National and International News Hi-Lights of the Week

The maritime strike to come off Friday at midnight has not been settled but government conciliators are working in an air of optimism as to the final outcome. The first step came from the chief executive when he made a call to both sides to "buckle down and settle" this matter through collective bargaining. He stressed the belief that this nationwide shipping strike can be averted by such bargaining, and said that steps by the government to keep the ships running are "purely precautionary."

A bid from ship operators to pay for time off ashore failed to click with the sailors Tuesday but left intact hopes of heading off the menacing strike. Meantime there is a feverish round of conferences going on.

The eight-day strike of 76,000 hard coal miners ended last Friday when the operators gave the United Mine Workers a general 18 1-2 cents an hour pay raise and a welfare fund to be financed by a five cent levy on each ton of coal.

The settlement was the same as that granted soft coal miners who signed the contract after the mines were taken over by the government.

The welfare fund will be handled by three trustees, two to be appointed by UMW chief John L. Lewis and one by the anthracite operators.

The Senate Banking Committee has agreed on a bill extending price control until June 30, 1947 but with amendments that stabilization officials referred to as monstrous.

Fred M. Vinson of Kentucky, former congressman, judge and reconversion director and now secretary of the treasury, was nominated by President Truman to be chief justice of the U. S. supreme court.

In his news conference Mr. Truman also announced two other nominations to high posts.

1. To be secretary of the treasury, John W. Snyder, now director of war mobilization and reconversion.
2. To be undersecretary of the Navy, John L. Sullivan, now assistant secretary of the Navy.

The president's selection of a man outside the present court to fill the post of chief justice was dictated in part by the tension among some of the associate justices.

With final form of the draft extension law highly uncertain, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower said "the pool of potential volunteers is drying up and selective service must supplement enlistments." "For this purpose 18 months service is a fair contribution to ask of any young man," the chief of staff declared. "The security of our country and the continuing peace of the world are worth it. It is far less than we asked of the soldiers who fought to make possible a peaceful world."

A plan to permit the induction of 18 year olds but to prohibit their use overseas was offered by Representative John L. Sparkman of Alabama as a compromise to break the Senate-House deadlock over extension of the draft law.

A tumultuous House Tuesday upheld President Truman's veto of the Case Labor Bill by the hair line margin of five votes, and its backers immediately planned a drive to revive the measure. The vote was completed within thirty minutes after the clerk finished reading the President's veto message.

Talk of resignations and investigations in the desension-ridden Supreme Court flew about the Capital Tuesday in the wake of Justice Robert H. Jackson's angry blast at Justice Hugo I. Black.

The Lions Roar

The regular meeting of the Lions Club was opened with the singing of two songs, followed by one verse of America and all members giving the Pledge to the flag.

Definite arrangements were made concerning the "Ladies Night" program and barbecue to be held Monday night, June 17, at 8:00 at the high school. The barbecue will be held on the school athletic field and will be followed by a program in the school auditorium.

Lion Ford Barnes reported to the club concerning the clean-up campaign and the street paving project. In this connection the club went on record to co-sponsor the current clean-up drive with the chamber of commerce.

Miss Iris Kirk was a guest of the program committee for the day and entertained the club by playing three selections on the piano accordion. Mr. Richard Myers was the guest of Lion E. R. Purdy; Billy Allen was the guest of Lion Buddy Weaver; C. A. Crump was the guest of Lion Jack Woodard, and C. C. Day-Clyde Allen and Jimmy Cox were guests of the club.

At this meeting Harold Pratter was admitted as a new member. Forty-six Lions and seven guests were present for this regular meeting.

One unique feature of the reunion is the chuck wagon camp. R. G. Bowdry, chairman of visiting chuck wagons, announced this week that all ranches are invited to bring their wagons. All provisions, including groceries and meats, are furnished without charge to all wagons after they reach the reunion grounds, providing they have notified the chairman of their intention to attend.

The modern ballroom dancing honoring the cowgirl sponsors will be held each night on the second floor of the pavilion building of the Reunion, Inc. Swing music will be furnished by an outstanding 12 piece orchestra.

Directors of the reunion are expecting a record breaking attendance. This year visitors will witness the world's largest round-up of pioneer cowboys, as well as cowboys regularly employed on ranches today.

Local Scouts Win Honors At Camp Tankowa

The Boy Scouts of Santa Anna, Troop 86, returned home Saturday from Camp Tankowa, where they spent a week. There were 200 boys and 10 Scoutmasters and officials. The boys from Santa Anna who attended the Camp were Duke Moredock, Don Woodruff, Tommy Martin, Ben Marney, Joe Hal-England, Ben Bass and their Scoutmaster, Richard Bass.

The boys winning the high honors were Bennie Bass and Duke Moredock. They won the highest honor that any Scout can win. Through their superior scouting they achieved the membership of the Order of the Arrow. This is an organization few junior Scouts are ever accepted in.

Out of the 200 boys Bennie Bass was one of the three to win a neckerchief slide made of a piece of leopard skin. The leopard was killed by Teddy Roosevelt and was given to the Boy Scouts of America by a museum in New York City. This honor was won by making a rope five feet long of cactus. This was a very hard and tedious job.

Tommy Martin, a tenderfoot Scout, was given the Honor Scout badge for his superior work as a tenderfoot Scout.

Camp Tankowa is a beautiful place and one of its main features is the swimming pool.

All the boys took part in all the activities and worked hard. They have gained a great deal from this encampment. The people of Santa Anna should be proud of these boys.

Let the News know about your visits each week.

Father's Day, June 16th

One day each year we pause to pay tribute to the greatest guy on earth, your dad. He is a person who is taken for granted, the man who always manages to have some extra change when you touch him for a loan. The person that gives you a pat on the back when you need encouraging most.

Remember when you used to boast "My father can lick your father". Sure you can because he was the strongest man in the world, because he was your dad. Songs are written about mother. Artists paint pictures of her. But there is no picture of Whistler's father. We used to sneak his razor, slip his evening paper and even kid him about gaining weight. Yet, somehow, dad has a place in our hearts no one else can fill.

Fathers Day is the only day in the year we have for expressing our thanks for things he has done for us. You can't get too emotional with dads because they just don't go for it. Remember when you had to go away from home and mother cried. Not dad, he gave you the courage you needed with a strong hand clasp and a few spoken words.

This year as we do pay him tribute, we always remember—the greatest guy on earth—your dad.

NOTICE

The Congregational Methodist Church, combined with the other churches of Goldbusk is holding a camp meeting at Goldbusk from June 21 through June 30. Meals and camping space are furnished free. Bring your bedding. All are cordially invited to attend.

Notice To Readers And Advertisers

While the strike of loggers and millworkers at the Powell River Paper Company in Canada has not affected the Santa Anna News, there is reason to believe that it will affect the source of its news-print supply if the strike is not settled in the near future. The strike has resulted in an extreme shortage of news-print among the daily newspapers of Texas, and that weekly papers will also be affected is predicted.

The News received the following message from its news-print source: "Up to this date, our mills are not affected, but we have reason to believe that they will be affected before long, therefore, we urge you to conserve news-print to the utmost, until the strike is settled."

While the News has a supply of news-print on hand to take care of its immediate needs, a strict conservation program is thus being inaugurated, and the number of pages each week will be held to a minimum. The News will continue to accept new subscriptions unless the situation becomes worse, but of necessity, all subscriptions will be stopped immediately upon expiration. It is suggested that subscribers watch the date upon their label, and keep their subscriptions paid well in advance.

Advertiser are requested to bear in mind that for best available space, have your copy in our hands by 5:30 p. m., Tuesday. However, the News will do its best to handle last-minute advertising and news where earlier copy is absolutely impossible.

The News will continue to make every attempt to give you the best of advertising and news coverage in this trade area, and the co-operation of readers and advertisers during this emergency, which we hope will be only temporary, will be appreciated.

Paving Project Well Under Way

The current street paving project is progressing and soon Santa Anna can boast of its nice street. The curbing on the gutters have been completed as far as the church on First Street.

Considering the shortage of materials and labor, the project has made commendable progress.

There is a possibility that the work may slow down somewhat but the work is being carried on as fast as is possible at the present time.

Clark's Rank Hearing Set

A hearing on confirmation of General Mark Clark's promotion to permanent rank of major general is in process by the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

The hearing granted at the request of the 36th Division Association officers, will give veterans of the division a chance to tell the story of their disastrous Rapido River attack in Italy in stating why they believe General Clark should not be confirmed.

Denied a full probe by the House Committee, the 36th Division representatives turned to the Senate Committee with a protest against Clark's confirmation on the basis that he is not qualified to become a general officer in the regular army. The rank he now holds is temporary.

Army Recruiting Service Here This Week

Also men who have had prior army service can now reenlist in all or a part of their former rating, depending upon time spent in their former MOS.

Clean-Up Drive Begins Monday

The chamber of commerce and the Santa Anna Lions club are asking for your support and full cooperation in a city-wide clean-up campaign. This will be a big undertaking, and will require a period of time, and we have decided to start the clean-up campaign in the business district first. We are asking that every merchant and property owner have all weeds surrounding his place of business cut and burned; all debris, trash cans and rubbish of any sort hauled away. Let's make this our aim—to have our alleys and the backs of our business buildings as clean and free of rubbish as our front streets and highway; and to have our front streets as clean and attractive as those of any city in the state of Texas. We owe it to ourselves, our town and our children to see that our city is kept clean. A clean town pays big dividends in health and prevention of dreaded diseases.

The clean-up date for the business district campaign has been set to begin the first of next week. The campaign will cover the whole city. Each individual is requested to begin to clean-up his premises now so when the trucks do get around there won't be any returning to get what is left.

To the voters of Coleman County.

In announcing my candidacy for county attorney I do so with the belief and conviction that I am fully qualified for the position and with the assurance to the people of Coleman County that I will faithfully perform the duties of the office.

I was born and reared in Coleman County and have lived here all my life. After graduating from Coleman schools and TCU, I studied law and was licensed to practice in 1939.

I will greatly appreciate the vote of every voter in Coleman County. To those voters who do not know me personally and who I may not be able to meet, I will appreciate your inquiring of my friends and acquaintances concerning my qualifications and character.

I will thank each and every one of you for your vote and support.

Coleman County Homemakers Make A Good Record

The 11 home demonstration clubs and the 11 4-H girls clubs made an outstanding record of achievement from December 1, 1945 until May 15, 1946, when Miss Jewel Hipp left for work in Hayes county. The work of the home demonstration clubs has gone forward in a big way. The club women made 986 garments from the sacks, also 386 sheets, 516 scarfs, and 216 curtains were made from the sacks. They have also slip covered 86 pieces of furniture, refurnished 120 pieces of furniture and upholstered 68 pieces. Jayton Rancher Kills Coyotes From Airplane

(Abilene Reporter-News)

Meet an aerial coyote hunter. Meet C. C. York, rancher of near Jayton, who's 65 years old but can draw a mean bead on coyotes from the cockpit of his light airplane.

It was a matter of necessity with York. The lambs on his ranch were falling prey to the marauders in such numbers as to cost him big money.

He tried a number of schemes afoot and on horseback. Results were disappointing.

So, finally, the elderly West Texan hitched up his britches, strode up to a flying instructor in Sweetwater and said he guessed he'd just have to learn to fly. He did, bought his own plane and in short order was blasting with a 12-gauge shotgun at the pesky coyotes.

Last year he killed 74 of the four-legged attackers in a swoop and fire campaign, and so far this year he has plugged 50 from his seat in the sky.

Misses Pauline, June and Shirley Little are visiting their aunt, Mrs. Marion Blanton at Tolar, Texas this week.

Supporters from nearly 200 counties have already indicated their intention of attending the rally in behalf of Price Daniel's candidacy. The first 15 minutes will be taken up by key speakers from various sections of the state, including GI veterans whose exploits have been recorded in the pages of Army and Navy history. The last 15 minutes will be used by Price Daniel in presenting for the first the principal issues of his campaign for attorney general. (Paid Political Advertisement).

The legislative mill has been grinding away of late and has plenty of unfinished business to attend to before the recess comes in July. The senators have been working at night and the House will likely come to that soon.

The Senate, after waiting three months to act on a House-approved bill to continue Selective Service for a year, finally amended and passed it. A conference committee of the houses is now working out the differences. There is plenty of time to and pass it before July 1, when the stop gap, temporary law now in force, expires.

The appointment of Fred Vinson of Kentucky to be chief justice came as quite a surprise to Capitol Hill. Vinson served a long time in the House and is well known by many who served with him. He left Congress to take an appointment to one of the District of Columbia courts, which is a reward not infrequently given to administration stalwarts in Congress. Then came the war and Vinson, who is admittedly a capable administrator, was given other duties in the government.

But as a lawyer, the Kentuckian is said to be only average. In recent years it has grown to be a sort of custom to appoint supreme court judges on a basis of political philosophy rather than legal ability.

Speaking of the supreme court, that tribunal has handed down a number of far-reaching decisions recently. Some of these have been contrary to established precedent of decisions made by the court previously. One was the outlawing of Jim Crow laws on interstate buses and trains. State laws that require segregation on such carriers are therefore stricken down. The segregation laws in the south had on other occasions been upheld by the courts.

The court also held that the Congress does not have the power to prohibit the payment of funds appropriated as wages to specified individuals. That came up over an act of Congress passed two years ago — which I supported — which prohibited the payment of appropriated money to three men who were named and were working in government departments. The reason for that action by Congress was that these men had, upon investigation, been found to be subversive in their beliefs. That is to say, they were communistic, as evidenced by many expressions and memberships in communist — front organizations. Congress didn't want public funds to be used to pay salaries to such men. But the supreme court holds Congress can exercise no control over the matter of to whom salaries are paid.

The Fair Employment Practices Committee, which is really Congress, keeps flaring up on the floor of the House. It happens this way: Under House rules, the bills approved by committees may be called up when the particular committee is reached on the call of the calendar on Wednesdays. Ordinarily calendar Wednesdays are dispensed with by unanimous consent and the usual work goes along. But during recent weeks, in his desire to agitate the issue, Congressman Vito Marcantonio, the communist member from New York, has been objecting to dispensing with the calendar on Wednesdays. This is an attempt to get the calendar called with the hope that eventually the committee fostering the FEPC may be reached.

But Marcantonio meets with much difficulty. Parliamentary tangles arise, quorum calls are made, and on three successive Wednesdays he has failed. He gets the publicity however, and that is the main thing he is after. The unfortunate thing is that it kills one or all day each week that should be devoted to the accumulated work before the House.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mobley and their two children visited with his father and sister in Cisco Sunday. C. W. Stephenson, Jr., went with them and remained for a visit with his aunt, Mrs. Clyde Weathers and family.

Debs Conlee is leaving this week for Evansville, Ind. His wife who left for Kentucky last week will join him there where both have employment.

Mr. Preston Bailey and a crew of men are busy beginning the erection of a building for his machine shop. The location is just south of the depot on lots recently purchased from the Henderson heirs.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Carpenter spent last week with their son and daughter in bilene and San Angelo. All had a good time and they arrived home Sunday afternoon.

Work started last week on 28 blocks of paving in Lockney.

Clean House, Urge State Health Officer

A good old fashioned spring house cleaning in every city and community in Texas would do a great deal toward furthering good health in this state, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, who said in Austin today. "From a practical standpoint the old adage that 'Cleanliness is next to Godliness' is still worth emphasizing."

A general clean up program of statewide proportions with the objective of bettering health conditions for our citizenship should include surface cleaning, drainage, the graveling of streets and alleys, the cleaning of all parks and playgrounds and the clearing of weeds and rubbish off of vacant lots.

"The destruction of mosquito breeding places and rat harborage, the proper disposal of garbage and trash and the general cleaning up of all premises will be," said Dr. Cox, "of inestimable value in helping to keep down summer health hazards such as dysentery, typhoid and poliomyelitis. Good community housekeeping and ordinary sanitary measures require the prompt removal of all waste matter in and around yards and homes in order to abate the danger of such diseases and insure good health protection throughout the state."

Dr. Cox stressed the fact that many dangerous diseases are filth-borne, and the only possible way to control them is to eliminate the unsanitary conditions responsible for their spread.

It Seems Like Yesterday

It seems like yesterday that Nancy was playing with dolls. Now she's pushing her own baby carriage. Yes, there've been a lot of changes in the last fifteen years—most of them so gradual we hardly noticed them at all.

Nancy didn't grow up all at once. A tooth at a time—a curl at a time—an inch at a time—and suddenly a little kid sister was Mrs. Joe Jones, mother of Joe, Junior.

Like Nancy, the use of electricity has grown a lot in the last fifteen years. But the price of electricity has been going down steadily. You may not have noticed it because your bill may be about the same—but how many appliances have you added to your home since 1931? Actually, you're getting twice as much electricity for your money now as then.

Keeping electric service plentiful and cheap through years of rising costs was not easy. That today's electricity is at its very lowest price in history is a tribute to the hard work and experience of the men and women in the industry, and to its sound business management.

Americanism?

DRAWING BY GARY J. JONES JR.

There is no mystery in Americanism. It is the warrant that any man may be Master of his Fate and Captain of his Soul.

The National Americanism Endowment Fund, headed by President Truman, is asking the Americans of Texas to contribute $150,000.00 toward the national goal of a $15,000,000 trust fund to further a broad and urgent program of widespread education in the fundamentals of Constitutional Americanism. Make your check payable to The American Legion—Americanism Endowment Fund—Austin, Texas.

The United States is unique in that most of its population started from scratch.

Our original settlers, James Truslow Adams says in "The Epic of America," "came from prisons, from hovels, from little farm cottages, from country manor houses and rectories, but never from palaces."

Europe was frozen into ruts for anyone to escape; frozen into classes and limitations of earning power, and prescribed religious faiths. A poor man must remain poor; a common man remain obsequious and subservient.

So the best of Europe, in the sense that they were the hardest and most enterprising, set forth on the long, painful and hazardous voyage to a wilderness sunlit by opportunity. Here, they believed, were to be found fair rewards for industry, thrift and intelligence, and a social position depending wholly upon these. They wanted food and freedom; material betterment and things of the spirit.

Fundamentally, theirs was the religion of self-reliance. Let everyone be his own man; and let the best man win. There was no room for weaklings and parasites. The "delicate and unfitted" that cannot endure the biting of a musketeer. William wrote, "we would wish to keep such at home, till at least they are musketeer proof." A Maryland colonist recorded that "the son works as well as the servant, so that before they eat their bread they must earn it." If they worked well enough, the bread might become cake.

Out of all this came not only the best government, the strongest and most prosperous nation in history, but the blossoming throughout the occidental world, of the bud of liberty that had been more than a thousand years in development. As Ogden Mills pointed out in "The Seventeen Million," it was no accident that material progress has been greater during the last 150 years than in all preceding centuries. The explanation is that in 1776 these settlers, these seekers after freedom and opportunity, proclaimed both, that the ideal became almost universal, and that henceforth men assured of the full rewards of their labor, of the right to think and speak and act as they please within laws of their own making, reached a new zenith of happiness and achievement.

There is no mystery in Americanism. It is the warrant that a man may be the master of his fate and captain of his soul. You will find it in every paragraph of the Declaration of Independence, beginning with the assertion that governments derive "their just powers from the consent of the governed," and throughout the Constitution which provides for political equality and free and secret elections.

It provides more: The protection of minorities against majorities. "Consent of the governed," doesn't mean 51 per cent of the governed, but ALL of them. The fact — if it were a fact — that 99 per cent of our citizens voted to take the life, liberty or property of the remaining one per cent gives them no right to do so under the Constitution. These guarantees were safeguarded by what has been called a system of checks and balances — by provision for the independent functioning of the executive, legislative and judiciary branches of government.

They were further safeguarded by the first ten amendments to the Constitution, known as the Bill of Rights. Among these rights are:

The right of free speech and a free press; that is, the right to hold and express opinion, and to free sources of information. Also the right to get together for public or private discussion and the right to worship as we choose.

The right to bear arms — to protect ourselves, by force if need be, against tyranny.

The right to be secure in our persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures.

The guarantee that we shall not be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, "nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation." What constitutes a fair trial is defined, and punishment is limited.

Finally, if in common sense and the spirit of the Declaration and the Constitution, you have any right that was overlooked, you are assured that it remains your right.

All these rights, and many more, have been nullified and violated under the "isms" — Communism and Fascism — now being urged as superior to Americanism. Naturally, I have spoken of the spread of liberty "throughout the occidental world," but it never spread to the orient. Slavery and absolute monarchy under whatever name have continued to be eastern concepts, and were adopted by the Fascists. Individualism is an occidental invention; collectivism is oriental.

The possessor of the blessings of Americanism will do well to think hard before he sacrifices any of them to the fancied security of a planned economy or a totalitarian state. Whatever they promise can be no compensation for having every word and deed reported by secret police, for dreading the knock of the Gestapo or the OGPU, and liquidation at the nod of dictatorship.

There's no need for any radical change in Americanism. We have done pretty well without that change so far, and none of the recently instituted "isms" seems to have helped much. Slow, normal and organic development from within the framework of the Constitution is another thing, and it has been going on from the beginning.

But Communism and Fascism are Asiatic systems, and a sure return to the bondage from which we escaped more than two centuries ago.

Mrs. Warren Caylor and daughter of Waldrip visited last week with her mother, Mrs. J. J. Kirkpatrick.

Mrs. Kent Martin, who underwent surgery last week at the Overall Hospital, is reported to be getting along quite well.

Mrs. Louise Mallett of Shaw, Miss., is here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Holland.

Mrs. G. A. Cheney of Crockett, Texas, visited his sister, Mrs. Claud Conley and family last week.

Caso March Visits In Santa Anna

Saturday evening, June 8, Caso March, candidate for governor of Texas visited in Santa Anna. Mr. March states that he has been in 210 counties in Texas and plans to visit all the rest of them before the coming election.

Mrs. Joe A. Griffin was honored Monday night with a surprise birthday supper and party at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Dick Bass. The occasion was the 71st birthday of the honoree. There was plenty of good ice cream prepared by Mrs. Bass and Bill Griffin and family brought some nice cakes. Mrs. Griffin received some nice gifts and was happy to have all her family, including her grandchildren, together.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D., Of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Released by Western Newspaper Union

Lesson for June 16

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission.

LEARNING ABOUT THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:23, 24, 46-48, 57-62; 11:14-17, 20, 21.
MEMORY SELECTION—Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven.—Matthew 6:10.

Following Christ calls for the best in man. Weak-kneed and watered-out religious philosophies and activities have no right to call themselves Christian.

Let us put away these insipid imitations of Christianity, which so often masquerade under its name, and face our time with a call to discipleship, which demands every fine, noble, manly and womanly quality.

I. Denial of Self (Luke 9:23, 24).
A cross—that speaks at once of suffering and death. We may as well face it. The Lord never intended it to be an easy thing to follow him. A man must lose his life for Christ if he is to win it.

Note that the cross we bear does not refer to the trials or vexations of life. We should bear those as Christians, but there is something else in mind, namely, the complete denial of self-will, and the eager desire to do only God's will. And note also that this is required of every true Christian, not just of a few who are especially "consecrated."

Do you qualify? If so look at the next point.

II. Humility of Heart (Luke 9:46, 48).

The world looks up to the great, the mighty, and the rich. The disciples had taught that fever and were quarreling about who was to be greatest. What a tragic and disgraceful picture! But is it any different in the church today? Men are still determined to be "Mr. Big."

The follower of Jesus sees beyond the false earthly standard of greatness, and in humility ministers to the little child. And lo! he has received and served Jesus Christ himself, and has become greater than all the would-be great ones. Those about him may not see it, but God does, and in due time others shall also know of it.

III. Determination of Purpose (Luke 9:57-62).

Following Christ is more than singing glibly of carelessly. "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord." The one who starts out with him is to count the cost (Luke 14:28-33). He must expect the same treatment as Christ (II Tim. 3:12) and be willing to take it gladly (John 15:20; I Pet. 2:21).

We ought to make this plain to professed believers. Tell young people the truth and you will see that they are ready to respond to it. They are willing to give themselves sacrificially for causes of this earth—why not for Christ?

Christianity is considerate and courteous, and our Lord is not here suggesting any neglect of the duties or amenities of life. The point is rather that the Lord must have first place whatever else may call for second thought.

IV. Prayer of Faith (Luke 11:14).

The one who is to follow Jesus must know how to pray—and to pray in faith. He must know how to hold up the world to God, and get things from God for this needy world.

There is no one who can teach us to pray better than Jesus, for he practiced what he preached. He prayed. It was seeing him pray that led the disciples to ask him to teach them to pray. Jesus taught his disciples a model prayer. This prayer opens with a recognition of God as Father, followed by a reverent petition that his name may be hallowed; that is, that he may have glory as his will is done and his kingdom established in the hearts of men. Those who have that attitude are ready to ask for the supply of daily needs, and above all, forgiveness of sin and deliverance from temptation.

Note that verse 4 is not the prayer of the unsaved for forgiveness and regeneration, for that is all of grace (Eph. 2:8). "The man outside (of the kingdom) gets his forgiveness with no condition; but once he is in the kingdom of the Son of God's love, he lives within the laws of that kingdom. Then he does not get forgiveness unless he is ready to forgive, unless he has forgiven." (Morgan).

V. Recognition of Christ (Luke 17:20, 21).

The disciples thought of the of Justice Jackson's accusations but it would seem that this information would have been more appropos at the time the court ruled on the case in question.

kingdom in terms of "when"; they should have asked "what," or even better "who," for the kingdom was present and operative right then because the King was there.

That is the true meaning of "with-in" (v. 21), which really means "in your midst." It does not mean that the kingdom of God was within the hearts of the Pharisees, or within the social order, but that in the person of the King, the kingdom itself was in their midst. They rejected him, and so also his kingdom. What about us? Is he your King? Or do you also reject him?

Have you any War Bonds dated June 1944 ?

The bonds you bought two years ago, this month, have a special significance today.

For in June, '44, the all-out attack on Germany had just been launched. Your bonds helped back that attack . . . helped bring about the final victory and the Peace you enjoy today.

But they did something for you personally—something you may not have been fully aware of at the time.

They gave you an investment for your future, the safest, soundest investment you can find in the world today.

Now, two years after D-Day, you can really appreciate how tremendously important is this second reason for buying bonds.

For your own future and your children's future depend on what you personally do toward making the future financially secure. And there's no surer, easier way to do it than by regular purchases of bonds.

This is why you should keep on buying U. S. Savings Bonds—regularly. In 10 years, each one you buy will bring you back $4 for every $3 you put in.

If you buy regularly—on a Payroll Savings Plan, for example—your bonds will mature regularly, giving you a steady income.

Any way you look at it, your bond buying has been a great thing for your country . . . and a great thing for you. Keep it up!
