Ribbons and prize money will be given outstanding entries, and the public is invited to visit the show during the morning.

Commodity Recertification Slated Here Jan. 27

Trickham Landmark Now History

BY POLLY WARNOCK

TRICKHAM-The Leston Cozart Grocery located in Trickham was bulldozed down to be cleared away a couple of weeks ago, marking the end of an era for that Coleman County town. The store was the first grocery store in Coleman County, another of Trickham's contributions to the county's history. The town, the oldest in the county (1856), originally located along the military road between Fort Belknap and Fort Mason also had the first post office in the county.

As an historical marker there tells, Trickham was called Trick'em, Texas, originally because the town was "notorious" for its practical jokers when it was a stop on the Jinglebob Cattle Trail. The postal department in Washington objected to Trick'em and "the Feds ordered us to call our town Trickham" Leston Cozart told an interviewer some years ago. Trickham is still locally pronounced Trick'em.

Trickham's last store, the Leston Cozart Grocery, closed in the late 1970's. While there was no special event, to mark the closing, it represented the end of more than 100 years of commercial business in the little Coleman County town perched above the banks of the silent Mukewater.

The store served as a gathering place for many in the area who would often stop to purchase another pouch of chewing tobacco, a soda pop, some gasoline, or just to pass the time with their neighbors, trading farm and ranch talk and enjoying each other's company.

The store was modeled like the old country general store, though the shelves in the last few years of operation were sparsely stocked other than the ever present boxes of chewing tobacco, occasional rolls of toilet tissue and maybe some candy. Cozart himself seemed the mainstay of the business. Now deseased, he is remembered as a tall, balding man, his voice a gravelly whisper as a consequence of bronchial pneumonia and a bout with swine influenza in 1919, his eyesight had faded in later years but the deep blue pupils still displayed the twinkle of mirth.

Cozart had come to Trickham in 1919 after serving overseas with the army in World War 1. He farmed for a few years and then in 1933 married Carrie Calicote, a widow with several children, who owned the store.

At the time of the closing of the store in the late 1970's, Cozart was by then a widower and 81 years of age. He said about the closing "I can't hardly stand it. But I've got to. I've never done too much business, but I have done a lot of pleasure here".

City Council Meets Jan. 8

The Santa Anna City Council met on Thursday, January 8, 1987 at 7:00 p.m. with all members present with the exception of Mayor Joe Guerrero, who was unable to attend.

Mayor Pro-tem Stanley Hartman called the meeting to order and the minutes of previous meetings were read and approved.

Mayor pro-tem Hartman brought up a discussion about a letter received from Mr. Filemon Cabansag about a sewer back up into the Activity Center building at the Nursing Home. The City was advised by their attorney to turn this matter over to the Insurance Co.

Next Hartman brought into discussion the matter of Mr. Floyd Gilbreath having two separate water meters for his home with only one deposit having been made. It was decided to pull the second meter unless Mr. Gilbreath put up another deposit.

Discussed next was the matter of a roof leak at the armory and having the front parking lot repaved at the armory. Several bids had been received for the roof repair: Tommy Faubion for $175; Lydick Roofing Co. for $5,797; and Jessie Mills Roofing for $4,960. It was decided to accept Tommy Faubion's bid of $175 for the armory roof repair.

Mayor Pro-tem next brought up for discussion the City Barn roof needing repairs. The police and Judges offices are being fixed under the guarantee from being repaired in 1984. Several bids have been received for the City Barn roof repair: Jessie Mills for $1680; Smith Roofing Co. for $2560; Lydick Roofing Co. for $3425; and Faubion Roofing for $1800. It was decided to accept Jessie Mills bid of $1680 for repairs of the City Barn roof.

Mr. Roy Early of Bangs, a realtor who has a rent house on the water line between Santa Anna and Lake Brownwood which is rented to Greg Sikes, was then introduced. It was stated that they were having problems getting water service from the City of Santa Anna. The problem appears to be that since it has rained so much in past months the City has not had to pump water from Lake Brownwood and are therefore not using the water line that would supply the Sikes with water. Mr. Early suggested that the City consider using check valves on the line so that when the City is not pumping water from Lake Brownwood the City could pump from the opposite end which would be the Santa Anna Lake, and then there would always be water supplied to the area. The matter was tabled until it could be decided what action to take.

Accounts payable were discussed and approved to be paid in the normal manner.

The next regular scheduled city council meeting will be Thursday, February 5, 1987 at 7:00 p.m.

Mohair Council To Meet Jan. 29

decrease from $2.3 million in 1986. El Paso's check for $1.4 million was up 8 percent from January of 1986.

Bullock also sent checks totaling $23.2 million to the state's six Metropolitan Transit Authorities. Houston's MTA received $9.2 million, compared to last January's $9.8 million. Dallas' DART check was for $9 million, down from last January's payment of $9.6 million. Austin's Capital Metro received $2.5 million—down from $2.6 million in January of 1986. VIA in San Antonio received a check for $1.6 million, down from last January's payment of $1.7 million. Fort Worth's MTA received $482,984, compared to a $670,344 payment in 1986. Corpus Christi's MTA check was for $412,573.

January checks represent taxes collected on sales made in November and reported to the Comptroller by December 31.

Letter To The Editor

To The Santa Anna News:

I would like to renew our subscription to the News. I am enclosing the card you sent me as a reminder. The paper (and card) was in my father-in-laws name. He died in March 1986 so we would like to have it changed to my husbands name. I changed it on the card for you.

I also give the News to my brother for a Xmas gift so I'm sure his paper is about to expire so enclosed is a check for both of us. His address is: Joe C. Hodges, 1004 Newark St., Ft. Worth, Texas 76105.

Also I would like for you to make a correction in the December 24, 1986 issue of the S.A. News about the Rockwood Post Office. Mrs. John Hunter made a mistake. She said the present brick building was built by Edgar Hodges in 1945 (that is correct) and sold it to Cecil Davis then she went on to say it was sold to several other people. The Correction: the building was built by my father (Edgar Hodges) in 1945 and he owned it until his death in 1972 when I (Mrs. Wayne Haynes) became the owner and retained ownership until I sold it to Mr. Roland Duss in 1985.

I would appreciate it very much if you would correct this.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Wayne Hodges.

The Old Model T
My life is like a Model T,
My style is obsolete.
New parts are out of stock in shops
I'm just a wreck complete.
My generator works, but slow.
My timers all askew.
The deferral often protests,
And needs some parts quite new.
My headlights are dim,
My engine won't run.
My spark plugs are bad,
Just hittin' on one.
My color is faded, tires are worn,
I'm far from being perfect.
They towed me to the big garage,
They said I was a wreck.
They do not make new parts for me
They say I am passe.
But there is still some kick in this old frame,
I'll just shift to low, then "gang way!!"
I may not climb the steepest hill,
Nor speedy mileage get,
But I still plod along the road
I'm sure not ready for the junk yard yet.

Thoughts From Our Pastors

By James F. Ford
Pastor of Assembly of God Church

Matthew 4:1-11. This is my first time to write this piece this year and for Christ, our church and for ourselves. To do this we need to study God's Word more to gain spiritual strength. After Jesus was baptized by John He was tempted by the devil. First the tempter said, "If thou be the Son of God, command that these stones be made bread." He tempted Him to prove that which He already knew. When the tempter urged Jesus to command the stones to be bread Jesus used the Word to counter the temptation. He knew that "It is written, man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." We need to realize how precious the Word is to us. I pray that in 1987 God's Word will mean more to us than ever before.

Then the devil tried again to tempt Jesus. This time he wanted Him to jump from the pinnacle but Jesus answered with the Word, "It is written again, Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God." Again the Word was able to overcome the temptation.

Last the devil offered Jesus all the kingdoms of the world if he would only worship him. Jesus answered again with the Word, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him only shalt thou serve." Then the scripture says the devil left Him and angels came and ministered unto Him.

I wanted to use this scripture to show each one of you the importance of God's Word. The reading of the Word will change your life and help meet your every need. In closing I want to use a testimony I read many years ago. There was a woman that was blind, which would have been handicap enough but she was also a multiple amputee. Both arms and both legs had been amputated but she read the Braille Bible through seven times with the tip of her tongue. When we have a hunger for God's Word like that we will grow spiritually. I want to encourage you to GROW in 1987.

We have just made Bible reading charts for keeping up with each chapter one reads. We'd be happy to get one to you if you'll call 348-3485. The Bible is God's love letter to us and merits our full attention.

OKLAUNION POWER STATION—West Texas Utilities Co.'s new coal-fired power plant now in operation near Vernon.

WTU Oklaunion Station Now in Operation

ABILENE—With its new Oklaunion Power Station in commercial operation, West Texas Utilities Co. is again capable of generating all the power its customers will need during the peak usage period of hot summertime.

The peak demand for electricity exceeded the capacity of WTU's installed general stations several summers ago and additional power had to be purchased from neighboring utility companies.

"This means that we literally have grown into this new power plant," explained Walter Meller, WTU's manager of system production.

"Often, when a new plant is brought on line it creates an immediate huge surplus of general capacity. In our case, completion of Oklaunion was timed to coincide with our needs."

The coal-burning Oklaunion unit eight miles southeast of Vernon has a net rated capacity of 665 megawatts, which is more than half the 1,070 megawatt capacity of all of WTU's gas-fired plants. WTU owns 54.69 percent, or 370 megawatts, of the new plant, which is the first jointly-owned unit in the Central and South West System. Other owners are Public Service Co. of Oklahoma and Central Power and Light Co., both members of CSW; the Oklahoma Municipal Power Authority and the City of Brownsville.

The new plant was officially declared commercial December 24. The power is under control of a central dispatcher in Abilene, who economically loads the various generating units in the WTU system.

As Plant Manager Chuck Adami of Vernon explains it, "When the load increases, the unit that can make the next kilowatt the cheapest is the one that is brought on line."

Adami's staff includes 126 employees, who work in shifts to keep the plant running 24 hours a day. Most of the staff has been on the site for several months involved in training and start-up operations.

Construction at Oklaunion was begun in May 1982, and almost all the news regarding the plant since then has been good. The best news is that it was completed on time and under original cost estimates.

The plant will provide over 25 percent of WTU's operating capacity and will end the Company's almost total reliance on natural gas as boiler fuel. The low-sulphur coal comes by rail from Wyoming. Each delivery averages from 100-115 cars, with each car holding 100 tons of coal. About 300 tons will be burned an hour when the plant is in full operation.

The plant is one of the most modern in existence. Equipment includes the most up-to-date pollution control facilities and complies with all air quality control requirements.

Part of Social Security Benefits Taxable

Up to half of the Social Security benefits people received in 1986 may be subject to Federal income tax, but mainly only for those who had substantial income in addition to their benefits, Randall Stogner, Social Security manager in Brownwood, said recently.

In fact, Stogner said, more than 90 percent of the people getting benefits will not have to pay any tax on any part of their benefits.

Every person who received or repaid any Social Security benefits in 1986 will receive Form SSA-1099, Social Security Benefit Statement, before the end of January. The form will show the net amount of Social Security benefits received in 1986, and this is the figure a person should use to figure if any of his or her benefits are subject to tax.

IRS Notice 703 will be included with Form SSA-1099, and this work sheet can be used to see if any benefits are subject to tax.

Up to half of a person's Social Security benefits may be subject to tax if his or her combined income—taxable income plus non-taxable interest plus one-half of the Social Security benefits—exceeds a base amount:

- + $25,000 if the person files as a single taxpayer;
  - + $32,000 for a married couple filing jointly; or
  - + $0 for a married person filing a separate return if he or she lived with his or her spouse during any part of 1986.
- The amount of benefits subject to tax if combined income exceeds the base amount is the smaller of:
- + One-half of the amount over the base amount, or
  - + One-half of the Social Security benefits.
- If combined income does not exceed the base amount, no benefits are subject to tax. A free booklet—IRS Publication 915—explains the entries on Form SSA-1099 and how to figure if benefits are taxable. A free copy can be obtained at the Brownwood Social Security office, located at 300 N. Main. The telephone number is 646-7533.
- A representative of the Brownwood office visits Santa Anna once a month on the 1st Wednesday from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon and will be here the next time on February 4, 1987.

GOOD NEWS FOR SNACKERS

It's been said, "You are what you eat." It's true! Eating a variety of foods in a well-balanced diet is the key to good nutrition. And good nutrition is essential for good physical and mental health.

With less time these days for the traditional three meals, more people are eating at different times of the day. As part of this shift, snacking has become an important part of many American diets.

Unhealthy? The experts say no! From a nutritional standpoint, what we eat and how much is far more important than when we eat. And research has shown that snacks help provide the additional calories and nutrients needed by children and teens for a wholesome, well-balanced diet.

In fact, studies indicate that snacks provide about a fifth of the day's calories and other nutritional needs for more than 20 percent of the population. And for some people, snacks provide as much as 50 percent of their nutritional needs.

For many reasons, snack foods should be evaluated on their individual nutritional content, not on the basis of stereotypes. Chocolate is one such snack food. Chocolate products are made up of many wholesome ingredients such as chocolate, whole milk and sugar, and often include almonds and peanuts, all of which have nutritional value.

Use the same rules of good nutrition when choosing a snack or meal: eat a variety of foods from the four food groups, select balanced meals and snacks, and get regular exercise. Remember, good health leads to a happy, active and productive life.

Friendship Luncheon

The Thursday Friendship Luncheon was elated to have two families back who have been noticeably absent. The Deans were back and also the Gilberts, Fannies giving a list of her down-home humor which we had all missed with her absence. The Kitchen Crew served a delicious roast, which was bought and cooked locally. Four plates were filled from the table and carried to the shut-ins. Mr. Balke said the table grace and later asked for our attention, saying it had been mentioned to him that some would like to have a sheer curtain for the glass door to subdue the glare from the morning and noonday sun for our meeting room. Several spoke up with an offer of a donation for the project and Mr. Balke was appointed to locate such a drape and get back to the gathering with the cost and the expenditure of installing it. See ya'll on Thursday.

Correction

In the December 24, 1986 issue of the Santa Anna News there appeared an article about the Rockwood Post Office by Mrs. John Hunter. In a letter received from Mrs. Wayne Haynes, it was discovered that the present brick building of the Rockwood Post Office was built by Edgar Hodges in 1945 and was owned by him until his death in 1972 when his daughter, Mrs. Wayne Haynes, became owner of the building and she retained ownership until she sold it to Mr. Roland Dues in 1985.

Rutherford Visitors

Visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Rutherford last Thursday were Mrs. Rutherford's sisters, Mrs. Clyde Greer of Commerce, Texas, and Mrs. Aubrey Hutcherson and Mrs. Curtis Price, both of Brownwood.

Men Turning 26 In 1987 Reach An Important Milestone

The Selective Service System has announced that men who will reach their 26th birthday in 1987 are reaching an important milestone.

Beginning on January 1, 1987, men who were required to register with Selective Service in 1981 will be turning 26. Selective Service does not have the authority to accept registrations after age 26. By failing to register before turning 26, a young man will have permanently forfeited his right to certain benefits including federal student aid, job training and federal employment. In addition to these federal benefits, some states require registration for state student aid, entrance to a state supported college or university, state employment and permission to practice law.

Many of the 25-year-olds who have still not registered may be unaware of the requirement or do not understand the importance of the obligation to register. Some may even have served in the military but failed to register either before entering the armed forces or after leaving active duty. Others may have been institutionalized or incarcerated at the time of their 18th birthday and not realized that they were required to register if released prior to age 26.

For those men born in 1961 who have registered, 1987 also marks the year that ends their eligibility for selection for induction under present law should there be a return to the draft. Over 17 million men, age 18 through 25 have registered with Selective Service since registration was reinstated in 1980. These men comprise over 97 percent of those required to register.

Men age 18 to 25 who have not yet registered still have a chance to avoid risk of prosecution and loss of benefits by registering promptly at any local post office. Failure to register is a felony punishable by a fine of up to $250,000, up to 5 years in jail, or both.

Feb. 8-14 Child Passenger Awareness Week

The safest way for a child under the age of four to travel is in a child safety seat. Despite laws in all 50 states, observational surveys show that only 68 percent of the children under the age of 1 year and 62 percent of the children between the ages of 1 and 2 years old are buckled into child safety seats. As children grow older, even fewer ride buckled up. Child safety seat usage rates drop to 51 percent for two-year-olds, 27 percent for three-year-olds and only 17 percent for four-year-olds." (from National Passenger Safety Association Newsletter)

The death rates confirm this trend. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration Fatal Accident Reporting System in 1985, 569 children from the ages of 0 through 4 died in car crashes. Texas trailed only California in the number of these children killed on our roads and highways.

Protect the ones you love. Hug them at home, but belt them in the car.

Frozen Car Locks

Nothing is more unpleasant or frustrating than trying to insert your car key into a frozen lock when the temperature around you is below freezing. With a little foresight and preventive maintenance, you can prevent these moments of agony. While the weather is warm, lubricate your car locks with a graphite lubricant. This will help prevent moisture from freezing in the locks. If you put off lubricating your car locks and it freezes, try holding a match or lighter to your car key for a brief period to heat it up and then insert the key into the lock.

Make a mini-igloo

Idea by Kimberly Kerin

When the cold wind roars and the temperature drops way below freezing, traveling across the Arctic could mean big trouble. But not for the Inuit, or Eskimos. They just take out their hand-saws and knives and build a house or igloo, of hard-packed snow.

You may not live in the Arctic. But you can build a mini-igloo that looks a lot like the ones the Inuit build.

Here's what you need: white frosting in a tube and a box of sugar cubes (rectangular or square) or about 3 dozen large marshmallows cut in half. You may want to try other materials too.

Here's what you do: On a white piece of paper, make a ring of frosting about 5 inches (13 cm) in diameter. Place your first "snow block" anywhere on the ring. Put some frosting on one side of another block. Then push it against the first block (see drawing 1). Keep adding snow blocks around the circle in the same way until the first layer is complete.

Put a thick coat of frosting on top of the first layer of blocks. Place a snow block on this frosting. Gently push down on the inside edge of the block. Most of the frosting will ooze to the outside, and the block will tilt toward the center of the circle (see drawing 2). Keep building inward and upward until there is only a small hole in the roof of your igloo. (In a real igloo, this hole allows smoke from a cooking fire to escape.)

To get into an igloo, the Inuit may cut a hole through two of the snow blocks. Or they may build a tunnel leading to the entrance. With 14 snow blocks and some frosting you can make a tunnel too (see drawing).

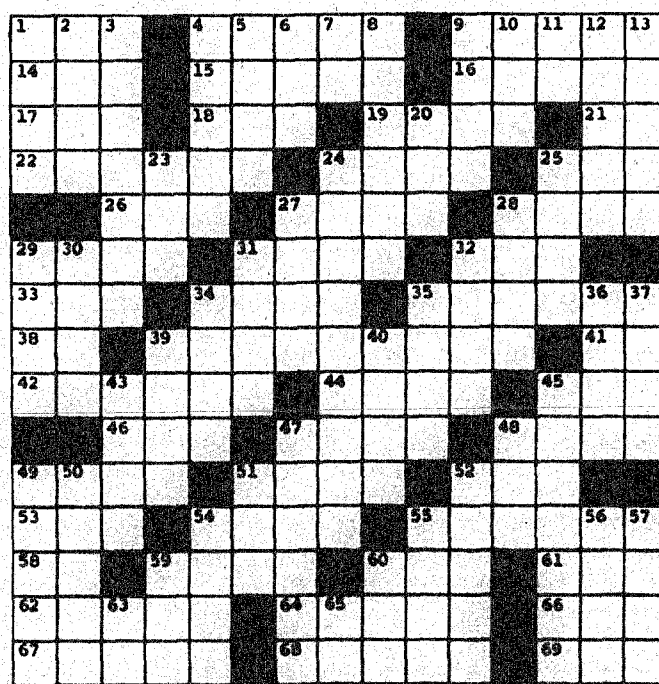

Now sit back and enjoy your mini-igloo!

TIME-SAVING TIPS

PROTECT YOUR POTS AND PANS

Pots and pans needn't dish up headaches when it comes to clean ups if you select the right pieces and care for them correctly. Buying first class cookware is a wise investment, many agree, because such pots and pans look good, cook evenly and clean up without much trouble.

Why do so many people dislike cleaning pots and pans? One reason may be that they're usually the last things to be washed, when the one doing the dishes is tired and bored with the whole job. Try reversing the procedure, and doing the pots and pans first while you're still fresh. That alone can help keep them looking good longer because you'll be more likely to do the extra cleaning that's necessary.

Make it a practice to have every member of the family learn to use a mild abrasive liquid cleanser, such as Soft Scrub, every time he or she washes kitchen utensils. Make sure all the food catch-points on the cookware are clean—under the rim lip, around the handle. If food is allowed to burn on, it soon becomes virtually impossible to remove.

Many white spots or rings on wood furniture can be removed by rubbing them with a little mayonnaise.

People once believed it bad luck to put the left shoe on before the right.

WARMING BABY FOODS

Q. I have a new microwave oven. Can I use it to warm my baby's food?

A. As easy as it may seem to warm food in a microwave oven, Gerber does not recommend its use for warming baby foods. We have found that some baby foods, like meats, poultry, egg yolks, meat sticks and meat-containing dinners often heat unevenly in microwave ovens which can cause hot splatters when you stir the food. As a caution to parents, the labels on jars of these baby foods contain a warning: Do not heat in microwave oven, contents may splatter causing burns.

We suggest two easy, safer ways to heat foods for your baby. Many parents place a serving of foods in a small heat resistant glass dish and set the dish in a pan of simmering (not boiling) water for a few minutes. Others prefer to use an electric feeding dish designed specifically for warming baby foods.

Whichever way you choose, remember to take two precautions before serving: stir the food to distribute heat evenly; and always taste-test the temperature of the food to make certain it's not too warm for baby's tender mouth.

American Heart Association Beef Stroganoff

When the occasion calls for something elegant, this modified beef stroganoff fits the bill.

- 1 lb. lean beef round
- 2 cups beef broth*
- freshly ground black pepper
- 2 tbsp. tomato paste*
- 1/2 lb. mushrooms, sliced
- 1 tsp. dry mustard
- 1 onion, sliced
- 1/4 tsp. oregano
- 3 tbsp. oil
- 1/4 tsp. dill weed
- 3 tbsp. flour
- 2 tsp. sherry
- 1/3 cup low-fat yogurt

Remove all visible fat from the meat and cut into thin strips, about 2 inches long. Sprinkle with pepper and let stand in a cool place for 2 hours.

In a heavy skillet, sauté mushrooms in oil until tender. Remove from skillet, and sauté onions in the same oil until brown. Remove from skillet.

Brown meat quickly on all sides until rare. Remove and set aside. Blend the flour into the oil in the skillet and gradually add the broth, stirring constantly until smooth and slightly thick. Add the tomato paste, dry mustard, oregano, dill weed and sherry. Blend well. Combine the sauce with the meat, mushrooms and onions in the top of a double boiler. Cook for 20 minutes. Beat yogurt (to prevent it from curdling). Blend in the beaten yogurt 5 minutes before serving.

*Use unsalted or low-salt products to reduce sodium content.

DID YOU KNOW?

Did you know certain people are at greater risk than others of dying in fires? Elderly people and those living in rural households are two such groups. Here are some other interesting—and life-saving—facts about fires from the Federal Emergency Management Agency's U.S. Fire Administration:

- Your chances of surviving a fire are two times greater when smoke detectors are present.
- Smoke detectors provide early warning when fires occur, increasing your chances for survival and allowing the fire department more time to help save your property.
- In addition to reacting to flaming fires, smoke detectors are ideally designed to deal with smoldering fires caused by discarded smoking materials—the leading cause of U.S. fires and resulting fatalities.
- Smoke detectors are now in three out of four American homes. They are inexpensive to purchase and maintain, easy to install.
- Smoke detectors, when paired with residential fire sprinklers, are the best fire prevention you can give your family.

Remember, a smoke detector is a real protector!
