"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

State Health Officer Recommends Sane 4th

AUSTIN, Texas, June 30, 1933.—On July Fourth Texans will celebrate the One Hundred and Fifty-Seventh Anniversary of our National Independence. Thousands of people will lay aside their business cares and in various ways celebrate the occasion. The Texas State Department of Health believes in this observance but desires that it be as free from accidents as possible and have issued a warning in this connection.

Perhaps it is asking too much of "Young America" to insist that the use of blank cartridges, firecrackers, and other dangerous noise makers be dispensed with, but certainly their use should be indulged in with great caution. If an accident should happen with any of the above articles, the first thought should be of lockjaw or tetanus. Every wound should be cleaned thoroughly and all foreign matter removed. Every puncture or lacerated wound should receive prompt attention. A doctor should be consulted at once and if necessary. The use of this serum is a preventive of lockjaw. Care should also be used in case of burns.

If swimming is to be a part of the day's activities, care should be taken to select a safe place. Of course pools that have guards are the safest places, but unprotected places will claim their number of bathers and those that cannot swim should be very careful and not venture beyond their depth. In case of accidental drowning artificial respiration should be started at once and continued until medical assistance arrives.

According to the Vital Statistics records automobile accidents always show an increase on holidays as there are more people on the road on those days. Care should be used in driving; keep on your side of the road, give the other fellow a little more than half the road, have lights tested and inspect your brakes. If every one would drive carefully and practice common courtesy a large number of accidents and deaths would be avoided.

BARN AND CONTENTS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The big barn on the Gipson Ranch nine miles northeast of town together with all the contents including feed and harness burned to the ground Wednesday morning. W. F. Talley, the tenant on the place, also lost a number of chickens, turkeys, and nine head of hogs in the fire. Diligence on the part of the neighbors kept the fire from spreading to the residence. The loss was heavy, and we understand was only partly covered by insurance.

Origin of the fire is unknown.

Brady Trade Trippers Here Late Thursday

The Brady good-will trade trippers advertising the race meet and Annual July Jubilee to be held in the famous Richards Park at Brady July 3, 4, 5, arrived in Santa Anna late Thursday evening on their home stretch after visiting about 25 towns and cities on a three days jaunt.

The caravan was to have arrived in Santa Anna at 5:45 Thursday evening, but was late and most of the business people of the town had closed their places of business and gone home. Six o'clock is the closing hour for most business places in Santa Anna, and business men and women after staying in their places of business and sweltering in the heat these long, hot days, are usually anxious to close and get out in the open at the closing hour. The good-will trippers arrived here about 6:30 and found most of the business houses closed and the town deserted.

However, several from here will attend the races and general jubilee celebrations in Brady during the three big days next week. We're sorry the trippers arrived here too late for most people to even know what it was all about.

The people of Brady do things and do them in a big way, and when they are going to have a picnic they don't fail to have a picnic of the worthwhile kind.

Rev. Lyle Pearce, wife and child returned this week to their home in Louisville, Ky. after a several days visit here with relatives and friends. The young preacher, known to most every person in this part of Coleman County, recently closed his third year in the Blue Grass state and returned there to begin his fourth year soon. Lyle conducted a short term revival in the Longview community while visiting here. He is now living in a campus cottage in Ormsbyville, Anchorage, Ky., where he has been teaching English in the High School and preaching over the week-end the past year, but will devote all his time to preaching in the future. The home is known as the Louisville and Jefferson county Childrens Home and three thousand children are under their supervision. There are 650 in the home, and the remainder have been placed in homes under foster parents, but still are being looked after by the supervisors of the home, and this service will be among Lyle's duties the ensuing year. Lyle is enthusiastic over his work, and has a wonderful opportunity in his field.

Prof. G. W. Bobo and several other members of the singing class at Trickham rendered a splendid musical program over the Coleman County Broadcasting Station here Sunday afternoon. It was said to have been among the most interesting programs to go out over the local station.

Mr. Irvin Wilson and Mr. Louis Pittard spent Sunday in Ranger. They were accompanied home by Miss Kathryn Stewart who visited in the home of her sister, Mrs. Clayton Hunt. Mr. and Mrs. Hunt and Miss Stewart went to Ranger Monday afternoon when they received word that Mr. Hunt's mother was very ill.

TEXAS COTTON MILLS SPEEDING PRODUCTION

AUSTIN, Texas, June 30.—Texas cotton mills speeded production up during May to levels never even dreamed of earlier in the year. According to reports to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research from 20 Texas cotton mills, production jumped from a total of 4,888,000 yards in April, to 7,003,000 yards in May, or 43 per cent; in one month, production, which had been held in check in spite of soaring unfilled orders and rapid sales, jumped from a low level to one which has exceeded only seven times since January, 1923. Last year in May, total output amounted to 2,618,000 yards.

Sales began showing improvement some three months ago when unfilled orders began their sharp ascent, so that the rate of increase did not show such a large gain in May as did production, the Bureau's report said. However, sales totalled 8,878,000 yards in May, with only two exceptions the highest total sales ever recorded in any one month since January, 1927. The May total compares with 8,036,000 yards for April and 1,611,000 yards for May a year ago.

Unfilled orders reached 16,746,000 yards at the close of May, also among the highest figures on record for Texas mills. This total represented a gain of 63 per cent over the backlog of 15,686,000 yards at the close of April and was more than four times the total at the close of May, 1932, 3,458,000.

One cotton mill which has been closed for about eighteen months renewed operations, and total active spindles operating at the 20 Texas mills in May amounted to 149,380; spindle hours operated totalled 51,676,000.

Civil Service Examinations

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced open competitive examinations as follows:
 Junior Park Naturalist, $2,000 a year, less a deduction not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3 1/2 per cent; National Park Service, Department of the Interior.

Senior Highway Construction Supervisor, $4,600 to $5,400 a year. Senior Highway Design Engineer, $4,600 to $5,400 a year, less a deduction not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3 1/2 per cent; Bureau of Public Roads, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Cost and Production Superintendent (Shoe Factory), $2,000 a year, less a deduction not to exceed 15 per cent as a measure of economy and a retirement deduction of 3 1/2 per cent; Federal Penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kans.

All states except Iowa, Maryland, New Hampshire, Vermont, Virginia, and the District of Columbia have received less than their share of appointments in the apportioned departmental service at Washington.

Full information may be obtained from the local Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the Post office in this city.

GOD HELP THE FARMER

Yes, God help the farmer. But, more important to the farmer and to the farmer's family, God help the farmer to help himself.

Praise be to the saints of perseverance that we have a majority of farmers who are not only willing but anxious to help themselves. It is to the minority that believes in silver-spoon-in-your-mouth farming that this little message is directed.

The government can legislate for aye, loan its tax money until Gabriel's horn sounds again, and meddle with supply and demand until the well goes dry, but it can never bring real prosperity to the man who insists that God should be the only helper.

Yes, God, help the farmer. Yes, God, help all of us. We need God's help in these days of uncertainty. But God help us to help ourselves so we can get on the right end of the horn of plenty.

A case in point: Farmers of the Murphey community went over to the river the other day and destroyed more than 800 hawk and raven youngsters and eggs.

Another: Hundreds of gardens are being worked successfully despite blighting winds and treacherous clouds.

And yet another: Farmers who have their land in the best shape are the ones who are noticing dry weather the least. In the same vein, business men who have spent extra hours and who have invited modern merchandising plans in an effort to make ends meet are those who most often disarm your pessimism with a smile and talk about something more interesting than the weather.

No sane man can say that we should revert back to the good old days, when communities were not so closely linked, and when luxuries were not so much akin to necessities. Yet there is a limit to this independent business.

God helps those who help themselves, and don't you forget it. The while, your neighbors, and the man across the county or behind the store counter, will be more likely to help you if you prove that you deserve and appreciate help—and are willing to work for it.

This is no editorial sermon. Just earnest thoughts from a newspaper that knows from observation and practice that business, gardens, friendships, cotton patches and reputations do not grow from shallow soil. —Security County Times.

A MEMORABLE CONGRESS

When the record of the special session of the Seventy-Third Congress is studied, the outstanding achievement is its accomplishment of platform promises. For almost the first time in the history of the American Government, a party given control of both the presidency and the two legislative houses, has within a few months of taking office enacted most of the measures which in seeking election it had pledged. The only important plank in the Roosevelt platform that remain for future disposition are tariff revision and the complete reorganization of the Government structure.

The nation is aware of how much has been accomplished at the special session. The driving force in the White House has supplied leadership and exercised it. But, says the President's congratulatory message, Congress is entitled to national appreciation for its co-operation. That has not always been given willingly. The Senate, for instance, accepted the veteran compensation compromise largely in fear of the voice over the microphone. In politics leadership must do some browbeating and the President has been as ready to cajole as to threaten.

Get a 25c test box of BU-KETS, the bladder physic, from any drug store. After four days if you are not relieved or getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETS, containing buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts pleasantly and effectively on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with backache, or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Sold by PHILLIPS DRUG CO.

The Seventy-Third Congress can but be judged by its willingness to act quickly in the effort to solve national problems. It has given the President the broadest possible powers to supervise and co-ordinate national industry and finance. The real test of the service of Congress to the country will be the manner in which Roosevelt carries through his tremendous program.

Congress in quick succession made the President the reorganizer of the banks of the Nation, submitted repeal to the electorate, struck sharply at the iniquitous pension roll, legalized 3.2 beer, passed the farm loan and price-fixing bill, established a definite Muscle Shoals policy, took a shot at curing unemployment by reforestation, fired a broadside at market laxity in the securities act, centralized control of the rail problem, passed the huge industrial recovery and public works program, cut through the red tape of the anti-trust laws, set about refinancing home mortgages, removed the gold pledge from both currency and contracts, and in a genuine effort to provide operating economy put the Government personnel on short rations.

No previous Congress within memory has passed so comprehensive a legislative program. No other Congress could have done it quickly. In response to the White House starter, the congressional engine has whirred into action. Now it is history—and momentous history at that.

Miss Mary McCorkle left Friday for Winters where she is visiting Miss Mary D. Taylor. Mrs. C. G. Erwin and daughter are visiting friends here this week. Mrs. Gale and Charline of Anson

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Shrieber spent the week-end in Mason. Mr. and Mrs. Hines Baker of Houston are visiting in the W. R. Kelley home this week.

Farmers Signing Acreage Reduction Contract

Reports from all sections indicate the new plan to be Going Over Big. Many are signing up for 50 percent reduction --- from 25 to 50 percent requested. It's reduce or worse -- Let's reduce

The sensation of the week is the work being done under the direction of Henry Wallace, secretary of Agriculture, who is co-operating with the extension service department of every Agricultural and Mechanical college in the southern states growing cotton, to bring about a ten million acre reduction in the present cotton crop.

Farmers everywhere seem to be in a receptive mood, and are co-operating in the move. Farmers are more ready to accept the proposition than ever before that it is possible to receive more money for a ten million bale crop of cotton than it is from a fifteen million bale crop.

There is a surplus of over thirteen million bales of cotton confronting the producers at present, and to dump another fifteen million bales on a glutted market this season would mean five or six cent cotton, when, if the production can be reduced to a ten or eleven million bale crop, it is possible to sell cotton as high as fifteen cents per pound this year. The price has advanced this week over five dollars per bale, on the prospects of the Wallace plan being carried to a successful conclusion, and the prospects are fair for the proposition to carry. Farmers are signing up in every county in the seven states that produce cotton, and we believe the ten million acres will be signed up before this week comes to a close.

The following has been furnished us by the A. & M. College of Texas, which is very simple, and there is no catch to it.

College Station—Cash relief this summer at the rate of $6 or more per acre for land retired from cotton production and possible additional payments later on options on Government cotton are in store for Texas cotton farmers if the campaign for voluntary acreage reduction under way in every county in the South this week shows Southern farmers ready to plow up as much as 10,000,000 acres. O. B. Martin, director of the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College of Texas, has been advised by the U. S. Secretary of Agriculture. The goal set for Texas is a minimum of 4,493,000 acres.

In drafting the Extension Service to administer the Farm Act, Secretary Wallace named Mr. Martin state cotton administrator and directed county agents to take charge of the reduction campaigns in the counties. In furtherance of these orders county agents this week are bringing details of the Government offer to farmers in practically every cotton growing community in Texas. They are being helped in this by vocational agriculture teachers, farm and civic leaders, and home demonstration agents, Mr. Martin says. He points out that Secretary Wallace has stated that a decision on whether the provisions of the Act will become operative as to cotton this year will be made within a week or 10 days after the reduction campaign ends this week.

The cotton acreage retirement plan offers the farmer two choices of benefits in return for reducing his acreage at least 25 per cent, and not more than 40 per cent.

By the first plan he would receive in cash this summer from $6 per acre to $12 per acre for every acre retired, the exact amount depending on the yield per acre. In addition he would be given an option at 6 cents per pound on as many bales of Government owned cotton as the acreage retired would yield at its ordinary rate. This cotton the Government may sell at sometime during the year and pay the farmer the difference between selling price and the option price.

By the second plan open to the farmer he would be paid a straight cash rental ranging from $7 per acre to $20 per acre for every acre retired, exact amount depending on what the land ordinarily yields.

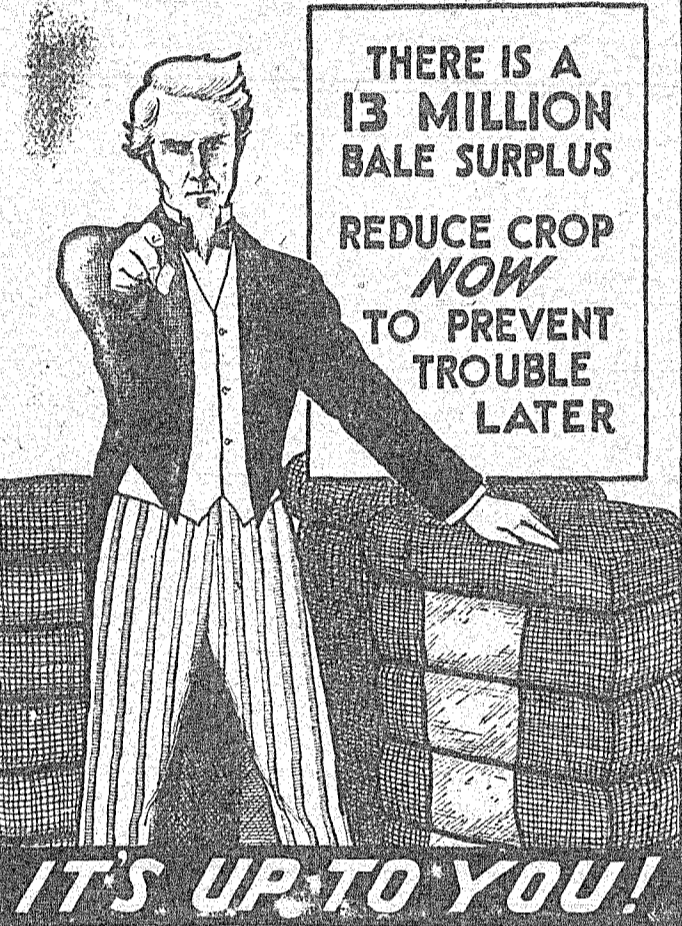

The schedule of payments on the first plan is based on what the land retired would ordinarily produce, as follows: from 100 to 124 pounds lint per acre, $6 cash payment per acre; from 125 to 149 pounds, $7 per acre; from 150 to 174 pounds, $8 per acre; from 175 to 224 pounds, $10 per acre; from 225 to 274 pounds, $11 per acre; and land yielding more than 275 pounds lint per acre, $12 per acre cash payment.

Farmers wanting all cash payment and not desiring to take an option on Government cotton are offered a higher scale of cash rental payments than offered under the first plan. These are based on what the land retired would ordinarily produce, as follows: from 100 to 124 pounds lint per acre, $7 in cash per acre; 125 to 149 pounds, $9 per acre; 150 to 174 pounds, $11 per acre; 175 to 224 pounds, $14 per acre; 225 to 274 pounds, $17 per acre; and yields more than 275 pounds lint per acre the cash payment would be $20 per acre.

Asked what farmers are expected to do with cotton land plowed up and retired from production, H. H. Williamson, vice-director of the Extension Service of Texas A. and M. College, states that this land may be used for any pasture or cover crop to produce feed for livestock or to enrich the soil. "I and when the Farm Act as applied to cotton becomes operative," says Mr. Williamson, "Texas farmers will probably find that late sudan grass crops or cowpeas may be sown to advantage for late summer grazing or for turning under. Probably many farmers will decide to let the land lie until early fall and then sow such small grains as oats, rye, barley or wheat for fall and winter grazing."

Farmers who fail to attend community meetings held this week under county agent auspices for the signing of contracts pledging the retirement of 25 per cent to 40 per cent of the cotton crop from production may secure contracts for signing from county agent, vocational agriculture teacher, county or community cotton adjustment committee, or from the bank. This statement was made by O. B. Martin.

MR. COTTON-GROWER

Texas cotton administrator, who expressed the belief that enough contracts will be supplied by the United States Department of Agriculture to make them available to all farmers who desire to cooperate with the Government in the movement to reduce Mr. Martin advises.

ESTIMATES MUST BE KEPT IN LINE

Information from Washington to the effect that first individual county consolidated reports show estimated yield per acre far above county five year average.

Average county estimates in contracts must be kept in line, or campaign will be waged in vain.

Convey this to committeemen. Watch mail tomorrow for additional information.

DO IT NOW!

Business is on the upgrade in the larger cities, and in time it will be extending down to the smaller communities. It will be spreading out over the countryside, extending into every nook and corner. This will be especially so when farm products are ready for market.

The cities are already laying their plans to not only hold the trade of their own people, but to entice that of the smaller towns and communities away from their local stores and business houses. They will succeed in this undertaking unless the people of our town and community remain loyal to our own business interests.

We believe our people would much prefer to see this town grow and prosper than to become a laggard, subsisting on the crumbs that others overlook.

But we also believe that the people, the buyers, must be met halfway by local business interests if they are not to be weaned away from the community. Goods and service, workmanship and materials, must be on a par with what the buyer can secure elsewhere, and prices must be comparable to those of the firms seeking to draw trade from us.

Right at the present moment is the logical time for our local business men to take stock of the situation and prepare to meet any and all competition.

If our inducements are satisfactory to the buyer the trade will remain here. If the other fellows outbid us it will vanish and we will be under the painful necessity of watching the cars go sailing by instead of stopping at our doors.

Get busy, gentlemen. Your outside competitors are already hard at work at your expense.

NO WORK FOR THEM

The heart of charity has been opened wide on account of the unemployment situation, but there are some who are taking advantage of the situation to live a life of ease at the expense of others who can ill afford the burden.

In Denver, Colorado, the other day eight hundred people were found who are being supported by charity, yet refused to work when work was offered them. Life comes easy to them.

A vast majority of the idle people would welcome any kind of work if it could be found, and are not to be confused with the human parasites who seek only something for nothing.

There are others who find it pleasant to roam around the country from city to city, riding without hindrance on freight trains, eating at municipal and Salvation army free soup kitchens, and sleeping in police stations. They are not looking for work—just having a good time.

It is such conditions as these that cause the average citizen to steal his heart to those whom he suspects of being professional panhandlers.

There ought to be some way of segregating the deserving cases from the professional bums. As it is, the innocent suffer for the acts of the guilty.

daughter, Elizabeth, returned Monday from Hubbard where they visited for a week with their daughter, Mrs. Kant Martin.
