Mountain Echoes

By Barbara Kingsbery

Local National Guardsmen returned home from their two-week camp at Fort Hood on Sunday. The Coleman County unit, part of the Brownwood Headquarters Company, contains about 15 Santa Anna men.

The local weather is — and will always be — one of the main topics of conversation. Parts of the community received rain during the weekend and on Monday.

Stockmen and farmers are still in need of additional moisture and the water situation is still critical in many areas.

Max Eubank, who lives at the Ozro Eubank farm in the Plainview community southwest of Santa Anna, reports he has had less than three inches of rain since last June.

—bk—

Officers and directors of the Santa Anna Ex-Student Association are beginning plans for the 1971 homecoming. A date will be set soon and announcements made for the benefit of those who come from miles away for the annual get-together. Mrs. Richard Horner is president of the active organization.

—bk—

We have had a hard time getting any reports from the baseball teams — they have a busier schedule than any one. Our last report was that the Little League Mets defeated the league favorites, the Tigers of Coleman, in a thrilling photo-finish action last Friday evening. Robert Barton of the Mets, recovered from his too-short slide to home base and tagged the base with his hand before the catcher recovered a fumbled ball. The Mets won the game by one run, defeating the Tigers for the first time this season.

Jimmy Reese, evangelist at the First Baptist Church revival, really "broke the ice" at the opening service Monday night. He asked to see a show of hands from everyone who had ever taken anything that didn't belong to them — a pencil, or anything. Nearly everyone raised a hand.

He then asked to see how many of those present ever told something that wasn't true — even as a child. Nearly every hand was raised.

Rev. Reese turned to the pastor, Rev. Bill Brewer, and stated for all to hear: "This will be a wonderful audience to preach to — they are all liars and thieves."

—bk—

Another of those unusual hog-nosed snakes has turned up in the community. Corrine and Jana Eubank found one of the odd creatures in the road near their home recently. Not only are the markings an oddity, but the snake they found would flatten out and roll over — and didn't try to crawl away like you'd expect. Probably the most unusual feature is the hooded head that resembles a cobra. Biologists say the snake is harmless and quite a coward.

There will be no Shields Community News this week due to a death in the family of Billie Wheatley, community correspondent. We'll be looking for news from that area in next week's issue.

COWBOY CAMP MEETING STARTS FRIDAY FOR ANNUAL SERVICES

The annual Cowboy Camp Meeting at the Flying H Acres between Santa Anna and Coleman will begin Friday night of this week and continue through Sunday, June 27. George Havens, sponsor of the annual event, has announced plans for the meeting and the tentative schedule of speakers who will be present during the meeting.

Among the speakers for the main services at 8:00 p.m. each evening are several locally-known personalities. Dr. Frank Weedon, a Brownwood native who has retired after holding many positions of leadership among the Texas Baptists, will be speaker for the Monday, June 21 service. Dr. Marvin Sheffield, a former Santa Anna resident, will be speaker on Thursday, June 24. Dr. Sheffield is editor of the publication, "The Messenger," and teacher at Westminster Bible College in Tehuacana.

Wednesday, June 23, speaker will be Rev. Larry Martin, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Christoval. Others who will be here on different nights are Rev. Bob Muncy of Dalsy, Okla., and Rev. Doyle Lawson, missionary and evangelist to Mexico. There will be other missionaries from Mexico and Guatemala who will give their testimonies and tell of the mission work in the two countries.

Chuck wagon meals are planned for five nights, with Carl McGugan of Dallas, a well-known chef, coming to prepare barbecued buffalo which will be served at the 6:00 p.m. meal on Tuesday. Other meals will be served on Saturday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday, June 26.

Following the main service each night there will be a camp fire service for those who wish to attend. Bobby and Margie McMeans and a group of boys from the Christian Corral Ranch at New Bransfel will be present for the entire meeting and lead and direct the music for all the services.

Everyone in the area is invited to attend the services beginning Friday.

Law Requires Immunization Of School Kids

Senate Bill 27, recently passed by the State Legislature, amended a section of the education code on public school children's immunizations. The bill was signed into law and is now in effect requiring all children entering Texas schools and colleges to be immunized against six diseases: diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles, rubella, and small pox. The law states that "The State Department of Health shall provide the required immunizations to children in areas where no local provision exists to provide these services."

An amendment to the law provides for provisional admittance of students if the required immunizations have begun and are continued to be received until completed. The required immunizations were made available to the children in the Santa Anna School District but some parents do not choose to take advantage of the free service. Parents of children who have not had the required immunizations should contact their family doctor and have some official document confirming the immunizations. Exclusions from the law is allowable on the individual basis for medical reasons or religious conflicts.

The immunizations differ with age and grades, children kindergarten through five, grades six through twelve; and students in institutions of higher education. Complete information is available at the local school.

First Baptists Having Revival Through Sunday

Revival services are continuing this week at the First Baptist Church with Rev. Jimmy Reese of Dalhart as evangelist. Pete Simmons, music director at the Coleman First Baptist Church, is song leader.

Swim Program Starts Monday For Local Kids

The three-weeks long "learn to swim" program will begin for Santa Anna children next Monday, June 21, and continue until Friday, June 25.

The local children will be taken to the Coleman pool by bus each weekday, leaving the school at 10:30 a.m. each day. The class hour will be from 11:00 to 12:00 each day.

Cost for the class will be 20 cents a day per child. This will cover transportation and instruction. The fee is increased from last year because of increased cost of using the swimming pool.

The purpose of the program is to teach swimming to non-swimmers. Boys and girls who have had two or more years of instruction and can already swim will not be eligible to participate in the program this summer. However the class is open to children from first through eighth grades who want to learn to swim.

Mothers of the children will be called on to chaperone the bus trip during the three-week session. Swimming instructors will be Coleman athletic coaches.

The swimming program is sponsored by the Summer Recreation organization and partially funded by the Community Chest.

In Our Opinion

By W. T. HAYS

SEN. John Tower reported this week in his newspaper that 50 per cent of the crime in America is committed by juveniles, according to the Justice Department.

Although he expressed surprise at this figure, if one just follows the daily crime news it is not so astonishing. Most of the reported crimes seem to involve juveniles and college age men and women.

Sen. Tower says he is introducing legislation, as an amendment to the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968, which, he says, is a crash program designed to deal with the immediate problems of juvenile delinquency, and it proposes long range assistance. It is aimed at treatment and crime prevention among juveniles. He feels that, although we should not condone delinquent acts by young people, we should have a great interest in rehabilitation. He advocates federal-state cooperation as the best means of combatting juvenile delinquency.

There is no question that some method must be devised to reverse the trend of growing juvenile crime. No doubt the use of drugs is a contributing factor, but there are many other things that also have an influence on the problem.

Continued publicity of demonstrations and riots by college age youth has its effect on the younger ones. And if indications are true, the instigators of the college age disruptions are a minority group of radical left-wingers and communists.

While some of our politicians in high places are taking pot shots at J. Edgar Hoover and the Department of Justice, and the liberal Supreme Court turns criminals loose over minor technicalities, these rable-rousers are free to go all over the country and stir up trouble.

To cap other things, the United Presbyterian Church just voted to contribute $10,000 to the defense fund for Angela Davis, self-styled revolutionary and accused in the courtroom murder of a judge and others.

Of course she should be defended, but our courts furnish lawyers for those who can't afford to hire one.

When these groups make a big noise and it seems from the news coverage that they must be a majority of the people in the country, we just have to revert back to some statistics and make judgement. In a recent survey among independent businessmen in the United States, 83 per cent favored legislation that would halt federal aid to colleges which do not take measures to bring campus disorders under control, and would suspend federal aid to teachers who take part in such disruptions. The survey found only 14 per cent who would oppose such a bill and only three per cent had no opinion.

Texas business men were a little stronger as 85 per cent in this state favored such a bill.

This would indicate that the backbone of this nation is ready to get something done about the permissiveness of college administrations. They feel that economic pressure would have more effect than any other measure.

This would also stop fellowships and research grants to teachers who encourage these activities. However a better answer to college professors and teachers who take part in such antics is just stop their pay. We don't feel that tax money should be used to pay for the education of such revolutionaries nor to teachers who are sympathizers.

The withholding of federal money has become a weapon of the Washington bureaucracy, and although most business people don't approve of this tactic, they would endorse it in this case.

Austin — Major changes in election laws for voters and candidates were approved by the 62nd Legislature. All are contingent on final federal court action upholding lower court decisions invalidating old requirements.

Gov. Preston Smith has signed into law a new voter registration act and filing fee bill.

Earlier the Texas Legislature enacted a resolution ratifying the federal constitutional amendment extending full voting rights to 18-years-olds. Federal amendment may not be finally cleared in time for the 1972 elections, but young voters can participate in presidential and congressional voting and the national nominating convention series.

New voters registration provides for year-around sign-up (with temporary cutoff 30 days before any election) and automatic renewal for three years by voting in any primary or general election. First registration under the new system will begin October 1. March 1, 1972, is the earliest voting date for new registrants. Voters will continue using present registration certificates for elections through next February.

A federal court invalidated the old Texas annual registration requirement, which was unique in the nation. Texas' new automatic registration law would be repealed if appellate courts reinstate annual registration.

Under a bill passed by the 62nd Legislature, in response to another federal ruling that present filing fees are excessive, candidates would pay a maximum of four per cent of the term of office salaries to get on the ballot.

Bill also permits "filing by affidavit" stating that the candidate cannot pay the prescribed fee, or by a "petition" signed by the 10 per cent of the voters in the last general election within the area (state, county, precinct) served by the office sought. If the Supreme Court invalidates this act, a special legislative session may be necessary to provide a method of paying primary election costs in 1972.

IMMUNIZATION REQUIRED — Texas students must begin an immunization program by Jan. 1, 1972, under legislation just signed into law, says the Texas Department of Health.

Students will be allowed to enter schools during the summer and fall terms with provision that their immunizations against at least one of the six diseases will be started by Jan. 1 and completed as soon as medically possible.

Required immunization for grade school level youngsters includes diphtheria, tetanus, poliomyelitis, measles, rubella and smallpox. Measles immunization is not required if there is a history of measles illness.

Exceptions may be granted on religious grounds or to those who may be harmed by immunization (on written certification by a physician). However, exemptions would not be permitted in a time of emergency or epidemic, the Health Department adds.

AUTO RATE HEARINGS SET — Hearings are set for 9 a.m. June 30 here to consider new auto rates to replace the controversial schedule put into effect January 1.

State Board of Insurance is expected to hear usual cross-recommendations to raise and lower rates. Hearing will be conducted in the State Highway Department auditorium on casualty and physical damage rates, rating plans and rules.

All those who wish to have subject matter placed on the agenda were advised by the Board to contact its automobile office here by June 23 and provide written statements in quadruplicate.

Rate revisions will be effective on and after September 1 under present indications.

After hearings last year the Board increased rates an average of 14 per cent, statewide. This raised an angry reaction from many insurance purchaser. Insurance companies which urged a 27.7 per cent increase, were equally unhappy.

COURTS SPEAK — Third Court of Civil Appeals has ruled that the Ector County Commissioners Court had no authority to spend county funds to purchase a 280-acre tract as the site for the University of Texas of Permian Basin, Odessa. Court decision said the rest of the campus tract, 308 acres, was properly acquired for the new state university as a gift.

State Supreme Court upheld the "spoke" annexation of a narrow strip of territory by the City of San Antonio and noted that the new law banning such annexation does not apply to past city actions.

High Court refused to place on the June 29 charter election ballot in Pharr a committee-proposed recall amendment.

On July 7 arguments will be heard by the Supreme Court as to whether a minister can be held in contempt of court for refusing to move his church.

Reversing a district court ruling, the Third Court of Civil Appeals said that an Austin area teacher whose contract was not renewed deserves a full trial on merits.

U. S. Supreme Court vacated a three-judge federal court finding in San Antonio that the Texas safety responsibility act is valid and sent the case back for reconsideration in view of an earlier ruling that a Georgia law provides no proper method of determining fault of drivers in accidents.

AG OPINIONS — Non-resident archery hunters in portions of Sabine and San Augustine counties must qualify for the regular non-resident hunting license, plus a special license for five-day periods, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that:

• Griffin and Brand of McAllen are entitled to 435 acres of water right acreage under a section of the Rio Grande Valley water rights case judgment on rehearing.

• Southwest Texas (Uvalde) Junior College Board is without authority to issue a district note of $100,000 payable over 15 years and secured by pledge of district bank stock to finance faculty housing on campus.

HOSPITAL FUNDS AWARDED — Health facilities last week received $647,135 in additional Hill-Burton funds to complete projects.

Receiving funds for existing projects were: Dallas County Hospital District, $34,000; Goodall-Witcher Foundation Hospital, Clifton, $95,000; Campbell Memorial Hospital, Weatherford, $100,000; Youens Memorial Hospital, Weimer, $27,151; Teague Hospital Authority, $10,000; McAllen General Hospital, $10,000 Southwestern Texas Methodist Hospital, San Antonio, $11,000; M. D. Anderson-Pavilion, Houston, $130,000; Christian Home for Aged, Houston, $225,984; and Childrens Rehabilitation Center, Amarillo, $4,000.

Mercy Hospital at Jourdanton was awarded $50,000 and Texas Medical Center Hospital Laundry Cooperative, Houston, $20,000, for new construction. PRESIDENTIAL DINNER PLANNED — All major Democratic candidates for presidential nomination are expected to receive invitations to a $50-a-plate dinner in Austin during mid-January.

Funds raised at the dinner will go to meet 1971-72 State Democratic Executive Committee budget of $81,000.

A sub-committee was named to check candidates to determine the most convenient day for the dinner.

SHORT SNORTS
Governor Smith is still pressing his demand for a presidential drought disaster area proclamation covering Texas. Burton G. Hackney resigned as Texas Commissioner of Public Welfare, effective June 15.

Some Records Required When SS Claim Filed

"What do I need when I go to file for my social security?" This is a question asked daily of the social security, according to R. R. Tuley, Jr., manager for the Abilene district.

Most people know they will need their social security number and birth record. However, one record frequently overlooked but usually required is the W-2 form or copy of the income tax return for the last calendar year.

Timely advice from your social security office is this: If you plan to file your claim for social security benefits this year, take your W-2 forms and copy of your 1970 income tax return with you.

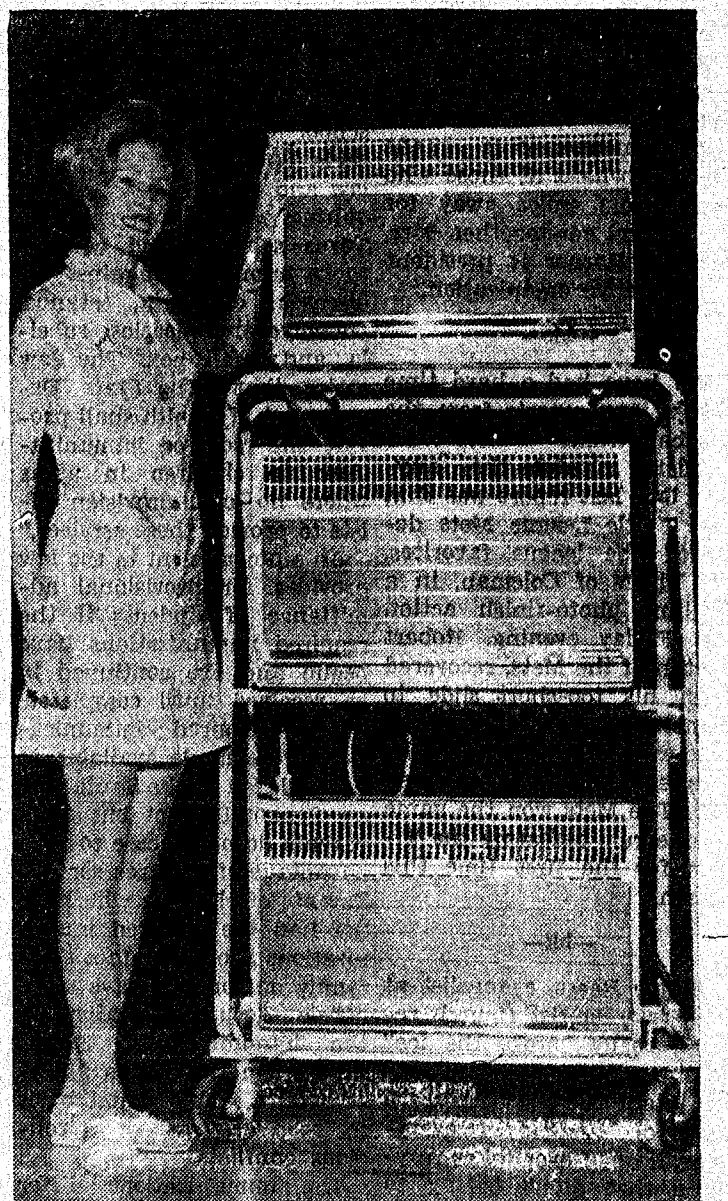

By having the necessary records with you when you file for your social security, you will be assured of receiving your benefits at the earliest possible date.

You may be able to handle your claim by telephone and mail your W-2 form or tax return to them. The telephone number for the Abilene office is (915) 677-5262. The office is located at Room 2321 on the second floor of the Federal Building. Hours are 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., Monday through Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edd Floyd and daughters of Snyder, and Mrs. Paul Vercher and sons of Fort Worth were recent visitors in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Priddy. The Floyds' daughters remained for a longer visit with their grandparents.

Current wig popularity has soared into six out of every ten fashion-minded woman's wardrobe, with several stylish wigs and hairpieces adding variety and excitement to life. Synthetic hair wigs are the most popular due to their convenience, practicality, ease of care and economical price range. Other advantages of synthetic fiber wigs include their natural sheen and bounce; soft, pliable texture; current styles and a variety of colors.

Care of synthetic wigs is minimal. Brushing thoroughly after each wearing, and an occasional shampoo, keeps them looking their best. To launder, submerge in cold water containing a wig cleaning agent; swish gently; then rinse thoroughly in cold water. Lightly press out excess moisture with a towel and let the wig dry naturally. If the cap "shrinks" after washing, pin securely on a plastic head-mold to dry. Never comb or brush a pre-curved synthetic wig while wet and never style with a metal comb, which has a tendency to "frizz" the fibers. After the synthetic fiber wig is completely dry, brushing will restore it to its original style.

Wigs should be kept on a wig block or head-mold when not in use. A loosely-tied scarf over the wig, will keep it dust free if a wig case is not available.

ASC News . . .

by Joe K. Taylor

Farmers who have signed an intention to participate in the feed grain program are reminded the final date for planting grain sorghums is June 1. Producers who were unable to plant due to drought disaster may sign a drought disaster form to qualify them for feed grain payment and for protection of the farm's feed grain base.

The final date for signing this form is June 16.

Producers signed under wheat and feed grain, or feed grain only, should certify their crops as soon as planted or at the time the drought form is signed. This will contribute to an early payment, as we expect some payments soon after July 1.

The final date to plant cotton is June 15. If the drought continues, payment and allotment protection is afforded by signing a drought form for being unable to plant cotton.

This form for cotton must be filed from June 16 to July 1.

Cotton producers may plant after June 15, but planting is not required to earn payment provided drought prevented the planting.

The final certification date for feed grains and cotton which includes set-aside acreage is August 1.

Among the important things a farmer needs to do the last two weeks of June, is to complete planting (if moisture is available) of all crops under the different crop programs signed. After plantings are completed, come to the ASCS office and report your acreages of all crops planted and certify compliance with the program and make application for payment.

Producers not participating in all crop programs will receive form ASCS-406 post-card to report on all crops on the farm. This information is needed to preserve your base and/or allotment. Failure to return the card will give your farm a zero acreage and will automatically reduce your base or allotment.

Tuesday June 15th is the final date to plant cotton under the program. If you were prevented from planting cotton due to drought you should file form ASCS-574 for acreage credit. This will assure you allotment protection and payment under the program. July 1 is the final date to file for prevented planting on cotton.

Wool ballots have been mailed to all known eligible voters in the county.

Friday June 18 is the final in order for it to be counted.

Producers have voted four similar agreements into effect since 1955. For the agreement to be extended through 1973, the referendum must show approval nationally by at least two-thirds of the producers voting, or by producers having at least two-thirds of the volume of wool production represented by the vote.

A copy of the new agreement for advertising and promoting wool and lambs was enclosed with your ballot.

Accent on Health

Known to man for nearly 5,000 years, marihuana is one of the most common and least understood of all drugs. Most of the American experience with marihuana has been limited to the widespread, relatively infrequent use of a rather weak form of the drug. Although the principal active ingredients in the plant is thought to be a very complex substance known to scientists as "THC" for short, much remains to be learned about the chemistry of marihuana and related substances.

The Texas Health Department, as one of the prime dispensers of information on drugs of abuse in the state, feels that it is time to cut through the volumes of words and contradictions spoken about this drug, and separate the facts from fiction.

There is general agreement among medical researchers that at the common levels of usage the typical subjective effects of marihuana are: alteration of time and space perception, sense of euphoria, relaxation, well-being and disinhibition, dulling of attention, fragmentation of the thought, impaired immediate memory, an altered sense of identity, exaggerated laughter, and increased suggestibility. Other less common effects are dizziness, a feeling of lightness, nausea and hunger.

The drug's effects on the emotions and senses vary widely, depending on such factors as the user's expectations, the circumstances of use and, of course, the strength and quantity of the drug used. Typically, time is distorted and seems much extended—five minutes may seem like an hour. Space may seem enlarged or otherwise distorted—ten feet may seem to be 100 feet. Sounds and colors sometimes seem intensified, and hearing seems keener. Controlled laboratory tests on humans indicate little or no influence on creativity, one way or another. The distortions of the senses apparently account for the user's feelings of being more creative.

Recent studies indicate that marihuana has no effect on body temperature, respiratory rate, blood pressure, blood sugar, or diameter of the pupil. The drug does produce an increase in the pulse rate and causes a reddening of the eyes at the time of use, and some dehydration.

The drug can produce illusions, or misinterpretations of various sensations. But hallucinations, or the experience of a non-existent sensation, and delusions are rare.

Marihuana does not lead to physical dependence. Therefore, it cannot be considered addicting. Chronic users become psychologically dependent upon the effects of the drug. Thus, it is classified as habituating.

The Texas Health Department is constantly updating its information on the drugs of abuse as new data becomes available. Much knowledge on the effects of marihuana has been gained from scientific research in the past year. Thousands more research projects are underway to determine the health implication of marihuana.

Historical Survey Committee

Coleman County Newsletter

JUNE, 1971

by Mrs. C. D. Bruce, Chm.

The Coleman County Historical Survey Committee met at the court house on June 9, all members except 4 being present. Mrs. Paul Golsen was welcomed as a new member. Only routine business was discussed and the committee voted to sponsor two new State Historical markers. One of these will mark the place where the old Military Road from Camp Cooper to Fort Mason crossed the prairie, going south about three miles east of the Santa Anna mountains. It is easy to discern this road, when one remembers that the freight wagons were often very heavily loaded and the smoothest terrain, the gentlest hills and the best crossings of water-courses must be chosen. The marker will be at the side of

Mrs. Bob Steward.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mueller, Stony, Lance and Pam of San Antonio came Friday to spend a couple of weeks vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evan Wise and will be working on their summer home. Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Box of San Angelo spent one night last week while enroute to Oklahoma.

Gregg and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Bray, Debbie and Kim of Rockwood. Other Sunday guests in the Bray home were Mrs. Lora Rollins of Santa Anna, Mrs. Ethel Robertson of Brownwood and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Bray of Lohn. Monday the Brays and Mrs. Myrtle Browning of Lohn visited at Llano with Mrs. Katie King.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Deal were in Abilene last Thursday and had dinner with the Gene Deal family and all of them were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rolan Deal and family and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Appleby of Vernon. The occasion was Rolan's birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Deal and family of Brownwood were Sunday dinner guests of his parents. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Deal joined a group of the Rolan Deals and Gene Deals at Hords Creek Lake for an outing. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kincannon of Imperial were by the Deals Friday enroute to Abilene to visit Mr. and Mrs. Rolan Deal and family. Mrs. Elec Cooper visited Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Jack McSwain. Mrs. Claud Funk and Mrs. Sadie Billings of Wickett came Friday, Mrs. Funk was at her home here and Mrs. Billings spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Jack McSwain. Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Lovelady of Santa Anna were Sunday visitors.

Highway 84.

The other marker voted by the committee will be on privately owned property and some agreements must be made before the place is announced.

Following the meeting, the group adjourned to the lawn in front of the County Jail, where the new marker there was dedicated. Milton Autry gave a short talk and read the inscription on the plaque, and Mrs. Bruce told briefly of the history of the building.

One of the shortest business terms in history, according to "Into the Setting Sun," by Beatrice Grady Gay, was a grocery store in Coleman.

A Brownwood merchant, J. W. Gatewood, decided to open a store in Coleman and got him a young lad, C. M. Grady, to haul his effects there, paying him for the trip with wagon and team with a good cow, which was high wages. Grady told Mr. Gatewood that it would be a rough place, that the cowboys from the trail drives would shoot up the tent, race their horses in front of it, and disturb the peace constantly.

However, Gatewood set up his tent in the level flat where the town had been surveyed; he used the wooden packing boxes for shelves, and set out the bacon, beans, brown sugar and tobacco, and a few other groceries. His stock included several kinds of liquors as well.

The cattle drives to Kansas from "South Texas" were in full swing, and the new tent town was a welcome oasis. Herds were held over in the fine grass on the creek, and the cowboys not on herd rode in, sampled the whiskey, bragged about their horses, tried out their pistols, and tore up and down the flat shooting and yelling.

Gatewood stood it for three nights. Then he loaded a wagon and moved back to Brownwood, his main problem getting mended the bullet-holes in his tent.

Many were the natives of Georgia who came to Coleman to make their homes.

One of the best known of these was R. C. Morgan, born in Elbert County, Georgia on June 24, 1832; he came to east Texas at 17 and by 1855, when he was 23, he was freighting for the U.S. government at Fort Chadbourne. Although there were many Indians in the country, chiefly Comanches, at that time they were relatively peaceable, and Morgan never had any trouble with them.

In 1857 he came to Camp Colorado to freight for the post. A large and attractive family, the St. Clairs, had come to the Jim Ned valley from Arkansas in 1856. In 1860, Morgan quit the wagon trail and began farming on the creek; Melvina St. Clair was then 22 and Morgan 28, and they were married at the post.

Col. Kirby Smith, commandant at the post, kept a herd of cattle in the west part of the county, at Post Oak Springs. The cattle probably belonged to the U.S. government, to be used as food supply for the soldiers at the post, and Kirby hired Morgan to care for them. The camp was a picket house which was built inside a picket pen, with no gate at all, the only entrance being a ladder which was taken inside at night. This lonely and dangerous life was soon too hard for the young couple, and they returned to the Jim Ned and the neighborhood of the post. Jeff, their oldest child, was born in 1861, and there were 7 other children, some of their descendants living in the county to this day.

Morgan died in his home near Camp Colorado in February, 1915, and his wife died a month later.

44 Years Ago In The News

The following stories are from the June, 1927, issues of the NEWS:

A surprise of a life time came to J. B. Howington Monday evening just after the east bound Santa Fe train passed through Santa Anna when his telephone rang and he answered it. It was Mark Howington, older brother of Bert Howington, who left here in his middle teens, during the year of 1884. He drifted to the western states to "punch cattle." Bert was only a small lad at the time, but remembers his brother well. The meeting of the brothers is the first in 43 years.

Dr. A. L. Jones of Brownwood, secretary of the Burnet Copper Mining Co., is carrying a page ad in the News, giving out information about the reorganization and other data concerning the work in the mine. Considerable wealth is stored in the mine, and the ore will be soon moving.

Monday afternoon the editor took a few moments off and paid the Sealy Hospital a short visit, several friends being there for treatment. The premises were practically covered with automobiles and we found 24 patients in the institution. There are seven graduate nurses and four student nurses on the job.

Quite a number of Santa Anna people went to Coleman Sunday to hear Gov. Dan Moody speak. Among the number were Mr. and Mrs. Ford Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Weaver, J. R. Pearce, Dr. Lovelady, Ed Bartlett and Scott Thomson.

Table salt is the tip of an iceberg. It's the visible part of a vital industry, but most salt is used in other ways. In fact, less than 3% of this "fifth element" is used around the home.

During 1970 about 46 million tons of salt, or sodium chloride, were produced in the U. S. This represented nearly a third of all the salt produced in the world. It had a value at the mine or refinery of more than $300 million.

Where does it all come from? Louisiana, Texas, Ohio, New York and Michigan each turn out more than 4 million tons a year. These five, combined with California, Kansas and West Virginia, account for 97% of U. S. production.

Why does it go? Mainly to industry and highway maintenance. Two-thirds of U. S. salt is used by the chemical industry, mostly in brine form, as a basic starting material in making chlorine, soda ash and other chemicals. Salt is essential in thousands of processes and products.

About 15% is used during the winter for melting ice and snow on northern streets and highways to keep them safe and useful arteries of our modern civilization. No other material matches salt for effective, efficient and economical winter road maintenance.

WASHINGTON AND SMALL BUSINESS AS HEARD BY HEARD

"We keep an ad for laborers constantly going in our local paper," writes a North Carolina businessman, "but we cannot get common laborers... yet our welfare office overflows."

Many employers cannot understand the escalating welfare and many job vacancies at the same time and place. If a person is able-bodied, he should accept an available job rather than go on welfare, these employers feel.

Small businessmen have been doubly irritated by what they see of the employment-welfare problem. First, because many find it difficult to hire people, especially for low-skill jobs. And second, because taxes keep rising to support the increasing welfare rolls.

Surprisingly, the National Federation of Independent Business is finding, in early survey returns, that many business owners support a welfare plan of the Administration which would probably give welfare to more people and cost several billion more a year. It would even pay some who work but earn less than adequate for family support.

The key feature which apparently makes this plan attractive to businessmen is the requirement that adult family heads must accept jobs if available, or take job-training courses. Many businessmen apparently believe that enough work requirement is enforced. If there are loopholes or abuses the plan could backfire and send welfare costs soaring.

Most of the independent businessmen seem to think it would end the "I-can-do-better-on-welfare" problem... and stimulate employment and job training.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Profit on Your Home?

Every five years, assuming you are an Average American, you will give up one residence and move to another. If this involves selling your home, and if you make a profit, do you have to pay income tax on the amount of the gain?

Generally, no—provided that you buy another house within one year. The federal government will usually allow you a tax deferral, on the theory that the sale is not ordinary business deal but a matter of personal necessity.

But in order to qualify for the tax deferral, you must fully meet the conditions that the law lays down. For example, your second house must be not only bought actually occupied within the one-year limit.

In one case, a man moving to another city bought a house that needed remodeling. The work took considerable time, and his family was still living in a rented apartment by the time the year was up.

Nevertheless, he tried to get a tax deferral by arguing that at least his intention were clear by the time of the deadline.

But a court turned him down. The judge said the law was based not on what a person intended to do but on what he did.

In another case, a man failed to buy a second house within the year solely because of a sudden illness. Was this an acceptable excuse? Again, a court said no. The court said the law "is unambiguous and leaves no room for interpretation because of unfortunate circumstances," adding:

"We are powerless to rewrite the statute."

What if you decide to build a new house, instead of buying one already in existence? In that case, the law does give you an extra six months' leeway, so long as you have at least started construction within the 12-month period.

One would-be builder bought a lot arranged a loan, and obtained a building permit—all within the year. But actual work on the house had not yet begun. Had he started "construction" in time to qualify for the tax deferral?

Yes. The Treasury decided that, with so many tangible steps already taken, it could not fairly turn him down.

Now with the fish ponds low some people might want to kill out the rough fish and restock their tanks. If you're thinking about restocking your tank with fingerlings from a state or federal hatchery it's best to eliminate the adult fish, as a few of the cannibal type can quickly eliminate all the fingerlings.

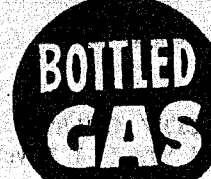

The use of rotenon is an easy and practical way to remove most kinds of fish from private ponds. Fish killed by rotenon are edible since it kills by suffocation, not poisoning. People, livestock, pets, frogs, and other vertebrate animals are not affected when they swim in or drink water treated with rotenon.

The material is to be used only in private bodies of water for management purposes. We have full information in our office.

UNUSUAL STORY SURROUNDS LONELY GRAVE AT BURKETT

(Copied from the Cross Plains Review)

The rhymester who said, "A promise made is a debt unpaid", seemed to understand the character of people who settled the southwest. One of the earlier graves in the Burkett cemetery and the story surrounding it proves that point.

A transient family stopped to camp along the banks of Pecan Bayou on the night of May 9, 1902. Little is known regarding them other than the fact that there were the mother, father, and at least three children. Two were teenagers and the other was not yet six.

Sometime during the night the youngest child, who had been ailing, became critically ill and died. The family, the Spanglers, were in a strange place, far from kinsmen and friends but they, nevertheless, buried their little one in the small Burkett cemetery, and people of the community mourned with them in the sad occasion.

In a day or so the Spanglers broke camp and moved on westward. Before they departed, though, the mother said they'd be back some day to erect a marker at the grave of their loved one.

Jimmy Davis was tending the cemetery grounds one day in 1969, when two elderly people, both well into their 80's, pulled up at the grounds and unloaded a marker bearing this inscription: Roy Thomas Spangler, Born Aug. 8, 1896; Died May 10, 1902.

They had been in Arizona nearly 70 years and that had been their first opportunity to return and place a marker, as the mother had promised. The grave they marked was that of their little brother.

A mother's pledge was kept and a child's last resting place marked for all eternity with letters etched deep into a granite slab.

Accent On Health

Fluoridation of public water supply has been one of the most widely discussed and debated health issues during the past quarter century.

Almost all water suppliers are naturally fluoridated to some extent, containing a mineral form of fluoride. Controlled fluoridation brings the amount of fluoride in water up to the optimum level, says the Texas State Department of Health.

Lack of sufficient dietary fluoride can render the teeth more susceptible to decay. Fluoride is a nutrient, working in the body through normal body processes. In addition to strengthening the teeth, there some evidence that fluoride may help to prevent other diseases of the bones and circulatory system. The optimum level of fluoride as a nutrient is extremely small. Even if a person received eight to 10 times this optimum level there would be no serious danger, say health authorities.

The water of many communities contains much more fluoride than is needed, providing a natural laboratory in studying its effect on the body. Some of the earliest studies of fluoridation were conducted in Texas communities with natural fluoride of optimum or higher levels.

Since fluoride is a natural part of the environment, adding minute quantities to water won't hurt plants, animals, machinery or anything else. Even if some of the fluoride is unused, watering lawns, for example, it still is much cheaper to distribute and control the fluoride level in water than in any other way. Fluoride can be applied directly to the teeth, but it isn't as effective and is more expensive.

A precise answer to the cost depends on how much natural fluoride is in the water. The design and size of a community's water system also makes a difference. However, in most cities controlled fluoridation costs between five and 10 cents per person per year. This small cost is more than offset by the savings in dental cavities later on. Children grow up with stronger, healthier and prettier teeth than they would without fluoride. The results of a nationwide nutrition survey showed dental problems as one of the most frequent health problems in children. Fluoridation of water would get help to those who need it most, lower income groups who cannot afford expensive dental care.

Fluoridation is an extremely valuable preventive tool against dental trouble. It benefits everyone in a community by reducing the incidence of tooth decay. In Texas alone, two and one-half million people in nearly 70 cities drink water in which the fluoride level is controlled. Another four million people in 586 communities have naturally fluoridated water. Texas is 17th in the nation in total population served by fluoridation. Total number drinking fluoridated water in the United States is 92 million. To add to the emphasis on fluoridation, seven states now require water fluoridation.
