 barrels on the pump was F. W. Merrick No. 1 E. T. Strain in subdivision 10, Reiger survey. Bottomed at 1,703. It was shot with 629 quarts from 1,515 to 1,658.

Merrick also has a new location on the same lease, Merrick No. 3 Strain, drilling at 1,430 in anhydrite. Testing Thursday was A. E. Forester No. 1-B Mills in subdivision 9 of the J. P. Smith survey. It was drilled to 1,691 and shot with 400 quarts from 1,597 to 1,667.

An inter-city golf match, between a Big Spring team and one from Lamesa, is scheduled for the local country club Sunday, Jimmy Gamewell, club professional, said Friday afternoon.

Members of the teams have yet to be selected. Gamewell added, "since a definite match was not made until Friday."

Several Lamesans have indicated an interest in grass greens and are getting a line on the new best grass greens at the Big Spring club.

Calves For Feed Tests Are Sought

Fred Keating, superintendent of the U.S. Experiment Farm, is scouting for calves to be used in the station's annual feeding tests.

He has two herds under consideration and will select 50 short yearlings for the tests soon. The feeding demonstration will start Nov. 1, according to current plans. The type this year will be the third and final in a cycle seeking to ascertain the effect of feeding on mineralization in cattle.

Not only does Keating have a problem in buying calves, which this year will come at a record high price, but he is in search of a trained feeder. Jot Smythe, who has been in charge of this work for several seasons, has moved to Littlefield where he is head feeder for the Peyton Packing Co.
